THREE DEMOCRATIC GOVERNORS ELECTED YESTERDAY'S VOTE

Virginia Bond Issue for Road Improvement Loses Out

Democrats were elected yesterday in all three of the states where there were gubernatorial elections, Kentucky, Maryland and Mississippi.

Vermont, where the only senatorial contest was held, returned a Republican Porter H. Dale, who defeated Park H. Pollard a cousin of President Coolidge.

In seven contests for the house the Democrats won four and the Republicans three, one Republican victory being former representative, Benjamin Fairchild's defeat of his Democratic opponent for the place made vacant by the death of John Vincent Ganley in the 24th New York district. Party alignment was unchanged in the other congressional elections.

The victory for the Democrats in Kentucky of William J. Fields, former governor over Charles I. Dawson represents a swing back of the pendulum which swept Governor Morrill, Republican, into office last election. Fields' victory is decisive and he will have a Democratic legislature to support him.

Governor Ritchie, Democrat, was re-elected in Maryland over Alexander Armstrong with an increased majority over his first election.

H. L. Whitfield, Democrat, was elected governor of Mississippi and out opposition.

In New York the Republicans retained control of the general assembly but the Democrat judiciary ticket in Manhattan and Bronx was swept into office overwhelming the Republican and Independent tickets. The soldiers' bonus appears to have been carried and the hydro-electric power project.

Local issues were voted on in various sections of the country.

Virginia Loses Bond Issue.

Incomplete returns indicate that the "Pay as you go" advocates in Virginia defeated the $50,000,000 bond issue for highway improvement.

Ohio elected mayors supported by the Ku Klux Klan in Youngstown, Portsmouth, Akron and several smaller cities.

Philadelphia returned a Republican as mayor by an overwhelming majority.

Woman Elected Judge.

In Illinois Miss Mary M. Bartelmea the first woman to be elevated to the position of circuit court judgeship was elected from Cook county. She is a Republican and led the ticket. The Republicans elected eleven and the Democrats nine judges in the superior court.

New Jersey remained in Republican power in spite of the vigorous campaign by the Democratic government for a Democratic legislature.

Roth, Republican mayor of San Francisco, was re-elected.

The final results of the election leaves the power in both the Senate and congress in the hands of the Republicans and is as follows: House of Representatives—Republicans 255, Democrats 205; Senate—Labor 1; vacancies 2. Senatorial majority Republicans 18.

Senate—Republicans retain a majority of 6.

Commission to Comply German Request On the Reparations Conference

PARIS, Nov. 7.—The reparations commission has decided to comply immediately with the German request for a hearing of the reparations questions as proposed in the Berlin government's note of October 24, if the several governments including the United States are unable to agree regarding the setting up of an advisory investigating committee.

IN MEMORIAM BEATS BOTH ZEV AND MY OWN

JIM MILLS SHOTS OSCAR EDWARDS

Oscar Edwards, white man residing about four miles south of Greenville, was shot today by Jim Mills, of this city. The shooting occurred in Aboynon's store, the bullet entering the shoulder of Edwards.

According to information the two men had a dispute on the street a few minutes prior to the shooting. Immediately afterwards they came together in the store when Mills drew his pistol and fired one shot.

Edwards was rushed to the office of Dr. Joe Dixon where he was given medical attention. Dr. Dixon stated after examining the wound, that unless some complication develops the injury is not serious. Mills was placed in jail to await the outcome of Edwards' condition.

Both men are well known in the county. The shooting attracted considerable attention and a large crowd quickly gathered.

Shippers of Eastern Carolina Will Meet In Wilson Thursday

WILSON, Nov. 7.—Realizing that Virginia cities are determined wrest from them the fruits of victory won in the memorable rate battle settled two years ago before the Interstate Commerce Commission, shippers representing practically every important commercial center in North Carolina east of Durham will be here Thursday afternoon to attend a meeting through which the Eastern Carolina Shippers Association, a tentative organization created last week, will be perfected.

The chambers of commerce of Wilson, Rocky Mount, New Bern, Kingston, Greenville, Wilmington, Smithfield, Washington, Raleigh and other Eastern Carolina towns are giving the new association full co-operation and this week have endeavored to inform every shipper of what the Virginia interests propose to do to the Carolina freight structure. From letters and telegrams coming into M. R. Beaman, secretary of the local chamber of commerce, and temporary secretary of the shippers organizations, at least 150 representatives of North Carolina concerns will be in attendance when the meeting is called to order at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

France and England May Agree Invitation Text United States

PARIS, Nov. 7.—Prospects for an agreement between France and Great Britain on the text of the invitation to the United States to join the conference of experts for an examination of the reparations question were regarded in French diplomatic circles today as much brighter than on yesterday.

