

Greenville mothers the other day were discussing child discipline. "I don't see why it is that my children always act worse when we haguests than at any other time. I am sure it isn't because they have been instructed how to behave," one remarked. Now that mother was perfectly sincere in her statement, yet her own phrasing contains the secret of her distress over her children's behavior.

Would a child learn to play the piano by being instructed if he did not practice playing every day? Yet that mother was expecting just as improbable a performance in behavior! She was stressing the old idea of "company manners," and expecting the children to assume culture just as they put on clothes for the dinner party. And because they didn't she was grieved and disappointed.

The reason why children of this type act worse when there are guests than they do ordinarily is because of strain and nervous tension. "Don'ts" are not observed, and the result has been to create an unnatural condition that is confusing and disastrous to poise and courtesy. A mother who includes good manners and polite behavior in the every day life will not have to force courtesy upon her children.

REV. J. A. ELLIS TO PEACH ARMISTICE DAY SERMON HERE

Noted Baptist Pastor Accepts Invitation of Pitt Legion Post

Rev. J. A. Ellis, pastor of Pullen Memorial church, Raleigh, has accepted the invitation of Pitt County Post, American Legion to deliver the Armistice day sermon here Sunday Nov. 11.

This was made known today in a message to the Post committee from Rev. Ellis in which he said: "Shall I be with you on Sunday morning Nov. 11, provided, I can get back for my evening services."

The committee in charge of the memorial services will see that Mr. Ellis is returned to Raleigh in time to meet the church engagement on that evening, it was stated.

The memorial services commemorating the sixth anniversary of the signing of the Armistice which brought the world conflict to end will be observed by the Pitt Post with union church services. Since the anniversary comes on Sunday various plans of observance were submitted at meetings of the Post, it was the opinion of members that no better tribute could be paid the memory of their fallen comrades than united church services.

When the suggestion was presented to local pastors they promptly agreed to join the movement for a big union service which will be held in Jarvis Memorial Baptist church. It is understood that a special musical program will be given by a massed choir representing all the choirs of the city. All of the minor details of the services have not been fully worked out by the committee.

Mr. Ellis was a chaplain in the army and served overseas. It is generally conceded that he is one of the ablest members of the clergy in the south. He is splendid orator and profound thinker. It may be expected with every reason of realization that he will bring a message that will live long in the hearts of those who hear it.

CO-OPS NO RIGHT TO COLLECT WHEN LANDLORD LEASES HIS LAND FOR RENT, COURT SAYS

Holding that the Tobacco Growers' Co-operative association has no redress against a landlord who leases land for money consideration to a tenant in compelling delivery of tobacco grown on such property to the association, Judge Calvert, at Louisburg, yesterday dissolved a injunction suit brought by the association against J. N. Edwards, of Beaufort county.

Albion Dunn, attorney for Edwards, showed the court that Edwards had leased a certain tract of land to a tenant for a cash rent of $500. It was the contention of the association that Edwards was bound by the terms of his contract with the association to deliver all tobacco raised on his holdings by tenants. Judge Calvert dismissing the action held that no claim existed by the association against either Edwards the landlord, or the tenant.

BOY AT 12 HARDEST OF "HUMAN CREATURES" TO KNOW, SHE SAYS

DETROIT, Oct. 16.—Methods of woman teacher might as well be non-teaching health to older school children. He meekly tolerates his mother and his sister as an irritating foreign body. The wise woman will combine with other wise women and see to it that there are available good men in public places.

"In teaching health then to the pre-adolescent male, the teacher, usually a woman, would do well to keep in the background, making her appeal to two outstanding psychological characteristics: 1. The boy is at this age an entirely self-centered egotistic male. 2. He is a member of a gang. "Despite its dangers and abuses, the solution of the problem of teaching health to this boy lies chiefly in group names and athletics with some element of competition. To eliminate the dangers and keep the punch line of the big health education programs."

The doors were hurriedly closed and the police were confronted with a task in dealing with the attacking throng. The mob also stormed the city hall, the message stated, but the police appeared in strong force and seemed to be masters of the situation. The trial was resumed after a three-day recess when Mrs. Stokes returned from Missouri with depositions refuting testimony of two witnesses for Mr. Stokes that she had been in Banston, Mo., in 1904 with Edgar T. Wallace, chief co-respondent. One of the documents alleged been found yesterday in her hotel suite by W. C. FLOOD THREATENS OKLAHOMA CAPITAL PEAK NOT REACHED

Section of Business District Under Water; Big Dam Breaks

OKLAHOMA CITY, OKLA., Oct. 16.—Flood grips Oklahoma City today. Virtually the south side of the city is inundated following the overflow of the South Canadian river. The flood waters are lapping at the threshold of the retail business district, and it is not believed that the crest will be reached for some time. The river is swollen by unprecedented rains that have fallen for the last three days, almost continuously in the northern part of the state. The municipal reservoir 10 miles west of the city broke early today, turning loose a pent up nine-foot wall of water that poured down on the stricken section of the south side of the city. It is feared that the entire business section will be flooded. No lives have been reported lost, although a number of persons are imperiled.

