C. Bascomb Slep to Appear Before Senate Committee

Doheny Demands That Wheeler Give Committee Facts Concerning Charges Against the Attorney General

Washington, Feb. 23.—C. Bascomb Slep, secretary to President Coolidge, agreed today to appear before the Senate oil committee.

While Senator Walsh declined to indicate the subjects upon which Mr. Slep will be questioned it is understood that the committee desires to ask the extent of any communications he has had with government officials and others concerned regarding the oil inquiry since the beginning of the startling disclosures a month ago.

The program of the committee thus far has mapped out only for next Monday. The order in which witnesses will be called after that time depends upon the report of the expert accountants now examining the books of stock brokerage firms in Washington, Cleveland and New York.

Senator Walsh expects to confer late today with the chief account who has been examining the books of Harry Payne Whitney and J. P. Benckard and Company of New York. Chairman Lenroot announced today that he would lay before the committee a letter written to him by E. L. Doheny demanding that Senator Wheeler be called before the committee to give the facts upon which he based his recent charges in the Senate against Attorney-General Daugherty. The committee will take whatever action that it deems appropriate.

Frear Urges That Excess Profits Tax Be Reimposed

Washington, Feb. 23.—Changes in the revenue bill sought by Democrats and supported by some Republican leaders again slowed up progress in the House by a spirited debate that has marked its consideration. As a result of delays encountered yesterday little hope is held by Chairman Greene, of the Ways and Means committee in charge of the measure for the Republicans, that the bill would be brought up for a final vote on Tuesday as had been planned.

Decision was reached to hold the measure before the House without interruption if a vote appears possible later in the week. Considerable time yesterday was taken up by the amendment approved by the Democrats and Republicans Insurgents to open tax returns to special congressional committee and the House Ways and Means and Senate Finance committee.

Proposal to reimpose the excess profits tax developed a stubborn contest in the House today. The proposal, offered by Representative Fear, Republican Insurgent, Wisconsin, as an amendment to the revenue bill carries a rate of 10 per cent on the first 20 per cent profit over the allowed deductions and 50 per cent on profits above that amount. The former law carried rates of 20 and 40 per cent. Under the new proposal the same exemptions of $3,000 plus 8 per cent profit will be allowed.

Mr. Fear argued that such a tax would permit reduction in corporation normal taxes from 12 1/2 per cent to 10 per cent or less and he was supported by Representative Oldfield of Arkansas. Republican leaders are vigorously opposed to the amendment.

COOLIDGE ENTERS OHIO PRIMARIES

Garford, of Ohio, Also Files Name as Second Choice

Columbus, Ohio, Feb. 23.—President Coolidge today formally entered the Ohio Republican presidential preference primary for president by filing his declaration with Secretary of State Brown.

Simultaneous to President Coolidge's filing, Arthur L. Garford, of Elyria, Ohio, also filed with the secretary of state, authority for use of his name as second choice candidate to comply with the Ohio primary laws.

Both President Coolidge and Mr. Garford also requested that his name be printed on the official primary ballot thus officially entering himself in the preferential primary of April 29 at which time delegates to the national convention will be elected.

Wilmington Zoning Streets for Skaters

Wilmington, Feb. 23.—This city has resorted to the novel plan of zoning the streets for the skaters of the populace. Each Friday night certain streets for a distance of several blocks will be roped off and reserved exclusively for skaters until 10 p. m. The city authorities have stated that they would not tolerate any encroachment on this ruling by autoists or pedestrians and neither would it allow the skaters to go beyond their allotted territory. It is thought by the traffic authorities of the city that this plan will greatly reduce accidents and violation of the law and at the same time give the young people an opportunity to enjoy the privilege of skating.

Wadesboro's Clean Up Campaign Is Proving Big Success

Wadesboro, Feb. 23.—Since this city started on its clean up campaign of the police force for a general uplift of the morale much improvement has been noticed. Laws are being enforced more strictly and those guilty of law breaking are being brought to justice. Since the installation of D. M. Sedbury as charge of the force there has been a total of $317.55 in fines collected in the mayor's court all of which has been turned over to the school fund.

A total of 87 cases have been tried 29 of which were bound over to the Superior Court. Most of the cases were either for reckless driving or violation of the prohibition laws.

Enters Suit $1,100,000 Against Edward Bok

New York, Feb. 23.—Summons in complaint for $1,100,000 damages has been filed against Edward W. Bok, donor of the American Peace Award, by Frank Hendricks, lawyer, one of the more than 22,000 persons who submitted plans in competition for the $100,000 prize.

