

If results count for anything it appears that the wail of the United States Senator Smith, of South Carolina, against the Imperial Tobacco company and the open market generally at Kingstree, S. C., his plea fell upon deaf ears. Farmers who heard that puerile outburst enjoyed the barbecue, but followed their own dictates when it came to selling their tobacco.

It will possibly be recalled among the better informed growers that auction warehouses were tightly closed at Timmonsville and Kingstree last season. The reason: Both of these markets were solidly cooperative. It is strange if the pool is such a boon to the farmers why "blocked sales" prevailed on the opening market date on one of the markets.

More than 200,000 pounds of tobacco were sold at Kingstree alone—a former stronghold of the pool. Reconcile, Mr. Grower, if you can, whether verbal claims will hold against official facts and figures. The Timmonsville and Kingstree markets promise to lead the markets in the Palmetto state since planters are freeing themselves from the "shackles."

RIOTING FOLLOWS KLUCKERS PARADE, FOUR ARE INJURED

Trouble Began When Spectator Objects Use of Flag by Klansmen

STUEBENVILLE, OHIO, Aug. 16.—While the situation is tense here today following a riot last night, the police are ready to promptly put down any further outbreaks. The trouble started as a result of a parade of members of the Ku Klux Klan, when some one voiced the objection that the American flag should not be used to decorate automobiles of klansmen. In a pistol duel between Darwin Gibson, and a group of assailants, the former was shot in the head. He wounded three of the attacking party.

Earlier in the evening 100 members of the Klan from nearby towns had been attacked and beaten in one of the downtown streets and several automobiles wrecked. Gibson who has been active in the enforcement of prohibition told police that he was on his way home when he was fired upon. He returned the fusillade. He fell wounded with three of his assailants.

The injured were taken to a local hospital. John Dignita is shot in the left eye and the other two under arrest. Dominic Spinetti and Frank Veselny sustained minor wounds.

Says Paper Paid For Bucketers Confession

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—A New York newspaper paid Edward M. Fuller and W. Frank McGee $50,000 for the "inside story" of the $6,000,000 failure of the bucketing stock brokerage firm of E. M. Fuller & Co., in which 4,000 customers lost their investments. It was alleged today by Eugene F. McGee, formerly counsel for the brokers.

The lawyer, who was indicted yesterday with his partner, Wm. J. Fallon, for conspiracy to destroy records of the bankrupt business and to conceal assets in defrauding the creditors, made the assertion after his appearance before Federal Judge Goddard to post $5,000 bail.

Street Fight Follows Gathering of Klan

ELMIRA, N. Y., Aug. 16.—After a street fight which followed a public meeting last night at which Ku Klux Klan principles were explained, the Rev. Nicholas Cosaboon, of Buffalo, and several other persons who had been speakers, were escorted to their train by police.

The trouble started when a heckling crowd surrounded one of the Klan delegates as he left the hall. One of the delegates was struck in the face. One man was arrested.

DeValera Will Be Confined in Dublin Prison Until Trial

DUBLIN, Aug. 16.—Eamon DeValera, arrested yesterday under dramatic circumstances by soldiers of the free state when he appeared to deliver a speech, will probably be brought from Limerick where he is imprisoned at present to Mount St. George jail here in a few days.

Strike Trouble In Germany Is Passing

BERLIN, Aug. 16.—The strike situation is somewhat improved. The strike of the communists is one the verge of collapse. Order has been restored in the Zeitz and Prussia centers where communists attempted to obtain control of the factories.

State Timber Lands Should Be Preserved Says Dr. H. J. Pratt

Asheville, N. C., Aug. 16.—Unless immediate steps are taken to prevent the rapid deforestation of the timber lands in the Southern Appalachian and southeastern states, these states will find it necessary to import timber with which to carry on their woodworking industries from far western states at greatly increased costs, declared Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt, director of the North Carolina Geological and economic survey, in an address today before the members of the Southern Saw, Lumber and Millwork Manufacturers' association in convention here.

The problem of conserving the forest lands of these states confronts the federal, state, county and municipal governments and private owners of timber lands, but it rests principally with the state, county and municipal governments which should pass laws designed to prevent forest fires and improper lumbering and cattle grazing methods and should establish large government owned forests areas in order to provide steady lumber yields for years to come, Dr. Pratt said. This is practicable and can be made profitable, he added.

W. J. Sermons, Wife Given Big Surprise Party By Children

Mr. W. J. Sermons 70 years old, and his wife 65, living five miles from Greenville were given a genuine surprise party at their home last night by their children and 23 grandchildren. The family party met at a given point near the parental home and unexpectedly swooped down upon their parents and grandparents en masse.

