TEACHERS COLLEGE STUDENT BODY SPEND ENJOYABLE THANKSGIVING

Thanksgiving is always a day looked forward to at East Carolina Teachers College. Everything is done to make it a happy holiday for the students and there is not time for him to be coming home sick. This year the festivities were up to the high standard set by the preceding years. Immediately after breakfast a Y. W. C. A. service was held, which was led by R. C. Deal. He brought out a number of poems showing ideal standards of citizenship in the kingdom of God. The girls were allowed to attend the union services down town.

At 11:30 the basketball game between the first and second year normal classes was called. The score was 24 to 8 in favor of the first year class. Both teams displayed excellent team work. The referees were Mr. Duncan of Greenville, the umpire, R. C. Deal. There was a great deal of rivalry in class songs and spirited yells. The whole school was lined up on one side or the other. Credit is due Miss Dorothy Tolleson, physical education teacher for the excellent work done. The festivities of the day reached their climax at the dinner. The girls were allowed to sit according to classes in the dining hall. All the tables were beautifully decorated in colors of the classes. Miss August Woodward, president of student government, was toastmistress. The school orchestra played while the girls were entering and at intervals throughout the meal. Before the girls were seated they sang few songs of praise. A Thanksgiving poem was read by Mrs. Beckwith. The following toasts were given: To the Student Body, Miss Pauline Doherty; To the Winning Team, Miss Elizabeth Morris; To the Losing Team, Miss Vera Felton; To the First Year Normal Class, Miss Ellis Outland; To the One who Furnishes the Meal, Miss Grace Atwater.

Many of the President's supporters have visited him recently and urged him to make an announcement of his candidacy at an early date, but so far he has contented himself with listening to advice without giving an intimation of his course. Notwithstanding this, however, and although the President has remained inactive, his friends in several states have taken steps in a preliminary way for his entry into the Presidential race.

Co-op Fruit Growers' Contracts Held Void By California Court

Mrs. Clyde Byfield.

Mrs. Clyde Byfield, who recently sued Walter Candler, son of the "Coca Cola King," as the result of an alleged attack in the summer of a transatlantic liner on which both were passengers, was "Miss Atlanta," Ga., in an advertising contest in New York City.

SAN JOSE, CALIF., Nov. 30.—Ruling that co-operative marketing associations cannot enforce specific performance of contracts with members, and that the amendment to the state civil code passed last May, designed to do so upon them this year, is unconstitutional, a decision regarding as of far reaching importance to co-operative organization, has been handed down by Judge P. F. Gooby of the local supreme court in the case of the California Prune and Apicot Growers' association against the Pomeroy Orchard company.

Injunction Denied. Judge Gooby denied the association's plan for a permanent injunction against the Pomeroy company to prevent it from selling its fruit except to the association, and dissolved a temporary restraining order to this effect previously granted the association.

Lack of "mutuality of remedy" Judge Gooby ruled, made invalid the clause in the association's membership contract in which the grower promised not to sell his fruit except to the association and conferred upon the association the right to compel specific performance of the agreement.

Class Legislation. The amendment to the state civil code designed to confer upon such associations this right, he ruled, was class legislation and hence a violation of the state constitution.

Their decision is binding in five other almost identical suits filed by the association against members including H. C. Cykendall, manager of the association and C. C. Spaulding, a member of the association's voting board. E. P. Pomeroy, a director of the company, concerned in the decision, was formerly a member of the voting board of the association.

DR. MARX HEADS NEW TRI PARTY GERMAN CABINET

BERLIN, Nov. 30.—Official announcement of the new three party coalition cabinet for Germany with Dr. Wilhelm Marx as chancellor and former Chancellor Stresemann as foreign minister was made today. Other members of the cabinet are: Minister of the Interior—Dr. Jarosch; Minister of Defense—Dr. Otto Gessler; Minister of Food—Dr. Hans Luther; Minister of Posts—Dr. Anton Hoffmann; Minister without portfolio—Rudolph Oeser.

Aside from being a pronounced minority cabinet, the present revamped coalition anything but a directly coordinated three party bloc within its own ranks and it also will be called upon to assimilate much of the animosity and partisan acerbities which it inherit from the seven-day crisis, both with a respect to the antagonism existing from the German Nationalist as well as the yet wholly problematical attitude of the United Socialists.

