

The question of the feasibility of continuing the whole time health department of Pitt County is before the board of county commissioners for determination.

Argument is advanced that the expense is too great and that taxpayers object. The contention is neither tenable nor logical.

If the board of commissioners want to pursue the common sense course, they will find a way to allow the whole time health department indefinite life.

PITT TOBACCO CROP LOOMS BIG, FARMERS HAPPY

Survey of the tobacco crop conditions throughout the county is satisfactory. The plants, in nearly every instance show splendid development.

Well informed growers are exceedingly sanguine over the encouraging yield and fine quality that the plants now appear to assure.

There is a well defined disposition among farmers to obtain the assurance that the opening date of the Greenville market will not be deferred beyond Aug. 21.

Greenville tobacco men are not insensible to that fact. In order to get official sanction to open Aug. 21, instead of an early September a delegation of local warehousemen are in Asheville attending the meeting of the United States Tobacco association.

This organization determines the opening dates of the various markets throughout the tobacco growing belt. It is felt by members of the delegation that Greenville is entitled to the consideration sought, and every effort will be made to impress upon the body the importance of acceding to the request.

The association will be asked to pass on the matter possibly today. It is possible definite word of the result will be had tomorrow.

Judson Harmon, farmer, living on the Greenville-Farmville road, writing to The Reflector, praises the curb market. Here is what he says:

"Several of the town people have written about the Curb Market but I have been nothing from the country patrons. So with your kind permission I will express the impressions of one who has had something for sale every Saturday except one. I consider the market a growing success.

J. E. COLLINS, AYDEN, ARRESTED FOR RUNNING DOWN DAN SHAW, CHIEF JONES WORKS UP CASE

J. E. Collins, 18, Ayden, was arrested by Chief of Police Lester Jones, at his home last night charged with speeding and running down Dan Shaw on Dickinson avenue extension just beyond the Norfolk Southern railroad tracks last Sunday.

Collins is held in $1000 bond for a hearing before Mayor Clark, next Saturday. Questioned why he did not stop after his car struck Shaw, he said, "I was too frightened."

Shortly following the accident Chief Jones, obtained the license number of the "wild" car. He could not get response to his telephone inquiry at the office of the secretary of state Sunday to the ownership of the machine. However, that information was obtained yesterday and Jones found the youth at the home of his father. Collins, it is said, did not attempt to deny that he was racing another car driven by A. L. Weife, Kinston, for whom a warrant has been issued. He explained that Weife forced him to the left side of the road and as the car swerved it struck Shaw.

President Against Plans to Put Mines On National Basis

CHEYENNE, Wyo., June 26.—In a discussion here of the nation's coal problem, in which he mentioned the industry, the consuming public and the government's interest in all phases of coal operations, President Harding recorded himself as being opposed to "nationalizing the mines" and declared that the United States Coal Commission would bring to the country "a new understanding" of the problem and point out a solution "in behalf of a vital public interest."

The Chief Executive spoke from the observation platform of the car in which he came here from Denver at his first Wyoming audience. He also mentioned the problems of the livestock producers of the state, the wool interests and called attention to relief measures which he said Congress and the War Finance Corporation had given after wars inflation and later deflation.

FARM EDITORS TO TALK METHODS TO GIVE RURAL NEWS

RALEIGH, June 26.—Working with the Associated Press to present farm news and information to farmer readers of daily papers will be discussed before the American Association of Agricultural College editors at their annual meeting at New Brunswick N. J. during the week of June 25-30, by F. H. Jeter, editor extension service of the state college and department of agriculture, according to a program of this meeting recently received in Raleigh. One entire day of the conference will be taken up with problems affecting the work of the college editor and Mr. Jeter has been requested to lead these discussions. He will feature the close co-operation of The Associated Press with the various agencies in North Carolina that are working to distribute accurate information about farming problems.

Practically every agricultural college editor in the United States will be present for this conference, it is stated and a number of leading men in farm journal circles will be on the program. Among others, Dr. Albert Shaw, editor of The American Review of Reviews, will deliver an address.

