OIL COM. INQUIRES FURTHER IN FALL'S FINANCIAL AFFAIRS

Colorado Banker Testifies Regarding Loans to Former Interior Secretary; Sinclair's Case Formally Turned Over to District Atty.

Washington, March 25.—Further inquiry into the financial affairs of Albert B. Fall and into the speculations of high officials was made today by the oil committee at a brief and colorless session. The committee then adjourned until Thursday.

M. D. Thatcher, president of the First National Bank of Pueblo, Colorado, was questioned about Fall's bank account. Afterward Senator Walsh, the committee's chief prosecutor, announced that a check-up showed that the former Secretary of Interior had acquired $32,000 for the purchase of ranch property the source of which was yet undisclosed. Previous indications were that the funds might have come from the Thatcher interests.

While the committee was in session committee members formally turned over to the District Attorney the case of Harry F. Sinclair, who is cited for contempt for his refusal to testify before the committee.

M. D. Thatcher, president of the First National Bank of Pueblo, Colorado, was questioned by the oil committee today about financial transactions between Albert B. Fall and that bank.

The witness said that Fall had been a customer of that bank since 1913 or 1914.

"Did the bank make any loans to him during 1921?" asked Senator Walsh.

"I have the records here. No sir," said the witness.

"Or 1922?"

"No sir."

Thatcher said that Fall had borrowed $15,000 from the bank in 1916 and paid it back in May 1922.

Asked about Fall's statement to the committee that he had arranged to get funds from the M. D. Thatcher estate, the witness said that the Tres Ritas Cattle Company (Fall's company) had done so.

"What do you know about the transactions?" asked Walsh.

"We made some loans to the Tres Ritas Company. We loaned them $100,000 and there are overdrafts of about $22,000 which has probably been consolidated into the note. It was loaned in separate notes running from $5,000 to $10,000. There have been some for $15,000. The amounts were drawn until they reached a round figure when notes would be drawn to cover it."

The transactions had been carried on through a Mr. Everhart, said the witness.

Mr. Everhart told me, said Thatcher, "that they were trying to make some improvements which would run as high as $200,000. He asked me if I would be able to make the loans and I said yes, if reasonable. Advances reached $102,000 or $103,000 with interest a few months past."

"Anything said about security?" asked Walsh.

"I had security. I had stock of the cattle company," Thatcher replied.

Thatcher listed the loans. The first was in 1921 and the next was September 22, 1922.

Fights to Prove Thaw Is Sane.

Conscience Stricken Bride Causes Hubby to Confess Crime

New York, March 25.—Implicated by his conscience stricken bride, Harry Fenton, 21, has admitted that he murdered Miss Mary Coleman, his 60 years old landlady, with a hammer and burned the body after saturating it with kerosene, according to police.

Miss Coleman's body was found about two weeks ago when firemen extinguished a blaze in her bedroom. The body was burned beyond recognition and there were no suspicions surrounding the death.

Fenton would probably have escaped detection had not his wife become conscience stricken and informed the police. It seemed so improbable that detectives investigated for several days before arresting Fenton.

Fenton gave robbery as the reason for the crime and said that he found about $15 in the woman's room.

EASTERN CAROLINA NOW UP IN ARMS AT PROPOSAL INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION INCREASE FREIGHT RATE

Eastern Carolina is all up in arms at the proposal of the Interstate Commerce Commission to increase freight rates. The local Chamber of Commerce, through its secretary, H. L. Smith, desires to bring this matter to the attention of Greenville for their information and for such action as they may deem wise and expedient.

So thoroughly aroused is Wilson over the proposed increases that their business men subscribed $5,000, Saturday with which to fight the case and paid $1,000 in cash. This information came to the local Chamber of Commerce Saturday night in a telephone conversation from Mr. John D. Gold, editor of the Wilson Daily Times, as well as from Mr. M. R. Beaman, secretary of the Wilson Chamber of Commerce.

