

Hundreds of thousands of people in this country are under the impression that the agricultural and industrial development of the South of recent years, is something entirely new to this section and foreign to the thought and life of more than a half century ago.

Viewed from this standpoint one can better understand why the progress of the last third of a century is substantial, permanent, and as yet only in the infancy of the new born babe as compared with the strength of the years of manhood to come.

The South of today inherits traits of character which have come down through generation after generation, traits which give to its people the virility, the force, the energy, the creative construction power and managerial ability, the trend to scientific attainments and a world of vision of business.

MERRY KIWANIAN STAGE FROLIC FOR COLLEGE TEACHERS

Romp Through Evening of Original Fun and Burlesque

Kiwanians, their wives and guests comprising the faculties of the Teachers Training College and the City schools romped through an evening of fun and satire last night.

Benny Moseley, George Hadley and C. R. Harvey, need never feel concern over the future. Should they become tired of their present business the art field is always open to them.

Jim Applewhite, H. L. Smith, Frank Harrington and Edward Joyner, were competitors in an oratorical contest. This quartet orated on various subjects of which they did not know anything about.

In the absence of a better designation—a confection class—both of mouth and body served to bring out some startling effects in gum chewing. That there is something more than merely swinging the substances between the teeth was demonstrated by a number of adepts in the use of the jawbreaking pastime.

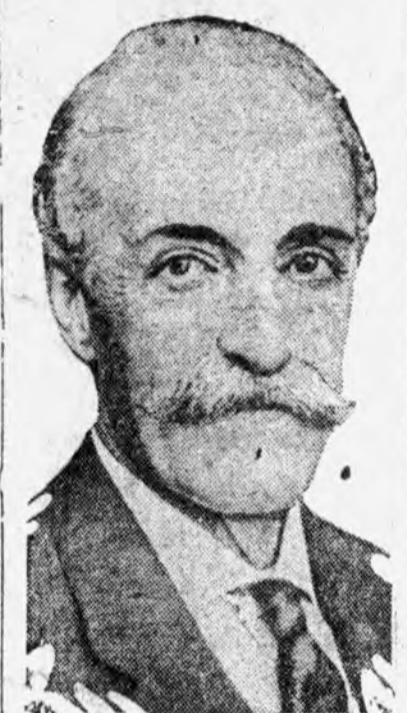

GREENVILLE "TIGERS" DEFEAT WASHINGTON HIGH 30-0; GAME BEST PLAYED BY LOCAL TEAM

Greenville 30; Washington 0. That score is an index of the class of football played by the Greenville "Tigers" against Washington High School at the fair grounds yesterday.

The game was fast and spectacular at times. Hardee was particularly brilliant for his work when he intercepted a forward pass and made a 60 yard run for a touchdown.

Besides these players Mayo, quarter back, ran the squad with perfect precision. Captain Winslow, Ricks, center and Humber starred in their play. Wilson, Carr, Sugg, and Galloway, played a fast game.

NO REASON FOR R O W GERMAN FACTIONS SAY

BERLIN, Oct. 6.—Chancellor Stresemann completed the formation of his cabinet today of which he is to act as minister of foreign affairs as well as chancellor.

BERLIN, Oct. 6.—A resuscitation of Chancellor Stresemann's defunct four-party coalition put an end to the parliamentary crisis, the mysterious origin of which is only exceeded in novelty by its baffling solution.

Conservation of party prestige, emoluments of public office and concern over political patronage are declared to have played an unusual part in the later-party truce, which was preceded by a day of bartering and jockeying for position.

GREENVILLE JOINS TO AID APPEAL SALVATION ARMY

The annual home service appeal of The Salvation Army will be held in Greenville and Kinston Oct. 15-20.

The object of the appeal is to secure funds with which to finance the varied activities of the army in this community during the coming fiscal year. The effort in Kinston will be under the direction of the advisory board of The Salvation Army, an organization of prominent citizens, under whose advice and counsel the Army carries on its activities.

