

Sinclair's Counsel Questions Right to Further Investigate

Oil Committee Adjourns and Transfers Debate to Floor of Senate; Dill Declares Powerful Influences Are Trying to Stop Work of Committee

Washington, D. C., March 21.—The right of the Senate oil committee to proceed in their inquiry into the leasing of Teapot Dome reserves and transactions connected therewith were challenged today by attorneys for Harry F. Sinclair when he returned to the stand for questioning regarding dramatic disclosures of the past few weeks.

The attorneys objected to further inquiry by the committee on the grounds of the Walsh resolution adopted by Congress directing annulment of the oil leases. It was pointed out by the attorneys that the resolution declared the leased made under circumstances of fraud and corruption and said that if this be true the committee has already ascertained the information that it was directed to ascertain and that further action by the committee was not necessary of legal.

In a long argument presented immediately after the witness was called to the stand, Martin W. Littleton, member of Sinclair's counsel contended that by adopting the resolution Congress had brought to an end the jurisdiction of the committee but had defined a policy that the oil was to be reserved for the government.

Sinclair's counsel waged an inconclusive two hours legal battle in an effort to have their client excused from further questioning and challenged the committee's authority to proceed further into the inquiry after the matter had been passed upon by Congress and contending that in fairness and justice Sinclair should not be compelled to take the stand while charges of fraud are pending against him in the courts. Littleton told the committee members that their course was a monstrous proposition and an outrage.

Senator Walsh, the committee's chief prosecutor, did not agree with Sinclair's attorneys but some of the committeemen wanted time to think the matter over so adjournment until tomorrow was decided upon. The committee will resume its session tomorrow in a public hearing.

During the discussion Sinclair sat at the committee table apparently confident that in the end he would be excused from testifying.

Sinclair's counsel did not predict what other legal privileges would be involved later on in his behalf but Littleton repeatedly accused the committee of attempting to drive him into a position of assuming the odium of refusing to answer like Albert B. Fall on the ground that it might incriminate him.

Before adjournment of the committee Senator Dill read into the record extracts from a published article to the effect that Will H. Hayes will tell the oil committee that Harry F. Sinclair turned over 75,000 shares of Sinclair oil stocks to the Republican National committee to wipe out the deficit of $1,600,000 left after the 1920 election.

Soon after the committee adjourned one of the committee members, Senator Dill, Democrat of Washington, started a debate on the Senate floor in which he declared that Littleton's appearance in the case demonstrated that there was powerful influence at work to stop further investigation.

Recalling that Littleton had questioned the authority of a Congressional committee to summon witnesses before it, the Senator said it was extremely significant that this move should be made just when the committee was about to question Sinclair and Will H. Hayes regarding the fund of 75,000 shares of oil stock reported to have been turned over by Sinclair to pay for the Republican campaign debts of 1920.

It is also noted, declared Senator Dill, that the great eastern newspapers and actually used to protect some persons all began to find the inquiry of the culprits and that the chief nauseating the very day that the executive has refused to remove the committee exposed the telegraphhead of that department.

CHERRY AWARDED VERDICT $3,000 VS. A. C. RAILROAD CO.

Action Grew Out of Injuries Received by Plaintiff in 1909

About 5 o'clock yesterday the jury returned a verdict in the case of G. E. Cherry, Jr., against the A. C. L. R. R. Co. in favor of the plaintiff and for the sum of $3,000 for damages.

