

A few weeks ago when the exodus of colored labor from the south to the north and middle west was at flood tide, alarm was sounded throughout the state fearing a shortage of labor would be created which would hamper crop harvesting. The Reflector pointed out at the time, that the bait of high wages and better living conditions, would not prove out as painted by labor agents.

That the prediction is being fulfilled is indicated in news reports from Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, and other states where it is complained that the southern negroes are leaving by the hundreds industrial plants and heading south. The situation carries out exactly our contention that when these laborers found out they had worked six weeks to pay for their transportation and maintenance, they would be CURED.

In the large industrial districts, reports say, every freight train bound toward the southland is loaded with negroes, broke, hungry, discouraged and altogether down and out. They have been taught a lesson, that it is a poor proposition to leave a certainty for an uncertainty. FEAR OF LABOR SHORTAGE IS OVER.

WEATHER.

Generally fair tonight and Friday, slightly warmer tonight.

SCOUT REPORTER REVIEWS INCIDENTS OF CAMPING TRIP

By Walter S. Dall, Jr. (Troop Reporter.)

The troop reporter is sending these letters to The Daily Reflector so that the parents and people of Greenville may see for themselves the clean and wholesome pleasures that a group of boys, under an able leader may have.

On Tuesday afternoon, the boys, being tired of the regular routine of camp life, they took a sail across the river to an old house that people say is haunted to see how things were over there. (We intended to spend the night in the house but rain prevented this.) We found the house to be an old shack of three stories, with the well known haunted look. The house is very old as it was built about the same time that the church in Bath was (1734). When the rain came up we decided that train and haunts mixed a little to well so we set our sails toward Camp Leach. Our sailboat, "The Buccaneer," loaned to us by Mr. C. L. Wright of

VIRGINIA BOOSTERS TO VISIT CAROLINAS

RICHMOND, June 14.—The "Boosters' Tour" to be sent through the Carolina trade territory July 15 by the Richmond Chamber of Commerce will receive an enthusiastic welcome by the 20 cities and railroad centers of North and South Carolina listed on announced itinerary. This is definitely indicated by letters to the Chamber of Commerce from the cities to be visited and by the fact that it has been necessary to decline nine invitations because of the limited time of four days allotted the trip.

C. M. Montgomery, publicity director of the Chamber of Commerce, will go over the route of the tour in the near future to arrange for the accommodation of the "boosters" and prepare the program at every stop on the schedule. The tour will be made in a special train of five Pullmans, a diner and a baggage car, half of which will be reserved for advertising matter on Richmond which will be distributed. There will be a parade of the "boosters" in every city, headed by a Richmond band.

Sweden Plans to Spend $12,600,000 Railroad

STOCKHOLM.—The first coast to east railroad electrification in the world, extending from Stockholm, on the Baltic Sea, to Gothenburg, on the North Sea, is heralded in the official request just made to the Swedish government by the State Railway administration that it be empowered to begin immediately the expenditure of the 3,200,000 crowns which have already been appropriated toward this project.

Come Along With Income Tax Dues Payable Tomorrow

Gilliam Grissom, collector of internal revenue, this district, in a statement today warns taxpayers that the second installment of the federal assessment is due tomorrow. He emphasizes that failure to meet the obligation on the day fixed—June 15—makes the third and fourth installments all due, in addition to penalty and interest.

Grissom expresses the hope and belief that taxpayers who come within the class indicated will arrange to meet their installment promptly.

COMMERCE BODY TO MEET TONIGHT

If promises and predictions are realized considerable important business will be acted upon at the regular monthly meeting of the directors of the Pitt County Chamber of Commerce this evening at eight o'clock.

At the last session of the body when the new officers were elected and installed, it was reported, that every member pledged himself to give some thought and time to the functions of the organization. There are a number of vital matters which President Turnage wants action, and in order to reach a definite plan of policy, he urges every member to forego other engagements and attend the meeting.