Southern Industrial Insurance Conference Meets In Pinehurst

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 7.—With representatives of industrial insurance companies from the entire South present and others arriving here during the night, the Southern Industrial Insurers' Conference tomorrow will open its fourteenth annual session here. An elaborate program has been arranged for the three days' meeting and many speakers of prominence are on the program.

Tomorrow, the first day of the conference will be given over to the meeting of special committees and to renewal of friendships by the delegates. The first regular business session will be held Thursday at 9 o'clock.

Reports of officers and several addresses will feature the opening session. Among speakers for that day are: I. S. D. Sauls, president of the Continental Life Insurance Company of Washington, D. C.; Robert Binkered, vice-chairman of the New York City committee on public relations; Eugene Oberdorfer, manager of the Fidelity and Casualty Company of New York at Atlanta and Charles N. Nebit, Washington, D. C. Following the business sessions a barbecue dinner will be served to the delegates at a nearby park.

Burt Miller, commissioner of insurance in the District of Columbia will make the opening address at the Friday morning session and will be followed by Stacey W. Wade, commissioner of insurance for the state of North Carolina. Other speakers for that day will be Charles E. Clarke, president of the Peninsular Casualty Company, Jacksonville and Cornlius Craig, president of the National Life and Accident Insurance Company of Nashville, Tenn. During the day there will be discussions on various phases of the business and the conference will come to a close with the election of officers and the selection of a meeting place for 1924.

"Just Married" Pleases Theatre-Goers Raleigh

The following comment in today's News and Observer on "Just Married" which is to be presented at White's theatre tonight will be of interest to theatre-goers of this city:

"Just Married" takes the old-fashioned bed room farce for an ocean voyage on board of a many-cabined liner and contrives to make the audience sizzle by rocking it in gales of laughter. It is cleverly written, and for the most part the lines are cleverly handled.

This sea-going comedy sparkles considerably in spots, and the fifteen hundred people who attended it at the Auditorium last night were enthusiastic. They never applauded, but they guffawed a lot.

Miss Sylvia DeFrankie was the young lady who was astonished to find a strange young man in her stateroom on awakening the first morning out, and Mr. Owen Martin was the equally astonished young man. Both are very clever, but the latter is a little more clever. The other of the company were good enough."

CO-OPERATION URGED RED CROSS ROLL CALL

WASHINGTON, N. C., Nov. 7.—Urging the fullest co-operation of ex-service men in the annual roll call of the American Red Cross and recounting some of the things which this organization has done for ex-service men and their families in North Carolina during the past year, Wiley C. Rodman, state commander of the American Legion tonight issued a statement calling to the attention of ex-servicemen the date set for the call, Nov. 29. A letter mailed by the state adjutant, Robert E. Denny to each post in the state also was made public with the commander's statement.

"The North Carolina Department of the American Legion," said the statement in part "has tendered its co-operation and assistance to the American Red Cross in its annual roll call for this year to be held Nov. 29."

"The state adjutant, Robert E. Denny, has today sent out a letter to each post in the state requesting that its service be volunteered to the Red Cross Chapters in this respect and requesting each post to give its utmost co-operation to the chapters in putting the Roll Call 'over the top.'"

"Reports of the year's work among the ex-service men in the state show that in the twelve-month period ending July 1, 1923 the American Red Cross has given assistance to over 5,652 ex-service men and their families. In adjusting compensation claims, furnishing transportation to points where they may attend to their claims, and in seeing that their families do not want for the necessities of life while the government claims are being adjusted, the organization has rendered invaluable assistance."

The letter to the Posts of the state advised the members that the assistance of the American Legion in this state had been pledged by the state commander to the Southern headquarters of the American Red Cross in the call work.

Klan Publicity Man Face Trial Next Week For Murder Coburn

ATLANTA, Nov. 7.—If the necessary arrangements can be completed, Phillip E. Fox, publicity man of the Ku Klux Klan, will be placed on trial next week for the murder of Captain W. S. Coburn, attorney for the Simmons' faction of the organization, according to announcement this morning by Solicitor General John A. Boykin.

