MONDAY.

8:30 a. m. Business Men's Prayer service at the Pythian Hall. No further services on Monday.

Following a clear cut exposition of the scriptural teachings on "The Unpardonable Sin," Evangelist Ham last night gave his first invitation to those who were interested in their soul's welfare to meet him in the "inquiry room" for instruction and prayer. Well over fifty responded to this first invitation which was very brief, and every person signified their intention to wholly consecrate their lives to Christ.

The service at the Pythian Hall for business men this morning witnessed an increased attendance and interest and it is clearly evident that this early morning meeting is to prove one of the most inspirational and helpful features of the evangelistic effort. The prayer services will not be held on Sunday morning but on each week day morning the men will gather for thirty minutes of prayer before entering upon the day's routine of business.

Tomorrow will witness two special services at the Tabernacle. In the afternoon at 3 o'clock Mr. Ham will deliver his widely discussed message on "Evolution, From the Garden of the Jungle, Which?" in which he is expected to deal with the modern philosophies of the day in the light of scriptural teaching. At night he will preach on "Hell, What the Bible teaches concerning eternal Punishment." Large crowds from the county and adjoining counties are expected to be in attendance and the choir and ushers are urged to be on hand promptly.

Reports of splendid meetings are coming from the Teen Age Girls and the Young Business Women who are meeting each day with Mrs. Chandler of Fayetteville. These meetings will be continued throughout the campaign.

In speaking of the "Unpardonable Sin" last night Mr. Ham said in part:

"We hear much of the unpardonable sin, but he would treat of the sinner. Are there people who have sinned away their day of grace so that God will not hear and pardon them? It is a momentous question. "Salvation is a bridge of a single span with one abutment resting on God and the other on man. This bridge spans the chasm which separates man from God.

We will first consider God's side or abutment of the bridge of which we spoke. A current of sin is constantly digging away at the abutments of his bridge in an effort to undermine them.

To a people who had rejected his message Jesus said, "Murmur not among yourselves. No man can come unto me except the Father which hath sent me draw him."—John VI:43-44.

In John XVII:12, Jesus tells the Father that he has lost none of those given him by the Father, except the son of perdition; and in II Thes. 11:3 Paul says: "Let no man deceive you by any means; for that day (second coming of Christ) shall not come except there come a falling away first, and that man of sin be revealed, the son of perdition."

Other scriptures cited were: "Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you"—John XV. 16.

COOLIDGE TO MEET PAN-AMERICAN ROAD COMMISSION

LATIN-AMERICAN ROAD DELEGATION TO MEET OFFICIALS AND DIPLOMATS AT PAN-AMERICAN UNION

Washington, D. C., May 3. — An audience with President Coolidge and two days of entertainment, featured by a luncheon at the Pan American Union and an afternoon down the Potomac River, have been arranged for the members of the Pan American Highway Commission when they assemble in Washington.

Coming from twenty Latin American nations, the thirty-eight men who are to make an intensive field study of highways and transportation in the United States as guests of the Highway Education Board and associate organizations, will meet in Washington preparatory to a three weeks tour over the highways of this country.

The Commission will visit the State Department, make a tour through the White House and at noon will assemble at the executive offices, where they will be received by President Coolidge.

Luncheon will follow at the Pan American Union.

Following the luncheon the remainder of the afternoon will be utilized to visit the national shrine at Mount Vernon, where the representatives of twenty nations will visit the tomb of George Washington.

Officials of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads will conduct the commission to Arlington, Virginia, where the experimental work of the Bureau of Public Roads is conducted. At this experimental farm of the United States Department of Agriculture the commission will witness the experiments which are being made by the Federal Bureau for the purpose of solving the numerous problems of highway design and construction.

Visits to the Capitol, the Congressional Library, a dinner and a reception will conclude to entertainment features at the nation's capital.

Thereafter, for three weeks, the members will be conducted by automobile and by rail through perhaps a score or more of the states of the Union where highway problems most closely approximate those to be found in the countries represented.

Search for Aviator Continues By Land, By Sea, By Air

False Pass, Alaska, May 3. — A party of dog teams are to leave Chignik, Alaska, for the north side of the Alaskan peninsula to push the search for the missing army aviator and his mechanic along the Behring seacoast.