This action grew out of an injury suffered by plaintiff in 1909 when he was twelve years of age and was caused by plaintiff stumbling over a pile of cinders in the street and falling under the train while attempting to mail a letter which had been handed to him by J. R. Moore who was or had been agent of said railroad Co. Plaintiff was dragged under the train for some distance, having his right thigh crushed, his back badly lacerated and his skull gashed in several places. By reason of this injury he was confined to his bed several months and then went on crutches about a year. Soon after the injury the case was placed in the hands of the late J. L. Fleming by the parents of the plaintiff, but Mr. Fleming having died without bringing action, the matter was left in abeyance until plaintiff became of age in 1919 at which time he employed Mr. F. C. Harding to institute the action, later employing F. G. James and Son and finally in 1922 also employing D. M. Clark. At the first hearing in 1922, Judge Calvert sustained demurrer ore-tenus of defendants, and on this it went to the Supreme Court, a new trial being granted. At the second trial in May 1923 Judge Grady ruled with defendant on the pleadings, and again the case went to the Supreme Court and a new trial was granted. At the present trial Judge Daniels submitted the issues squarely to the jury with the above mentioned result.

For the plaintiff the case was stubbornly fought by F. C. Harding, F. G. James and Son and D. M. Clark, and for defendant it was just as stubbornly fought by Skinner and Whedbee. The trial consumed part of three days concluding yesterday with the closing arguments of Judge Whedbee for defendant and D. M. Clark for plaintiff.

Senator Walsh, the committee's chief prosecutor, did not agree with Sinclair's attorneys but some of the committeemen wanted time to think the matter over so adjournment until tomorrow was decided upon. The committee will resume its session tomorrow in a public hearing.

Laughlin Selected Minister to Greece

Washington, March 21.—Irvin B. Laughlin, of Pittsburgh, has been selected by President Coolidge as Minister to Greece.

from the White House to Edward B. McLean. "They did not seem to think so until we began to get so close to some of the big Republican officials," he said. "Until then, with comparatively small culprits involved they were content." "Now we find the most brilliant member of the New York bar retained to head off the committee."

Senator Reed, Democrat, Montana, suggested that the sickening effect was heightened by the fact that the Department of Justice is paralyzed and actually used to protect some persons all began to find the inquiry of the culprits and that the chief nauseating the very day that the executive has refused to remove the committee exposed the telegraphhead of that department.

Mrs. Wingate was conscious when the police arrived and she accused her husband of shooting her and then taking his own life, police said.

The New York State Executive has not yet given his answer. The invitation to Governor Smith is the third that has been extended to presidential possibilities of the Democratic party within recent weeks. William G. McAduo was the first to be invited but he found it impossible to be in this part of the state at the set time, it was said. Oscar W. Underwood, United States Senator from Alabama, was the second to be invited and he, too, found it impossible to accept the invitation.

One Farmer Paid Income Tax in 1922 in Mecklenburg Co.

Charlotte, March 21.—Two years ago there was but one farmer in all of Mecklenburg county that paid an income tax to the State but this year there were almost a dozen, said A. Morris McDonald, deputy State income tax commissioner. Last year there were a few farmers who paid a state income tax and this year they were augmented again. The one farmer income tax payer of two years ago, it was said created a sensation. The cases in question refer to actual farmers and not to absentee landlords.

Big Convention Is Coming to Greenville

The Rev. James E. W. Cook on behalf of St. Paul's Parish, has invited the Diocesan Young People to meet for their summer convention in Greenville next June. Over 300 delegates are expected to attend, and there will be addresses by educators of national reputation. The convention will last three days. One feature is that the sister congregations of the city have promised to assist St. Paul's in entertaining this large delegation; and our civic organizations will endorse the movement with Greenville heartiness. It is understood that the invitation has been accepted by the Bishop and Council.

New York Druggist Testifies $200,000 Was Paid for Permits for Illicit Withdrawal of Whiskey From Federal Warehouses

Washington, March 21.—More collections of one thousand dollar bills were unearthed today in testimony before the Daugherty investigating committee. This time they were for the illicit withdrawals of whiskey from federal warehouses.

John Goroni, president of the Alps Drug Company, of New York, testified that after being refused by prohibition official Hart, he paid Owen Murphy, partner of Will A. Orr, $150,000 and to Orr himself $50,000 for withdrawal permits.