Dr. Linton Smith, family physician for Fox stated today that after an examination it was his belief that Fox was suffering from mental disorders. Dr. M. N. Owens, alienist has been called in for consultation. Dr. Smith stated that Fox was unable to retain anything on his stomach and that such a condition is often caused by an abnormal mental state.

Two Rum Runners Stranded Off North Carolina Coast Now

SALISBURY, Nov. 7.—Two ships with liquor cargoes stranded last night on the North Carolina coast were ordered seized today by A. B. Coltrane, of this city head of prohibition enforcement forces in this state. Following information of the presence of the rum runners Mr. Coltrane immediately authorized officials near Bogue Inlet to seize ship and crew and hold until arrival of prohibition agents from his headquarters. Prohibition agents have been rushed to the scene to take charge of the vessels and confiscate the cargoes.

One of the rum runners, a motor vessel, stranded off Bogue Inlet near Swansboro, Onslow county, was reported a complete wreck. The cargo consisting of 31 barrels and 260 cases of rye whiskey were removed by Coast Guards and four men including the captain were arrested according to the report. One member of the crew escaped it was stated.

The other vessel, a yacht carrying a large quantity of liquor aboard, immediately after being stranded began unloading its cargo to citizens of Beaufort. The mayor of Beaufort immediately wired Mr. Coltrane, for instructions as to putting a stop to this delivery and sale and was immediately authorized to place a police guard about the vessel and to arrest and hold all crew in connection with the vessel until prohibition officials arrived.

POLICE COURT IS FEATURED BY ONLY 4 CASES

Only four cases were disposed of in Mayor's court today and as a result the session consumed only a short while. The following defendants appeared:

J. G. Fornes, white, was found guilty of speeding and fined $10 and costs.

Sam Clark, colored, breaking in a door and trespassing on premises of Alma Washington was fined $10 and costs.

Nimmie Tucker and Margaret Outbridge, colored, tried on charge of mutual assault, was fined $10 and costs.

Geo. Page Moore, colored, operating transfer without license was allowed to purchase license and pay the costs.

Former Raleigh Clergyman Dies In Decatur, Ga.

RALEIGH, Nov. 7.—Rev. I. McKay Pittenger, for 25 years rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd here, died at the home of his daughter in Decatur, Ga., early today according to telegrams received by relatives and friends in this city. Full funeral arrangements have not been announced but it was stated that the remains would be brought to Raleigh for burial.

Pitt County Fair Is Attracting People From Many States

MRS. N. S. FULFORD ELECTED HEAD OF THE KING'S DAUGHTERS

Dr. W. I. Wooten Reads Interesting Paper On Red Cross Work

The Patient Circle of King's Daughters held its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. I. F. Lee. The session was one of the most interesting held in several months and was featured by election of officers, an instructive paper by Dr. W. I. Wooten on the "Red Cross Roll Call" and "What the King's Daughters can do for the Community Hospital," and reports by Mrs. I. F. Lee and Mrs. Ada Cherry on the King's Daughters' convention held in Rockingham.

The meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. Hortense Moyo who read a splendid paper on "Service." This was followed by the prayer of the order. Several matters of importance were brought to the attention of the members. The visiting committee, in their report, showed several homes visited and much good accomplished in His Name.

Mrs. C. A. Bowen, leader of the Junior Circle, pledged five dollars from the circle to be used for the purpose of paying the attendance fee of a young lady attending Teachers College.

Mrs. I. F. Lee and Mrs. Ada Cherry who attended the King's Daughters convention, in Rockingham, made splendid reports on the convention telling of the visit to Samarcand and bringing out other facts of interest to those in attendance.

It was decided that the local circle would give a linen shower for the "Old Ladies' Home," in Raleigh. Every member wishing to contribute a piece of linen is requested to send it to Mrs. Hortense Moyo, the Junior Circle is going to give a towel shower for the Home, so members of the Senior Circle are asked not to send towels.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. N. S. Fulford; Vice President, Mrs. John Hassell; Secretary, Mrs. Ella Greene; Treasurer, Miss Blanche Cromartie; and Reporter, Miss Nannie Bowling.

Dr. W. I. Wooten read an interesting and instructive paper on the Red Cross Roll Call and also brought out many points showing what the King's Daughters can do for the Community Hospital. Dr. Wooten told of the corrective health work accomplished locally, by the Red Cross. As specific examples of work accomplished in the state, to relieve suffering humanity, he gave accounts of the fire at New Bern and the cyclone at Wendell.

