CONTROL OF NEXT CONGRESS G. O. P. HANGS BY THREAD

A Small Progressive Group Can Block Partisan Domination

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Whether the republicans will be able to organize the house and senate of the 68th congress when it convenes Dec. 3, is a growing subject of concern among party leaders.

It has been pointed out with great emphasis that the balance between the two dominant parties in both houses is so delicate that a small group of republican progressives can effectively block the election of both the speaker of the house of representatives and president of the senate.

Political waxes and regular men do not under estimate the situation. They appreciate that such Senators as Hiram Johnson, Borah, Brookhart, and others not regarded as strictly party followers must be reckoned with.

Only three witnesses testified and after the jury was drawn, only about 30 minutes were consumed in taking evidence. The jury was out about five minutes when it returned a verdict of guilty.

It was necessary to summon a special venire of 25 after the regular venire of 36.

MELLON IN LIQUOR TRADE IS CHARGE WOMAN EDITOR

BROCKTON, MASS., Oct. 23.—Mrs. Elizabeth Tilton of Cambridge, editor of a magazine devoted to the cause of law enforcement, threw a bombshell into the state convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union here when she charged that Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon is "indulging in the illegal liquor traffic."

"In a recent raid by dry agents in Philadelphia some of the bottles bore Mellon's name," declared Mrs. Tilton. "Think of it, a man who holds one of our most honored offices in Federal government indulging in the illicit traffic."

"It is the high officials of the nation, the men who have elected to honored positions, men in whom we have placed all faith and trust who are seeking to break the backbone of the Eighteenth Amendment."

To Hold Red Cross Roll Call Here Nov. 11; Local Support Urged

That the American Red Cross is constantly on the job is a statement in which many can concur. Even though a number have not been direct beneficiaries, yet the press has kept the public advised of the numerous activities. The following summary will give an idea of some of the accomplishments of the organization:

From July 1, 1917, to June 30, 1923, the American Red Cross spent nationally and through its chapters more than $163,000,000 in service to the men who wore the American uniform in the world war and to their families. During the last fiscal year $7,000,000, was spent in this work. A roll call campaign will be held here Nov. 4.

Under its charter the American Red Cross must aid in matters of voluntary relief and as a medium of communication between the people and their army and navy. In this service 2,200 volunteers and 198 paid workers are rendering in army and navy stations, sub-stations and hospitals.

Last year the Red Cross spent $525,000 for relief in 110 disasters. Since 1881 the Red Cross has administered more than $20,000,000 in disasters.

Veterans Bureau Under Probe Discloses Law Methods In Operation

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The special senate committee investigating the veterans bureau was told today by Director Hines that the bureau had paid $64,000 for architect plans for a hospital building at Livermore, Calif., only to find that the drawings were not suitable. General Hines explained that payment was made before he took charge of the office and that the recipient Mathew O'Brien, of Los Angeles had filed an additional claim for $13,000 which was disallowed.

The director said that O'Brien came to Washington and received standard plans for government buildings from the war and treasury departments and that the plans submitted were similar to those for Livermore.

Damage Suit Against Proctor Hotel Being Heard Superior Court

The suit of W. Morton Jones against the Proctor Hotel company for $5,000 damages is on trial in Pitt county superior court. Jones, a traveling man, asserts he was injured as a result of a fall in the elevator of the hotel Jan. 5, 1918.

Congressman A. B. A. Brown, New York, and Attorney Julius Brown are counsel for Jones. Albion Dunn, D. I. Clark, W. S. O'Brien, Robinson, appear as attorneys for the hotel, bonding company and others interested in the litigation.

TEACHERS COLLEGE STUDENTS HEAR VIVID DESCRIPTION OF LIFE IN BRAZIL BY CHURCH MISSIONARY ON SUNDAY

The students of East Carolina Teachers College were fortunate in having three visitors of prominence at the regular Sunday evening service. They were Misses Edmonia Martin, Charlotte Jackson and Mamie McElwee.