Humidity Wave Aids Summer Buying On Large North Markets

NEW YORK, June 14.—While the expected flood of buying orders to fill the shelves depleted by last week's rush to buy light weight clothing has not assumed vast proportions there are sufficient new orders for replacement, reaching the New York jobbers to assure them that the hot weather practically stripped the shelves in many cities. Should there be an early return of torrid temperatures they fully expect a heavy increase in retailers' demands.

On the other hand, should cool weather prevail for the next three weeks they see little promise of a strong summer season.

Manufactured cottons of coarse weave have not reached a price level where they represent a good buy here are constantly increasing inquiries for mid-summer delivery. Exporters as well as domestic buyers are showing interest, many houses with oriental connections figuring that they can buy advantageously at prevailing prices for export to India and China.

University Expects Big Summer School

CHAPEL HILL, June 14.—Monday and Tuesday of next week will see 1400 or 1500 summer school students arriving in Chapel Hill for the biggest summer session ever planned by the University of North Carolina. Many of these students will be in the graduate school working for advanced degree which will raise their state certificate class; there will be many college students taking regular work and hundreds of teachers from all over the south doing work to renew their certificates.

One of the best things with regard to the prospects for the large number is the reduced railway fares. On June 16, 17, 18 and 19 round trip tickets can be purchased on the certificate plan for Chapel Hill at fare and a half rates.

100,000 Marks for $1

NEW YORK, June 14.—More than 100,000 German marks could be purchased for one dollar in the local foreign exchange market today, the Berlin rate dropping to 0009 7-8, a new low record for all time. Last night's closing rate was 0011 1-4.

Great Community Sale Here Next Week To Give Value Revelation

An outstanding and epochal cooperative stride in merchandising will be held in Greenville next week, beginning Thursday, June 21, and extending three days. This staggering value sale is sponsored by the Greenville Merchants association. Sixteen merchants are interested in making this initial carnival of price reductions the paramount event of its kind throughout Pitt County. The community sale plan is an altogether new procedure from former methods, and it promises to bring together into closer relationship merchants and buyers.

Special Values Offered.

It is the intention of the concerns this movement to offer particularly attractive bargains in some special line every day during the sale.

Virtually every department and every thing will be embraced in price reductions on one of the days during the period of extraordinary value giving, at reasonable cost.

One of the novel features of the event will be the window trims of the various merchants participating. Special effort and work will be directed to give Greenville shoppers an array of color and artistic assembly of display that will be metropolitan in scope.

Moved Window Displays.

Ed. Williams, superintendent of the Water and Light commission, has assured the business houses who are supporting the movement that all the facilities and equipment of the commission will be placed at their disposal in working out original schemes in electric effects and decoration. With this offer, it is fully expected that Greenville will be shown something new in the way of unique and attractive display of goods on a scale never before attempted by many of the larger cities.

If the plans of Mr. Williams are carried out, a massive search light will be placed atop the National Bank building at Five Points, that will radiate a flood of rays for more than 10 miles, advertising the sale.

Look For Community Cop.

That buyers will make no mistake in the concern, who are giving Greenville the benefit of such a splendid opportunity to obtain every sort of merchandise at substantial reductions, large picture of the Community Cop will be displayed in the shop windows. His presence will indicate that the spirit of enterprise dominates that concern, and it should be patronized.

Th group of progressive merchants who are willing to split profits with buyers look forward to the community sale as inaugurating a new era that will form the basis of a larger volume of business, working both to the advantage of business concerns and customers. If predictions and faith are realized, the sales will be repeated at seasonal intervals, it was stated.

Attention is called to the page adjacent to this one in The Reflector today, in which the names of those from Asheville and they followed a trail about a mile to the home of the merchants who are participating in negro. Cash does not admit or deny the sale will be found, together with other details.

