

It is very easy and true to say that Greenville and Pitt county needs more industries and more people; that we have a remarkable climate; we are advantageously located geographically; we have the soil that will produce virtually every crop; in brief, we are a great storehouse of natural resources. But what good and benefit is to come from the multiplicity of blessings, if they remain undeveloped, dormant.

This declaration and similar ones are likely to go unchallenged, but when a plan of action to bring about a greater development is proposed, difference of opinion will arise and these differences cause a negligent result of the effort. Pitt county and Greenville need a better spirit of unselfishness and more determined disposition to organize and work for community development.

Pitt county is a great county, Greenville is a splendid town in which to live, but neither are mature, neither are dead. Both county and town are growing, but many things are needed to keep them alive. Many of these things affect the individual citizen; his state of mind; his knowledge of county and town limitations and possibilities and his willingness to give time and substance toward advancement.

NEGRO CONFESSES HE KILLED WHITE NURSE, POLICE SAY

Woman Met Him To Have Fortune Told; Skull Crushed

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 8.—Alonzo Savage, negro, hoodoo doctor, killed Miss Elsie Barthel, when she refused to give him $395, for curing her love ills, according to his confession made to police. The confession was made after Savage was taken to the scene of the crime last midnight. The negro reenacted in detail his movements when he met the nurse beneath the portico of the old East End mansion. Savage confessed he struck the nurse in the face when she grabbed the money out of his hand, felled her with a brick and then dropped a 70 pound slab on her head.

As Miss Barthel, struggled to free feet from the blow of the brick, she cried out "I will give you the money." Savage is quoted as having told the authorities. Details of the confession recite how Miss Barthel met Savage while they were employed by an east end physician. The woman as a nurse and the negro as a butler. It was then she learned of Savage's ability as "fortune teller," and approached him when she had difficulty with her sweetheart. He gave her cards held together by a black string, he called a "charm." He told her detectives say, to return the cards and pay him $395 on Saturday. They met late that night and she handed Savage the cards and the money. He told her that the "charm" had worked. The nurse then grabbed the money and the killing followed.

Savage picked up the money, but in his haste dropped the cards. It was these cards that led to his arrests. Search of his room by police disclosed a deck of cards with six missing, these corresponded to those found at the scene of the murder.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 8.—Lorenzo Savage, negro butler, was turned over to the coroner today charged with the murder of Miss Elsie Barthel, white nurse, whose body was found yesterday. Her skull had been crushed with a 70 pound stone. Savage, according to detectives confessed early today that he had killed the woman. Miss Barthel's mother informed the authorities that her daughter had made engagement to meet Savage to have her fortune told. The slain woman was last seen early Saturday evening.

Struck With Stone.
The body was found beside one of the pillars of a covered carriage entrance at one side of the house. Beside the body was a stone about 70 pounds square and weighing 70 pounds, upon which blood was found.

The young woman had been struck twice. The first time, the police believe, the stone was hurled at her, and the second time it was dropped upon her head after she had fallen. A fresh scar on one of the pillars led police to believe that it was thrown with such force the first time that it struck the pillar after hitting Miss Barthel.

Body Discovered.
The house, an old structure, known as the Old Hussy mansion, had been used as an automobile wrecking establishment and the body was discovered when an automobile owner entered the place to look at a machine he had left there.

WILL DEVOTE HER LIFE TO CARE OF MAN SHE BLINDED

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Miss Marie Toth, 28, a nurse of the Bronx, will devote her life to caring for the man whom her anger made blind. She loved him and he fitted her, she says. Then she threw in his face the acid with which she had intended to take her own life, in his face.

Since that night, August 10, when he was taken blinded and burned to the City Hospital, she had not seen him.

Today Miss Toth was arraigned in $5,000 for the grand jury. As the sightless man, John Harvey, 33, was led into the court room Miss Toth fainted and on regaining consciousness she became hysterical.

