SAFETY FIRST RULES FOR AUTOMOBILES

Some automobile don'ts

If you are teaching someone else to drive, keep your hands off the wheel and near the emergency brake. It's safer. Don't mix booze and gasoline. Such a mixture is likely to end in death. Don't try to hug your girl with one arm and drive with the other hand. You're both likely to get hurt.

NORTH CAROLINA'S RECORD IN PUBLIC EDUCATION SINCE 1900

RALEIGH, Nov. 13.—From an expenditure of $950,317.47 for education in 1900 in the state to a total of $23,000,000 in 1923, a gain of approximately 2300 per cent; such is the record of North Carolina in public education according to figures compiled here tonight from records of the Department of Public Instruction. Indicative of the awakening sentiment for education in North Carolina is the fact that in 1910 the appropriation for education had reached the total of only a little over three millions of dollars but in 1922 had jumped approximately 700 percent and was more than twenty one and a half millions.

In 1900, the expenditure for new school buildings was $40,711.47. In 1922 it was $6,118,887.49. The operating expense of the entire school system of the state in 1900 was less than a million dollars; in 1922 it was more than 15 and a half millions. The value of school property in North Carolina in 1900 was $1,097,654.00; in 1922 it was greater than thirty-five millions.

Not alone has the total increased as regards permanent improvements but the value of each schoolhouse has multiplied in 1900 to $4,523.40 in 1922.

Teachers' salaries, along with the other items have increased in 1900 the average salary of a white teacher was $24.79 while in 1922 it had increased to $102.15. For negro teachers the average increased for the same period from $20.48 to $62.44.

The old log school house, so common in every section of the state 20 years ago has almost disappeared. In 1900 North Carolina's 100 counties contained a total of 1,190 log school houses, most of them being of crudest construction and hardly worthy the name: school house. But in 1920 the number is only 71 and of these but nine are for white children.

From an average school term in years of actual attendance of 73 days in 1900 the school year has been lengthened among the white children to 141.1 days while the total school population has increased correspondingly from 657,949 in 1900 to 889,406. Of this population, which includes all children eligible for school attendance 400,452 attended school in 1900 and in 1920 752,698, nearly twice the number attending twenty years ago. In percentage of population sixty percent of the children were enrolled in 1900 while in 1922, eighty five percent was enrolled.

In 1900, North Carolina had approximately thirty high schools. In 1923 the number was 475. The enrollment in the high schools during the same period increased from 2,000 to 48,831. Another phase of public education which has been included in the present day school work is the public rural library. In 1900, the idea had not been thought of apparently and there were no such libraries but in 1910 2,420 had been established and in 1923 the number was more than double.

Perhaps the most outstanding figures of the comparison between 1900 and 1922 are furnished by the permanent improvements appropriations and the maintenance appropriations of the two years for state institutions. In 1900 $8,000 was allowed for permanent improvements for a two year period but in 1923 by act of the legislature $7,044,000 is available for the two year period for the same purpose. In the maintenance of state institutions the allowance in 1900 was $47,000 while in 1923 it had increased to $3,496,750.

That the added appropriations for public education have reduced the number of ignorant is shown by the 1920 census figures for North Carolina illiteracy as compared with those of 1900. In the latter year the percentage of illiteracy was 29.4 and in 1920 it had been reduced to 13.1. Taking the races separately, the percentage for the earlier year for whites was 14 while in 1920 it was 7.2. For the colored population the figures were 38.6 per cent illiterate in 1900 and 24.5 per cent illiterate in 1920.

FORMER EMPEROR NOT AUTHORIZED RETURN GERMANY

Gets Passports. Private advices from Doorn, received by the Agence Telegraphique Belge, says that a courier, Von Hoehst, arrived at Doorn at four o'clock this afternoon with 12 German passports for the ex-Kaiser and his immediate entourage. A telegram in cipher was received there in the morning and early in the afternoon there was a long conference between William and those close to him. Later a high Dutch official, Dr. Kan, of the Ministry of the Interior, called and conferred with the former Emperor for thirty-five minutes.

A wireless system has been installed at Doorn House, which has been the residence of the head of the Hohenzollerns during the later years of his interment in Holland, and messages are received from Nauen daily.

He Thinks America Under No Obligation To Join In Protest

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—President Coolidge stated today that he believed that the traditional policy of the American government would preclude it from joining the allied governments in protesting to Germany against the return of the former emperor and crown prince, or in any measure to prevent the re-establishment of a monarchy. The chief executive feels that the United States should abide by its established tenet that any nation is within its rights in establishing any form of government it desires. It is the official view here that the allied governments' right under the Versailles treaty to protest and take such measures as deemed necessary but the United States is not a party to the treaty and is under no obligation to join the protest.