Miss McElwee, who is synodical secretary of Young People's work, brought greetings and introduced Miss Martin. Miss Martin has been a Presbyterian missionary to Brazil for several years, and she told us many interesting facts about the country and its inhabitants.

Miss Martin first showed the students a map of Brazil. "It is a wonderful country," she said, "and beautiful to look at, but there is a lack of system and of progress."

Of the 32 millions in Brazil there are nine million Indians, three million negroes, and nine million white people, Portuguese and Italians. The remainder are a mixture.

One poet described the Brazilian woman as a golden rose, and this is a fitting comparison. Some of the women are very dark; others have fair skin and blue eyes. But the average woman has very dark skin, straight, silky black hair, large eyes, long, curling eyelashes, dimpled cheeks, full lips, a graceful figure, little feet, and a charming manner. The women, however poor, are spotless in their dress.

In Brazil, woman's chief aim is to get married. She never has the choice of lovers; her father usually selects the man for her husband. Never before the wedding does she have the opportunity to speak to her betrothed alone. Courtship in Brazil is different from that in the United States. It was explained.

The wedding is announced in the paper, and elaborate preparations are made. The bride's trousseau, the house decorations, and the elegant luncheon which follows the ceremony are very costly. In order to meet these expenses the poor have to save for months.

Along the coast Miss Martin declared, there are beautiful buildings and palatial residences. Here are found schools with their Bible courses and well-educated people. But farther inland, there are no schools and no money. However, beautiful churches abound. The people are very ignorant, and worship idols.

STATE OFFICIAL EXPLAINS EARLY ISSUANCE OF COTTON FORECAST

RALEIGH, Oct. 23.—Following announcement from Washington that the Department of Agriculture will issue a Nov. 1, cotton report covering the condition and forecast of production as of Oct. 21, Frank Parker, agricultural statistician of the state, federal co-operative crop reporting service, today issued a statement to clear up some misunderstandings concerning the government report.

Parker said in issuing the statement copies of which have been sent to his crop reporters in various sections of the state, that he did so without any intention of controversy.

His statement in part says: "The secretary of agriculture, in a spirit of fairness and in order to make the crop estimates as useful and reliable as possible last winter called a meeting of America's foremost economists and agricultural leaders. These men were asked to investigate the crop reporting work and to make recommendations."

"The thing that they most strongly recommended was that a spring report should be secured on intentions of farmers' plantings prior to the actual date of plantings. This was done by the department of agriculture for all parts of the United States on all principal crops. The same committee decided, after the report was secured, that it should by all means be published in order that the actual crop producers should be as equally well informed as the trade or so-called speculators."

The merchants association are grand circuit which brings the notations perfecting plans to co-operate with the Pitt County Fair officials and union and Canada. The agricultural exhibit will be the fair this year representing all of better and more varied than ever before. County Agent Reeves is doing everything possible to have every section of the county represented at the fair. Special prices on all our exhibits at this year's fair than in this section. Merchandise will prevail in most all ever before. The fireworks program will be the best ever and the free attractions are ever and Greenville now can boast of the fastest race tracks in the south as they have been worked over by experts from New York. LARCHMONT, N. Y., Oct. 23.—Mrs. Robert C. Nelly of Larchmont Woods, reported to the police she lost her hand bag containing cash and jewelry valued at $7,000 from her automobile. She visited a friend and took the bag with her, leaving it in her car. When she returned home last night she missed it.

This morning Charles Powers, returned the bag, money and jewels to her home.

Mrs. Nelly, who had offered a reward of $500, gave him a check for that amount and also the cash which was in the bag, amounting to $112. Powers is married and has two small children and supports two aged aunts.

"I had prayed for some miracle to happen to help me pay my expenses and it has happened," said Powers today.

