

HOUSE AND SENATE BEGIN REAL WORK IMPORTANT ISSUES

Rules, Tax Reduction, Muscle Shoals, Soviet Recognition Heard

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14. — With committees of both houses of congress today considering or preparing to start work on a number of important measures the House today laid aside the Interior Departments supply bill to begin the battle over amendments to rules which will last probably throughout the week. It will center on the report of the Rules Committee which is unsatisfactory to both insurgents and Democrats.

The main points at issue are the recommendation of the committee that petitions for the discharge of a committee from the consideration of legislation must bear 150 signatures and its refusal to repeal the Underwood rule, which restricts amendments from the floor to tariff and revenue bills.

Amendments to the rules will be offered by both the Democrats and the insurgents. The Democrats will propose repeal of the Underwood rule and a minimum for signatures on petitions seeking the discharge of committee below the figure fixed by the rules committee. The insurgents plan to support both these moves and offer a number of additional rules amendments.

Hearings on Tax Bill.
Having completed its consideration of the administration features of the Mellon tax bill, the House Ways and Means Committee began its public hearings on the treasury secretary's recommendation for tax reduction. Some Republican leaders, including Representative Longworth, the party leader, and Chairman Green, of the committee, are of the opinion that the Mellon bill must be modified if it to command a majority in the House, while others among the members of the committee have announced they are opposed to any compromise.

The agricultural committees of both the Senate and House are buying themselves with farm relief measures while the House Military Committee is preparing to take up the Ford and other offers for the government Muscle Shoals project. Meanwhile Senator Borah is preparing to get under way hearings on his resolution favoring the recognition of the Soviet Russian government.

Mrs. J. K. Proctor To Assist Saunier In Organ Recital

The announcement that Mrs. J. Knott Proctor will assist Prof. Paul Saunier in his organ recital at the Christian Church on Thursday night will be gladly received by the music lovers of Greenville and other nearby towns and cities, many of whom have already expressed their intentions of hearing these two artists.

Mr. Saunier as an organist has few equals in the south and, while Mrs. Proctor possesses a sweet, rich soprano voice that always pleases her hearers.

A full program of the evening's entertainment will appear in Wednesday's issue of this paper. There will be no charge for admission, but a free-will offering will be taken to help defray the expense of bringing Prof. Saunier here.

District Governor of Rotary Is Guest Local Club Tonight

Frank Lenz, of Newport News, Va., district governor of the 37 district of International Rotary, will be the guest of the local club at their meeting tonight. During his term of office a district governor is required to make a visit of inspection to each of the clubs in his district and no doubt the showing made by the Greenville club will compare favorably with those of other cities. Tonight's meeting is set for 6 o'clock and the district governor will no doubt be greeted by a hundred per cent attendance of the club.

New York Dry Leader to Go on Trial.

William H. Anderson, superintendent of the New York State Anti-Saloon League and a national figure in the prohibition movement, goes to trial February 17 in New York City on charges of embezzlement of funds of the league. He is being warmly defended in all his actions by the league itself.

McKeller Declares Ford Should Have Muscle Shoals Plant

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Bids from the combination of nine power companies of North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Georgia and Alabama for the government nitrate plant at Muscle Shoals should not be accepted, Senator McKeller, Democrat of Tennessee, declared today in the senate.

"There are many reasons for the opinion," declared the senator, "but compared to the all controlling one the others are of no consequence. It is a well-known fact that around 75 per cent of the stock of the Alabama Power Company is owned by British stock and bond holders. For the United States to lease or turn over that which it has built up to make itself independent from all other countries in the manufacture of its nitrate in time of war, to any corporation whose principal stockholders are subjects of its leading commercial rival would be nothing short of attempted national suicide. That this will not be done is a foregone conclusion.

Muscle Shoals under Ford will probably develop more power than under the nine companies included in the bid. The Alabama Power Company would be the chief beneficiary of the bid if the bid should be accepted. Mr. Ford is the logical man to have this plant and I am now as I have always been since the matter came up in favor of leasing to him.

We should guard sacredly our supply of wartime nitrate. It will not do to have it in the keeping and control of an alien country regardless of how friendly that country may be."

Man Intoxicated Runs Down Two Police With Auto

WILMINGTON, Jan. 14.—Herbert Jordan well known man of this city was arrested early today for running down two policemen with an automobile last night while he was in an intoxicated condition.

Following Jordan's arrest police raided a so-called club here, took charge of a quantity of gambling paraphernalia and arrested Cleveland Galloway and Lee Everett on the charge of operating a gambling house.