THE WARNINGS TO GERMANY

The Allies may be excused if they display a certain nervousness over events in Germany. In the march of plot and counterplot anything might happen. Yet it would seem that exaggerated significance has been given to the hurried return of the former German Crown Prince to his estate in Silesia. The ostensible attitude of the Berlin authorities is that they gave permission for this young man to re-enter Germany partly as a means of evidencing their faith in the firm establishment of the republic. They expect no monarchist uprising, and are confident of their ability to put it down if one occurs. As for any competition between the Hohenzollerns and the Wittelsbachs for the old imperial crown, the Berlin idea seems to be that the Munich fiasco has thrown a plague of fatal ridicule upon both their houses. The reply of the Dutch Government to the allied protests against permitting the Crown Prince to leave Holland is dignified and seems to be correct. There was no law, domestic or international, under which Frederick William could have been detained if he chose to go. Of course, he would not be allowed to come back to Holland. His privilege of political refuge there has been exhausted.

Much more serious is the notification by the Allies to the German Government that they will not permit the establishment in Germany of a military dictatorship whose flag would be repudiation of the Versailles Treaty. This is a warning which Berlin cannot afford to disregard. No more can it the united demand of the Allies that German military strength be kept within the limits laid down by the Treaty of Versailles, and retained under the supervision of the Interallied Military Commission. On this point the reply of the German Government is satisfactory, so far as it goes. It fully recognizes the obligations of Germany under the treaty. But it requests that, in the present disturbed condition of Germany, no allied military men be sent to look into the question of German forces and their armaments, lest some unpleasant "incident" occur. This sounds reasonable, but the German Government must not blind its eyes to the facts. It has received a grave warning, fully warranted under the treaty of peace. It must perceive that the Allies are firmly and unitedly resolved not to allow the Versailles Treaty to be torn up or evaded. These are trying days for Germany, both at home and abroad; but the authorities at Berlin have special reason to walk warily in every matter affecting their relations with the allied Governments.

THE LAWMAKING MANIA

Uncle Sam is afflicted with the lawmaking disease. His case is the worst in the history of the world.

The output is so large that the law libraries cannot house it, the lawyers cannot digest or assimilate it.

It is said to be a fact that the 48 state legislatures enact more laws than are even proposed by five great nations.

The ratio before the war was fifty new laws in our country to one by any great nation of Europe.

It takes 650 large volumes to hold in printed form the Supreme Court opinions on questions of constitutionality.

The law library of Columbia University contains 100,000 volumes and increases at rate of 8000 a year.

Why not stop manufacturing so many laws, try enforcing some of them and repeal some of the others?

A smaller legislative output would be an evidence of political sanity.

Some folks are so anxious to attract attention that they yell when they're born and have their last groan carved on the tomb-stone.

LITERARY SOCIETIES OF COLLEGE ENJOY WEEK

The literary societies held the center of interest at East Carolina Teachers College all last week. The names of the new girls were divided into two lists, one falling to the Poes and the other to the Laniers Society. Each new girl was eager to know or which side her lot was to be cast, but she knew until the invitations were received early Saturday morning. Around the post office and at breakfast excitement ran high as Poes found fellow Poes and Laniers found fellow Laniers. Amid the rejoicing was an occasional disappointed face but it soon brightened and every girl knew finally she was in the right society.

The old members of the societies went about all the week wearing an air of mystery and superiority, trying to keep the secret of the plans for initiation, and the new girls were zealously preparing to meet any demands made of them, even to learning the laundry list to the tune of "Home Sweet Home." The only ordeal they were called on to pass through was that of wearing pig tails and pale faces all day Saturday. This was in obedience to the notice posted Saturday. "All new girls wear their hair plaited, regardless of whether bobbed or not, no paint or powder must be used until 5:30."

On Saturday red and white and green and white streamers fluttered on trees and posts all over the campus, and all the red and green sweaters were in evidence. The Laniers coat hauled all day but the Poe black cat by its failure to appear remained a mystery, in true Poe style.

All these previous signs of initiation in each society was marked by happy surprises that were free from the taint of roughness. The new girls were treated royally. The Poes held their initiation celebration in the Rotary Club House and the Laniers at the Country Club.

The Poes assembled first in the auditorium of the college at 5:30 for a moving picture, of "The Telltale Heart" a story by Edgar Allen Poe. After the picture the girls with lighted Japanese lanterns held in their left hands and wicks packed across their shoulders, formed in single file, five new girls headed by an old girl. Obeying the order "Since during march" the girls took a zigzag course across the back campus, on through the business part of town, then to the Rotary Club. The contents of the pack proved to be tennis slippers which all the girls donned before entering the warmth and cheeriness of the Club House. The new girls with bowed heads and hands clasped behind their backs; slowly marched between two lines of old girls into the house and up the stairs to the darkened room of initiation. The door closed. Some time elapsed before a delicious supper was served which each girl enjoyed very much. A short while before the lights winked, the Poes weary of merry making wended their way homeward. The society feels that it owes a great debt of gratitude to the Rotary Club for the use of the Club House.