In Greenville, which is served regularly by the Army in many ways of which the general public is not aware, Mayor D. M. Clark will act as chairman of a local committee, assisted by J. H. Waldrop, as treasurer, Arthur Corey and other citizens will serve on the committee.

The various public-spirited civic organizations in Kinston, including Rotary, Kiwanis and American Legion, Woman's Club, the Shrine Club, Leopolis County Committee Colonial Dames, Daughters of the Confederacy, together with Masonic and other fraternal organizations have pledged committees of workers, to aid during the intensive period of the appeal.

A program suitable to the occasion is being worked out by the committee and a most helpful hour is now in promise.

NEGROES WHO FOUND LOST PAYROLL OF $560, BUT WHO "FORGOT" TO RETURN IT WERE BOUND OVER COURT TODAY

Frank Mitchell, head of the Mitchell Construction company, lost a payroll from his car last Saturday amounting to $560. According to testimony in city court today, Irene Gibbs, and Ione Pender, both colored, saw the money bag drop from the machine and picked it up.

Police were tipped that Whitehead appeared to be "flushed" with money. Chief Jones investigated, but Whitehead maintained that he did not know anything about the lost payroll. Falling back upon the old established police rule "find the woman," Chief Jones located the Gibbs woman in Newport.

RALEIGH, Oct. 6.—Frank Parker, agricultural statistician of the Co-operative State Federal Crop Reporting Service, today made public his bi-weekly crop notes. In summarizing the notes, he said, "North Carolina has perhaps the best condition, considering all phases of agricultural work, that it has ever experienced."

PIRATES ROB SHIP NEAR NEW YORK. $50,000 GOLD BARS

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—River piracy was reported to the police today by the crew of the steamship Bridgetown of the Columbia Line. Fifteen men, some in stylish topcoats and all carrying revolvers, boarded the Bridgetown from a power launch before dawn today, tied up eleven members of the crew and a customs officer and escaped with $50,000 in gold bars and platinum, which they took from the safe by cutting away the steel door with an acetylene blowtorch.

Shortly after midnight the power boat slipped alongside. The fifteen pirates boarded the vessel and seized the deck watch before he could make an outcry, binding and gagging him. Then the gunmen swiftly tied up the other ten men aboard with davit ropes and piled them like cord wood in the chief officer's cabin. Next they caught Louis Schonberg, customs officer, took away his gun and put him in with the other captives.

ATTENDANCE RECORDS BROKEN BY JARVIS MEMORIAL SUNDAY SCHOOL; TO CHANGE PLAN OF ASSEMBLY

The Jarvis Memorial Methodist Sunday School had one of the largest Sunday schools in its history last Sunday. There were 627 present. The attendance was so large that the new Sunday school rooms were inadequate. It was necessary to use the church auditorium. There were a large number of visitors and new members present and the enthusiasm of the assemblage ran high giving promise of great work to be accomplished during the coming months.

This was the first Sunday after Promotion Sunday and the teachers and scholars spent the study period becoming adjusted to each other, planning the lesson work for the new quarter and arranging outside of class activities. There are now 30 active classes. The departments of the school are being reorganized, and there will be appointed soon a superintendent for each department.

It is planned at an early date to conduct two separate assembly periods in the school. One of the assemblies will be for the grades from the third down. The other assembly will be for the benefit of all the other classes. It is also contemplated to change the method of assembly at an early date. It is supposed to have one assembly period instead of two for the upper classes. This assembly period will come at the beginning of the school year and will last for about thirty minutes. This will be more than a singing period and will include something worth while each Sunday. From this assembly the classes will go to their rooms for half an hour lesson period, and will be dismissed from these rooms.

TROOPS UNABLE TO FORCE STRONGHOLD OF ARMED CONVICTS

Kentucky Seige Wages Despite Gun And Rifle Fire

EDDYVILLE, KY., Oct. 6.—The bullet torn two story masonry hall on the grounds of the western Kentucky penitentiary was the center today of the ring of death. The fourth day of the seige arrived with the armed force of the state unable to take the improvised fortress of "Mounty" Walters, Lawrence Griffith and Harry Puland, which they have held since early Wednesday.