It must be understood from the beginning that the above fund subscribed by the Wilson business men is not for the purpose of an individual fight on the part of Wilson, but other towns in Eastern Carolina will join in this movement and do their utmost to thwart the suggested increases.

In order to show the proposed increase Secretary M. R. Beaman of the Wilson Chamber of Commerce has submitted figures which have been sent to the following secretaries of Chambers of Commerce: Mr. H. G. Braxton, Kinston; N. Y. Chambliss, Rocky Mount; H. E. Barlow, New Bern; W. C. Denmark, Goldsboro; H. L. Smith, Greenville; Louis Moore, Wilmington; Willard Kyzer, Kinston; J. B. Long, Morehead City; R. C. Job, Elizabeth City; J. Q. Van Herve, Wadesboro; C. H. Cox, Laurinburg; I. H. Bret, Dunn.

"Due to previous engagements by a majority of our members, it was necessary to postpone our meeting suggested for Friday at Greenville. The meeting is now called for 12 o'clock noon at Goldsboro Tuesday March 25th.

"It has been suggested by a majority of the secretaries that we agree to be accompanied by our president, chairman of our Transportation Committee and a group of our representative shippers." I heartily concur in this plan for the matters to be discussed are of vital importance and I believe time can be saved in this manner.

"I received today the report of Commissioner Eastman of the Interstate Commerce Commission L. C. Docket 1984 concerning rates from Ohio River and Western Points to North Carolina and rates between points in Southeastern territory. Please bear in mind that this docket embraces both Western and Southeastern rates.

"I am submitting herewith a statement giving a nindication of what is proposed. Obviously it is impossible to make a detailed exhibit and for purposes of brevity I will only use first class rates. All other rates have a fixed relationship to first class rates.

"I desire to emphasize this change applies to everything that moves from a paper of pins to a locomotive on wheels."

PAGEANT COMMITTEE SENDS S. O. S. CALL

Gives Details Concerning Cost of Costumes; Members Cast Needed

A few weeks ago it was announced that Pitt county would present an historical episode in "Eastern Carolina in Action," the pageant which will be given in Kinston during the Exposition.

Our episode is to represent the Colonial period and each member of the cast is to buy their own costume. It was ascertained last week that the cost of being in the pageant would be so much that several members of the cast have withdrawn. Realizing that in order to have the pageant every member must take part and the management of the Exposition announces that they will pay the express charges on the costumes both ways, making the cost to each individual $3.75.

The local committee is working hard and leaving nothing undone to make our part in the pageant a success, but unless the members of the cast take part it will be impossible to put it over.

Anyone wishing to take part and who is willing to buy the costume please notify Mrs. J. L. Haswell, phone 201, at the earliest moment possible.

It is hoped that no one will feel a delicacy in notifying the committee as the pageant is a community affair and everyone is eligible to take part.

Cotton Committee Reports Investigation Census Bureau Report

Washington, March 25.—The special cotton committee appointed by Secretary Hoover to investigate the Census Bureau report on cotton at the close of last year, reported today that 35,866 bales of cotton should have been listed instead of 579,504 bales to balance the distribution.

The committee said it was able to make material corrections in the figures of last August but that about three fifths of the original differences remained unexplained. It was impossible to determine how much difference was due to underestimating stock and carry over at the beginning of the year of the duplication in mills and warehouses stocks.

The committee recommended that in the future the Census Bureau make no attempt to balance figures of supply and distribution, concerning itself to figures resulting from enumerations and avoid estimates.

ROTARY CLUB HOLDS INTERESTING MEET

Members Farmville and Ayden Clubs, Many Visitors Attend

The Greenville Rotary Club had as its guests last night the Farmville and Ayden Rotary Clubs and a number of other visitors. Slightly over a hundred were present at the meeting and the affair was one of the best ever held here.

There was no set program for the occasion and following the supper R. H. Wright, president of the local club extended the visitors a cordial welcome.

