

Pitt County Legionnaires are going to revive their war time spirit—not the determination that accompanies force of arms—but organized team work to elect as state commander a Pitt County man—Dr. C. O'H. Laughinghouse. That unyielding objective was evidenced at the meeting of the Pitt Post, Tuesday evening. The membership is out 100 percent for their candidate.

The state convention meets in Rocky Mount, Sept. 12-13. The delegates and possibly the alternates will be there a day prior to the opening of the gathering. They will work among open minded delegations from other posts. They will distribute Laughinghouse badges. The campaign will be clean and political pledges, trades and connivance will not be tolerated.

Selection of a commander according to reports promises to be animated. The office is not going to be won for Pitt County without hard and consistent work. But regardless of the candidate selected, Pitt Legionnaires are going to be united to be reckoned with. When the ballots for commander are cast in convention, the proceeding will be something more than a ratification meeting of a picked slate.

Tenants Obtained Better Prices than Co-Op Paid Members, Farmers Aver; Pittman's Side Rests

BULLETIN.

Following the conclusion of testimony for Pittman a motion was made by counsel for the association for non-suit as to five causes mentioned in the bill of complaint. Attorney Jefferson Levy, California, counsel for the association began the opening argument for the defendant at 3:30.

At 3:15 o'clock testimony in the case of G. H. Pittman against the Tobacco Growers Co-operative association was closed. Attorneys for the association then began their side of the controversy in the litigation in which it has been attempted to show that the contract between Pittman and the association was obtained by "misrepresentation and deceit."

More than a dozen witnesses were heard in corroboration of Pittman's testimony covering the meeting at the Fountain company store, Falkland, when it was alleged that agents of the association promised signers 60 per cent of the valuation of the tobacco delivered and negotiable warehouse receipts which could be used as collateral for loans from local banks.

Several witnesses were introduced who claimed that tenants had received much more for their tobacco on the open market for similar grades than members of the association.

Hear Character Witness.

The last witness was Dr. James Merrill, Falkland, who was called as a character witness by the plaintiff. He said that Pittman bore an excellent reputation. On cross examination, however, he told of having been present at the store meeting and denied statements of other witnesses that the promise of 60 per cent advances had been made. No definite promise was made as to that, or other guarantees, he declared. He said contracts were available to all who desired to read them.

Refused to Sign.

Walter Joyner, who is not member of the association, said that agents of the organization approached him in his field. "I did not sign," he continued, but they insisted that I listen. He told of the great things that had been accomplished in California and what the same system would mean to our tobacco. "I did not believe their representations and did not sign."

Joyner stated that after his brothers had signed agreements agents said to him that the old way to out was to quit farming or die. His three brothers who had signed, expressed regret over their action, the witness averred.

Approached by Agents.

W. G. Hedgpeth, declared he was not present at the meeting in the Fountain store, but that he was approached the next day by agents of the association accompanied by Pittman. He asserted the same promise covering the 60 per cent advance was paid and that if he deferred joining the pool there would not be any place to sell the product unless he became a member of the association.

Further comparative prices were submitted by J. C. Galloway, Grimesland. He delivered 20,694 pounds of tobacco to the association at an average price of 13 cents. His tenant on the auction floor sold 15,446 pounds at an average of 25 cents, he avowed.

Repeat Same Story.

R. S. Harris, Falkland, not a member of the association told of the meeting in the store at the Fountain company. He said agents told the gathering to sign now as it would cost more later, that warehouses would be closed and there would no where to sell tobacco. Graphic pictures of the success in California of the Co-operative plan were told, he declared, and that the same era of prosperity would follow here.

Testimony of Ray Sutton, Jonas Owens, Luther Joyner, in the main was confirmatory of the statement of Pittman.

Submit Corporation Figures.

Faucette told the court that for

W. Swain and J. D. Swain, W. B. Pace, agricultural agent of Pitt county at the time H. B. Mask and several others purporting to be representatives of the association who described the purposes and benefits promised by the organization. As near as he could recall there were about 100 farmers present, as the gathering had been well advertised. Swain was the principal speaker and Mask explained the provisions of the contract. The witness swore that Mask held a contract in his hand from which he appeared to read. Mask, he continued, was specific in asserting that the advance would be 60 per cent of the valuation which would equal the total price paid on the open market.

