

An exchange that continues under the "magnetic" influence of officials of the Co-Operative association and other public influences, point out that local units are emphasizing their loyalty to the parent association the adoption of resolutions pledging faith and promise of continued by support. Resolutions do not put redy cash into the pockets of farmers!

Another facetious editor quoting The Reflector, in which we stated and repeat it is immaterial to us through what agency you market your tobacco, says we are "kind of craw fishing x x x and must have gotten sorry for the poor co-ops and let up on them long enough to form this sentence." Altogether wrong, we have no sympathy for the association, but feel deeply for misguided growers.

But all of the bunk and promises that can be pledged through various channels does not explain away the fact that farmers are still holding the sack and are patiently waiting for some kind of settlement for tobacco delivered last year. The sympathy of The Reflector for farmers is strengthened after a wind-jamming official said the association was holding 30,000,000 pounds of tobacco. If that is true, in the language of Kipling, why don't they "PAY, PAY, PAY.?"

U. S. AND TURKEY SIGN NEW TREATY

LAUSANNE, Aug. 6.—A new treaty between the United States and Turkey was signed here today at 4:12 p. m. It is the fruit of long and difficult negotiations. It affords to America favorable conditions and displaces the antiquated treaty of 1830. Under the provisions of the pact many of the old obligations are void and clarifies knotty problems that have been at issue between the two countries for years.

He added, that he did not know whether he would be able to attend the funeral services.

abruptly to a stop. Railway officials stopped the Pacific Limited, which was following, pressed its locomotive into service and put the funeral train in motion again within 35 minutes after the accident occurred.

ALLEN SAYS HARRIS BROTHERS OPENED ATTACK; MOTHER OF BOYS, URGED THEM, HE AVERS

KINSTON, Aug. 6.—Ernest Allen, Faulkland township constable, Pitt county, who is in a local hospital severely wounded, as a result of an attack made upon him by him and his deputy Wiley Jones, in which the latter was killed, by Ivey and Henry Harris gives his version of the tragedy to the Kinston Morning News. He declares that the Harris brothers opened fire first and the "mother of the Harris boys yelled at them to kill us."

Here is version, in part: "I had hired Richard and Ivey Harris to help me put in tobacco on two Saturdays, agreeing to pay them $2.50 per day. The first Saturday they worked until 1:45 and I paid them $1.50 which seemed satisfactory. On the second Saturday they arrived late in the morning and worked until 12:25. I was in town the day and Ivey Harris came to town and I paid him $1.25 for his work. I sent Richard Harris's money to him by a friend of his who said that he had come after it."

"Just about dusk Wednesday afternoon following while I was at the farm loading some watermelons in my car to take home with me, Richard Harris came up and said that there was a little difference between us. Not knowing what he meant I asked him what it was. He then said that I had not paid him enough for his work Saturday, that I should have paid him $1.62 instead of the $1.25, and that I still owed him thirty-seven cents. I told him that he was mistaken in his calculations, that I had paid him the same I paid the other hands and just as much as he should have received for his work."

Used Abusive Language.

"When I said this he began cursing me. I then told him that I was an officer of the law and did not want to have any trouble with him and ordered him to get off the premises. He then opened his knife and took a step toward me cursing me all the while. I told him to put up his knife at once, that he was under arrest, to which he responded, 'Damn you, and the arrest too.' He kept coming toward me so I reached down, picked up a piece of lightwood which was lying near, and struck him over the head with it, knocking him down, the knife flying out of his hand. I then told him that he was under arrest and that he must get into the automobile and go to W. A. Aharee's car with me. He then began yelling to his father to come to his rescue. I had taken hold of him and started to force him into the car when my little boy who was with me told me that the Harris boys were coming and that they had guns. I did not have my gun with me, and realizing that there would be trouble, got into my automobile and drove on home leaving Richard behind."

Obtained Warrant.

"On Thursday morning I went to Magistrate Bill Joyner and told him what had occurred. He issued a warrant for Richard Harris charging him with assault with a deadly weapon, and gave it to me to serve. "Upon arriving upon the farm which I had leased for the year I deputized Wiley Jones to assist me in the arrest, telling him what had happened the evening before and that there might be trouble, instructing him to shoot if he had to but not unless it was absolutely necessary."

