

While it is a fact that Pitt county can produce and supply nearly every agricultural product needed and many raw materials used in the people of this county are spending millions of dollars each year for the people of this county are spending millions of dollars each year for foodstuffs and other products which could be grown or manufactured cheaper than many imported products.

The outstanding need to bring about a changed condition to assure for the future a balanced prosperity is the full weight of every citizen's support blended into the concert of energy. Every man should know his Pitt county. Once this is fully absorbed it is a reasonable dream that can be made to come true. It is worth the effort.

For such an achievement we need to work, not only to the limit of our own capacity, but to interest the initiative and capital of other states. We need organized effort to undertake a campaign of publicity. We need to center more strongly on making known to the world the story it is ours to tell but which even we ourselves as yet only incompletely comprehend.

LOOK TO SEE ITALY WITHDRAW TROOPS FROM CORFU SOON

Mussolini Now Turns To Jugo Slavia To Reclaim Fiume

CORFU, Sept. 11.—The news that Greece and Italy had accepted proposal of the inter-allied council of ambassador for the settlement of the dispute between the two nations was received quietly here. There was no demonstration of any kind. There was much speculation among authorities, however, as to how long Italian occupation would continue. Some were of the opinion that evacuation would take place immediately. Others held that the present forces would be replaced and that final occupation would not be a reality for a month or longer.

ROME, Sept. 11.—According to the best information here, Italy will refuse any mediation of the question concerning Fiume with Jugo-Slavia, as proposed by the latter. It is declared that the settlement can only be accomplished by the demand made for the return of the possession of Italy, Sept. 15, and if compliance is not promptly granted Italy will use force to carry out her demands.

PARIS, Sept. 11.—It is reported from reliable sources that Premier Mussolini will proclaim the annexation of Fiume within a week—probably Sept. 16. It is further declared that Jugo-Slavia will make no concerted or military protest.

NEW YORK.—When Jack Dempsey, world's heavy weight champion, and Luis Angel Firpo collide in their scheduled 15 round contest at the Polo Grounds September 14, Tex Rickard, promoter of the match, expects the second largest crowd that ever witnessed a glove contest to be in attendance.

The Polo Grounds, home of the New York Giants and one of the biggest baseball plants in the country, will be converted into a massive arena, with a seating capacity of approximately 80,000. The playing field will be covered with temporary seats around the ring, which will be erected in the center of the diamond. The greatest crowd that ever saw a boxing contest gathered in the pine bowl on Boyle's Thirty Acres in Jersey City, N. J., July 2, 1921, to see Dempsey defend his title against Georges Carpentier. Close to 93,000 persons were jammed into the great spaces of the bowl that day. The total receipts approximated $1,800,000.

SAY RUSSIAN COMMUNISTS TRYING GAIN CONTROL U. S. LABOR UNIONS

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—"Through the encouragement of industrial strife and the breeding of distrust between employers and labor unions," American agents of the communist international at Moscow have undertaken to gain control of labor unions as the first step toward revolution and the establishment of a Communist regime on this continent, the United Mine Workers of America alleges in an article of an "expose" of a wide-spread "Red" plot it claims to have uncovered.

In carrying out this program the communists are as much the foe of the trade unions as they are of the employers, say authors of the miners' document.

Not in Sympathy. "There are persons who charge that the United Mine Workers is a 'Red' organization," the document continues, "and that it works sympathizes, co-operates with, and is dominated by communist, and communist influences." But the union "has no sympathy with the communist movement in any of its phases. In fact, communists recognize the miners' union as their strongest and bitterest enemy in America. That is why the Moscow masters put forth such a tremendous effort to cripple and seize the organization."

Five Millions To Be Raised For Japan Relief

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Confidently anticipating the contribution before the close of today of the full $5,000,000 asked of the American people for Japan's earthquake sufferers, the executive committee of the Red Cross has called a meeting to take action on Ambassador Wood's cabled request for $1,000,000 to be sent immediately for expenditure in the devastated area.

A total of $4,179,600 had been reported as donated early today, and officials expressed the belief that the goal would be passed with belated reports before another day and the fund asked by the ambassador would be made available.

All of the divisions among which the work of raising funds was allotted continued to send in new pledges during the day. It was announced that the largest single check forwarded was one for $800,000 from the New York county chapter, swelling the total received here to $1,560,000.

Baltic Coast Beaches Draw Many Germans

HERINGSFORD, Germany.—With hordes of mosquitoes on one hand and grasping landlords on the other, visitors to the Baltic coast are not having a happy time this summer. Rates for room and board are going up every 24 hours, and the summer colonies all along the shore, from Memel to Kiel, are on the verge of mutiny. But their situation seems hopeless. If they go away in disgust, the hot weather sends plenty of others to fill their places. Railway rates have been raised repeatedly, but even so the travel is unusually heavy.