WHERE DOGS EAT THE DEAD—AND ONE WOMAN HAS TEN HUSBANDS

This country is told that it should wander across 3,000 miles of ocean "and save Europe." That would be quite a job, as Europe is determined to go on fighting, quarreling, robbing, pillaging and doesn't WANT to be saved—although it might consent to take some more of our billions and allow us to send a few more of our men, if we were foolish enough for that.

If we should undertake to save Europe the next step, of course, would be to go and save the rest of the world—one, two or three countries at a time. We ought surely not to "play favorites."

Before we finished we should have quite a job. Consider, for instance, our undertaking on starting out to save Mongolia. Roy Chapman Andrews, head of the expedition sent into Asia by a natural history organization, brings back some illuminating details about that country. The expedition found some strange things and conditions in that land. They also found human beings that would take a good deal of "saving" if the United States should ever start out to save the world.

For instance, the habit in Mongolia is for all men to run away when anything unpleasant appears, leaving the women and children to take care of themselves. Andrews says when he appeared in his automobile in a Mongolian village the men ran to the hills as fast as they could. They left the women and children to the "monster."

These interesting people do not bury the dead. They believe that when a man dies a devil enters his body, so they put his body on a wagon without any springs and start off over the rough roads. Soon they throw the body overboard, and in three or four minutes it is devoured by a pack of wild dogs—the most ferocious animals in the world, it is said. These horrible dogs live on nothing but the dead bodies of human beings.

Some days perhaps some kind-hearted person in Washington or Kalamazoo will discover that it is our duty to go over to Mongolia, prepare nice graveyards, kill off the dogs and supply coffins for the Mongolians. We ought to do it, possibly, but there are other things we have to do here. Then, there are the Mongolian ladies. They practice polyandry, one woman having several husbands—in many cases ten husbands for one woman. That was usual once in many countries. Is it our American duty to send over, reform the morals of these ladies, and put a little more ambition into these husbands, on the broad ground that it is our duty to "save far western Mongolia morally?"

It wouldn't be a bad idea; certainly it would be pleasing in the sight of Providence. But why must WE do it? And if it isn't our business to keep dogs from eating the dead in Mongolia, or keep the women of that country from having ten husbands, if she can support them, why in Heaven's name is it OUR business to go over and save Europe from her follies, which compare none too favorably with those of far western Mongolia?

ENFORCE THE DIMMER LAW

The Greenville police department is to be commended for its zealous and efficient enforcement of motor traffic laws in every respect except in the all important matter of blinding bright lights shown by automobile drivers. Records of Mayor's Court show that the police department is unusually active in hauling before the court violators of the speed regulations; failure to stop at prescribed street crossings; parking after the time limit; turning machines in the middle of streets; failure to display insufficient lights, etc.

However, for some reason the police department apparently overlooks the motorist who displays an over sufficiency of lights. At least the records of the city court do not show that motorists who wantonly disregard the dimmer law figure conspicuously in the court's proceedings. And this in face of the fact that the hazard of accident both to motorists and pedestrians is greater than any traffic law in effect.

It is patent by the large number of motorists who constantly violate this important traffic regulation by displaying glaring, blinding lights while driving through the streets of Greenville that it is a vested right.

The attention of Mayor Clark is again invited. It is not presumed that the police department led to the lack of enforcing the dimmer law has been derelict in the matter, but that stringent enforcement has been merely overlooked.

CO-OP "AIR TIGHT" CONTRACT PUNCTURED

News dispatches today from San Jose, Calif., advise that the much talked "air tight" contract between the co-operative fruit marketing association and members has been declared void by the superior court of that county.

Judge P. F. Gosbey, denying the plea of the association for a permanent injunction to compel members to sell fruits only to the association held that the contract lacked "mutuality of remedy." The court also ruled that an amendment to the state civil code, designed to confer upon the association specific performance of contracts between members and the organization in the sale of their products was unconstitutional.

This decision would indicate that the co-operative distribution system promoted by Aaron Sapiro and other "friends" of growers is not meeting with the success that Sapiro and his group of followers led tobacco growers of North Carolina and other states to believe. The terms of this contract has been frequently referred to as an "air tight" document, said to have been drawn by Sapiro and attorney Levy and would stand the acid test of the courts.