He was informed that he would get a warehouse receipt for the additional 40 per cent upon which he would be able to borrow from local banks, 75 per cent of its value, or which any merchant would take on account at full value.

"Time to Sign Up."

Pittman said at the conclusion of the speeches Swain told the gathering "It is time to sign up boys," and he signed a contract without reading its provisions on the belief that the statements which he had heard were true.

Believing that the contract was a good thing for farmers the morning following the meeting he joined with others who had signed the night before in aiding and assisting the agents in signing other growers in the community. He explained that the community territory was divided into sections and he and other signers accompanied agents over the different routes. Pittman declared, A. O. Alfred, association agent made the same promise regarding the 60 per cent advance and warehouse receipt which represented as negotiable at either local banks or to merchants to each of the 18 or 20 signers obtained that morning.

Promises Not Fulfilled.

He attended the Co-operative receiving stations at Farmville and Greenville on the opening date last fall. Upon learning that the advance being made by the association amounted to only 20 or 25 per cent of the value of the tobacco he then determined he would never put a pound of tobacco into the pool, because he emphasized the promises made by the representatives of the association were not being fulfilled.

Describes Inducements.

When he returned home on the day of the opening, Pittman asserted, he obtained a contract form from one of his neighbors and read for the first time the agreement similar to the one he had signed. He told the court he was surprised to find out that promises made by the agents of the association covering advances and warehouse receipts were not a part of the agreement.

On the cross examination Judge Bragaw asked Pittman to state what other promises Swain had made at the meeting. Witness replied that Swain told the gathering that he came from California where the people who used to be poor were now "riding in Cadillacs and Packards and enjoyed fine modern homes, as a result of the Co-operative or associations organized in that state, and that if the farmers would sign up that they could soon be riding in the same type of cars as the warehousemen."

Auto Confiscated On Liquor Charges.

Sheriff Jackson and Deputy Whitehurst, seized an automobile said to belong to Joe Wilson yesterday and found two gallons of liquor. Judge Bragaw then asked Pittman whether he was willing as a business man to testify to tell the jury that he signed a motion that Wilson was transporting liquor.

QUEEN MOTHER IS PERFECT QUEEN

Margherita of Savoy, ITALY.

Here is an exclusively posed portrait of Margherita of Savoy, Queen Mother of Italy, mother of the present King. She was born in Turin November 29, 1851. Her husband, King Umberto, died in 1900. The Queen Mother is a daughter of Ferdinand, Duke of Genoa. Queen Margherita is noted for her example of what a "perfect queen" should be and is beloved by her people. Queen Margherita has just turned her famous Villa Adolbrandine, the most historic residence in Rome, over to Crown Prince Humbert. This is the building America once sought as its legation. During the war the Queen Mother turned her palace into a hospital and lived with the nurses. The portrait is the work of the famous Italian artist, Corcas.

RESERVOIR DAM BREAKS, LOSS HEAVY IN CROPS, LIVE STOCK

PUEBLO, Colo., Aug. 23.—Farms and ranches are flooded in the southern Colorado valley today as a result of the bursting of an irrigation reservoir. No lives are reported lost. Loss in live stock will be heavy, it is believed, while the crop in the cantaloupe belt which was ready to be harvested is a total loss in some sections.

The break was forseen and residents in the path of the flood were warned and escaped to high ground. The water's speed is estimated at from seven to 11 miles an hour.

Without first reading it and familiarizing with its contents.

Crisp Corroborates Evidence.

S. M. Crisp, complainant in a similar case, and business partner of Pittman, in his evidence covered practically the same ground as Pittman. He corroborated the statements concerning the promises made at the store of the J. L. Fountain company, Falkland, at the meeting mentioned.

A ripple of mirth was caused by the testimony of C. P. Pierce, who stated that after hearing the promises made at the meeting and visualizing the imaginary pictures of wealth and affluence painted in glowing terms by the agents of the association there was no time to read contracts growers rushed from behind counters, barrels, etc., like "rats from holes."

He said the agreement similar to the one he had signed. He told the court he was surprised to find out that promises made by the agents of the association covering advances and warehouse receipts were not a part of the agreement.

Mercury Takes Big Drop In Carolinas.

According to advices from various points throughout this state, South Carolina and Georgia the mercury took a sudden flop that sent it down 31 degrees during the last 18 hours. At some places it is reported that this establishes a new August record for quick downward plunge of the mercury.