Officers Called To Put Down Dispute In Clay Root Section

Zach Gardner, according to statements took aboard a cargo of booze yesterday and visited the store of E. C. Smith, in the Clay Root section. He became abusive in the presence of a number of school children, it was alleged. He resented the interference of I. A. Gardner, a clerk in the store, and an animated dispute and exchange of blows followed. James and John Buck, it was said, urged Zach Gardner to continue the disturbance. Deputy Sheriffs Whitehurst and Caton were called. They calmed the belligerent Gardner by placing him under arrest. The Bucks were also taken into custody.

The trio are under bond for appearance in the county court, Nov. 5.

N. S. And the A. C. L. Rates Are Continued

NORFOLK, VA., Oct. 23.—The Cape Charles light ship broke its moorings today during the heavy gale and was adrift, according to the radio message received here. The work along the coast guard cutter Manning has been dispatched to the assistance of the drifting boat.

Attempted Revolution In Greece is Halted By Military Forces

ATHENS, Oct. 23.—Some 2,000 men led by the Royalist General Metaxas have revolted against the military government of Premier Konstantinos. The proclamation announcing the revolution, signed by the Venizelist Generals Leonardopoulos and Gargalis and Colonel Giras, was published in the opposition newspaper and also scattered over the capital from an airplane.

The military government immediately took measures to quell the revolt, which in government circles is declared to be of no great importance. Some arrests were made and it was reported that the rebels had been dispersed. Marshal law was declared by Colonel Plastiras.

Holds Liquor Buyer Seller Both Guilty

WILMINGTON, DEL., Oct. 23.—Buyers as well as sellers of liquor are equally guilty, according to Judge Wallace of the federal court. He explained today that he had instructed the United States district attorney to look into the liability of buyers as well as sellers of liquor. Judge Wallace believes that under the federal criminal code that a conspiracy exists in such circumstances and the parties are equally liable for the acts of the other.

Such offenses are punishable by a fine of $10,000 and not more than two years in prison, or both, it was declared.

LOCAL ROTARY CLUB "LIVEST EAST OF ROCKIES," SAYS CONGRESSMAN ABERNETHY ADDRESSING MEETING

The Greenville Rotary Club is the livest organization east of the Rocky mountains, Representative C. L. Abernethy, New Bern, told members of the organization at a meeting of the Club last night. Mr. Abernethy made a tour covering 17,000 miles last summer to Alaska Pacific coast and other points and was the guest of various civic organizations. He spoke from first hand information and declared that the spirit manifested by the local body was of the kind that made for better community development and constructive work.

During his visit to California, he declared, he found in every place everybody imbued with the spirit of talking and praising the advantages of the state. That sentiment has very tallied into action which resulted in the Golden State being sold constantly to the world. Development of the same sort of action in Eastern Carolina and Pitt county accomplish the same purpose. He predicted that the Rotary Club would undertake the work along concrete lines, to exploit this county, which he said, was one of the garden spots of the earth.

Judge J. Lloyd Horton, spoke along the same lines, paying tribute to Rotary and what is being done and what is being done and what is being done.

RHINELAND COLORS HOISTED ON MANY GERMAN BUILDINGS

Weisbaden Police Disarmed and Locked Up; Ten Wounded

BERLIN, Oct. 23.—Reports from various points in the Rhineland indicate that the separatists have been defeated in Aix La Chapelle, Muenchen, Glabach and Bonn. At Aix La Chapelle they were severely beaten by trade unionists, and ejected from public buildings which they had held since last Saturday midnight.

The colors of the Rhineland republic were hoisted during the night on the German government buildings at Weisbaden, according to a dispatch received here today.

The Weisbaden police were disarmed and locked up in the barracks. A crowd gathered in front of the government headquarters was fired on by a band of secessionists and 10 were wounded. A general strike has been ordered by the trades union. The separatists also have possession of the government building in Bonn, the message stated.

