

The other day several "high light" sponsors of the Tobacco Growers Cooperative association gave a widely advertised picnic, at a point not far distant from here. Farmers were urged to attend and hear the "inspiring" talks on the success of the association and heed the pleas of sticking hard and fast to the body.

fort was a big barbecue dinner. The attendance was balanced in proportion to the interest felt in the gathering, which was fairly good. According to one member, who attended, what farmers expected to hear was when they might expect a final settlement for tobacco sold last year. They didn't hear it. However, they did get an earful about holding together and delivering every pound of their product to the association and were reminded that they were expected to do that very thing. At the conclusion of the meeting one grower approached another and facetiously inquired: "Did you get your last payment?" "You bet I did," was the reply. "I got mine in a stomach full of barbecue dinner. That's better than nothing."

New Venire Ordered By Court In Trial Of Co-op Suit; Deny Venue Move

Because of technical irregularities in drawing the jury Judge J. Lloyd Horton, in the superior court this afternoon, dismissed the jury summoned to hear the case of G. H. Pittman against the Tobacco Growers Co-operative association in which the plaintiff seeks to set aside a contract between himself and the association on the ground that the contract was procured by misrepresentation and deceit, and ordered the drawing of a special venire of 100 to be summoned for appearance when court convenes at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

Questions involved in the case are the first to be submitted for trial of the various litigation that has followed the association since its organization. It involves the question of whether a contract alleged to have been executed under "fraud" and its conditions said to have been violated by the association is legal, and should be declared void.

Jury Ordered From Court Room. When the case was called the first action of Judge Horton was to order at the request of counsel for the association that jurors be ordered from the court room during the discussions of the motions for change of venue and that a special venire be drawn from adjacent counties. It was contended by attorneys for the organization that owing to public sentiment in Pitt county and the number of actions pending in this county against the association; the spirit of the Daily Reflector, which was described in the affidavit as "the leading newspaper in the county," was opposed to association and creating sentiment against it, that a fair and impartial venire could not be obtained in this county.

100 Affidavits Submitted. In support of this motion around 100 affidavits were submitted by the defendants from residents of Pitt county, stating in their opinion that a fair and impartial venire could not be had here. In connection with the submission of the affidavits, it was not said by attorneys for the association whether or not affidavits were members or non-members of the organization. It was stated, however, that they felt sure that a majority of the signers were "non-members."

Following argument by counsel of both sides, Judge Horton denied the motions, explaining that the affidavits submitted by the defense were insufficient to support the contention. After the court had passed on the two motions, attorneys for the association sought a continuance of the case. The basis for this was that owing to the short period of time allowed to prepare for trial and the absence of witnesses. This motion was overruled.

At this juncture the jury array was challenged by the defendant and after considering and investigating the questions raised by counsel on this point, the jury was dismissed on account of technical irregularities in the drawing.

Trial Attracts Crowd. The court room was filled to capacity by witnesses and others interested in its outcome, from Pitt and adjoining counties and states. Great significance and importance attaches to the suit for the reason it is the leading case in which the question of alleged fraud and other illegal means in obtaining contracts between growers and the association has been raised.

Cel. Albion Dunn, and Skinner & Whedbee, Greenville, are counsels for Pittman. The association is represented by Burgess & Joyner, Raleigh,

Suit by His Wife Shows Former Textile Union Head Appeals Case

Mrs. J. E. Liggett

All hope of reconciliation between John E. Liggett, multi-millionaire tobacco man, and his wife Violet, was shattered when Mrs. Liggett filed suit in New York to recover $84,267.75 from Liggett. Anthony J. Drexel, Jr., and Geo. F. Naphen, members of the old brokerage firm of Liggett & Drexel. Mrs. Liggett is Liggett's second wife, marrying him secretly in 1924, after she had divorced Clarence Harvey, the comedian.

"Pie and Puddin" Pair Scrap Just Like Other Folks

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Mrs. Lila DuVal Moore, a Kentucky belle, and her husband, Thomas Brent Moore, and accountant in the internal revenue office, were known to their friends as "Pie" and "Puddin'," because of their apparently happy life.

In affidavits filed in the supreme court, however, Mrs. Moore, suing for a separation, asserted her husband several times poured ice water on her after she had retired, once or twice dragged her out of bed to beat her and several times asked her to consent to a double suicide.