She told the court she would take whatever punishment the law provided; she would pay her savings of $2,000 to help Harvey regain his sight and she would devote the remainder of her life to seeing that he was properly cared for.

The older man armed to fight any resistance stationed themselves about the jail, while the youth with a leveled gun demanded the keys from the jailer.

"Get you clothes on, Ed, we have come for you," the youth called to Lockhart. "I'm ready and waiting," was the response. Lockhart jumped into a waiting automobile. It is said the boy was recognized as living near the Pete Baker farm, where Lockhart was captured last Thursday.

DEFIANT MESSAGES LEFT BY CONVICTS

Battling Prisoners Are Found Dead When the Fortress Was Stormed

EDDYVILLE, KY., Oct. 8.—Prison life was virtually restored today in the Kentucky western penitentiary with the burial of "Mont" Walters and Henry Ferland, both colored, Griffith convicts who barricaded themselves in the mess hall of the prison after fatally wounding three and shooting to death three guards.

Two pine boxes containing the bodies of Walters and Ferland were taken to Vin gar Hill and buried without religious services. The body of Griffith was shipped to relatives at Dresden, Tenn.

In commenting on the fact that prisoners and members of the national guard had resorted to extreme movements to route the prisoners for three and a half days only to find them dead, officials said today, that the cloaks worn by dining room attendants, hanging near the windows and fanned by the wind took on the appearance of human forms swaying back and forth indicating the convicts were alive. Before the convicts died hastily scribbled death messages were left by Griffith and Walters. The one from Griffith read: "Defiance from the dead." The other from Walters to his wife said: "Love to you, to the limit."

TALKS AS STOMACH IS REMOVED AND IS THEN REPLACED

BUFFALO, Oct. 8.—Hans Finsterer of Vienna, at the Buffalo City Hospital today, removed and replaced a man's stomach, chatting with the patient while the operation was performed. Dr. Finsterer is here conducting a clinic in connection with the dedication to the city hospital. The operation required about two hours.

After the ordeal physicians attending the clinic said the patient had suffered none of the aftermaths from anesthetics. The man, according to physicians, was conscious all the time the operation was underway.

Dr. Finsterer's methods is to deaden the nerves in the vicinity of the organ in question. He first prepared the abdominal wall for cutting with novocaine, then treated the solar plexus, the nerve center of the abdomen with a needle to deaden the nerves leading to the affected parts.

When the laughter subsided the court asked who discovered America and Biazio replied, "George Washington," forgetful of his wondrous compatriot. Biazio was sent back to study.

Saloons to Resist Pinchot's Mandate To Close Places

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8.—With every saloon doing business as usual today and meetings of the Philadelphia Retail Saloonkeepers Association and the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment being arranged for, this city settled down to watchful waiting in the situation created by the drastic closing order served by state Police and Department of Justice agents at the behest of Governor Pinchot.

Resistance was expressed at the saloonkeepers' headquarters at the Governor's openly classifying all the 1,300 establishments here as "these violators of the law" and legal entrenchments are being rapidly dug by counsel for the saloonkeepers.

Fire Prevention Week Being Observed In Many State Points

RALEIGH, Oct. 8.—North Carolina today entered into a six-day fire prevention campaign, the week having been officially proclaimed by Governor Cameron Morrison as Fire Prevention, West. According to information received here, practically all of the principal cities, towns and communities of the State have prepared to enter the campaign wholeheartedly with civic organizations and the public schools conducting and participating in definite fire prevention programs.

In many places special speakers will appear in the school and before the Rotary, Kiwanis, Civitan and Lions clubs, to instruct children and grown-ups as to fire prevention methods.

The mayors of some towns and cities have followed up the proclamation of the Governor with local requests for observing of Fire Prevention Week.

The State Insurance Department has sent out thousands of pamphlets and leaflets telling how the State and national fire losses can be decreased.