Her Last Moments With Husband Told By Mrs. Harding

The staff correspondent of the New York World in an account of the President's death at San Francisco answers a question asked by many. What was Mrs. Harding reading when the end came? Says The World correspondent: "Over and over she told the story of the President's last moments; when she was reading to him Samuel Blyth's article in the Saturday Evening Post, 'A Calm View of a Calm Man,' an analysis of President Harding answering critics who had found fault with him because he worked quietly and an appreciation of the efficiency that did not need sensational flavoring. "The magazine came aboard the train at Seattle, and Mr. Harding had glanced at the article but his illness came on then and the reading was postponed. Last night he seemed so well and so cheerful that the reading was resumed. Mrs. Harding ceased reading when she thought he was ready to fall asleep, only to have him say: 'That's good; read some more.' As she found the place the President lay back—dead."

New Carlisle, Ind., Aug. 6.—Three men were killed when an automobile driven by Anton Hoffer, East Chicago, Ind., was struck by an east-bound New York Central passenger train at the so-called "Death Crossing" here, which has been the scene of numerous accidents. Wilson Will Ride In Funeral Cortège

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Woodrow Wilson has authorized the statement that he "will participate as far as possible" in the funeral ceremonies here Wednesday for President Harding.

The extent of the former President's participation was not made known, but the statement was taken to mean that he at least will ride in the funeral cortège from the White House to the Capitol. Whether he will attend the services in the rotunda will depend upon his physical condition at that time.

BUSINESS WILL NOT BE AFFECTED BY HARDING'S DEATH, IS GENERAL BELIEF

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Although the markets of the past week have had but half a day in which to register their opinion of the business significance of President Harding's death a certain amount of light on the subject was obtained from the statements of business leaders. The latter, while greatly deploring his unexpected death, pointed out that our system of government is designed to achieve stability through the distribution of authority among different departments and that the country's industries have grown to a point at which they are comparatively immune to changes in the complexion of the domestic political situation.

Ex-Kaiser Called 'Brilliant Wind-Bag'

BERLIN, Aug. 6.—"To William, the brilliant wind-bag and flying Dutchman," is the inscription which Die Welt Am Montag suggests be put on the monument to William II, which stands on a hill overlooking the Baltic near the bathing resort of Brinzig. The monument—a bare relief of the former monarch—now bears the words, "To William, ruler of seas, master of armies, this ancient stone pays homage." If the metal-collecting commission fails to scrap the monument, Die Welt Am Montag urges that the inscription be changed.

Auto Tumbles Into River, Two Killed

ASHEVILLE, Aug. 6.—Mr. and Mrs. Smith White, of Jonesville, were instantly killed and their seven children, ranging in ages from 8 to 17 years, escaped with minor injuries, when an automobile in which they were riding, plunged over an 89-foot embankment near Green river yesterday. The accident happened about four miles from Saluda, on the road to Hendersonville, and, according to police officers at the former place, the automobile passed on the edge of a precipice, which gave way, causing the machine to fall to the river bed, estimated at between 80 and 90 feet.

Cotton Prices Reach High Level, Report

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 6.—Lowest prices in the cotton market last week were made, on the opening session, after which there was a strong upward movement, mainly on the unfavorable weather in the western belt. Highest prices came soon after the middle of the week when the trading positions were 159 to 190 points higher than the preceding week's close. At the lowest the market was 26 to 30 points under the close of the previous week. In the net results the market gained 139 to 150 points on contracts, October closing at 21.97 cents a pound after trading as high as 23.33. In the spot department middling gained 100 points, closing at 23 cents, which compared with 21.25 as the closing price this week last year.

50,000 Stores Will Close for Funeral

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 6.—Plans which will result in simultaneous closing of approximately 50,000 retail stores in Ohio next Friday during the funeral of President Harding at Marion, were announced today by President Fred Lazarus, Jr., of the Ohio council of retail merchants. If the funeral is held in the afternoon, stores will close at the hour of the funeral and remain so for the balance of the day. If it is held in the morning, stores will remain closed until noon.

Nation Ready to Pay Last Rites to Harding, 3 Presidents to Attend

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—For the first time in the history of this country two former presidents and the present chief executive of the nation will ride in the funeral cortège of the late President Harding as it wends its way from the White House to the Capitol, Wednesday where funeral rites will be held, it was announced here today. The American government representing the grief of 100 million and more people for whom its acts was making careful preparations for the performing of a nation's last rites to the memory of President Harding.