When a great many farmers of the bright leaf tobacco belt fell under the "spell" of Sapiro's promises that their only salvation for stable and substantial price for their product was through the pool selling plan, he held up the fruit growers of California as an example of satisfaction and perfect system operation. While he did not bring out the difference between marketing a finished product and unfinished staples and commodities, the inference was they could be distributed in much the same way. But be that as it will, the conditions among growers in the San Jose section formerly one of the strongest supporters of co-operative marketing is everything but serene. Evidently fruit men have had enough of the system and the court was in accord with their arguments and a way was found to put a big and effective puncture into the so-called "air tight" agreement.

Since wide dissatisfaction appeared among tobacco growers of Pitt and other counties of Eastern Carolina with the "unfilled promises" of the Tobacco Growers Cooperative association in North Carolina has been sung between members and the organization have been held by the courts of this and other counties to be inoperative in their application to signers.

The requiem of the tobacco cooperative association in North Carolina has been sung. It is a safe prediction that its struggle for existence is rapidly nearing an end. At least, that is the general belief in well informed circles, while it is the belief of a large number of Pitt county growers.

Sapiro, if he is to save the wheat growers of the Northwest, will have to find other credentials to back his claims for cooperative marketing or some other, similar scheme than the fruit growers of the San Jose district and a big group of Pitt county tobacco growers.

Economic Conditions Impress War Defeat Upon the Germans

BERLIN.—Even the bitterest enemies of Germany, the enemies who have been most insistent in their declarations that Germany does not realize she has lost the war, would probably feel that Germany very generally realize their defeat if they could see the average German family struggling for sufficient food in the midst of unemployment, currency collapse and in a position of producers to exchange products of the land for paper marks which may be obtained by the billion in exchange for a single dollar.

When former Chancellor Cuno told American newspapers that Germans realize they lost the war, he voiced no untruth. There may have been millions of Germans who had not come to that realization before the mark declined to a point where a dollar brought one million marks, but when the mark fell below the value of the Russian paper ruble, German pride had sunk a fall that even the most recalcitrant followers of the exaltado were humbled.

Find Secret Extending Life Horses and Mules

WASHINGTON.—Army experts believe they have discovered the secret of animal longevity.

Old horses and mules in "active service" today have an average age of 14 years, while in the nominal civil activities 11-year-old animals are regarded as beyond the age of usefulness. And the "oldsters" of the army herds, whether in the cavalry, artillery or transport service, are still "going strong." In one case a 25-year-old charger is still winning blue ribbons for performances in his class.

Co-operation Strong in Russia

PETROGRAD.—The co-operative unions of Russia, totaling some 80,000 societies, whose purposes are to supply the population with its needs in the most economical manner, did 40 percent of the merchandise business of Russia in 1921. In 1914 they did seven percent. The unions are purely economic, and have no interest in politics.

New Features Mark Stock, Grain Exhibits

CHICAGO.—The 24th session of the International Live Stock Exposition to be held here December 1-8 will be the best of its history, according to an announcement by Secretary Manager B. H. Heide.

Five thousand cattle, horses, sheep and hogs from 30 states and four Canadian provinces had been entered in the individual classes at an early date. In the grain and hay show, which is a leading department of the exposition, last year's record of 4,039 entries has been exceeded. The Chicago Board of Trade is offering more than $12,000 in prizes for the best feeds and hay shown.

The United States Department of Agriculture will have a large educational display again this year, and there will be official exhibits by 14 agricultural colleges.

GERMAN-MADE STEEL HAD ELASTICITY RUBBER

BRADFORD, Eng.—Peculiarities of certain steel yard measures, made in Germany and exported for sale in this country and other parts of the world, were brought to light recently at a meeting of the Bradford Chamber of Commerce.

A buyer found that cloth delivered to him as 31 inches wide measured a little more than 30 inches. Another case was of cloth marked 36 inches which actually measured 37. Investigation showed that the German measures were used.

EYES DETERMINE CONDITION OF HEALTH, SAYS PHYSICIAN

LONDON.—The latest method of determining the condition of a patient's health is through a close examination of the eyes. A prominent physician recently lectured before a group of students during which he told them that he could always determine the condition of a patient's blood by the color of the iris. The lighter the color, the clearer the blood and visa versa.

Your children's food

The foods your children eat today, determine their strength and health in later years.

Remember this; they must have well balanced meals. Their food should contain the right amount of mineral salts. These salts act as bone building material. They furnish the different fluids and juices that help keep the tissues young—the body strong and active.

Bakings that are made of good plain white flour and baking powder contain a large amount of mineral salts. Allow your children to eat hearty of these bakings together with fruits and dairy products. This forms an ideal food balance.