Moore, who revealed the "pie" and "puddin'" sobriquet of their friends, while denying the alleged cruelties, declared their trouble arose because his wife refused to discontinue accepting the escort of male companions, of whom he disapproved; stayed out until 3 or 4 o'clock in the morning, and indulged in poker and liquor parties.

7 Bodies Recovered From Ruin of Fire

TORONTO, ONT., Aug. 20.—Bodies of seven who perished in the fire that destroyed the Wawa hotel, at Lake of Bays, Muskoka, early today have been recovered from the ruins.

It is reported the bodies of three women are still missing. The work of searching for victims is still under way.

CHARLOTTE, Aug. 20.—The damage suit of F. D. Tucker against the United Textile Workers of the World will be taken to the state supreme court, it was said today. If the action is lost there, the legislature will be asked to take a hand, attorneys for the plaintiff said. Tucker former president of the north Charlotte local, brought suit in the superior court charging Harry Eathough, with accusing him of being a "go-between" and representative a detective agency.

State Capitol Will Get Needed Repairs

RALEIGH, Aug. 20.—Just as soon as capable craftsmen and laborers can be congregated, Secretary of State W. N. Everett announced today work will be started on renovating the state capitol, a building which has seen many administrations come and go, witnessed the passing of the stars of summers and winters and has been the meeting place of North Carolina legislators since long before the civil war, but which now shows little more than surface wear, although according to state officials, it probably has never undergone complete renovation.

CAROLINA CROPS BETTER THAN IN S. C.; GA.; SAYS HOLLINGSWORTH

T. T. Hollingsworth, genial boniface of the Princeton hotel, and Mrs. Hollingsworth have returned from an auto trip of two weeks to South Carolina and Georgia. They passed through the best section of the tobacco belt of the former state and what formerly was an exclusive cotton area of Georgia. Crop conditions in spots went good, while in others production was not up to expectations of growers, Hollingsworth said.

Palmetto state tobacco growers, he declared, appear to be satisfied with prices this season and that conditions generally were regarded decidedly more favorable as to prices for all agricultural products than has been the case for years. The spirit of depression that has held farmers since 1920, has entirely disappeared and its place supplanted with a hopeful outlook for prosperity founded upon permanent stability.

Hollingsworth was impressed with what Georgia farmers have reaped, in which to live, but prolific in illimitable potentialities, as center of diversified farming. In sections where cotton was the only crop from time immemorial but made unprofitable and many cases a total sacrifice to boll weevil ravages growers have turned to diversified agriculture and live stock raising. This change in production is not an experiment, but is proving out each season and giving the farmer a constant money turnover.

"For comparative purposes I want to emphasize," continued Hollingsworth, "that this method of farming has been successfully conducted on soils that do not in any way measure up to lands of Pitt county and where natural advantages do not obtain to the extent of Pitt. While I appreciate that tobacco and cotton will always continue the principal crops of this section, still the same lands that produce these staples can be made to pay if crop rotation is followed during the time they are idle after harvest.

R. O. GARRETT ON TRIAL FOR SLAYING PIERCE

CUMBERLAND, C. H., VA., Aug. 20.—With the calling today of the trial of R. O. Garrett, clerk of the Cumberland county court, who is charged with his brother L. C. Garrett with slaying Rev. Sylvester Pierce, Baptist preacher, June 2, last, entered its second stage.

Indications are that the trial will rival in sensation the trial of Larkin C. Garrett, a few weeks ago. A change of venue and other legal technical points will be fought out, as was in the case of the former trial. The change of venue will be the storm center of the legal battle which will be renewed today.

Abandons Car As Mosquitoes Drive Him Out of Wood

CAPE MAY, N. J., Aug. 20.—Swarms of mosquitoes forced John H. Backner, a traveling salesman, to abandon his automobile in the woods near Tucker, and Dennisville and to run two miles to a farmhouse before he could find refuge from the pests.

Backner had stopped his car to inspect the motor when the mosquitoes attacked him. He used his left hand to beat them off as he endeavored to repair the motor with his right, but the insects were too much for him. He was treated by a physician on his arrival here, by train.

Members of the state mosquito commission abandoned an inspection of the meadows near Goshen because of the mosquitoes, which made life almost unbearable in the neighborhood.