Not only President Coolidge, but all the high officials in Washington have made the funeral plans their first consideration and put into the background for the present all issue of foreign and domestic concern, which recently so overwhelmedly important. In all departments and bureaus of the government the ordinary business has almost come to a standstill while agents in every sub division have been called into service for the sad task of preparation. Work in all government departments will stop at 1 p. m. tomorrow and remain closed until after the funeral Friday when the train of President Harding ends at Washington its long journey from the Pacific coast.

Three Presidents in Line. President Coolidge will ride directly behind the immediate family of the late president in the funeral cortège. Both former Presidents Wilson and Taft will follow in the long line of officials, friends, fraternal organizations and civic bodies, which will pass over Pennsylvania avenue, on the stretch between the White House and the capitol.

The body will be placed on a catafalque in the rotunda of the capitol, where the funeral service will be held. Seating capacity will probably be limited 2,500. Members of the family will occupy reservations in the front of the tier, President Coolidge and his wife, to the right, members of the cabinet and the supreme court just in the rear, while senators and members of congress will be seated on the left of the casket. Members of the diplomatic corps will have seats well to the front. Officials in order of their rank will be seated in specially reserved space.

Friends Cared For. Friends of the late President will be given seats to the capacity of the historic rotunda. Following the funeral service, the body will lie in state until 6 p. m. when it will be taken to the railroad station on its final journey to Marion, O., where it will be buried Friday. The public will be allowed to gaze upon the features of the lamented chief executive between the time of the conclusion of the services and 5:30. They will be massed four abreast and enter the east front of the capitol. They will divide into pairs at the tier. The crowd will be constantly moving. It is estimated that more than 100,000 persons expect to pay their last respect in this way to the dead leader.

Wilson Writes Coolidge. President Wilson will not be able to attend the funeral services in the capitol. In a letter to President Coolidge, Mr. Wilson stated that he deemed it an honor to take part in the funeral services of the late president on Wednesday, but that his lameness made it impractical for him to undertake the services in the rotunda of the capitol. The letter dated yesterday was in response to an invitation from President Coolidge to take part in the ceremonies at the state funeral of the dead president.

MARION, O., Aug. 6.—Plans for the interment of the body of the late President Harding in the cemetery are held in abeyance until Mrs. Harding's wishes can be ascertained. No definite word has been given out, but it is believed that he will be buried in the family plot beside his mother and sister, or it may be placed in a receiving vault until mausoleum can be erected to receive the body. A special detail has been sent by President Coolidge to carry out the funeral arrangement in exact accordance with Mrs. Harding's wishes. It is said the matter of the disposition of the body will be discussed during the trip from Chicago to Washington.

HE TRIED CAVE MAN STUFF, WIFE TELLS MAYOR; COURT HAD V ARIED PROGRAM

Jim Thorne, colored, may love his wife, but the strenuous way he tried to emphasize it yesterday did not please her she told Mayor Clark this morning. "Some women may like cave man stuff, but it gets too serious when pistols are used," she said. Jim not only slapped her she said, but beat her with the butt of a pistol. At this juncture it looked anything but encouraging for Jim. But he played an ace when he introduced a noted character witness—Cherry Forbes. She told the court that Jim was only defending himself from the onslaughts of his wife. Cherry is a convicting talker and made a plea for Jim that probably saved him from a heavy sentence. Mayor Clark, was willing to give the defendant the benefit of the doubt and fined him the costs. But Jim had more trouble to settle with the court. It developed that he could not produce the necessary evidence of the right to possess a weapon. Another warrant was issued and he will have a hearing on that charge Wednesday.

Chapman had another ally who believed he could do the same thing. Mark Love, colored, started "something" in the negro section, that he did not finish. He was stopped by Bill Clark. His attempt was figured at more than $30. William Moyer paid $10 and cost for being drunk. Edward Nelson, driving auto with glaring lights was left off with cost. Walter Harrington, left his machine parked on pavement between 1 and 5 a. m. Cost will do, said the court. Mark Snow and Hubert Hawkins, colored, sought the quiet grounds of the Teachers College to stage a quiet gambling game. They paid $50. John Chauce, colored, chosen to get drunk. The mayor told him, "It's my choice to find you $10 and costs." Mayor Clark again warned Greenville residents of the necessity of removing weeds from lots of their premises and other places.