SANTA BARBARA, CALIF. Sept. 11.—The Naval board of inquiry Rear Admiral Phatt as senior member is expected at the scene of the wreck of several naval vessels at Honda 75 miles north of here today to investigate the disaster. The death list reported includes 22 missing and one dead.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 11.—Teachery of the sea and air were the main factors in the wreck of seven of Uncle Sam's sea hoines, destroyers of the Pacific fleet, which pitched at 20 knots an hour onto the jagged rocks of a La Honda, 75 miles north of Santa Barbara, according to the belief of naval experts here.

Four hours previously the Pacific Mail liner Cuba had piled up on San Miguel Island, 35 miles away and the air was filled with radio messages telling of her plight and directing the work of rescue.

In the meantime Destroyer Squadron Eleven of the fleet was cruising south in a heavy fog, 19 clean cut craft, breasting a choppy sea in column formation and steering behind their leader, the Delphy, under dead reckoning and wireless compass directions from ashore.

The shore directions are said to have become garbled with the flood of air messages on the Cuba wreck and the speedy destroyer squadron was left in the fog and the sea.

A LESSON FROM GERMANY

Both in America and England, the methods by which German workers have been kept employed and German industry forced at top speed despite the apparent impoverishment of the country, have been watched and analyzed to an extent not generally realized. The results of observation are becoming apparent in suggestions that appear from time to time regarding the possibilities of employing surplus labor whenever there comes a time of slack demand in industry.

American communities would do well to watch the efforts of England to dispose of its increasingly oppressive unemployment problem.

Ever since the war, the army of jobless men and women in England has menaced the peace of the community and has drained the public funds. Enormous sums have been expended in the shape of doles to the unemployed, but at the present time the number of workless appears to be increasing slightly, promising a dark and gloomy winter for the English people, who had been hoping that this year would see an end of the business and industrial stagnation from which Britain has suffered since 1919.

The increasing seriousness of the problem, however, and the extreme unlikelihood of any revival of trade through German or Russian orders makes it imperative that British conservatism put aside its reluctance to copy the regardless of the state of business in motion. German method of getting everybody to work.

It seems obvious that once the natural activity of industry is started by plentiful employment on government enterprises, the economic life of Britain can be kept functioning normally, providing England does not fall into the German error of debasing the currency, a mistake whose consequences carry their own warning to the exceedingly practical British mind.

RURAL SCHOOL TEACHERS

There are today about 300,000 teachers of rural schools in the United States, of whom less than three per cent are normal school graduates. Fully one-third have had no professional preparation whatever, 50 per cent have not completed high school training and ten per cent have finished only the elementary grades of common school courses.

These statements are contained in a report just made to the Federal Bureau of Education by an investigator who seems to have gone into the subject thoroughly and who although taking a rather gloomy view of the present situation, inclines to the belief that if more attention is paid to it, some of the problems it presents can be solved readily.

The report declares that one-fourth of all the rural teachers, or approximately ninety thousand, leave the ranks annually, to have their places filled by inexperienced beginners, while at least two-thirds remain not more than one year in the same school.

The salaries for such teachers run commonly from $25 to $900, which is considerably less than the average annual income for unskilled labor and which explains most of the handicaps of the profession, the report says.

BE FAIR TO THE MOTORIST

In the sincere efforts that are now being made to reduce the number of automobile accidents in this country, the fact should not be overlooked that motorists are by no means responsible for all the mishaps. One authority, discussing this phase of the problem, points out that merely educating the motor car driver to a better understanding of his responsibilities and to the need of more skill in the operation of his car is only half the task of preventing such accidents. Many of them are due to causes beyond the driver's control, and in return for his promise to do his share, he has a right to ask for official cooperation. It is not enough to expect drivers to be careful; the streets and the roads must offer as few hazards as possible, so that when a motorist seeks to keep on the safe side he may have a fair chance of success.

Poor street lighting, says this authority, is a more prolific cause of accidents than is speeding. Wherever street lights fail to provide proper illumination, motorists are compelled to grope their way along, depending almost entirely on the light from their own machines.

Signs which are placed in positions where the motorist cannot see them without taking his eyes off the road in front of him are also a menace to both automobiles and pedestrians in any city or town. A considerable proportion of accidents result from the placing of street names in such a position that motorists are tempted to stop suddenly or turn abruptly on catching a brief glimpse of them.

These are but a few of the hazards cited, but they show that the motorist is constantly confronted with serious problems, some of which could and should be solved for him by better official regulations. In the country as well as in the cities, he has to be constantly on the watch for careless pedestrians, for children who run across the streets without a thought of danger, for sudden traffic congestion and for other hazards of many kinds.