WHISPERED WORDS OF LOVE BY NEGRO WOMAN TO ANOTHER'S HUSBAND STARTS BIG FIGHT

Bell Johnson, colored, is a rival for the affections of the husband of Clara Mae Whitfield, according to testimony introduced at a hearing before Mayor Clark today, when both were arraigned on charges of assault and trespass. The eternal triangle was again in evidence. Bell and Clara have clashed before, police say, while Clara's husband has remained neutral and willing that they should fight out their claims as frequent as desirable.

Clara was particularly beligerent and a self-assertive yesterday and carried her claims directly to the home of Bell. A hair pulling battle with smashes to the jaw and head added to the excitement. The bout was halted with the arrival of police. Clara was fined $10 and cost and Bell was let off with $5 and cost.

A group of colored chance "hounds" gathered in the place of Romeo Ebrum and were too excited to halt the game before police quietly entered and took charge. James May, Nathan Davis, W. H. Burris,

Miss Pankhurst Says Second Coming Of Christ Appears Soon

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—The second coming of Christ will take place very soon, within our lifetime, probably in a decade and then will come the solution of baffling world problems and true peace. Christable Pankhurst is telling New York audiences that every day.

Miss Pankhurst is here from her home in Canada appearing as an evangelist at a tent meeting.

"From suffrage to preaching is not the long jump it may seem," she said today. "I got through my labors for women when they were successful. I thought I would retire from public life, but little by little I have been drawn back to the platform, this time to bring hope to mankind."

"I have studied the Bible assiduously of late years, and I am thoroughly convinced that the prophecies of old are going to be fulfilled. They are being fulfilled now."

EXPANDING THE GREENVILLE TOBACCO MARKET

Quite recently The Reflector called attention to the fact that if the Greenville tobacco market was to be expanded as a formidable rival to the leader that it must be undertaken by concerted and systematic organization.

It was stressed that it was no one man's job nor was it a group project, but one in which every citizen should feel a pride in developing. The suggestion was offered that there should be closer relationship between merchants and tobacco growers; that the local merchants association should keep in close touch with their patrons and through representatives meet strangers from other counties of the state and Virginia who will patronize this market.

Whether the association has ever discussed the matter has not been publicly announced, but here is what Goldsboro did along the lines indicated. Every business and professional man of that place came together at dinner and after discussion plans were adopted to boost the market advantages of that progressive city. A committee comprising representation of every commercial interest was named to meet producers, get better acquainted, offer the handshake of fellowship and make them feel that farmers and business men had something more in common than cold commercialism.

Goldsboro is to be felicitated in taking such a forward step. It is a move that is going to do much for that city and county in welding better understanding between urban and rural folks; it is going to remove largely that spirit of selfish cupidity that has prevailed too long; it is going to result in the expansion of trade on a better basis; it is going to unify the community spirit; it is the foundation of harmony that will result in county and city residents working together toward the goal of greater prosperity through the bonds of concord.

To say that Greenville business and professional men cannot be of inestimable value in furthering the advantages of this market is idle. It would be quite impossible to place a value upon what their influence and work would be in making Greenville the ranking tobacco center. It simply cannot be accomplished without their active help, and it cannot be done without sacrifice of time and possible inconvenience. But results would more than justify the effort. The frequently heard assertion that the many would profit at the expense of the few, is not a sound argument. That has been the case from time immemorial, and will always continue. It exists in Greenville with no hope of reversing the condition.

The big, wide awake business interests of this city are not going to be subordinated by personal feeling. It is believed that with the unprecedented prospects that the proper effort will be put forth to make Greenville what it deserves to be by reason of warehouse and factory facilities, its natural advantages, its product and its people the leading tobacco market.

Now is the time to get ready. Be at the post for a good start when the gong sounds Tuesday, Aug. 28.

MOTORIZING AND GOOD MANNERS

Courtesy among motorists ought to be a matter of pride, if not a means of self-preservation and mutual protection. But the truth is, a display of courtesy by some persons who use the streets and highways for automobiles would seem to be almost a paradox as would honest dealings among the gentry who make a living by dishonest means.

Compliance with state and local traffic laws is well enough as far as it goes, but the law does not UNDERTAKE TO REGULATE THE LITTLE HABIT OF GOOD MANNERS THAT ARE SUPPOSED TO BE BRED IN THE INDIVIDUAL. It does NOT compel a man to be courteous on the highways, any more than it compels him to doff his hat to a woman.