TRIBULATIONS OF CO-OPS IN SOUTH CAROLINA

Authentic reports from South Carolina indicate that the Co-Operative Tobacco association is having hard sledding there. On several markets it is declared that only a few thousand pounds of the product were offered at the receiving stations of the association since the date of opening of the Co-Op market.

There is ground for belief that the association is not going good in the Palmetto state. It is understood that state officials have been called upon by executives of the pool to come to its aid. A series of barbecues and pyrotechnic oratory have been arranged, according to press advices, when farmers will be "treated" to outbursts of highly colored, bombastic and puerile talk of what the association is going to do for them.

On three or four of the South Carolina markets which gave the co-op fairly good business last year, the prospects are not encouraging. "Not a leaf," "only a few hundred pounds," "nothing stirring for the Co-Ops," are some of the confirmed statements showing the trend of thought and action there.

Experts who studied the situation in South Carolina declare that in innumerable instances growers sold tobacco on the open floor, and paid five cents "rake off" to the association. If such action and unchallenged facts are evidence that the association is gaining in "strength," then we would appreciate being told what constitutes the primary elements of a cracking organization!

Listen to this chirp quoted from a "selection" of silly propaganda evidently coming from the publicity department of the association and distributed to such newspapers as are willing to "fall" for it: "Anybody with any sense at all knows that the organization of the farmers of the tobacco belt has boosted the price of tobacco. Even non-members realize that they were paid more for their tobacco last year than they would have received had not the association been operating."

We do not concur in the claim. However, we DO KNOW that NON-MEMBERS did get a fair price and paid in full. That's more than those who sold through the co-operative association did! They are still looking forward to the day of payment for the crop already turned over to the association.

It is going to require something more than expert press agents, Sapiro preachments and colorful promises of executives of the association to contract the sentiment that is gaining RAPID and DETERMINED opposition to the pool plan of selling tobacco.

Aaron Sapiro from his magnificent estate overlooking the Golden Gate of the Pacific and Judge Bingham, from either his editorial offices of his Louisville newspapers or his Kentucky country home, abetted by the Flagler millions which he inherited through marriage, together with the lesser lights throughout the tri-state pool can advise, write, and talk until the millenium, but they will never be able to put across their gigantic scheme as they intended.

Pitt County farmers who thought for themselves early recognized last season the numerous weaknesses in co-operative selling methods, and were frank to say so. Indeed, as time went on, they begin to see the light which crystalized into legal action when they joined hands in an action in the superior court of Pitt county, in which more than 125 openly charged "fraud" was practiced in obtaining contracts, and seeking to have them set aside on that ground.

When the arch-promoter Sapiro was holding groups of farmers under the spell of his rainbow talks, he failed to point out the difference between marketing fruits and garden truck and commodities and staples such as cotton and tobacco.

But that is a side of co-operative selling that members of the association will find out for themselves as the tobacco season advances.

Local units speak of seeking "Justice" thru the pool. It is the sincere wish and hope of The Reflector that advocates and supporters of the plan will realize every confidence with which they appear to be now possessed, and that they will obtain the "JUSTICE" sought through the association.

terior of the house, making it pleasant and inviting.

"Then," interrupted Uncle Bill "I'll take no chances on botchery, but I'll phone Carlos Harris about these. He is an artist with the brush, employing all the time competent men, who wield the brush with dexterity, and if we give the painting paper-hanging and decorating to Carlos Harris we can rest assured of getting good workmanship and a well finished house painted and decorated in ship-shape and on time too at a reasonable cost."

"In my earlier days," remarked Uncle Bill, "the practical use of electricity was unknown. It did not enter into the construction of a building at all, but it is different today, it is used for lighting, heating and cooking and the conveniences that it affords are manifold. Now, about the electrical equipment for our new house, I am going to see the Smith Electric Co., who will wire the house, install the fixtures, put on the door bells and give us chandeliers and fixtures exquisite in taste, and appropriateness and do everything right. I expect Hettie will want electric curling irons too, The Smith Electric Co. does everything electrical and is equipped for subverting the best interests of the people as an electrical engineer and contractor, and also as a dealer in electrical supplies and fixtures in the most classic designs and effects for any class of building."

"Well, it is up to me to furnish your new residence," remarked Uncle Bill, "and it shall be furnished in just as good taste and as completely as your judgment and taste will permit or dictate."