The children included: Mrs. H. T. Savage, Mrs. Edward Savage, Mrs. Claude Fleming, Mrs. Marvin Kittrell, Mrs. Jesse Jackson, Mathew and William Sermons and Mrs. J. E. Joyner. The family group were prepared with well filled baskets and a big supply of ice cream. Music was one of the features of the party.

Mr. and Mrs. Sermons are enjoying the best of health and are active in the management of their farm. Mrs. Gibb McGowan, Fairmont, was the only family absentee. She was unavoidably detained.

Closer Relations With Mexico Now Assured

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 16.—The records of the conference, between the representatives of the United States and Mexico, embodying an agreement designed to make possible the resumption of diplomatic relations between the two nations, were signed here yesterday afternoon.

The signature brought to a successful conclusion the negotiations, extending over more than 13 weeks between Charles B. Warren and John Barton Payne, personal representatives of the American President, and Fernando Gonzales Roa and Ramon Ross for President Obregon. The actual signature, however, was by Juan F. Urquidi and J. Ralph Ringer, secretaries of the Mexican and American delegations, respectively.

MARY MINTER TELLS INSIDE STORY LOVE AFFAIR WITH SLAIN DIRECTOR

Mary Miles Minter and her mother. Below: Sigrid Holmquist.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 16.—Mary Miles Minter, "Dresden Doll" of the screen in a signed story in a local paper today, says that she was never formally engaged to the late William Desmond Taylor, film director, who was shot to death in his home some time ago. Miss Minter declares she had long entertained hope that she would eventually wed Taylor, but not until she had earned sufficient money to provide a comfortable income for her mother and sisters.

"We were never engaged in the sense that he asked me to marry him, but I always hoped some time I would marry him," she says.

Miss Minter broke into the news the other day when she announced that she would postpone her suit for $1,000,000 against her mother until the latter's recovery from a serious operation. She added today that she would press her legal claim for an accounting and it could be settled only between her attorneys or the courts.

LT. GOV. COOPER AND BROTHER ARE ARRESTED IN CONNECTION WITH WILMINGTON BANK CRASH

WILMINGTON, Aug. 16.—Lieut. Gov. W. B. Cooper, former chairman of the board of directors of the defunct Commercial National Bank of this city, his brother T. E. Cooper, former president, and Horace Cooper former cashier of the institution and an automobile dealer named Lassiter, are at liberty today under bonds ranging from $1000 to $10,000, following their arrest last night on charges of conspiring to defraud and wreck the bank.

Specific charges against T. E. Cooper, alleges the misappropriation of funds of the defunct bank. W. B. Cooper, is charged with conspiring with T. E. Cooper to defraud the bank of certain sums of money and misapplication of monies. Horace Cooper is alleged to have misapplied funds and made false entries in the records of the bank. Lassiter, it is said, aided T. E. Cooper in the alleged misappropriation of funds. T. E. Cooper is held in two bonds of $5000 each. Lieut. Gov. Cooper's bail was fixed at $5000, Horace Cooper's at $3000 and Lassiter $1000. The warrants were sworn out by United States District Attorney Tucker, July 31, and served by the United States marshal last night.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—All facts and data concerning the failure of the Commercial National Bank at Wilmington, N. C., has been placed in the hands of the United States attorney of that state, according to Comptroller Dawes. He declined to discuss the arrest of Lieut. Gov. Cooper and associates except to say that bank examiners had gone thoroughly into the affairs of the defunct institution and it is now a matter for the United States attorney to deal with.

Lutheran Church Women Gather For Statesville Meeting

STATESVILLE, Aug. 16.—There are two hundred delegates, including speakers and ministers here for the 38th annual convention of the Woman's Missionary Society of the United Evangelical Lutheran Synod of North Carolina in session at St. Pauls Lutheran church. People are here from the Lutheran churches in every section of this State and from other States and foreign fields.

The report of the president, Mrs. G. W. McClanahan, shows that there are 113 women societies and 32 light brigades in the State. During the year the women of the Synod raised $15,567.26 which is an increase of $1,852 over last year. The light brigades raised $2,956, an increase of $268 over the previous year. The president's report was a feature of the opening session.

Neighborhood of Hull House Losing Identity

CHICAGO.—The neighborhood of Hull House, for 30 years the center of Miss Jane Addams' work among the foreign population of Chicago, is changing again, according to the staff at Hull House and officers of the Chicago Urban League. This time, the new comers are negroes, thought to be moving from other sections of the city and southern states.