The hallmarks of good breeding are, or should be, unmistakable in either case. The man, for instance, who drives his car so slowly down the center of the street that he compels faster drivers to veer to the left to pass him, is guilty of a form of discourtesy that should be as severely discountenanced as spitting on the floor. Possibly the man who starts up suddenly from the street curbing without bothering to look for passing traffic might not wish to be classed as an uncouth barbarian, but the thoughtlessness he reveals leaves little choice of distinction.

For violations of prescribed traffic laws, the penalties are specific. It is not the purpose to discuss the criminal type of motorist, who should be dealt with by the law. But for the discourteous motorist whose action mark him unmistakably with the brand of selfishness, if not ill breeding, a code of motorists' etiquette should be provided.

Among the forms of discourtesy especially common and irritating may be mentioned:

Passing to the left of another car so closely as to crowd it nearly to the curbstone. Refusing to yield the right of way at a street intersection even to permit the last car to string to pass. Dashing out from a side street and cutting directly ahead of cars proceeding in the same direction.

Starting suddenly from the curb without looking behind.

Pulling alongside another car at a street intersection in such a way as to "pocket" the other car.

Passing another car going in the same direction by such a narrow margin that cars coming in the opposite direction are forced to slow up or stop.

Refusing to yield a fair half of the roadway. Using glaring lights outside the city, regardless of their need.

Splashing through muddy roadways at needless speed and spattering passing cars.

Parking so close to another car as to leave it no room to get out.

These are a few of the evidences of bad manners familiar on the highway. A little reflection and perhaps self-inspection, will readily bring to mind many others and possibly means of counteracting such annoyances.

SENATOR BROOKHEART ALL WRONG

United States Senator Brookheart from Iowa, speaking at the annual picnic of Trades and Labor Assembly in Indianapolis, predicts fusion of different blocs such as farmers' laborers' war veterans' and mothers' to remedy inequalities of our economic system.

Brookheart said these groups have reached the common consensus that their interests are identical and that they have been kept apart and at enmity by great combinations of wealth, "which have thrived on profits and ruled in politics by keeping these groups of common people at each others' throats. Civilization has reached a turning point. It is a universal prediction that great changes are impending.

This unrest is caused by the inequalities of our economic system. These inequalities have forced the different groups like the farm bloc, labor bloc, soldiers' bloc and the mothers' bloc to consider their own interests and each from its own standpoint, he said.

Have these so-called different groups or classes been "at each others' throats" or is not their alleged hatred for one another and their collective hatred of our economic system merely an overdrawn picture which foments class hatred and unrest.

From this statement, a stranger in a foreign country, could picture different classes in America gunning for each other or joining hands to exterminate combinations of wealth and industry which, according to Senator Brookheart's accusation have "thrived on profits and ruled in politics by keeping these groups of common people at each other's throats.

What a picture to paint of the United States.

When one recalls the high prices that have prevailed throughout the last several months and the reasons the dealers gave for them, what is one to make of the action of the large refining companies that have ordered a cut to 16 cents per gallon in some places. How about our Greenville prices?

We had thought that the lines of the Ford car were as unalterable as the laws of the Medes and Persians; but we hear that Henry is going to change 'em.

Co-Op warehouses announce formal opening Tuesday. If their receipts justify they may be able to make a partial settlement with their members for last year's crop.

Open Forum

Editor The Reflector:
The new colored school building which is soon to be erected will meet the pressing necessity of a great number of school attendants. It will also afford a grand representative head of Fleming street in Greenville, and be a commendable adjunct to the city.

Prof. J. H. Rose, city superintendent of the schools will likely secure a drawing of the school building from which a picture may be made and displayed to the public. This building will accommodate the colored school constituency of the city and will be greatly appreciated. The street crossing at Bonner's Lane and the Atlantic Coast Line railroad is a dangerous one for women, children and to the people generally.

The poor condition of this crossing should be brought to the attention of the city authorities and remedy rendered. The bad condition of this crossing also detracts from the creditable showing of Greenville. The United States mail route on Clark and Pitt streets should extend from Dickinson avenue to the Norfolk Southern railroad. Sixty or seventy houses are omitted in the non delivery of the mail on the streets indicated.