When making quick rising breads and pastries such as: biscuits, muffins, cakes, waffles, etc., don't fail to use Calumet—the economy Baking Powder. It contains more than the ordinary leavening strength—it's the purest and surest leavener made. That's why it helps make your flour foods light and easily digested.

Millions of mothers use Calumet daily because they are interested in their children's welfare—their present and future health.

COUNCIL URGES MORE USE OF TOAST TO CUT THE WHEAT SURPLUS

CHICAGO. — Father, mother and the children will have a "toasting time of it" after December 3, if they follow the dictates of the Wheat Council of the United States, which has announced a movement to popularize the greater use of toast with the American public.

All food industries and interests of the country are co-operating in this concerted effort to promote, through toast, a greater consumption of wheat so that the huge surplus may be reduced, the Wheat Council states, adding that it is believed bread consumption can be increased as much as 10 per cent by showing consumers how toast can be prepared in the most appetizing way.

"The wheat farmer's troubles are due to the fact that he has produced too much wheat," the council says. "The American people are not eating as much wheat as they did before the war and foreign countries no longer need the United States as a source of wheat supply. During the war the people were urged to eat less wheat, while the farmer was being urged to grow more. The time has come to reverse the war process and until this is done the 2,235,000 farmers who grow wheat can not prosper."

MRS. J. E. WINSLOW ENTERTAINS ROUND TABLE

On Tuesday afternoon Nov. 27, the Round Table was charmingly entertained by Mrs. J. E. Winslow in her home on 5th street.
 A fine attendance of the membership and five guests, including Miss Magnolia Sewell, Miss Lytle, Miss Dowell and Miss Sharp of the Model School and Mrs. R. L. Crow were present to enjoy Mrs. Winslow's hospitality. The business session consisted of interesting reports from standing committees and several letters concerning various club activities read by our president, Mrs. Claude Grant, first among these being one from Mrs. Hugh Ragsdale and Mrs. Wiley Brown, president and secretary respectively of the Woman's Club explaining the plans and aims of the new library commission and asking the Round Table as a club—and each member individually to help make this a real library by their support, by suggestions and also by using the library. And our club pledged hearty co-operation and response.
 There also was a letter from Mrs. Payne Fowler, president of this district reminding us of the meeting that is to be in Greenville, April 10, and that Mrs. Palmer Jerman is urging that at all district meetings we serve the box lunches, to enable a large attendance and to relieve the clubs who entertain.
 She also reminded us of the deficit of $2000.00 on the Endowment Fund. A letter from Mrs. Sturgis E. Leavitt, saying that the book entitled "Stories and Psalms" from the Old North State will be ready for Christmas delivery and is asking each club to become responsible for the sale of at least five copies. With this letter there is a pamphlet describing the book the price of which is two dollars. Anyone desirous of securing a copy will please see Mrs. Claude Grant.
 When the business was finished Mrs. Person announced the topic for this day which was "My Memories of Eighty Years," by Chauncey Depew. The program follows:
 Anecdotes from the Book, by Mrs. Tilghman.
 Characteristic of Depew, as shown in the Book by Mrs. Herring.
 Prominent Men Mentioned, with comment on Each by Mrs. J. E. Winslow.
 The Anecdote produced a good deal of merriment, Mrs. Herring's paper gave us a wonderful and inspiring glimpse of the gentle yet powerful personality of Depew. Mrs. Winslow emphasized many of the important historical incidences in the lives of the presidents, beginning with Lincoln. Each number was enjoyed. A beautiful and delicious luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. J. R. Moye and Mrs. R. L. Crow, after which adjus were said and all turned hom ward counting this a most delightful meetings.

NEW RECTOR OF ST. PAUL'S WILL BE HERE SUNDAY

WILMINGTON, Nov. 30.—The Rev. E. W. Cook, archdeacon of the Episcopal church, who is leaving for Greenville, N. C., his new field of labor, Saturday, delivered his farewell message to Wilmington at Calvary Baptist church last night, where he received a most cordial reception from a large congregation. The Rev. L. A. Sullivan paid a fine tribute to the departing pastor, who took as his text part of the ninth verse of the second chapter of Hebrews: "But we see Jesus... crowned with glory and honor."