Woman Is Sentenced For Killing Youth

Mrs. Loretta Thompson, of Brooklyn, New York, is serving a sentence of from one to three years in Auburn State Prison for killing 11-year-old Dominick Leo with her automobile. The car had crashed across a sidewalk and dashed into a hedge. She was asked not to attempt to drive it again, but threw in the clutch, came back into the hedge and killed one boy and maimed another for life. Several witnesses declared she was intoxicated, though this she denied. She was convicted of manslaughter.

Colored Man Accused of Burning Church

BREVARD, N. C., June 14.—Fred Cash, negro, was being held in jail today without bond on a charge of arson, in connection with burning of the Roman Catholic church here last night. The church was destroyed, representing a loss of several thousand dollars.

Believing the fire was of incendiary origin, police ordered bloodhounds from Asheville and they followed a trail about a mile to the home of the merchants who are participating in negro. Cash does not admit or deny the sale will be found, together with other details.

DIPLOMATS DON'T LIKE TREATY PLAN TO LIFT LIQUOR RULING

WASHINGTON, June 14.—The State Department plan of making concessions to foreign powers on the ship liquor ban in return for an extension of the present three-mile limit for search and seizure to twelve miles, is doomed to failure.

First, European nations regard the ship liquor question as one too vital to be used "for trading purposes" diplomatically.

Second, several of the world powers, notably Great Britain, are unalterably opposed to abandoning the principle of the three-mile limit of national jurisdiction.

Such was the reaction in diplomatic quarters here today to the news that Secretary of State Hughes was hoping to win concessions from other nations in return for the pledge that the United States would admit liquor under seal as ships stores.

The Hughes project is designed particularly to meet the embarrassment faced by prohibition enforcement agencies in dealing with the fleets of liquor smugglers which hover along the American coast just outside the internationally recognized three-mile limit.

Administration officials are inclined to believe that there is nothing in the eighteenth amendment itself which would prevent the government from allowing liquor stores on foreign ships from entering and leaving American ports with their liquor stores under seal.

GREENVILLE LAWYER MOVES TO GOLDSBORO TO PRACTICE
GOLDSBORO, June 12.—Needham W. Outlaw, formerly of Greenville, who represented Pitt County in the State Senate in 1921, has returned to Goldsboro, his boyhood home, and is associated with M. B. Loftin, formerly of Mount Olive, in the practice of law here, under the firm name of Outlaw & Loftin. Mr. Outlaw has been warmly commended by members of the local bar and for his handling of the defense in the noted Smith murder case tried here last week.

Judge J. Lloyd Horton, who has just concluded a two weeks' term of Wayne superior court, stated that, as Judge, solicitor and private practitioner, he had been associated with Mr. Outlaw in a large number of cases, and had never known him to take an unfair advantage.—News and Observer.

NOTHING COMES AHEAD OF THE FLAG

No real American needs to be told to reverence and respect his flag. No real American ever fails in showing respect to the Stars and Stripes.

But sometimes a real American may fail in respectful treatment of his flag for lack of knowledge that what he does is not respectful. There is occasion to decorate—Thirtieth of May, July the Fourth, Washington's Birthday—no matter what.

Mr. American Citizen gets out a lot of American flags and drapes his place of business or his house. He drapes the flags in rosettes, in festoons, in crisscrosses, and in circles.

And he does it because he thinks the American flag the most beautiful in the world, and wants to honor the occasion with his flag. It doesn't occur to him that he is doing wrong, or that his pretty curlicues and intertwined streamers are a desecration to his flag.

It is therefore unfair to blackguard him as unpatriotic, or ridicule him for lack of taste; what is to be done is to educate him. He is to be taught that the flag, representing the heart and soul of ideals of this country, is never to be used as a decoration for something else!

It must be treated as a unit in itself. It must hang free, or be stretched flat against a wall or house; never draped in rosettes, or circles. Tell the offender he can use all the red, white, and blue bunting he wants in any shape his fancy dictates; tell him he can make his rosettes and his drapes of anything he pleases, but the the American flag is The American Flag, to be honored with the first place, the finest position, the utmost freedom, and never to be twisted or tied or curled or draped so that it becomes a mere embellishment to something else.

