

Judge Bingham, Louisville, Ky., heir to the Flagler millions through marriage and one of the original exponents of the co-operative tobacco distribution system is evidently both peeved and alarmed over certain facts concerning the organization recently appearing in The Tobacco Farmer. The Kentucky judge rushed telegraphic denial to Raleigh headquarters. Among other things he asserted the "auction crowd are pursuing tactics of desperation," etc.

For the information of the judge, he is reminded that no "tactics of desperation" are being pursued. Quite otherwise, growers are merely checking up the unfulfilled promises of the so-called high salaried executives and their paid hirelings. A balance has been struck that is not at all satisfying to hundreds of planters. They fail to reconcile unredeemed pledges with the colorful and alluring inducements of co-operative agents!

The Tobacco Farmer very properly summarizes the situation with this comment: "Many of last year's ardent advocates have expressed themselves as anxious to see a statement issued by the association in a business like manner. They would rather see a statement of this kind than to READ all the SPEECHES and TELEGRAPHIC REPORTS from ANYBODY." That's the crux of the whole matter. Farmers want a settlement and less bombast from millionaire promoters.

U. S. Envoy and Turkish Delegate Confer on Terms Projected Separate Treaty

Lausanne, July 26.—The American Minister, Joseph C. Grew, and the chief Turkish delegate, Ismet Pasha, held a long conference but little progress was made in solving the problems of the projected Turko-American treaty.

It was denied categorically that the United States asked for extension of the authority of the foreign legal advisers that Turkey has agreed to appoint in temporary substitution for the former system of judicial extra territorial privileges.

Turks Unyielding.
The Turkish spokesmen who made the assertion last night declared the Ankara assembly would never ratify more privileges to America than to Europe.

The Americans today said they had agreed to accept the terms of the Turkish declaration concerning judicial safeguards which Ismet Pasha will extend to the European States that signed the general peace treaty.

The Americans explained that in attempting to draft a treaty they had adhered constantly to the principles laid down as a basis when the negotiations began. They met the Turks half way on details, but the Ottoman delegates seemed to follow a policy of yielding nothing.

U. S. Citizens' Claims Saag.
Claims advanced by American citizens against the Turks, which the United States wishes to settle by arbitration and recognition by the Turks of the American nationalization laws, continue to be points of discord.

Mr. Grew and Ismet Pasha, however, agreed upon one thing during their conference. This was to continue the negotiations until an agreement was reached or clearly shown to be impossible.

Ismet has recognized that separate treaties require special stipulations to meet special conditions and the Americans are said to be conducting the negotiations along this line without attempting to secure general privileges which the Turks refused to the Allies.

VANCOUVER IN GALA ATTIRE TO GREET HARDING

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 26.—Vancouver turned out strong today to greet President Harding when he arrived here. The Canadians gave him one of the most enthusiastic receptions he has had since he started on his Alaskan trip. The city was gayly decorated with American and British colors and the evident joy with which he was received appeared to make a deep impression on the president.

In a speech the president referred to the century old relations of unity that existed between Canada and the United States. He praised their country, complimented their progressive spirit of government and their agricultural and commercial development.

The visit of President Harding, to Canada and short addresses is the first ever made by a president to foreign government while holding office, with the exception of former President Wilson, when he went to Europe as a member of the peace conference, following the world war.

KEEP OUT OF WORLD COURT, JOHNSON SAYS

NEW YORK, July 26.—Senator Hiram Johnson, of California, was cheered by 1,000 persons last night, when, at a dinner in his honor, he denounced America's proposed entry into the world court and declared America's gold and man power and not her wisdom were wanted by European nations in the settlement of European affairs.

The dinner, which had been heralded by the Senator's friend as the occasion for launching him on the political sea as a candidate for President in 1924 did not materialize as such, although there were those at the tables who, when the applause for some of the emphatic notes in his address was at its height, gave vent to their enthusiasm by shouting "Hiram in 1924."

It was repeatedly declared, however, both by Senator Johnson himself and by George Henry Payne, toastmaster and leader in state Republican politics, that the dinner was without political significance. Mr. Payne pointed out that guests were present from all sections of the country, representing divergent political faiths and beliefs and varying lines of thought. The sole object of the event, he and the Senator declared, was to "clear up a few points on the situation in Europe."

Klansmen to Stay With Parent Body

RALEIGH, July 26.—Two of the highest officials in the Ku Klux Klan, in North Carolina, in a statement to the Associated Press declared that published reports relative to the secession of a number of North Carolina Klaverns from the Atlanta organization "are absolutely unfounded."

The two Klan officials who attended the Klorock, or annual State convention, held here yesterday, gave the statement on condition that their identity be not disclosed.

"The question of secession was not even discussed," said one of the officers, "but in view of published reports that there was some disaffection in North Carolina, a resolution of confidence in Dr. H. W. Evans, Imperial Wizard, and his official staff was adopted without a dissenting vote."

