

There is only a small percentage of our farmers who have pasture for the farm stock. This pertinent truth comes from J. L. Holliday, farm demonstration expert, who also warns growers that now is the time to begin plans for the crops that are to provide for livestock and productive ability of the land during the coming year. Use of limestone is urged for soil treatment as an agency for increased crop production.

Holliday draws an impressive comparison when he says "the number of farmers who buy hay for their stock gives a fair conception of why approximately 50 per cent out of 100 farmers who are trying to live on farms are only existing, and forlorn hope is their part of profitable agriculture." That summarizes the condition accurately. They will continue to exist until production methods are changed. Here is a simple plan to hit a new stride: For each two horse farm if every grower would plant three acres of oats and crimson clover, Abruzzi rye and clover, or wheat and clover, grazing would be furnished for the late winter and early spring months, and produce sufficient hay with the help of one acre of permanent pasture to amply meet the requirements for such farms. GIVE IT A TRIAL. YOU'LL BE SATISFIED.

Crop Outlook In Pitt Ahead In 13 Counties, Claim

A party of Pitt county farmers and a Greenville business man returned today from a trip that took them through nine counties of Eastern Carolina and four in Virginia. They made close study of crop prospects in the various sections. Without being influenced by home pride they are unanimous in expressing the belief that the outlook for tobacco is better in this county than any of the others. With a little rainfall, it is predicted, that the crop this year will likely prove a big and favorable surprise to growers.

In Northampton which is situated in the cotton belt, one member of the party said the plants were in excellent condition, and possibly had a shade over that staple in Pitt, but with that single exception comparison was convincing that Pitt lead in other products.

All Crops Look Fine.
In southern counties of Virginia, particularly in the peanut zone every indication pointed to a record breaking crop, and the same is true of cotton in that section of the neighboring state.

What impressed the Pitt men most was the confident feeling prevailing among farmers that renewed and permanent prosperity was almost at hand. The attitude and state of mind among growers since last year has undergone a remarkable transition from despair to hope and confidence. Dissatisfaction that had been universal among farmers since 1920, has been supplanted by an atmosphere of extreme optimism, it was declared.

The difference in general crop conditions was observable in Wake county which showed that tobacco and cotton looked better after crossing the Wilson county line, and continued to improve coming this way.

Paint Prosperity Sign.

That farmers are anticipating prosperity, they said, was emphasized by the use of paint on dwelling, barns and outbuildings. In every instance where fine growing crops were observed paint was being liberally used. As one farmer put it: "You know paint is to agriculture what great billows of smoke is to manufacturing." Well ordered farm homes and buildings, it was found, are rapidly becoming the rule, rather than the exception.

The fine system of paved highways was highly commended. With Virginia building numerous links connecting with several important trunk lines of North Carolina unrivaled paved roads to the Atlantic seaboard are nearing reality.

FATAL BROOKLYN ELEVATED TRAIN WRECK

A train on the Brooklyn-Manhattan fell from the elevated structure Monday at Fifth and Flatbush avenues. Several were killed and a number badly wounded. The accident was one of the worst in the history of elevated train service. Prompt work of physicians and firemen in clearing the debris saved many lives.

Etna Streams Another Great Lava Eruption

LONDON, June 27.—New and violent eruption broke out this morning near the summit on the south side of Mt. Etna, that it plainly visible to the naked eye in Catania, says a Rome dispatch.

It is feared that the observatory has been overwhelmed. Prof. Carrara, reports that new flow of lava is progressing at rate of kilometer an hour.

Six College Crews To Start in Great Rowing Regatta

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y.—Six crews, five of the east and one from the far west, start on the Hudson tomorrow in the 26th championship regatta, a rowing event of world interest only by the Yale-Harvard four-mile pull on the Thames at New London.

The champion Naval Academy boat, victor in 1921 and 1922, will be filled with another great octet of oarsmen. The University of Washington shell, second only to the Navy in last year's event, again will have a strong eight handling its sweeps. Coach Rice's Columbia University crew, one of the best in years, and the crews of Syracuse, Cornell and Pennsylvania are the other entries.

