THIRTY INDIGENT CHILDREN COUNTY AIDED BY RED CROSS

$600 Appropriated To The Welfare Department for This Work

The following letter written by H. L. Smith, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, will be read with interest by people who have the welfare of indigent children at heart. The letter is being sent to all preachers, teachers and organization in the county and shows how the Red Cross is helping unfortunate children.

Read the following and read it again and again until the needy children of Pitt county come before you, until their defective eyes shall look into your good eyes; until their burned bodies shall make you think of your good bodies in contrast; until crippled ones shall hobble their way into your hearts; until undeveloped children, because of tonsils and adenoids, shall draw your sympathy and help—until the paths of it all will grip your most vivid imagination and cause the helping hand to be given. Pass this along to your organization:

"In April of this year the executive committee of the Pitt County Chapter of the Red Cross made an appropriation to the Welfare Department in the sum of $600 to be used on indigent children under the age of 16 for various types of work. To date the number of 30 have been dealt with in the following manner:

Two clinics for adenoids and tonsils handling 14 children.
One clinic for defective eyes fitting 4 with glasses.
One case badly burned child curing same at cost of $15.

Clinic at Washington on July 11th, where 14 crippled children were examined and 6 found subjects of an indigent nature. Three are now at Gastonia, State Orthopaedic Hospital and 3 others on the waiting list.

Three others were given X-ray examinations to discover defects. (Cases not completed.)

"This appropriation came at a time when the public schools were closing and consequently we have dealt with only the extreme cases that had been reported, principally through the teachers, while the schools were in session.

Most all of the cases dealt with above were children that could not attend school on account of physical defects. We feel the health and general physical condition of those treated to date is a great improvement over what it was prior to medical attention.

Cordially yours,

H. L. SMITH,
Publicity and Advertising Committee.

Thomas Jefferson Dinner In Raleigh On November 19th

RALEIGH, Nov. 10.—Many prominent men and women of the state will gather in Raleigh on November 19th to attend the Thomas Jefferson dinner that will be given in honor of the leaders of the Thomas Jefferson Memorial Foundation who are completing a transcontinental tour in the interest of the movement to provide for the purchase of "Monticello" and the establishment there of a memorial to Jefferson. This party will be in the capital city on the 18 and 19 of this month and an invitation is extended by A. W. McLean, state chairman of the Jefferson Memorial Foundation, and by the local committee, arranging the dinner to admirers of Thomas Jefferson to make reservations for this banquet.

The Jefferson Memorial Transcontinental party is led by Gov. E. Lee Trinkle, of Virginia, who will be one of the speakers in Raleigh. Other speakers will be Dr. Edwin A. Alderman, president of the University of Virginia, and U. S. Senator Royal S. Copeland, of New York. The personnel of the party includes men of national prominence in both dominant political parties, emphasizing the non-partisan character of the movement.

Plans arranged by a committee, Dr. George J. Ramsey, chairman, composed of representatives of the several civic organizations, provide for this dinner to be held at the Yarrow Hotel, 8 o'clock, on the evening of November 19. Two hundred reservations will be made for the occasion and until this number of reservations are made, all of those who are interested in attending the dinner are invited to secure reservations. Robert F. Phillips, secretary of arrangements, 314 Commercial Bank Building, Raleigh, is receiving requests for these reservations and all of those who desire to attend the dinner may secure tickets by communicating with him.

It is not the desire of the members of the transcontinental party to do other than to acquaint the leaders in each of the sections in which they stop with the purpose of the Jefferson Memorial Foundation, for no requests will be made of those who attend the dinner. This party led by Governor

Blount - Harvey Co. Window Decorated For Armistice Day

"Let us forget," every citizen of Pitt county should see the attractive window at Blount-Harvey Co. The window is decorated with red, white and blue, with a large number of flags and poppies being used.

The names of the gold star boys are written, most attractively, on large card boards, each board being dropped with the American flag. On card bears names of the boys who died "Over There," another the boys who died from injuries received while fighting and another the names of those who died before they left their native soil.

Mrs. C. S. Whitchard, decorated the window and she certainly deserves much praise for its artistic appearance.

Rev. Dr. J. A. Ellis, of Raleigh, arrived this afternoon to deliver the Armistice Day sermon to the ex-service men at Jarvis Memorial Methodist church tomorrow.

Trinkle is completing his trip across the country, having made visits to about 20 of the leading cities of the United States. Japanese Were Skeptical to American Help

Admiral A. E. Anderson

When Admiral A. E. Anderson, commander of the American Asiatic Squadron, rushed his fleet into Yokohama harbor immediately after Japan's fatal earthquake, the Japanese were frankly skeptical as to the cause of the visit, the Admiral said when he reached San Francisco on the Pacific Mail liner President Taft. But they soon welcomed them as saviors when they learned they came to bring food and medicine, and not on a war-like mission.