ARMED MEN HOLD UP GOTHAM HOTEL

Charlie Chaplin Gives Warning New York Jewel Robbery

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Three armed men held up the night manager, porter, bellboy and robbed the jewelry store in the lobby of a hotel here $5,000, in diamonds and other precious stones.

Charlie Chaplin, famous screen comedian, who entered the hotel at 2:45, about 15 minutes after the robbery occurred was the first outsider to learn of it. Five hours after the robbery and hotel employees had failed to trace the bandits it was reported to police.

According to other attaches the men entered through the main entrance. They were well dressed and of evident refinement. They asked for the manager. When he appeared he was ordered to hold up his hands. The bell boy, porter and other employees on duty were herded into the elevator under guard of two men, while the third rifled the display show case of the jewelry establishment.

Chewed Tobacco In Football Game, Dies

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 8.—Chewing tobacco while playing football cost the life of Chester Mares, 23, a Cleveland semi-pro player, who died of strangulation while being taken to a hospital at Painesville.

Mares, playing fullback at Willoughby, east of here, had just thrown a forward pass when he was thrown from his feet. In falling, a wad of tobacco became lodged in his throat. Efforts of physicians at the field to prevent death failed.

FORGIVES PASTOR FOR UNWISE KISS GIVEN MRS. HAGUE

BOSTON, Oct. 8.—Rev. George L. Payne, who received a hearing early in July at the hands of Lieutenant Wesley McLean Hague, United States Navy, on account of a kiss which the minister, who had married the pair, gave the Lieutenant's wife will continue as executive secretary of the Grand Boston Federation of churches. The board of directors of the federation refused today by a vote of 27 to 4 to accept his proffered resignation.

He heard, in a statement setting forth the reasons for his action, referred to the incident as "essentially an offense against high manners and the highest type of behavior" only in view of the fact that Lieutenant Hague had a signed statement had said that "neither he nor his wife believed at any time that there was any evil intent in Mr. Payne's action."

Cotton Moved Over Big Price Range In Week

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—The most spectacular event in the financial markets last week was the sharp rally which occurred on the New York Stock Exchange Wednesday. Apparently without any particular supporting factors in the news, the market steadily became quite active and firm. Gains of one to four points were accomplished on a turnover well above the million share mark. In most quarters it was readily admitted that the motive power for the rally was supplied by urgent repurchasing by traders who had sold the market short.

Cotton moved over a rather wide range, but its price was on the whole well maintained. Publication of the government ginning and crop reports Tuesday was the occasion of a wild movement. The ginning report which was published an hour before the crop estimate, however, proved a disappointment and a big break took place as the cotton bought earlier was resold. Subsequent rallies and reactions left the December future practically unchanged for the week.

LOVE OF GOD IS GREATEST LOVE, SHE DECLARES

Mrs. Kate R. Beckwith conducted the Sunday evening service of the Y. W. C. A. at East Carolina Teachers College.

Paul's fourth letter to the Ephesians was her theme. Mrs. Beckwith referred to the poem which declared there is a destiny that shapes our lives—rough how then as we will. But, she said, the poem failed to say that ours is the choice of that same destiny which so shapes our ends. "We are either destined to be a help or a hindrance to the world. It is up to each one of us to make his decision," she said.

One of our decisions is to plan how we can serve Christ, and the way we serve him is determined by our love for him.

She gave a brief discussion of the significance of love, and mentioned some of the different species of love. There is maternal love, she said, paternal love, the love of child for parents, fraternal love and friendship, which is a synonym for love. But in many of these emotions there is a human element.

The love of God, however, is more than other kinds of love, because God is a personification of love. The very essence of His love is self-sacrifice. The love of God is an all-pervading, universal emotion. Every nation that has lived or expects to live has just that kind of love in it. Another word for love is, Altruism—altruism carried to its highest, and altruism that takes the whole world in, she emphasized.