The delivery of mail is intended both as education and accommodation to the people. The colored people are pushing forward in their endeavor to improve their business in Greenville. Among those may be named G. C. Bazemore, J. T. Pace, William Redmond, Dr. J. A. Battle, J. B. Taff, W. A. Gaynor, M. J. Short, Dr. W. M. Capehart, R. M. Johnson, J. H. Britt, Mrs. R. L. Keaney, Mrs. Ida Jones, John L. Langley, D. L. Laughinghouse, E. N. Forbes, Fernando Baruhill, Sam Short, J. C. Johnson, E. T. Wooten, Dock Perkins and P. K. McCallum.

Talks on Osteopathy

By Dr. F. Fitts

WHEN WE ARE SICK — WHAT HAS HAPPENED?
Many things, perhaps, but one fundamental law of Nature precedes all else. The machinery which should provide natural resistance to disease does not work naturally. Somewhere parts of the bodily machine are out of line and interfering with natural operation of this protective mechanism.
We find we are sick because Nature is hampered in her duties of keeping us well.
To regain the health that is gone, Nature must be given back the freedom of action she requires to carry on her work.
This is what the Osteopathic Physician seeks to do when he makes skillful adjustment. He is freeing natural machinery from the interference that clogs and impairs its action. Once this has been accomplished, the results are automatic.
Nature begins her own processes of restoring resistance and strength, and health returns to the body.
Osteopathy's effectiveness lies in its full recognition of natural laws, and its intelligent methods for rendering these operative.

Poisoning of "Poll" Starts Love Fued In "Fury at the Strand"

The poisoning of Poll provides a heart twinge in "Fury," Richard Barthelmess' latest starring vehicle, which is thrilling picture patrons at the Strand today and Tuesday.

Poll is a little green parakeet that "Boy" Leyton, bashful second mate of the "Lady Spray," had picked up on the cruise and planned to present to Minnie, a winsome young waitress in a Limehouse, London, boarding house for seafarers.

When Morgan, the first mate, learns of "Boy's" intentions his jealousy is aroused and he does away with Poll.

"Boy" is quite downhearted when the "Lady Spray" docks at London, but Looney Luk, the poetical cook of that good ship, comes to the rescue with some bird of paradise feathers which help win the heart of Minnie for the young second mate.

Richard Barthelmess as "Boy" Leyton is seen in perhaps the finest screen role he has yet been given. Dorothy Gish is quite irresistible as "Minnie," while Pat Hartigan as Morgan is a villain that everyone wants to hiss. Harry MacCollum, as Looney Luke, is the drollest of characters.

MR. JIM MEADOWS CRITICALLY ILL AT HOME IN OXFORD

OXFORD, Aug. 20.—The condition of Jim Meadows, who was stricken with paralysis on Saturday, continues desperate, little hope being entertained for his recovery. Mr. Meadows, who is employed by Liggett-Myers Tobacco Company, as a buyer, has been in declining health for some months. He is sick at the home of Mrs. W. H. Walters in Oxford.

Mr. Meadows is well known in this city having been a buyer on the local tobacco market during the winter 1920 and 1921. His many friends will regret to learn of his illness and wish for him a speedy restoration to health.

Dr. Peet Considers American Charities Secure In Turkey

SOFIA, Bulgaria.—American interests in Turkey are not menaced by recent developments in that country, in the opinion of Dr. W. W. Peet, who has lived in Constantinople for 42 years, and who today is the business representative of a group of American philanthropic institutions extending from Constantinople to Aleppo. Dr. Peet, who passed recently through Sofia, expressed himself thus to the representative of The Associated Press. Continuing he said:

"Dr. James L. Barton, secretary of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, and I went to Lausanne at the beginning of the original conference. We asked Ismet Pasha, the chief delegate from Ankara, as to the treatment our American interests in Turkey might expect from the Nationalist government.

Charm to Count In Prize Beauty Contest

CHICAGO.—Charm, a balance struck between that indefinable quality of personality and poise, and not classic perfection of features and made traditional by painting and sculpture will determine the selection of the nation's most beautiful girls, according to the plans announced for a pageant of beauty and style to be held here next November.

Beautiful girls will be selected from every section of the country by various newspapers, through contests, and all winners will gather here for final decision.