Skirts For Men Bathers May Be Ordered By City

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 16.—Following the receipt of numerous complaints concerning half-clad bathers on the streets, Mayor Bader said today that he was considering an equal standard in bathing attire for both sexes.

"With the same kind of garment prescribed for both men and women the distinction shown to the sexes would be disposed determine at a glance whether the rule was violated," he said, "it would simplify matters and prevent much of this bathing garb nuisance with which we have to cope every year."

"It is my idea that I would be supported by the legal authorities in this stand. Very likely I will try it. I would designate the proper length of trunk and the distance the overskirt should overlap to provide a decent length of flap. The manner in which bathing suits are being worn today by too many is a disgrace to the human race and offensive to sensitive persons."

Cotton Condition In State Good, Asserts U. S. Crop Report

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—The weekly weather and crop review issued today by the department of agriculture contains the following of Southern crops.

As a rule, temperatures were near normal in the cotton belt during the first two weeks of August, except for intensely hot and dry weather in the western portion, particularly in Oklahoma. Very little rain fell in the western portion of the belt, but showers were rather frequent from the Mississippi valley eastward. The period was generally unfavorable for cotton, although the crop made fairly good progress in some central portions of the belt.

Better weather was experienced in the Carolinas. In North Carolina the progress and condition of the crop were very good, and fairly good in South Carolina, where plants were blooming and fruiting freely. Conditions were more favorable also in Tennessee and progress and condition of the crop were fair to very good.

He Predicts Record Business For South

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 16.—Merchants attending the seventh annual meeting of the Southern Retail Merchants conference in session here were admonished by Norman H. Johnson, secretary of the Southern Wholesale Dry Goods association and editor of the Merchants Journal of Commerce, to go back home, brush up their stores and "get ready for the biggest fall business you have had in the past three years."

Wilmington Boy Is Killed Today

WILMINGTON, Aug. 16.—Charles F. Williams aged 13 years old died this morning just ten minutes after being hurled from the automobile driven by Walter Hatch in which he was riding. The lad's jugular vein was cut when he struck the windshield of another car which rammed the Hatch machine. Hatch submitted to transfusion in an effort to save young Williams' life and is in a serious condition.

Falling Mark Draws Host of Refugees to Berlin, It Is Reported

BERLIN.—Germany is rapidly displacing Switzerland as a center for all sorts of political agitators and refugees. They are attracted here by the falling mark and the tolerant attitude of the government. Switzerland rapidly is losing favor with radicals of all sorts. Persians, Turks, Indians, Egyptians, Arabs and Tunisians are so numerous in this city that they have united in the erection of a Mohammedan mosque in one of the best residential sections of west Berlin.

Co-op Counsel Take Unheard Of Method To Gain Time, Claim

What is regarded by members of the Pitt county bar as unheard of practice was disclosed today when Col. Albion Dunn, counsel for S. M. Crisp and G. H. Pittman, in actions to declare void contracts between his clients and Tobacco Growers' Co-operative association, received notice from attorneys for the association that they would move a postponement of the trial of the cases set for Aug. 20, or continue it for the term.

The formal notice is signed by Burgess & Joyner, Stephen C. Bragaw and Julius Brown, attorneys for the association. Col. Dunn was notified that the motion will be argued before Judge J. Lloyd Horton, in Chambers at Farmville, tomorrow at 10 a. m.

One of the contentions that counsel for the association set forth as reasons for delaying the trial is that the cases should have been advanced ahead on the calendar of the court.

Violate Practice Rules. Under the rules of practice governing attorneys of Pitt county it is agreed that whenever a motion in the case is made that a majority vote of those present shall govern the action of the bar. When these cases were calendared, it was declared that practically the entire membership of the local bar were present. The only protest made against the hearing of the cases, it is said, was made by Attorney Brown, who is now as of counsel for the association. The procedure is novel and contrary to the rules of practice of the Pitt county courts, it is declared. Col. Dunn will argue that it is not proper to take up a matter of this kind before the court out of term in chambers, but the association ought to be willing and ready to come out in the open and make its motions like other defendants, in open court, when the public is assembled and the court is sitting.

Co-Ops Invited Litigation. The point is stressed that association by its acts invited the litigation and should be willing to meet the clear cut issues of facts presented. And there is no better time for trial of the actions than the approaching term of the Pitt county superior court, it is averred.