Ordered to places of safety last night by the authorities 1,500 homes in the flood zone comprising 177 city blocks were abandoned and the homeless were fed and sheltered by hastily organized relief organizations. Members of the national guard are doing patrol duty.

All authorities agree that some of the most effective work along this line can be done in the fall, and the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce feels that a meeting called at this time to arouse interest and public sentiment will be well worth the while.

SLEMP UNDERTAKES NEW JOB

C. Bascom Slemp, major-domo secretary to President Coolidge, in addition to his duties as official buffer between the chief executive and the public, says he is finding his new plan of conserving the President's time and strength working successfully.

He limits the time given the reception of official and unofficial callers of two and one-half hours of the forenoon, thus leaving the remainder of the working day uncrowded, so that the President may dispose of official business more leisurely.

It is a wise policy, as is any plan which tends to lessen the strain of the executive officer of the greatest going concern in the world, the government of the United States. It has been frequently said that the presidency is almost too great a job for one man to fill, and President Harding was quoted as finding considerable truth in that statement.

Since President Harding's death the public has been deeply interested in the discussion of this subject, although there has been no indication of a let-up in pressure from individuals for interviews with the President until Slemp began to put up the bars. His plan is understood not to contemplate isolation of the head of the nation from the public, but discouragement of unnecessary callers and more judicious grouping of the hours in which they are to be received.

The people do not desire that their public officials shall be penalized in health and their lives shortened in the service they render the country. Slemp has possibly found a means to keep the chief executive of the government fit and fine.

NOT AFRAID OF SPOOKS

All the world will follow with interest the exploration of the tomb of King Tutankhamen which is to be resumed by Howard Carter, Egyptologist, where it was abandoned upon the death of Lord Carnarvon. In the lonely Valley of the Kings, near Luxor, the Pharaoh's tomb has remained sealed since, then, shunned by the superstitious who credited the legend that disaster would overtake the despoiler of the dead monarch's resting place, and found confirmation of it in the mysterious fever which carried off the British explorer.

But the hardy and matter-of-fact American spook pools the legend and the supposed threatened danger. "It is too much to ask me to believe that some spook is keeping watch over the dead Pharaoh, ready to wreak vengeance on any one who goes too near," says Carter.

He declares that he intends to unseal the tomb and examine the body in the interest of science and history, but when this is done he will let the body remain as it has through all the centuries.

Suppose and suppose again that he should come down with an attack of something? What a to-do will be made by the psychics and the legend-mongers. Even the skeptics may then take notice, with the gooseflesh breaking out all over.

HENRY SEEMS WILLING

Politicians throughout the country are likely to read with interest the dispatch from Omaha indicating that Henry Ford has no objection to his name going on the presidential preference ballot.

The secretary of state of Nebraska wrote to Mr. Ford that unless his name was withdrawn it would be placed on the ballot. The reply received from Mr. Ford's general secretary did not suggest the withdrawal, so the name will be entered as a candidate for the nomination on the progressive ticket.

This looks like business and the politicians will be justified in drawing the conclusion that the manufacturer is placing himself in the hands of his friends. Mr. Ford's course has been quite consistent, and the Nebraska incident furnishes no departure from it. He caused it to be known early in the game that if there should be manifestations of any general desire for his candidacy he would not seek to discourage it, but he did not encourage his friends to start an active campaign to stimulate interest in his candidacy.

If spontaneous movements develop in the states which will select delegates to the national convention by primaries disclosing existence of a marked degree of Ford sentiment, Mr. Ford will have justification in coming out with a declaration announcing his candidacy, and in that event would be expected by the politicians to throw himself into the contest with his accustomed energy.

Indications crop out from time to time that he will yet have to be accounted for in the presidential race, and very probably as an independent.

Those who have seen Bergdoll since he bit off a pursuer's thumb say he is very nervous. He should try vegetarianism.

Hosiery manufacturers report a record business. Fashion's long skirts decree has evidently not prevented the flapper from providing for a rainy day.

The boll weevil having destroyed nearly a quarter of the cotton crop, calmly asserts itself as still another problem for the farmer-statesmen to struggle with.

Rudyard Kipling says that the first use of speech by man was to lie. Very few, however, succeeded in making their fictions as attractive as those of Mr. Kipling.

The A. F. of L. will never be strong enough in politics to compel cabinet officers to form a union and refuse to work overtime in an emergency.