Weather forecasters do not believe the change will last but a short time and that rising temperature will be in force tomorrow. Light summer clothing was quickly shed in Greenville last night to give place today to fall clothes.

Woman 101, Has Smoked 50 Years and Quit At 97.

WARREN, OHIO, Aug. 23.—Four years ago, when she was only 97, Mrs. Amelia Hinkle lost her taste for tobacco, she told neighbors after she had won the oldest person prize at the annual home coming celebration here today.

Mrs. Hinkle said she had smoked for fifty years.

Although 101 years old, she proved her youth by crocheting fine lace without the aid of glasses.

Mrs. Hinkle was born in Allentown, Pa., June 22, 1822, and has three children living of a family of eleven, 36 grandchildren, 37 great-grandchildren and three great-great-grandchildren.

Both Sides Stand Fixed On Question Of Coal Tangle

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 23.—Officials of the miners' union and representatives of anthracite coal operators who break up of wage negotiations raised almost certain prospect of a stoppage of coal production Sept. 1, kept fruitless vigil in separate hotels here today. They were waiting, as said, without any idea of altering the positions which ended the joint conference. But as a matter of courtesy to the Federal government, from some agency of which there might possibly come a communication that would make conference desirable.

No direct message came either from the United States Coal Commission, at the instance of which the wage scale negotiations were renewed this week after a previous suspension, or from any other source.

Juror Sitting Murder Trial Found Insane

GOLDSBORO, Aug. 23.—In Superior court at Smithfield, A. G. Jones, a member of a jury trying a murder case, was declared mentally incompetent to participate in their deliberations.

The foreman of the jury which had been endeavoring to reach a verdict in the trial of Allen Pennell, charged with killing James E. Woolard on January 12th, expressed to Judge Frank A. Daniels, of Goldsboro, the presiding judge, his doubts as to Jones' sanity whereupon Judge Daniels ordered an examination of the juror in question by the county physician.

Speeders Pay Fines In the City Court.

Carl Goerch, Wilson; Dr. Dixon, Ayden; Francis Skinner, when arraigned before Mayor Clark yesterday charged with speeding were fined $10 and costs. For assaulting Frances Williams, colored, Nat Williams, was given 30 days on the streets. On a charge of larceny William Speight, colored, was held for the action of the superior court. On a disorderly charge Vernon Williams and Addie Jones, were each assessed $220 and cost.

Thinks He May Be Crazy Alienists Say

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—Elias Kallil of Brooklyn thought he was crazy, but he wasn't sure. Now the county authorities think he's demented—but they're not sure.

Kallil, a salesman, was staying at the Atlantic Hotel when the idea struck him he was unsound of mind. It was 3:30 o'clock in the morning but that didn't matter. Strolling in the lobby he demanded of every guest he met, of each clerk and each bellhop, "Am I crazy?" They weren't positive, but after a while decided to call the police, whose answer was "yes."

Planned to Seize Dry League Power, Anderson Charges

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—In a statement issued here today, William H. Anderson of the Anti-saloon League says that "it will be interesting to Tammany to know that District Attorney Banon and Raymond B. Fosdick had it all planned out to double-cross Tammany." He adds:

"The pastors and church constituency of this Anti-saloon League, in order to comprehend fully the drive against the superintendent, need to understand certain other facts. Tammany, and even the wet Republican leaders who work with Tammany, were evidently content merely to designate the League superintendent and the League party and seeking an injunction to restrain Saunders from disposing of any money or not a received through the sale of such stock.

Toy Railway Car In Throat Means Nothing to Baby

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Johnny Fitzpatrick, 18-months-old, swallowed a pewter choo-choo train today and now it is one of the treasured possessions in a Brooklyn hospital.

The baby had been playing with his toys and when his mother made an inventory she found one of the train of pewter railroad cars gone. Her only conclusion was that the baby had swallowed the inch and a half toy. Although there was no indication that it had lodged in his throat, the frantic mother ran with him to the nearest hospital. An X-ray photograph was made and when the plate was developed the toy was readily located in the baby's throat. All this time Johnny was cooing and gurgling as if nothing had happened.

A surgeon with delicate forceps and the aid of powerful lights was able to extract the pewter playing without Johnny's uttering more than a gulp or two.

Wilson Pays Call On the Coolidges

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Former President and Mrs. Wilson were among the first to call at the White House to leave their cards for Mrs. Coolidge, the new mistress of the Executive Mansion. Neither the former President nor Mrs. Wilson left their automobile and their cards were taken in by one of the White House attendants.