Jordan is said to have given the police much information regarding conditions in the city following his arrest. He is held under a $10,000 bail pending the outcome of injuries to the two policemen who were struck by his automobile which he was driving without lights.

Galloway and Everett were released soon after their arrests and the district governor will no doubt be greeted by a hundred per cent attendance of the club.

BANDITS ESCAPE WITH $100,000 WORTH HOOTCH

NEWARK, Jan. 14.—Eight or ten bandits early today, broke into the Pierce-Butler warehouse here, bound and gagged the watchman and escaped with two truck loads of bonded whiskey, valued at $100,000. John Brown, negro night watchman sounded the alarm by rolling to a telephone and kicking it over.

According to Brown's statement, two bandits went to the third floor of the warehouse, brought the cases of whiskey down on the elevator and carried it to the two waiting trucks. Meanwhile the other thieves forced him to make his rounds and send in his customary signals. When the liquor had all been loaded on the trucks the bandits bound and gagged him and made their departure.

Although he could not speak for other members of the cabinet he said that he believed that the department heads had no alternative but to have the proposed plan submitted to congress without approval or disapproval.

Kiwanians Entertained Wives, Sweethearts At Delightful Banquet Last Friday Evening

Yes, there was no question but what little Guy Smith won the prize by eating a quarter of nice juicy blackberry pie with his hands tied behind his back. George Hadley, Edward Griffin, and Herbert Austin did their best to win. George said he hadn't the face to undertake it. Pauline said Edward was on a diet. Lillian was sure her hubby would win because he was born and raised in the pie country. It was conceded that Herbert had as much pie on the outside of his face as Guy, but Guy had a larger gateway and the greater capacity and so managed to get more pie inside. He was caught a little later trying to get a quarter from Jim Starkey so he could bribe a college girl to bring him another plate of turkey.

If skill indicates previous training and practice, Carrie Laughinghouse is a real help-mate to Charlie. Directed by stunt-master, Victor Davis, Charlie Laughinghouse, Frank Harrington, Louis Skinner, Will Hooker, Billy Moseley, Charlie Harvey, Key Brown, Lee Sadler, George Woodward, and Henry Rivers removed necktie, collar, and collar buttons and placed them in a common pile on another part of the room. Their dutiful wives were told to select their husband's things from the table and demonstrate their proficiency in replacing these articles where they originally came from. Carrie did it thereby giving the other matrons a much needed lesson in domestic efficiency. Of course Frank's wife was the booby. Being a recent bride she lacked experience. But she promised to win next year if given a chance.

Blanche Forbes, Lucy James, Willie Moseley and Margaret Ferguson showed the folks how a Greenville matron gets the beauty that makes them the admiration of all North Carolina. Rouge, Lip-sticks, eyebrow pencils, and powder were placed on tables and Victor gave them four minutes to show what a woman does to herself to make herself beautiful. Ed Batchelor and Ed Flanagan had the unenviable job of being judges, but being peace loving men they dared not make a decision but declared each and all perfect. It was left to the gods to decide. Margaret drew the lucky straw.

Who do you think was shown up as having treated his wife the most shabbily during the year? Bob Fitzgerald. All the married Kiwanians stood in a row and their wives were told to get out of a big box the last season's hat their indulgent spouses had bought for them. Bob's wife showed him up. All present think she will get a new hat or there will be something doing in that family. Watch out and see.

It was ladies' night at the Kiwanis Club last Friday night. For three hours fun, good fellowship, with a serious note now and then interspersed, reigned.

The event was pulled off in the Teachers College dining room. The College cooks under the personal direction of Nannie Jeter had ready a most tempting turkey dinner. Twenty-five College girls waited on the tables most gracefully and efficiently. The Greenville Floral Co., furnished carnations for the table decoration.

Promptly at seven o'clock, the Kiwanians and their guests entered the dining room. Each was provided with a colored paper cap and a noise producing favor. The Empire State Jazz orchestra set the whole bunch swaying to the rhythm of its jazz. Kiwanian "Yak" Cooke, rector of the Episcopal church, said grace and the attack on turkey began.

After the first trenches were taken, President Will Hooker welcomed the ladies and guests and told Paul Fitzgerald to take charge and do his darndest in an "unrefined" way.

Pauline Griffin very gracefully and appropriately voiced the pleasure of the ladies in being present. June Rose warbled "Sweet Little Woman of Mine." June brought his inspiration along with him.