"In no state in the union have the weekly and daily papers cooperated as closely with the College and Department of Agriculture in using sound agricultural information and news about other farmers as they have in North Carolina," said Mr. Jeter before leaving for New Brunswick.

Mr. J. K. Brown left today for South Carolina to attend the North and South Carolina Pharmaceutical Association.

Charging that fraud and deceit were employed by agents of the Tobacco Growers Co-operative association in obtaining signatures of farmers to pool their tobacco with the association, more than 100 Pitt County growers filed suit late yesterday in the Pitt County superior court against the organization seeking to have the contracts declared void.

Filing of the suits is the climax to sentiment that has been rapidly crystallizing against the association among Pitt farmers ever since last fall, when it is alleged in the petition, members were not paid the first advancement they were led to believe they would receive. For the last few weeks a considerable number of growers have been holding meetings throughout the county to organize a concerted legal drive against the association to be released from what the bills of compliants call contracts obtained under "false and fraudulent representations."

Get Service on Wilson. Secretary M. O. Wilson of the association, was served with papers in the actions last night in Raleigh, as he was about to take train for a southern trip. According to advices, it is said, counsel for the association will undertake to have the cases removed to Wake county for trial. It was also intimated today the same procedure might be followed as in the case of F. A. Elks, one of the largest tobacco growers in the county against whom a restraining order has been obtained preventing him from selling tobacco outside the association. Hearing to make the action permanent in the form an injunction will be argued before Judge Cramer, at Raleigh, next Friday.

Beginning of Revolt. Reports reaching here from various sections of the state indicate that this group of suits is just the beginning of similar action that will be followed in other counties. The petitions referring to the methods employed to obtain signatures assert, "That the defendant caused several of its representatives to come to Pitt county and caused its agents and representatives to hold numerous public meetings where tobacco farmers were assembled and falsely and fraudulently represented that every member of the association who would sign the contract upon delivering his tobacco to any of the warehouses of the association would receive 60 per cent of its value, which it was claimed would be as much or more as it would bring upon the loose leaf market. In addition, the petition sets out, members would receive a certificate which would enable them to procure at his local banks an additional money advancement."

Statements False, Claimed. The petition declares that these statements were knowingly false and fraudulent with the consent of the association for the purpose of securing signatures for the purpose of cheating, defrauding and deceiving signers. Complainers assert that the agreements they appear to have signed are not in truth and fact the agreement which the association led them to believe. Plaintiffs tell the court that on account of failure of the contract to contain a provision guaranteeing them a first advancement of 60 per cent of the value of their tobacco upon delivery, it is contended that the contract is not in any wise binding upon them, or that its terms or provisions are enforceable. Other Deception Statements. Citing further misrepresentations the petitions say that agents of the association declared that there would be no place in Eastern Carolina where they could sell their tobacco as had been the case upon the loose leaf market and upon the open warehouse floor. In other words, if growers failed to sign the agreement there would be no market for their product.

F. G. James & Son, Skinner & Wheabee and F. C. Harding, are attorneys for the complainers. The names of farmers who are parties to the action follow: W. L. Brown, L. C. Hegepelt, C. C. Adams, C. H. DO YOU KNOW THAT--

The merchandise YOU WANT at the time YOU WANT IT, can always be found in Greenville Stores.

MENACE OF CHAIN-JOURNALISM

The people should not be blinded to the menace of the multiple ownership of newspapers, what might be more properly called the chain-store journalism.

This is fraught with evil to the nation, when taken into consideration with the trend to consolidation or absorbing of weaker big city dailies.

It makes the independently owned newspaper of the utmost importance in maintaining sound policies for state and nation.

A democracy dependent upon sound and unbiased information of its members may look with dismay upon growing numbers of big dailies falling into group ownership.

The country press and the small city dailies still reach more than 60 per cent of the population of this country. Their strength is to be found in the fact they are read in the homes of the people.