Commenting on the procedure followed by attorneys of the association, several Greenville lawyers expressed surprise that such unusual and unethical methods should be necessary to postpone tomorrow the cases. Col. Dunn will appear before Judge Horton, tomorrow fortified with affidavits and legal authorities to resist the granting of the proposed continuance.

HEAVILY CHARGED WITH HIGH POWERED LIQUOR, FOUNTAIN FLETCHER EXP LODES SHOTGUN

Fountain Fletcher, Winterville, became surcharged with high voltage liquor last night, drove out on the paved road between Winterville and Greenville, halted his machine and amused himself by firing loads of buck shot at passing motorists, authorities say.

It has not been ascertained just how correct Fletcher's aim was, but in any event a random fusillade found lodgment in the body of at least one machine. The auto is mute evidence of that fact. Fletcher was having the time of his life, so he thought as the effects of the high powered liquid became more urgent. But his target practice was cut short when Deputy Sheriff S. A. Whitthurst, quietly came upon him and put an end to his highway "sport."

Fletcher was brought to Greenville and placed in jail. It is said he is in a penitent mood today. He has been tamed.

France's Silent Premier Spends Days In Writing

PARIS.—Premier Poincare uses up more pens in a week than did his predecessor, Briand, in a year, a keen observer of the French foreign office said recently. The reason is that Poincare speaks little, but writes much. Briand always had a cigarette in his hand; Poincare always has a pen.

The present premier receives very few callers, and except for Count Perretti de la Rocca, director at the ministry, and his chief of cabinet, M. Hermitte, Poincare sees hardly any one. He remains at his desk throughout long days—from 12 to 14 hours—writing.

Ancient Coins Found Near Etna

ROME.—Interesting relics in the form of two large brass vases filled with pieces of gold, and believed by experts to belong to a period 300 or 400 years B. C., have, by order of the government, been removed from Ognina, which is situated at the foot of Mount Etna, to Rome.

The vases were discovered in a fissure in the ground under an old wall, after a slight earthquake by a deaf and dumb peasant. The news of the find only reached the authorities when the peasant offered the vases for sale to collectors.

Florida Officials To Study North Carolina Road System, Soon

TALLAHASSEE, FLA., Aug. 16.—Judge H. B. Phillips, Chairman of the Florida highway board, contemplates a trip to several other states sometime in the near future during which he will study road-building methods applied elsewhere in search of ideas that may be used to advantage in this state.

North Carolina, Virginia and South Carolina have been decided upon as states he will visit. In the Tar Heel commonwealth the judge will view some of the results of that state's $65,000,000 road-building program, which has put it in front rank among road building states of the union.

SLEMP MAY THAW "POKER FACE" OF COOLIDGE

Announcement that Bascom Slemp, of Virginia, has been named Secretary to the President may prove a great benefit to President Coolidge in many ways. In the first place Slemp is the perfect antithesis of Coolidge in temperament. He is not only a genial, likable man, but he is a good politician. Slemp has had long experience in public life, having served in congress from his state as the only republican who consistently held his district in the ranks of the G. O. P. Folks in the mountains of southwest Virginia where he makes his home forgot all about politics when it came to supporting Slemp. It was his personality and intimate acquaintance with the people that returned him to congress. His political faith was inherited from his father Campbell Slemp whom he succeeded in the lower house of the national legislative body.

This is in brief, the type of man whom Coolidge has selected to become his confidential and right hand man. The president immediately after becoming vice-president and assumed his duty as presiding officer of the senate, was promptly dubbed by the "news hounds" in the press gallery as "Poker Face Cal." The president does not possess the personality that diffuses an atmosphere of cordiality. At times he appears as cold as the granite hills of his native state—Vermont. It has never been claimed for him that he is a good mixer, his sober, stolid countenance would refute any such assertion while his actions would prove it. Those who know him best, and according to repeated statements, they are few, say that beneath within the man there is depth of feeling. In the parlance of the street, he "wants to be a regular fellow, but doesn't know how." But in his choice of Slemp to stand between him and the public he has picked a man who can fill that job with credit, and if the choice of the appointment is the result of the advice of his close friend and adviser, Mr. Stearns, Boston merchant, he exercised wise judgment. It establishes another precedent in that it is the first time that a southern man has ever served as secretary to a northern president.

Slemp is going to make a fine apologist for President Coolidge. The reasons for this declaration are varied. He knows practically every man in public life, he has always been popular with the Washington newspaper correspondents, and Will Hays has nothing on him when it comes to political manipulation and machination. In event Coolidge is to be candidate for the republican nomination next year, Slemp is a fine mechanic in the fabrication of a political machine.

