GERMAN CONDITIONS WORST IN HISTORY, SAYS BRITISH PRESS

Stresemann Quits; Von Kartarff Asked Form New Cabinet

BERLIN, Nov. 24—Up to noon today the government was running as usual course, despite the resignation of former Chancellor Stresemann and the rebuke administered by the reichstag to his conduct of government affairs.

LONDON, Nov. 24—President Ebert has asked Herr Von Kartarff, to form a new cabinet since the resignation of former Chancellor Stresemann, says a New Agency dispatch.

The downfall of the Stresemann government is viewed here with significance involving developments destined to have a deep and lasting effect on all Europe.

"The condition in Germany is worse today than any moment in the history of the empire," says The Times.

Stresemann Resigns. BERLIN, Nov. 24—Dr. Gustav Stresemann last night resigned as Chancellor when the Reichstag, by a vote of 230 to 155, denied his rump cabinet a vote of confidence.

Dr. Stresemann tendered the resignation of himself and the members of his cabinet, which President Ebert accepted.

Socialist Were Active. The outcome of the second crisis during the Chancellor's regime was in doubt up to a half hour before the voting took place, as there were strong influences at work in the ranks of the socialists in the direction of weakening the party's opposition by permitting sufficient members of the party to absent themselves from the chamber, thereby cutting down the chancellor's numerical opposition in the plenary session.

AMERICAN LEGION MINSTREL WAS BIG SUCCESS, GREATLY ENJOYED; TO BE GIVEN AT COLLEGE TONIGHT

The Novelty Minstrel under the auspices of the Pitt County Post of the American Legion was presented in Wingo's theatre last evening to a large and appreciative audience.

Seven specialty acts were given in addition to the minstrel proper. These consisted of a Burlesque rehearsal which took place in the American Legion club.

Act two consisted of a Flapper Special, featuring Miss Hannah Dixon. This was one of the best and most interesting features of the entire evening.

Act three was the eternal triangle taken from life. Two poor romantic Romeos, played by Mike May and Pat Foley were in love with the same Juliet, Miss Marie Davison.

The following orchestral numbers were rendered: "Blue Hooster Blues," Jimmy Barber, Tige Gardner, Mike May and chorus; "Old Black Joe," C. B. Rowlett, Mike Mayo and chorus; "Darned," Nancy King, "More Harmony," Black Face Quartette, "Yes, We Have No Bananas," and "Good Night," by the Novelty chorus.

A SELF-STYLED BARBARIAN

Charles S. Osborn, former governor of Michigan, says he is a "barbarian" and for that reason he and the wife to whom he has been married for 42 years have entered into a separation agreement. Mr. Osborn's description of himself is picturesque, and if he had stopped there and let the imagination of the public roam afield, playing with the images created by the word—of a great rough-mannered man scorning the ways and conventions of civilized life, a new law unto himself, but with his heart in the right place—like movie pictures of the He Man—he would have excited the interest of the greater part of the female population and the secret admiration of most of the domesticated husbands of the country.

But about the worst that can be said of Mr. Osborn is that he is strong for discipline, which is often just another word for wanting to have one's own way. The former governor is an outdoor man and he says his wife is an indoor woman, although she enters a plea of denial to this, and here can probably be found the cause for their separation—just incompatibility.

"Barbarian" is much more arresting than an explanatory "We could not get along together because our tastes are different," and Mr. Osborn puts himself on the first page of the press in the United States.

The call of the wild which is overpowering in the case of Mr. Osborn is possibly heard by all men at moments in their lives, although most of them are so civilized-broken they never think of actually responding to it, or if they do, find they have become unfitted for it and drift back. Perhaps the Michigander's scheme will work out all right. If he were to become a complete isolationist, and, forgetting all of a man's obligation to society, to home and all the rest of civilization, to give himself up to primitive communion with nature, he might be left alone with a surety that he would finally come home, with his barbarian inclinations very much tempered.

FATHER AND SON DAY—WHAT ABOUT MOTHER AND DAUGHTER?

Newspapers in large and small cities and towns are telling you about "Father and Son Day."

Father and son play golf against another father and son. Father and son enter into a walking race against some other father and son.

Poor old "dad" is put on a diet to fit him for the occasion. Of course, "son" does his best to look proud of father, while father pants and puffs in the race or slices in the golf game.

How is it we don't hear anything about mother and daughter day?

Perhaps they are satisfied as it is, content to say when father and son have started out, "Well, thank goodness they are gone."

But why not, extend the thing to mother and daughter? How about a dish washing contest for mother and daughter while father and son listen to the radio or study the sporting pages?