Orr, Goroni testified, was selling these permits for $15 a case and it was understood that Howard Mannington, friend of the Attorney General, got $2 a case for his part. $50,000 in one thousand dollar bills was collected from other parties among them a liquor dealer named John Lynn who later hanged himself. "How much of this $200,000 was for liquor?" Goroni was asked. "None of it was for liquor at all," he replied. "That was just for the permits."

The transactions were between May and August 1921, Goroni said, and were for signing withdrawal applications. Goroni said that the drug stores got a fee of $1 per case. After the drug stores got the permit, Goroni said, anybody could get the whiskey. The fee of $1 per case was for the use of the drug company's name to get the permits into the hands of bootleggers.

Goroni told the committee that the money was split in six ways. In brief here is the story he told:

The $15 per case paid was split in this way, Goroni said: $4 a case went to the prohibition director; $2 a case went to Howard Mannington, one of Attorney General Daugherty's friends who had an office in the "Little Green House" on K. Street; $1 to the druggist whose name was used; $1 to himself (Goroni); 50 cents a case to Assistant United States Attorney L'Esperance, at New York, and $5.50 to Will Orr and Owen Murphy. Mannington had to split his $2 in three ways, Goroni said Orr told him, some of it going to the late Jesse W. Smith, Attorney General Daugherty's "bumper" friend.

The Daugherty investigation committee took up today the brokerage transactions of Jesse W. Smith and Roxie Stinson, his divorced wife.

William R. Hayes, Columbus, Ohio, broker was the first witness to take the stand. Miscellaneous transactions under his own name showing dealings of $75,000, in Sinclair and Mexican oil stocks within a few months were identified by Hayes but he said he could not recall the customers who were trading in it.

Hayes said that Daugherty had traded with him in another brokerage firm before he became connected with Ungerlider. Hayes, manager of the Columbus office of Samuel Underluder and Company, was called to the stand for questioning in connection with Roxie Stinson's testimony of blind accounts under the name of Will R. Hayes number 2 and 3.

Attorney General Daugherty had no account with his present firm Hayes said.

Alex E. Jones Found Guilty Manslaughter

Elizabeth City, March 21.—Guilty of manslaughter with a recommendation for mercy was the verdict by the jury in Pasquotank county superior court in the case of Alex E. The jury had been out since late yesterday. Sentence has not yet been passed. Jones contended that he killed the negro in self defense.

Big Voting Perion In Campaign Now On

Everyone who really cares about winning in The Daily Reflector's $2,500 circulation and prize contest should make every possible effort during the time between now and April 5th. Two weeks from this coming Saturday will see the close of the first period of voting, the time when votes secured on subscriptions count the very most of the entire contest. The opportune time is at hand when all those who have been hesitating about entering this wonderful contest should send in their name before votes secured on subscriptions take a drop. Anyone sending in their nomination this week is right in at the start. The majority of folks on the list are just starting active work and you can pick up the reins of your campaign with the knowledge that not one candidate on the list has done the work that entitles them to any sort of a lead. Don't delay entering and don't let some outsider tell you that any certain candidate has a big lead.

If you are one of the candidates listed whose name has been sent in to the campaign department and you have not as yet taken an active part, you should appreciate the confidence your friends have in your ability to do big things by starting an active campaign at once. These friends will support you more and more each day when they learn they you are really interested in the outcome.

Those who are the winners of the two automobile will undoubtedly be those who make the hardest effort between now and April 5th. If you hope to be a winner of one of the automobiles or anyone of the other five prizes, you must enter your name now just clip the nomination coupon out of the paper and send it in to the campaign manager and all necessary supplies will be sent you. If your name is already on the list and you have not as yet started out in earnest, get busy at once and help these friends who are voting for you to push you across the line four weeks from Saturday a winner. If you are already in the field as an active worker, you must push harder than ever these coming days in order to do your best when the best counts so much.