Cornell, winner of the championship more times than any other college, has a crew made-over from early season. Syracuse and Pennsylvania have improved greatly in training during the last few weeks, and it is considered likely that either of these crews might fulfill the hopes of their most optimistic followers.

Based on early season performances, however, Navy, Columbia and Washington appear strongest of the six. Columbia, with one execution, has had a season of marked success. Their only defeat was by Yale in the triangular regatta with Pennsylvania on the Housatonic at Derby, Conn. The Columbia shell was led across the finish line by less than a length in that event.

The Navy has won from Princeton, Harvard and Syracuse. Cornell lost to Yale, but defeated Princeton and Harvard. Washington won the Pacific Coast championship from California with a crew that appears even as good as that turned out by Ed Leader, now the Yale mentor, for last year's intercollegiate classic.

TWO HELD FOR VIOLATIONS OF LIQUOR LAWS

Alton McGlohorn and Wilks Fleming, were charged today before Mayor Clark, with violations of the liquor laws. Both were held for the action of the county court in $200 bonds each. McGlohorn, was also fined $10 and cost for drinking liquor in a public place. The defendant told the court that acceding to ing, a persistent invitation of a friend he took a drink in front of a cafe on Dickinson avenue. He was held for the higher court under the provisions of the new Turlington law.

According to Chief of Police, Lester Jones, Fleming was found with more than a gallon of banana brandy. Joe Parris, paid into court $13 for driving his car in excess of the prescribed speed limit. Willie Fleming colored, failed to appear to answer a charge of littering the street with trash. The court issued a capias for his appearance.

Morrison Insists Roads and Air Be Kept For Raleigh

RALEIGH, June 27.—"I insist that the air and the road be kept for the people and not given to the railroads by turning them over to their cronies in the corporation commission," said Governor Morrison by way of a broadside into the enemies of his administration in reviewing progress before the students of the State College summer school last night.

The broadside was incidental to the speech, but one of many incidental shots that he aimed during the course of his review of the achievements of his administration in which he declared that more progress had been made since he was inaugurated than was made between Vance and the expiration of the term of his immediate predecessor in the executive offices.

He was in a good humor for a speech, and he pleased the teachers mightily, if the applause that frequently interrupted his hour of appraisal is to be taken as an index. The corporation commission, some unidentified "reactionaries" and "traitors," "small-minded politicians," the railroads and the pessimists generally alone came in for exhortation at his hands.

Messrs. Bruce Holliday, Frank Harrington, J. C. Gaskins and N. W. Jackson are spending the day in Goldsboro.

Town Is Under Martial Law, Folks Puzzled

OKMULGEE, Okla., June 27.—Okmulgee county was unexpectedly placed under martial law last night. Governor Walton, proclaimed a state of lawlessness and disorder amounting to insurrection against the civil law rendered necessary placing state troops in control.

The greater part of the county's population maintains it is bewildered by the action of the state executive, and that it is seeking to locate the condition of lawlessness and terror described by the governor.

Contract For Paving the Farmville-Wilson Road to Be Awarded

RALEIGH, June 27.—Contractors from many sections of the state are here for the opening of bids today by the state highway commission on 171.68 miles of roadway.

Today's awards will constitute one of the largest single lettings which the commission has handled and all sections of the state will be affected. In addition of the road bids, bids on an overhead crossing and a bridge are to be handled also.

The types of construction of the roads will not be determined until after the bids have been examined, it is stated. Specifications call for bids on two or three types of surfacing on each project and it will rest with the commission to decide the types preferred.

Among the awards will be included the hard surfacing of the highway connecting Farmville and Wilson.