Even the most careful of drivers has all he can do to avoid accidents and he has a right to ask that, as far as possible, official aid should be extended to him. Drivers should have hearty co-operation in their efforts to reduce the annual toll from motor car accidents on the public highways.

He Killed Large Rattler Near Here

The attention of E. H. Brown, Norfolk, representative of the Virginia-Carolina Chemical company, was suddenly arrested yesterday while driving his machine a few miles from the city by the frantic shrieks of a colored woman. He promptly investigated and discovered a large rattler snake coiled in front of the porch of the home. He called to the woman for a gun. He killed the reptile, which measured more than five feet. It had seven rattles and a button. Brown said it was the first rattler that he ever encountered.

CLOWNS, ELEPHANTS AND ARENIC WONDERS WILL BE WITH US SOON

Pictorial jungles on billboards, posters of clowns, elephants, spangled folks and freaks herald the coming of Christy Brothers' Four-Ring Wild Animal Exposition. The gala date is Saturday, Sept. 15th and with the dawn of that day will reel into the city the long special train of double length cars. Already small boys have arranged their show day schedule to begin with the meeting of the first section—the flying squadron carrying cook house wagons and the menagerie and the hundreds of educated wild animals which take part in the afternoon and night performances.

The Christ Brothers Combination is well known in Europe, Canada and the West. The zoo equals in importance and size any in the country, while the educated jungle beasts are without rivals, it is claimed.

The four rings filled with animal acts serve as a contrast to the aerial gymnastic dancing displays.

A six pole big top, seating 10,000 people, the finest water-proof tent ever constructed, is used for the main show.

Hundreds of people, horses, wild and domestic animals will be seen in the mile long parade, which will inaugurate the big show-day program.

AN OPEN LETTER.

Greenville, N. C., Sept. 10, 1923. Mr. H. Bentley Harris, Mgr. Greenville District, The Mutual Life Ins. Company. My Dear Sir—I most gratefully acknowledge receipt of your Company's check for $2,024.00 in payment of claim under policy on the life of my deceased husband, the late Dan L. Hardy, which occurred on Aug. 13th.

I especially appreciate this for the reason the policy was written in 1917 and only three premiums were paid. The policy lapsed in 1920, nothing was paid since, but I understand that it is your Company's Custom when a policy is allowed to lapse for non-payment of premium to allow an automatic extension for a certain period for the whole face of the policy, and I was under this splendid feature that I am receiving the whole amount insured.

This is a great blessing to me and the little child. This insurance was written while we were living in Maysville, Kentucky.

and I wish to thank you for this kind assistance in adjusting the claim. Yours very truly,

COTTIE W. HARDY.

Martin's Orchestra Engaged For Season At Strand Theatre

The management of the Strand theater announced today the engagement of Martin's three piece orchestra for the fall and winter season. The trio was heard for the first time last night and pleased a large audience, it was declared.

The bill at the Strand today is "Fools First," a First National attraction featuring Claire Windsor, in the leading feminine role.

Miss Windsor, one of the most beautiful women of the screen, started her motion picture career as an extra. Strange as it may seem, she obtained work the first day she applied for a position. She immediately disclosed histrionic possibilities and it was not long before Allan Dwan placed her under contract to play parts in his stock company.

Lois Weber then took particular notice of Miss Windsor's work and when the latter left Mr. Dwan's company upon the termination of her contract, signed her up for a year to play leads. Recently she appeared in Goldwyn pictures.

In selecting Miss Windsor to portray the leading feminine role in "Fools First," opposite Richard Dix, Mr. Leelan obtained the exact type for this character. It is the most dramatic part that Miss Windsor has ever been given.

J. R. WHICHARD, FIRST TO AID JAPAN RELIEF HERE

Bill To Legalize Irish Army Meets Criticism

DUBLIN—A bill to legalize the Irish National Army, which hitherto has operated without legislative authority, has just been framed and is the subject of much criticism from both Labor and Conservative members in the Dail. The measure constitutes an army code similar to the King's regulations for the British army, and would be effective only for one year. At the end of that time, the bill provides, the army question may be reconsidered.

Labor leaders oppose the measure because of the distinction between officers and men, while the Conservatives urge that it be modeled more closely after British Dominion army legislation. Other critics object to the present method of combining the office of Minister for Defense and Commander-in-Chief, and have started agitation to have the Defense Ministry made a separate and civilian office.

Seven Warships Await Junking at Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA—Seven war vessels at the Philadelphia Navy Yard are to be scrapped under the provisions of the treaty for the limitation of armaments, recently approved. They include two cruisers and five battleships.

The cruisers are the Constitution and the United States, which had been under construction at the navy yard for some time. They are to be scrapped at once, acetylene torches being used to cut them to pieces. A little later workmen will start on the five battleships consigned to the international junk heap. Four of them, the Minnesota, South Carolina, Michigan and New Hampshire, are out of commission and have been lying in the storage basin at the navy yard for months. The fifth, the South Carolina, will have a fitting end to a long career, for she will be taken to sea and sunk in tests of various deck and under-water attacking methods lately devised by the navy department engineers.