TOO MANY LAWS INCREASE TAXES

Governor Richardson of California has undertaken to reduce the taxation of the people of his state in the right way. He says too much regulation results in too many laws. In his fight for tax reduction he is urging the cutting of law making to a minimum.

Richardson is entirely correct for in an effort to gain public favor by "passing a law" to regulate the other fellow politicians in every state have built up an enormous overhead to administer or enforce the multiplicity of laws.

Aspirants for public favor in the next congress are already preparing legislation covering numerous phases of individual and industrial activity. It would be a godsend to the country if the new Congress refused to pass any laws. Business catches its breath and gets somewhat stabilized between sessions of our national legislative assembly only to be disrupted and made uneasy by the volume of legislation that is imposed immediately the members of Congress convened.

Instead of gauging a man's ability by the number of bills he can propose or pass, the people would reduce the cost of government and get better service if they sent representatives to their state and national assemblies who made records for passing the least legislation and for reducing rather than increasing the overhead burden of government.

The fellow who loafs on the job will sooner or later find time to do more loafing than he wants to when the job is finished.

And now photographs are to be sent by radio. What next may we expect from this wonderful invention.

Between parole boards, reformers, religious enthusiasts, indeterminate sentences, uplift workers, pardoning governors, prison aid societies, the determination of a Maryland convict to serve his time is watched with interest.

THE STRIKE TRAGEDY

In cautioning iron and steel workers against over-use of the strike, Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, gave these words of warning:

"Let us be slow to use the strike weapon. The tragedy of every strike it seems to me, is that ultimately it is settled by negotiation or compromise. After men have been idle for months, after women and children have been brought down to the last crust of bread, the representatives of both sides gets together around the counsel table and reach settlement. They go right back to where they were when the months of misery began and in almost every case both the worker and the employer have lost by the conflict. Instead of conference after months of industrial battle, I would have counsel before the strike is called."

Never was a saner statement made to both employes and employers. It sums up the strike evil in a nutshell so that any working man can understand it.

WANT COAL MINES NATIONALIZED

A curbing of investors' profits in the anthracite coal industry to bring about more satisfactory labor conditions and fairer prices to the consumer was urged by the Miners' Union in a statement laid before the United States coal commission, outlining two programs for reorganization of the Pennsylvania anthracite industry.

One of the plans, as submitted to the commission, provides for complete nationalization of the field; the less drastic alternatives would eliminate present ownership of the mines by the substitution of 6 per cent bonds based on "sacrifice value" for the present stock and other securities, the bonds to be paid for through a sinking fund running for 50 years.

The miners' figures indicated that a total value of $400,000,000 would be found on this basis for existing anthracite deposits, and that this value could be retired by a charge of 28 cents per ton of coal mined, as compared with 78 cents, which it was said owners took in 1918 operations, and $1.40 per ton, which it was estimated they took in 1922-23.

Public hearings on the proposal are demanded.

remedy is entirely with them. No successful agency ever placed its products in a limited territory. But just as long as collective business complacently stands-by contented with an active but at times uncertain trade of only a few months out of the year, that condition will continue to obtain.

During the present fiscal year this country will import close to $3,000,000 in raw materials and finished goods. This means that Americans have spent $3,000,000,000 in the foreign countries. The treasury department will collect approximately $550,000,000 in customs receipts. This tremendous importation is largely due to demand for raw materials, and is made possible because of prevailing high prices. We are keeping the mills, mines and factories of Europe busy, and in this way make a substantial contribution to Europe's economic reconstruction. Just what the effect will be after the "rush" is over is another story.

One reason there is reported increase of lawlessness is because there are so many laws.

NEW HUGHES FILM IS A DELIGHTFUL COMEDY

"Look Your Best" Tells a Human Interest Story of an Italian-American Dancer That Women Will Like.

Rupert Hughes, Goldwyn author-director, in his new photoplay, "Look Your Best," which comes to White's theatre on Wednesday has reverted from Middle Western towns to New York City, mainly, for the local of his new picture. It is not a story of the Irish either, as was his "Hold Your Horses," "From the Ground Up" and "Come On Over." The principal characters are all Italian-Americans. The story is a comedy-drama of small time vaudeville life. It begins in New York, shifts to the small towns covered by the vaudeville tour and comes back to the Metropolitan Opera House in New York.