CO-OP EXECUTIVE SAYS PITT SUITS CONSPIRACY PLOT

M. O. Wilson, secretary of the Tobacco Growers association, in an interview calls the suits filed by more than 100 Pitt county farmers to be released from the so-called agreements to deliver tobacco to the organization—the result "of incendiary expression and statements from prominent men intimately connected with the auction system." Wilson adds, "they have conspired for weeks," and then makes this significant observation: "Even while the cases are pending the association expects to get this tobacco."

Here is the statement he is quoted as giving out to the press: "On the night of June 25 there was served on the association summons in 67 cases in which association members of Pitt county are instituting legal action against the association. Complaints have not yet been filed. However, from information which comes direct from one of the prime instigators of this plot, it appears that they are suits for the cancellation of the association's marketing agreement."

Scores Pitt Farmers.
"For a month the officers of the association have known of an intensive and secret movement by a few dissatisfied and disgruntled Pitt county growers to band together all of the disloyal members of that county in suits against the association. The leaders of this movement encouraged by suggestive and incendiary expressions and statements from prominent men intimately connected with the auction system, expected to get at least two hundred members to join in this movement. They have held numerous meetings. They have conspired for weeks. Out of a membership of 1,660 in Pitt county they have succeeded in securing only 67 members who have turned their backs on their fellows-farmers, have wrenched on their contracts and have sued the association."

Will Fight Suits.
"It further appears from statements from these same officious leaders that the parties to these suits hope to keep the suits in court for a long time and to sell their tobacco as they please until the litigation is settled."

"The association pledges to its loyal members that each and every one of these suits will be contested and fought from every angle. The association is confident of the ultimate favorable outcome of these suits, confident that the North Carolina courts of law and equity will uphold in every case the obligations of solemn, written instrument entered into with the association and with 90,000 other growers of tobacco."

Says Growers Liable.
Moreover, the association is confident that the hopes of 67 are unfounded and that the sale of their tobacco at auction can be enjoined. Even while these cases are pending the association expects to get this tobacco. By their very suits the 67 have invited and laid themselves open to counter claim and injunction."

CONCERTED MOVE TO BUILD COMMUNITY CENTER TO BE STARTED SOON AND PUSHED

Concerted movement will be shortly undertaken by the various civic organizations, the city government and general public to raise the required funds to build a community recreation center on the site east of the high school.

Closs W. Hearne, member of the board of alderman, will take the initiative by asking the board to finance the cost of covering and piping the branch that flows through the tract. The Kiwanis, Rotary and Woman's Clubs have already appointed committees to serve jointly in furthering the project. The Kiwanians have promised the bowl playground equipment.

Natural Beauty Spot.
Plans for the complete project have been drawn by Louis L. Miller, Somerville, N. J., expert landscape engineer, when it carried out will convert the natural site into a bower of useful and enchanting beauty. Miller has provided for an amphitheater, along the lines of the structure in Arlington national cemetery, which is declared by authorities to be the most artistic in this country. Provision is made for seating capacity of 1700. Another splendid feature incorporated in the plans is the temple designed to hold open air entertainments, pageants, etc. It will contain ample stage room together with dressing rooms and other conveniences.

The playground bowl 200 by 100 feet is laid out to the best advantages in which various amusement devices can be installed for the kiddies, while sufficient space will be available to indulge the sports of the near-grown-ups and grown ups.

Other Fine Features.
Miller whose experience and ability carries weight, declares the site is one of the best adapted he has ever seen covering various sections of the country. Another cardinal feature in connection with the plans is that all of the trees are preserved. Placed in new settings their beauty and splendid shade will enhance the splendor of the proposed center.

Everybody in Greenville is going to have a chance to get in on bringing this big community project to fruition. It is an enterprise in which every resident of the city is interested, and will undoubtedly receive the prompt and consistent support it merits.

The plans may be inspected at the office of H. L. Rivers, civil engineer.

Housing Shortage Comes Before the Real Estate Men

CLEVELAND.—Problems relating to the housing shortage, labor and construction material costs and the general financial situation of the country will be subjects for discussion at the sixteenth annual convention of the National association of Real Estate boards meeting here tomorrow. Sessions will be held in public auditorium, where the national exposition of building ideas will be held in connection with them.