Someone has said that "one should keep his center of gravity close to his center of levity." The Kiwanians sure did it on this occasion. Songs, stunts, music, followed each other in quick succession. Once in a while Paul, through some speaker, would inject a serious note, bringing out some principle of Kiwanis as a constructive force in Community life. Lee Sadler said "Kiwanis undergirds everything that is worth while in the community life being partial in no particular." He cautioned every family to have the caboose attached not too far from the front of the family freight train.

Bob Wright spoke of the plans under way for the College future, emphasizing the crying need for trained teachers in North Carolina.

"We must have trained teachers in our schools if we are to have a trained citizenship."

Leon Bond, President Tarboro Kiwanis Club brought greetings from his Club. Milford Haynes of Tarboro told what would be in store for those who attended the National Kiwanis convention in Denver next July.

Felix Harvey, Jr., Kinston, Lieut. Governor of Kiwanis—reviewed the fundamental principles of Kiwanis.

Some negro spirituals, sung by the Jubilee Quartette composed of colored singers from Pitt county, pleased the folks immensely.

Remembering that Bob Fitzgerald was now retiring from the presidency of the club to private life and domestic tranquility and that the future would give him few opportunities for "just one word more," Paul gave him the opportunity of having the last word. Bob expressed the appreciation of the club for the privilege of holding this meeting at the College, and for the service so graciously given and well rendered by Mrs. Jeter and the College girls in making the banquet such a success. The club presented Mrs. Jeter and the girls tokens of their appreciation.

This meeting goes down in club history as one of the best occasions of the kind ever held.

Manning, present incumbent. Nash's announcement is the second to be made for one of the major state offices, the first being that of J. W. Financial Experts Examine Germany's Ability Pay Now PARIS, Jan. 14.—With Brigadier General Dawes, presiding, leading business men and financiers of the United States, Great Britain, Belgium and Italy, sitting as board of directors and creditors, today began their examination into the assets and liabilities of Germany with a view of recovering something out of the ruins of the most stupendous bankruptcy in the history of the world.

"Strictly business and no politics" is the motto under which these representative men of the leading nations of the old and new worlds are assembled. Chairman Dawes stated at the opening of the session that the success of the committee depended chiefly upon whether the public mind and conscience of the allies of the world would grasp an adequate conception of the great disaster that faced each ally in Europe unless common sense was used. He expressed the value of unity and related the bad effects of present conditions on stating that the lack of power to agree on a common attitude and a common action had all the nations of Europe a most critical and dangerous situation.

CONVENTION CITY BE SELECTED DEMOCRAT COMMITTEE TUESDAY

Panorama Presidential Prospects Arranged For Meeting

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—A panorama of presidential prospects has been prepared for members of the Democratic National Committee which will meet here tomorrow to select a convention city and transact other business of the party. Included in the array of presidential material are William G. McAdoo, California, Oscar W. Underwood, Ala.; Al Smith, New York; John W. Davis, W. Va., and Dr. A. A. Murphy, Gainesville, Fla., all of whose claims will be presented by ardent followers.

The selection of a convention city will also be contested by the various candidates with a view of geographical advantages and financial offers which is a considerable item in view of the committee treasury's deficit of $180,000. Bids from six cities have been received but it is expected that the contest will be between New York, Chicago and Saint Louis. San Francisco, and Louisville are also expected to present strong inducements.

The Chicago offer will be backed by a $125,000 financial offer and a partisan delegation including Geo. E. Brennan, Illinois National Committeeman; Edward N. Hurley, former chairman of the Shipping Board; and Fred Upham, Republican National Treasurer, will present the city's proposal. New York is also understood to be prepared to offer great inducements to get the convention.

Edward Dockweiler, California National Committeeman, declared that San Francisco would present a certified check for $200,000 for the convention and would provide the use of the municipal auditorium where the 1920 convention was held. With such an offer Dockweiler declared San Francisco is confident that the convention will go to that city.

Mr. Heber Evans Painfully Injured When Ladder Slips

Mr. Heber Evans, of Cox's Mill, is in the local hospital suffering from injuries received this morning when he fell from a ladder while working on the roof of a building on the farm of Mr. H. H. Wrenn.

GREENVILLE POWER

The completion of the electric power line to Bethel marks another advance toward the development of Pitt county's resources. The combination of hard surfaced roads and adequate power transmission lines linking up the various communities of the county should aid materially in building up industrial enterprises throughout the county.

Bethel is the second town beside our own to receive current from the Greenville plant, the service to Winterville having begun several months ago. The plant during the past three years has been practically rebuilt and ample provision is being made to meet the requirements of the town and its environs for many years to come.

ABDICATED

The Corporation Commission Saturday abdicated its function and permitted Mr. James Buchanan Duke to fix the rates he will hereafter charge for power furnished by the Southern Power Company.

