Movie Stars Bring Libel Suit Against Magazine

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 31.—A court battle to put a stop to malicious and unfounded stories of the movie people will start in New York today, according to an announcement made here by Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks last night. They announced that they had telegraphed instructions to their attorneys in New York to file libel suit immediately against an Eastern film magazine which recently printed a report that "America's sweetheart and her famous husband had quarreled over another woman."

Evelyn Brent, formerly leading lady in Fairbanks' company, whose name was said to have been involved in the alleged libelous article, will join Miss Pickford and Fairbanks in the libel suit, according to her husband, B. P. Fineman.

Evelyn Brent spoke of the story as being "utterly ridiculous" while Mary characterized it as being "malicious and unjust."

"We are bringing suit," she said, "not only for ourselves but for the protection of all the movie folk against such malicious and unfounded stories."

PASTOR CONDEMNS RAG TIME TUNES IN PLACE OLD HYMNS

THOMASVILLE, Oct. 31.—Addressing the opening session of the Methodist conference here this morning, Rev. A. G. Dixon, of Greensboro, president of the conference, condemned the substitution of what he termed "ragtime tunes" for the old gospel hymns. He urged a reform from the jazzy music to the old time hymns in the church.

About 100 were present for the opening session of the conference this morning and probably another 100 delegates will arrive in time to be present at the remaining sessions.

At this afternoon's session the annual election of officer and committees will be held.

Greenville High To Play Goldsboro Here Friday Afternoon

Members of the Greenville High School football team are in splendid trim for the game with Goldsboro here Friday afternoon, and from all indications the fifth battle of the season will surpass anything of the year.

Every player has shown up to splendid advantage in the last few days, and the outlook for victory against Goldsboro, for the second time this season, is very promising.

The locals so far have participated in four games this season, the first being played with Goldsboro by the score of 18 to 7 in favor of Greenville, while the second was with Washington which also resulted in a victory for the locals by a score of 30 to 0. The boys meet their first defeat in the third game of the season when Rocky Mount won by the score of 10 to 0. The fourth game which was played with Kinston resulted in a tie.

While many of last season's men are again in the line-up this season, all weak places have been strengthened and the defense is stronger by far than ever before.

The game with Goldsboro will be played at the fair grounds promptly at 3:30 o'clock and it is hoped the largest attendance of the season will be present.

Hon. Chas. Abernethy Delivers Address At Ayden Community Fair

This morning at 11 o'clock Hon. Charles Abernethy, of New Bern, addressed the large crowds attending the Ayden Community Fair. His talk was inspirational and helpful. He praised the people of the Ayden section for their progressive spirit and urged them to continue their onward step towards enlargement and progress.

Great interest is being manifested in the fair which will continue for two days. Horse racing will feature both days, while tonight will be featured by a fancy dress contest. This promises to be most interesting and amusing.

