G. O. P. CONVENTION GETS UNDER WAY

Second Primaries Needed To Decide State Contests

First Session Of Convention Held Cleveland Today

Thousands Crowd Great Hall as G. O. P. National Convention Swings Into Action to Accompaniment of Music and Applause; Theodore E. Burton, Temporary Chairman, Delivers Keynote Speech.

Coolidge's Name Brings Applause

CONVENTION HALL, Cleveland, O., June 10.—Still searching for a vice-president candidate, the Republican National Convention went into its first session today with the question little advanced toward solution.

Booms paused for a moment in their flight, platform builders suspended work and delegates ceased their milling while all assembled in the great hall of 13,000 seats to start the convention on its way.

The doors of the great hall were thrown open to ticket holders at 9 o'clock but delegates did not begin to arrive until the clock moved toward 11 the hour for the meeting.

In the brief opening session the convention heard the keynote speech delivered by its temporary chairman Representative Theodore E. Burton, perfected its temporary organization and adjourned until 10:30 tomorrow morning.

In the great hall the convention got under way to the usual accompaniments of music, applause and cheering. Chairman Burton's mention of President Coolidge's name gave the convention opportunity for prolonged cheers and applause which were repeated when the chairman predicted the party's victory in November.

Vice president booms were somewhat in abeyance while everybody went to the opening session of the convention but booming was immediately resumed after adjournment. Word came that Senator Borah desired not to be considered; Lowden supporters would not give up despite repeated declinations and friends of Hoover said he was growing stronger each hour.

Overnight, the movement for Judge William C. Kenyon, of Iowa, showed new strength, the tendency toward Secretary Hoover grew stronger, the move for Charles G. Dawes certainly lost no ground and Lowden supporters renewed their resistance to the former governor's reiteration that he would not accept the nomination if it was offered.

Tomorrow's session will bring the election of a permanent chairman, former Congressman Mondell, Wyoming, and delivery of his address. Meanwhile the platform builders and vice president makers will continue to be busy.

There were today many new faces in the places where old ones have been in memorable years gone by. For the first time in years Chauncey M. DePew was not on hand to enjoy the reception which always resembles the New Year's Day handshaking bee at the White House. For the first time since the Republican convention nominated Abraham Lincoln, "Uncle Joe" Cannon was absent and the convention missed his "the ladies God bless them."

Places of power today were held by a new set of men, chosen by President Coolidge, headed by William M. Butler.

The Republican Party was called upon today by Theodore E. Burton, of Ohio, the temporary chairman of its National Convention, to rally.

Commercial Greed Said To Be Cause Anti-U.S. Agitation

TOKIO, June 10.—More sordid motives than those of patriotism are backing the anti-American feeling which is following the enactment in the United States of an immigration law barring Japanese is the opinion of government officials and business men here.

According to a statement today the agitation is being supported by certain Japanese business men and manufacturers who desire to eliminate foreign competition in Japanese markets and who have seized the situation created by passage of the measure as a means to further that end.

NATIVE FLORIDA SWAMP SNAKE FOUND IN SOUTH CAROLINA

Columbia, S. C.—A party of students, headed by Prof. J. D. Corrington of the University of South Carolina, while searching weeds and ponds near here, made what is believed to be a scientific discovery of importance. An adolescent specimen of the black swamp snake, known as seminatrix pygae, hitherto reported only in Florida, was found.

"The question that will interest all biologists is how this species comes to be found in a locality 200 miles north of its established northernmost range," Professor Corrington asserted. "That such an anomaly could be a stray or accidental one is out of the question, as these snakes are of a very stationary and retiring nature."

"The only explanation which the facts will admit is that the snake has been overlooked in the intervening territory of Florida, Georgia and the remainder of Southern Carolina. Further close search should reveal additional specimens."

The schedule today calls for an inspection of road projects near Asheville and attending an Indian ball game at Sylva. Returning here for dinner the party will entrain at 8:45 o'clock tonight.

NOTED AUTHOR TAKES OWN LIFE

Peter Clark MacFarlane's End Equal That of One of His Novels

San Francisco, June 10.—Waging a losing battle with ill health Peter Clark MacFarlane, noted author, former actor and preacher, accepted it with stoic philosophy and shot and killed himself here last night.

The final chapter in his long brilliant career is written with artistry as consummate as any displayed in the tragic termination of one of his novels.