Mr. Hughes has blended much comedy in the story of pretty Perla Quanta, daughter of an Italian organ grinder, who is given a vaudeville engagement with Carlo Bruni's "butterfly dance act" when one of the girls becomes so fat that the wire which supports her in the air is likely to break. John Krug, Bruni's stage mechanic and wire-man, discovered Perla and took a proprietary interest in her, expecting an amorous reward. But Perla did not welcome his advances and Krug plotted against her—he plotted to get her put on more avoidupo's than a butterfly girl should have—Perla was simply devoted to food—and then have a supporting wire break. But Bruni, himself in love with Perla, discovered Krug's treachery and the fight which ensued landed both in jail. But upon Bruni's release, Perla married him and their career led them to the Metropolitan Opera House, but always they had to eschew the food and the sweets they loved for the sake of their art.

Goldwyn gave the director an excellent cast with Colleen Moore and Antonio Moreno in the leading roles of Perla and Bruni. Earl Metcalfe was especially engaged for the part of Krug. Other players are William Orlamond, Orpha Alba, Martha Mattox and Francis McDonald. Norbert Brodin was the cameraman and Cedric Gibbons the art director. The picture holds a universal appeal—an appeal to which women particularly will respond.

Jessica Brown

This is the latest photograph of beautiful Jessica Brown, New York dancer, who is engaged to marry the youthful Scottish Earl of Northesk, formerly an officer in the Coldstream guards. The art is in America for the wedding, but the couple have been refused a marriage license in New York, following the declaration of Cyril de Witt Reinhard, her former husband, that her divorce is not legal. It is now reported they will go to Canada for the wedding.

Mrs. Anna Buzzi

Here is a late photograph of Mrs. Anna Buzzi, who has been placed on trial in New York on the charge of murdering Frederick Schneider, millionaire Bronx contractor, with whom she had been living for several years. Chauffeurs Read Shakespeare.

BERLIN.—Even the taxicab drivers in Berlin are Shakespeare fans. An American tourist who recently engaged a taxicab for half a day, noticed that the driver was always reading while his passenger was making calls. The American thought, perhaps, the man was a student, and glanced at the book. It was Shakespeare's complete dramatic works in German, and the man was reading "Othello."

BRAZIL TO REVISE LABOR LAWS

RIO DE JANEIRO.—A stride toward the general improvement of labor conditions in Brazil was taken by the federal government recently when President Bernardes signed the decree creating a National Labor Council.

The purpose of the council is to study all matters touching labor legislation, and to visualize and superintend the application of labor laws.

DANISH FARMERS WELCOME PLANS FOR RUSSIAN TRADE

COPENHAGEN. Plans for a direct steamship line from Scandinavian ports to Petrograd have been made by Norwegian, British and Danish capitalists, to be opened this summer. The new line is being established as a result of the preliminary Russian-Danish trade agreement which was signed in Moscow recently.

The Danish farmers are particularly interested in the new agreement as it is looked upon as providing a market for their surplus produce.

DOES "PETTICOAT GOVERNMENT" RULE?

Lucy Brandham and Sir William Watson

Sir William Watson, noted English poet, has asserted that America is a nation of "women worshippers," that the United States is ruled by a "petticoat government" and that American women were primarily responsible for the eighteenth amendment and subsequent more-or-less prohibition. Miss Lucy Brandham, Carnegie medal winner for heroism and a leader of the National Woman's Party has characterized his statement as "bunk." America, she said, is "male-ruled" and women haven't the least share of the political or economic energy which is their just due. Chief credit for prohibition, she added, must go to the middle class business man, who could not afford a drink and did not want to see his workers drunk.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT WILL ENCOURAGE AIRPLANE RACES

LONDON.—With a view to encouraging the entry of British racing aircraft in international air races the air council has undertaken hereafter to purchase, up to $3,000, the winning aircraft, minus engine, in the forthcoming aerial "Derby" and the "Schneider Cup" races, provided that in each case the aircraft is British designed, built and owned, and not of a type which has previously won either race.