Hendricks bases his suit on the contention that the plan submitted by him, if fairly considered, would have been unanimously selected as the prize winner. The demand for $1,000,000 is for the prize offered by the former publisher and the suit for $100,000,000 represents, Hendricks contends, the value of the publicity Bok has received as a result of the prize award.

GROUP ONE NORTH CAROLINA BANKERS ASSOCIATION CONVENED IN WILLIAMSTON YESTERDAY

Group one of the North Carolina Bankers' Association convened at Williamston yesterday, with President W. H. Woolard, of Greenville Banking & Trust Co., presiding. Mayor J. L. Hassell, of Williamston, delivered, in an eloquent manner, the address of welcome and was responded to, appropriately, by G. W. Prescott, cashier of the First National Bank of Ayden.

The main address of the morning was delivered by Gilbert T. Stephenson, Vice-President of the Wachovia Bank & Trust Co., of Raleigh, on "Personal Service in Trust Business." Among other things, Mr. Stephenson said: "Trust companies make provision for immediate uses and needs following death in the family; recognize the importance of keeping the home in tact, as it is the basis of the church, the school and the highest order of social life. Also they advise about various personal matters, such as investments, expenditures, extravagance.

"There are some things a man must do before he dies if the Trust company is to render the most service," said Mr. Stephenson: "He must make a will. Two thirds die without a will. "Provide for settlement of estate. "Estate should be administered and not merely settled. "The preparation of a will is of paramount importance."

Mr. Paul P. Brown, Secretary of the North Carolina Bankers' Association, made the opening address in the afternoon, using as his subject, "A Man and His Soul."

Mr. Brown, in a forceful way, showed how the members of Group One could have a part in making a strong aggressive State Association by a 100 per cent co-operation.

"According to the present prospects, Group One will carry away the honors at the State meeting in Asheville in May," said Mr. Brown. H. L. Smith, Secretary of the Pitt County Bankers' Association, made a brief talk along the line of eastern Carolina's wonderful natural advantages and suggested one way through which to work in realizing the maximum—"With the boys and girls."

not of cotton for your personal study and observation so you would be in better position to talk intelligently to your customers. "What are the steps necessary for cotton under boll weevil conditions? "1. Selection of land. See that it is well drained and of medium fertility. "2. Preparation of land. Prepare at least two weeks in advance of planting, so that you will have a firm seed bed. "3. Seed selection. Wannamaker, Edgcombe and Cleveland Big Boll are good varieties. "4. Delinted seed helps. "5. Early planting, though not too early. "6. Cultivation. Keep absolutely free of weeds and grass. Conserve moisture by frequent cultivation—shallow plowing by breaking the crust."

In speaking of fertilization, Mr. Taylor said: "We need to use a larger per cent of phosphoric acid to hasten the maturity of fruit. There seems to have been a tendency in the past to use too much ammonia. Ammonia should be used to push the plant until about the middle of July and then stop."

New Officers for 1924 As a result of the nominating committee, the following were declared elected to serve Group One for the ensuing year: C. H. Hood of the Citizens Bank of Edenton, President; Jesse B. Rose of the Bank of Washington, Vice-President; J. H. Waldrop of the Greenville Banking & Trust Co., Greenville, Secretary-Treasurer.

Executive Committee. G. W. Prescott of First National Bank, Ayden; V. D. Strickland, of Farmers Atlantic Bank, Ahsokie; M. B. Gilliam, of Citizens Bank, Windsor; J. E. Pope, of Martin County Savings Bank, Williamston; D. Riddle, of Carolina Banking & Trust Company, Elizabeth City. A rising vote of thanks was given to W. E. Willis, retiring secretary-treasurer, who has served the body for the past several years.

Following the afternoon session, a ride was given the visitors over the recently completed bridge across the Roanoke river. This trip was an enjoyable event of the day.

The closing number on the program was a banquet at the Masonic Hall at 7:30, with Hon. Clayton Moore as toastmaster.

It was a never-to-be-forgotten hour a sumptuous turkey dinner, band concert, after dinner speeches, quartette selections, etc., all contributed towards the pleasure of the occasion. Attending from Greenville: W. H. Woolard, J. L. Hassell, J. H. Waldrop, J. S. Brown, Donald H. Kirby,

KIWANIANS ENJOY SPLENDID MEETING

Jim Applewhite was the center of last night at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis Club. He was judged guilty by his peers of putting over a very interesting and enjoyable program.

Miss Bertolet of the College faculty contributed two delightful piano selections and Mrs. E. E. Griffin pleased all with two soprano solos.