Negroes Supporting 'Live-at-Home' Move

W. Kilgore and Superintendent of Public Instruction A. T. Allen, it was stated.

Make Infraction Of Prison Rules Unlawful, He Says

CHAPEL HILL, July 26.—What he believes will prove a successful substitute for flogging is disciplining prisoners was suggested by State Senator Charles U. Harris, of Wake, speaking here at the special institutes of public welfare. The substitute, he said, would mean that infraction of prison rules be made a misdemeanor by law and that if, after receiving his maximum sentence, a prisoner should break these rules he could be tried before a court and an additional sentence given. It is based on the idea that the loss of liberty is a ineffective deterrent, the senator said.

There should be a general system of rules of discipline for prisons and road camps worked out by the state board of Charities and public welfare, according to Senator Harris, and violation of these rules should be a misdemeanor warranting trial.

"My theory is that every human being loves liberty," he said. "When a man is taken from the paths of liberty his one idea is to regain them. The indeterminate sentence recommended by Governor Morrison is good but it does not go far enough. What are we to do with the man who has already received the maximum sentence, but continues to break rules?"

Ravenous 'Professor' Near Death, Result Of Practical Joke

CHICAGO, July 26.—For a year "Professor" Bengo has astonished onlookers here by eating enormous quantities of food and drinking copious draughts of liquors. Today he is in a hospital near death as a result of a trick played on him while giving an exhibition last night, and two men are held in jail pending the outcome of his condition.

Bengo had downed his seventeenth stein of beer in a saloon last night after dispatching a quantity of sausage and a half a dozen eggs. Some one poured oil of mustard in the eighteenth stein. He drank the rortored beverage and collapsed. Physicians say he may die.

Receiver Appointed For Barrett Concern

ATLANTA, July 26.—Roy Ellison, was appointed today by Federal Judge Sibley, receiver for Barrett & company, widely known cotton factors who failed last week. The application was granted on motion of W. H. Fleming Augusta attorney who filed the bankruptcy petition.

It was explained that the petition was filed here because of the fact that the federal judge presiding in the Augusta district was disqualified by reason of being a relative of Barrett.

Fire Destroys Hotel.

NEW YORK, July 26.—Whittier Inn, Sea Gate, Coney Island, housing more than 200 guests caught fire this afternoon, and flames spread rapidly to the roofs of adjacent structures. Three alarms have been sent in and call for ambulances have been made.

Following a meeting of the board of alderman late yesterday afternoon when a group of officials of the Atlantic Coast Line were heard relative to maintaining watchmen at important grade crossings in the city in compliance with an ordinance, Aug. 1 was fixed, as the date when it will go into effect.

The railroad was granted until the same date to remove the warning signs recently erected to conform to the state stop law a various crossings in Greenville. In the meantime Mayor Clark, explained today, that since the new ordinance was virtually effective that motorists need not bring machines to a halt at either side of the tracks of the railroad as has been the practice since July 1.

It was contended by railroad representatives that safety of motorists would possibly be better protected by continuing the stop law in the city. However, members of the board could not see the contention in that light and the ordinance was unanimously passed.

According to a tabulation made by an employe of the railroad last Saturday, around 2,500 automobiles and trucks crossed the tracks on Dickinson avenue in 12 hours. In addition 2,000 other vehicles and pedestrians passed over the right away.

Mayor Clark said today that he had not been advised by officials of the Norfolk-Southern as to the status of that railroad in complying with the ordinance. That system has been granted until Aug. 1, to meet the requirements of the municipal law. No move can be undertaken to enforce the provisions of the ordinance until the time limit has expired, it was stated.

Eliminate Cattle T. B. in Some Cases

RALEIGH, July 26.—Several North Carolina counties have been listed as areas where cattle tuberculosis practically has been eliminated, according to a report received here from the acting secretary of agriculture. Mr. Pugsley lists the counties in various states of the country where the disease has been eliminated, in accordance with a recent amendment of the Federal regulations on the subject.

As a result of the amended regulations these counties will be relieved of the restrictions imposed on counties where the disease still is prevalent. No cattle may be taken into these areas in the future, it is announced, unless they come from an accredited herd or have passed a satisfactory tuberculin test.

Fire Destroys Hotel.

NEW YORK, July 26.—Whittier Inn, Sea Gate, Coney Island, housing more than 200 guests caught fire this afternoon, and flames spread rapidly to the roofs of adjacent structures. Three alarms have been sent in and call for ambulances have been made.

EDUCATIONAL TOUR PLANNED BY PITT CHAMBER COMMERCE

According to announcement by H. L. Smith, secretary Pitt County Chamber of Commerce, an educational trip is planned by a number of members of the organization sometime during August. Several representative farmers of the county have indicated their desire to join the party, it is said, while several from Greenville, Ayden, Farmville and other points are considering the invitation.

In event the proposed trip is undertaken, the itinerary will include a limited number of stops for investigation and study. The whole idea, according to Smith, is to get at first hand information how other communities have succeeded along lines of diversified agriculture and live stock development and converted one crop sections into year around production areas. Those to whom the tour has been mentioned, it is asserted, look with favor on the plan and will endeavor to arrange their business affairs so as to be of the party.