Prairie Road Approached.

WILMINGTON.—Road approaches to Wilmington are the equal of any other city of similar size in the United States, according to Frank Dean, Wilmingtonian, who has just returned, from a 2,400 mile automobile trip through Washington, Maryland, Ohio and other points. Dean attended the Shriners convention in Washington and a family reunion in Cincinnati.

DANISH BUILDING CURTAILED

WILMINGTON.—The material affecting the welfare of Denmark, according to the Scandinavian Shipping Gazette, No. 10, iron, steel, coke, dyes or other goods have come from the Ruhr since the French went in. Danish shipbuilding has been hard hit work on 12 new ships in Copenhagen having been stopped. The lack of supplies increases the number of unemployed, and extensive building programs have had to be curtailed.

FOREST FIRES RESULT FROM CARELESS AUTOISTS

CLEVELAND.—One hundred thousand motorists of Cuyahoga county have been asked by the Cleveland Automobile Club to join in a movement to keep camp and picnic sites clean and undefaced and to protect the countryside from the danger of fire.

In a statement the club suggests that the motorists adopt the slogan, "Clean up as you go." It is pointed out that in recent years there has been a growing tendency to litter the countryside with rubbish, especially during the warm months.

Come Over into Macedonia And Help Us," Echo of Age-Old Cry, Answered by American Red Cross

The old cry, "Come over into Macedonia and help us," voiced in the days of St. Paul, had an echo last year when refugees from Eastern Thrace poured across the Macedonian border, helpless, homeless, sick and facing death from cold and hunger. That the cry was not unheeded these pictures, of barges laden with bales of blankets bound Macedoniaward from the Piraeus and this typical youngster hugging the precious can of milk, a gift of the American Red Cross, clearly testify.

What they can not show, however, is the magnitude of the American effort and the highly beneficent results attained by the Red Cross workers in meeting the emergency not only in Macedonia but in the whole Grecian peninsula and the dozens of scattered islands of the Aegean and Ionian seas.

Measured in cash merely, the cost of America's contribution through its national organization for disaster and emergency relief, the American Red Cross, was $2,600,000. With that sum half a million refugees were fed, not occasionally, but day in and day out for months, hospitals were opened, equipped, and supervised by American doctors and American nurses, blankets were distributed, and clothing, milk for the babies born in the turmoil of the great heira and for their mothers, weakened by the hardships of their enforced wanderings.

It is hard to estimate what this help meant to Greece. One can only cite examples here and there, taking the word of the Greeks themselves. "On the day before the arrival of the first Red Cross shipments of food products ten refugees died from starvation here. Without the American aid this situation would have continued. Since the arrival of the first American Red Cross products there have been no deaths from starvation here." "There were 100,000 people here, and not only fed but clothed, for the report rendered their very presence a deadly menace to the cities in which they had crowded themselves. From the very day of the destruction of Smyrna last September the American Red Cross has worked unceasingly in combatting the effects of the wave of a million refugees which swept over Greece, as an aftermath of that disaster and the catastrophic defeat of Greek arms. It met the emergency as an emergency. It does not propose that those it has aided should be pauperized and become a permanent burden upon American charity. Therefore, its emergency relief program will be brought to a close on June 30. By that time the gardens of Greece will be yielding their increase, the harvest will be ripe for the sickle and another chapter in the history of American philanthropy will end.

Failures Had No Adverse Effect on New York 'Change

NEW YORK, June 25.—The failure of two old Stock Exchange houses had an adverse, though transient effect on sentiment in the financial markets during the past week. Speculators for the decline took advantage of the news to circulate all kinds of extravagant rumors regarding additional insolvencies and offered large amounts of stocks and commodities on the principal exchanges.