MORRISON DISPOSES OF CASE OF SUNCREST LUMBER COMPANY

RALEIGH, Nov. 10.—Governor Morrison has finally disposed of the case of the Suncrest Lumber Company of Haywood county. The company was convicted at the criminal term of court last spring of violating the statute forbidding the operation of logging trains on Sundays and was fined $500 and costs. The lumber company appealed to the Supreme Court and a few weeks ago the court in a lengthy decision in which the court decided the methods employed by the company in working its men on such work as logging operations on Sunday and upheld the lower court.

The lumber company then appealed to Governor Morrison for a pardon and in the decision made yesterday the executive declined the pardon.

PRICE SITUATION STILL IMPROVING ON LOCAL MARKET

The Greenville Market Makes An Average of $26.06 Past Week

According to a report made public this morning by H. A. Bost, secretary of the Greenville Tobacco Board of Trade, the local market last week sold 2,138,676 pounds of tobacco for $557,478.09, at an average of $26.06.

For the entire season the market has sold a total of 22,056,594 pounds for $4,735,814.50, at an average of $21.47.

The price situation showed some improvement over last week, and farmers from surrounding communities who sold here were gratified at the splendid showing made on all grades.

Sales were lighter this week than last and the floors were cleared without any trouble. Farmers from a distance continue to manifest much interest in the way the week is selling.

The Total Revenue Collections For Year Reaches $6,000,000

RALEIGH, Nov. 10.—The total revenue collections for the period January 1, 1923 to January 1, 1924, in the opinion of Commissioner of Revenue R. A. Doughton, will reach the figure $6,000,000 and may exceed that sum. In figures furnished here tonight the Commissioner expressed his conviction that the Budget Commission had not over estimated the State's capacity for paying and that their predictions as to revenue would be fulfilled as the facts in the matter.

Inheritance Taxes, always a variable quantity, have fallen off stated the Commissioner as have the income tax under schedule, B. and C., these being taxes on trades, etc. However, the franchise tax, amounting to 1-10 of one percent on stock issues, is expected to produce $300,000 additional revenue before the end of the present year. A million dollars at least is estimated to be the amount which will be paid in on the insurance tax by January first.

The revenue department, according to Commissioner Doughton, has collected during the present revenue period considerable sums which can not be included as revenue for the present year as it was turned over immediately to the treasurer's office. These amounts were taxes due for 1922 and prior years which the treasurer's office did not have the machinery with which to collect.

SALISBURY TO HAVE MODERN HOOK AND LADDER MOTOR TRUCK

MR. FORD'S BOOM

Henry Ford is one of those fortunate persons whom astrologers credit with having been born under propitious stars. He has amassed a fortune and built a great business, not without the aid of qualities of shrewdness and because he was the one man of many who was given to turn opportunity to magnificent. It is now evident that the same lucky stars are guiding his destinies in politics. How far they will continue to guide can only be told by time.

nomination through the services of his admirers, not because he has political strength, but

Mr. Ford is a candidate for the presidential because the old time parties has political weakness. He is the product, as a candidate, of an exigency. Out of the profusion and confusion and complexity of the present political situation the only certainty that is evident is uncertainty. The Ford boom waxes fat on these conditions. Under ordinary circumstances it would never have attained its present proportions.

The outcry for Henry Ford for president is not an intelligent outcry, but it is unquestionably strong and lusty in some sections of the country. It is unreasonable, but it is popular. It does not carry appeal to nonpartisan students of affairs. Even Mr. Ford's staunch friend, Mr. Edison, feels that Henry would be a failure in the White House if not a positive danger. But believers in political miracles, enthusiasts and hero worshippers can see no obstacles to Mr. Ford's success as a president in the same measure as he has made a success of the automobile business. That is what is worrying two old parties very greatly, for they realize that popular sentiment is likely to be unreasoning sentiment, but powerful.

The strangeness of the situation arises from the fact that there is no fear of Mr. Ford as a statesman or a great man intellectually or as an organizer. But the old parties are without leaders. There are great issues, but not great men. In common with the rest of the world, we are without leaders at a time when great leaders are cried for. That is why Henry Ford seems a political Messiah to those who admit to dissatisfaction with the old parties and why they hope to see him duplicated on a national scale the miracle of the loaves and fishes.

The enthusiasts who propose to nominate Mr. Ford will provide for him a platform of economic hysteria, delusion and wild imagination, and will carry on a campaign that will appeal to the hope and fancy of political millennialists. Behind these futile hopes there is a pathetic yearning for something better than the futilities and failures of the old organizations, a groping for a better day. But the belief that Mr. Ford can create a new heaven and a new earth if elected to the Presidential chair is weak and inutile. It is a fascinating idea, but a dangerous one.