HE SEES EARLY "BURIAL" FOR CO-OP

Following a visit to more than 20 counties of the state in which he studied at close range the attitude of growers toward the Co-operative Tobacco association, A. L. McIntosh, writing in the Wilson Mirror, says "it is the general belief among a majority of the members that they have been 'buncoed' and tied up with an organization that seems unable to fill its promises."

Here are his observations:
"After visiting some 20 counties in this state and talking with hundreds of farmers we find that there is much dissatisfaction among the membership of the Co-operative Marketing association, because of the association's failure to carry out its promises as to the amount of money which they would pay for tobacco, as well as the misleading statements made by their agents when they made the canvass for membership in the beginning of the campaign."

"It is the general opinion among a majority of the membership that they have been 'buncoed,' that they are tied up with an organization that is unable to fulfill its promises, in that nearly twelve months after their crops have been marketed they, the signers, have as yet realized less than half of the money promised them for their crops, and the debts incurred for supplies and fertilizers are still unpaid and drawing interest."

"Down in South Carolina Senator Smith and Governor McLeod are charging the situation to the Imperial Tobacco Company and attempting to make it appear that the Imperial Tobacco company is the cause of the failure, when every tobacco man in this whole country knows that the Imperial Tobacco Company of Great Britain is one of the strongest buyers of the weed and has at all times paid the highest market prices for all offerings even when the American companies stood afar off."

We know no reason why these high officials in our sister state should take such a stand unless they are employed to create a soft place for the Co-Ops to land when they fall, or offer solace to the mourners at the grave."

WE ARE "GASSED" WITH LAW-MAKING

The United States has been termed "the land of many laws," but a country of lax enforcement of its laws; still the making of new laws goes on at a bewildering rate—bewildering not only to the general public but to the courts, lawyers and even the legislators who make the laws.

The Nebraska legislature, for instance, which has just adjourned after the longest session in the state's history, has adjourned with a record which is said to be Nebraska's lowest percentage of lawmaking in many years. An Associated Press dispatch from Lincoln reports that while 1056 bills were introduced in both houses, "only 199 were passed by the legislature, and of these Governor Charles W. Bryan vetoed four, leaving a total of 195 new laws."

"Only 195 new laws" as the work of one of the 48 state legislatures. If all the other states averaged 195 new laws in each session, it would mean a total of 9360 new statutes. Indeed, authorities say that congress and the state legislatures grind out more than 10,000 new laws annually, to say nothing of the product of 15,000 local councils of one kind or another.

It is said that the total annual product is more than 200,000 laws and ordinances.

An expert says the total laws and ordinances in the United States is now 2,000,000, and that a New York policeman, properly to perform his duties, should have knowledge of 16,000 laws!

The country is being suffocated with law-making, the result of a delusion that almost anything can be corrected by the easy method of passing another new law, when the truth is that the country needs a nation-wide house-clearing—the repeal of thousands of bad and obsolete laws and ordinances, and an intelligent, righteous determination to concentrate on enforcement of the good laws we have.

For many years the American people have been proceeding under the mistaken policy of measuring the efficiency of a member of Congress or of a state legislature by the number of new laws he could pass or help to pass and come home and brag about.

The time has come to go into reverse, and measure the service of a legislator by his record in repealing obsolete laws and defeating the enactment of bad or doubtful measures.

WHO WANTS EUROPEAN IDEAS?

Since taking the first step in paternalism, with the establishment of the interstate commerce commission, this country has gone far in attempting to direct or restrict the activities of the American people. We now have the federal trade commission, without whose bureaucratic sanction business is almost afraid to move. We have organized coal commissions and word comes from Washington that plans are being laid to create not only a general commodity commission, but to organize a new bureau under the title of a food commission. Several members of congress are abroad to study the methods employed by European countries in administering the bureaus controlling commodities and directing marketing organizations.

Our wonderful growth and prosperity have been achieved not on account of paternalistic direction, but in spite of it. Moreover, it should be kept in mind that bureaucratic domination, which might be successful under types of government peculiar to Europe, will not be successful in a republic where leadership belongs to the individual instead of being a function of the state."

It is a question open to discussion whether paternalism, socialism and the "divine right of officialism" even work successfully in Europe.

The casual observer would come to the conclusion that they had made quite a mess of things over there and that it might be wise for this country to stick to its own constitution and not try to adopt a program based on worn-out European ideas.

Republicans propose to draft Will Hays to conduct their presidential campaign. Page the censor!

Riots in Germany have forced the prices of beer back to normal. Over here beer at any price would cause a riot.

Mrs. Paine, wife of Boston's reverend kisser, says of his osculatory adventure with the naval officer's bride that it is "too insignificant to notice." Well, she ought to know.

Our hat is lifted to that faithful dog that might have escaped from a burning house at Sunbury, Pa., but that elected to remain and perish beside its child mistress. Greater loyalty there cannot be than this!

"For sale," is rapidly going out of favor. The public wants the man or business that is not for sale.

Girls too slender do not mind eating a lot. They have everything to gain and nothing to lose.