In conclusion, Mrs. Beckwith expressed the hope that "we would get an idea of God's guiding power in our lives, and would let him do with us as He will."

SHE SLAYS GREEK PRIEST TO AVENGE WRONG TO HUSBAND

Woman Kills As She Knelt at Altar Ostensibly Confessor

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—While she knelt before him, ostensibly to make a confession at early mass at St. Michael's Greek church yesterday, Mrs. Emily Strutymski, of Remy, Pa., shot and killed the Rev. Basil Steisuk, Greek Catholic priest.

The woman explained that she had killed the priest because he had accused her husband, also a Greek Catholic priest at Remy, of misapplication of church funds, while he was connected with a Chicago church.

She declared the alleged charges were false and said she came to Chicago from Remy nine days ago for the express purpose of slaying the priest to avenge what she believed the wrong to her husband. She went to church last Sunday, she said, but the opportunity to kill the priest did not present itself, and she decided to wait until today.

About 300 worshippers sat in the pews of the church as Mrs. Strutymski, heavily veiled, walked down the middle aisle to the altar, and then to the confession box at the right. There, cut of sight of the congregation, she knelt as though to offer confession, but instead drew a pistol from the folds of her dress and fired five shots at the priest standing before her.

As the bullets passed through his head. Exclaiming, "Oh, God help me," the Reverend Steisuk staggered to the middle aisle and the steps of the church, where he collapsed. He died in an ambulance on the way to a hospital.

Members of the congregation were thrown into a panic, but two women seized Mrs. Strutymski as she emerged from behind the altar, the pistol still held in her hand.

Shipping Board Is Paying Concern, Said

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The net worth of the United States Shipping Board as a going concern, was $292,405,200.17 on July 1, 1923, Chairman Farley announced today, in making public what he declared was the first complete balance sheet of the organization. The statement shows that all the board's accounts have been put on a business basis, the excessive war costs of tonnage having been eliminated and doubtful claims written off.

ZEV, CHOSEN AMERICAN RACER

Current news dispatches say that Zev, the Sinclair colt, is the selection of the Jockey Club committee to carry the American colors in the international race Oct. 20. His selection has been confidently predicted in spite of protests that there should be a fair trial to decide between Zev and My Own, Admiral Crayson's unbeaten 3-year-old before the Jockey Club choice was announced.

The official announcement of the selection of Zev contains the following: "The definite choice of Zev sets at rest any speculation as to the chances of My Own outranking him for the honor, and puts an end to the controversy which has been raging for the last two weeks."

Apparently the Jockey Club believes in the old adage, "the king can do no wrong," and expects the American public to hold the same belief, no matter what the facts are in the case. It may discover that an end has not been put to the controversy over the respective merits of Zev and My Own.

The trouble about the entire matter is that there has been no trial between Zev and My Own. This is largely due to the manner in which the Jockey Club itself has handled the affair of selecting America's horse to meet Papyrus. When the plans for the international race were first announced the Jockey Club decided upon the American Trial Sweepstakes to be run at Belmont park. The winner should be first choice to meet the English horse, and those finishing second and third the substitutes for him. But Zev did not take part in that event, which was won by My Own.

The Jockey Club instead of sticking to its first announcement that the winner of the Sweepstakes would be the selection to race Papyrus, decided that the results of the Realization should also be considered, after Zev's trainer declared Zev would take part in that event. Zev won the Realization, and Untidy ran second to him, as Untidy did to My Own in the trial Sweepstakes. The Jockey Club could have averted the present controversy by merely sticking to its original plan to let the trial Sweepstakes decide.

It is quite obvious that the Jockey Club favors the Sinclair horse. A victory of Papyrus over Zev would not tend to abate the criticism of the Jockey Club. Furthermore, the American sporting public probably would make a demand that a race be arranged between Papyrus and My Own.