They did this without ascertaining how much cash Mr. Duke has put into the Southern Power Company. They do not know and did not take steps to ascertain. Without such knowledge, neither the Corporation Commission nor any other body is competent to say what the rates shall be. The Commission accepts the unsupported statement of the company.

It was the duty of the Commission to know how much actual money has been invested. They abdicated that duty and let Mr. Duke fix his own rate. Is it any wonder he abandoned his opposition to control of rates by the Corporation Commission when he can induce the Commission to make orders in the exact figures he says he must have or he "is through?"

The statement issued by the Commission seeks to justify the failure of the Commission to go to the bottom and get facts instead of accepting without thorough examination the statements made by the Southern Power Company.

Saturday the Commission imposed a big tax on the consumers of power in North Carolina not shown to be reasonable or just. Last year it fixed a rate that it said was right. But Mr. Duke tells them he "is through" unless it is increased. Mr. Duke fixes his own rate, practically, and his company thereby is under the Corporation Commission in name only. The Southern Power Company so far as rates are concerned might just as well not be under State regulation.

The concluding sentence shows that the Commission has no adequate conception of its responsibility. It says that "the respondents may bring this matter up again," if "after a reasonable period of operation, they think the rates are producing more than a fair return."

This is official abdication of the functions for which the Commissioners are paid. It is their duty upon their own initiative to know how much money is invested and what is a fair rate. And then it is their duty to fix the fair rate upon the actual money invested. The two and a half million citizens do not engage "respondents" or anybody else to bring the questions up and do the investigating and the appealing and the furnishing of evidence. The attempt of the Commission to evade its plain duty and "pass the buck" to private individuals and corporations that may be affected, is contrary to the idea that the people had when they established the Corporation Commission. They created the Commission to see that public service corporations dealt justly with the people. They do not look to unpaid people to do the job for which the Commission was created.—Raleigh News and Observer.

Rubbish Abounds
In Berlin As City Streets Go Unswept

BERLIN.—Time was when the streets of Berlin were kept spotlessly clean; that was before the war when the municipality maintained a street cleaning force of 2,400 men. Now this group of street cleaners numbers under 300, and the result is visible on all sides. Litter and rubbish abound.

During the war, when most of the able-bodied men were at the front, civic pride continued among the citizens and several of the principal streets were kept clean by volunteers many of them women. But under present circumstances, with the mark jumping about and housewives compelled to stand in line every day for hours for the mere necessities of the table, civic pride has disappeared. There have been no volunteers for street cleaning for many months, even though thousands of men loaf about Berlin.

U. S. Envoy Pleases South Africa.
CAPE TOWN.—The appointment of Clinton Poole as United States Consul General for South Africa has created a favorable impression here. The Cape Times regards the appointment as leading to the day when the United States will accredit ministers to and receive ministers from the dominions.

The newspaper also says Mr. Poole will be welcomed in South Africa as one more sign of the firm establishment of dominion status in the eyes of the world.

Bantam weight Boxer Dies Result Knock Out

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—The death of Frankie Jerome, bantam weight boxer, last night was due to the effects of a blow on the side of his head received in the bout with Bud Taylor of Terre Haute, Ind., at Madison Square Garden Friday night. The autopsy today revealed that the blow had ruptured a blood vessel between the skull and the base of the brain. The verdict of accidental death was returned. According to authorities here have been only two similar cases in New York during the past five years which are small considering the number of bouts held.

British Admiralty Experiments With Plant Tablet Scurvy

LONDON.—The British Admiralty is experimenting with a new extract in tablet form, of watercress, spinach and other green plants, called phyllosan, which may supersede lime juice for the treatment of scurvy.
Phyllosan is the discovery of Professor E. Buerger of Berne University. It is made from chlorophyll, the vital fluid in plants which bears a close chemical relationship to human blood pigments. Several patients in London hospitals have been rejuvenated by a course of Professor Buerger's application.

Beggars Flock to Leipzig.

LEIPZIG.—Beggars, unknown here before the war, have been overrunning the city this winter, and causing the police much concern. Investigators have estimated that each house in Leipzig was visited on an average by 12 beggars each day, many of them children. All those who asked for something to eat were not actually hungry, however. The police discovered several sets of men and women who begged all day for meat and bread, and sold the food thus collected from push carts in the streets at night.

District Get-Together Meeting Held in City Ayden Last Tuesday

The regular get-together district meeting was held in St. James church.

Ayden Jan. 8. Greenville, Winterville and Ayden being well represented.