Regardless of political faith, the fact remains that Coolidge is a man of firm conviction and acts for himself. He has already made that plain in his terse statement that there was "no need for an extra session of congress, at this time." A weaker man would have acceded to the clamor of Senators Brookheart, Shipstead, Ladd and other radicals that the public interest demanded an immediate call of congress. Coolidge should be praised for that if nothing else. The country never began to show any signs of getting back to a normal business state until the late President Harding, gave it out that the congress would not be convened until the regular session in December.

Slemp can be of vast service to Coolidge, but possible the greatest service he could render the president would be to teach him to smile and outlive the sobriquet of "Poker Face Cal."

"I'm going to train for speed," says Champion Dempsey. "That's what beats the big fellows, speed?" It is also handy, to keep the big fellows out of danger.

Before going abroad the other day Mr. Volstead gave it out that he would tell the world that New York City was dry. Whereat, it is assumed, numerous New Yorkers closed one eye and ordered up another eye-opener.

The captain of an Italian steamship, who, warned by wireless that he couldn't bring his beer into port answered: "We are doing what we can. Thousand passengers drinking fast as possible. Hope to arrive in port in accord with the law." That ought to go down into history along with "Theirs not to reason why."

Steel Vaults Guard High Grade Alcohol In National Museum

WASHINGTON.—Extraordinary precautions for the safeguarding of their supplies of alcohol are taken by the various departments of the government which use this commodity, now so much in demand for the making of what in the parlance of the bootlegger is styled "sympathetic" intoxicants.

Officials of the departments and bureaus declare the systems they have installed have operated so successfully that their losses have been negligible, confined to the theft of a pint here and a quart there. And so close is the check, they assert, that frequently even the small peculations are traced and the offenders dismissed.

At the National Museum, which, in the preservation of specimens sent to it from all parts of the world, uses only the very highest grade of alcohol the liquid is kept in a steel vault to which only one employe other than the staff officers has access. The key to the vault is kept under a separate lock.

Good Will With Soft Answer Is New Rail Policy

CHICAGO.—A "policy of friendliness" designed to increase railroad efficiency through good will, and a soft answer at every turn is the newly announced policy of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway company.

"Every patron a friend of the road through a policy of friendliness toward the public on the part of every emploe," is the slogan. The move is regarded by President J. E. Gorman of the Rock Island, as one which may do much toward the dissipation of the vexing "railroad problem" of the day. The problem, Mr. Gorman believes, is largely accounted for by the fact that through the years thousands of citizens have acquired prejudices against railroads, because of the actions of "hard-boiled" station agents, conductors, claim adjusters and track workers. The new order will be aimed "to make a friend at every contact."

Take a Trip Down to Old Wilmington and the Shore

In and near North Carolina's flourishing gateway port are many interest points to reward the motorist. The strongly fortified harbor was the chief resort of blockade runners in the Civil War. On one of the principal residential streets still stands the house in which Lord Cornwallis made his headquarters during the Revolution.

A short run from Wilmington will take you over to Wrightsville on the coast, with its popular beaches and bathing pavilions.

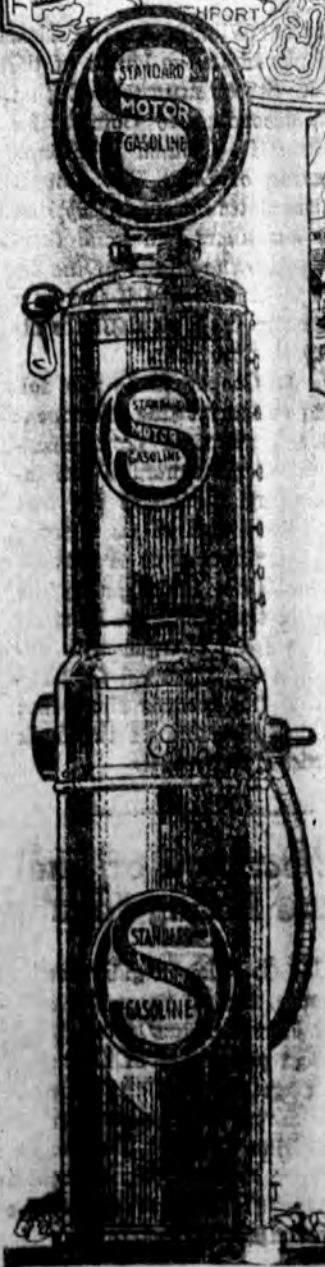

Touring is not the uncertain adventure it used to be when for every two cars on the road there was one laid up at the side with the owner investigating its mechanism. Not only have the motor car builders made wonderful improvements but similar progress has been made by the Standard Oil Company (N. J.) in the perfection of motor fuel.