Chemists will Divulge Progress Bread Making

MERCHANDISING

It is quite an interesting study to trace the history of merchandising down the countless centuries of time, from the days when our cave-men ancestors traded stone hatchets for wild animal meat and fish, to the present time of highly efficient and intelligent methods of merchandising.

When the late John Wannamaker who held the title of "Merchant Prince" was a boy the axiom of trade men was "Let the Buyer beware." But even at that time men were beginning to see how unfair was such a policy, and here and there, tradesmen could be found who were breaking away from the traditions of the past and were striving to give satisfaction to the customer. This policy however far from being the custom was an exception, and when John Wannamaker opened his store in Philadelphia, the rule of trade was still "let the buyer beware."

When Wannamaker opened his store in Philadelphia his first act was to publicly declare that his business policy would be that the "Customer must be satisfied." His instructions to his sales-force was that in every argument between his customers and the store he would hold that the customer was right and must be satisfied.

From a very modest establishment, even in those days "Wannamakers" grew and expanded until today his store is the second largest store in this great country of ours. And during all these years "Wannamaker's" policy has not changed—"The customer must be satisfied."

Today, practically all business houses of repute follow in the footsteps of Wannamaker. The satisfaction of the customer is the goal strived for, and no stone is left unturned in the efforts to accomplish this.

The Dry Goods Shop opened its doors nearly two years ago with the identical policy laid down above in force. Its ideal in business was to maintain a standard of quality in merchandise at the minimum price, which could only be effected by economies practiced in buying and selling under most advantageous conditions. How well we have succeeded is evidenced by our many satisfied customers. And our policy shall ever be in every transaction it is the customer who must be satisfied.

"Cuddle Up" To Appear At White's Theatre Tonight

It has been a long, long time since musical comedy has been the public such a wonderful character as the "real street faker" shown in "Cuddle-Up".

There is of course, a love story interwoven which explains how a wilful young woman who experimented with love in such a manner as to read, burn her fingers, as well as the fingers of others.

The cast of "Cuddle-Up" is one of prominence including George Selden, Doris Claire, Kathleen Bronson, Ralph Coleman, Helen Baker, The Golden West Trio, Suzanne & Rooney and others.

The book was written by Robert Cushman, one of our most successful writers of musical comedy, and the author's art and skill in "Cuddle-Up" conjure up a real substance of atmosphere, which one would be inclined to believe was really written with realism and sincerity. Hal Stoddard has written the music for "Cuddle-Up" and has accomplished a feat that makes the music both pleasing and tuneful enough to satisfy any severe critic of musical entertainments, as they are so pleasant and refreshing, that the pretty romance related with the delightful heroine and her ardent lover whose trials make an interesting story, hold the audiences willing attention for an evening's entertainment.

Appears at White's theatre tonight.

Safety for Emergencies! Buick Four-wheel Brakes Buick four-wheel brakes meet the demands of present day traffic conditions by having power in reserve to insure a rapid, safe and reliable "stop". Actual braking effectiveness is practically doubled by Buick four-wheel brakes. This is accomplished by slowing down the two front wheels. Each brake band has a three-quarter wrap or grip on its brake drum, rather than the half-way wrap in common practice. The Buick four-wheel brakes are an integral part of the Buick front axle design. Their arrangement and operation are simple. The front brakes are coupled in relation to the rear so that when the brake pedal is operated more pressure is put on the rear brakes than on the front. Buick four-wheel brakes on all models are one of many definite advances in motor car operation and maintenance that the 1924 Buicks have contributed to automobile transportation.

DODGE BROTHERS CARS ATTEMPT TO CROWD Judging by the number of persons visiting the salesrooms there is an exceptional amount of interest in the improvements recently made in Dodge Brothers Motor Cars. Crowds have been falling in steady streams since the new cars went on display several days ago and the most enthusiastic comments on all sides, as well as a large number of orders. The appearance of the complete line of cars including the touring, roadster, coupe, two types of sedan and 24 ton commercial car, has been materially improved chiefly by lengthening and lowering the body. Various other refinements have been added with the result that the cars will doubtless be in greater demand than ever before.

"STANDARD" The Balanced-Gasoline Convincing proof: In the face of the fact that the motor public is more particular today, more people this season are using "Standard," the balanced gasoline, than ever before. "Standard" is meeting the demand of a large majority of motorists for an all-round superior performance in gasoline—for uniform quality and that quality the finest wherever and whenever they buy it. Stop at a "Standard" pump the next time—and every time. For complete satisfaction. STANDARD OIL COMPANY (New Jersey) Made in the Carolinas