Weather this morning promised well for the continuance of the search by land, sea, and air for the missing plane. The three other planes of the round-the-world flight composing the squadron commanded by Major Martin, which left South Monica, Calif. March 17, are now at Dutch Harbor. While they have been ordered to proceed on their trip they are said to be in readiness to join in the search should it be deemed advisable.

PROMINENT GRIFTON CITIZEN COMMITTED SUICIDE YESTERDAY

Mr. Calvin J. Tucker, 54, a prominent citizen of Grifton committed suicide at his home yesterday afternoon, by shooting himself with a pistol. Ill health is believed to be the cause of the tragic act. Interment took place this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Quinerly cemetery near Grifton.

Mr. Tucker was prior to the failing of health, one of the county's most prominent and influential business men. For many years he was a merchant at Grifton, but for the past few years he has pursued the occupation of farmer. He was held in high esteem by a host of friends who will regret to hear of his death.

The deceased is survived by his wife and two daughters, Mesdames Ned McLawhorn and Jack Chapman; one son, C. J. Tucker, Jr., and one sister, Mrs. W. F. Harding of Kingston.

CUBA ASKS ARMS AND MUNITIONS FROM WASHINGTON

REQUEST APPROVED BY U. S. STATE DEPT.

To Be Used Against Rebels in Cuba—Can Be Supplied From Surplus Stores

Washington, May 3. — Facing a condition of violence in the Santa Clara province near Cienfuegos, the Cuban President Zayas has appealed to the American government for a considerable quantity of arms and munitions of war to be used against the revolutionists who are at present holding the mountainous section above the port.

The request, approved by the State Department, has been forwarded to the War Department and it is regarded as certain to be complied with immediately according to opinions expressed here.

In the absence of Secretary of War Weeks, the Department has declined to make public the amount of arms and munitions requested but it is said there will be no difficulty in filling the order from surplus stores now held by the government.

President Zayas is quoted as saying the action of President Coolidge in placing an embargo on arms and munitions for Cuba except for delivery to the Cuban Government as a great aid to him in suppressing the insurrection in Santa Clara province and that peace in this province is expected to be re-established within a few days. He described President Coolidge's action as "an evidence of friendship for the Cuban government which is greatly appreciated."

The rebellion against the Zayas administration is at present confined to a small mountainous district above Cienfuegos.

Departure of President Zayas was kept secret for some time after his train, under heavy guard had left for Cienfuegos.

It was announced that the president intended to ascertain the exact situation in the disaffected province.

Havana, May 3.—Details of two engagements yesterday near Cienfuegos between government forces and the rebels, has been sent to "La Prensa" a Havana newspaper, by its correspondent at Cienfuegos, who stated that he had other news that he couldn't send.

Officers Have A Successful Week Capturing Stills

On Wednesday night of this week Officers Nobles, Whitehurst and Stokes made an all night search of Belvoir township looking for stills. They were rewarded with a 60 gallon still which had been dismantled and hidden in the under brush.

Yesterday Officers Whitehurst and Savage captured a 10 gallon steam outfit on Cypress Hardee's Creek near the Red Banks church. The still was warm showing that it had been in operation a short while before capture. The officers destroyed one gallon of corn liquor, 100 pounds of sugar, one bag of meal and 800 gallons of beer.

The officers are determined to put a stop to the liquor traffic, if possible, and are making diligent searches both day and night for stills. They are being rewarded in a pleasing way.

Victim Unable to Issue Statement—Companions Held as Witnesses

Raleigh, May 3.—A young woman, giving her name Doris Long, her age as 17, and naming Fayetteville as her home is in a local hospital suffering from three bullet wounds received early this morning.

According to the police department, Doris Long was called to the front door of the home of a Mrs. Eddie Jackson and while there was fired upon. The shooting occurred about two o'clock. She was rushed to the hospital and operated upon immediately.

Her condition is reported as so serious that she was unable to make any statement regarding the shooting or events leading up to it.

The police also arrested a woman companion of Doris Long named Jackie Mayer who is being held under $100 bond as a material state witness. Search is also being made for Fritz Holderfield, also of this city, who is wanted as a witness.

F. M. Wooten Speaks At School Exercises

Speaking at the closing exercises of Renston school yesterday, Mr. F. M. Wooten told the pupils that living under a constitutional form of government had obligations as well as great privileges; that the government a people had under this form could not possibly be better than they themselves insisted it be and that just how good their government proved to be was distinctly "up to them."