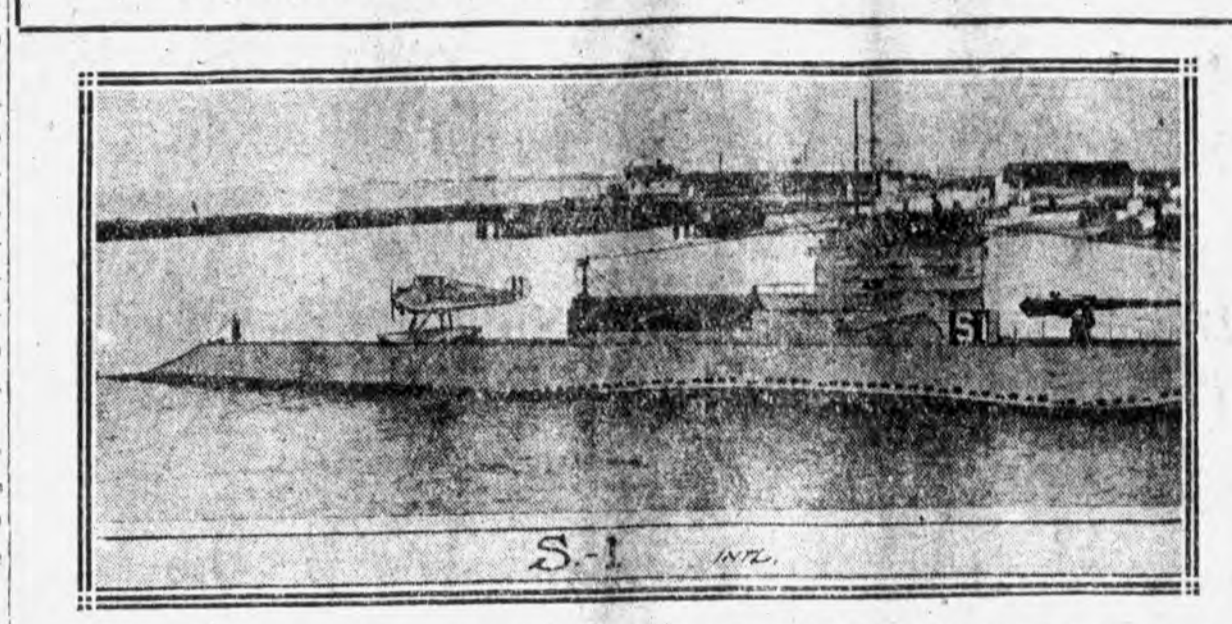

On Thursday night the public will have the pleasure of witnessing a beautiful display of fireworks.

The people in this section are urged to attend the fair and catch the community spirit which will be in evidence throughout both days.

AMERICAN SUBMARINE CARRIES AIRPLANE

In preparing for future wars, two extremes have been brought together for operating purposes by the United States Navy. In the photograph is shown the new type of naval seaplane carried by an American submarine of the latest type. It is about to take off from the deck of the S-1 as the submarine floods its tanks and sinks beneath the surface, out of the way of the plane. It is hoisted aboard and taken down in a few moments.

PITT COUNTIANS URGED TO HELP IN ANNUAL CALL

To meet the emergencies like those presented in this article and to extend the helping hand when it is most needed is the why of the Red Cross and the Seventh Annual Roll Call that will be generally observed throughout the county during the month of November.

The executive committee of the Pitt County Chapter of the Red Cross and County Chairman K. T. Futrell, believe that there will be a real desire to make this drive worthy of the efforts of Pitt countians.

The west and southwest can no longer boast a monopoly on tornadoes, floods and the many other little practical jokes Mother Nature is prone to play on poor mortals. In spite of the boll weevil, shortage of rain in some sections and too much in others, the year's crop of serious disasters in the south compares favorably with those of the most devastated areas of the country.

Figures gleaned from the annual report of disaster work of the Red Cross received today, which covers activities from June 1922 to June 1923, show that in the 12 months' period there have been 15 serious disasters resulting from terrific storms, floods, and fires in the south, which destroyed millions of dollars in property, took a toll of many lives, and inflicted serious injury to hundreds of people.

The year has been one of almost unprecedented natural calamities for this section of the country, the report states, and has necessitated the expenditure by the organization of over $163,500 in extending relief to the thousands of people deprived of food and shelter, and left destitute without warning by a freak trick of nature. Relief given, it is stated, was administered in accordance with the policy of the American Red Cross, and was in every instance based on the actual needs of the individual.

Mentioned among the more severe disasters in which the Red Cross has extended relief in the last year are the destructive fire at New Bern, N. C., December 1, which destroyed over $2,500,000 worth of property and left 3,500 people homeless, the hail storm of August 3, 1922, which left 173 families of Anderson, S. C., in need of immediate relief, the More Haven, La., flood which inundated over 150 homes; the little town of Hamlet, Miss., which was visited by two terrific cyclones in as many months, wiping out practically the whole town, and the tornado which swept through Pinson Tenn., devastating a large section of the city, killing 20 people, and injuring 100 others.

SECOND DISTRICT CONFAB I. O. O. F. IN SESSION HERE

Day's Activities Featured By Short Address And Degree Work

The first of a series of 20 conventions and Degree Demonstrations of the I. O. O. F., to be held throughout this state, convened in Greenville yesterday with a large number of delegates in attendance. The day's activities were featured by short business session, degree demonstrations, addresses and a banquet at the Eighth Street Christian church.

The convention was called to order at 10 o'clock by the president, after which reports from the lodges were read. The morning session was featured by short talks by B. J. Skinner, E. K. Dunn, of Ayden and Grand Secretary John D. Berry.

The afternoon session witnessed an initiatory degree demonstration by the team from Belhaven, and first degree work by the Washington team.