Report Serious Disorders. PARIS, Oct. 2.—There were violent incidents in Aix-La-Chapelle, says a dispatch to Le Matin from Brussels. The police decided to oppose the separatists and tried to tear down the Rhineland colors from public buildings. A squadron of Belgian cavalry turned out, ready to intervene, if necessary.

Later the police fired on a group of republicans, who replied. Several persons were killed. Firing was still going on when the dispatch was filed, but the correspondent said it was believed the separatists were maintaining control of the city.

SPOILING A GOOD MAN

Thomas A. Edison, in an interview in which he discussed a number of affairs in general, quoted as saying: "I would hate to see a President because it would spoil a good man. He is more valuable where he is now." Ford and Mr. Edison are warm personal friends, based upon recognized personal merit and achievement. The remark, therefore, should be taken as not uttered in a spirit of criticism, but as depreciating possible mismanagement of effort. The utterance will find loud echo in public opinion at large. But there is also another side to the proposition of Henry Ford becoming President of the United States. A large number of the citizenry think his accession to that office would not only spoil a good man, but run a big chance of spoiling the country. This thought is not held in malice, but in the logic and fitness of things.

No one would deny the work that Mr. Ford has done for the public along his own particular line, nor would run down his financial and managerial ability. The country would render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's, but it may be set down as a certainty that a considerable portion of the conservative and thoughtful element cannot see the presidency in such an accounting.

WHITE HOUSE CATS

Dogs have had many of their days at the White House, and have had their names and pictures "in the paper." Visitors have petted them and patted them. A great deal has been written about White House dogs, not many authors has exercised their literary talent on White House horses and White House sheep. There have been White House cats, but they never sought nor found publicity. No cat has given way to a desire to accompany a President on his walks, nor go to ride on the front seat of a White House automobile, nor to trot along at the heels of a President's horse. If a White House cat strays from the mansion it strays at night, or on a mission of its own.

An admirer of the President has sent two cats to the White House, and the cook has named them Blackie and Tige. In no spirit of irreverence may it be observed that Tige and Blackie have already adopted that cook as a more important government official than the Commander-in-chief of the Army and Navy. To them that cook is the dispenser of public patronage and no courtier has flattered a President with more skill and guile than those two cats will use on that cook. In the cats' code a cook lives to be worked. No doubt their duty is to watch the mice and if they are real cats, faithful to the customs and traditions of their race, they will honestly carry out the duties of their office.

Human Hearts' Film Masterpiece At The Strand Wednesday

"Ask Dad—he knows!" There is the flavor of other generations in "Human Hearts," the Universal-Jewel attraction at the Strand theatre Wednesday and Thursday which so much has been said.

"Human Hearts" is ever timely, yet to parents and grandparents of today it has more meaning than to the younger generation. The younger ones don't know what an influence the old play of "Human Hearts" was in America years ago.

It was the success of a decade. It had more road companies playing at once than any other dramatic piece.

Like all the plays of "those days" it is essentially simple, powerful in theme and direct in exposition. The picture has been filmed just as the play was staged.

The memories it arouses are pungent. It recalls the life of plainer days, when people were merely "folks" and the pleasure of the day were wholesome and unpretentious. Old homes, old fields, old roads, the ups ripening in late summer, sun-drenched lawns of girls in white summer dresses, husking-bees, etc.

A special bargain matinee for ladies will be given Wednesday only. Admission for the performance has been reduced to 10 cents.

JOHN HODGES CHAIRMAN OF SALE OF RED CROSS SEALS

John Hodges will be chairman of the Christmas Red Cross tubular seal sale for Greenville instead of H. S. Ragsdale as was stated in yesterday's issue of The Reflector. The seal was carried in Monday's paper and contributed and had evidently not been advertised in the change in chairmen.

"Bubble," Under Pictures of Woman's Club Here Oct. 26

"Bubble," a play, the second in a series to be presented by the Greenville Woman's Club during the season will be presented at White's theatre next Friday, Oct. 26. The story by Louis Mann is in three acts and is all the qualities necessary for a successful comedy. Louis Mann is one of his greatest triumphs in "Bubble."