Mrs. N. S. Fulford stated that a branch of the Patient Circle would be organized at the Cotton Mill next Tuesday evening. She is especially anxious that a large crowd attend and help the circle at the mill, begin its work. At the conclusion of the program the hostess served tempting refreshments.

Dr. Pittenger who was born in Mansfield, Ohio, was ordained a Priest in the Protestant Episcopal church in 1880. He came to Raleigh in 1890 and remained here until 1916. Dr. Pittenger was twice married, his second wife being about two years ago. He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Lee Skinner, of Decatur, Ga., and a son Mr. Paul Pittenger, of Greenville, S. C.

Large Crowds Delighted With Exhibits, Midway and Fireworks

The Pitt County Fair which opened in Greenville yesterday was in spite of inclement weather, largely attended and the school children, especially, had a big day. The races, scheduled for the afternoon were rained out, but people from every section of the county visited the fair during every hour of the day and the midway attracted the large crowd attending with its many amusements.

Never before in the history of Pitt County Fair association have the agricultural merchants and manufacturer's exhibits attracted such attention. The booths are beautiful and show the progressiveness of the people in this part of the state. No one visiting the fair should fail to see them.

The midway which is composed of Sheesley's Shows was in all its glory last evening and large crowds thronged the grounds until late in the evening anxious to see everything that the company had to offer in the way of amusements. It is the largest carnival ever visiting this section and is attracting considerable attention.

The fire works display which was given last evening at 8 o'clock was too beautiful to describe. It was one of the best ever given on the fair grounds, and the public is urged to see the display each evening.

A large crowd was in attendance today and this afternoon witnessed the first race of the week. A double bill was scheduled on account of the rain yesterday. They were very interesting and enjoyable.

Slight Decrease In Building Operations Winter Approaches

RALEIGH, Nov. 7.—A slight decrease in building operations throughout the state, believed to be due to the approach of winter, is reported by M. L. Shipman, commissioner of labor for the Federal and State governments in his weekly report made public here tonight. The report indicates that a small surplus of skilled labor of various classes is available but that the supply of unskilled labor practically is exhausted.

The prospect for unemployed clerical and professional helpers is more encouraging, says the report and a demand in some quarters is being made for brickmasons.

Wilmington leads in the number of persons placed in positions of remuneration during the past week with Asheville second. The total number employed last week was 483 per.ons.

Bankers' Association Opened In The Twin City This Morning

WINSTON-SALEM, Nov. 7.—With approximately two hundred delegates from all sections of the state in attendance, the semi-annual convention of the North Carolina Bankers' association opened here this morning.

The convention was called to order by C. M. Miller of Greensboro, president of the association after which an address of welcome was delivered by Mayor James J. Hanes, representing the city. N. J. Paschal of Durham, vice president of the association responded to Mayor Hanes' address and the report of the secretary was read by F. H. Rawls of Winston-Salem.

During the day speeches were made by J. H. Eaton, sales manager of a large flour manufacturing concern and F. H. Woolridge secretary of the Potomac States association of bakers. Mr. Eaton discussed various phases of advertising.

This association will adjourn here tonight. It was organized eighteen months ago and holds semi-annual conventions.

MR. FORD, YOU'RE WRONG, FREE THINGS ARE WORTH HAVING

Henry Ford, pragmatic and absolute, seems to be prone to discharge his vocal guns at half cock. Not content with having pronounced all history to be "bunk," a statement which he must have regretted considerably in the light of the part that history is likely to play in his own affairs, he has uttered another aphoristic error. "Anything free is not worth having," says Ford. From the same logic one may argue that the more costly a thing, the more of value it possesses. Mr. Ford's well known output notwithstanding.

But Mr. Ford has spoken in haste. He has forgotten many things in his pragmatic absorption. There will be many who will dispute with him and tell him that things free are the only things worth having. The trouble is that only free souls may find such things. Hearts and heads troubled with details of turning tin and iron into flippers, or of coining dollars from human labor know not these free things. But the man of the cottage, singing his way homeward after a long day's work, a flower in his jacket and a kiss upon his lips, knows them. Things free are given him and he knows their value.

Things free! What a nobility of life we enter when we lose them! What a maze of doubts and pains and troubles we find when we forget them! Things free and precious—too precious for us to buy, though we had all the wealth of Henry Ford.