This "Standard" gasoline that you buy anywhere in North Carolina is balanced as the result of years of experience to deliver full power and mileage, quick starting, rapid acceleration and as nearly complete combustion as is possible.

'ENTER MADAME' IS BIG SCREEN HIT

CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG
in "ENTER MADAME"

Never have star and story been more admirably matched than in the presentation of Clara Kimball Young in "Enter Madame." Herself a glamorous personality, Miss Young plays, in this picture, founded on the stage success by Gilda Varesi and Dolly Byrne, the character of Lisa Della Robbia with a stateliness and whimsical charm that make perfect the illusion of imprisonment. By all odds, "Enter Madame" is the best thing the star has done; hers is a fine and finished and winning performance; and it goes without saying that this Metro picture constitutes an event in entertainment no one should miss. It was given last night at White's theatre, beginning today.

Like most of those of real merit, the story of "Enter Madame" is not complex or confusing, having to do with the attempt of a prima donna of the opera to win back her husband, who, through her neglect, has become so far attached to another, and what one might call a comely woman, as to be determined upon divorce from the great Della Robbia. Elliott Dexter, as the weakening husband, Gerald Fitzgerald, is sincere and likeable; Louise Dresser, as the soft and scheming Boston widow, is with pleasant hatefulness; and others in the cast, including Arthur Rankin, Mary Jane Sanderson, Lionel Belmore, Wedgewood Nowell, Rosita Martini, Gera Devereaux and George Kuwa are more than competent. The picture, a Metro release, was reproduced by Harry Garson. The direction is by Wallace Wesley; the scenario by Frank Beresford. L. William O'Connell photographed it.

Citizen Police Of Iowa Clear State Of Outlaw Bands

DES MOINES.—Iowa, which for many years was the stamping ground of bank robbers, apparently has become the "No-man's land" for bandits and outlaws, as a result of the activities of 3,800 trained vigilantes.

The state bankers' association, which is responsible for the organization of the vigilantes, recently reported that during the six months ending July 1 there was not a bank robbery in Iowa—a record unsurpassed in recent years in the Hawkeye state.

Losses sustained by banks and customers in 56 robberies during 1921, before the vigilantes were organized, totaled $228,973.84. During the following year when the vigilantes were just getting under way, there were 30 robberies and losses of $54,941.85. But $30,000 was obtained in the year just ended.

The record of Iowa, the only state having such an organization, has attracted the attention of bankers and

Sound Currency Displacing Paper In Soviet Russia

MOSCOW.—Russia is gradually working into a new monetary system, based upon actual values in gold or negotiable securities, which promises soon to eliminate the billions of paper rubles now flooding the country.

At the present time a dual monetary system prevails, the one based upon the new standard, the other upon paper emission.

The new money, known as "cherovonets," the old Russian name for gold pieces, is paper currency issued by the state bank in units equal in value to ten gold rubles of the pre-war issue, and supposedly redeemable in gold upon presentation.

Silver coins, in ruble and fractional denominations, have been minted, but no yet issued. The financial authorities are awaiting the time when "cherovonets" are in general circulation to issue the silver money which will replace the present paper as fractions of the state bank notes.

Attempt to Scale "Roof of Continent" by Plane

ANCHORAGE, Alaska.—Mount McKinley, the highest elevation on the North American continent, will be scaled for perhaps the first time during August, if the attempt of Carl B. Elson, former army aviator and C. J. Lincke, Anchorage newspaper man, to land in an airplane on the frozen plateau at its summit proves successful. The trip will be made for the purpose of securing photographs of the famous peak and the national park which encloses it. Close up photographs of great herds of mountain sheep and the great Alaskan brown bears which range the mountain fastnesses will also be taken.

The start of the trip will be made at McKinley station, at the entrance to the park, where there is a natural landing field. Other landing places are also being located in various sections of the park where additional fuel is being stored.

INSIST on taste

Just because Ward's Orange-Crush is a mellow golden color, don't be fooled by a "gold brick" imitation. Your taste will tell every time. Ward's Crushes owe their distinctive and delightful flavors to the natural fruit oils of oranges, lemons and limes. To these have been added pure cane sugar, citrus fruit juices, U. S. certified food color, fruit acid and carbonated water. Everybody likes them.