At 6 o'clock in the Eighth Street Christian church those in attendance with a few invited friends enjoyed a most delightful banquet. Mr. A. B. Ellington, Master of Ceremonies, made every one feel welcome while Jas. L. Evans, in a most happy way delivered the address of welcome. His remarks were short and to the point showing how honored Greenville felt in being hosts to such a gathering of delegates. The response was delivered by Past Grand Master Overton, of Durham, N. C.

Grand Master S. B. Curran delivered a short address on the aims of the Grand Lodge stating that a goal had been set for 50 new lodges with five thousand new members for the year. He also stated that the indebtedness now on the Orphan Home in Goldsboro would be entirely liquidated by the first of next year. His talk was inspirational and created a desire on the part of each member to make the order a great success. Mr. Curran was followed by John D. Berry, Grand Secretary, who spoke most interestingly along general lines of the I. O. O. F., showing in a specific way the accomplishments and work of the order.

The day's activities were brought to a close by second degree work by a team from Farmville and third degree work by team from Ayden.

Adopt Center Lines On Public Highways As Safety Measure

RALEIGH, Oct. 31.—Adopting a policy now in use in many of the states in the east having road building programs underway, the State Highway Commission calls attention to the new system of centerlining the roads which it is using.

Down the center of every highway in the state, according to commission officials, a white or black line will be painted. The white will be used on the continuous surfaced roads, and the black on the concrete roads. The object of this line is to divide the road exactly in half with the hope that traffic proceeding in opposite directions will keep to the right of the line.

This method has proven useful in other states in keeping automobilists to the right side of the road, the psychological affect, according to the officials, being great. The line, may be easily seen at night in the reflection of the headlights and no doubt will prove of great help to automobilists using the roads during the dark hours it is said.

Several roads of the state already have been given the streak down the middle and the results attained on these roads have been encouraging to commission officials, who see in this plan a method of reducing the hazards of auto travel.

WE SEE THE SUN

Once upon a time, not so many years ago, there was an editor who wrote and published an editorial on a beautiful sunset. That was an innovation, for editorials then were confined to virulent political attacks and defenses. The editorial on the sunset was ridiculed, parodied and laughed at by all the other editors who read it. It won for its author a sobriquet that followed him to his grave. But "Sunset" Cox's nickname became in time an honor rather than a reproach.

Recently in a score of American newspapers there were editorials about sunsets, about beautiful music, about the stars, about autumn leaves, about poetry and about art. No other editor thought of ridiculing them or of laughing at them. Some of the best written awoke envy in other editorial breasts.

If newspapers be, as they are supposed to be, representative and indicative of public taste and opinion, then this change must mean that national taste has changed. We are a people grown sufficiently in cultural and intellectual stature that we are no longer ashamed to admit admiration for beautiful things. The glory of the sunset, once a thing we noted only as a portent of a fair day tomorrow, is now an aesthetic feast, as its Creator intended it to be. The delicacy of a flower, over which none but poets once went into raptures, now snares the interest and admiration of our strongest and best.

As a matter of fact, we have ceased taking the hard, indurate rocks as models for our strength and have learned the great lesson and important one that the forces that push a tender blade of grass through frost-riven soil is a far greater force, though unseen, than the granitic immobility that marks the rock. We have learned that tenderness is not a synonym for weakness and that strength is not measured by ignorance.

It has not been many years since the man who wrote a tribute to a sunset was ridiculed. It may be that only a few years more of such progress and we, as a people, shall have learned that, indeed, that sunset was of far greater importance than the politics and mundane quarrels of which its detractors wrote. Human nature in America is just beginning to understand itself and to realize that it is nothing but a part of the same cosmic scheme that includes sunsets, flowers, baby smiles and irresistibly strong little blades of tender grass.

A number of hilarious persons seen about the streets of late were possibly preparing to celebrate Apple Week by absorbing the juice.

If the British are really interested in the tariff question, they ought to ask a few American consumers what it has done to the family pocketbook.

Turkey and Poland have drafted a perpetual treaty of peace, which is likely to be well observed, in view of the fact that neither can get at the other.

The mere fact that the Prohibition Party is about to nominate Henry Ford for President will not necessarily prevent some of the voters from regarding Henry with favor.

Now that the mark is worth more as old paper than as money, American travelers to Germany ought to be able to get along fairly well with a few bales of old paper in their handbags.

Germany's dissolution seems to be well managed by somebody.

The still doesn't need any small voice to tell where it is as long as it retains its loud breath.

If Henry Ford uses his cars to help get out the Presidential vote, there will be small doubt of the result in 1924.