Walking to the steps of a San Francisco morgue he pulled a pistol from his pocket and with coolness and deliberation fired a bullet into his brain.

Two notes, one addressed to an intimate friend and the other "To Whom It May Concern" recounted the story of his long battle with a disease of the kidneys, his physical exhaustion, mental turmoil and his final decision.

JAPANESE USE AMERICAN RAMS TO IMPROVE MANCHURIAN SHEEP

Salt Lake City, Utah.—The Japanese government is looking to Utah for its supply of purebred Rambouillet and Merino rams with which to cross-breed the sheep of southern Manchuria, according to H. Komatsu, agricultural expert of the South Manchuria railroad.

Mr. Komatsu spent several weeks in Southern Utah recently seeking the type of ram desirable. He said that some of the Utah Merinos already had been exported to China and had bred sheep with a much superior grade of wool than that of the native Manchurian sheep.

Raleigh, June 10.—With Angus W. McLean practically nominated on Democratic ticket governor and with his victory conceded by his opponent in Saturday's primary, J. W. Bailey, of Raleigh, interest in North Carolina today centered around the four races where apparently a second primary will be needed to elect nominees.

Returns tabulated at an early hour today estimated to represent 60 per cent of the vote cast, failed to give a majority to any one candidate contesting for Lieutenant Governor, Commissioner of Agriculture, Commissioner of Labor and Printing, and Attorney General.

For nomination for Lieutenant-governor J. E. Long, of Durham, was leading with 58,433 votes after 1148 precincts had reported. Robert R. Reynolds, of Asheville, was second with 49,265, while Frank Nash, present assistant attorney general, was last with 38,089 votes.

Dennis Brumitt was leading for Attorney General when 1138 precincts had reported his vote being 58,558. Charles Ross was second with 49,265, while Frank Nash, present assistant attorney general, was last with 38,089 votes.

Of the four races in which a second primary is apparent on the face of returns thus far tabulated, the Commissioner of Agriculture is the only one in which there seemed to be a chance of settling in the first race. W. A. Graham was leading the field with a vote of 70,986 votes from 1144 precincts and lacked only 9,000 votes of a clear majority over the combined vote of his two opponents. Fred P. Latham was second with 53,019 and T. B. Parker last with 26,780 votes.

In the race for Commissioner of Labor and Printing M. L. Shipman, incumbent, was leading the field but lacked a majority, though his lead increased steadily throughout yesterday and last night, with 107,858 votes. Grist was second with 50,287, O. J. Peterson, third with 21,256 and L. M. Nash last with 12,840.

The race which ended in the first primary apparently from returns tabulated are those of Auditor, Corporation Commissioner and Insurance Commissioner. In each of these the incumbent had gained a lead early Saturday night and added returns steadily increased these leads.

Japanese Wage Rates. Tokio.—The average daily wage of Japanese laborers, including women, is 1.55 yen, at normal exchange, about 78 cents in American currency according to figures published by the home department. The average wage for male laborers is 1.79 yen and for women 88 sen, and the average work day is 10 hours, 26 minutes.

Mexican Priest Dead at 110. Guanajuato, Mexico.—Despite his advanced age Father Jose Guadalupe Castorena continued serving his flock almost to the day of his death, which occurred after he had passed his 110th birthday. He is believed to have been one of the oldest residents of Mexico whose birth record could be established beyond a doubt.

Declares Merchant Marine Necessity to American People

Boston, June 10.—That a healthy merchant marine is an absolute necessity to the safety and prosperity of the American people, and that private ownership is the only fundamental solution to keeping the American flag afloat on high seas, was the declaration this afternoon of Admiral Leigh C. Palmer, president of the United States Fleet Corporation, before the Eleventh Nations Foreign Trade Convention.

Discussing the relation of the government to the merchant marine, Admiral Palmer said: "While government aid for the merchant marine is to be encouraged and welcomed, it is more important for the lasting good of the merchant marine that private enterprise be directed to the solution of our shipping problem with a view to diminishing, and eventually removing, the differential that exists between an American and foreign operating costs. But I am an optimist, and I believe the time will come when we will build ships as cheaply as they can be built abroad."

"When shipyards are enabled to work continuously on the production of specialized types of ships, and when American engineers shall have evolved standardized types of marine motors that can be manufactured by quantity production methods and at comparatively low cost, the problem of cheap ships will have been solved."