Mr. Wooten traced the evolution of government from the old despotic forms, where king "ruled by divine right" through the period in which the power was gradually taken over by the ruled and on toward the ideal form in which "the least ruled people are the best governed."

He spoke of the ideals that had been held by the framers of the constitutions of our state and of our country and emphasized that these ideals were only possible of attainment when the whole body of citizens were interested enough in their government and what it was doing to participate in it through elections.

Renston school has just finished a most successful year and the graduating class was quite large for the school.

WINTERVILLE HIGH SCHOOL CLOSES A SUCCESSFUL YEAR

Finals Very Impressive and Largely Attended; Splendid Work Accomplished

Winterville High School has just closed one of the most successful years in its history. Under the leadership of Professor John R. Carroll a native of Pitt county, with seven trucks and a new and improved school building, the school has grown from its once meagre attendance of 150 students to a daily attendance of approximately five hundred. The roster of teachers has been increased from seven to fifteen. Many of the children in the community who one time stayed at home are now going to school. These conditions have been made possible by the cooperation of the people in levying a special school tax and the combined efforts of all in the furtherance of education.

The efforts of the people of the community were amply rewarded Thursday evening when promptly at eight o'clock the curtain was raised disclosing an audience of a thousand people that packed, jammed and crammed every nook and corner of that splendid and spacious auditorium. These same people saw approximately one hundred pupils of the primary and grammar grades take part in the exercises of the evening, which consisted of an operetta "Rainbow's End" presented by the primary grades; songs, dances and games by the grammar grades. Each of the little tots played their parts well. The costumes representing different fairies were unique and charming and the impressive manner of different characters drew repeated applause from the audience.

Friday evening Professor Carroll, in a very short and impressive way, presented the seniors with their certificates of graduation, wishing them God-speed in future life. Mr. A. W. Ange, speaking for the board of trustees, thanked the community and the teachers for their cooperation and support and paid a glowing tribute to Professor Carroll for his splendid work.

Then followed a three-act Comedy-Drama "Mrs. Tubbs of Shantytown," presented by the senior class. In every detail it was perfect and each character showed careful study and preparation. "Billy Mossom Tubbs," a boy of seven years, played by Wayland Sermous, was undoubtedly the most unique character of all. In a mannish manner he stood before the audience and spoke clearly and plainly, causing the play to be held up more than once for the audience to cease laughing at his witty remarks. Mrs. Tubbs, played by Miss Blanche Waters, displayed all the mother joys for her fatherless children, and played the leading role in an impressive manner.

The whole community regrets to learn that in all probability Professor Carroll will not be with them another year. All wish him much success wherever he may go.

Carolina Woman Candidate For House of Delegates

Durham, May 3.—News has been received here of the candidacy of Mrs. Rebecca Lovestein, formerly of this city, for the Virginia House of Delegates.

She was the first candidate to announce for this office on the Democratic ticket.

Her husband, Attorney Benjamin Lovestein, will be her campaign manager. Mrs. Lovestein is her husband's law partner and it was said that she is the first woman ever to be admitted to the Virginia Bar.

Suspended Chief Of Police Reinstated

Chapel Hill, May 3.—George T. Featherstone, chief of police of Chapel Hill, who was suspended two weeks ago following charges of assisting Otto Kaffits, Ohio, detective in the "kidnapping" of Carl Wiegand, local attorney wanted in Ohio on a charge of non-support of a six-year old child by a former wife, was reinstated today by City Manager Eddie Knox.

In explaining his action Manager Knox said that while Chief Featherstone had undoubtedly "made a mistake" he had not violated any law and his excellent record as an officer warranted his reinstatement.

Featherstone said tonight that within the next day or two he will file with the clerk of the Orange county court an answer to the $10,000 damage suit recently instituted by Wiegand, who bases his demand on "personal humiliation and professional embarrassment" he alleges to have suffered through the "kidnapping" procedure.

CHILD LABOR AND STATES RIGHTS

Speaking on the proposed amendment to the Constitution which would grant the Congress the "power to limit, regulate, and prohibit the labor of persons under eighteen years of age," Representative Jeff Busby, of Mississippi, said, in part: "The several states have the power, and have always had the power to limit, regulate, and prohibit the labor of persons under eighteen years of age. . . . This can be done by a simple act of legislature. . . . These laws may be changed, modified, strengthened, or repealed by the legislatures as conditions change."