Just four weeks from this coming Saturday and the judges will make their final count. Eight o'clock sharp Saturday night, April 19th, and the doors of the campaign department will be locked and the count will begin by three prominent business and professional men of Pitt county to be selected and announced later on in the contest. On that night the automobiles will be lined up outside the campaign office and the other valuable prizes will be on hand ready for their rightful owners. Several new candidates have signified their intentions of getting going at once and if they do the rest of the active workers will have to look to their laurels. Word comes from Falkland that Mrs. Ethel Mayo is about to take hold and with the assistance of hustling friends make a drive for the leading prize. Mrs. W. H. Skinner, Jr., of Farmville has just started out as an active worker and the prospects look bright for her winning a leading prize as she has wonderful territory to cover. Mrs. Max McGlohon and Mrs. Maggie Jackson of Ayden are new active workers in the field for the first time and who are bound to be heard from as the contest goes along.

Greenville is represented by some strong contestants who will give all a hard fight for the leading prize. It looks like a hot race between city and outside candidates from the reports make by the several candidates entered.

At a conference held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms this morning it was decided to call for an organization meeting of the subscribers to the Greenville Chamber of Commerce, which will be held at the courthouse next Thursday night at 7 o'clock.

The committee wants every subscriber to be present on this occasion and have a part in launching the Greenville Chamber of Commerce. The committee is continuing its effort in behalf of memberships and with the full support of the citizen ship, many of whom have not yet been seen, the desired goal will be reached by Thursday night.

WHAT WILL OUR ANSWER BE?

Appearing in yesterday's issue of this paper over the signatures of about 75 of Greenville's representative citizens was this statement: "Our School Board tells us that in another year present facilities will be inadequate to enroll the children entitled to attend the Greenville Public Schools. The only way we can meet the issue is to provide additional facilities, for we must not turn our backs on the childhood of today."

The above statement presents a situation that should be close to the heart of every citizen of Greenville. It must be realized that the greatest asset of any community is its future citizens and to neglect them is to take no thought of the future of your community.

Not only is it our moral, and Christian duty to give every child a fair chance, but our state has passed a law that every child must attend school and our failure to provide a place for them to attend is a refusal to do our duty as citizens of our state.

Already our schools are overcrowded, in one case there being 300 more children housed in one building than it was built to accommodate.

Our school board, which is composed of fair minded citizens, realizing that such conditions should not be allowed to exist in our schools have asked our Board of Aldermen for relief from the present situation. There is only one way in which the situation can be overcome and the Board of Aldermen, pursuing that course, have placed before the voters of Greenville a $200,000 bond issue for improvement of city schools.

The bond election will be held on Tuesday,

April 1, and as a citizen, it is your duty to show your faith in your children and insure the future of your community by casting your vote in favor of the issue.

The election requires an entirely new registration and tomorrow is the last day in which to register. The books will be at the court house and if you have not already registered don't fail to do so.

THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The Greenville Chamber of Commerce will be the one big official organization, when completed, whose sole excuse for existing will lie in doing something of good for Greenville. It can't expect to succeed in every attempt it makes, any more than any individual can, but it will make a fair percentage of hits. Certainly it is true that it will never go after anything except for the good of the general public and when it succeeds the fruits of that success are enjoyed by GREENVILLE at large—by every resident, whether he knows it or not.

The committee is exceedingly anxious to have the membership of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce thoroughly representative, that is to have every interest of the city identified with the organization. This is very important when it is considered in the light of what it will mean to have every interest in the city enthusiastically boosting Greenville and those things that so vitally effect its interests.

It is no more the duty of the committee to work so unselfishly as they have for the past several days—to give of their time and money—and it is no more the duty of those who have already subscribed to insure the goal of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce than it is for the other citizens of the city. It should be a privilege and it is certainly the bounden duty of every citizen to unite in making effective this organization at the earliest moment.

The Calendar says today is the first day of Spring, but the Weather Man would have us believe differently.

No cement will ever mend a broken promise.

Home for some people is where the automobile roads are smoothest.

To encourage us to go on, nature gave us short memories for unpleasant experiences.

Don't be so concerned over what people might think about you; the chances are they seldom think about you at all.