"The merchant marine should not be regarded from an exclusively commercial viewpoint," continued the speaker. "While its prime purpose is to serve the nation's commerce during times of peace, its value as an element of national defense should be kept in mind. Modern warfare is waged with practically all national resources and the commercial fleet is hardly second in importance for purposes of national defense to that of a regular naval establishment. In proportion as the principle of naval disarmament is adopted and the regular naval fleets curtailed, the commercial fleet will become of increasing importance for both offense and defense. It has long been an established policy of certain foreign governments to develop special types of commercial vessels for possible use as naval or military auxiliaries."

presumably increase the weevil damage, and the weather has started in that direction.

"By putting these several facts together, we have some hint of a belated crop exposed to heavy weevil injury. Of course, we hope that for the sake of the cotton the weather may reform itself in time to head off the weevil, but it has already prevented that quick growth of the young crop which is highly desirable. We had two fortunate weevil years; the above are mere hints that we may be due to be less fortunate this year. Again we remind you. No one can predict with exactness."

Castor Oil? Never Again!

That's what numbers of mothers are saying since they have tried Liv-o-lax for the bilious attacks, indigestion and similar disorders of their children.

Mother dreads giving castor oil just as much as the baby fears taking it, and the same applies to colic.

It was because the common family laxative fails to act on the liver that W. L. Hand began experimenting to devise a remedy that would act on both liver and bowels and take the place of calomel and castor oil, and the Liv-o-lax formula, as has been proven in thousands of households, meets this need.

Liv-o-lax is purely vegetable and is a liquid remedy, so pleasant to taste that the children love to take it.

It is just as good for bilious conditions and disorders of digestion in adults. You can get Liv-o-lax now at your favorite drug store.

Gives Facts Bearing Boll Weevil Situation

Raleigh, June 10.—Now that cotton is planted, much of it up, and some of it chopped, farmers are interested in all that may give light on what to expect from the boll weevil. The Division of Entomology of the Agricultural Experiment Station each year has accumulated all sound early season information possible, and Professor Franklin Sherman, Chief of that Division, now announces the following indications bearing on the subject.

"No one can predict with exactness about the boll weevil," says Professor Sherman, "because very much always depends upon the weather conditions of the future and these we do not predict. But we have some facts and some evidences, and from these some possible inferences may be drawn. Chief among these are:

"Examinations of Spanish-moss by Federal workers to the southward in late winter indicated a heavy death-rate among the weevils in the moss; it was pointed out that this was merely an indication, and that weevils hiding under denser cover might survive in great numbers.

"Later announcements by the Federal workers indicated that in hibernating cages where there was plenty of cover, the weevils were surviving in sufficient numbers to threaten serious damage.

"In North Carolina the first genuine boll-weevil of the season were found in mid-April in southern counties; in each case, the weevils were out of hibernation but no cotton was up. These first findings were approximately the same in 1923.

"Our first record of genuine boll weevil on young cotton comes from Scotland county, the specimen being taken on or about May 14." That specimen with two others was mailed on May 20 and all were alive when received at Raleigh. This finding is about one week earlier than the same for 1923.

"Our average cool weather up to now has retarded the growth of the young cotton; we have word from several counties that the growth is discouragingly slow. Lateness tends to expose the squares and young bolls to greater weevil-damage.

"The rainfall has been greater than the average through out our cotton section. While this may have no special weevil significance, yet it is well known that much rain during summer, especially during July, has the tendency to increase weevil-damage. The fact that it is rainy now is no proof that it will continue so, but if it does it will

OCCUPATION OF RUHR BRINGS STAGNATION DUTCH COMMERCE

The Hague, June 3.—It is only in the allied acceptance of the expert's report, and the consequent stabilizing of Germany and the Ruhr that Dutch financiers and traders profess to see a possibility of bringing Dutch trade out of its present depressed state.

The result of the occupation has been a heavy reduction in business all over the country and a rise in the cost of living. The influence also is felt in the transport trade, and the two principal ports of the country, which are far too big for their own requirements, have suffered considerably, as their primary function was catering to the industrial districts bordering on the Rhine.

This detrimental influence has extended also to the export trade of Dutch agricultural produce which has been interfered with by the interruption of trade routes through the occupied territory and the fluctuating exchange rate of Germany, Holland's largest buyer.