Better still, and seriously, let mother and daughter go shopping and compete with another mother and daughter in finding the best bargains with the best values in our Greenville shops. You would find mother and daughter entering into that with enthusiasm and at least they would bring back something more useful than a golf score.

To hear all the "Father and Son" enthusiasm you would really think that father had created the son, nursed him, weaned him, shifted him to the bottle and brought him all the way up. The mother certainly doesn't cut very much of a figure after she has taught the son how to use his handkerchief, comb his hair, say his prayers and wash his neck.

ZEV AND IN MEMORIAM

After being beaten six lengths by in Memoriam in a race at one mile and three quarters Zev cannot afford to go into winter quarters with moving pictures showing in Memoriam's nose six inches in front of his proboscis in their last race at Louisville, which was awarded to Zev by the judges.

It is explained that the angle at which the pictures were taken accounts for the discrepancy, but nobody is going to make a speech and tell all about it when the pictures are thrown on the screen. Zev is a great horse and deserves a clean record, and in Memoriam seems to be able to cover ground at a pretty good clip. They ought to settle the issue at Bowie.

HOLT'S NEW ROLE IS BEST IN YEARS

An alliance of millions and a tide, but a marriage without love, is the unhappy outlook confronting Jack Holt as a featured player in "The Marriage Maker," a new Paramount picture which will be on view at the White's Theatre Monday only.

He gambles on the races and loses a large sum of money. About to commit suicide, he is persuaded by "the girl" to accept a loan from a money lender.

He does so and pledges his family portraits as security. The paintings are destroyed by fire and the money lender demands payment.

Lord Stobury is about to end his life when something happens. This leads up to one of the most unusual climaxes ever seen in any picture. Agnes Ayres is featured, with Mr. Holt in the exceptional photoplay.

Ray Shoots Up Town In "Deuce of Spades"

Charles Ray in "The Deuce of Spades"

Charles Ray's latest First National release, which comes to the Strand theatre for a week's run commencing Monday and Tuesday, is "The Deuce of Spades" and finds its motive in a sparkling comedy idea revolving about that card, which has been adapted from the story of the late Charles E. an Loan's "The Weight of the Last Straw."

In line with his policy of giving his successive screen productions distinctive characters, the star blossoms forth this time as a young, unsophisticated Bostonian who comes to the Montana mining community of Little Butte for business and future. His immaturity makes him a fit subject for all the con games ever invented. He buys a restaurant under rather unusual conditions, the establishment being about ready to give its expiring gasp when the youngest takes it over and makes something of a go of it by installing a few precepts of cleanliness and business management.

The final straw is packed on his back when he becomes the victim of the oldest card sharper's trick ever invented, the one that Noah is said to have made a clean up with. The hoax wears down the final bit of his passive reserve and he shoots things up, not only winning everybody's self respect, but also regaining his lost wealth, while the girl of his choice looks on approvingly.

The star has surrounded himself with a capable cast for this comedy offering. Marjorie Maurice plays the feminine lead, while other members of the company include Dick Southerland, Bert Olford and William Courtwright, who were seen with Ray in "Gas, Oil and Water."

3 Days 1 Day to Charge Your Battery!

We've just made the biggest improvement in battery service that has ever been offered to the car owners and radio fans of Greenville, N. C.

It's a new and different kind of battery charging system, known as the constant potential system, which greatly reduces the time required for re-charging and has various other big advantages.

We can now re-charge your battery in from 8 to 24 hours, depending on how badly it is run down.

This means at least two or three days' saving of time and two or three days' rental battery charges. Often, too, it means more time saved than that and avoiding much inconvenience.

Whatever the make of your battery, we can re-charge it by this new system.

You'll find, too, the same kind of up-to-date methods used in our repairing.

Or if it is a new battery that you need, we carry the complete Willard line for automobile and radio—both wood-insulated and Threaded Rubber—at a wide range of prices.

Spectacular Fire In New Vitagraph Film

One of the most spectacular fire scenes ever screened will be seen in "The Midnight Alarm" at the Strand theatre on Wednesday and Thursday. A complete four-story office building is burned down to give spectators thrills in the film.

The fire sequence is an integral part of the story of "The Midnight Alarm," which revolves about the disappearance of a girl at childhood and the attempts of her father's business partner to keep her from gaining her wealth. Miss Alice Calhoun plays the role of Sparkle, a waif, who really is Susan Thornton, missing heiress. Percy Marmont appears as a fire captain and rescues her from the burning building in which she is imprisoned in a vault.

Cullen Land's is a pleasing crook in the film. He helps Sparkle regain proof of her identity. Joseph Kilgour plays the villain. He is Silas Carrington, one of the most heartless and cunning types ever characterized on the screen.