Switzerland Bemoans Loss of Tourist Trade

GENEVA, Switzerland.—Four years of high exchange have ruined tourist travel in Switzerland. Many hotel keepers are unable to pay their rent, some have failed and business people say that if nothing is done to bring the current of travel back to the Swiss Alps, there will be many more failures.

"Switzerland was formerly the favorite path of tourists from all over the world," said one hotel proprietor recently. "Today it is the mecca of the idealist. No one comes here except peace makers and persons interested in the League of Nations."

Says American Movies Corrupt Foreign Moral

PHILIPPOLIS, Bulgaria.—"American film presentations which would not be tolerated in America are doing their conspicuous share in ruining the morals of the Near East," said Dr. T. T. Holloway, American missionary and educator in Bulgaria, in speaking recently with a representative of The Associated Press.

"In three recent crimes which have stirred the public, police investigation has disclosed that the inspiration of the crime, and the suggestion of the method by which it was attempted, came from an American film recently shown in the community."

Russia Plans to Export 3 Million Tons Grain

BERLIN.—Russia's grain exportation this year is a burning question for Germany, which must buy a large portion of its bread-stuffs abroad. Contracts are already reported to have been made by German organizations for 40 million gold marks' worth of Russian grain, chiefly rye. This transaction is said to have been financed jointly by the German government, the German industrialists and the German bankers.

Pigeons on Waiting Orders.

Washington.—Radio and all other modern methods of communication have not succeeded in ousting the carrier pigeon from its position as an important factor in the war time transmission of intelligence.

The American army maintains 1,400 birds along the Mexican border, in Hawaii, in the Canal Zone, and elsewhere distributed in some 22 army posts.

GRIM REALISM IN "HEARTS AFLAME"

A Scene From Reginald Barker's Production of "HEARTS AFLAME"

Realism is the outstanding feature of Reginald Barker's latest production, "Hearts Aflame," a Metro photoplay which presents Frank Keenan and Anna Q. Nilsson at the head of a strong cast at White's theatre today. From start to finish, the picture carries with it an air of reality and conviction that only since effort could produce.

In making the production, Mr. Barker was not limited by either cost or time in his determination to get big, mashing effects and realistic thrills in the scenes of "Hearts Aflame." On one occasion during the six months consumed in the filming of the story, he took his entire company up to Cranbrook, British Columbia, where he spent seven weeks setting wonderful outdoor scenes with an extensive forest of majestic pines as a background for the action.

While in the Canadian woods, the director launched the first thrill of the picture, blowing up a dam and releasing ten thousand huge logs to go racing madly down the river. He had to construct the dam specially for the scene, making it as substantial and as correct from an engineering standpoint as though it were to stay for years. This was necessary in order to hold the logs and provide the proper effect in the explosion.

But the greatest feat in the picture and incidentally one of the most daring projects ever attempted for the screen, is the raging forest fire episode which builds up to the powerful climax of the story. Staged under the personal supervision of County Forester Stuart J. Flinham and his force of one hundred deputies, the fire sweeps through twenty acres of pine trees while Anna Q. Nilsson braves the flames at the throttle of a locomotive in a wild ride for powder to dynamite a whole mountainside.

when your Rings get Leaky.

DEVELOPING lubricants during two generations for every conceivable industry had given us twenty years ago an exceptional foundation on which to build a lubricating service for motor cars. Automobiles have since brought us scores of new puzzles. Every one, right up to the minute, has been faced, solved and added to our experience.

Take piston rings: they must fit. Heavy oil is no substitute for badly worn metal. Any oil is bound to pump past leaky rings and carbonize. Yet motor designs vary and experience convinced us that even well fitted rings still required the right consistency of oil to maintain perfect compression. After long investigation we selected three, neither too few nor too many to meet every legitimate requirement, and the Polarine chart boils down the proper answer for your car.

Polarine is the result of long experience kept alive and up to date by constant study. You can trust this experience to give you sound lubricating service—advice and quality products both.

The Polarine Chart (at your dealer's) shows the right consistency for your motor. Keep your rings tight—then rely on our recommendation for perfect results.

SAM JOHNSON SAID
 "A man should not lay a hundred to one, unless he can easily spare it, though he has a hundred chances for him; he can get but a guinea and he may lose a hundred." Neither should a man with dependents gamble on his chances of living to earn a competence for them. The odds may seem all in his favor, but in trying to save a few insurance premiums he may imperil his family's entire future.