MAGNUS VISITS CAPITAL

Magnus Johnson, "has come out of the west," visited the Capitol and the White House, but so far neither has rocked on its foundations. True, the new senator from Minnesota has not yet had an opportunity to get into action there. That is to come later. No American outside of the White House has been as widely advertised in the last six months as Senator Magnus Johnson. He is the epitome of the unrest in the agricultural sections of the middle west and west. There is enough of the picturesque and unusual about him including a voice that literally makes ear muffers a necessity—to tickle the imagination of the American people. In appearance he is a kind of sawed-off replica of the late Theodore Roosevelt. Evidently a forceful personality, whether you like it or not.

The advent of Magnus Johnson to the Senate of the United States, however, is merely another case of history repeating itself. Thirty years ago, when the agricultural unrest was as great, and even greater, than today, Johnson's prototypes were elected to the Senate. But the Senate of the United States has shown itself well able to cope with so-called may be even called a melting pot—that over-radicals. It is not easily stamped; in fact, it worked simile—in which radicalism has been tempered with conservatism. It is possible that such may be the fate of Magnus Johnson and his radicalism of today, provided, of course, he remains with the Senate long.

The radical of yesterday is the conservative of today and the radical of today is the conservative of tomorrow. Particularly has this been true of the Senate. At the same time here is no doubt but that the conservative of today might well have been considered radical in days gone by, and to such an extent have he constantly recurring elections of "radicals" had their effect.

A TEST OF POWER

Whether the law of Congress and the sovereign authority of the state of Pennsylvania are subservient to an organized band of violators of the Volstead act and state statutes is to be tried out in Philadelphia in a few days. There are 1,300 saloons in the City of Brotherly Love which have been openly and shamelessly violating the liquor laws.

A few days ago agents of the Department of Justice and state troopers, the latter acting under direction of Governor Pinchot, started on a tour of the city, to visit each saloon-keeper and notify him to close his place and dismantle the fixtures, under penalty of application of the padlock law, which shuts up for the period of one year the premises where continued violations occur.

The Philadelphia Retail Liquor Dealers' association, which has continued in existence despite prohibition's reign, advised the saloon-keepers to keep open, determined to resist the law. State authorities declare they will wait a few days and then make a survey to find whether the injunction to close has been obeyed, and in cases where it has not will proceed to apply the penalty.

It is well to have the test come, to determine whether the governments of the United States and of the state of Pennsylvania can be defied with success.

Having opened the mines Governor Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, is now trying to close the saloons of his state. The ultimately consumer will at least be protected from the insidious attentions of John Barleycorn, if not against high coal prices.

Feminine influence in matters of public concern has not operated to discourage pugilism. On the contrary, it has brought up a new point of etiquette as to whether a true gentleman is under obligations to give his seat to a lady at a prize fight.

A communist manifesto recently issued says that the American Communist Party will constitute a secret organization, which explains in part Uncle Sam's reluctance to free a number of individuals of reddish tendencies.

If he has been a newspaper reader President Coolidge has in advance a fairly good idea of what Governor Smith of New York, intends to say about the Volstead law, when he attends the conference of states' governors called by the chief executive.

Somehow that bobbed hair fad doesn't seem to know it's dead.

WORLD DEMAND FOR AMERICAN MILK

Now distributed to 85 countries and colonies of the world. It has become permanently popular in the Orient. Our milk exports since 1914 over $400,000,000.

The American cow retains her popularity in the Orient despite the neglectful attitude of the Occident. Exports of milk to the Orient in the 7 months ending with August show a marked increase while those to other parts of the world show a decline of nearly one-third, measured in quantities. In the single month of July the milk exports to the Orient increased 60% compared with July of last year, while those to Europe showed a fall off of 35%.