The play develops a splendid theme superbly acted by a company of metropolitan artists. Tickets can be had of members of the Woman's Club. It is one of the best plays ever presented and a large audience is expected to enjoy this superior production.

New Swanson Picture Pleases At White's Theatre Last Night

Gloria Swanson's Paramount picture of Alfred Savoir's French comedy, "Blue Beard, 8th Wife," was shown with flattering results at White's theatre last evening. Miss Swanson is supported by Huntley Gordon, in the leading man's role; Charles Green, Paul Weigel, Robert Agnew and other artists of note.

This story affords Miss Swanson a role quite the opposite of that she played in her recent success, "Prodigal Daughters." To those who admire Miss Swanson's sartorial achievements, this picture might well be dedicated. It is a veritable fashion show of gorgeous gowns and wraps; the story calling for the ultimate in daring gowns in the Egyptian scene of the opening of the much-advertised King Tut-Ankh-Amen's tomb, a scene upon which hinges the outcome of the production.

WOMEN NEED SWAMP-ROOT

Thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it. Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder trouble.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased. Pain in the back, headache, loss of ambition, nervousness, are often times symptoms of kidney trouble.

Don't delay starting treatment. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store, may be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Get a medium or large size bottle immediately from any drug store. However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.

Marine Locks Carry Tourists Through the Great Granite Hills

TROLLHATAN FALLS, Sweden.—Climbing mountains in a ship was the unusual experience of many American visitors to the Gothenburg exposition when they made the trip over the historic Goeta Canal from Gothenburg to Stockholm.

Marine locks in flights of five or six carry tourist ships through granite hills from river to lake, until the canal reaches an altitude of more than 300 feet in the highlands of picturesque southern Sweden, and then the ships begin their trip down stairs until they make their way to the level of the Baltic Sea, and after a short voyage on the open sea, finally enter lakes again and slip into the back door of Stockholm through fresh water.

It takes two and a half days to make the inland journey of 360 miles from Gothenburg to Stockholm. The actual canal is only 54 miles long, but 58 locks are passed in avoiding the falls in rivers and ascending to the high lakes in the interior.

Fifty miles of the trip is through the Goeta River, and here at Trollhatan Falls the canal passes around the celebrated falls which given southern Sweden much of its electrical power and are the seat of some of its greatest industrial concerns. Here is the great plant which supplied the Birthday Party.

Maxie, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Broadwell delightfully entertained a large number of her friends at a party yesterday afternoon in honor of her sixth birthday.

Upon arrival the guests were welcomed by the hostess assisted by her sister, Marjorie, and invited into the living room where several interesting games were enjoyed.

The dining room was beautifully decorated with autumn flowers and ferns. The birthday cake with its six burning tapers was arranged in the center of the table and was decorated with chrysanthemums. An ice course in pink and white was served.

Before departing each little boy and girl was given an attractive favor.

Maxie received a number of pretty and useful presents and her friends wish for her many happy returns of the day.

Wild Jungle Beasts Constantly Menace Life In East Africa.

LONDON—All is not joy in the life of British officials in Tanganyika territory, formerly German East Africa. Lions, leopards and elephants menace the population; missionary jealousy bewilders the pagan natives, and witchcraft, practiced by the wild Papare of the Moshi district, causes many helpless infants to be put to death annually.

Aspects of life in this new British territory are described in the 1922 report of the country. Big game multiplied rapidly in Tanganyika during the war. Lions frequently satisfy their taste for human flesh at the expense of life. Their boldness is incredible, and whole villages have been terrorized by their presence. In the first half of the year rewards were paid for the destruction of 300 lions and 800 leopards. In Tabora district alone 67 people were killed by lions.

Elephants do great damage to crops, often ruining a whole plantation in a single night, or, entering the villages, they strip the roofs of grain stores and scatter or consume the contents. The native too often assumes a fatalistic attitude in the presence of disaster, and becomes unwilling or unable to help himself.