Josephine Henricka Yannue (Mrs. all of Antwerp, Belgium), will have to remain aboard the steamer Nerviur which arrived here from Antwerp today until Sept. 1, before they can be admitted to the United States, immigration authorities here said.

The women and the two little girls came into Wilmington to disembark and join their husbands who now are in Hoboken, N. J.

Ask Accounting of Piggly Wiggly Finances

MEMPHIS, TENN., Aug. 23.—Piggly Wiggly affairs, for five months center of controversy and startling developments, were further complicated by the filing in federal court here of a bill by the Piggly Wiggly corporation asking that Clarence Saunders, until last week president of the corporation, make an accounting for Class A stock sold through the Piggly Wiggly investment company and seeking an injunction to restrain Saunders from disposing of any money or not a received through the sale of such stock.

TROUBLES OF A SLACKER

Grover Cleveland Bergdoll of Philadelphia, the most notorious of American war-draft evaders, was again recently in the limelight. When an attempt was made to capture him the other day in a hotel at Eberbach, Baden, he made a vigorous and successful resistance, killed one of his assailants and severely wounded another. All of his attempted kidnappers who were left alive, are now in the hands of authorities and will be prosecuted to full extent of the law.

During his stay in Eberbach, Bergdoll has, by liberal gifts of money, made himself popular, has convinced the citizens that he has surrendered his American citizenship and has become an exile from his native land simply because he refused to take up arms against Germany.

It was in 1917 that Bergdoll and his brother were notified that they had been drafted. The brother, after many narrow escapes from arrest, finally surrendered, was tried, convicted and served nearly three years in the penitentiary at Fort Leavenworth. The elder Bergdoll was hunted all over this country and in Mexico, but was not captured until he had slipped back to his Philadelphia home. Taken to Governor's Island as prisoner, he hoodwinked the authorities into believing that he had hidden a large sum of money on a Maryland mountain and induced them to send a detail of soldiers with him to recover it. On his trip he managed to make his escape to Mexico, then to Canada, England and Germany, where he has remained ever since.

During this self-imposed exile, the slacker has had several narrow escapes from death at the hands of would-be kidnappers hoping for rewards. His life has been a strenuous one, and he has counted it necessary to go armed at all times. The War Department is making no special effort to induce him to return and seems to be well content to let him stay where he is at the price he is paying for his exile.

Apparently the man is unworthy to be called an American citizen. Wherever he may live abroad, he will be looked upon as a coward who has disgraced himself and those who bear his name.

THE DAYS OF MOODY

Just fifty years have passed since Dwight L. Moody, one of the greatest of all evangelists, with his singing partner, Ira D. Sankey, paid a visit to England and there conducted a religious revival, the equal of which had not been since the days of John Wesley. They received no hearty welcome on their arrival. The leaders of English religious thought looked askance at them, but it was not long before the people realized their earnestness, sincerity and their determination to win their audiences by their simple presentation of the truths of the Christian faith. Then men and women of all classes flocked to their meetings, and it was difficult to find a hall large enough to hold the immense audiences that gathered to hear them.

Moody was at that time no novice in the work he had undertaken. For sixteen years he had been conducting revivals in the United States and had become recognized as one of the most effective platform speakers the country had ever known. Many persons living today heard him and remember well his wonderful power over his audiences. His religion was of the aggressive sort. He believed in saving the souls of men and lent all his efforts that end. Large of frame and strong of body, wearing a full beard and rather careless about his clothing, he made a conspicuous figure on the platform and never failed to win the earnest attention of his hearers. There was never a question as to his orthodoxy. The little Bible he carried with him was his guide and in it he found inspiration for those sermons which brought thousands to their knees and led them to better ways of living.

Moody had no theological training. A won't interfere with popularity of baldness.

shoe salesman in his youth, born on a New England farm, he went to Chicago, where he continued to sell shoes, but at the same time began to hold religious meetings in the slums of that city. His success there became so marked that it was not long before he won a national reputation. His services were in demand in all parts of the country. He has never had a real successor. There have been many revivalists, and there are still a few conspicuous in that field, but not one of them has surpassed the simple, earnest man, who without thought of personal gain, gave his life to spread the doctrines in which he implicitly believed.