President Wright then called upon Dr. G. G. Dixon, president of the Ayden club for a few remarks and advised him that his club was allotted 15 minutes for talks by its various members. Following the talks by Ayden Rotarians George Wheeler, president of the Farmville Club was advised that his club was allotted a like period for talks and many responded. These talks by the visiting Rotarians were upon various topics but each pointed to and urged a bigger and better Pitt county and community.

Anybody's Race As Contestants Stands

Judging from the work done so far in The Daily Reflector's circulation drive, would lead one to believe that it is anybody's race with every prize on the list just as much in doubt at this writing as it was the day the contest was first announced.

Outside of the voting that is being carried on by the public and the many friends of the different candidates, the actual work being accomplished by the active workers is such as to keep them pretty well unheated.

We want at this time to call particular attention to the practice of some candidates of telling others what they are doing in the contest. This is a very poor idea on the part of the candidate telling and we must insist, in order to protect the interest of all connected with the campaign, that this practice stop. All candidates from now on are requested to keep all information concerning their progress in the race strictly to themselves. In this way you will be helping us conduct a fair campaign and you will be helping yourself more than you think.

There are no candidates with a sufficient lead at this writing to insure the winning of one of the automobiles, and all persons circulating such reports are in error. There is only one person who knows how the candidates stand and that is the campaign manager.

Candidates who have started active work in the campaign should make the days before the close of business April 5th the very best days of the entire campaign. Many of the workers will wait and do their best during the closing days of the contest, but this is all wrong if you want to get the most votes. Your very best work should be done this week and all of next. After a week from Saturday votes given on subscription drop approximately one fifth and the extra votes drop from 50,000 to 35,000. By looking over the voting schedule carefully you will see for yourself how important the present is for the success of your campaign.

Don't be satisfied with any commission check; with any of the lesser prizes, but go right out and work for one of the automobiles. These machines are all going to the ambitious, to those who have the ability to carry on to the finish, and there will not be any underhanded methods employed during the closing hours.

If you are one of those candidates on the list who have been working hard since you took up the reins of your campaign, you are on the right track. You certainly have made a good showing and such continued good work will bring you right on top of the list when the judges make their decision. It's just a question with you of sticking it out to the finish. The will power to carry on!

We know for a certainty that the territory covered by The Reflector has hardly been scratched. Every day the campaign manager is in receipt of a subscription or two for the benefit of some candidate in the race, and every day subscribers are coming to the office and renewing their subscription without even knowing that there is a contest on. These folks renew voluntarily and would gladly give it to some candidate in the contest if they were approached.

The records too at the campaign office show us that the majority of subscriptions are yet come in. Any candidate can start their campaign right now while the highest voting schedule of the contest is in force and by a systematic canvass for votes and subscriptions emerge victorious on April 19th. Don't skip all around the county wasting so much effort, but have a little system and you will find winning not such a difficult task.

THE RESPONSIBILITY OF THE PRESIDENT

Reviewing the situations as they now exist in the investigations being conducted by the government and replying to the cries from various parts of the country that these investigations have shaken the confidence of the American people, the New York World says: "No doubt the stories coming out of Washington are, as Mr. Schwab says, bad for business. No doubt they tend to undermine confidence in the Government. No doubt the hearings are not conducted with scrupulous regard for the rules of evidence. Certainly the air is poisoned with suspicion; the innocent are suspect with the guilty; and partisanship runs high. The hearings have furnished rich material for the blatherskite and demagogue, they have started every malicious tongue to wagging and have set a national stage on which a procession of doubtful characters have been able to pay off their personal grudges.

"Nevertheless, the hysteria will not be quieted nor confidence in the Government restored by those gentlemen who seem much more annoyed at the way the Senate is proceeding to uncover corruption than they are at the fact that there is corruption to uncover. There is just one way that public confidence in the Government can be restored. That is by convincing the people of this country that there is an Administration in office which really means to purge the public service. But there is no such conviction. The people look to the White House, and thus far they have looked in vain, for proof that at the centre of administration, in the President himself, there exists the will and the power to attack and destroy the evil.