Amendment's Weaken Lady Astor's Beer Bill

LONDON.—Lady Astor's liquor bill is regarded by the liquor interests as a huge joke—in fact so much so that they have made no serious efforts to hinder its passage.

The most persistent opponents of the bill when it was first introduced in the Commons now regard the amended form so harmless that some of them even want so far as to support it.

The original intention of the bill was to prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors to persons under 18 years of age, heavy penalties being provided for infringements. The committee in charge of the bill, however, inserted the vital words "knowingly under eighteen" and now the proprietor cannot be fined or arrested unless it is proved that he knew the consumer to be under age.

Ruhr Germans Shun Trains.

ESSEN.—Germans in the Ruhr, passively resisting the French, declined to ride on trains run by Frenchmen. Hence it soon became a question of stay at home, or find some other means of locomotion. They did the latter, and today the Ruhr is filled with people on rollers. Tens of thousands of laborers have bicycles, motorcycles, or a small coaster propelled by a gasoline motor or go to and from their work. Hundreds of thousands of others are taken to their places of employment and back in motor trucks furnished by their employers.

In a Changing World the Negligee Alone is Constant

Fashions for demobille are the least temperamental of all the modes. The lovely gracious lines are very apt to flow in the same direction for several years. Therefore according to the best rules of feminine logic and geometry it has been proved that at least one silk negligee is a great economy.

The place of the tea gown seems permanent. Pyjamas, once so highly favored have fallen from grace. All that remains of the trousered style is a few tea gowns which still show a tendency towards wide and puffy half pants and half skirts inspired by oriental models. Wings and trains and delicious swirling draperies are now seen most frequently in Paris, according to a letter from Henri Creange, the fashion authority, who is now abroad.

Silk dyers have rivaled the rose in getting the shade of the pink Mikrokrepe negligee here illustrated. The material falls in an unbroken sweep from the drooping neck line, held only by the sort of silver buckle that is concealed in almost everyone's jewel box. Silver tissue lines the skirt for about eight inches from the bottom, and silver slippers carry out the bright scheme.

The huge sleeves are of white silk lace, held to a puff just above the elbow by narrow silver ribbon.

MISS TABITHA DE VISCONTI ENTERTAINS FARMVILLE CLUBS WAYSIDE TEA ROOM

On Thursday afternoon Miss Tabitha De Visconti, of Farmville, entertained the members of the Progressive Bridge Club, the Tuesday afternoon Club and a few invited guests at the Wayside Tea Room near this city.

The guests were welcomed by the hostess assisted by her sister Mrs. B. Streeter Sheppard and Mrs. J. F. Wiggs, of Raleigh, Miss Bell Keel and Mrs. T. E. Hooker of this city.

The beautiful and unique tea room was effectively decorated with Japanese sunflowers and golden glow. Nine tables were attractively arranged for auction. The high score prize, a vogue set, was presented Miss Madred Bynum.

A delicious ginger ale salad, sandwiches and tea were served after the games.

Billions Bottles Stop Thirst for Soft Drink

WASHINGTON—History omits the description of many of the interesting things about Methuselah, among them his liquid capacity. But, says the department of agriculture, if he had been given the task of disposing of all the "pop" consumed in this country last year, he would have had to start at birth and down eight bottles every minute of his 969-year span of life.

Each year, the department's statisticians declare, thirsty America empties four billion bottles of soft drinks, exclusive of such beverages as near beers made of cereals. The sparkling flood comes from ten thousand bottling establishments and pours across 110,000 counters.

New Peers' Ancestor Depicted by Shakespear

LONDON.—England's newest peer is the Baron of Cromwell, who has just been summoned to the House of Lords by order of the King after the title has been in abeyance for 469 years.

The new peer is Robert Godfrey Wolsley Bawick-Copley de Cromwell, created a baron in 1375. The last baron to hold the title died in 1454. He was the son of the famous Thomas Cromwell, the blacksmith's son who succeeded Cardinal Wolsey in the affections of Henry VIII, and who is made more famous by Shakespeare in his "Henry VIII."