We can't forget our obligation to the children of today who will be the men and women of tomorrow. Register and be ready to vote in the school bond election on April 1st. Adv.

Our children are our most valuable assets. We owe to them the very best educational advantages. They can't get them now in the present crowded condition of the school rooms. Vote for the school bonds.

and help erect buildings in keeping with the "best children in the world". Register tomorrow. Adv.
 Don't fail to register tomorrow. The last day—your last chance.

PHILIPPINES IN 1923 MADE RECORD HEMP PRODUCTION

Manila. — The Philippine Islands had the banner year of their history in hemp production in 1923, according to D. D. Strong of the bureau of agriculture. The production totaled 1,655,134 bales, which exceeded the best previous year by 12,000 bales.

Mr. Strong predicts that the production of 1924 will fall below that of 1923 because of the destruction of many hemp fields by typhoons last November.

Boats at Miami Prepare Winter Speed Classic

Miami, Fla.—More than a score of powerboats, some of them of the hydroplane class, are being tuned up here for Miami's annual mid-winter regatta, to be held over the Biscayne Bay course March 7 and 8. Among the contestants are several that race each year in the Gold Cup classic, the greatest of all racing boat events. Three events are on the program, two for runabouts and one for hydroplanes. The first of the runabout races, to be run in two 30-mile heats is open to displacement craft of more than 25 feet in length and power with motors of not more than 825 cubic inches piston displacement. A qualifying speed of 35 miles an hour is required. Eight craft have been nominated for this event.

The second of the runabout races, termed the Sweepstakes-Liberty class has attracted 15 entries. To be run in two 40-mile heats, the race calls for a qualifying speed of 40 miles an hour, by displacement boats more than 25 feet in length and powered with motors of not more than 1,350 cubic inches, or over 32 feet in length with a piston displacement not exceeding 1,650 inches.

All the craft entered in the hydroplane event are from peoria, Ill. champions of the 725 cubic inch restricted class of the Mississippi Valley Powerboat Association. This event calls for a qualifying speed of 50 miles an hour, and will be run in two 20-mile heats. After the races here the same program will be repeated at Havana, Cuba, on March 15 and 16.

Brain Workers Warned to Exercise Moderately

Harrisburg, Pa.—The violence and duration of exercise may cause a person to become stimulated, fatigued or exhausted, according to Colonel Edward Martin, former state commissioner of health. Dr. Martin said each individual must decide the amount of exercise to be taken, pointing out that what may be exhausting to one will stimulating to another.

"Stimulating exercise is brief in duration," Dr. Martin asserted. "It leaves the one who takes it feeling more supple, active and better prepared for sustained effort, either mental or physical. This form of exercise should be taken at least once a day by all brain and indoor workers. It should be continued not longer than five minutes, and should be supplemented by deep breathing. The feeling after it has been taken is the best index as to how much should be taken.

"Fatiguing exercise leaves the one who takes it tired and languid mentally and physically; hungry for meals and sleepy. It is good for the brain and indoor worker on his vacation, but it is not good for the brain worker when busy with his problems.

"Exhausting exercise leaves the one who takes it dead tired, irritable, without appetite and sleeping heavily or fitfully, with an all-in feeling on getting up in the morning. It is not good, even for the trained young athlete."

REV. JAMES E. W. COOK WILMINGTON VISITOR

The Wilmington Morning Star of Thursday, records the presence of Rev. James E. W. Cook of our city in attendance in the Scottish Rite Reunion. Also that he was present at the Kiwanis luncheon.

"An honored guest of the club was Rev. J. E. W. Cook, formerly of this city, but now pastor of St. Paul's Episcopal church, Greenville, N. C. The Rev. Mr. Cook was introduced to his former club mates by Bishop Thomas C. Darst, who paid, Mr. Cook many high compliments. Mr. Cook responded, telling what a splendid city Greenville was, and wishing for Wilmington a bright and prosperous future.