A LAUREATE FOR THE ONION

One of those authorities on kitchen administration publicly grives because of the public attitude toward the onion and accuses society of holding aloof and shunning the vegetable. She says that not only do we misunderstand the onion, a treacherous if tearful vegetable, but we fail to appreciate its many virtues. And, she adds, were she a poet, she would write a sonnet to the onion, so graceful so compelling, so full of fervor that it would move men to tears.

The choice of a laureate for the onion brings up a nice problem of poetical distinction. Perhaps Amy Lowell might sing, but her song would not be a sonnet. Vachel Lindsay, the virile singer of the Middle West, surely knows the onions well, for often the very strength of it permeates his poetry. But it must be no weak and flaccid poet who is chosen. Certainly no singer of love songs may write this moving ode. It must be a writer of epic verse. If Walt Whitman had not departed this earthly scene, he would be exactly the man.

But, since selection of a laureate for the onion is manifestly difficult, why attempt to sing half-praises of this Samson of vegetables, since by its own virtues it compels men to weep, and since it is compounded in a stew, the very essence, the oil, of poesy?

It is only to homeless men, brave men defiant of conventions, strong men unafraid of what other men say, that the onion has its greatest appeal. To them it is a comestible of infinite worth, the sauce that whets an appetite already keen with windy weather. They know full well that without the savor of the onion the feast must lose. The stag that falls to the sportsman has no steak so tasty as that garnished with the onion, and in the rude cookery of pioneers and frontiersmen the onion plays a tremendous part. Even in the far places where only the leek, that second cousin and ruffianly relative, may be found, the memory of the onion persists.

But there is no apparent means of overcoming the unjust antipathy. Our culinary authority weeps. We weep. And the onions weep. The world would be better for a more generous attitude toward the onion.

A GROWING GIANT

It would seem from the ever-increasing fire losses in the United States that the adult portion of our population is congenitally careless in its handling of fire hazards and reprehensibly indifferent to the economic waste by burning.

Since it is difficult, or impossible, to "teach an old dog new tricks," it has been recognized by educators that in order to stem the tide of destruction by fire, the younger generation must be brought to realize that the incineration of material wealth at the rate of $1,429,750 a day represents a national danger, and must be taught the rudiments of fire prevention so as to wage a successful battle against the flames.

There has consequently been a growing movement for fire prevention education in the schools, and eleven states have already placed upon their statute books measures calling for such instruction. Only fifteen minutes a week are devoted to the subject, but it is held that even in this space of time much good may be accomplished.

There can be no doubt that the teaching of fire prevention in the schools will cause the coming generation to become fire conscious in the proper sense. The economic benefits of such a constructive movement can scarcely be over-estimated.

"SUBSIDIZED" NEWSPAPERS

Recurrently there is repeated the charge that newspapers are in some vague way the slaves of certain interests, that they are subsidized. Usually it requires but a moment's scrutiny of such charges to prove their falsity, for people on both sides of every controversy take time for such scrutiny, and the old libel against the press goes on.

How long can a newspaper survive that is actually subsidized? The object of the subsidy would be to deceive the readers, that purpose would soon become apparent, the people would not only cease to be deceived, but would cease to buy the paper. Then the payers of the subsidy would discover that they were paying for nothing and would cease their paying.

When a capitalist and a Socialist and other interests take turns at crying "subsidy," it is good evidence that the newspaper they attack has been impartial in presenting its news and opinions. The general run of readers recognize that fact.

The only subsidy that a newspaper can afford to accept is the subsidy of those who buy it. That is an evidence of confidence that the publisher cannot afford to lose and that is the very foundation of his business, representing far more intrinsic worth than his machinery or building and the basis for calculation of his paper's advertising value.

A newspaper's only hope of success lies in maintaining the confidence of its readers. It has become a greater success only by becoming a better purveyor of news by constructive and informative editorial comment and by thus inducing more people to "subsidize" it with their patronage.

Advertisers do not subsidize a newspaper; they only pay for the publicity which the people's subsidy places within their reach. While it is true that no newspaper may live without advertising, it is equally true that advertising depends on the confidence of the public. Thus, the "subsidy" that is so much babbled about is in reality a subsidy by the people.

If the people who cry "subsidy" will lay aside their prejudice and let their reason work, they will discover that a newspaper publisher would be indulging in most disastrous folly to accept a subsidy from any selfish interest. There have been such fools but their newspaper life has been brief.