The church of today would welcome another Moody. It would welcome a man who could preach as he preached, could arouse it from lethargy and point the way not only to devotion, but to real service to those who need a helping hand. That was the religion which Moody made the keynote of his work, and that doctrine is just as sound today as it was in the days of this great evangelist.

RAILROADS BUSY

The movement of Western crops to Eastern markets and to the Atlantic seaboard has now begun, and the volume is already so great as to indicate that the traffic over the transcontinental lines will be greater than ever before recorded. For the first six months of the current year the railroads of the country hauled a larger amount of freight than in any previous half year, and during the last week in June loaded more than a million cars, several thousand in excess of any week's record ever before made in that month.

The car-loadings of all the roads in the country for last month ran up to more than four millions, an increase of more than twenty per cent over the record for July 1922.

All railroads of the South are getting their share of business.

The railroads have been making extensive and expensive preparations to meet these greater demands, which it is expected will continue throughout the year. Millions have been spent on new equipment, on extensions and on betterments of every kind.

Since the beginning of the year nearly eighty thousand new freight cars and two thousand new locomotives have been put into service and as many more are under construction, to be ready for use within the next few weeks.

Railroad executives feel gratified at the present outlook, and a number of them express confidence that the President, following the policies of his predecessors, will give the roads a square deal, will see that the great transportation machinery of the country is given such protection as it deserves and will exert pressure strong enough to counteract any ultra-radical legislation introduced at the next session of Congress.

The railroads of the country have before them a hard task to meet the demands now made upon them; but they are well prepared.

FORECASTING ISSUES

Senator Caraway of Arkansas has made a clear and definite statement of what he foresees will be issues of paramount importance in the 1924 Presidential campaign, and with singular perspicuity points out five that he deems will compel absorbing attention.

First among these chief issues he places the need of a world market for our products. He implies that there must be a composed Europe to make this market possible, but he does not recognize that it is needful that America lend money or enter into foreign engagements in order to bring about that composure.

Second in his category comes the expenses of the government, which, in his view, must be decreased.

The Senator stresses his third issue: Interference with personal liberty must cease. He believes that the public will endure no further encroachments upon its liberties, and that individual liberty, hampered by interference, whether of business overlordship or of paternal coercive measures, must be relieved.

As a fourth inescapable issue, the Senator foresees the tariff which we have so many times taken out of politics, but which, like Panquo's ghost inevitably arises to disturb the serenity of every political feast.

The fifth item in Senator Caraway's formula for consideration. He declares that cheap rates by rail and water are needed.

Of course there are issues other than these five. There will be much discussion of the World Court and the League of Nations, of the taxes, of the farmer and his problems and of prohibition. But it must be admitted that Senator Caraway has put his finger trenchantly upon five issues that may well dominate political thought in the next twelve months.

Chicago barbers have made special price reductions to bald-headed men. We'll bet this tempering of the wind to the shorn lambs, won't interfere with popularity of baldness.

We will be pleased to show you.

Star of "Ninety and Nine" Gives Advice Case Fire

"If I were in a burning building," said Colleen Moore, heroine of the David Smith production "The Ninety and Nine" showing at the Strand today for the last time, "the first thing I would do is to get a wet cloth and wrap it around my head. Then I would creep along the floor as the air is clearer next to the floor because smoke rises."

Good Roads Blessing To Electrical System of the Automobiles

Several eminent physicians have within the recent past come forward to express their opinions to the effect that the great increase in motoring on the part of the general public has brought increased health and has added several years to Mr. Average Man's length of life. This, too, in spite of a naturally increasing number of accidents incident to driving of automobiles.

Women Shorten Dresses When Stambuliski Dies

LONDON.—The death of Stambuliski, former premier of Bulgaria, seems to have had more than a political effect in his country. No sooner was it confirmed, says a Sofia news message, than the women in the cities began to order and make new shoes.

HAD SUFFERED FOR TWO YEARS

Mrs. Smith Declares Stella Vitae Was Only Thing That Relieved Her

"When I began taking Stella Vitae my sufferings were almost more than I could bear," said Mrs. Norman Smith, living at Ridgeville, S. C. "I suffered from a complication of troubles and really don't know what caused my misery. Headaches were awful and my back nearly killed me. I had a terrible pain in my right side for two years and an internal female trouble was wearing me out. I tried everything I could get hold of but nothing did me any good. Finally I began taking Stella Vitae and at once felt it was reaching my trouble. I have taken only one bottle so far but it has done me worlds of good and the way I am now improving I firmly believe a few more bottles will make me sound and well." Stella Vitae may be obtained from any druggist and the purchase price will be refunded if it fails to bring relief. Sold locally by Horne-Station Drug Co.