The barricade has withstood the heavy fire of machine guns and rifles that have torn gaping holes in the walls of the building. Three of the four guards shot down in the break for liberty are dead.

Three members of the state board of charities and corrections are on the ground. More than a hundred Kentucky national guardsmen are on duty in the shadow of the prison walls. A military censorship of all patches was established last night but later abandoned upon the protest of newspaper correspondents.

Prison authorities, three members of the State board of charities and corrections and National Guard officers met for a council of war at which a more comprehensive campaign for dislodging the three convict murderers from the bullet scarred mess hall of the Western Kentucky State penitentiary, a mile from here, was to be planned.

It was indicated that use of dynamite against the barricaded desperadoes was likely.

GREENSBORO, Oct. 6.—The convention of the North Carolina Daughters of the Confederacy, swept into full tide, elected officers and gave an ovation to Major Charles M. Stedman, one of the men whose memory and deeds they are pledged to honor, receiving their president-general and transacting a varied mass of business.

They found time to remember departed members at a touching memorial service, backed the stand of the Durham chapter in refusing to celebrate the surrender of General Joseph E. Johnston, raised funds for a monument at Gettysburg, contributed $200 to the Jefferson Davis monument fund, pledged other contributions and made provision for three more rooms at the old soldiers' home at Raleigh.

LLOYD-GEORGE VISITS AMERICA

Mr. David Lloyd-George, former premier of Great Britain—the man who steered England's ship of state through troubled waters arrived in New York yesterday to tour this country and Canada. His first impression of America—the country he had so long cherished the desire to visit, must have been suggestive of the turbulent days of his administration. A parade of middle aged women carrying banners with offensive inscriptions formed a disturbing feature of the reception program.

The parade was promptly dispersed by police and the incident was treated lightly by the distinguished little Welsh statesman. He is accustomed to such demonstrations and evidently interpreted it as merely one of those things instigated by those in America who were not in sympathy with his policy toward the Irish problem.

There is more than passing interest in the visit of Lloyd-George. He does not come to instruct us, as he says, but to learn from us. There is a strong suspicion that America may learn from Lloyd-George, even though he may not presume to teach.

Within recent generations men of many sorts have ruled in England. With few exceptions, however, they have been of pure English stock, the most notable variation from the rule being Disraeli, whose consummate ability and high character won for the Jewish people everywhere a new respect among the Gentile population. Lloyd-George is not an Englishman. The brilliant Welshman is a true Briton, of the stock that fought Julius Caesar when that conqueror landed with his legions through the Channel surf and proclaimed his intention to subdue the British Isles. Since that time though many changes have taken place in Britain but the old British stock remains true to form, as different from the Anglo-Saxon type of Englishmen as an apple is distinct from an orange.

Although of late years Lloyd-George has deserted many of his former principles, he will be best remembered by many Americans for his sturdy championship of the popular cause in England in the earlier days of his power. He began many reforms that are still in process of evolution in the last great stronghold of Tory government. When the land laws and other popular measures have come to complete fruition in England the common people of that land will have good reason to look back with gratitude to the Welshman of humble origin who broke the back of aristocratic power and made possible the beginnings of a real landholding democracy in Britain.

True to his racial character, Lloyd-George is many-sided, emotional, brilliant and more or less unstable, but a fighter who battles fer-ously for what he conceives to be right. Altogether, he should be as great a source of interest to America as America will be to him.

NEED OF NIGHT SCHOOL

With the expansion of urban and rural education the night school is rapidly becoming an integral part of the instruction system. The need for such a course of primary teaching is obvious in Pitt county. This declaration is confirmed by the number of young men and women over the age of 18 who cannot read or write. In this advanced period of progress such a statement sound incredible, but it is a sad truth.