The Laniers left the college at 5 o'clock in big trucks bound for the Country Club. One truck load carried old girls and supplies. The new members could be spotted by their jaunty green and yellow caps. On their arrival at the Country Club they literally fell out of the trucks, and swarmed down on the lakeside and into the warmth of the Club House. They were not allowed to tarry long before they were ordered to fall into a triple line, an old girl guiding two new ones in a grand march, over hills and across fields. During the march orders were given: "be acquainted with your partner," "change partners," "new girls walk backward," "walk on all fours," "cross the plank across the ditch single file," etc. The march ended by forming a circle around a camp fire, where stunts followed. Rations were given out to the cafeteria line and the girls had a jolly time toasting waffles and marshmallows.

The initiation exercises were held in the club house. All marched over the hill at 8:30 where the trucks were waiting, and all were home again before the ten o'clock wink.

The Laniers owe a debt of thanks to the Country Club and to the owners of trucks for making the occasion a success.

INTERESTING ACT WILL BE REPEATED AT STRAND TONIGHT

An intensely interesting act was staged last night at the Strand Theatre that not alone was educational but amusing as well. Mr. S. H. Selwyn a moving picture director appeared and gave a brief discourse on the making of moving pictures explaining just how they make the productions in Hollywood Cal. He also made screen tests of several ladies and gentlemen in the audience. He is on his way to Florida to make comedies and is making the trip by automobile visiting as many of the theatres that he can try to dis-

DODGE BROTHERS CARS WELL KNOWN FOR LONG LIFE

Dodge Brothers motor cars are favorably known throughout the world for many important advantages, but are probably known for their ability to give satisfactory service over a long period of years—for a period of life beyond that commonly allotted to a motor car. Ninety-four per cent of the cars that have been manufactured by this company are still in operation, day in, day out, in all parts of the country.

One of the most notable examples of the long life and durability of Dodge Brothers cars is found in Car No. 12, the first Dodge Brothers car shipped to the Pacific Coast, arriving there in December, 1914. No. 12 was displayed in San Francisco and Oakland, used as a demonstrator and eventually sold. Recently it was in the possession of a rancher near Santa Rosa, who used it in his daily work. He refused to sell it outright, but finally traded it in on a new car. At the present time it has been run approximately 175,000 miles.

From Walnut Cove, N. C., comes word that Car No. 5 is running satisfactorily as a service car for the Davis Repair Company. Mr. Davis writes, "The motor still has in it the original pistons and bearings that were installed at the factory nine years ago. No. 5 has been in service every day."

There was recently displayed in a parade in Manhattan, Kansas, a Dodge Brothers car sold in December, 1914. Its speedometer now shows a mileage of 224,000 miles, and the car is in constant daily use.

Carl Schafer, of Madison, Wis., is an enthusiastic Dodge Brothers owner. Mr. Schafer purchased a used Dodge Brothers car in September, 1916. Since then he has driven, and has proofs to support his statement, over 229,000 miles. Mr. Schafer has sworn to the above facts before a notary.

Some time ago John Anstermier, Jr., and Robert Baur, two young men of Terre Haute, purchased a used Dodge Brothers touring car with which to tour Canada, Mexico and the Western States. At the time the car was purchased the speedometer registered 203,000 miles, and there were those who doubted that the car would ever reach Chicago. The boys returned a few weeks ago, after having gone even farther than they expected, having added 11,127 miles to the original 203,000 mileage. They expect to make a tour of the Eastern States next year with the same car. Dodge Brothers records cite numerous instances, such as the above, of the durability and unusually long life of their cars.

If You Need A Medicine You Should Have Best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain — the article did not fulfil the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, like an endless chain system, the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefitted, to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact, so many people claim, that it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments, corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcel Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention this paper. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.

STOPPED HIS "DON'T CARE" FEELING

Charley Fisher Says Munyon's Paw Paw Tonic Whetted His Appetite and Gave Him Strength.

"I was having much difficulty with my stomach and whenever I would get up I would feel drowsy and really did not care for anything." So writes Charley Fisher, of Bunker Hill, Ill. "I began taking Munyon's Paw Paw Tonic, and after the first dose I felt much better, and after about half the bottle was taken it seemed as if I could not get enough to eat, my appetite had improved to such an extent. I felt much stronger. I have altogether taken three bottles and my condition has been wonderfully improved.

"Our local druggist carries the tonic in stock, and I am able to procure it from him. I have been telling my friends about it and some of them are also taking the Tonic and find it as I told them. There is no better tonic for the blood, and the iron in it makes one strong."

If YOU are run-down or suffer from indigestion, heartburn, sleeplessness, stomach, liver, kidney or blood trouble, you owe it to yourself to try Munyon's Paw Paw Tonic. It has put thousands back on their feet and has given them the happiness of health and strength again. There's danger in further delay! Buy a $1 bottle of Munyon's Paw Paw Tonic TODAY at any first-class drug store.