"One state needs laws to protect its children in one line of employment; another state in another line of employment. The great manufacturing centers of the east. . . cannot know what child labor laws are best suited for Mississippi and other sparsely settled states, and yet you propose by this resolution to entrust the making of laws controlling the labor of all persons under eighteen years of age for all the states to Congress."

"The 1920 census shows that there were 1 million 60 thousand children . . . gainfully employed. . . that 61 per cent were engaged in agricultural pursuits. It would be idle to suppose that Congress, given the power, would not shortly begin to limit, regulate and prohibit children from working on the farms."

"Legislation by the states along this line has been rapidly advancing, and during the last five years many States have enacted much legislation for the welfare of the children."

"If one-tenth of the pressure that has been exerted on congress to bring about this revolutionary constitutional amendment had been directed to the legislatures in the State where

The child-labor evil exists no instance would today be without remedy by State legislation. "I believe that the several States should deal with the child-labor problems existing in the several States. I have as much confidence in the men who compose the various legislatures, and who understand the problems of child labor at their doors, as I do in the members of Congress who do not understand the conditions with which they are acquainted. I believe that child-labor questions in the States should be left to the States themselves."

"I came to Congress pledged against bureaucracy. I am determined to keep that pledge. Almost every experiment of the Federal Government in assuming to administer governmental functions which properly belong to States has proven a very poor success. At the rate we are going in assuming to prescribe what people shall think, how they shall act and the kind and nature of labor they shall perform we will soon have reached the proficiency along these lines that was attained by Germany just before her downfall. Leave some field for individual initiative and activity to the people. This is necessary if we as a Nation are to live and protect those glorious principles on which our Government founded and under which our people have grown to be the greatest wisest, wealthiest, and most independent people of the world has ever known."

HOW TO BUILD A CITY

Resources alone will not build a city.
 Capital alone cannot build a city.
 Labor alone cannot build a city.
 Resources and Capital and Labor cannot build a city unless they are properly related.
 Capital and Labor can accomplish anything within the power of man, if they occupy the right attitude toward each other.
 The can be aided in this work if the third party, the public itself, is friendly and sympathetic with their efforts.

MUSCLE SHOALS

Practically all the gentlemen who have been called before the Senate Agriculture Committee and questioned regarding the disposition of Muscle Shoals, have expressed, in various ways it is true, the same idea that President Coolidge included in his recent message: "It seems desirable, in order to promote and protect the public welfare, to have adequate covenants that such experiments be made and carried to a successful conclusion."
 Such covenants are the people's safe-guard if the manufacture of cheap fertilizer is a main consideration for securing a valuable lease of this property from the government.

Wildcat Banker Revell'd in Munificent Wardrobe
 Vienna. Admitting that their ambition was to emulate Hugo Stinnes and eventually join forces with him in his great enterprises, Armin Roth and Geza Kormos, "bankers" of Vienna, Berlin and Budapest, are under arrest on charges of fraud.
 Unfortunately for the two inexperienced financiers the market went against them, but in one respect Roth and Kormos quite outdid the man they sought to imitate. This was in the size of their wardrobes and the number of their personal attendants. Thus Armin Roth was always accompanied by two secretaries, two valets, a maid, a barber and a masseur, two chauffeurs and two cars were transported wherever he went, or else he traveled in the one and his staff in the other. At the time of his arrest there were found in his five-room apartment in Berlin 1,000 pairs of silk stockings, 375 silk shirts, 40 suits of clothes and three fur coats, while in his apartment in Vienna were found 70 suits of clothes, 1,400 silk shirts, 2,000 pairs of silk stockings and 12 fur coats. Geza Kormos, his partner, traveled attended by a lawyer and two pseudo-journalists.

BASEBALL INTEREST IN PHILIPPINE SPREADS TO ALL PUBLIC SCHOOLS
 Manila, May 2.—The national baseball championship under the supervision of the bureau of education was won recently by the team representing the Manila North High School last year's champions. Eight teams contested, seven representing provinces or districts outside Manila.
 The teams in the national championship won the right to play by capturing the championship in their respective athletic associations.
 Officials of the bureau of education say that these national contests have increased interest in baseball to such an extent that every public school of any size is now represented by a team.