For one reason and another these young folks either through their own fault or because of conditions have not had their chance. They are not beyond the age of being entitled to it. For the most part they are workers who now realize the handicap caused by the lack of elementary learning.

While it might be quite beyond the power of the school officials to undertake even on a limited scale at present the introduction of night instruction, still the the opportunity is open for some generous person or group of individuals to consider the suggestion of teaching on their own initiative. That would be local and far reaching welfare and uplift work—the kind that lives.

The night school attendance once started would undoubtedly grow in numbers and importance. It would give a picture of young people putting forth their best energies to win back what they had lost. Many young men and women in Pitt county dream of fame and fortune—most all young folks have such dreams—but the realization of anything that requires the elementary branches of education is denied them!

Once groups of this sort are given the chance they are likely to reach the goal they seek to attain. It is hoped that one or more thoughtful men and women will be found who will help these industrious and ambitious young persons to realize some of the better things in life.

The closing of over 1,000 saloons in Philadelphia is accepted as a public benefit without asking any questions as to how they opened in the first place.

If the old Sultan of Turkey is trying to arrange a prodigal son program for himself he will probably be disappointed.

"Don't pick your brightest man for office," said Senator Magnus Johnson, "pick the man who can be elected." Spoke like a regular politician.

According to some predictions, if affairs go on at their present rate there will not be enough room in Germany left to hide Bergdoll.

Announcement by the National Safety Congress that automobiles are killing 38 persons daily calls for serious attention. At this rate it will take only comparatively few years for motor catastrophes to equal the destructive period of an earthquake. While watching the eismograph do not forget the speedometer.

FIDELIS OF IMMANUEL BAPTIST CHURCH HOLD MEETING; ELECT OFFICERS

The Fidelis Class of Immanuel Baptist Church held its annual monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. E. P. Spence on Third St., Friday evening at 8:00 o'clock.

Everyone was greeted at the door by Mrs. Spence and given a beautiful white chrysanthemum, then ushered into the living room, where Mrs. Plemons served punch from a bowl embedded in mass of lovely Dahlias. The living room, parlor and dining room were opened into one and decorated with a profusion of Dahlias, ferns and roses.

Since this meeting was out of the ordinary and the class is going thru the ordeal of reorganizing, many visitors of the Sunday School were there and several new members of the class were present. After the acquaintance process was over and everyone felt like old friends, the class was called to order by Mrs. Plemons, "The Teacher." Officers for the coming year were elected:

Mrs. C. L. Roebuck, Pres.; Mrs. F. A. Edmonson, Vice-Pres.; Mrs. Mattox, Second Vice-Pres.; Mrs. Frances Jones, Third Vice-Pres.; Mrs. Edd Tucker, Sec'y.; Mrs. Archie Billro, Treas.; and Mrs. W. E. Smith, Reporter.

After officers were elected and all other business attended to, one and all were ushered to the hot house where a most interesting flower game was played. All were led through by Mrs. Spence and told to take notice of all flowers and plants, and after everyone had been through, they returned to the house, where pencil and paper were given out. Then in fifteen minutes the one who could remember the most names of flowers and plants was given a prize. Miss Sharps, of the Teachers College, was the lucky one and was presented a beautiful pot plant. Mrs. Lassiter, naming the smallest number, also got a small pot plant.

Artists of Europe Flock to New York to Gather in Gold

NEW YORK.—The curtain of the winter season of 1923 draws apart and reveals New York as the stage of the world's most interesting dramatic achievements.

The program shows that America, once a despised provincial domain from which "ugh brows" of New York's Madison Avenue, Boston's Back Bay and Philadelphia's Ritz house Square fled for the cultural delicacies of London and Paris, has become a cosmopolitan American city into which the artists of the old world hasten to pour their wares.