Among other things he said: "When this epistle was written," he said, "Jesus was a name of very limited range and power. Hardly anyone had heard of Him. Today He dominates the mind and moves the heart of nations. Go where you will, there are those who own His way. The history of the western world is part of the history of Jesus. 'The people of His day felt that He overtopped them. The Pharisees felt so did the Sanhedrin. So did 'Hate,' 'Truly,' cries, the centurion at the cross, 'this is the Son of God.' Jesus already was winning the crown, and He has gone on gaining power over man and establishing Him supremacy. He alone is modern after 20 centuries. You need no dictionary of antiquities to understand Him. He has a grip on men today."

IT IS REALLY REAL.

To make the first part of life take care of the last part of life, is really a human job. H. Bentley Harris will show you how it is done.

THE MOORE FARM.

The Fannie L. Moore farm is located about 5 1-2 miles north of Greenville. It consists of about 150 to 175 acres, about one-third of which is cleared and in a good state of cultivation. It is also suitable to the growing of cotton, tobacco, corn and other crops grown in this section. The buildings consist of a seven room dwelling, several tobacco barns, pack house and other necessary farm buildings. The farm is subdivided and will be sold for the highest dollar.

An Open Letter to Members of Jarvis Memorial Church

Our church is beginning a new conference year, and your official board has adopted a financial policy quite different from that of other years. We believe that this will meet with practically unanimous approval on the part of our membership. It is in keeping with modern methods of church finance and has been adopted by nearly all of the larger churches of the various denominations.

As you are aware it has been the custom of the board of Stewards heretofore to assess each member of the church a certain amount based on the willingness and ability of one to pay. For obvious reasons this plan has not been altogether satisfactory.

For this year we are asking that each member make a subscription on a weekly basis. At the morning service next Sunday this will be fully explained, and subscriptions will be called for. The matter of taking these will be so handled as to cause no embarrassment to anyone. It is our earnest hope that as nearly as possible every man, woman and child who holds membership in Jarvis Memorial church shall be present at this service. But in order to complete the canvass as quickly as possible, a committee will call upon such as may not have been present at this service during the afternoon between the hours of 2 and 5 o'clock. If for any reason you cannot come to the service Sunday morning, please remain in your homes till after some member of this canvassing committee has had the opportunity of seeing you and obtaining your pledge.

You are also asked to bear in mind the fact that in the building of our great Sunday school plant we have been forced to incur a considerable debt, and that included in the year's budget is the sum of five thousand dollars to help liquidate this indebtedness. By this means every one will have the privilege of helping to carry this load on the basis of weekly payments.

We believe in your love for and loyalty to the church, and are confidently expecting that you will do yours full duty in regard to these most important matters. What we are especially anxious about is that you be present at the service Sunday morning, or if kept away by unavoidable circumstances, you at least remain at home till seen by the committee. This request complied with will greatly facilitate our work, and will also give you a creditable showing when the report is made at the evening service. Parents will please encourage their children to sign pledge cards also.

As soon after the canvass as possible a church directory will be printed giving the entire list of our membership, with the individual pledges. A copy of this booklet will be placed in every home in the church.

Signed:
THE BOARD OF STEWARDS,
T. A. PERSON, Chairman.
J. L. Kilgo, Secretary.
F. J. Forbes, Treasurer.

Vanderbilt Deep Sea Collection Is Finest In the United States

NEW YORK.—Fantastic paintings of submarine scenes such as would have appeared to the imagination of Jules Verne will form the background of a collection of marine specimens which are being prepared by W. K. Vanderbilt on his estate at Northport, L. I. Including many rare specimens, a few of which have never been described by scientists, the mounted display will represent the largest private marine collection in this country.

The canvas depicting the deep sea scene will be 48 feet long and 13 feet high, the panorama including a graveyard of ships on the ocean's bottom, showing the fish that haunt the carcasses of coppers and steamships many fathoms down. Another section of the canvas will show submarine scenes in tropical waters with brilliantly-colored coral reefs, sponges, and strange fish peculiar to the tropics.

Dr. J. T. Nichols, associate curator of zoology at the American Museum of Natural History, has declared that the Vanderbilt collection will compare with that of the late Prince of Monaco, which was one of the finest in the world and is now a public collection. The Vanderbilt collection includes more than 400 specimens including one of the largest devil fishes ever caught.

Railroads Suffer From Poor Managers

COLOGNE.—Railway disorganization will prevent the Ruhr district from returning speedily to normal, even if the French and Germans reach barriers.