Seventy-five hundred representatives of every branch of real estate interests throughout the United States and Canada, will attend to find a working answer to these and other questions, which more or less affect the general expansion of national business life.

Garretts Indicted For Killing Pastor

RICHMOND, Va. June 27.—Robert O. Garrett, clerk of court of Cumberland county, and his brother, Larkin C. Garrett, commissioner in Chancery and member of the county school board, were indicted by a special grand jury in Cumberland have been held for the killing on June 5 of the Rev. E. S. Pierce, Baptist clergyman, formerly of North Carolina, who had several pastoral charges on the county.

The indictment is a joint one and charges first degree murder. Whether or not the two indicted men will be tried jointly or separately is option left with the Commonwealth. The case was set for trial July 26.

Pitt Road Camps And Jail Are In Fine Shape, Davis Says

Acting under directions of Governor Morrison, Solicitor Jesse H. Davis, has made a thorough investigation of the condition of the county road camp and jail. He said today, that he found the camps in excellent condition, and that prisoners assured him that they were well treated and the food was good, and in abundance. Altogether, he declared, the situation in Pitt county so far as the prison system is concerned is being conducted satisfactorily. The jail was found to be maintained in sanitary and efficient manner, he said.

EAST CAROLINA GOLF CLUBS TO PUT ON TOURNEY

Members of various golf clubs of East Carolina were entertained yesterday at Kingston, by the club of that place. Plans were discussed for an inter-city golf tourney to be played in July and August. Several members of the Greenville Country Club attended the meeting. The visitors were entertained at a delightful luncheon at Hillcrest. Golf enthusiasts from Goldsboro, Wilson, Rocky Mount, New Bern, Tarboro and other points were in attendance.

DO YOU KNOW THAT—

An optimistic mind cannot live in a head that is constantly calculating on the profits of some commercial transaction and never giving a thought to the betterment of a city in which he lives?

REVOLT AGAINST TOBACCO CO-OP

The phraseology of the suits filed by more than 100 Pitt County farmers against the Tobacco Cooperative association leaves nothing to the imagination in expressing their complete disgust with that organization.

There is no subterfuge of language used to disguise the declarations that they have been defrauded, cheated and imposed upon. They have made sworn statements to that effect. Attorneys for the complainants are evidently satisfied that they can sustain the charges set out in the petitions in court, or they would not have undertaken to bring the actions.

This group of suits is the largest number ever filed against the association at one time in any of the states wherein the cooperative movement is doing business.

It is nothing less than a revolt against alleged unfulfilled pledges and promises made by officials and representatives of the body in obtaining signatures to contracts for tobacco deliveries that have been wantonly disregarded, the petitions say. Hundreds of suits are pending against cooperative concerns throughout the tobacco belts of North Carolina, Virginia, Tennessee, Kentucky and elsewhere.

If the main purposes of the organization were inspired solely by a desire to "help the poor farmer," why the bitter legal protest on part of the association to attempt rigid enforcement of an agreement which several hundred growers have boldly repudiated?

When the courts are asked to exercise the powerful process of injunction to compel dissatisfied farmers to sell their product through that body, such action certainly suggests something more than mere unselfish interest.

The Reflector does not undertake to say that the Tobacco Cooperative association has not a few loyal supporters in Pitt County, but it does emphasize that when more than 100 growers representing some of the largest producers, and the best line of thought, join in an action to be released from an agreement which they assert was obtained by "fraud" and other misleading methods that something is "rotten in Denmark."

In order to correct the constricted vision of some persons, The Reflector wants it understood, that it is for the collective interest of all the people of Pitt County, first, last and all the time. In the contention between tobacco growers and the association it is not founding its position upon ex-parte gossip, but upon facts which will undoubtedly be developed during the trial of the cases. We are stating the case as reviewed in the petitions filed in court.

We are open minded as to the issues drawn, and if the association can convincingly controvert the allegations of the complainants of Pitt County by preponderance of testimony to the contrary it will be a surprise, to say the least.