A grave danger lies in the possibility that one or the other of the old parties, leaderless and frightened, will attach itself to the Ford flivver.

THE HABIT OF READING

"Books should be the daily companions of a child's life. And they ought not to be linked too closely with the school. You don't want to create the idea that reading is a task, a lesson. It's fun, the good time he can get out of reading that needs to be emphasized. You want to make him enjoy reading, so that reading will become a treasured part of his daily life," says Hildegarde Hawthorne in a recent article in the Literary Digest International Book Review.

She urges parents and teachers to choose books very carefully and to discuss them with the children, so that the boys and girls will learn to love books, and to select them with discrimination.

There are so many attractive books published for young people nowadays,—not only fairy tales and stories of adventure, but books on the out-of-doors, on history and travel,—books to stimulate a child's fancy and open up new worlds of knowledge to him.

Jack London once wrote to a friend that the reading of a tattered copy of Ouida's novel, "Signa," when he was a little boy, inspired in him a desire to read more and more, and to get beyond the hills that bounded the narrow California valley in which he lived. Frequently—as in his case—a book will lead a boy or girl into great adventures in the field of literature or science or art.

The national Children's Book week, to be held this year from November 11th to 17th, has become the occasion for special book exhibits in public libraries, schools and for discussion of boys' and girls' reading by many clubs throughout the United States. The Woman's Club and the Public Library plan to promote this wise and forward movement in our town.

The slogan for the week is, "More Books in the Home."

SUGAR TARIFF HEARINGS

From Washington comes a dispatch telling that the Tariff Board is rushed to death with work and that some of its proposed hearings must be postponed. It is specifically announced that public hearings on the change in duty on brierwood pipes have been postponed and that the sugar tariff hearings originally planned for this month have been put forward to January.

The general public thus suffers two strokes of misfortune. It will have to wait a few days to learn the fate of the brierwood pipe industry, and it will have to wait several months before an investigation can be made of the sugar tariff. Meanwhile, there is threatened another sugar shortage and a rise in price of that commodity, and heaven only knows what will befall our brierwood pipe supply.

It was last spring that the rapid rise in the sugar prices directed attention to the import taxes levied in the Fordney-McCumber tariff schedules, and the public outcry led to an appeal to the Tariff Commission for a reduction in the duty. But the Commission has been so busy that it has had no time to do anything.

As a matter of fact, the Commission has found a knotty problem that must be settled before it can tackle the sugar duty with any sense of security. Production cost investigators have been at work in Cuba, Hawaii, the Philippines, Porto Rico, Louisiana and elsewhere, and they have found a wide variation in the cost of production. Now the Commission is faced with the necessity of deciding which group of producers it must consider for protection. Then, of course, there are different costs in several foreign countries.

The public can easily see that the sugar tariff is a thing that must be gone at slowly. The Commission is harassed and worn and it must act wisely and well in considering the producer and the refiner and the middleman and the transportation agent. Just one phase of the situation there is that does not work the Commission at all; that is the consumer's problem. The consumer can wait until January or a year from January. But, anyway, we'll not have to wait long to discover what is to be done about the brierwood pipe situation.

Thomas Meighan and Lila Lee in a scene from the Paramount Picture "Woman-Proof" by George Ade.

"Perfection in motion pictures— are flawless and convincing, acting which is subtle rather than crude, sets which are beautiful without a jarring note of the inartistic."

This is what the modern American theatre audience demands in its motion pictures, according to Thomas Meighan, star in the Paramount picture, "Woman-Proof," which will be featured at White's theatre next Monday.

are concentrating on giving a fine, artistic finish to lavish screen dramas" said Mr. Meighan. "In the struggle to reach this result, many traditions of the screen have been swept aside. "The Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, to cite one instance, has cut down its production more than 25 per cent, so that the entire studio forces may be concentrated to a greater degree on making bigger and better pictures. During the past few years, eighty or more pictures have been produced annually. During the incoming year only fifty-two pictures will be made. This, in my opinion, is one of the most drastic changes in policy ever made by a motion picture corporation.

"It means that the stars and supporting players, the directors and scenario writers and the scores of departments connected with the production of Paramount pictures will have time to give far greater concentration to the making of each picture. It means that the same amount of effort will be put into fifty-two pictures which was formerly devoted to eighty screen dramas."

What critics consider to be one of the best examples of pictures made under this new system is Mr. Meighan's latest starring picture, "Woman-Proof," by George Ade. The picture is a comedy-drama, the story concerning a civil engineer (Thomas Meighan) and his brother and two sisters, all of whom are required to marry within a stipulated period or lose an inheritance of millions of dollars.