Miss Mully Entertains End of Century Club

Of the many musical afternoons Miss Mully has had for the End of the Century Club, none has been more perfect than that on Tuesday afternoon, when Miss Riggs, her friend from Baltimore, came again to charm them with harp.

Nothing could have been more beautiful than the softly lighted reception rooms of the Faculty Home with its bright Halloween decorations, surrounding a lovely woman at a golden harp, her fingers gracefully rendering the music that only a harp can give. Each selection was artistically rendered and thoroughly enjoyed and appreciated by both the club members and visitors, fortunate enough to be there.

The program was interspersed with a violin selection by Miss Gorrell, accompanied by Miss Burton. A vocal solo by Miss Bessie Brown, a piano selection by Miss Burton and a vocal solo by Miss Anni Mae Edwards. Every number was splendidly rendered and very much enjoyed.

After the close of the program, a most enjoyable social hour was spent, renewing acquaintances with Miss Riggs, whose personality is equally as charming as her music. The delicious refreshments carried out the Halloween idea. The club members are very much indebted to Miss Mully for such music, Riggs, the charming harpist.

TOMORROW

HAS THE WORLD GONE MAD!

Are we a nation of self-indulgent lunatics swept off our feet by the scarlet tidal wave of jazz? Are we blind to the consequences of our terrific pace? Are we adrift in the swirling backwash of the Great War—weak-willed, weak-hearted—a hopeless prey to the shams and follies of an age of madness? See this smashing denunciation of a society madly drifting toward God knows what!

Sellers Mastercraft

NO OTHER CABINET HAS SO MANY CONVENIENCES

It is true that the Sellers is, in every detail, a beautiful example of fine cabinet-work, from its sturdy dovetail construction and snowy white-enamel finish, to its shining metal hardware, sparkling glass drawer pulls, gleaming Porcelain table top and blue stenciled design.

But these are only secondary to the wonderful conveniences which are built into it—the splendid features which make your work go more quickly and easily than you ever dreamed it could. Among the countless improvements which the Sellers offers are the Automatic Lowering Flour Bin, Automatic Base Shelf Extender, Extending Table Drawer Section, Dust-Proof Base Top, Plush-Lined Silverware Drawer and Anti-Roof Casters. Yet it costs only about half as much as a built-in cabinet, which cannot have these vital Sellers features.

DR. H. SHEPPARD TAKING ACTIVE PART IN THE HEALTH WORK IN BALTIMORE

In the list of those attending a conference which met in Baltimore, Md., recently, to discuss plans to take the health of students at Baltimore City College and Polytechnic Institute under great consideration, with a view to having them pursue beneficial athletic exercises, appeared the name of a former Greenville boy, Dr. H. Sheppard, physician at the City College, of Baltimore.

Dr. Sheppard is the son of Mr. Henry Sheppard, of this city, and is a very popular physician, being at present instructor in Johns Hopkins University and also physician in the City College which has over two thousand students enrolled.

His many friends will read with pleasure of his rapid rise in the medical profession and wish for him every success.

HALLOWE'EN CELEBRATION AT TEACHERS COLLEGE

The Halloween revelries at the dinner hour at East Carolina Teachers College made the walk-in ring on Monday evening. The leader of the revelries was Miss Elizabeth Morris, who also conducted a jazz orchestra, composed of Misses Buffalo, Bridger, Lois Smith, Viniarski, Leonard, Barnhardt and Virginia Johnson, who dressed in Halloween costumes and masked, played on horns, mouth harps and combs, but played real tunes to the accompaniment of the piano and ukelele.

The leader called out by name new girls, old girls, and teachers, for impromptu stunts, and all proved themselves good sports, by their prompt response. A series of "sucker stunts" was especially appreciated. The clog dancing of Miss Grace Jordan with Miss Grace Atwater playing on the mouth harp was fine. The jazz duets by the Misses Grier deserved the encore, they received. The incense each time were given in barn yard calls.

It was noticeable that in spite of the hilarity of the occasion, there was nothing like "rough house." Everything was well planned and carried out in orderly form, yet was full of life. The effective decorations were directed by Miss Blanche Wilkins, chairman of the decoration committee. The tables were made festive by strips of orange decorated with black cats and witches, with center pieces of jack-o'-lanterns perched on piles of yellow and red fruit. Orange shades on the lights gave a mellow glow to the room.