Summer Readers Want Stories of Adventure

CHICAGO.—The summertime reader would rather have a true account of pirates or shooting seals in the Arctic than even a love story, declares Nathan R. Levin, assistant librarian of the Chicago Public Library, who has been studying the tastes of the general reader for years. "That does not mean that the love story has become unfashionable," Mr. Levin added. "It means rather that at vacation time everybody temporarily forgets his desire to get on in his own business or personal affairs and prefers to read about cinnamon-colored savages of the South Seas or trapping wombats in the wilds of Australia."

Collecting Bibles To Preserve Indian

CHICAGO.—For more than 25 years Miss C. A. Smith, curator of the E. W. Ayer collection of Americana at the Newberry library here, has been collecting Indian bibles, and today her shelves contain the most complete record in the world of attempts to christianize the American Indian.

The catalogue contains bibles, or parts of them, in 56 aboriginal languages, including Elliott's Indian Bible, published in the seventeenth century when the Puritans first established missionary contact with the New England redmen. There are bibles, too, in Choctaw, Cree, Cherokee, Aztec, Chippewa, Mohawk and Peachesot. Works used by missionaries in the language of the Eskimos of Labrador and Greenland and another translated into the language of the Aleutian islands also are in the collection.

Postal Bills of League Among World's Largest

GENEVA.—The recent movement aiming at the reduction of the running expenses of the League of Nations, especially the salaries, probably will not concern itself with the League's postal charges, which form a considerable item. The League of Nations is undoubtedly one of the biggest mailers in the world. With 52 nations affiliated, and with each kept constantly informed of league activities and furnished regularly with copies of all league reports, the league's mail bag assumes almost incredible proportions.

TO THE PUBLIC

This is to certify that my wife Maggie L. Briley, deceased, who died in Tarboro hospital the early part of June was a member in good standing of Greenville Council No. 3672 Security Benefit Association and that reports have been circulated that I had not received a settlement of the death claim from the said Security Benefit Association. I should like for all members and the public to know that said claim has been adjusted by the National Executive committee and that I have received all money due me from said claims and I think that the claim was settled as promptly as could be.

PERCY BRILEY.

I, W. A. Wingate, district manager of the Family Benefit Association, of North Carolina, am authorized by the National Council to offer a check for $1000 to any person who will prove that the Security Benefit Association has ever protested a just claim out of over 35,000,000 that has been paid out for death claims, besides what has been paid for partial and disability claims.

KING'S DAUGHTERS MEET WITH MISS MARY FORBES

The Junior Circle King's Daughters met Tuesday afternoon with Miss Mary Forbes. Quite an interesting session was enjoyed and any matters of business were disposed of.

Several poems were read after which a committee of four was appointed by the president there being Dot Currin, Selma Madrin, Inez Van Dyke and Esther Wayne. This committee will act as four chairmen of the four divisions into which the circle has been divided. They met with the president, Mrs. C. A. Bowen Wednesday morning and discussed plans to raise at least $10.00 in each group.

After the Tuesday afternoon meeting was over the hostess served iced tea and sandwiches.

The next meeting will be held on the first Friday in September with Miss Maude Blow Fulford.

Channel Smuggling Revived.

DEAL.—Smuggling traffic is being revived along the lonely stretches of Kent and Sussex coasts, according to a sea-faring man.

Many years ago this and nearby ports were headquarters of cross Channel smugglers in brandy, lace, and silks, and now the possibilities of big profits through depreciated French exchange and a reduction in strength of the coast-guards, has tempted many to take up this exciting work again.

People of Harbin Warmly Greet the Russian Refugees

HARBIN, Manchuria.—Five sturdy Russian peasants, remnants of General Deterich's last small band of "Whites" who stood out against the Bolsheviks at Vladivostok until the decisive battle that settled the fate of that town, drifted into Harbin one night recently, having run the gauntlet of Chinese bandits from Kirin, 300 miles away.

The experiences of these refugees were typical of those of thousands who were scattered broadcast when the anti-bolshevik campaign in Siberia finally failed.