Prohibition Commissioner Haynes, makes the illuminating statement that one of the greatest perils of the bootlegger, is the high-jacker, a bold highwayman who holds up a rum cargo in the confidence that the victim won't dare report him. This is probably true. It might be added, however, that the greatest peril of the peaceful and law abiding automobile tourist these days is the highwayman whom nobody dares to resist because of the danger that he may be a prohibition agent.

Government Seeks Naval Fuel Supply In Northern Wastes

WASHINGTON—The last "mystery land" under the American flag—a vast stretch of mountain and plain in northwest Alaska, now is under exploration by the federal government.

The tract comprises some 35,000 square miles, and was set aside last February by President Harding as a naval oil reserve. Some traces of oil have been found on its borders, but for the most part its qualities and resources are a matter of speculation. The exploration recently begun is under the direction of six scientists of the Interior Department, whose primary task will be to investigate oil mining possibilities, but who in addition will make the first maps of the region ever drawn on scientific lines.

Four or five summers are to be consumed before the exploration is complete, but during the present season it is hoped to complete a preliminary reconnaissance and determine the location of the most promising oil fields.

Experts Commend Liquid Oxygen For Cheaper Blasting

WASHINGTON—The use of liquid oxygen as an excellent and cheap explosive in salt, metal and other non-gaseous mines and in quarry and other outside blasting, is recommended by the United States Bureau of Mines after a series of tests. Preliminary experiments in this novel explosive, conducted at the bureau's experimental station at Pittsburgh, indicate that it may be used to advantage, where dusts and gas are not present, but is especially useful elsewhere in lessening the cost of blasting.

While liquid oxygen has not been used in this country so far for this purpose, it is already widely used in Mexican mines; has been employed in large quantities in the Upper Silesian mines of Germany since the war, and has been adapted to tunnel work, iron mining, subway and excavation work in that country. I was used not only in Germany but in the French iron mines of Lorraine after the German seizure, and applied by them also to the destruction of French steel plants. French officials of the Briey iron district believe the explosive has come to stay, and the bureau is conducting negotiations with Alaskan companies for its adoption there.

Two Aides Will Help New Soft Coal Leader In Progressive Program Outlined For Bituminous Industry

John B. Brydon, executive secretary of the National Coal Association, and John B. Pratt, editor of "Coal Review," official organ of the association, are two of the men who will undertake during the coming year to effect thorough organization of the bituminous industry to better serve the public and the 9,000 independent operators they represent. They will work under the active direction of John C. Brydon, nationally known Pennsylvania coal operator, who was unanimously elected president of the National Coal Association during its recent annual convention at Atlantic City. The function of these men will include continuance of the hearty cooperation pledged by the industry to the United States Coal Commission. The full facts of the production methods, difficulties and costs of soft coal are being made available to the commission.

One of Mr. Brydon's plans, details of which are now being worked out by his aides, is the complete organization of the soft coal operators to act with and for the government in any coal crisis of peace or war. A "minute man" system, requiring only an enabling act of Congress to empower the President to declare an emergency and draft coal resources, was advanced by Mr. Brydon before the recent recommendations of the U. S. Coal Commission affecting the anthracite industry were announced. "A committee from this body," Mr. Brydon told the men who elected him their leader, "should consult with the War and Navy Departments concerning their possible emergency needs and also with the Interior and Commerce Departments. We should hold ourselves responsive to requests from any of the departments. This plan should include the said Mrs. Sarah Dowdy, Route 1, Rhine. "About six months ago my period became irregular and I suffered from terrible pains all through my body and would get dizzy and blind so I could hardly see, I fell off in weight and became so weak I could hardly get about, and felt tired and draged all the time. Nights didn't rest me any, for I couldn't half sleep. I tried several other medicines but nothing seemed to do me any good. I heard about Stella Vitae and the first bottle helped me so much I have taken four now and I am strong and well enough to work all day."

Stella Vitae may be obtained from any druggist and the purchase price will be refunded if it fails to bring relief. Sold locally at the Horne-Staton Drug Co.

Just stone deaf—to "just as good" appeals, is Hega Thirtie. But he can hear a whisper—when it comes to Ward's original "Crush." Turn a deaf ear to the substitute. There isn't any.

INSIST on taste

Just because Ward's Orange-Crush is a mellow golden color, don't be fooled by a "gold brick" imitation. Your taste will tell every time. Ward's Crushes owe their distinctive and delightful flavors to the natural fruit oils of oranges, lemons and limes. To these have been added pure cane sugar, citrus fruit juices, U.S. certified food color, fruit acid and carbonated water. Everybody likes them.