"The movement to cleanse the administration of the Federal departments has been 'observed' but not directed by Mr. Coolidge. From the inside of the Administration there has come no initiative. It has come from the outside. In the two months during which the biggest collection of scandals in a generation has been revealed, Mr. Coolidge has failed to convince the country that he intends on his own initiative, without prodding and pushing from the outside, to reform the Administration for which he is responsible. If there is hysteria, the cause lies in the inaction of Mr. Coolidge. It was he who decided when the scandal broke that the White House would wait and see what the Capitol would uncover. If the investigations have run wild, if Congress has gone on a tear, it is because Mr. Coolidge has secluded himself in the White House, silent, judicious, and on the defensive.

"That is why public confidence is so shaken. It has been denied the proof that in ending the scandal it can count upon the leadership, the active and unflinching leadership, of the President of the United States. Little graft, big graft, miserable graft, that in itself does not destroy confidence. But the feeling that the arm of the law is paralyzed, that the head of the Government is passive, that feeling is poisonous in a republic. It is that feeling which Mr. Coolidge's conduct has stimulated.

"What Mr. Coolidge's reason is for retaining Mr. Daugherty we do not know. But if the reason is an unwillingness to dismiss a man when he is under fire, it is not a good enough reason. Mr. Daugherty is entitled to his day in court. He is entitled to the presumption of innocence until he is convicted in a court of law. That is no reason why he should remain Attorney General of the United States. The qualification for the highest law officer of the Government is not merely the ability to escape indictment and stay out of jail. The Attorney General of the United States should be a lawyer of unquestioned standing. Mr. Daugherty all his life has been a mere lobbyist and wire-puller. The Attorney General of the United States should be surrounded by public-spirited, decent people. Mr. Daugherty was surrounded by as shabby a collection of individuals as one could well imagine. Whether or not, then, Mr. Daugherty actually took bribes is wholly irrelevant to the question of his retention in office. He never had the confidence of the American people, and now he has their active distrust.

"While Mr. Coolidge waits to see whether Mr. Daugherty was rash enough to do something which would convict him in a criminal court, Mr. Coolidge is seriously endangering those American principles which on so many occasions he has so eloquently espoused. He is denying to the American people the proof that they have a Department of Justice upon which they can rely. He is denying to the American people the proof that the Administration which he heads is capable of reforming itself. At a time when confidence can only be restored by great firmness and resolution in the highest posts, he presents the picture of a man who is reluctant and undecided.

"Therefore, the great confidence which greeted his accession to office is rapidly dwindling down into a series of apologies and explanations."

"The Covered Wagon"

Tomorrow evening at White's Theatre "The Covered Wagon," that typically American play of the winning of the West, begins its local engagement. The spirit that animated the pioneers is its theme. They defied all hazards and another great step in America's progress—conquered the Unknown—the savages, wilds, hostile animals and Nature, desert thirst, heat, cold and hunger along the California and Oregon trails in 1848-49 into the country's newly acquired possessions. That, briefly, is the story of "The Covered Wagon," replete with thrilling adventure and the pioneers' indomitable spirit, it likewise has a love story of great sweetness and a rough but sympathetic humor that touches both the risibles and the heart strings. Will Jackson, Jim Bridger and Joe Dunstan are true pictures of the frontiersmen that helped make the greater America, and their portrayals by Messrs. Torrance, Marshall and Oliver delight the audiences. The gallant Major Banion played by J. W. Kerrigan and the beautiful Molly Wingate acted by Lois Wilson embody the romance.

SCOUTS DECIDE TROOP CHAMPIONSHIP IN SKATING

Troop Two had its first skating contests on Friday night at Gorman's warehouse with about 75 Scouts and girls in attendance. Billy Brown of the Wildcat Patrol took first honors in the distance races, while Albion Dunn took first place in the dashes.

For the girls, Katherine Smith and Katherine Gross were the winners, the former winning in the most exciting race of the evening, when she defeated Katherine Gross after the first race had resulted in a tie. The latter however scored when she and Staunton Harvey won the prize for being the most graceful skaters on the floor. John Maye Forbes won the decision of the judges for being the most awkward. The judges for the evening were the Rev. Scoville, Mr. Thornton of the high school faculty and Mr. House. Fruit and cold drinks were served by the scouts during the evening.