When the Russian wanderers arrived the beach of the broad Sungari river where the Chinese Eastern railway crosses, connecting Moscow with the Pacific Ocean, was crowded with holiday makers from Harbin.

Roman Altar Found in England.

LONDON.—Used for years as a jumping block in children's games, a large white square stone three feet high, near Kingston Road, has been identified as a Roman altar, 2,000 years old.

The antiquarian, Doctor W. H. Kebleton, who made the discovery, says it is like all early Roman altars, and the depression on top shows where the offerings for the gods were placed. Carved figures, supposed to represent priests, can still be seen on one side.

Ex-Convict Named Mayor By Wood In Charge of Quezon

MANILA, Aug. 22.—Political circles were jarred by a bombshell when Manuel Quezon, who recently resigned as president of the Philippine senate because of his differences with the American executive administration, announced he had cabled the Secretary of War that Mayor Rodriguez, of Manila, lately appointed to that office by General Leonard Wood, was an ex-convict from Bilibid Prison.

The Herald issued an extra edition demanding editorially that the Governor General request Mayor Rodriguez's resignation.

Quezon charged that Mayor Rodriguez served one year for procuring the abduction of a woman by a band of bandits. Rodriguez also was convicted, according to Quezon's cable, of being an accomplice to the murder of J. P. Berry, of the 27th United States Infantry.

Speedy Wins Will Aid Long Flights, Aviator Believes

CHICAGO.—A 12 hour non-stop airplane flight from the west coast to the east coast is not an improbability, and there is every reason to believe that this remarkable flight will be realized within a short time, according to Major R. W. Schroeder, former holder of altitude records, and one of the first aviators to ascend to a height of more than 38,000 feet.

"To negotiate the distance between San Francisco and New York in this short time, the aviator must ascend to a height of more than 30,000 feet in order to get into what is called the anti-trade winds," Major Schroeder said in explaining his theory of the flight. "These winds blow at a velocity in excess of 100 miles an hour and with the aid of the plane motor humming at a speed, say 160 miles an hour, the flight can be accomplished, providing that all conditions are favorable."

Major Schroeder pointed out that the higher a flyer goes the slower his mental faculties function.

Reforestation Plan Giant Redwoods

SAN FRANCISCO.—California's giant redwoods, some of which, still standing, were saplings when the Vikings first sighted the coast of North America, and were good-sized trees when William the Conqueror's Norman hordes landed on the shores of England a thousand years ago, will have been entirely destroyed within a short time, according to the California Redwood association here, unless measures now being undertaken for their reforestation prove successful.

Libraries Gain Favor Home Training School

CHICAGO—American people are using their libraries as home universities for self-education instead of for amusement, according to Carl H. Miller, secretary of the American Library Association, who points to the employment of education advisers in the largest cities as proof of his assertion.

"People are intent these days on gathering useful information," said Mr. Miller. "At Detroit, Milwaukee and Cleveland the demand for instructive and informational books has become so great that superintendents of adult education have been appointed to care for the ambitious."

London Marks Its Famous Spots—Visitors to places of interest in the city, and many Londoners themselves, have been surprised lately to find numerous blue plaques with white letters on walls of buildings. These are being put up by the City Council to mark the sites of ancient London, and the residences of famous citizens.

One of the most recent ones marks the spot in Chapside from which the Romans measured their miles from London. Residences of Chaucer, Keats, Shakespeare, Pepys and other prominent citizens of the olden days also have been designated.

Japanese Pheasant Sounds Warning of Coming Earthquake

WASHINGTON—Have you a little earthquake-predictor in your home? If not you should get a pheasant, says Prof. F. Omori, a Japanese geologist writing in a recent bulletin of the Imperial Earthquake Investigation committee, for this bird is exceedingly sensitive to earth tremors even when so slight as to be unobservable by humans.

Observation of a pheasant in Japan during a period of about three years, in which 23 earthquakes were recorded on delicate instruments, showed that it crouched either before or during every slight shock. In 24 persons of the crouching bird crouched before the scientist's machine recorded the quavers, ending the instrument by as much as eight seconds. In 20 percent of the occurrences the bird crouched simultaneously with sensible earthquake motion; and in another 20 percent of cases the bird crouched when the motion was too slight to be sensible to the observer. In only five cases did the pheasant crouch after the motion was recorded, and only once did he fail to crouch at all.