"Debunkamization" is a new word, coined by the New York Times. It means the process of bringing a people back to sanity—like emptying a keg of something it never contained.

Word from Pittsburg says a man of that place has designed a single wheeled vehicle on the gyroscope principle, with which he expects to make 250 miles an hour. This will reduce the pedestrian's chance of life by about 100 per cent.

The 12-hour day is a little too strenuous if there is any good fishing anywhere.

The educated farmer is more efficient and successful, but for the love of Mike, don't educate him off the farm.

Training Camps

Alumni Be Formed During Summer

CHICAGO.—The ground work for an Alumni Society that bids fair to be the largest in the United States in the course of time, is being laid by those who are organizing and preparing to conduct the Citizens Military Training Camps in the various states this year.

The announcement of the Alumni Society's organization says:

"The men who attended the first voluntary camps in 1913, 1914, 1915 and 1916 joined in forming the military training camps association of the United States, and this is the real Alumni society of all who believe in the 'Pittsburg Idea' of General Leonard Wood, and who have been trained in the citizens' camps.

MEASURE FOOD VALUES IN HOURS OF LABOR

VIENNA.—Austrian government employees, fighting to gain payment for their labor sufficient to maintain their families, have presented their case in a novel way. Instead of relating that in the old days they could buy for five crowns what now costs them 50,000, they have used minutes of labor as a measuring unit, and produced an interesting table.

In 1914 a loaf of bread cost 12 1-2 minutes of labor; today the cost is 45 minutes. A measure of sugar that cost 26 minutes nine years ago, now calls for 102 minutes. Coal has risen from 1 hour and 18 minutes to 12 hours and 36 minutes, and a pair of shoes from 6 hours and 18 minutes to 18 hours and 30 minutes.

Chicago Makes Success of Civic Opera Venture

CHICAGO.—Chicago has gone into the Grand Opera business, and after a year's operation, the financial statement shows that the city is making a success of it.

tor, who are to be found in all walks of business, commercial, industrial and social life, as well as by the general public, the Chicago Civic Opera Company has become almost as truly a public library or a public park. # World Battle for Oil Grips Three Continents

United States in Inferior Position in Struggle for Petroleum Supremacy, With British Mastering Future Fields

Oddly Contrasting Views of the World Oil Situation

The London Times Says—

Even now the Americans are constrained to buy from English companies a million pounds sterling at a time, and to pay more and more dearly in dollars, because of the unfavorable exchange, for the oil which is indispensable to them and which their own soil can no longer give. Except for Mexico and a small part of Central America, the whole world is securely barricaded against any serious enterprise of the United States. The English position is impregnable. Unfortunately for them, and fortunately for us, the eyes of the Americans have been opened too late.

The Senate committee investigating the oil industry says—

The dominating fact in the oil industry today is its complete control by the Standard companies. . . . Not only this, but two of the leading Standard companies—New Jersey and New York—divide the world between themselves in marketing operations, and each carefully abstains from entering the territory of the other, while both refrain from competing with the Anglo-American Oil Company, Ltd. (one of the original Standard group), in the retail trade in the British Isles.

THE most colossal commercial struggle the world has ever seen is in progress. The stake is control of the world's oil supply, carrying with it domination of the trade and industry of the globe for generations to come.

On the one side is England, marshaling the capital and enterprise of Europe, backed by powerful governments, two colonial empires and "spheres of influence" vastly greater. On the other side are the scores of private oil companies of the United States, the new country which has risen to world supremacy on a tide of oil.

Geologists estimate that there are 7,000,000,000 barrels of oil left in American soil. The treasure store in the soil of the rest of the world is estimated at 53,000,000,000 barrels.

Over 500,000,000 barrels of oil were used by the United States last year. At that rate of consumption—increasing every year—the United States has 14 years' supply left. Elsewhere are supplies for over a century.

It is this supply which England is out to get—has already succeeded in cornering, according to the triumphant cry of the London Times, the powerful organ of British capital, and the unofficial mouthpiece of the British Government.

England Wins—to Lose

For four bitter years England fought to destroy the German navy, a growing threat against her position as mistress of the seas and of the commerce of the world. The conflict raised a new rival, twice as powerful as Germany—the United States. During the war the United States added to her quasi-monopoly of producing oil fields a merchant fleet.

British commercial and industrial ascendancy had rested on coal. She conquered a world empire in order to circle the world with coaling stations. As long as coal was the fuel of commerce a vessel could hardly sail the seas without her permission.

But coal as compared with oil became a medieval fuel. Oil gives a vessel a cruising radius 50 per cent greater than coal, uses 30 per cent less bunker space, and is stoked automatically. Where there is competition the difference in efficiency is so great as to drive the coal burner from the ocean.

Snatching Back the Victory

Everything that is true in commerce is doubly true in war. An oil-burning fleet has already won the victory, as compared with a coal-burning fleet of comparable size. So England converted her navy to oil.