Indiana Will Honor Hero Who Died War

Bloomington, Ind.—A shrine to the memory of General Lucien Greathouse, proclaimed by General William Tecumseh Sherman as the outstanding hero of the Civil War, is to be placed in the $1,000,000 war memorial Men's Union building at Indiana University.

General Sherman declared the Hoosier soldier to be "the bravest of the brave," in an official report, which said: "Where all have been so brave, it seem invidious to mention one name, but we must speak of Colonel Lucien Greathouse. He is the bravest of the brave."

General Greathouse lost his life storming a southern stronghold near Atlanta July 22, 1864, in one of the closing campaigns of the war. He is said never to have given his men a command to "charge," but ordered "follow me."

When the Civil War broke out, the general gave up the study of law and entered the Union army as a private. At the time he was killed he had been promoted to the rank of Brigadier General, the youngest to hold that commission in the history of the United States army.

General Greathouse was born at Carlinville, Ill., in 1842.

COTTON LETTER

New Orleans, La., May 3. R. J. McCarley & Co., Greenville, N. C.,

Because of the scarcity of raw cotton throughout the world, especially in the south, and as progress of new crop prospects will be governed mainly by climatic condition in the interior, weather developments in the near and distant future will have much to do with shaping the course of values from now on.

Except for the continuance of low temperatures inland, the weather throughout the cotton region had been more favorable the past couple of days, but climatic conditions change quickly at this period of the year, and there is no telling what the morrow will bring forth.

The outlook over the week-end for the latter half of the belt is for favorable weather, but the present of an extensive low pressure in the far northwest, where the barometer is 29.65, makes the outlook for the southwest uncertain, as there is the possibility for the pressure working southwest and distributing more rain over the western half of the belt.

An interesting feature of the trade situation is that while domestic textile conditions remain unsatisfactory in Europe, particularly in Manchester, which is reflected in the small takings by American mills and the continued free exports to Europe.

During the past week, spinners of the world took of American cotton, compared with corresponding week last year as follows:

North and Canada 23,000 against 40,000; South 52,000 against 63,000; Foreign 110,000 against 55,000; Worlds 185,000 against 158,000.

Thus far this season, foreign spinners have taken of American cotton about the same quantity as they took to even date last season, but takings by American and Canadian Mills are a little more than one million bales smaller than one year ago as noted by the following:

Foreign mills 4,401,000 against 4,436,000. American mills 606,000 against 652,000.

World mills 9,007,000 against 10,188,000.

While it is possible for American mills to continue taking less than after this time last season, chances are that foreign mills will take in excess on last year during the remainder of this season, as the stock on shipboard at all ports yesterday, 72,000 bales against 41,000 last year, indicates the continuance of free exports from the U. S.

GLORIA SWANSON "THE HUMMING BIRD"

During the showing of Gloria Swanson in the Humming Bird at White's theatre Monday and Tuesday matinee and night, ten pair of Humming Bird Hose will be given away.

When entering the theatre either one of these days you will receive a picture of Humming Bird Hose, on the back side of each picture will be flashed on the screen after the showing of the Humming Bird, those having corresponding numbers with those flashed on the screen each night may present their numbers to the Blount Harvey Company and receive a pair of hose free.

Humming Bird Hose being one of the biggest sells in America is sold exclusively by Blount Harvey Co.

Gloria Fooled Them. (A Special Story).

(Miss Swanson is the star of the Paramount picture, "The Humming Bird," coming to White's theatre next Monday and Tuesday.

They told Gloria Swanson she never could do it.

"Why, my dear," explained a studio chum, "you simply haven't the looks for it. You've a beautiful classic face with regular features, a complexion like wax, and a figure—! It's just the ideal Maeck Sennett bathing girl and you'd best resign yourself to lolling about the California beaches the rest of your movie days."

That's what Miss Swanson's fellow-Sennettite told her in the days when Gloria was the chief reason why Maeck is called the "Ziefeld of the Movies."

But fortunately, Miss Swanson did not listen to her—at least she didn't take her friend seriously. For already this strikingly beautiful Chicago girl, who had come to California and broken into pictures via the comedies had ambitions to succeed in the serious drama.