German warnings that the French would not be able to handle the intricate railway system of the heavily industrialized Ruhr and Rhineland districts have been more than realized. No other equal area in the world, perhaps, has such an involved railway system. It is a medley of the Pittsburgh steel area and the West Virginia mining district, jammed together and served by an intricate interlocking system which has ever continued to be much of a mystery to French railway men and their assistants.

GERMAN CULTURE THREATENED BY PROHIBITIVE COST BATHS

BERLIN.—German culture is seriously threatened by the high price of soap. An ordinary cake of toilet soap costs thirty million marks October 5, which was about 16 Amer cents estimated on the rate of exchange for that day. Laundry soap is proportionately high, and the press is filled with complaints that the average family cannot maintain decent sanitary conditions in the home under such prices. Starch and other laundry supplies are also soaring.

Cuban Duels Rarely Fatal

HAVANA.—The habit of venting duels still flourishes in Cuba, if the newspapers of the capital city are to be believed.

Such methods of settling private quarrels are illegal here, however, and the newspapers never say that a duel has been fought. They usually publish an account of the trouble between the principals, giving their names, and add that "in an examination of edged tools," Mr. So-and-so was wounded. If the reporter can get cut and a duel had been fought the police probably would be rather unpleasant in seeking to have him give evidence.

High School System Aids Boys in Athletics

TULSA, Okla.—A new order of athletics, providing team competition for every body, and with less emphasis on winning squads for inter-school games, is the rule in Central High School here, one of the largest high schools in the world, under Athletic Director E. W. Rau. Rau's methods, and his system of student classification, have attracted wide attention.

A formula for grouping boys according to their physical powers, regardless of class, room standing, assures equalized competition with a chance for every participant.

The students are classified by this mathematical equation—four times the age, plus half the weight, plus the height, expressed in inches, which gives the index number.

VAST SUMS LOST YEARLY FROM FIRES IN OIL FIELDS

WASHINGTON.—Fire is the great enemy of the oil industry in the United States. A bureau of mines survey covering only the more extensive fires in a ten year period, indicates total losses of about 13,000,000 barrels of oil and more than five billion cubic feet of natural gas.

German Potatoes Going Bad

BERLIN.—Frederick Wilhelm I had a hard time introducing the potato in Prussia. He forced the potato in the charity hospitals to eat them, and used his army in compelling the peasants to plant the tubers. And today Chancellor Stresemann is having a hard time holding the republic together because of the lack of potatoes in many sections, and their extremely high price.

PACKERS DEVELOP AMAZING USAGES FOR BY-PRODUCTS

WASHINGTON. — "A use for everything but the squeal" is still the motto of the meat packing industry and truer than ever before, but there is more than that to it, says the Institute of American Meat Packers. Not only are many unique and interesting uses found for every part of the slaughtered animal, but the by-products industry, as a financial proposition, rapidly is growing in importance.

The hides and bones long have furnished important returns in the shape of leathers and fertilizers, but the bones now have an important use also for medical purposes. Blood is one of the first important by-products, and serum, for use in research work as a culture for growing bacteria, is obtained by separating the corpuscles from the blood. In dry forms the serum is also used to clear the composition used in coating photographic papers.

Blood albumen is used in the manufacture of water-proof glue for veneer work, aeroplane wings and other special uses. Blood from which the fibrin has been removed is employed to get colors in gingham and other cotton goods. Leucocytic extract is made from the white corpuscles and is injected in human veins to stimulate production of these corpuscles. Blood cooked, pressed, dried and ground to powder is a specific for "scours" to which calves fed on skimmed milk are subject. Tanners use it as a surface filler for some kinds of leather, and it is used in plaster as an agent to prevent setting or hardening too quickly.

The Grim Comedian At White's Tonight

The story of a "Million-Dollar" man, a man who doubted all women, amused himself with many, but centered his love on one human being—himself.

He thought there was nothing that money could not buy, and consequently nothing he could not have if he wanted it enough. But the day came when he found the one person who meant more to him than himself—a sweet young girl. And all the money in the world could not win her love.

Governor of Indiana Wants Jury Hearing

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 30.—Declaring it "is contrary to the spirit of America for an indictment to be returned against a man without giving him an opportunity to appear in his own behalf if he so desires," Governor McCray made public a letter addressed to the foreman of the Marion county grand jury, which is investigating his financial transactions, in which he made a request for a hearing. The request, the Governor said, has been ignored for the past seven days, and added that he understood the grand jury report on his case is planned immediately.