But America had the oil, and England did not. Since Drake drilled his first well on Oil Creek, Pennsylvania, in 1859, enterprising Americans had steadily developed this country's providence-bestowed oil resources, and pushed over into Mexico, fighting the fevers of the jungles and the guerrilla bands of the plains to extract the golden liquid.

shows, I think it is generally admitted now that had this expedition not been undertaken our position in the East today would have been very different from what it is.

As one writer has expressed it, while Hindenburg's foot was on the neck of the British lion in France, and its tongue was sticking out a foot, this crafty animal was scratching with one

Dutch colonial empire at their disposal and completes the globe circuit.

It looks as if the London Times had reason to be jubilant.

The power which gave England her throttle hold on the future oil fields was not the power of unassisted private enterprise, but that of the British

Trade, said in Parliament that the future policy of Great Britain would be not only to control the coal of the world, but the supply of oil as well.

British Lion Roars

Walter Hume Long, First Lord of the Admiralty, said in 1920: "If we try, has followed a policy directly opposed to that of the British Government. The American oil industry, which has met every demand for its product, and consistently kept the price of gasoline down to less than half that paid in other countries, has found its greatest barrier in the government which it served. Whatever the vices or virtues of the old Standard Oil Company, it got oil, and kept the American flag on the high seas when it was unknown except as flown by a tanker.

Foreign Loss by Regulation

The United States Government broke the Standard Oil Company into 37 pieces, leaving each of these members of the original body to obtain for itself sources of supply, transportation and refining facilities, and market outlets if it could. While the Standard parts were striving to reconstruct themselves and function as separate units, as a group they sank to second place in the production of American oil, the hundreds of independent companies gaining leadership. Competition at home was so keen, and this reconstruction process so difficult, that there was no surplus energy in the American oil industry to carry on the fight so aggressively begun by the old Standard Oil Company for this country's rightful share of the oil fields of the world.