"How grand," she exclaimed, beaming with joy and expectancy. Uncle Bill then bade the young couple come with him to Taft, Bros., our live-exposed of furniture, and well-informed home furnisher, where is handled every thing that is smart, useful and durable, needed to fit out the cottage or mansion on whatever scale desired. The trio was politely received at the store, where, after conferring with the conversant and assiduous salesman, Hettie soon selected some exquisite furniture for her parlor, her living room and her bed rooms, as well as dining room and kitchen furniture; also tapestries, carpets, rugs, mattings, etc. Her purchases, in fact, included all essential requisites. Hence the progressive Taft, Bros. got the order to fit out the house from top to bottom.

"Nothing is so inspiring or more elevating in the home than is good music," said Uncle Bill, and of course you will want a piano. Perhaps nothing affords more real pleasure and enjoyment in life, "yes, that is true interjected the bride, the piano is my favorite instrument and I want a Straube piano in my parlor. Most of my friends back in Virginia have this make, it is exquisite in tone and volume and such a beautiful, highly finished instrument, could not be without it. Your wish shall be granted assured Uncle Bill. The Straube is handled here by The Wilkerson Music Store, our best known and most reliable music dealer where one will always find a splendid display of pianos and musical merchandise in everything new and up-to-date. Mr. Wilkerson is pleasant and business like in his dealings too, whose aim is to satisfy every customer. Hettie now has a new piano and a handsome Victrola.

"Well the next question on the docket" ventured Uncle Bill to Hettie, is to arrange about supplies for the larder. It is the housewife's sequel to maintaining the good graces of the men folks. Now for select and fancy table groceries provisions and toothsome table delicacies, imported fruits, fine cheeses, condiments and vegetables of every kind, I'll escort you to Willard & Phelps, conducting a well appointed and completely stocked fancy grocery, where there is always shown a varied assortment of the most tempting good things to eat in town. Patrons come here from every nook and corner hereabouts, and presumably for a reason. Perhaps it is because they appreciate the superior and correct ways that characterizes the business dealings of Willard & Phelps, our wide-awake and well versed grocers and purveyors of the larder. This store has a large clientele that depends on it daily.

"Well, I've named the grocer," said Uncle Bill, "but equally important is the baker, for it is considered that bread is the staff of life and it is not only a daily need, but a luxury, if you get your bread, cakes and pastries from The Peoples Bakery. The many varieties of bread turned out at this bakery are wholesome, nutritious and deliciously sweet and eatable, and when you want cakes, pies, or pastries that are delicate and dainty The Peoples Bakery can supply your wants promptly from the larder. Products that are skillfully mixed and baked in a scrupulously clean and hygienic bakery. A line of entables that the original in taste, flavor and goodness, the secret of the success and popularity of this bakery whose aim has ever been to merit the confidence of the people, by making everything a "little better." Ask for Blue Ribbon Bread.

"Next I want you to recommend a good market," said Hettie to Uncle Bill. "One that I can depend upon all the time."

"Well, for good meats, honest weights, and a nice, all-around place to trade," advised Uncle Bill, smiling good naturedly. "It's the Greenville Market you want to trade with. There you will find every day in the week the choicest and best fresh and cured meats that money, experience and vigilant efforts can obtain. The best and fattest cattle, veal and lamb are brought on the hoof and are carefully slaughtered and dressed by skillful help with a view to meeting in every particular the demands of the long list of exacting patrons. The Greenville Market is equipped with ample storage and maintain good delivery service. And considering all in all, the basis upon which this market is catering to the public, it fully merits the run of business accorded it, and the good name that so many give it," said Uncle Bill assuringly.

"Oh, where is a good drug store?" asked the bride. "I must have this prescription filled and I need some tooth powders and face cream, too."

"Right here," replied Uncle Bill, employing expert mechanics for just then the trio happened to be in making repairs as well as carrying in front of the Denton Drug Co. "This stock all necessary accessories. The is a well appointed and most reliable drug store, and it is conducted along progressive lines, too," he said. "I get my prescriptions filled here, because I know the prescription case is in charge of a painstaking and efficient prescriptionist, who is ever prompt and accurate to all alike. The Denton Pharmacy is always replete with large and varied stock of drugs, medicines, chemicals and the manifold accessories to this branch, including a fine line of toilet articles, dentrifices nifty sundries and box candies, in fact everything that is needed to meet the demands of the people. The house enjoys the confidence and esteem of a large acquaintance and it's here you will always want to deal," said Uncle Bill.