This being the 13th anniversary of the Boy Scout movement, Jake Skinner a patrol leader of the local scouts was a guest of honor and in a manly way made clear the principles of the scouts.

As he concluded his talk a pistol shot was heard outside and two Greenville boys, John Mason and Jack Tripp ran into the dining room breathless, white with fear, pursued by Officer Fulford of the local police force. When the excitement had somewhat subsided, the officer explained that he had found the boys playing crap in an open lot and that it was his duty to arrest them.

Jake Skinner's talk and the stunt pulled off by John and Jack and Officer Fulford gripped every Kiwanian present and pointedly called attention to Greenville's greatest problem, "the boy and girl problem of Greenville." Greenville is looking after its material interests. What is it doing for the physical, moral and spiritual well-being of its youth? Greenville must wake up to this need and provide ways and means for its youth to have a proper outlet for its physical energies and to develop them along wholesome lines.

Jim Leggett gave a ten minute talk on the significance of George Washington's birthday to the American citizen.

The following guests were introduced, Dr. Chas. O'H. Horne, E. E. Rawls, Jasper Winslow, B. B. Sugg, Pauline Griffin and Mary Bertolet. President Will Hooker announced that the Greenville Kiwanis Club led the attendance record for January in this district.

Every Kiwanian enjoyed the evening. There was something to enjoy something to seriously think about, something worth while to get behind and bring to a reality. Let's do it.

John Short, W. C. Harris and H. L. Smith. Mrs. W. H. Woolard was also in attendance for the banquet.

Farmville was represented by: W. R. Willis, D. E. Oglesby, W. J. Baker, J. M. Stancill, Ayden: G. W. Prescott, J. H. S. Hodges, J. D. McGlothlin, H. S. Gurganus. Winterville: J. L. Rollins, Roy Cox. A. W. Ange. Bethel: S. C. Ives, W. M. Pruetie, V. N. Whitehurst.

MARKET REACHES NEARLY 40 MILLION FOR THE SEASON

Exact Receipts Greenville Auction Sales Were 37,560,026 Lbs

With the sales of yesterday, the Greenville auction warehouses closed the season 1923-24, which proved by far one of the most successful for many years.

The total receipts for the season were 37,560,026 pounds for $8,312,548.82 at an average of $22.13 per hundred pounds. The number of pounds sold exceed the number sold last season by 16,701,320 pounds.

The reputation of the Greenville market has been established over a larger territory this year than ever before. The growers were rewarded with prices equalled by few if any other markets of the state. Having the triple set of buyers avoided block sales to a noticeable extent only a few blocks occurring during the season.

The market has drawn from a large territory both in this and adjoining states and the new friends made are numerous. Such an expansion as the past season has shown is not only good for the market but equally as good for the town.

WHAT MAKES A CITY

For the communities to be vainglorious is as natural and human as for the individual. Man of both sexes and all ages dearly loves to talk about himself, point out his little excellencies, emphasize the good deeds of self and make for himself a niche in the hall of fame. The community is a colony of men and as such must display the traits of men.

Next to boosting oneself men and women prefer "selling" the home town. Among their own townspeople they discuss the fine points and peculiar advantages of the home town in contrast rather than comparison with the neighboring "burgs." Every visitor and stranger in town must hear the whole history and note the progress of the community. The American people are invariably patriotic and loyal to nation, state, county, town and self.

Among community institutions most prized and proudly displayed three are especially outstanding: Good churches, good schools and good streets. People talk of their fine stores, their ornamental public buildings, their prominent citizens, but first and last they are concerned with their churches, schools and streets.

The town or city seeking a higher population can not better obtain that and than by building modern streets, providing their children with suitable school buildings and erecting monumental church edifices. Ask the prospective citizen what he would demand for his adopted community and he will say without hesitation, "schools, churches and streets, the best that money can buy."

Until it has provided the best in these three necessities of modern life no community has done its full duty to its citizens.

DAUGHERTY'S TURN NEXT

Among the reasons why Mr. Daugherty should leave the Cabinet are the reasons why he should never have been appointed Attorney General. At the same time President Harding selected him forcible, protests were unheeded. He was not qualified to be Attorney General either by ability or professional standing or personal reputation. The Tribune states the plain truth when it says that "neither by training nor equipment does he possess the stature for the important post that he holds."