Nothing comes ahead of the flag!

LABORATORY LIGHTNING

A good deal has happened in the electrical world since Benjamin Franklin drew down his first spark from a thunder-cloud over a kite string wet with rain.

Out of this experiment grew the lightning-rod, now popularly discredited, and out of a century and a half of experiment has come a control over electrical forces so complete that a bolt of artificial lightning of 2,000,000 volts, representing 10,000,000 horse power, can be manufactured and handled in a laboratory. Incidentally, this test proved to the satisfaction of the scientists present that the lightning-rod did give protection after all.

But what is to be done with artificial lightning, now that we have it, is more predictable than what was to follow Franklin's kite-flying. It may bore tunnels, dredges, rivers or change iron to steel. It may turn out as handy as a pick and shovel, and quite as harmless.

When the race gets accustomed to lightning as an every-day tool it may find a way to capture the voltage that goes to waste in any thunderstorm, may charge batteries with the weapons of Jove and hitch the dreaded thunder-stone to the belt-wheel of a power mill.

Perhaps in time there won't be any thunderstorms, and artists will dery the commercialism that extracts the juice from the sky that used to make celestial fireworks. If these things don't come about, in all likelihood something more remarkable will.

ENDURANCE DANCING DANGEROUS

Like a fire sweeping a field of broom-hedge fanned by an autumn breeze, a craze for endurance dancing is spreading over the country. From the Gulf to the Great Lakes, and from the Atlantic to the Pacific, men and women are endeavoring to establish new records.

A thing more silly and harmful could hardly be imagined, medical experts agree. Such excesses are likely to cause acute dilation of the heart and sudden death. At best the dancers may expect crippled hearts for the remainder of their lives, while the probable shattering of their nervous systems will make them easy prey to disease.

There will always be some fools ready to do anything for notoriety or temporary popularity.

There is nothing that can be done about it. There is nothing better, or more necessary for health than proper exercise.

But long-distance dancing is an inexcusable abuse for which nature demands a heavy price.

JUDICIOUS ADVERTISING

Advertising is a powerful agent when utilized judiciously.

The time, however, has long since passed when the progressive merchant scribbles his copy on a piece of brown paper and sends it to the printer the day of its appearance, leaving it to the printer to decide upon layout, balance, type, and coherence. The old slogan, "It pays to advertise," is without a doubt a true one, but certain qualifications are necessary with any axiom.

Advertising should be given as much thought as any other routine duties of the merchant. Careful investigations are necessary in all branches of business before really successful advertising can be accomplished.

Advertising experts have long since acknowledged this necessity and from one-tenth to one-third of the advertising budget of a company or firm is spent on these investigations. Information such as the analysis of the market, of the product, and of the company itself is always necessary, because the advertiser must know who are the users of his product, whether or not his product is best adapted to their needs and desires, where they are located, and how best they can be reached.

It is not believed that it would be overstating the situation to say that there are merchants who are not using the best methods of reaching the classes of people they desire to reach because their copy lacks punch and is altogether colorless.

Newspaper advertising is undoubtedly the superior medium in selling when the ad tells the story properly.

BETHLEHEM—A solution of the problem of how to keep the "kids" quiet at baseball and lacrosse games has been found at Lehigh University. The boys are put on their honor. Any Bethlehem boy may see Lehigh games free on condition that he sits in a section of the grandstand especially reserved, and obey the rules. They have a cheering section of their own and are led by a Lehigh student cheer leader. No longer do they disturb the play by "razzing" visiting teams and shouting "Kill the umpire." Nowadays they even have cleanly washed faces and hands.