There is the velvety touch of a baby's hand to thrill us with its gentleness taught by the angels; there is the sunshine and the starsheen and the laughter of young hearts; there is the golden glory of autumn woodlands and the song of the hermit thrush at twilight; there are sun-gilded April days and the wonder of tender little flowers; there is the miracle of the baby that first lisps a parent's name; the voice of bells at eventide, and the moon's soft magic that turns the hut into a castle; there is the joy in the bark of a dog to greet his master, and the music of a brook through leafy cathedrals; there is the flicker of fire-light against home window panes seen through chill dusk, and a sleepy drip-drop upon a bedroom roof; there is the lapping of the waves upon a clean beach and the breath of the apple blooms from opal orchards; there is the wine that is in the air of a November morning.

There is the handclasp of a long absent friend, and the devotions that make life and tail worth enduring; there are the faiths in men and gods that go fighting and conquering, not as merchants, but as golden-armored knights of the invisible; there are the impulses to kindness and to gentleness that suffuse with their warm glow; there are the visions that come in watches of the dark, and the friendliness that shines from eyes where suffering and sympathy have lit their candles; there is the rainbow after the storm and its promise; and the goodness of God that allows us always to pray to Him.

And there are friends. All free! Still Mr. Ford says anything free is not worth having.

Latest reports seem to show that wood alcohol is as fatal as ever.

Mr. Stokes' divorce proceedings show how careful millionaires should be to select wives who have no red haired doubles.

With bread in Germany selling at nine billion marks a loaf, the printing presses seem to have lost the race against old Hi Coster Livin.

Makes Oats the Quickest Breakfast

Your grocer now has 2 styles of Quaker Oats—QUICK QUAKER and regular Quaker Oats, the kind you've always known.
For a hot breakfast quick, ask for QUICK QUAKER.
Cooks in half the time of coffee—scarcely longer than simple toasted bread. Same plump oats as regular Quaker Oats. But cut before flaking, rolled very thin and partly cooked—smaller flakes that cook faster, that's the only difference. All that rare Quaker flavor. All the joy of hot breakfasts without bother or delay.

Grocers now have two kinds of Quaker Oats—Quick Quaker and Regular Quaker Oats, the kind you have always known.

One chassis and only one for all cars—refined and perfected constantly over a period of years.

That, in brief, is the manufacturing principle underlying the success of Dodge Brothers Motor Car New shipment just arrived.

Mr. W. B. Dupree left this afternoon for Miami, Florida, where he will make his future home. Mr. Dupree has always made his home in Greenville and for the past few years has held a position with the local post-office.

Mrs. Dupree and the children will remain in Greenville for a few weeks. The many friends of both Mr. and Mrs. Dupree wish for them every success in their new home.

Resolutions of Respect.

Adopted by the Fourth Quarterly Conference of Jarvis Memorial Church held Nov. 6, 1923, touching the death of Sister Charles Cobb.

Whereas: In the dispensation of God's Providence, two of our most faithful stewards, brother Charles Cobb and son, Brother Kinchin Cobb, have recently been most sadly bereaved in the loss of her who was wife to the one and mother to the other.

Be it resolved by this quarterly conference:

First: That we extend our heartfelt sympathy to these, our beloved brethren and fellow-workers in the Kingdom. By virtue of the ties that bind us together as fellow-Christians, and by virtue of the high esteem and sincere affection in which our church and this conference hold brother Charles and Brother Kinchin Cobb, their loss is our loss and their sorrow is our sorrow. We mourn with them, while feeling assured that Heaven is the richer because Sister Cobb has gone to dwell there.

Second: That knowing as we do the inadequacy of human sympathy in an hour of such deep grief, we commend them to the God of all grace, who is ever present to comfort and sustain those who put their trust in Him.

Furthermore: Be it resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be given to both husband and son; also that a copy be handed The Reflector for publication, and that still another be recorded as a part of the permanent record of this conference.

Signed:
F. J. FORBES,
R. L. CROW,
V. P. SCOVILLE.

Balzac The World's Greatest Novelist

Honore de Balzac is regarded by the most learned and astute critics of literature throughout the world as the world's greatest novelist. He won that rank through his ability as a thinker, student, philosopher and analyst of the human heart and the human mind.

His parents wanted him to become a notary, which in the France of his day, would have assured him of a comfortable living, but the young Balzac was confident that there was more in his brain than the mere making of a living. He decided to become a writer. He went to Paris and lived in the proverbial garret and wrote a blank verse tragedy, "Cromwell." His parents called in a good judge of literature to pass upon the play. His judgment was that the author should attempt any other career than that of literature.