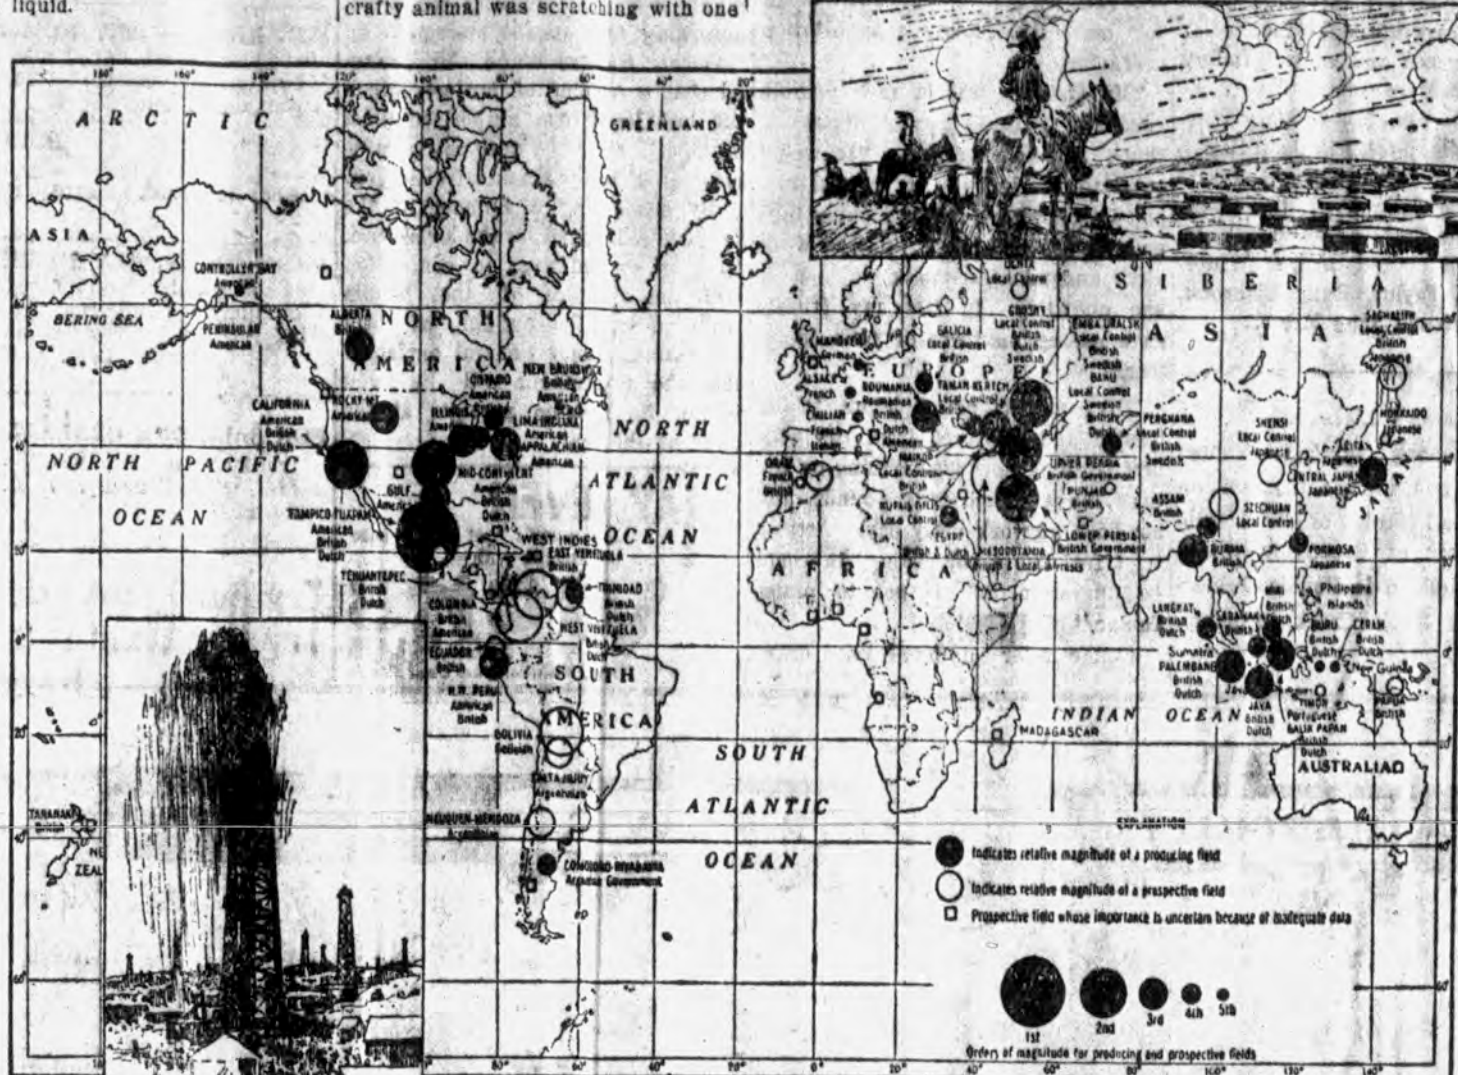

And now, with the British lion roaring its triumph, government throttling of the American oil industry still goes on. A subcommittee of the Senate Committee on Manufactures, headed by Senator La Follette, spent months of the last session of Congress investigating the oil companies.

More Government Interference

Out of this investigation came a series of recommendations based on the amazing statement that two American companies "divide the world between themselves"—recommendations not to assist the oil companies, as England has done; not even to let them alone, to develop and win back some of the lost ground if they can; but to regulate, supervise, limit markets, compare earnings, confiscate pipe lines, further investigate, prosecute if possible, and in addition add the burden of more government bureaus.

American oil geologists are second to none, and the American driller is best in the world. Herbert G. Wylie, former oil driller in the jungles of Mexico, now vice-president of the Mexican Petroleum Company, recently said:

"All we want to know is that there is a government at Washington behind us, and we will get all the oil this country needs." There is—a long way behind.

During the war, while Haig was fighting with his "back to the wall" in France and every man and gun was needed there, some critics wondered why England was conducting an independent little campaign down in Asia Minor against the comparatively inoffensive Turks and desert tribes.

Perhaps the statement of Sir Charles Greenway, managing director of the Anglo-Persian Oil Company, reflects some light on the situation. At the first meeting of his company following the war he said:

"How far the Mesopotamia expedition has tended to bring about the successful conclusion of the war I will not venture to express an opinion, but notwithstanding attacks which were at one period of the war made on 'side hind clay in the soil of Mesopotamia for oil—and struck it. The Mesopotamian field, one of the world's richest, is now England's.

India is another field—England's, Egypt is another—England's, Trinidad and British Guiana, England's, and Venezuela, under British influence, are the brightest prospects in South America, South and East Africa—England's, Australia—England's.

Government Partnership

Most important of all, the British are in a dominating position in the Royal Dutch Shell group of companies, the most powerful combination outside the United States, and also with extensive holdings in this country and Mexico. This places the great

Government, which bought into the Anglo-Persian Oil Company and now owns the controlling interest; the British Government, which took control of the British Petroleum Company, the Homelight Oil Company and the Petroleum Steamship Company, owned by the Deutsch Bank, during the war; the British Government, financially interested in the new $35,000,000 refinery in Wales, to supply 50 per cent of the country's gasoline; the British Government, which sent its military forces, accompanied by a complete geological outfit, into Mesopotamia while England's back was "to the wall" in France.

In 1916 Rt. Hon. Walter Runciman, President of the British Board of secure the supplies of oil now available in the world we can do what we like."

E. Mackay Edgar, London banker and oil man, recently said that in ten years America will be buying 500,000,000 barrels of oil annually from Great Britain at a cost of at least $1,000,000,000. "All the known oil fields," he added, "all the likely or probably oil fields outside the United States itself are under British management or control and financed by British capital."

How did this astonishing and dangerous condition come to pass? Simply because the United States Government, far from encouraging the development of the American oil indus-

Afghans Install Radio And Build Schools

KABUL, Afghanistan.—Citizens of Afghanistan, in their effort to become modern, have established a radio station at Kabul. This follows the opening of the first telegraphic communication between Afghanistan and India. There is now a telephone line from Kabul to Kandahar, and it is possible to travel by automobile between these cities.