Plays Role of Lady Marian Fitzwalter in "Douglas Fairbanks in Robin Hood"

Miss Enid Bennett is playing the role of Lady Marian Fitzwalter opposite Douglas Fairbanks in his latest screen sensation "Douglas Fairbanks in Robin Hood," a United Artists release coming next Monday to White's Theater. She was born at York, Australia, and was educated in the City of Perth. Her father was a school professor and her mother was, to quote Miss Bennett, "just a loving and dutiful wife and wonderful mother."

This popular star always had the desire to make the stage her vocation. With none of her family even remotely connected with the acting profession it was quite difficult to get a start. She read in newspapers where Katherine Grey, a popular American actress, was going to Melbourne to play in repertoire with Julius Knight, who at that time was the matinee idol of Europe. She then schemed in every possible way to meet Miss Grey and after many days succeeded in being introduced to her. Miss Grey did her best to dissuade Miss Bennett from a stage career, explaining the hard road before one can truly write the word "Success."

Among the screen successes in which Miss Bennett has starred are "Fuss and Feathers," "The Vamp," "Biggest Show on Earth," "Law of Men," "Haunted Bedroom," "Virtuous Thief," "Stepping Out," "What Every Woman Learns," "The Woman in the Suit Case," "The False Road," "Hairpins," "Her Husband's Friend," "A Thousand to One" and "Silk Hosiery."

camp safe and sound after beating the sail and tacking and reefing against the wind.

On Sunday we slept a little later than usual, not expecting to be called for so early to go to Sunday School but at 8:30 the "V. C." tug from Washington tied up at the wharf and the pilot, Mr. Macon Rose, told us that he had arrived to take us to Washington to Sunday School. So not wishing to not be able to go to some religious service on Sunday we finished dressing on our way to Washington.

We attended Sunday School at the First Baptist church and were welcomed highly. After a few minutes around town after Sunday school we returned to a good dinner at camp.

Our "eats" while at Camp Leach were exceptionally fine. Will Cherry and Will Hanrahan gave us food fit for a king.

On Tuesday morning Will and "Conk" had a fight. It seems that Will told "Conk" to do something and "Conk" being a man of his own way did not carry out Will's orders. Will then said something about "who was running this thing any way" and "Conk" advanced upon him with a long bread knife. They retreated to the pantry where a shot was heard and "Conk" fell on the floor dead. He revived and is now thankful that the fight was a put up job.

In closing the account of the camp it would not be right for us not to express our thanks to the people of Washington who were so kind to us and who did every thing that they could to make our trip a success. We also wish to thank Mr. Chas. L. Wright for all his kindness to us and we wish to state that he and the Wash-

TAFT & VANDYKE

FOREWARNS AGAINST STATE TAKING OVER INSURANCE BUSINESS

ATLANTA, Ga.—Insurance policies are the underlying bonds of the individualist state and, for that reason, the studied effort which is being made in this country to break down insurance as a private enterprise and to make a state monopoly out of it is the most dangerous and insidious of all socialist movements, the delegates to the National Association of Credit Men were told today by Henry Swift Ives, secretary of the Casualty Information Clearing House, of Chicago.

Mr. Ives' subject was insurance, credit and the state. Continuing he said: "The institutions of our representative democracy and the principle of private rights in property might weather, for a time, the government ownership of transportation and the so-called utilities, but they could not survive government ownership of insurance."

"Power breeds power and it is only a short step from state compensation funds to state life and fire insurance. Those who unthinkingly accept the socialist theory of why state companies should write compensation lines, cannot hold to it and at the same time logically oppose any other government insurance scheme."

Eruption Forecast In Hawaii's Big Volcano

HILO, Island of Hawaii.—The present spectacular activity of Kilauea, the ever-active volcano on this island, probably indicates the rapid approach of a great outbreak of the sister volcano, Mauna Loa, one of the largest in the world, according to a statement by L. W. de Vis-Norton, secretary of the Hawaiian Volcano Research Association.

The activities of Mauna Loa, which rises 14,000 feet above sea level, occupy a cycle of roughly nine years, it has been found, and it is upon this fact that De Vis-Norton based the indications.