But the young Balzac stuck to his guns. For several years he wrote and had published under assumed names a number of voluminous novels. He glued himself to his chair and worked from ten to sixteen hours a day—a course that would have killed an ordinary writer in less than a year. Balzac continued it for a score of years. His first success was with "The Chouans," published under his own name. This was followed by "Le Peau de Chagrin," known in English as "The Magic Skin" or "The Wild Ass's Skin" which remains one of his best and one of his most popular novels. It made secure his fame as a writer to be reckoned with. This novel has now been made into a motion picture under the title of "Slave of Desire," by Gilbert E. Gable for distribution by Goldwyn Cosmopolitan. It was directed by the veteran actor and director of both stage and screen, George D. Baker, with a cast including George Walsh, Bessie Love, Carmel Myers, Edward Connelly, George Periolat, William Oranmond, Wally Van and others. It will be the attraction at White's theatre Thursday. The underlying theme of the story—that every one pays for what he wants and gets out of life—is told in such a fascinating way through characters so human and understandable, that it is one of the world's immortal classics. Mr. Gable's screen version is faithful to the spirit of the author and gives some veracious glimpses of Parisian life in the early years of the nineteenth century. There are several spectacular episodes which aid in making "Slave of Desire" one of the year's big photoplays.

"The Magic Skin," or "Slave of Desire" as it is known in its screen version, belongs among what Balzac called his philosophical novels. It is one of that great series of novels which makes up the Human Comedy which the novelist divided into several categories—such as tales of Parisian life, of country life, of military, political and private life. For all those who have read and admired the writings of Balzac, "Slave of Desire" will renew their recollections of one of the best of his novels and to those who are not familiar with his works, it will serve as an admirable introduction to a writer who has helped to mold the knowledge of mankind and the spirit and character of man himself.

That Balzac's novels lend themselves admirably to screen treatment has been proved before—notably in Joseph Schenck's production of "The Duchess of Langeais" starring Norma Talmadge, which was called "The Eternal Flame," and which was one of the finest and most popular pictures made by that actress. "Slave of Desire" adds tremendously to Balzac's reputation as a writer whose stories make the best kind of screen material.

Taain Nurses Praise The Merits of Tanlac

One of the outstanding features in connection with the Tanlac treatment is the large number of professionally trained nurses who have found the medicine of such wonderful merit that they have come out with public statements telling of the remarkable results accomplished by its use. Owing to the wide experience of nurses with various medicines and in the care of the sick, what they have to say about Tanlac will be read with exceptional interest by the public generally.

Mrs. L. A. Borden, 425 Pontius Ave. Seattle, Wash., a graduate of the National Temperance Hospital, Chicago, and for many years a leader in her profession, pays the following tribute to Tanlac.

"From my long experience as a nurse I do not hesitate to say Tanlac is Nature's most perfect remedy. I have used it exclusively for seven years in the treatment of my charity patients. For keeping the stomach, liver, kidney and bowels functioning properly and for toning up the system in general, Tanlac has no equal."

Mrs. J. A. Lorenzen, graduate of Bellevue Hospital, New York, now a wealthy and influential resident of 285 Faxon Ave., San Francisco, says:

"In all my experience as a nurse, I never found a stomach medicine and tonic that compares with Tanlac. My own health was terrible five years ago and although I spent hundreds of dollars in a vain search for relief from nervousness, indigestion and my generally run-down condition, it remained for Tanlac to give me back my health, and I have enjoyed splendid health ever since. I can sincerely recommend Tanlac for anyone."

Mrs. Cora Lynch, well-known practical nurse, 3936 Avenue C, Birmingham, Ala., expresses her gratitude to Tanlac in the following words:

"For three or four years I had suffered from a combination of stomach, liver and kidney disorders, could not assimilate my food and was almost constantly suffering from pains in different parts of my body. Tanlac restored my health splendidly. I now keep it in the house and take a little when not feeling right. It never disappoints me."

Miss Mary Baize, 1531 North 20th St., Omaha, Neb., for fifteen years a practical nurse, recently stated:

"I can recommend Tanlac not only because of what it has done for me, but also because of what I have seen it do for others. After a long spell of typhoid my brother was so weak he could barely walk from one chair to another. I gave him Tanlac and it was simply marvelous the way it built him up. Nursing him through that long illness left me weak and exhausted. I could eat but little and my food hurt me. Tanlac restored my strength and health and built me up fifteen pounds in weight. As a gist, accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold. Tanlac is for sale by all good drug stores. Take Tanlac Vegetable Pills.