At the outset of the Ruhr occupation Dutch merchants attempted to allow business to slide along without stopping their production in the hope that the occupation would be only a matter of a few weeks. A different result, however, forced them to close factories and cut off the source of supplies, and after the prosperous war period, produced a trade depression of a magnitude never before known in Holland.

In contrast to this a temporary benefit has resulted to many Dutch industries which have been able to regain old markets and have endeavored to open out in new directions, as is noted by R. V. Laming, commercial secretary of the British embassy at The Hague.

Moreover, the introduction of artificial silk works has resulted in successful Dutch competition with foreign goods. Trade conditions have been reflected in the public finance. The state revenue has dropped some 30 per cent from the figures reached during the war years and resulted in a large deficit in the national exchequer. This has made retrenchment necessary.

Bobbed Hair Threatens Prosperity of Chefoo

Long Beach, Cal.—The future commercial prosperity of Chefoo, China a city of 100,000 population, can be determined only when it is known whether American women will continue to bob their hair or return to flowing tresses, said Captain Milton Minnis, United States vice-consul at Chefoo, which is visiting his home here.

"Chefoo's chief industry is making hair nets they sell 5,000,000 worth to this country each year, in addition to exporting $3,000,000 worth to France and other countries, said Captain Minnis.

Pumps prove popularity of "Standard" Gasoline

If you happened to count the gasoline pumps, as we have done, over miles of city streets and country roads, we know you would be impressed by the large showing of "Standard" pumps. In a popularity contest on gasoline a count of pumps will prove our leadership.

"MADE IN THE CAROLINAS"

As you go bowling along country roads you can't help noticing how much the "Standard" pumps outnumber others. If you are engaged in manufacturing or in sales you know what ceaseless effort it takes to get such universal distribution, to hold the public's approval year after year as "Standard" Gasoline has done.

The "Standard" pump at every turn in the road is a monument to the industry, skill and optimism of the thousands of engineers, chemists and organizers who keep "Standard" Gasoline the recognized leader in its field. There is only one way we keep that leadership. That is to keep quality up to the highest possible notch and to be constantly on the lookout for ways of raising it still higher. We have done this since the earliest days of motoring.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY (New Jersey)

"STANDARD" GASOLINE

The wonderful new fuel—"Standard" Ethyl Gasoline—now available at many "Standard" pumps, completely eliminates "gas knock". More power on the hills! Less gear shifting! Less vibration! Ask the man at the pump about it.

"Standard" is the trade mark of the Standard Oil Co. (N.J.), registered in the United States and many foreign countries.

with intent to ruin the small investor as the large. Were it possible sentimentally to separate the interests of the minor and major property owners it could not be done practically. In reality all of our people rise or fall together and all are equally protected by the same laws. Unfortunately people who have not yet acquired their homes may be deluded into another belief. All the more reason, then, that we give full credit, as President Coolidge does, to the real estate profession that is so potent a factor in extending the ranks of home-owners and consequently augmenting the numbers of highest type citizens.

VIRTUE

Rousseau in his philosophy has called to our attention that we are never puzzled "to account for virtuous actions" and that the "love of virtue and hatred of vice are as natural as the love of ourselves." That ancient proverb "virtue is its own reward" he give to us in this new dress. To take a pleasure in virtue is the reward of having been virtuous.

It is impossible to conceive of a human being so depraved as to take no pleasure in doing good. Since it has been brought to our attention we come to the realization that the acts we seek to account for are the acts of cruelty, dishonesty and immorality. Virtues and acts of goodness seem natural to us. We can not explain iniquity and every wicked act appears unnatural, if not accidental.

In connection with virtue Rousseau has suggested that "every one contributes to the public good for his own interest but that the virtuous man does not contribute to the public good to his own prejudice." He might have added that it is not necessary to sacrifice self to serve others.

Could not all laws be stricken from the statute books, all armies and navies disbanded, all police and courts abolished and all the world live in peace and prosperity if all observed the golden rule of doing to others as we would wish them to do to us?

It is claimed that an ape never falls in love but once. Our divorce courts, then uphold Mr. Bryan's argument that we're no kin to the monkey.

THE RICH MAN'S FRIENDS

By WICKES WAMBOLDT

Rich men are apt to become cynical regarding the friendly overtures of people, and look with suspicion on the smiles and graces of those with whom they come in contact.