Newel Feature at the Strand Again Today

By the way, there was rather a sensation at the Strand last night. There is a person in the trou that dresses as a woman, looks like a woman, talks like a woman, sings like a woman, in fact is a woman to all appearances, yet there is a great deal of speculation among the audience as to where this is a he or a she. Lock her—him—over he—she—is good.

Bert Newell when interviewed last night by a Reflector reporter said that he had been playing the part of a woman since he was a boy. He is now a man about 30 years of age. He has played on all the vaudeville circuits as well as the Prima Donna for some of the larger stock companies.

So well does he play his part that some of the audience still insisted after the show that he was a woman but the writer had lunch with him and found him very much a man. Listen girls, he makes his own gown, and it takes him from two to three hours to make up. And then some people think the actors don't work.

FLEETS OF AMERICAN NAVY TO ENGAGE IN GIGANTIC MANEUVER

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 6.—The greatest and most spectacular peace time naval engagement ever "fought" will be staged early next year in Panama and in the Caribbean Sea, according to naval plans announced here. Practically the whole effective marine fighting force of the United States will be represented in the three months of maneuvers designed to test revolutionary developments of naval warfare since the close of the world war.

Plans for this vast war game have been in preparation for weeks in conference here and at other points on the Pacific Coast. These conferences, under direction of Admiral Robert E. Coontz, commander-in-chief of the United States fleet, were marked by the gathering and consultation of the largest number of commanding executive officers of naval establishment units that has occurred since the war.

Major problems in the complete scheme of a war enters into the plans for the winter maneuvers. These embrace attack upon land defenses, with army units participating, that is a naval fight against an army defending a fortified coast; defensive and offensive actions by army and naval units against naval units along the coast; defensive and offensive actions at sea between naval units, with the fully utility of undersea and air units.

There will be aerial battles, undersea battles, destroyer, fast cruiser and dreadnaught engagements, as well as landing battles in which a complete force of marines will be involved, divided into infantry, artillery, engineer, aviation and signal corps branches of that arm of the naval establishment.

New scouting cruisers, fastest naval vessels afloat, and the sixteen-inch gun dreadnaughts, will participate among the 150 naval craft that will make up the units in these war games. The Pacific fleet, known as the United States battle fleet, will leave this coast about January 4. This embraces the battleship division, the destroyer squadrons, submarine divisions, aircraft divisions and fleet base force. Joint exercises with the army when approaching the Panama side of the canal are planned, after tactical exercises between units of the naval force while steaming off the Mexican and Central American coast.

These units will probably remain at Panama for two or three days, refill with fuel, transit the canal and head for Culebra. This force is under command of Admiral S. S. Robinson.

The Atlantic forces, known as the scouting fleet, will leave the east coast at the same time the Pacific units leave here, and upon reaching Panama will engage in a combined war game with the Pacific units. The scouting fleet consists of battle ship divisions, destroyer squadrons, air squadrons, train forces and a control force and is under command of Vice-Admiral N. A. McCully.

Admiral Robert E. Coontz will be in active command of the winter maneuvers.

After the naval engagements worked out by the combined fleet the war-craft will proceed together for a series of combined tactical exercises using Culebra as a base from which to operate. In these exercises will be utilized some new effective developments in strategy.

Some thirty-five thousand officers and men will participate in the maneuvers, and during the recreational period the athletic championships of the navy will be determined.

Thomas Meighan Is Not Woman-Proof In "Woman-Proof"

Is any man safe from the affections of feminine admirers? Is the inheritance of $1,000,000 on one's wedding day really a help to Cupid where a nice girl is concerned? These and other questions are answered in Thomas Meighan's latest Paramount star picture, "Woman-Proof," which will be shown at White's theatre next Monday. This is a story of romance where the conditions of matrimony are decidedly unromantic. The story was written by George Ade, noted humorist, and the picture was directed by Alfred E. Green.

The story is that of a civil engineer Tom Rockwood, played by Thomas Meighan, whose father made a will stipulating that all his children must marry before they could inherit his huge fortune. Tom has two sisters and a brother, all of whom soon select mates, but Tom is too busy directing a huge engineering project to bother about love. The story opens with the brother and sisters and their prospective mates planning to induce Tom to marry. Meanwhile, young Rockwood accidentally falls in love, and is on the point of proposing marriage when complications arise.

Milo Bleech, an unscrupulous lawyer and the executor of the Rockwood estate, temporarily block the love romance of Tom and Louise Halliday, but matters are finally adjusted. Bleech is defeated and the Rockwood inherit the fortune. Lila Lee is the girl and heads a strong supporting cast.