Most of the communications Poincare has to make to Germany resolve themselves into the simple formula, "Please remit."

The noise heard by radio fans from the direction of the British shore was probably the wild applause that greeted the announcement of George Harvey's decision to go home.

Although news reports say that American farmers are migrating by thousands into the Canadian northwest, it is likely that they will not get there ahead of the tax collector.

One of Germany's chief exasperations is the lateness of the sauerkraut crop.

Wonder is there some way of applying the phone conversation meter tax to the forthcoming session of Congress?

A week end argument between the motorist and the engineer at the grade crossing doesn't seem to offer any encouragement to the car driver, despite a persistence that might better be expended elsewhere.

TWICE-TOLD TESTIMONY

Greenville People Are Doing All They Can for Fellow Sufferers.

This testimony has been published to prove the merit of Doan's Kidney Pills to others in Greenville who suffer from bad backs and kidney ills. Lost any sufferer doubt this evidence of merit, we produce confirmed proof—statements from Greenville people who again endorse Doan's Kidney Pills, confirm their former testimony. Here's a Greenville case:

J. Frank Brinkley, prop. warehouse, 1100 Chestnut St., Greenville, gave the following statement May 29, 1918:

"Bending over had a tendency to weaken my kidneys and put my back in bad shape. I could hardly straighten after bending. My kidneys were irregular in action and the secretions were highly colored. I was down and out and had no ambition to do anything. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they relieved the backache and regulated my kidneys, making me feel better."

On November 14, 1921, Mr. Brinkley confirmed the above statement by saying: "For the past several years I have been feeling fine. I am glad to confirm my former statement, praising Doan's."

CAPACITY AUDIENCE PACKS WHITE'S THEATRE TO SEE "HUMAN WRECKAGE"

Possibly the most powerful blow and burning message ever struck at the narcotic evil is delivered in "Human Wreckage," the gripping screen production shown for the first time in this section at White's theater last night.

It is not a pretty story—the name precludes that—but it has to do with a widespread evil that is costing hundreds of lives and untold misery and despair. The picture serves to introduce Mrs. Wallace Reid, whose husband famous screen star and most beloved of all actors of the silent play died from the effects of habit forming drugs. Several of the scenes are based on incidents connected with Reid's death. Every phase of the evil from the growing of the poppy, the derivative of narcotics on thru the various subtle and nefarious channels of peddling are graphically portrayed. The wide ramifications of the dope ring, spreading its tentacles to every station in life are brought out vividly.

James Kirkwood, cast as a successful lawyer, who becomes an addict in an effort to soothe his nerves from overwork gives one of the most marvelous and difficult interpretations ever put into a character role. His fight to overcome the habit, the battle he makes, aided by his devoted wife (Mrs. Reid) and his final triumph when he is freed from his shackles is tense and powerful. The cast is well balanced and the undeniable characteristics of addicts are depicted with a faithfulness that could only come from closely observing those who, at one time were bound in the clutches of the evil.

The theater was crowded to capacity last night. A large number coming from Farmville, Ayden, Bethel and other points. "Human Wreckage" will be repeated today for the last time.

RUHR OCCUPATION
WORKING HARDHIP TO SWEEDISH MINES

KIRUNA, North of Arctic Circle, Sweden.—France's occupation of the Ruhr, and the resultant collapse of the Swedish iron ore trade with Germany, have brought hardship to Sweden's great northern ironfields and aroused animosity to France in the large Arctic areas of north Sweden and Norway which depend upon the payrolls of the iron districts for their existence.

In 1922 the Kiruna field used to send three shiploads of ore daily to the Norwegian port of Narvig. At the present time there is scarcely a shipload a week. Germany formerly took the greater part of this ore. She has the furnace to handle it, but her purchases have ceased since the flurry in the Ruhr.

England and France have no furnaces suitable to the reduction of the Swedish ore. The Bethlehem Steel Company has furnaces which are capable of using this ore, and some of it goes to America. Sweden exported nearly 5,500,000 metric tons of iron ore in 1922, and over 80 percent of this went to Germany. As early as 1913 Germany bought over 3,000,000 tons of Swedish iron ore for the Ruhr furnaces.

Dyspepsia Thing of Past, States Carr

"Whenever I begin to feel signs of stomach trouble now I always head them off by taking Tanlac," states W. H. Carr, 502 West Morgan St., Raleigh, N. C., a genial and popular conductor on the Raleigh street railway.

Before I first took Tanlac indigestion was just about to knock me out. I was having gas in my stomach, dizzy spells, sick headaches and pains about my heart that almost cut off my breath. My nerves were all out of fix, my sleep broken, and I was losing time from my work on account of my rundown condition.