Since the abolition of slavery in January of 1921, great strides have been made in education in Afghanistan. There is a new boys' school, caring for 150 youngsters under 12 years of age, and a school for women, both at Kabul, and several primary schools have been set up in the provinces. Compulsory school attendance has been decreed, though at present scarcely one person in a thousand can read and write. For the first time in the history of the country a press has come into existence, and five periodicals already have been established.

American Opera Waits For Home Recognition

CHICAGO.—American artists and opera must be encouraged if more production is expected, and one of the best means of such encouragement is an immediate change of system in companies incorporated in the United States, said Mrs. Eleanor Everest Freer, national co-chairman of the opera department, National Federation of Music Clubs, in a statement here today.

"The adoption of our own language for foreign operas will place American opera on an equal footing with those of the old world, and also will encourage a closer study of our own productions," Mrs. Freer asserted. "America has opera and music all its own, but Americans have not yet fully realized it."

Yacht Starts on Long Cruise.

KINGSTOWN, Ireland.—Amidst hearty cheers and escorted by a fleet of yachts, the 25-ton yacht "Saorise" recently left Kingstown on a trip round the world.

The crew, composed of Conor O'Brien, owner and captain; H. S. Hodges, mate, and S. D. Lavelle, hope to complete the journey under canvas by way of New Zealand, which they anticipated reaching before Christmas. From there they will proceed by Cape Horn to several Argentine ports, and expect to reach Ireland again by September 1924.

Flow!

GOOD motor oil must go without urging right to the spot where it's needed—spread quickly and evenly over the surface—get there and stay there without fail, no matter how cold the day or how hot the bearing. Polarine stands the cold test—flows instantly to protect the coldest cylinder wall—covers equally well the sizzling surface of an overloaded piston.

But that's not all! After it gets there it holds up to its work and outwears inferior oils by many extra miles, costing little more per quart and much less per mile. That's because flow, work, wear and low mileage cost are studiously and uniformly combined in Polarine to give you perfect satisfaction.

The Polarine Chart recommends a certain consistency of Polarine for your motor. Consult it at your dealer's.

"My stomach was in such terrible condition I could hardly digest a thing," Mr. Keeler said. "It would swell to nearly twice its normal size and I would have frightful pains thru my stomach and back. I felt so weak, dizzy and miserable work was out of the question. In fact, my friends gave me up on three or four occasions." "Five months ago I began taking Taulac and improved from the very first bottle. I now eat anything on the table, have gained forty pounds, and am back at work every day. Announcement

THE STUDEBAKER CORPORATION OF AMERICA is pleased to announce to its customers, friends, and the public generally, its complete line of new

1924 Model Studebaker Cars

Avoiding the superlatives frequently used in automobile advertisements, the Corporation desires to faithfully state the facts concerning these cars and the reasons why the public should buy them.

THE CARS

In design, quality of materials, standard of workmanship, durability, refinements, performance, freedom from repairs, and price, the Studebaker 1924 Model Cars are distinctly the greatest intrinsic values the Corporation has ever offered.

Every improvement the safety and practicability of which have been verified by engineering tests is embodied in these new cars.

The Big-Six

THE BIG-SIX LINE comprises four models, mounted on the standard 126-inch chassis with 60 H. P. 3 3/8 x 5 inch motor:
 7-passenger Touring Car - $1750 5-passenger Coupe - $2550
 5-passenger Speedster - $1835 7-passenger Sedan - $2750
 all prices f. o. b. factory

Refinements and a few minor mechanical changes have been made in the Big-Six, which has established an enviable record for five years. Our large production accounts for its low price. It is a car of the highest grade, comparable to the best.

The Special-Six

THE SPECIAL-SIX LINE comprises four models mounted on the standard 119-inch chassis with 50 H.P. 3 1/2 x 5 inch motor:
 2-passenger Roadster - $1325 5-passenger Coupe - $1975
 5-passenger Touring Car - $1350 5-passenger Sedan - $2050
 all prices f. o. b. factory

Radiator, hood, cowl, and body changes have been made in the Special-Six, with minor mechanical changes and refinements in the chassis. The Special-Six has for five successive years added luster to the name STUDEBAKER. It is one of the most satisfactory and finest cars on the market. It is as good in every respect as the Big-Six, except that it is smaller, and costs less to produce, and therefore sells for less.

The Light-Six

THE LIGHT-SIX LINE comprises four models, mounted on the standard 112-inch chassis with 40 H.P. 3 1/4 x 4 1/2 inch motor:
 3-passenger Roadster - $975 2-pass. Coupe-Roadster - $1225
 5-passenger Touring Car - $995 5-passenger Sedan - $1550
 all prices f. o. b. factory

No body or mechanical changes except refinements have been made in the Light-Six. Over 130,000 Light-Sixes have been produced in the new, modern $30,000,000 Studebaker plant at South Bend, Indiana, under most economical and almost ideal manufacturing conditions. In our judgment, it stands out as the greatest value and the closest approach to mechanical perfection in moderate priced cars yet produced.