Ruth Clifford Is Best Dress Actress

Ruth Clifford who will be seen next Thursday in the leading feminine role in the Preferred Picture "Mothers-In-Law, at White's Theatre, claims another right to fame besides being a popular film star. Hollywood which houses more beautiful women than any other city in the world, has said she is the best dressed girl within its boundaries.

Because this lovely blonde is noted for wearing her clothes with a distinctive bearing and grace was one reason why B. P. Schulberg, producer of Preferred Pictures, chose her to portray the luxury-loving, over-indulged daughter of the rich American business man in this Gansier production.

The gowns worn by Miss Clifford in this picture will serve as a veritable fashion show, forecasting to feminine picture fans the modes for the coming season. From America's most exclusive modistes she chose her wardrobe for this society drama with the result that she displays an alluring variety of street dresses, sport togs, negligees and evening gowns. The latter will illustrate the opinion recently expressed by her that the forthcoming season will see elaborate brocades and spangles replacing the simpler chiffons of the last few months.

Teachers College Represented Student Volunteer Confab

East Carolina Teachers College sent delegates to the North Carolina Student Volunteer convention, which was held at Queen's College in Charlotte, March 8, 9 and 10. Every college in North Carolina was represented, Davidson leading in the number of representatives. The delegates from Teachers College were Misses Goodloe Haney, Mary Gray Moore, Gwendolyn Hendren, Lily Gray Jackson and Annie Virginia Gray.

The conference began Friday night with an illustrated lecture by Dr. Vaughn, who has recently returned from China. In his lecture, Dr. Vaughn showed the physical deficiency of the peoples of non-Christian nations.

Saturday morning, Mr. Montgomery, a returned missionary gave a lecture on the subject, "Where is Mission Work?" Following this was an interesting lecture on "Why Foreign Missions?" by Mr. Robert P. Wilder, one of the leaders in the missionary drive. One of his striking quotations was:

"Freely we have received, selfishly shall we withhold?"

In the afternoon Mr. J. D. Statt made a short talk on, "Out-of-College Volunteers." Then telegrams from other conferences were read by John Westbrooke, one of the council members. Then an address was made by Dr. Hoonshell, head of the Methodist mission board.

Saturday night a banquet was given at the Chamber of Commerce. This was followed by an address by Mr. Wilder.

Sunday morning all met at the College for a short devotional exercise; then special cars took students to the different churches in the city. Sunday afternoon Elizabeth Webb talked on "Missionary Education on the Camp."

That night at the last service, the installation of new officers for the coming year was held.

Messrs. J. I. Smith and Mercer Tyson left this afternoon for New York N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Worsley, of Wallace, are spending a few days in Greenville. Mr. Worsley is attending court.

Was skeptical of Kellogg's Bran until it gave him back his health

Naturally Mr. Carter—whose letter follows—was skeptical. He had tried practically everything for the relief of constipation. All had failed. But Kellogg's Bran brought him permanent relief, just as it has done for thousands of others. Read his letter:

Gentlemen:

I am 45 years old, and have been for years a great sufferer from constipation. I had to resign a clerical position because of rashes of blood to my head, some of which caused me to fall to the ground. I took an outdoor laboring job and tried for the first time, skeptically I admit, your Krumbled Bran. The result has been wonderful. I began to be normal after I had been on the Bran about three days. No more enemas, no more Old Dr. S. and S.'s Pills, Epsom salts by the ton, etc., ad infinitum! You have the most wonderful product for constipation I have ever seen or tried. Yours very gratefully,

L. T. Carter, 294 Nineteenth St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, does not irritate the intestines like drugs and pills. It acts exactly as nature acts. Taken regularly, it is guaranteed to relieve permanently the most chronic case of constipation, or your grocer will return your money.