Old Time Travelers Seemingly Content With Few Comforts

HAMBURG.—Twenty-five years ago the Hamburg-American Line established its first ship, the Deutschland, in the service between Hamburg and New York. This was a sailing vessel of 771 tons, and was regarded as a monster craft in those days. This liner was so successful that two others, the Elbe and the Rhein, soon were put into service.

Steamships were operating then, but because of the clumsy and space-consuming nature of the machinery and the heavy costs of fuel, they were not regarded as a good commercial proposition.

Adolph Geoffrey, director of the German steamship company, at a meeting of the directors in 1848, told with great pride of the high character of the accommodations which its three ships were affording trans-Atlantic travelers who passed 42 days on the trip from Hamburg to New York and 30 days on the eastward trip. SEPARATISTS FIGHT FOR THEIR LIVES

Crefeld Riding

The civil strife in the Rhineland section of Germany has taken on the appearance of a carefully prepared plan of battle between the loyal followers of the German Reich and the Separatists, who would quit Germany and set up an independent state. Desperate fighting has put down the Separatist movement for the time being. Separatists are shown here barricaded before the Town Hall at Crefeld, from which they were driven, with loss of life.

one occasion the return trip was made in 23 days, a monumental achievement. The Deutschland had 20 cabin seats and 200 seats on the lower decks. And what was especially notable, a bed was placed at the disposal of each passenger, with sufficient linen for the trip.

The Deutschland had a "kick back" which was handed to passengers at the end of every voyage so they could register their grievances. In the ladies' compartment there were some engravings, a gold-framed looking gorgeous piece of furniture and a substantial carpet which formed a "fine background for the crinolines of the female passengers," in the opinion of the well-satisfied director.

JUSTICE GIVEN TO NEW STATE IN EAST AFRICA

GENEVA.—The realm of Ruanda has come into its own again. The story reveals how the machinery of the League of Nations often turns to meter out justice to almost forgotten peoples. But Ruanda does not think it has passed out of the thought of the world, for it believes in its greatness and the bigness of its destiny as one of the states of East Africa.

When the "Big Four" sitting at Paris sliced up the map of Europe and fashioned new states out of big ones, they did a little ribbon work with African colonies. One result was to place the native community of Urundi and the "Kingdom of Ruanda" under the mandate of Belgium. Formerly they formed a part of German East Africa. But it was arranged that the northeastern part of Ruanda should pass under British mandate, because England wanted to construct a railroad connecting North and South Africa.

Later it transpired it would have been quite possible to build this line without cutting up Ruanda. Complaints began to be received by the permanent mandate commission of the league. With his kingdom cut in twain, the proud native ruler cried out that his prestige was crumbling.

Berlin Women Aroused By Muzzle Dog Order

BERLIN.—A war of words is raging in Berlin between women who own pet dogs on one side and the police and non-owners of dogs on the other. It was started when the police put into effect again an order requiring all dogs to be muzzled and kept on leash when in the streets. The women dog fanciers charge that this is simply a means of persecuting them for taking the muzzles off their little pets and letting them loose for a run in the tiergarten. The police justify the order by charging that the dogs running loose about Berlin have become a nuisance and a menace to public health, and the non-owners of dogs are arguing against the unnecessary waste of food in maintaining the dogs.

Says Careful Diet Should Accompany Insulin Treatment

NEW YORK.—In an article in the current issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. Frederick M. Allen, director of the Physiatre Institute, Morristown, N. J., gives an authoritative review of the treatment of diabetes with insulin, based on its use at the Institute for a period of more than a year, or since the discovery of insulin by Dr. Frederick G. Banting and his associates.

The impression has gained much headway with the public during the past year, according to Dr. Allen, that insulin is a cure for diabetes and that regulation of diet is not necessary. This is far from the truth. The use of insulin without a regulated diet is a dangerous error. Continuing Dr. Allen writes: "The purpose of insulin treatment is to improve the nutrition of patients with severe diabetes and to add a safeguard against downward progress. Mild cases, which can be kept symptom-free on adequate diets, ordinarily do not require insulin. Insulin does not offer a cure of diabetes, or a license for carelessness.

"The insulin treatment should be carried out in conjunction with accurate diets and laboratory control to assure that patients remain sugar-free. It involves the inconvenience of frequent subcutaneous injections and other disadvantages, does not simplify diabetic treatment or justify careless methods, and is not the final step in diabetic research.