"Tanlac helped me at once and when I finished the fourth bottle I was eating everything set before me, sleeping like a log and feeling great. What it takes to make a person feel right Tanlac certainly has it."

ANY CAN BLITHELY GUARANTEE SATISFACTION, BUT MAKING GOOD IS DIFFERENT

"It is so easy and it is so common for a store to say: 'Satisfaction Guaranteed.'"

"Almost any store will make good on what it sells IF THE CUSTOMER FIGHTS HARD ENOUGH to get that so-called satisfaction."

"Many stores may not even make one fight for what they think is right—may give it quickly and pleasantly, AFTER HAVING SOLD THEM THE WRONG THING, or goods of poor kind or quality."

"But is it 'Satisfaction' to sell a person the wrong thing, when they have made a trip to the store—perhaps in a hurry—to get some needed thing? Then to have to make another trip, after a night of worry, perhaps, explain the whole story and search again for the right thing."

"It is the policy of this store TO ALWAYS HAVE THE RIGHT GOODS and always to see that every customer gets the right goods the FIRST TIME."

"We bend all our energies toward PREVENTING mistakes, rather than toward making them right afterward."

"Then when the unusual accident occurs, no store is quicker than ours to make the wrong thing right."

SIGNING OF BONDS MADE EASY FOR BUSY MAGNATES

NEW YORK—America boasts at least one labor-saving device against which no complaint ever has been directed. It is a signature machine by the use of which high salaried corporation officials and national, state and municipal government officials are enabled to sign their names to checks, stocks, bonds and other documents from five to 20 times at once.

So far as is known only one company controls or has such machine, and its small office in the financial district is almost continuously filled with men of national or international importance. Just now the Consular General of Argentina is spending an hour or so a day at this office, signing with one stroke 20 of the Argentine government's new short term notes recently offered on the New York market.

The machine is a ball bearing frictionless arrangement with a maximum of 20 fountain pens attached, in addition to the master pen which the individual operating it grasps. Practically all negotiable or other securities must be countersigned by a high official to make them legal.

With the exception of the five or six machines in the New York office of the company, and one in Chicago, none of the machines is known to be in use anywhere in the world. Numerous smaller machines, handling five to ten pens, however, have been manufactured for the use of officials who are required to sign almost countless checks to meet weekly or monthly pay rolls.

Automatic Camera To Snap Olympic Winners

PARIS—The French Olympic committee is experimenting with a mechanical photographic device to record the finish of the running events during the 1924 Olympic Games. Thus far the experiments have been successful, and there is every likelihood that a camera will be on hand at the finish line of all races, to confirm or infirm the ruling of the judges.

The arrangement is practically the same as that in use for some years in Belgium to photograph the finish of horse races, and which is likely to be adopted at French race tracks next season.

problems of prohibition, naturalization, immigration and narcotics. The program of the governor's conference, announced by Miles C. Riley of Madison, Wis., secretary, shows that the executives are to concern themselves with a number of affairs of immediate importance. It appears according to Mr. Riley, that Governor McCray of Indiana, as host, will have at least 30 governors as his guests. Included on the business program are six scheduled addresses, while discussions will cover a number of subjects other than those touched upon in the regular schedule of talks. Governor E. F. Morgan of West Virginia, is to talk on "Taxation," while a paper on "Executive Clemency and the Parole System," is to be read by Governor William E. Sweet of Colorado. Governor John J. Blaine of Wisconsin, is to talk on "Valuation of Railroads and the States' Obligation." His address is to be followed by one delivered by Governor K. A. Nestos of North Dakota.

Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania, is to talk on "Water Power Development and Interstate Exchange of Hydro-Electric Power." The subject of "Agricultural Problems," is to be handled by Governor John M. Parker of Louisiana.

WILL TEST STAMINA OF SADDLE HORSES ON 36 MILE RIDE

AVON, N. Y.—The eyes of the horse world will be centered on the Genesee Valley from Oct. 15 to 20, when the annual national endurance ride will be held with Avon as the center point of the contest. More than the usual interest is being manifested in the Avon test this year because of the entry of a string of pure Morgans, a breed noted for stamina and endurance.

The Morgans were brought from Vermont early in the spring by H. E. ("Jack") Fretz of Alpine, Tex., former broncho buster and rope chapion, with the idea of putting them through a thorough course of training in order that they may have every opportunity to demonstrate the qualities for which their breed is noted. These annual endurance rides, held under the auspices of the American Remount Association in conjunction with several other national horse associations, are approved by the War Department, the chief of the Remount Service and the chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry of the Department of Agriculture. They are designed to stimulate general interest in the breeding and use of good saddle horses of a general utility type, possessed of stamina and hardiness, and at the same time having the necessary quality to render them suitable for use in the mounted service of the United States.