"The Rev. James E. W. Cook, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, Greenville, N. C., formerly of this city, is in Wilmington attending the annual reunion of Scottish Rite Masons. Mr. Cook is enthusiastic over his new work in Greenville, and says Greenville is the best place he knows."

"The Covered Wagon"

"The Covered Wagon" which has proved a sensation, and crowds have flocked to the playhouses far in excess of their capacity. The most prominent people of the country have endorsed the play, the Governors of the states public officials, army and navy commanders, and heads of patriotic societies.

The reason of this extraordinary interest is the fact that "The Covered Wagon" vividly portrays one of the most vital periods in America's annals, namely, the conquest of the Oregon Trail in 1848-49 by the "covered wagons" or prairie schooners.

This is pictured in the form of a thrilling and romantic love story. The heroine is a girl from Abe Lincoln's county, Illinois, who drives one of the wagons. The rival suitors for her hand are two ex-service officers of the Mexican War. Almost every kind of hazardous adventure is encountered by the pioneers, who are shown battling against fire, flood, Indians, buffalo stampede, starvation and blizzard in their heroic attainment of the New West. Any number of laughs are furnished by the antics of two old scouts, and of the banjo-playing terbacker-chawing pioneer boy Jed Wingate.

With the fine cast headed by J. Warren Kerrigan and Lois Wilson and a magnificent orchestra accompaniment conducted by Frederick Arundel, "The Covered Wagon" (in the words of a Boston critic) rouses like Marshall music.

Coast of California Searched for Buried Treasure of Pirates

Del Monte, Cal.—Secretive but systematic hunts for buried treasure along the Monterey peninsula, on the Pacific coast, are reported here.

According to Monterey legend, Carmel Bay and Stillwater Cove were favorite haunts of smugglers and pirates in the old days before Monterey became a Spanish settlement. The remains of an old Spanish galleon, believed to have been taken as a prize in the days when Sir Francis Drake's ships scoured the seas, has been found in Stillwater Cove. Old residents of Monterey have innumerable relics of the days when sea rovers put into Carmel Bay for shelter and fresh water. Iron rings and fragments of chain have been found on rocks now submerged, and, inland, there are many strange marks carved on trees. Acrows and crosses cut in the trees of a deserted Indian village above Pebble Beach support the tradition that this once was the retreat of pirates.

Gouverneur Morris, the author, who lives in the town of Monterey, is one of those who believe that somewhere on the peninsula treasure is buried. One of his prized possessions is a great iron key of ancient Spanish make which he picked up on the shoreward edge of Pebble Beach golf course. He believes that this was the key to an old treasure chest, and he has spent many hours prowling about the rocky shore looking for the chest.

There is some talk at Pebble Beach of organizing a company of property owners to institute a scientific hunt for treasure. Several residents of the fashionable Pebble Beach colony, however, have employed guards to protect their properties from the depredations of the freelance treasure seekers. They are more interested in saving their grounds and trees than in the possibility of locating the supposed buried treasure.

Where will the registration books be tomorrow? At the court house. Is it the last day? Yes. What is the registration for? Heads Large Families Receive Legion Honor

Paris—The most coveted decoration of France, the Legion Honor, is being used by the government to encourage people to till the soil and to reward them for having large families. A list of 65 to whom the Legion of Honor was awarded recently contained the names of eight women.

One of the women was the mother of 23 children of whom eighteen survive. Nine live with her and work the land. Three died in the war.

The longest citation was that given to Madame Vieren whose husband was killed in the war. Left with five children she managed a small farm which was destroyed by the Germans, but she returned to it as soon as the invaders left. The farm was destroyed a second time by the Germans in 1918, but Madame Vieren was one of the first to return and resume working the land.

Upon her second return to the farm her landlord informed her that he intended to sell the property, whereupon she borrowed money and bought the farm. She was cited as a "true type of a valiant French woman, worthy of all respect."

SIX LOSE LIVES IN ACCIDENT TSINAN-TSINGTAO RAILROAD

Tsingta.—Four men were roasted alive in a blazing coach of a moving train on the Tsinan-Tsingtao railway recently. Two others to escape being burned leaped from the train and were killed.