It is not true that Mr. Daugherty has lost public confidence, because he never had it. From the day he was hoisted into office in Washington he has discredited first the Harding Administration and then the Coolidge Administration. A public official of his character and record cannot but steadily weaken respect for the Government. That is perhaps the greatest disservice, even allowing for his lack of distinction as a lawyer and his inglorious performances at the head of the Department of Justice, that he could have rendered.

Denby declared up to the last that he would not resign and then resigned. Daugherty repeats that he will not resign; but he must. He is of tougher fibre than Denby. He has been thoroughly seasoned in the Ohio school of politics. He may pride himself that he is impervious to criticism. He may be determined to brazen it out. But he will go.

Daugherty will go because the Republican Party is tired of him, ashamed of him and must somehow be rid of him. He has long overstayed his time as a member of the Coolidge Cabinet solely on the strength of having been one of President Harding's intimates. Mr. Coolidge must soon unload him or accept the reproach of shielding a man who, because of his unfitness for public office and the disesteem in which he is generally held, is not the kind of company other Cabinet officers care to keep.—N. Y. World.

Predicts Prosperity For Emerald Isle

London—An era of prosperity for Ireland is dawning, says Richard D. Trotter, head of the Provincial Bank of Ireland, and furthermore Irish bankers are ready to stand behind the Free State in its policy for the complete reconstruction of Ireland.

In speaking recently before a meeting of London bankers, Mr. Trotter said: "The gratifying response to the issue of the Irish Free State Loan has supplied a most encouraging evidence of a growing spirit of confidence in the stability of the Free State and its government, and that feeling will be carried further when due importance is attached to the assurances of the president and his responsible ministers of their intention effectively to regulate state expenditure and income until the national budget is balanced."

Mr. Trotter added that the government has shown itself strong, firm and sympathetic, with the result that the majority of the people were with it, and most citizens respected the law.

TRY THIS

Automobile bodies enameled in colors, with all the resultant gloss and long wearing qualities characteristic of the common black enamel finish, are now for the first time made possible through the perfection of a new process by the Olds Motor Works, Lansing, Michigan.

The announcement of this important and advanced step in automobile manufacture was not made public by the Old Motor Works until the success of the process had been assured. This followed several years of experiments and months of testing. For several months past Oldsmobile sport touring cars have been finished in weathered-bronze green laked enamel.

Black has maintained its place as the standard color for automobiles only because it could be baked on cheaply and quickly. The same enamel with color ingredients added would come out smoked and streaky after exposed to the excessive temperatures of the baking ovens. The only method of body finishing that would give a glossy finish in colors was the ordinary and familiar one of paint and varnish a long and relatively expensive procedure.

This development of colored enamels that will withstand the heat of baking ovens has caused a revolution of thought and beliefs in the paint industry. At the beginning of the development, when officials of the Olds Motor Works made known their wants, both paint and varnish makers said it could not be done—and it could not with the materials and ideas then in use. But constant experimentation along new lines, and finally the trying out of China wood oil, or Tung oil, made success possible.

The new color enamel itself is somewhat more expensive than the black, but the difference in price is not sufficiently great that the quantity used on one automobile body is reflected in the selling price of the finished car. It is applied in practically the same manner as the black enamel and is passed through the same ovens and subjected to the same degrees of heat.

Compared to the ordinary paint and varnish finishes, the colored enamel process has many points in its favor. It requires but nine hours to completely finish a body by the new process, whereas the shortest time possible with a paint and varnish job is ten days. It can be readily seen that great savings are effected. Much less floor space is, of course, required, materially reducing cost of handling. Colored enamel is also a great improvement over black enamel for the reason that it is more elastic and therefore less liable to injury. Ordinary scratches can be removed by rubbing without the necessity of re-ensemeling. It also is superior to paint and varnish as it cannot craze or crack as does the harder surface, yet at the same time has as lustrous a finish.

Paris.—The theatre goers of Paris are supporting today the right of audience to condemn as well as applaud the work of actors on the stage and to this end they quote Moliere, who said that this was a privilege one purchased along with his theatre ticket.

Arthur Train's Big Novel of New York Life is Picturized

Early in 1923, a sensational novel appeared in the New York book market. Within four months it had swept the country and taken the position of the second best seller in the book stores to date. This author was new to most of the public, but today he is more talked of than any one in the literary field.

THREE GENERATIONS OF "FIGHTING ROOSEVELTS."

Theodore Roosevelt III, Theodore Roosevelt II & Theodore Roosevelt I. How reminiscent is the fighting pose of Theodore Roosevelt, III, son of the Assistant Secretary of the Navy and grandson of the late ex-President! Young Teddy, learning to box at the Racquet Club in Washington, displays the typical fighting face of his grandfather.