If it is a stranger they say, "He wants to sell me something." If it is an acquaintance, "He wants to borrow money." If a relative, "He wants me to leave him something."

And thus at every turn you will find such a man doubting the sincerity and purposes of those around him. When his wife kisses him he asks, "What is it this time?" If his daughter caddles into this lap, he says, "Well Puss, how much?"

Now, this same rich man is glad of the fact that he has the means to purchase a handsome city home and a magnificent country estate, that he can maintain autos, a yacht, give large entertainments and hire all the servants he desires.

All those things are a source of gratification to him. But when his money brings in smiles, pleasant words and deferential bearing from people, he screws his soul up into suspicion and gets unhappy.

Why should he not accept the friendly overtures of people as a legitimate tribute to a man of wealth and power. Why should he not take such things in the same spirit of satisfaction that he does the other things his money brings him.

Being treated with extreme consideration is just one of the many advantages that come to a man of parts and property.

One thing is certain. Let the rich man lose all he has of position and plenty, and let him have to join the class of people to whom the world gives scant heed and he would miss exceedingly that consideration and friendliness that he had formerly received.

This is a world of give and take. The poor man has nothing to give the rich man but friendliness and service. And the rich man should take both and thank God he has enough money to pay for them.

or all bids received. This the 6th day of June, 1924.

HOME-OWNING AND CITIZENSHIP

In addressing the National Association of Real Estate Boards in Washington the other day, President Coolidge commended the realtors' profession for its leadership of the better housing and better homes movement. He went on: "The ownership of a home, the feeling of independence that comes with possession of a bit of the earth, are among the most powerful incentive to the civic interest usefulness."

The president stated elemental truth. The stability of America is founded on the wide diffusion of home ownership, strongly supported by the aspirations of those other millions who are earnestly striving to take their places in the ranks of home-owners. A sound conception of what it means to possess a piece of land with a house in which to live makes for substantial citizenship more surely than anything else save fulfillment of the honorable desire to own a home.

The home-owners and potential home-owners constitute the strong bulwark of public protection against the radical movements imported from Europe and which are founded on envy of the success which it is possible for earnest workers to achieve in America. These radical movements are as certainly directed

WALTER P. CHRYSLER'S TRAFFIC TALKS

"AFTER YOU" SPIRIT NEEDED

The motorist must always remember that the pedestrian has rights on the street, but the pedestrian must remember that when a motorist receives the signal to go that means go. It is hardly fair for the pedestrian to dart in front of a moving motor vehicle just because he "thinks he can make it."

When two men approach a revolving door and it is assumed both are gentlemen they will instinctively bow and say, "After you." If the two men were in cars and they had to get through that door they probably would break their backs and necks trying to get through first. We need more of the "after you" spirit on the highways and streets.

If the motorist will be courteous to the pedestrian and the pedestrian will be equally courteous to the motorist, many of these common traffic problems will automatically solve themselves.

CHANDLER COLLIDES WITH WILLYS-KNIGHT ON FIFTH STREET

The Willys Knight automobile belonging to Mr. Hugh McGowan was badly damaged today when a Chandler driven by Mrs. Ballentine, of Rocky Mount, ran into it at the intersection of Reed and Fifth street.

Mrs. Ballentine, accompanied by Mrs. Rose, of Rocky Mount, being a stranger in Greenville did not know the street very well and was not aware of the fact that Reed street and Fifth intersected until it was too late to stop. The Willys Knight was parked directly in front of the approaching car and back of it is a deep ravine. No doubt the car saved the lives of Mesdames Rose and Ballentine for had it not stopped their car it would have in all probability gone into the ravine.

Cotton Letter.
 New Orleans, June 10 — Better cables than due and some rain over the northern half of the cotton belt, rather general and heavy in Arkansas and the Memphis district, influenced market to a higher level this morning, but values eased subsequently owing to realizing on the bulge.

The weather bureau reported temperatures continue somewhat above normal with Maxima generally 88 to 96 degrees and night temperatures mostly above six degrees except in North Carolina. Moderate to heavy rain fell in Arkansas, mostly light to moderate in Oklahoma, northern Texas, Georgia and the Carolinas and scattered showers elsewhere east of the Miss river.