Gives Simple Rules For Addressing Letters Now

WASHINGTON.—"John Brown, barber, Sappington"—if that is all you know of the address of the person to whom you wish to write, put it on your envelope and help out the postmaster, said Postmaster General New recently. Inadequate addresses on letters not only endanger the chance of delivery, but give the Post Office Department a lot of extra work.

The growing evil of inadequate addresses has been a problem of the postal service ever since its inception, and the reason for more than one gray head among postal workers, officials declare. The careless letter-writer who does not put a complete address on the letter has been responsible for the maintenance of the costly Dead Letter office and the still more expensive directory service.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 20.—Another gathering of representatives of anthracite mine operators and officers of the miners' union, whose differences threaten to tie up the Pennsylvania coal fields September 1, was in progress here tonight.

A joint meeting was scheduled today it was evident in the day's trials that John L. Lewis, as president of the United Mine Workers and Samuel D. Warriner, as chairman of the operators' policy committee, would have a full count of leaders on both sides present and participating when the sessions began.

Amazed Thief Thanked for Restoring Lost Voice

PARIS.—In a secluded spot just outside the walls of Paris there stands a small and select infirmary where dis-eases of the throat are treated. Patients suffering from chronic laryngitis go there for medical attention. The attention of the police was called recently to a series of daylight hold-up occurring in the vicinity of the sanatorium. It seems that ingenious crooks watched prosperous-looking visitors enter the institution, noted the worst cases—those so unable to utter a sound that they had to make signs to the doorman—and then set upon them when they left and robbed them of their money and valuables.

Soviets Alter Coat of Arms.

LONDON.—The All-Russian Soviet Executive, according to a London message, has decided to alter once more the coat of arms of the Russian Soviet Republic.

For the last few months the coat of arms consisted of a crossed sickle and hammer, but now this gives way to a more elaborate design which represents the same sickle and hammer crossed in the background of a globe representing the earth and surrounded by a wreath of wheat with the words "Workers of the World, Unite!" transcribed in Russian, French, English, German, Arabic and Chinese.

Wagers Encourage Telegrams.

LONDON.—Five million telegrams in connection with horse racing annually pass through the telegraph offices in England. The telegrams for the most part relate to betting, and it is estimated they represent a revenue of about $2,000,000 sterling. This is seven per cent. of the total number of telegrams despatched in England.

Volstead Law May Be 1924 Issue In Michigan

DETROIT.—Only the decision of Senator James Couzens not to seek re-election next year can halt the gaining momentum of the Volstead law as an issue in Michigan's 1924 campaign, according to opinion among political leaders and wet and dry advocates. Divisions of the latter already are in the field.

Senator Couzens declared for enforcement of the Volstead law, but also for modification of its interpretation of intoxicating liquor. He holds that beer of less than five per cent alcoholic content is not necessarily intoxicating.

The declaration resulted in a controversy between the senator and national officials of the Anti-Saloon league, and the state Anti-Saloon league, announced its intention of going out to "beat Couzens."

HAVRE.—Unwary American seamen in large numbers, who carelessly or ignorantly sign faulty articles of employment on foreign vessels, are finding themselves stranded here without any hope of getting back home. In many cases jobless and penniless sailors have been arrested as vagabonds and thrown into French jails and, according to their stories the same danger threatens them in a number of other foreign ports.

There has lately been a disposition, the sailors say, among foreign steamship lines operating between Europe and American ports to bring American seamen to Europe and drop them, either through false representation or misunderstanding on the part of the men when signing the articles.

DAVIDSON, Aug. 20.—A new coaching staff, new athletic field and new conditions will surround the 1923 football season of Davidson College which will open on the last Saturday in September. The season's schedule calls for nine games, opening with Elon College, at Davidson and closing with Trinity on Thanksgiving day, November 29, with the game set at Wearn field, Charlotte.

William L. "Monk" Younger, assistant coach for the past five years at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Blacksburg, Va., has signed as head coach at Davidson, his Alma Mater. With him will come Tex Tilson, varsity line-man with V. P. I. for five years. Tilson will direct most of his coaching to the Wildcat line-men.

ANCIENT CODE OF HONOR

PARIS.—Paris has taken one more step back to pre-war conditions by reviving duelling. Two barristers who insisted on settling a personal difference with duelling swords revived a procedure which, since the war, has appeared ridiculous even in the eyes of the French, who still maintain that there are some disputes that can only be decided "on the field of honor."