It is a satisfying pleasure to support any project or movement that promises to promote the interest of agriculture, but it is difficult to reconcile the welfare of a small group of outside business men against the interest of the vast majority of our growers.

SPECULATION VS. INVESTMENT

The trouble with too many people who have $100 or so to invest, is they are not able to distinguish between an investment and a gamble. They are easily induced by promoters and salesmen to part with their money, in schemes that offer them little chance of winning. And when they are "stung" they are too proud, or too sensitive to public opinion, to come right out and report the matter—so the fake agent or promoter goes unpunished and proceeds to hunt up more victims.

The Investment Bankers' association of America is launching a campaign to protect the small investors of the country by acquainting them with the underhand methods of fake stock promoters.

NEPOTISM GALORE!

It is quite common for a member of an ordinary state legislature to employ his wife, son, daughter, or even several relatives, as clerks and state house help.

It is altogether too common for legislators to trade their influence with the state administration for jobs for themselves or their family in the public departments.

But it is an expansion of nepotism on a grander scale for United States senators and representatives to employ their wives and children at Washington. This is true in several instances.

In the beginning ours was a government of checks and balances. But now the job holders get the checks and there isn't any balances.

MR. AND MRS. B. W. MOSELEY ENTERTAIN

On Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Moseley delightfully entertained the bridal party of Miss Nancy Arthur who will this evening, become the bride of Mr. William Poindexter, of Walkertown, N. C.

The attractive home on Fifth street was beautifully decorated for the occasion. The porch was a bower of loveliness with its hanging baskets and many colored lights. The lower floor was thrown into one and appropriately decorated while electric fans made the guests forget that it was June. Upon arrival the guests were given a cordial welcome by Mrs. Harry Skinner and Mrs. E. B. Ficklen and invited into the reception hall which was a bower of green and white with showers of wedding bells. From the hall the guests passed to the living room which was very attractive with its color scheme of pink, pink bells and crepe myrtle being used in profusion. Dr. and Mrs. Lewis Skinner and Rev. and Mrs. W. S. Harden received the guests as they entered the room and Miss Francis Moseley, Robert Muller, Miss Mary Hunter Jones and Phil Booe served refreshing punch.

Mrs. Travis Hooker and Mrs. J. L. Little received at the library door. This room, in which the receiving line stood, carried out the color scheme of yellow, with large baskets of beautiful yellow daisies being arranged at appropriate places. In the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Moseley, Miss Nancy Arthur, Mr. William Poindexter, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Arthur, parents of the bride-elect, Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Poindexter, Mrs. Chas. Skinner, Mr. N. S. Poindexter, Mrs. Frank Hanes, Miss Lucy Booe, Phil Booe, of Walkertown, Rev. J. B. Ficklen, Decatur, Ga., Mrs. Hunter Marshall, Charlotte, Capt. Lewis Arthur, U. S. A., Mr. and Mrs. Peter Gorrell, Winston-Salem.

Miss Winnie Skinner and Mrs. E.

B. Ferguson showed the guests from the library to the dining room. This room was perhaps the most beautiful of the entire home. Showers of wedding bells, baskets of crepe myrtle, and pink tulle streamers entwined with smilax, were arranged most gracefully about the room making it a perfect picture of beauty. Large pink tapers and shaded lights cast a mellow glow over the entire scene. The table was covered with a handsome cluny cover, the center piece being formed with a silver basket filled with crepe myrtle. A beautiful shower of wedding bells was suspended from the candelier which was decorated with ivy and tulle. Four silver candle sticks, containing pink tapers, marked the corners. Mrs. A. M. Moseley and Mrs. James Hines, seated at either end of the table, served pink and white heart candies, and cakes decorated with hearts and valley lilies. From the dining room the guests passed to the hall where they were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. H. A. White and invited to the porch.