"I was never happy in comedy," Miss Swanson explained recently, when she was in New York on a brief vacation. "I had come to Los Angeles to do drama. I had been working in comedy at the Essanay studio in Chicago and didn't like it. But I did like motion pictures and I wanted to succeed. When I came to the West Coast and found the only available opening was in comedy I turned it down at first. After I thought it over, I decided any way of breaking in was better than no way and took the job."

It was not long before the producers began to agree with Gloria Swanson. Though she could pose superbly in a bathing suit, they discovered that she could wear the most exquisite Parisian models of evening dresses with the grace of a professional model and possessed the poise and bearing of a society dame.

Moreover, they found that this eager woman with her expressive black eyes and ivory complexion was a real actress.

So Miss Swanson's opportunity to rise into the serious drama came quickly, and she seized it with both hands.

HAM-RAMSAY

Continued from page 1) eyes and deaf ears) is fulfilled the prophecy of Esaias which saith: By hearing ye shall hear and shall not understand; and seeing ye shall see and shall not perceive—Matt. XIII 14.

Strive to enter in at the straight gate; for many, I say unto you, will seek to enter in and shall not be able.—Luke XII:24.

Because I have called and ye have refused; I have stretched out my hand and no man regarded; but ye have set at naught all my counsel and would none of my reproof; I also will remain at your calamity; I will mock when your fear cometh; when your fear cometh as a desolation and your destruction cometh as a whirlwind; when distress and anguish cometh on you. Then shall ye call upon me, but I will not answer; they shall seek me early but they shall not find me.—Prov. 1:24-28.

Then said Jesus again unto them, I go my way and ye shall seek me and shall die in your sins; whither I go ye cannot come.—John VII:24.

My spirit shall not always strive with man.—Gen. VI:3.

Ephraim is joined to his idols; let him alone.—Hos. IV:17.

But they rebelled and vexed his Holy Spirit; therefore, he has turned to be their enemy, and he fought against them.—Isa. LXII:10.

All the foregoing scriptures show that God, on his part, fixes limits to his pardon grace, and they warn men to be careful that he does not pass such limits.

For instance when the children of Israel had been led to the border of the Promised Land and were camped at Kadesh Barnea, they lost confidence in the God who was leading them and conjured up all sorts of hob-goblins, such as walled cities, great armies, giants, etc., and decided that they could not conquer the land. God had not told them to send out spies to reconnoiter, but to go in and take the land. So now he tells them they shall not be permitted to go, but they should all die and rot in the wilderness, except Caleb and Joshua, the two faithful spies who said "we are able." And they did. The spies were gone forty days and God caused them to wander in the wilderness a year for every day. Every life has its Kadesh Barnea; every church has its Kadesh Barnea.

This meeting will reveal them. Every meeting is a revealer. At Fort Scott was a popular man of wide influence who turned a deaf ear to all importunities of friends and fought our meeting bitterly. At the close of the meeting he stated that he was a ruined man—his popularity gone and his influence destroyed. He had halted at Kadesh Barnea.

The foregoing scriptures were each commented upon in an illuminating way showing that no scripture is of any private interpretation, and therefore, no man can hope that his case will be an exception; that it is a dangerous thing to say to the woollings of the spirit; not now, when I get ready I will yield; after I think it over; that no man can boast himself of tomorrow; that God's spirit will not always strive to save you; that there may come a time when He will even fight against you; that while our God is a God of love, He is also a consuming fire, that He is awful and terrible as well as compassionate; that He is a God of wrath and of anger when those passions are demanded; that He is a God of justice as well as of mercy; that He is the same God who drove Adam out of Eden, wiped the whole human race off the face of the earth, except Noah's household; rained fire and brimstone on Sodom and Gomorrah, and slew thousands of his rebellious people, in the wilderness. You cannot ignore His terrors and presume upon His love and mercy.

Up to this point in this discourse the evangelist had considered God's side of the bridge of salvation. Now he took up man's side, and cited the following scriptures to show that man, on his part, may foredoom himself to eternal destruction, close the door of hope to his own soul.

Remember, now thy Creator in the days of thy youth.—Ecles. XII: 1. A time will come in every life when there will be no desire for salvation. It is a perilous time.