Moscow 100 Per Cent Overcrowded, Rents At Exorbitant Rates

MOSCOW.—All of the compactness of living like sardines in a can together with about the same amount of privacy as if one were living in a goldfish bowl, is enjoyed by the majority of Moscow's inhabitants. There are more than 2,000,000 of them living in a city built for less than a million, and only the very prosperous newly rich and a few lucky foreigners who have for expense accounts have anything like spacious quarters.

Housing conditions are somewhat better than last year, because some buildings have been repaired, but for every free room there are hundreds of applicants, ready to pay large fees merely for the privilege of moving in.

Generally speaking, the legal amount of space to which any individual is entitled equals that taken up in an American house by a small bathroom or a large clothes closet. In houses which have been returned to private owners, or which have been exempted from the space regulations by agreement with individuals who undertake to repair them, it is sometimes possible to obtain several rooms. But Moscow is money mad, and has been for two years, and the premiums charged merely for obtaining rooms are sometimes fantastic. For example, the writer was asked $500 cash, plus $75 rental, for one small unfurnished room with no convenience whatsoever.

French Decries German Movies.
PARIS.—Many Frenchmen believe the Germans are conducting an anti-French propaganda through the movies. They point to the fact that the scandals of French history; night life in Paris; and unfavorable aspects of French politics are used so often by the German producers that the purpose clearly is to hurt French prestige.

Whalers Active in Antarctic.
CHRISTIANIA.—The whaling industry has come back in Norway, and it now holds an important position in the economic life of the country. Last year the operations in the Antarctic brought in 59,000,000 cwt. Sixty-six whaling vessels are in commission, and 3,000 persons are engaged in the business.

New Paris Fashions Become Women Of Slender Symmetry

PARIS.—The official winter style openings are now a thing of the past and it would seem that the new dress lines put all but slim women at a disadvantage; a veritable cult of slimmness has been developed.

While there is the greatest variety in the matter of detail, and one is allowed the circular or the plain, the embroidered and the unembroidered, the fundamental principle of the "straight line" remains supreme.

For street and travel wear the classic tailleur has the call, and so many women have remained faithful to it despite the changing times, that the great textile manufacturers of northern France are now creating fabrics designed especially for it.

The kasha, marokellaine and velours de Smyrne, particularly the latter, are the materials used by most of the Parisian dressmakers for tailleurs and coats. The velours de Smyrne, coming in plaids and stripes, with a soft velvety surface and all the sturdy qualities of wool, is the most popular fabric among the fashionable frequenters of the Bois de Boulogne and the Champs Elysees, soft dark green being the color most in demand.

Simplicity is the keynote. Button or braid trimmed, or without adornment, these garments for morning and street wear all retain a snug, exact fit which is causing despair among women who admit they are somewhat plump. Slim women, on the other hand, have no fault to find.

Virginia Dare's Birth Place to Be Marked By State Monument

MANTEO, N. C. — A movement has been started by a group of citizens to permanently mark historical spots, and one of the places to be designated by a monument, if the plans materialize, is the birthplace of Virginia Dare, the first white child born on American soil. The spot is on Roanoke Island, often referred to as "the cradle of the English race in America." There is some doubt as to the exact spot where Virginia Dare was born, but it is believed to be near Fort Raleigh, about three miles north of Manteo.

Mounds of earth forming the sides of a pentagon, at each angle of which is a stone post protruding about a foot from the ground, show the location of the old fort. In the center of the fort there is now an unpretentious stone marker on which is inscribed some of the historical records of the place. Unscrupulous relic collectors have marred the present stone marker, but its inscription still can be read.

The county of which Roanoke Island is a part is named Dare, in honor of the first English child born in America, and the seat of the county is named Manteo in honor of the Indian chief who was the first person to be baptized in the new land. Manteo enjoys the distinction of being the only county seat in the United States, with the single exception of Key West, Fla., located on an island.

No Guarantee, Says Head of Missouri, In Ech-Cummins Law

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — A statement pointing out that there is no guarantee section in the Ech-Cummins act, despite assertions by public speakers and resolutions of conventions specifically naming such an alleged section, has been issued by L. W. Baldwin, president of the Missouri Pacific system.

"Contrary to reports and statements from some quarters, there is no guarantee section in the Ech-Cummins act," he said. "In the Transportation Act, congress authorized the Interstate Commerce Commission to set up a schedule of rates which would permit railroads to earn six percent on the valuation of their property, which percent, pursuant to the law, has since been reduced by the commission to give and three-quarters percent. During 1923, the net operating income of all railroads is still running short of the five and three-quarters percent.

"Section 15-A, which is commonly referred to as a guarantee section, is a clause which merely states that the Interstate Commerce Commission.