"Just one thing more," said generous Uncle Bill, "and what is that?" asked Harry and Hettie in unison. "An auto, a Chevrolet car," said he. "How grand" she said. "Yes," he continued, "it will be indispensable to your future both for business and pleasure, service, as well as for health and recreation, and of course you know it is the best machine made for the money. A strictly high grade, beautiful serviceable auto, universally recognized by autoists who know. Handled here by the Carter-Cobb Motor Co., who has placed them here with so many people who also conduct our best garage where is installed every facility to meet any exigency of the local and transient autoists."

"Right here," replied Uncle Bill, employing expert mechanics for just then the trio happened to be in making repairs as well as carrying in front of the Denton Drug Co. "This stock all necessary accessories. The purchase of the latest model Chevrolet from Carter-Cobb was Uncle Bill's next gift and one that overwhelmed the bride with joy.

"Now that we have the new house built and nicely furnished," prompted Uncle Bill, with evident concern, "it would be a great oversight for us to delay the matter of insurance. I think we had better go post haste and see The Greenville Insurance and Realty Co. who will relieve us of all apprehension and suspense who represents many of the best and staunchest fire, health and accident companies in the world, from which we may choose. The Greenville Insurance & Realty Co. is the alert and wide-awake underwriter who yearly writes a large volume of business in the respective branches of insurance, from which we may judge that every policy holder has been dealt with in a fair and liberal way in the adjustment of all honest claims."

Before the trio left the office a policy fully covering the newly furnished home was written, and a policy for 2,000 on Harry's life in The Bankers Life Co., of Des Moines, Iowa.

Story Of A Bashful Man And Demure Maiden

Commences In Virginia Ends in Greenville A Realistic Romance

In a remote hamlet in northern Virginia lived a demure maiden and a bashful man, who had for some years been living with but one and the same object before them. Both were hopeless victims of "love microbes," that were doing most effectual work under the direction of Cupid himself.

Finally Harry suddenly woke up one day, and decided that procrastination was the thief of time and bliss—and he immediately set about to bring matters to a focus. Very soon there was a wedding, and it wasn't much longer before their Uncle Bill Taylor, of Greenville, wrote effusively of what he termed "gait," and proposed that if they would locate here, he would start them up in life. Very soon they began to bid loved ones adieu and were soon speeding in this direction.

When the train pulled in, generous Uncle Bill was at the depot to greet them and welcome a much-elongated couple, and after hearty congratulations, he conducted them straightway to the Hotel Proctor.

It was at breakfast next morning while partaking of a tempting menu that was being politely served, that Uncle Bill first unfolded his plans to the appreciative newcomers obligating himself, first of all, to build and furnish for them a modern home.

"Come," said the generous uncle, rising from the breakfast table, "the pleasure is now mine to introduce you to our town, your future home. Well, too, I want to arrange to build the new house right away. And of course, it is important that we select a pleasant and beautiful location, ments about us." Uncle Bill was soon astir, and the young couple eager and beaming with expectancy.

"First we will go in and confer with Mr. L. J. Smith, our well-informed and wide awake real estate and insurance agent here where is always listed the best residence and business properties in town, or in the country about, that will be homely represented." Just a little later the trio were courteously received at his office 306 Evans St., and it wasn't long before had a check for an attractive residence, site, on which Uncle Bill will at once have built a handsome residence.

"Now I am at sea" said Uncle Bill. "It beats all how houses are built these days, considering the way they built them fifty years ago. Why, the modern houses of today are so much snappier and have conveniences and comforts that one of my time never dreamed of. But I know who can help us out of this dilemma," said he, suddenly remembering E. B. Allsbrook as a man of original ideas, and good taste in practical architecture and also as being actively associated with the building interests here. E. B. Allsbrook very soon furnished the plans for a most pleasing and pretentious $5,500 residence for the bride, who agreed to give them a turn-key job.

It is a reminiscence of Corinthian effect, symmetrical in appearance and commodious in a degree in its interior arrangements, and it is just what the bride had longed for—a real modern up to the minute home.

"Good lumber and good workmanship go hand in hand when it comes to building a house to last and look well," said Uncle Bill "too much depends upon the quality of the mill-work used in obtaining a pretty effect. Now, about the lumber, millwork and sundry requisites coming under this heading, I am going to see the Carolina Building Supply Inc., our live and best exponents of lumber and building material.