As a matter of fact, it appears that the failures in question, which involved houses specializing in foreign exchanges and securities and which had extensive German connections, had little significance as far as the domestic position is concerned. They measured, according to most observers, the difficulties of carrying on foreign business under existing conditions. In the best informed quarters it was said that the domestic banking and brokerage position is quite sound and that nothing is known of any difficulties of a disturbing character.

"They'll arrest us soon for fishing,
Or perhaps for even wishing,
If it happens to be Sunday that we pick,
We'll pay a fine for weeping
Or for sitting or for sleeping,
And I doubt if they'll allow us to be sick,
We'll be told how to do our dressing
And we'll be denied express,
Every one of us our humble honest views,
We'll be shot at dawn for talking
Or for laughing or for walking,
For Greenville has got the Prohibition Blues."

ACES OF WORLD TO FLY FOR BIG PRIZES AT MISSOURI MEET

ST. LOUIS.—A program enabling virtually every type of airplane and dirigible to compete in the International Air Races here, October 1 to 3, has been prepared by the Flying Club of St. Louis.

In addition to the Pulitzer Trophy race, many other events designed to test the speed, durability and construction of the different types of aircraft have been arranged.

For the first time the Pulitzer race probably will assume an international aspect, as assurances have been received that Sadi Lacombe, the French ace, and Brack Paya, Italian aviator, will enter. The British government may enter Herbert James, the English ace, it has been announced.

The races will be over a 50 kilometer (31.07 miles) triangular course, similar to that in Detroit last year. Each corner of the triangle will be marked by a pylon 60 feet high and about 20 feet square at the base for the guidance of the fliers, who, it is expected, will make the turns at high speed.

The list of trophies and prizes has mounted steadily. In addition to cash prizes totaling $13,000, numerous trophies emblematic of championship in the respective classes will be awarded the winners. Gold, silver and bronze decorations will be given pilots finishing second and third.

NEGRO EXODUS DOES NOT AFFECT LABOR IN STATE

RALEIGH, June 26.—Dr. James B. Dudley, president of the Agricultural and Technical College for negroes at Greensboro, declared in a statement to The Associated Press that North Carolina is least affected by the migration of negroes north of any other Southern state.

"I have made a survey of the situation," Dr. Dudley said, "and I find that we are losing very few of the best class of negroes. One method I employed was to write pastors of negro churches. Without exception, each one replied that his congregation had not only not fallen off, but that it had actually increased.

"During the recent commencement season I sent speakers all over the state to remind negroes that their place is here at home and warning them against migration north. All of us encounter difficulties, no matter where we are located, and it is always better to face problems at home among friends than in strange lands among strangers.

"The race prejudice of the north is far more deadly than any which exists in the South, and in North Carolina our negroes not only enjoy good schools but are afforded justice in the courts. These two things alone should discourage migration."

DEMPSEY POOR PROSPECT WHEN HE ENTERED RING

NEW YORK.—Jack Dempsey, world heavyweight boxing champion, who defends his title in a 15-round match with Tom Gibbons, of St. Paul at Shelby, Montana, July 4, was one of the most crude and unpromising fighters of his class when he made his New York bow in 1915 in a no-decision contest with John Lester Johnson, negro.

Then in his infancy as a fighter and under the managerial wing of John the Barber, Dempsey appeared a sorry prospect for the championship. Johnson, also in fighting babyhood, had just recovered from a knockout from Sam Langford. So they were evenly matched in six and skill and the bout went the limit of ten rounds.

Each claimed the unofficial decision. The negro's blows, however, were most effective, for a pair of Dempsey's ribs were damaged by body blows. Dempsey at that time proved to be a one-handed battler. His defense was poor and he swung his right instead of shooting it straight.

Among other engagements in his first New York visit Dempsey met Wild Bert Kenny, Andre Anderson which were authorized.

and Dan Ketchell. Kenny and Anderson stayed the limit of ten rounds each but Kenny fell in the fifth round. Early in 1917 after a series of exploits by no means brilliant, Dempsey was knocked out in one round by Jim Flynn, the Pueblo Fireman. Various reports were circulated about that fight and later Dempsey redeemed himself by disposing of Flynn in less than a round.