After all the guests had been welcomed and served, they were invited back to the dining room for the cutting of the bride's cake. The cake beautifully decorated with the initials of Mr. and Mrs. Poindexter, was rolled in on a tea cart, and much joy and merriment ensued. Miss Arthur, the first to cut, found herself the possessor of the ring, while the thimble went to Miss Alice Fulford, who will be married next Saturday. Mr. Robert Muller cut the bachelor's button and the dime was never found.

Mr. Walter Wilson, of Shanghai, China, and who is visiting his parents Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Wilson, called during the evening. Miss Jessie Moye, who possesses a splendid voice, with Mrs. Ray Tyson, as her accompanist, delighted the guests with several solos, while Mr. Tyson rendered a number of musical selections.

It was one of those happy occasions for which the home of Mr. and Mrs. Moseley has long been noted.

Devereux Players Coming.
On Saturday afternoon, at 3:30, June 30 the Devereux players will present G. K. Chesterton's "Magic" at East Carolina Teachers College. In the evening of the same day the company will present Shakespeare's "Much Ado About Nothing." The public is invited to see these players. Admission to each performance $1.00 to both performances $1.50.

LOCAL FIRM LANDS GOOD CONTRACT WITH A. C. L.

The local contracting firm of Porter & Peck were yesterday awarded the contract for the grading and laying of about seven miles of additional rails in Atlantic Coast Line yards at Fayetteville. Material is already in transit for the job, and it is expected that work will begin within the next ten days.

Price Wasn't Mentioned.

In the advertisement of Blount-Harvey company in yesterday's issue of this paper in which Seer-Sucker suits were featured, in some way the price was omitted. This was very important as the firm was only asking $10.00 for these popular suits which is considered an unusually low price.

Chapter to Meet.

The George B. Singletary Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy will meet Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. I. F. Lee, at five o'clock. Hostesses for the meeting being Mrs. O. F. Clarke, Mrs. W. C. Foushee, Mrs. I. F. Lee and Miss Blanche Cromartie. All members are urged to be present and those that cannot attend will please notify Mrs. O. F. Clarke.

as many negatives as affirmatives, and almost as many different angles as persons. However, it remained for mere man—two of them, in fact—aided, of course, by an extremely beautiful woman—to present a direct and extremely dramatic answer to the interrogation.

The two men are Wyndham Gittens and James W. Horne, author and director, respectively, of the new Film Booking offices photoplay which bears the title that heads this article. And the beautiful woman in this case is none other than the ravishing blonde, Ethel Clayton.

But the wonder is not that this trio, aided and abetted by a sterling cast, have succeeded in producing one of the most dramatic and entertaining pictures of the season—the wonder is that the producers had courage enough to hurl a defy into the face of that large number of men and women who believe that a widow—grass or sod—should stay a widow. Let us give thanks for the picture, however, inasmuch as it is destined to do much toward diminishing the number of those who still believe that a woman hasn't just as

Talks on Osteopathy

By DR. F. FITTS

OSTEOPATHY GOES BACK OF SYMPTOMS
Symptoms of sickness are important. They often offer the only key to the source of impaired health. But the symptoms are not the sickness. Pain, for example, is only a warning sign that there is trouble somewhere, within the body.

Back of every symptom is a cause. That cause lies somewhere within the body in an area where the natural operation of bodily parts is being interfered with by structure that is out of line.

Until this structure has been returned to normal position by correct adjustment, the cause of the disease cannot be removed, even though the symptoms may be stifled.

This is why the Osteopathic principle of adjustment of structure has proven so effective. The Osteopathic Physician uses symptoms as indicators and locates the position of the faulty structure.

When his adjustments have restored a normal condition, natural law becomes operative again and both symptoms and cause are eliminated.

There can be no health without natural processes and there can be no sickness as long as natural forces of protection can operate effectively.

much right to fight for the man she wants as the man has to fight for the woman of his choice.

Personally, I disagree with one or two of the ideas so dramatically presented in "Can a Woman Love Twice?" But it is a difference of opinion that makes horse-racing and about every-