You will like the exclusive, nut-like flavor of Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled. Eat two tablespoons daily—in chronic cases with every meal. Eat it with milk or cream and in the recipe on every package. Sold by all grocers. Made in Battle Creek.

Miss Nell Maupin Wins $50 Prize for Second Best Essay

Raleigh, March 24.—Checks of $50 each have been mailed to the winners of the essay contest which was conducted by the North Carolina Education Association for the members of the association it has been announced at the office of the secretary Jules E. Warren. Three prizes were given and the judges had much difficulty in selecting the final three after the 22 essays that were submitted had been reduced to four remaining papers.

In the case of the fourth essay which was written by Mrs. B. N. Mann of Guilford County Schools, on "Supervised Study" it received only a slightly smaller rating than did the winning papers. The judges complimented the work very highly and gave it honorable mention.

The first prize was won by Mrs. Elizabeth C. Morris, of Asheville, whose subject was "Adult Illiteracy."

Second prize awarded to Miss Nell Maupin, of East Carolina Teachers College, Greenville, upon the subject of "A Study of Detailed Assignment."

The third prize was won by Dr. George C. Howard, Raleigh, whose subject was "A Standard of Credits for County Schools."

The judges were J. Henry Highsmith, of Raleigh; H. F. Strygley, of Raleigh; Leon Meadows, of the East Carolina Teachers College, Greenville.

The judges did not know the names of any of the contestants, the sealed envelope and numerical system being used as a means of identification.

Each judge graded the papers separately and the grades were averaged for the final rating. Molland Miller, Trinity College, substituted for Mr. Meadows in grading the paper of Miss Maupin.

Anti-Saloon Car Is Used to Carry Liquor To High Point

Asheboro, March 22.—The satire of life was enacted here when some one drove away in the car belonging to the Anti-Saloon League which was left in front of a local hotel by R. L. REGISTRARS WARN GIRLS MARRYING FOREIGNERS

London.—The increasing number of marriages between English girls and men of foreign nationality is viewed with some alarm by the authorities.

These mixed marriages mostly take place in registrars' offices, but many occur in churches. "We are bound by law to marry them," said a registrar, "and all we can do is to point out to the bride the seriousness of the marriage and give her some idea of the customs prevailing in the country to which the man belongs. From my experience not one in ten of these mixed marriages turns out happily."

Don't Miss Hearing Him

A store built for its customers

In building up the Miller & Rhoads business we have always believed it good policy to "begin at the customer and work back"

A WOMAN who shops in a department store is especially sensitive to the spirit of that store. She loves to look over the beautiful things she sees there. She revels in the attractive displays of the lovely things that come from almost every corner of the world. She loves to shop at leisure, to look around without being importuned to buy, to get attention when she wants it. She is keenly appreciative of little niceties of service, the intelligence and attentiveness of the salespeople, and the general spirit of courtesy, good-will and helpfulness.

After a busy morning of shopping, she enjoys lunching in a beautiful tea-room, where she can get deliciously prepared food, properly served, at a reasonable price. A woman appreciates attentive but unobtrusive service in a restaurant.

She likes to shop in a big, roomy, well-lighted store with nice, wide, uncrowded aisles. She expects such personal conveniences as a free checking service, free delivery service, a place where she can get miscellaneous information, buy postage stamps, mail letters, send telegrams, consult railroad timetables, and a dozen-odd things a shopper likes to do. Above all, she wants a nice, quiet, comfortable rest-room, where she can refresh herself, write a letter, or wait for a friend.

But more than all these, a shopper wants to feel that she is getting full value for every penny expended; that the goods she buys are exactly as represented, and that if she is not satisfied, proper adjustment will be made.

She knows that the tremendous purchasing power of the department store and the small margin of profit make it possible for her to buy at the lowest prices.

The woman who shops at Miller & Rhoads finds it just such a store as she wants. It is just such a store because it was built on a consideration of its customers' wishes. It was built for its customers. That is why Miller & Rhoads have won the good-will and confidence of thousands of loyal friends throughout the Virginias and Carolinas.

If you can't get what you want in your own locality, try