It is interesting to note that the number in the United States and five times as many as in Argentina, yet our exports of condensed and evaporated milk to India alone in the last five years aggregated over 60,000,000 pounds. The wonderful development in recent years in the exportation of milk from the United States, in form available for instant and satisfactory use in any part of the world is illustrated by the fact that the total value of exports of milk, condensed or sweetened, evaporated, unsweetened, or reduced to "milk powder" totaled but about $17,000,000 in the decade preceding the war and has exceeded $400,000,000 in the decade since the beginning of the war. The whole world made the acquaintance of American condensed milk during the war period and liked it, and today our exports in the various forms above noted go to 85 different countries, colonies and islands of the world, and continue especially popular in that section of the world which must always import its milk, the Orient.

You need Balance for Snappy Pick-up

Quick starting—full power, long mileage

YOU'RE in a lot of slow traffic, and want to get out—a big truck is holding you back on a long, hard hill, and you want to get by quickly, easily, safely. These and a dozen other occasions when you're in a pinch bring out the snap and vim that "Standard", the balanced gasoline, is noted for.

This matter of balance isn't a simple one—not by a long shot. Every drop of every kind of gasoline is a mixture, but "Standard" has just the correct ratio of intermediate hydrocarbon elements to furnish these snappy pick-ups. It also has just as carefully determined fractions for insuring quick, positive starting, full power and long efficient mileage.

The great host of motorists who use "Standard" exclusively are reaping the benefit, in this balanced gasoline, of over fifty years' refining experience. It will pay you to join the crowd and stop at a red "S.O." pump every time you fill 'er up.

FIGHT CROP PESTS WITH IMPORTED INSECTS TO CHECK GROWING PERIL

RALEIGH, Oct. 8.—Insect parasites which prey upon other insects destructive to crops and forests and thus hold their ravages in check in our country are constantly being employed by entomologists to fight imported pests of another country, according to Dr. R. W. Leiby, of the North Carolina academy of science. Many of these insects, said Dr. Leiby today, have found their way to the United States on imported nursery and ornamental stocks, and their natural enemies having been left behind, some of them have become serious pests.

"Striking examples of such instances," explained Dr. Leiby "are the Gypsy and Brown Tort moths in the New England states, the Japanese beetle imported into New Jersey from Japan on azalea roots, and the European corn borer imported on straw from Austria into Massachusetts and now scattered west to Ohio and Canada. These pests have cost public parks, farmers and truck growers enormous sums of money and millions of dollars are spent annually by the federal and state departments of agriculture in efforts to limit their spread and control their injuries.

"None of these pests have secured a foothold in this state although shipments of nursery stock have been detected by entomologists of the North Carolina department of agriculture which contained these pests. In such instances the shipment is promptly destroyed.

Hope Hampton shines with transcendent splendor in the variety of beautiful gowns valued at $25,000 which she wears in Allan Dwan's latest Paramount production, "Lawful Larceny," which will be shown at the White's theatre tonight. She wears ten different creations, ranging from exquisite negligees to bizarre evening gowns.

In the character Marion Coffey which Miss Hampton portrays in the picture, steps out of the role of mother and faithful housewife for the temporary part of the scheming vampire in which her wits are matched with those of Vivian Hepburn, the other woman in the story portrayed by Miss Nita Naldi. He Gave You

The finest grain foods children ever get—airy, flaky Puffed Grains

Professor A. P. Anderson invented Quaker Puffed Wheat and Quaker Puffed Rice. Thus he brought to millions of children the finest cereal dainties in existence.

The grains are steam exploded—shot from guns. Over 125 million explosions are caused in every kernel. Thus the food cells are broken for easy digestion. The grain elements are fitted to feed.

The grains are puffed to airy globules, 8 times normal size. They are flaky, savory, crisp. No other cereal dainty compares with their delights.

Quaker Puffed Rice

Growing children must have minerals, vitamins and bran

The purpose is to make whole grains delicious and digestible.

Whole wheat supplies 12 minerals which growing children must have. It supplies their need of bran. And milk is rich in vitamins.