The yards sheds and warehouses are always filled with rough and dressed lumber of all dimensions, and the manifold items in building material, adequate to meet the demands of the exacting public. It is needless to say that the Carolina Building Supply Inc., did furnish the bill of lumber and every item for that whole job. Uncle Bill remarked that he found these people very prompt and agreeable to do business with.

"About the plumbing," remarked Naete Bill, "we can't use too much care; for good health and many comforts are dependent upon sanitary plumbing and scientific ventilation and heating; and when coupled with the use of porcelain bath tubs, good sinks and handsome and appropriate fixtures, to say nothing of the conveniences, they combine a pleasing interior finish which is most desirable. Now for a dependable job and to avoid encountering any trouble in after years, I am going to have S. T. Hicks to do the plumbing and heating," said Uncle Bill. "Then we can expect a square deal, and every thing done right, for this is the kind of reputation that S. T. Hicks has long since won with a cognizant public for doing things where every facility is at hand for executing the best class of work, and to do it promptly too," he said.

"It is the task of the painter and decorator, too, that counts, much in obtaining artistic and harmonious results," chipped on the bride. For she said, "It is the painting and decorating when executed by capable artisans that adds so much to the attractiveness of both the exterior and in-

Norma Talmadge, the most popular of the women stars on the screen today, will be seen at the Strand theatre today and Tuesday in her latest offering, "The Voice From the Minaret," declared to be a "story of unusual dramatic power. Frank Lloyd directed this First National picture, which was adapted by Frances Marion from Robert Hichens' famous novel. She is supported by Eugene O'Brien.

The action of the tale is laid in London, Bombay, Damascus and the desert, and the production has a pictorial background of striking splendor. The story is a colorfully romantic one, swiftly moving, and nothing has been left undone to make this Norma Talmadge's greatest picture.

The star is cast as Lady Ardienne, the wife of the governor of Bombay. Sir Leslie Carlyle. Cruel by nature, Lord Leslie takes keen delight in torturing his wife in every conceivable manner, insulting and disgracing her in public at every opportunity.

Lady Ardienne bears up patiently under his abuse, but the time came when she found she could stand no more and she determined to leave her husband. So she started on her long journey back to England. En route she became acquainted with a son of Britain who was on a pilgrimage to the Holy Land. He induced her to change her plans and to accompany him.

They found love in the desert of the East—but not the peace they craved, for the voice of the minarets, calling the faithful to prayer from the minarets, constantly reminded them of their duty to others. Regretfully, they turned back, to face a series of highly dramatic adventures that nearly brought an end to their lives.

Anita Stewart In The Love Piker, Is Showing at White's

Anita Stewart is a living disproof of the statement that the day of the feminine motion picture star is brief. She has been acting in the films for a decade now, having begun her career with Vitagraph in her middle teens. She is today more popular, more charming and a better actress than ever. Her most recent picture is "The Love Piker" from the story by Frank R. Adams, produced by Cosmopolitan Pictures Corporation and directed by E. Mason Hopper is showing at White's theatre, today.

In this photoplay, she has the role of Hope Warner, daughter of a wealthy family, and with a socially ambitious mother. She considers herself a very superior person indeed and is properly indignant when stopped by a motorcycle policeman when she has been speeding on a pursuing automobile for twenty miles. Both Hope and Martin Van Huisen, the youth in the pursuing car, who wishes to restore to her the sabbie fur which she had dropped twenty miles back, are in the police court next morning. Hope is forced to borrow from him to pay her fine. She becomes interested in the youth and learns that he is an engineer employed on a building which her father is constructing. The friendship soon ripens into love and Hope announces her engagement to Martin, despite her mother's protests.

Martin takes his fiancée to visit his father, Peter van Huisen, who lives in the tenement district. Prosperity had come to Martin after the death of his mother, so he has never tried to uproot his father from the old home. Hope is so ashamed of Martin's uncouth father and the place in which he lives that she tears up the wedding invitation which had been addressed to him, but her conscience so troubles her that after she is dressed for the ceremony, she jumps into a limousine and goes to get Peter.

The role, as may readily be seen, is one that fits Miss Stewart's girlish charm to perfection. There is a delicious vein of comedy underlying her acting in this picture which will charm everyone.