"I have taken Cardui for run-down, worn-out condition, nervousness and sleeplessness, and I was weak, too," says Mrs. Silvie Estes, of Jennings, Okla. "Cardui did me just lots of good—so much that I gave it to my daughter. She took three bottles of

"We have lived here, near Jennings, for 26 years, and now we have our own home in town. I have had to work pretty hard, as this country wasn't built up, and it made it hard for us.

SHALL WE GO FORWARD?

By Henry T. King. At the cost of considerable time and labor and expense, I have gathered material and compiled a Hand Book on Pitt county, treating first the county as a whole and then each township separately, attempting to exploit the county's great possibilities agriculturally, industrially, educationally, financially and otherwise. Treated are the different soils relative to the crops which may be produced, giving the types of soils and their adaptability to different crops, as well as other features along these lines.

The climate, temperatures and rainfall and health conditions are a most important feature. Location, topography and waterways are given. Possibilities of greater development, resources and advantages offered are prominently set forth. Farming, industrial future, our people, financial conditions, educational progress, achievements of the past, and present opportunities, are set out with the view of letting it be known that Pitt county, with its good towns, fruitful lands and progressive people, is on the map, and that he who runs may read these truths. Though proud of the past, discontent with the present is the spirit of progress and the only incentive to a greater and better future, for which all are striving.

Such is the spirit of this Hand Book on Pitt county, which will be profusely illustrated with views of our principal crops, public buildings, school houses, good road scenes and many others. As the volume is intended for free distribution to advertise the county, help must come from the progressive public spirited citizens who have more than a dollar-in-the-hand vision and interest in both the present and the future. Five thousand copies will be issued and to meet the cost of publication, I am offering to progressive business men advertising in this superior medium, at the lowest possible cost. I would feel justified in asking any progressive citizen, who has more than a mere passing interest in upbuilding of his community, for a free contribution to aid in this publication. But desiring to give more than the great benefits of this medium to the county, I am offering advertising space instead of asking aid. This Hand Book will be a daily read reference work in thousands of homes for years to come.

ACCEPTS 21-YEAR SENTENCE TO SAVE HIS 2 BROTHERS

WINCHESTER, KY., Oct. 6.—John Schumaker, 30-year-old farmer of this county, was taken to the state penitentiary today to serve 21 years for the murder of his father, John Schumaker, sr. He accepted his sentence to save his twin brothers, Herbert and Hobert, aged 20, from having to undergo the strain of a trial.

Schumaker made a plea of guilty as a dramatic finale of what had promised to be a long court fight. Through an agreement with the trial court, Schumaker shouldered the entire blame for the killing, thereby exonerating the twins, who had been under indictment as accomplices.

"I killed my father," he said, "but I had to do it, and my brothers are innocent. I would rather die than see them suffer." The brothers were greatly affected by his acceptance of long punishment to save them, as evidence implicated them.

Tariff Changes Will Not Help Farmers, Coolidge Believes

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Instructions have been given the Federal Tariff Commission by President Coolidge to consider the possibility of increasing the present duty on wheat above 30 cents as a means of relief for the western wheat growers. The chief executive, however, does not believe that any material benefit could thus be rendered to the farmers.

A suggestion that the tariff on wheat be increased from 30 to 45 cents as a means of relief for the provisions of the Fordney-McCumber act recently was laid before the President by Representative Anderson, Republican, Minnesota, who was chairman of the congressional commission on agricultural inquiry. The proposal also has been advanced and opposed by others who recently have conferred with the President on the agricultural situation.

FRANCE FACES PROBLEM

PARIS.—French freighters of a certain type have earned such a bad reputation among seafaring men, that today sailors are refusing to go to sea on them, while naval draughtsmen declare they should be taken out of service altogether.

Twelve such vessels were built by the government during the war. Their holds are clear, with no bulkheads, which permits the sudden shifting of cargo, and their water ballast tanks have a trick of filling unexpectedly. Five of them already have turned over. The last was the Emile Durant, which rolled over without warning and drowned 19 members of the crew.

TRUSTEE LAND SALE.