And men were scorched with great heat and blasphemed the name of God which hath power over these plagues; and they repented not to give Him glory.—Rev. IX:9-11.

And ye will not come to me, that we might have life.—John V:20.

Man must be willing. God doesn't force any man into the Kingdom. He will have none but volunteer soldiers in His army. When a man loses the ability to seek, to come, he foredooms himself. No man can hold on to even the smallest sin and believe in Christ.

But if our gospel is hid, it is hid to them that are lost.—II Cor. IV:3. There comes a time when the very meaning of the gospel is hid from men. In Matt. XV:14, Jesus says, "Let them alone; they are blind leaders of the blind." This was spoken of the Pharisees who had their chance to believe and would not, so they got to where they could not.

The five classes of Unpardonable sinners were treated as follows: First—Apostates. The scriptures cited here are Heb. VI:4; 11 Thes. 11:12, I John 11:19. Turning to the preachers, the evangelist denounced proselyters as contributors to apostasy; saying they had much better expend their energy on outsiders than to attempt to steal the sheep of another flock.

Second—Blasphemers. The scripture cited here is the well-known 31st verse of the 12th chapter of Matthew; attributing Christ's work to the devil instead of the Holy Spirit. This is the age of the Holy Spirit, and we had better not trifle with anything pertaining to Him.

Third—Reprobates. These are described in 4th and 8th verses, inclusive of the Epistle of Jude. They are those who turn the grace of God into lasciviousness and defile the flesh. Under this heading the evangelist's denunciation of those who having tasted God's grace have used their religion as a cloak to cover the sins of reveling, drinking, card-playing and especially adultery, dancing and indulging of fleshy lusts, was terrific. He peeled the hide off the dancers in square yard lots and rubbed salt on the raw places. It is a mean man indeed, who will use his religion as a cloak for unrighteousness and bring reproach on God and his people; and that is why some of the most damnable crimes ever committed have been committed by these preachers, and why the bloodiest God's? Boston Woman Recommending It To Her Friends

Popular Boston Lady Says: Prunitione Has Proven a Godsend to Her.

It is always interesting to listen to the statements of our friends, and especially when you know they are sincere and honest in what they say. Added interest is created in a statement coming from one who has spent a lifetime in Boston, where she is well known socially.

Such a person is Annie Stewart, who resides in Boston and is possessed of the respect and confidence of her associates, and is willing for anyone to call on her to verify the following signed testimonial.

"I have suffered with stomach trouble for the past seven years. It took the form of indigestion and dyspepsia. I had dizzy spells and headaches, headache, poor circulation, night and after I ate a little food it would ferment and cause gas to form in my stomach. I had pains all over my body and was chronically constipated. My liver was torpid and I wished to increase their weight 15 felt miserable. I had doctored and pounds, or more, should not take it had been in the hospital, but received continuously.

no permanent relief. I was so nervous and restless that at night I could scarcely sleep. The gas, pressing under my heart, caused palpitation, and when I arose in the morning I was just as tired as when I retired. About two weeks ago I began to take Prunitione, and I can truthfully state that it has done wonders in my case. I am feeling like a new woman, and can eat any kind of food. I sleep the night through and have no more aches or pains; in fact, it has cured me, and I am recommending it to all of my friends, as it has been a Godsend to me."

ADMISSION 25 and 50c

MONDAY AND TUESDAY

The Swanson in THIS picture is the greatest Swanson you've ever seen!

As gorgeous and beautiful and alluringly gowned as ever—as saucy and pert and deliciously French as she was in "ZAZA"—

After "Zaza," a tremendous success, her follow-up picture HAD to be at least as good. "The Humming Bird" not only is BETTER, but soars to a new high mark for Swanson pictures of all time!

"The Humming Bird" was written by Maude Fulton, an actress and produced successfully as a stage play on Broadway. Sidney Olcott, producer of "Little Old New York" directed it in his usual sumptuous, artistic style. Forest Halsey wrote the continuity and Harry Fishbeck handled the photography.

This story offers the public a new Gloria—a Gloria wearing gorgeous gowns and alluring as ever in passionate love scenes, but also a Gloria as full of pep and fascinating as "Kiki" (which role her "Toinette" somewhat resembles), marvelously graceful and fiery in the Apache dances, a lighthearted in the scenes where she battles for the life of the man she loves.