The train was running at high speed when a carelessly dropped lighted match in a third-class coach ignited a can of alcohol. The accident happened at midnight and the resultant explosion covered sleeping passengers with the burning liquid. A stampede to adjoining cars ensued and in the crush of frantic passengers many were seriously burned and otherwise injured.

The Senate Committee, investigating the actions of Attorney General H. M. Daugherty, summoned Secretary of War John W. Weeks and Secretary of the Treasury Andrew J. Mellon for questioning. Prohibition Commissioner Roy Haynes also was called. C. Bascom Slemp, President Coolidge's private secretary, was shown to have traded in oil stocks in 1922 and 1923, while still a member of Congress, but before he was attached to President Coolidge. He declared the oil deal was for a cousin, Congressman William R. Green, of Iowa, has been successful in putting his soldier bonus bill through the House of Representatives by a big majority.

Cervone's Band to Make Debut at the Eastern Exposition

Kinston, March 21. — Cervone's band, noted Pittsburgh musical organization, will make its debut in this region at the Eastern Carolina Exposition here the week of April 7-12. Cervone will officiate at two daily concerts. The band has volume for large spaces, a perfectly balanced instrumentation, and boasts of a coterie of excellent instrumental soloists. The talent employed by Cervone is the equal of that has made two or three American brass bands world-famous.

And Cervone's is an American brass band—comprised by American performers with American ideals and that interpretative regards for American compositions that the foreigner, no matter how proficient he may be in other respects, seldom has. When "Stars and Stripes" and "Washington Grays" are in the air the average American wants to prance proudly to the tune, and the foreign band would not have the pep and dash and blare to suit him. And Jazz! Oh, Boy.

Cervone's outfit doesn't over look the classics and other things, however. Full equipment of reed instruments helps to make this organization as capable in the rendition of the "Higher things" in music as in rag-time and street marches. The solos will be a feature of every program to be rendered here. Masterful cornetists, clarinetists, trombonists, etc., will be heard in these.

Besides the band there will be a full orchestra for the Exposition, while one of the biggest events of the entire week will be a vocal concert, offering no less celebrity than Anna Case herself. Miss Case has been under contract for weeks. Her presence on the opening night is expected to attract thousands to the big industrial show.

Tomorrow, Saturday, March 22, will be the last registration day for the school bond election. The books will be at the court house. Adv.

CAPT. CHARLIE ALTROCK TELLS HIS EXPERIENCE

Gives Tanlac Credit for Bringing Him to "Port of Good Health" Was Weak as Sail Without a Wind

A picturesque man of the sea is "Captain Charlie" (F. C.) Altrock, that genial and hearty mariner who for the past twenty years has been operating motor boats and small steamers in Norfolk Harbor. And it was in the typical language of the sea that "Captain Charlie" recently paid tribute to Tanlac, the medicine which he declares has brought him "to the port of good health" again.

"My appetite and stomach muddled," says he, "and I couldn't even eat my favorite sea foods. I nearly forgot how to sleep and felt as weak and flabby as a sail without any wind in it. Many days I wouldn't even take my boat out. My liver was sluggish as an old mud scow overloaded with harbor dredgings and it looked like I'd be a landlubber the rest of my days."

"But Tanlac took me off the rocks and brought me into port in the finest kind of trim. With all my ailments scuttled, I eat and digest everything, sleep like a log and feel so fine I never get too heavy a cargo to suit me. I always keep a bottle of Tanlac aboard."

"Captain Charlie" resides at 812 Stop, Willoughby St., Norfolk, Va. His mail address is 138 W. Main St., Norfolk.

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

Motorists use Red Seal Lye to clear radiators of scale and to clean up oil-soaked floors. Car-owners should note, however, that the Red Seal Lye solution should not touch the car, as it injures the paint. Parts made of aluminum should not be cleaned with lye.