Every mother wants her children to get these elements in plenty, and every day. Then make whole wheat and milk a dish so tempting that they revel in it. Serve Quaker Puffed Wheat and milk. Never let a day go by without it.

Millions of people are better fed since Puffed Grains were invented. Millions get more joy from breakfast. See that those in your home get their share.

"She Wears Her Clothes With an Air"

Which is almost one and the same thing as saying, "She wears her clothes with a Modart Corset."

She is not a slave to fashion—rather is she fashion's mistress.

She doesn't have to select the most expensive materials to cover up irregularities of her figure. She need not resort to artifice.

She wears her clothes with distinction. She wears a Modart.

—And you may be SHE!

TRAFFIC IMPROVES ON RUHR RAILROADS IN FRENCH HANDS

COLOGNE.—Constant improvement, in efficiency and economic results, in the operation of the German railway system in the occupied areas is pointed out in statistics tabulated by French officials. Every month, according to these statistics, shows an unanticipated increase in the number of passengers carried and merchandise transported, as well as additional trackage brought under the control of the occupation authorities.

In order, however, to obtain an accurate prospective of what this railway system one of the most complicated in the world, was like before the occupation as compared with its present status—undoubtedly greatly improved within the past few months—it is necessary to compare it as it is today not only with what it was a few months ago but also with what it was before it was taken over by French and Belgian administrators.

From trustworthy figures the following comparisons are made:

Trackage: In March of this year the occupation authorities were using 865 miles of track, and in July—the latest month on which figures are available—they were using 2,130 miles. The whole system in the Rhineland and Ruhr occupied areas, as operated by the Germans before the occupation, consisted of 7,150 miles of track. Since very few miles are still being operated under German management, therefore, some 5,000 miles of track are still rusting.

Street Car Owners Told They Should Advertise

ATLANTIC CITY.—Whether you have rings, radishes, rides or anything else to sell, newspaper advertising will help you. Your goods and should be used liberally, so the Merchandising Transportation Committee told members of the American Electric Railway association today in convention here.

In three years the association has increased the number of companies which advertise ten fold, but too many still are not advertising, the report declared. Likewise, other public utilities are under advertised.

Merchandising transportation through the printed word is growing very rapidly in the electric railway industry. The number of companies now using advertising in one form or another, particularly newspaper advertising, numbers approximately 300. Three years ago one-tenth of this number were using advertising.

Spain Prepares to Send Men to Paris Olympiad

MADRID.—Spaniards interested in the athletic standing of their country are turning their eyes toward Paris and the Olympiad of 1924, and considering what should be done to secure the best possible representation. A member of the Spanish Olympic games committee said recently he thought Spain's chances were good in some of the principal branches of sport, for to others he had little hope.

The sports in which Spain believes she has chances of success are lawn tennis, horse riding, polo, football, golf, hockey, yachting, fencing and rowing. Those in which she admits she is poor are boxing, wrestling, swimming, cycling, running and other field sports, winter sports and Rugby football.

AUGE YANKEE PARK STAGE SETTINGS FOR NEXT WORLD SERIES

NEW YORK.—Part of the world's series this year will be played in baseball's greatest playground, Yankee Stadium, the first wonder of the baseball world, built on the Bronx side of the Harlem River by the New York American League club at an estimated cost of more than $2,500,000.

About ten acres of ground, purchased from the estate of William Waldorf Astor by Colonels T. L. Huston and Jacob Ruppert, then joint owners of the Yankees, were utilized in providing the great stadium. It said that the ground cost $600,000. Some of the land was filled in, the filling in process at various places serving to keep out the waters of the Harlem, which in years gone by ebbed and flowed over it.

The leveling of the field was completed in 1921 and the construction of the triple deck stand started in the Long Island for the top-cover of the diamond and dirt suitable for the under-layers transported from distant points.