The first Miller & Rhoads Store in Richmond. Opened in 1885.

The Miller & Rhoads Store in 1901—at that time thought to be large enough for all future needs!

The story of how a little store grew to be a very big one

THIRTY-EIGHT years ago, the Miller & Rhoads Store in Richmond had its beginning. It was a modest beginning. The original store measured only 22 x 75 feet, but it was destined to grow to be the greatest department store in the South.

Two energetic young men, L. O. Miller and W. S. Rhoads, were its founders. Having received a thorough business training under sound Scotch leadership, they came to Richmond and opened their little store at 117 East Broad Street, in 1885.

It was a new venture in merchandising. Casting aside the old system of barter, with its haggling over prices, the youthful merchants began a policy of marking every article at a fair and definite price. Other merchants predicted failure for this venture, which was so radical a departure from the merchandising policies of the time.

The store, opened with a sales force of only ten persons, including the firm. It was Saturday morning. The opening drew a crowd of curious shoppers interested in buying goods that were sold at "one price to all."

It was an instant success. The public met the new policy with a hearty welcome. By the end of the first year, the rapidly growing business had completely outgrown its original space and the store was extended back to a depth of 110 feet.

Three years later, the store was again forced to seek larger quarters, and the building at 509 and 511 East Broad Street was then erected. At that time, the new building—three stories and a basement—was thought to be large enough for all future needs. How absurd that seems now!

Then, twenty-five sales people were enough to wait on all the customers. Now 1,000 employees are required.

But the store continued to grow. Not by leaps and bounds, but steadily and healthily. People of Richmond and the near-by communities appreciated the efforts of the store to give them what they wanted. Good merchandise at fair prices and a willingness to serve won their confidence. A steadily increasing patronage was an unmistakable sign of their good-will.

There is no better evidence of that patronage than the great new addition to Miller & Rhoads Store now rapidly nearing completion. Extending the entire distance from Fifth to Sixth Streets, on Grace Street, this fine new building of six floors, including basement, nearly doubles the floor space of the present buildings. The combined floor space of all the present buildings and the new one is 361,980 square feet, 219 times greater than the original store.

The new building is a splendid tribute to the spirit of friendliness that has existed between Miller & Rhoads and the people of the South. We like to feel that the building belongs to the people whose loyal patronage has made it possible.

The store and all its special features for convenience and comfort are open to shoppers and visitors alike. Come in. You will always find a hearty welcome.

Teachers College Students Hear Vivid Description Brazil Life

Catholicism prevails, and the priests withheld the most important parts of the Bible from the people. The people know very little about the Savior, but instead they worship His Mother. In conclusion Miss Martin gave a few simple illustrations, and showed pictures of the Brazilians.

Following Miss Martin's talk, Miss McElwee introduced Miss Jackson, who is a life work secretary. She gave a few suggestions to help along the rugged pathway of life. Lots of people fail, she stated, because they have either no plans at all, or the wrong plans. "Every man's life is a plan of God." There are three kinds of plans: someone else's plans, our own plans, and God's plan for us. Of course the third plan is the one we should follow.

In following this plan, there are five guide-posts. Get an education, find what one likes to do, listen for the call, pray about your work, and get experience. Each person has a niche to fill in life, and it is the duty of each one to find his place, and to fill it.

Why Doesn't North Carolina Get a Press Agent?

She needs one, says Irvin S. Cobb in his article on your State in November Hearst's International—a beneficent hold-up man, a sort of agreeable cross between a road agent and press agent.

You North Carolinians are too modest, Cobb contends. You have everything that Florida has—but thousands of people pass through your state each day, Palm Beach and Miami bound—because you hide your virtues and your assets.

Do you know your own State? Read Cobb's article—humorous, bright and while it may not please you altogether, it will introduce you to your home.