THE REASONS WHY

With $90,000,000 of actual net assets and $45,000,000 invested in plants, Studebaker has ample physical facilities to manufacture most economically.

Studebaker's organization of manufacturing executives, engineers, metallurgists, chemists, inspectors, and skilled mechanics is second to none in the industry. The design of Studebaker cars and the workmanship upon them conform to the highest principles of engineering standards and mechanical practice known to the industry.

Best of Materials Used

Studebaker cars contain the finest known grades of iron, steel, aluminum, tires, electrical equipment, glass, bearings, etc. No better materials for automobile manufacture exist. Sheet aluminum has but one-third the tensile strength of sheet steel, and consequently, Studebaker uses sheet steel for its bodies.

By the manufacture of drop forgings, castings, stampings and the machining, assembling and finishing of motors, axles, frames, transmissions, bodies, tops, etc., and the consequent elimination of middlemen's profits, coupled with lower overhead factory costs per car arising from quantity production and low commercial expenses, Studebaker's costs are kept at an economically low point possible of attainment only by manufacturers with vast physical and financial resources.

Bodies Unexcelled

The bodies of Studebaker cars are not excelled in quality of materials and craftsmanship, by any cars on the market. The Coupe and Sedan closed bodies are magnificent examples of the coach builder's art.

Merit Wins

The sales of Studebaker cars for the past six years have shown each and every year a progressive increase. 81,880 cars were sold in the first six months of 1923 as against 60,053 for the same period last year. Only products of merit can make such growth.

With the tide of interest steadily rising and spreading over the city and vitally affecting for good our whole civic life it is announced that Dr. Hartley's powerful preaching mission must close on Friday night. This subject tonight will be "Under Two Flags."

FANTASTIC GOWNS WORN BY BARBARA LA MARR

Through the sombre setting of "Trifling Women," Rex Ingram's strange story, of which he has made a film production, at White's theatre, moves the brilliant figures of Zareba, the fortune teller, the only woman in the picture, played by the beautiful Barbara La Marr. Against the background of the story, Rex Ingram has made her a spot of radiant color, garbed in an infinity of hues, draped in exotic silks and satin, rich velvets and brocades.

It is estimated that upon the 15 gowns worn by Barbara La Marr in the production over $20,000 has been spent, bringing the cost of each gown to more than a thousand dollars. Four dressmakers were kept busy throughout the two months of production, and because of the intricacies of design and pattern were barely able to keep pace with the demands.

The story of "Trifling Women" takes place in Paris in the days of the Great war. Thus the gowns, ordered by Rex Ingram, must be made to reflect the exquisite lines and skill with which a Parisienne couturier would have incorporated in them.

Each gown, upon completion, was paraded before Rex Ingram on a mannequin. With him rested the final word of approval or rejection.

"Trifling Women" was written, adapted and directed by Rex Ingram. In the cast are, in addition to Miss LaMarr, Ramon Novarro, Lewis Stone, Hughie Mack, George Puyet and others. A novel bit it obtained through the remarkable acting of Joe Martin, a highly intelligent ape.

The photography of "Trifling Women" is the work of John F. Seitz. Production manager was Starrett Ford.

California Ready To Revive Racing After Long Lapse

SAN FRANCISCO.—Between 500 and 600 horses will be on hand Nov. 3 for the opening of Tanforan, the new race track near here, when horse racing in California will be revived after 17 years. John D. Stelling, manager of the Pacific Coast Jockey Club announced here. The horses are coming from every part of the United States, and several of them will be here from Hawaii.

Prominent owners who will have California stables, Mr. Stelling said, include C. K. G. Billings, Thomas Fortune Ryan, Harry Payne Whitney, Sam Eldred, and A. K. Macomber, all of New York; Frank J. Kelley of Chicago; J. A. Widener of Philadelphia; C. A. Hartwell of Honolulu; A. B. Spreckles, Rudolph Spreckles, and Herbert Fleshacker of San Francisco.

Frank J. Kelley will ship 60 horses from Kentucky to Warm Springs, Calif., this summer, Mr. Stelling announced. This will be a permanent stable for the horses owned by the Chicago sportsman, and the stable will include the famous Chatterton and Paicines.

Four of C. A. Hartwell's horses have arrived from Honolulu for the Tanforan season, and three more will arrive in July, according to word received from Mr. Hartwell. The four horses are all by Harvester.

Seeks Improved Way To Manufacture Iron

WASHINGTON.—The United States government is now making iron, but only as an experiment and not for the commercial field. Its blast furnace is located at Minneapolis and is operated as a laboratory by the Bureau of Mines in co-operation with the University of Minnesota. After four years of experimentation to develop it, the furnace recently produced several tons of gray iron and spiegeleisen.

This type of experiment is declared unique in the field of industrial research, as blast furnaces are not included usually in laboratory equipment. But with the demonstration showing every phase of the operation of iron making under complete technical control, it is believed the investigators at the Minneapolis station are in a position to undertake the study of various problems, the solution of which should be of great practical value to blast furnace operators.