SHEELEY SHOW'S FAMOUS HORSE

With glare of light and blare of brass, a colorful panorama of lights, music and noise, entertainment row at the mighty Pitt County Fair was thrown open last night with the eight rides and more than a dozen tented attractions of the Greater Sheesley Shows catering to the amusement tastes of young and old.

Resplendent with gold leaf, myriads of vari-hued incandescents, the show-stands are attractive, the riding devices well kept up, canvas in good condition considering the long season, and wardrobe of performers immaculate. The men and women on the "bally-hoos" are clever and courteous, and the whole atmosphere of the Sheesley organization is clean and wholesome.

Vieing with the big circus side-shows was the Plantation show with the Georgia Minstrels' jazzy band and orchestra, the thrilling auto-drome, midgets' theater and freaks animal show. The caterpillar and the butterfly, new thrill-makers turned out this season from Coney Island, saturated the riding devices, the old standbys, the merry-go-round and the Ferris wheel, however, holding their own in the eyes of youthful pleasure seekers.

Capt. John M. Sheesley, one of the leaders in the Showmen's legislative committee of America, which has conducted a crusade among outdoor showdom which has eliminated the fly-by-nights and undesirables, is in personal charge of his enterprise.

Nancy, shown on the accompanying picture, was a show horse—but she didn't know it.

She was born on a farm, played in the green pastures by her mother's side, was broken to harness and to the plow and spent the first eight years of her life in the humdrum drudgery usual to the farm horse.

Of course, Nancy's owners noted something about her that their other work animals did not possess—but they charged it up to a freak of nature, and let it go at that.

Some weeks ago Capt. John M. Sheesley of Greater Sheesley shows was motoring in the country, when he spied Nancy at work in a field with her master. The instinct of the showman immediately asserted itself, and as soon as a bargain could be reached with Mr. and Mrs. August Abraham of Van Dyne, Wis., Nancy became the property of Capt. Sheesley, and was led to the show lot wearing her farm bridle.

Nancy has a snow-white, rippling mane more than eight feet long. Her tail was in proportion, too, but that had been cut to permit her better to do farm work. Now she is one of the features of the big freak animal show of the Sheesley Shows, which are at the Greenville fair this week.

Charles Docen, who has charge of all the strange denizens of the freak animal show, is preparing plenty of spangles for Nancy to wear, flashy, red leather belt and bridle and waving plumes for her head. Nancy already prances when the band strikes up and appears as much at home in the sawdust as she was in the grassy meadows.

Among the remarkable animals with whom Nancy has made close friends are Queen Lily, a Siberian pony with a fourteen-foot tail; Queen Belle, the strangest five-legged cow ever born; Jenkins, a camel-back midget bull; Spark Plug, a camel-back horse, and Jerry a four-horned goat from Switzerland, having two horns of his mountain cousin and two of the common or backyard variety.

"The World's Best Drink"

Tested for the past four years by a critical clientele, it is universally acknowledged by those who have used it as an exceptionally high grade coffee—rich, full-bodied and of unusually fine flavor.

The world produces no better grade of coffee than that which goes into the D. P. Blend. Bought right from the growers in South America, it is exported direct to us, thus saving you the unnecessary middleman's profit.

Roasted fresh daily under the most sanitary conditions—ground immediately in a Burns Steel Cut Chaff Removing Mill, and is never more than three days old. This gives you a vastly superior coffee to the canned product that is shipped in from away, and no one knows how long it has been put up.

Packed and sealed in Double Lined Germ and Dust-Proof Sanitary Bags. Here is another saving over the costly decorated Tin Containers (cost from 4c to 8c pound) which are pretty to look at but expensive to the pocketbook.

And for three different reasons.

Grandmother says it's the only corset that is so comfortable she forgets she's wearing it.

Mother likes the Modart because it's the most fashionable and stylish corset she can buy.

And Daughter judges the Modart almost entirely by her mirror and the admiration of her friends. She realizes that its graceful well-proportioned lines glorify even her simplest little frocks. And she knows that her poise and feminine charm are due to her Modart.

When you have been fitted to the Modart you will understand why more than a million women of every generation prefer it above all other corsets.