Arthur Train, a New York attorney, jumped into the limelight overnight with "His Children's Children." Mr. Train's book from his standpoint is not a work of fiction. He wrote one of the world's greatest novels out of personal experiences he had pieced together from his years of law practice in New York City. The characters he wrote of were characters he had encountered. Many of his experiences were personal and he knows New York as few authors know it. And this has been picturized by Paramount.

It is a story of New York's degenerate generations. It is a story of three generations of New Yorkers. It asks the question boldly, if this is a sample of what we find in New York's upper strata then what is New York really coming to? Vital pictures of New York life are always interesting. It is not a picture of New York cabaret or New York night life. These are only incidental.

It is the story of a family from the first generation to the third—of human happiness—of human weaknesses—human strength. It tells of moral and mental decay, but in a clean, gripping, vivid manner. It is just as modern as the five star edition of today's newspapers. Its theme of modern life is the theme of "The Covered Wagon" in the day of '49. It shows how the great fortune of a pioneer railroad builder—a typical American figure—a fortune won in rapacity and brutality, reacts through a smug second generation, and shatters the whole family to pieces in this, the third generation, the jazz generation of the present day. It is not only one of the most sensational and melodramatic novels of recent times, but it is the truest indictment of American society penned since the first works of Theodore Dreiser.

A remarkable picturization by Paramount of this novel will be shown at White's theatre next Monday and Tuesday. Sam Wood was the producer and Monte Katterjohn made the adaptation. The featured players are Bebe Daniels, Dorothy Mackaill, James Rennie and George Fawcett. The supporting cast is one of the best assembled in any picture.

Grifton Circuit of Methodists Will Raise Quota $1720

The Grifton Circuit of the Methodist Episcopal church South, Rev. R. J. Lough, pastor, has accepted the $1720.00 as a minimum quota to raise within five years for the cause of Superannuate Endowment of that denomination. The goal for the entire church of this movement is $10,000,000.00, the income from which is to be used for the support of the aged and infirm ministers and widows and orphans of ministers.

The campaign for the fund is being directed by the board of Finance of the Southern Methodist church, St. Louis, Mo., Bishop W. F. McMurry, chairman, and Dr. Luther Todd, secretary. The latter has issued and sent to all pastors a booklet, "The call of the Forgotten Man," which tells the pathetic story of the great need asks the church to remember him with substantial giving and outlines plans for raising the sum sought.

According to reports received by the board, over 2000 pastoral charges have up to this time accepted minimum quotas asked of them and many of them have voluntarily increased the amounts. Several large individual gifts have already been announced and others are expected.

There are over 900 of the old preachers, many of them pioneer circuit riders who rode through storm and sunshine, winter and summer, day and night, to serve humanity and the church, 1300 widows and 600 orphans, many of whom are living in little better than poverty. They never forgot duty and the church for a single moment, and there is now evidence on all sides that the church is at last thoroughly awake to its belated duty to its forgotten servants.

Photographer Flies Into Vesuvius Crater.

Umberto Romagnoli

Umberto Romagnoli, of the International Newsreel Corporation, is alive today, after one of the most daring feats in the annals of photography. With a pilot, he flew in a seaplane inside the crater of Mount Vesuvius, in Italy, remaining seven minutes. Natives reported the man dead, and it was not until Romagnoli reappeared in Naples that it was learned the flight was deliberately made. Although the fliers wore gas masks, Romagnoli became unconscious after leaving the crater, but not until he had made his pictures.

Details on all parts of the convention and its plans are being handled by Southern Secretary C. F. Evans, 5 Fergar Building, Chattanooga, Tenn., and all inquiries should be addressed to him.

What good is it, anyway

A lot of people draw the little old pay envelope every week.

One fellow gets "thirty" and another "sixty" and it's ten to one neither man has "two-bits" left when pay day again rolls around.

If you spend it all you're on the wrong track, not because we say so and are operating a savings institution, but because the records show what happens.

The men and women who won't save, are headed for the discard and there is only one way to change that.

Start saving—two words that will make the pay envelope worth something.

Both Serial and Paid-Up Shares are on sale at all times.

"HIS CHILDREN'S CHILDREN"

Are we losing all our ideals, in our mad scramble for the almighty dollar? Is the dollar sign the stain on present day morals?

Every family in town should see this amazing production of the most sensational novel written in years. In story, cast and production, it's BIG! And it's something to think about, besides.

A fearless indictment of New York's inner circle, where the lives of the rich are smudged with scandal.