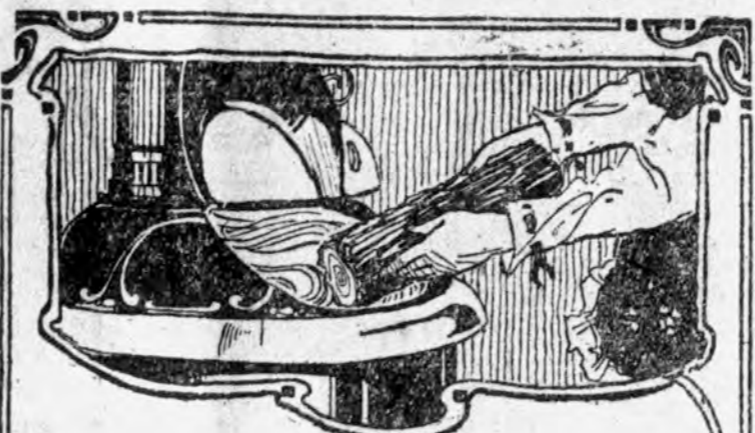

The triple-deck stand, a novelty in baseball, includes a mezzanine floor, wide seats, with ample aisle room assure fans a good view of the playing field from every angle. The extreme length and width of the plot is 700 feet, and the area of the playing field 100,000 square feet.

In the construction of the stands 2,500 tons of structural steel, 1,000 tons of reinforcing steel, 30,000 yards concrete, 2,000,000 board feet of lumber for bleachers and concrete forms, 600,000 lineal feet of lumber for stand chairs, and four miles of iron piping were used.

Mrs. Atkins Tells of Astonishing Change

"I owe it all to Tanlac," was the emphatic statement made by Mrs. R. D. Atkins, highly esteemed resident of 415 South Person St., Raleigh, N. C., in telling recently of the gratifying improvement in her health. "For six months, I was in a run-down, nervous condition and nothing seemed to help me. My appetite was poor and what I did eat oftentimes caused me great suffering and indigestion, gas and bloating. I was sleeping restlessly, was bothered with constipation, sick headaches and dizzy spells and felt so miserable at times I just had to give up and lie down. "Not long after starting on Tanlac I noticed a decided change for the better. I was soon eating heartily and feeling no ill effects, wasn't nearly so nervous and was sleeping better than in months, and now I am so greatly improved in every way that I want to tell everyone about Tanlac." Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Take no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

Coal Town in Central Pennsylvania Bituminous Mining Region Gives Idea of Advantages Enjoyed By Miners

This street scene is typical of a "coal town" in the soft coal region of Central Pennsylvania.

Roomy, comfortable, modern houses, surrounded by yards with plenty of space for a vegetable or flower garden, are rented for sums that must make the city dweller gnash his teeth with envy. As a rule, the coal companies own the houses, deliver coal for cooking and heating at a ridiculously low figure to the miners, wire them for electricity and supply current at low figures.

Miners make a good deal of money. A careful study of their earnings in comparison with 37 other industries was made recently and turned over to the U. S. Coal Commission. In every case the average daily earnings of miners were far and away superior to the average in all the other lines of work studied.

The streets of the "coal towns" usually are lined with automobiles. There are a number on the street shown, which is in a Consolidation Coal Company town at Gray, Pennsylvania. One of the requests always coming to coal company officials is to put up more garages. These the miners rent at figures varying from $1 to $4 a month. The inset picture shows the young son of Jake Jones, stable boss at the mine at Jerome, in the Central Pennsylvania region, administering first aid treatment to his dog, Dane. Young Jones seems to be laboring under the impression that something terrible has happened to his dog, judging from the medical paraphernalia scattered around on the ground, and the serious expression on the young man's face. Dane has perfect confidence that he is in the hands of a good doctor, or else he doesn't take the impending operation very seriously. He hasn't even taken off his miner's cap, with the lamp on the front of it, such as all soft coal miners in this and other districts use when there is no danger from gas. It is an acetylene flame, reflected so as to throw a strong light for a considerable distance.