In the immense fire-pit of Kilauea floods of molten lava, in excess of 7,000,000 cubic yards daily are welling up from unknown depths now and this is said to be a certain indication of the rising of the lava within Mauna Loa rift system.

Antioch Students to Get Chance to Earn Expenses. Report

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio.—Plans to make Antioch College largely self-supporting, through the establishment of private industries adjoining the campus, have been assisted by a $10,000 gift from Mrs. Willard D. Straight of New York City, it was announced today by President Arthur E. Morgan.

A number of small industries, it was explained, will be invited to locate on a plant provided by the college. The labor will be supplied by the students, and expert advisory service will be given by faculty members teaching courses in administration, the college to have a share in the profits.

Many Promising Entries Promising Entries

CLEVELAND—When Chick Evans comes here to defend his title in the western amateur golf championship, to be played over the Mayfield Country Club course July 3-28, his stiffest competition probably will come from Ruddy Knepper of Sioux City. Bobby Jones, of Atlanta, has announced he will not be a participant, while Francis Ouimet is considered a doubtful starter.

Other promising entrants are Harrison Johnson of St. Paul; Godchaux of New Orleans and Boyd of Knoxville.

IRELAND WILL REDEEM BONDS SOLD IN AMERICA

DUBLIN.—A bill is to be introduced into the Dail this session to carry into effect the pledge made by Michael Collins that the Irish government would redeem all the Irish Republic bonds.

These bonds, to the amount of about $10,000,000, were floated in the United States, in Ireland and elsewhere, and contain an undertaking that they would be redeemed six months after the establishment in Ireland of an Irish Republic. Michael Collins claimed that the treaty, apart from its form, effectively established Irish freedom, and that the condition on which the bonds were issued had been practically realized.

Radio Increases Catch of English Fishermen

LONDON.—American fishermen off the Grand Banks and the Atlantic coast may find it profitable to emulate the example of their brother fishermen in England, who have equipped their vessels with radio. The purpose is to enable them to communicate with the shore or with sister trawlers whenever they discover a shoal of fish too large for their capacity. At a time when a remarkable shortage of fish is reported from the North Sea, some thirty steam trawlers have been fitted with wireless apparatus.

It has been found that with the use of radio communication huge hauls, which otherwise would certainly be missed, can be taken in a short time by vessels which are in constant communication with each other and with the shore.

Former Tennis Stars May Win Fame On Green

LOS ANGELES.—Golf enthusiasts hereabouts are keeping an interested eye on two former tennis champions whose recent achievements on the links give promise of their possible triumphant return to the spotlight of national sports as winners of the highest golf honors.

They are Maurice McLoughlin, former national singles champion, and Miss Mary K. Browne, twice winner of the national women's singles title.

McLoughlin, "The Comet," sensation of international play ten years ago, will be remembered to tennis fans throughout the country as the first exponent of the har-riving, fast name to appear on eastern courts. He has not given up tennis, but says he much prefers golf today.

In contrast to many others who have come to the front in golf, McLoughlin is essentially a professionally taught player. His swing resembles that of a "pro" rather than that of an amateur, and he has a long game that is the envy of many Southern California players.

CONSIDER PRINTING "ADS" ON INCOME TAX FORMS

LONDON.—Chill penalty may repress many a noble rage, but in the case of the heads of the various government departments of England, it has brought forth a decided show of genius in the art of raising and saving money. It is now proposed by the chancellor of the exchequer to sell space on income tax forms, and other government papers for advertisement purposes.

WYOMING MAY SUPPLY UTAH WITH NATURAL GAS

SALT LAKE CITY.—Natural gas for Salt Lake City and Ogden from a newly discovered field in western Wyoming is being considered here. One well drilled recently is said to have a capacity of 80,000,000 cubic feet of gas a day and this amount, experts point out, is greatly in excess of what would be used by Salt Lake and Ogden even should natural gas displace coal for heating purposes.