Mr. Cook the rector now in charge of Greenville opened the meeting with prayer.

The President, Mrs. B. T. Cox gave a very impressive talk on prayer, urging the members to pray more earnestly for laborers in His Vineyard.

The problem for discussion was How to get the young people more interested in church work.

The answers to this very important question were most interesting and helpful. It was suggested that a prayer league be formed for young people in all the parishes and it met with the approval of all present.

We adjourned for lunch which was spread picnic style at the home of Mrs. H. G. Burton. Needless to say, it was very much enjoyed by all.

The afternoon session began at one o'clock. Mrs. Ella Greene read a most interesting paper giving the history of St. Paul's church, Greenville. Mrs. B. T. Cox also gave in a most interesting talk the history of St. Luke's church, Winterville.

It was moved and seconded that these papers be published in the Diocesan paper, The Mission Herald. These district meetings have proven a great help spiritually as well as socially and we wish for the coming year an increased attendance from all the auxiliaries in the district.

COLDS AND THEIR PREVENTION

The common cold is the most prevalent disease because it is the most contagious and because most people are extremely careless when they have a cold. Colds may be caught by direct contact (kissing or fondling a person with a cold); coming within a yard of a person with a cold when he talks, coughs or sneezes, using the same handkerchief, towel or cup that somebody with a cold has used. Keep the rooms well ventilated and the air properly moistened; wear suitable clothing; take plenty of exercise; eat sufficient food and avoid constipation if you would be free from colds is the advice of Dr. Louis W. Sauer in the January issue of Hygeia.

Horace L. Smith Conducts Y W C A Services at College

On Sunday evening, Mr. H. L. Smith, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, conducted Y W C A service and talked on the subject, "The Importance of Christ's Being Lifted Up.

At the beginning of his talk, Mr. Smith gave a summary of the first part of the 21 chapter of numbers, in which the story of Moses' making the fiery serpent is told.

Mr. Smith stated that most of us college girls know Christ, and there is a command resting on us to lift Him up for others. The only way people are attracted to him is by seeing Him lifted up. There are many ways by which he can be lifted up, and Mr. Smith named a few of the ways.

We can lift up Jesus in our home life. We can imagine the homelike atmosphere—the quiet peace which pervaded the home of Mary and Martha. When Jesus was perplexed, tired, and disappointed, it was to this home that he went for rest. Mary and Martha lifted up Jesus in their home, and we can too. It is a privilege that we are granted, and if we lift Him up, it shows that we are giving expression to vital Christianity.

Then we can lift up Jesus in our conversation. Do we not sometimes let golden moments pass? "I do not mean," Mr. Smith said, "that we should talk of nothing but Christ." But in our conversation we should make simple statements that will lead our hearers to know that we are Christians.

Furthermore, in our social life, we can lift up Jesus. Christianity should not mean long faces, but should stand for happiness and joy. At the same time, the Christian should be true to his convictions of what is right and what is wrong, regardless of the cost. He should be willing to fight for a right principle.

In our church life, as in other places, actions speak louder than words. Mr. Smith gave an illustration of a story of an infidel and a Christian who lived in a rural community. The Christian passed the home of the infidel every time he went to church. After a while the infidel saw how faithful the Christian was, and he followed the example set him. The Christian did not say a word to the infidel, but, because of his silent faithfulness, the infidel was converted. This leads to the question: Are we lifting up Christ in our church activities?

We can also lift up Christ in our business life. In the teaching profession, Mr. Smith said, there is a great opportunity to lift up Christ. Teaching is closely allied to preaching and there is a great responsibility resting on teachers.

If we realize our duty and try to fulfill our responsibility in lifting up Christ in every walk of life, we shall have a sense of satisfaction. What could give greater peace at the end of one's life than to have it said of him, his life is just what it was planned to be?

Bridegroom Killed On Eve of Wedding

The automobile sped away from the castle, with the Countess Nadia at the wheel and a Russian officer in the tonneau. She fleeing from the clutches of Prince Ferdinand, with the intention of marrying the passenger as soon as they reached the home of the mayor.

Nearing her destination, she discovered the officer lying on the floor of the car, apparently dead. She did not know that just as she had started the car two of the prince's men had struck down the intended bridegroom.

What followed her dramatic discovery is shown in "Refuge," a First National attraction starring Katherine MacDonald and produced by B. P. Schulberg, which is coming to the Strand theater on Monday for an engagement of two days. It is a captivating story of romance and adventure in the little kingdom of Moravia, and was written by Lois Zellner. Victor Schertzinger directed it.