The higher forcing temperatures and less rain in Texas the past week have been productive of much better crop advices from that important state and from other sections of the western half of the belt, except in Arkansas. To the east of the Mississippi, however, the weather has not been so favorable as whole, particularly in Alabama where there has been too much moisture.

The present outlook is for the continuance of generally dry, warm weather in Texas and probably better weather for other sections of the southwest, especially Arkansas, but showers are indicated to the East of the Mississippi river.

Chicago predicts higher prices for grain, due to the unfavorable condition of the wheat crop. Any further advance of importance would improve the economic situation of the agricultural west.

Private advices from Greenville, S. C., are to effect that something is developing in the goods situation that will be very bullish.

Press reports from New York express the opinion that the price of cotton goods has about reached the bottom and anticipate a gradual improvement in the demand. Meanwhile, the trade is anticipating a more favorable weekly weather and crop report from Washington tomorrow and probably a rather bearish private estimate as to the quantity of cotton consumed in the United States last month, as domestic consumption in April was only 480,000 bales of lint cotton, whereas returns for May this year will run against 621,000 last year.

"The people—and all the people—have confidence in Calvin Coolidge," Representative Burton declared in sounding the keynote of the convention. "In the great array of rulers, kings and prime ministers intrusted with power, there is none who can surpass him in honesty of purpose, in courage, or in high devotion to the welfare of his country."

Mr. Burton asserted that "by far the greater share of our citizenship looks to President Coolidge rather than to Congress for leadership," and he urged the party to take its stand with Mr. Coolidge on all of the controversial issues which have arisen between the executive and some members of the Republican majority in Congress.

He recommended that the party declare for American adherence to the world court with merely the Harding-Hughes reservations. He regretted that Congress refused to accede to Mr. Coolidge's wishes in enacting the Japanese exclusion provision of the Immigration Bill. He declared three new tax law amendments in defects and should not be taken as the last word in tax revision. He dismissed enactment of the bonus bill over the President's veto with the assertion that "conditions created by it must be met and its provisions must be willingly accepted."

Much of the blame visited upon Republicans in the session of Congress just ended, he told the convention, however, "is not deserved because of many major questions their party has not commanded a majority in either branch."

Enumerating the achievements of the Republican party in its stewardship of national affairs in the past four years, he paid high tribute to the memory of President Harding, told of the accomplishments under his leadership, and pronounced this benediction: "Rest, Wearied Spirit, rest in peace, secure in the lasting remembrance which belongs to the immortals."

Varied and numerous were the accomplishments cited by Mr. Burton, ranging from the achievements of the arms conference and American unofficial participation in the work of the reparations experts committee through the field of domestic activities resulting from legislation and executive undertakings. He pronounced it a record on which the party proudly could take its stand, "Confident that when the ballots are cast in November in number like the falling leaves of autumn this nation will elect Calvin Coolidge with a Republican Congress and again crown our efforts with victory, thereby assuring a yet more splendid future of progress and peace."

ADENOID, TONSIL CLINIC WAS HELD HIGH SCHOOL TODAY

(Continued from page 1) Then the library and one of the other class rooms have had the furniture removed and converted into rooms for the convalescents. The parents of the children bring sheets and a pillow, but cots and beds have been provided by the Boy Scouts and the following furniture firms: Quinn Miller, Taft Brothers, and Taft and Vandyke. These firms were very liberal in their offers of beds and cots, and even went to the trouble to send them to the building at their own expense. Dr. Ellen is doing the operating: Dr. Laughinghouse and Green are giving the Anesthetic, and the nurses assisting are Misses Edna McKee of the Health Department, and Allie Clark, also Miss Virginia Does.

The public is asked to bear in mind the fact that another clinic will be held on June 19, and also to remember that if a parent desires to take advantage of the clinic, it will be necessary to get in touch at once with Dr. C. L. Outland of the department of Health. His office is in the court house and his phone number is 130.

AMERICAN GUAM MENACED BY THE DEADLY COCONUT TREE SCALE

Agaña, Guam. — United States marines, under the command of Captain William W. Aiken, who is chief of police of this island, are leading parties of natives in a concerted attack on a most pernicious enemy. The enemy is aspidiotus destructor a scale insect, recently discovered to be destroying coconut palm banana trees, alligator pear trees, and taro.

More than 2,000 trees were found infected in widely separated localities all over the island. The insects are so small that they barely are visible. They attack trees by sucking the sap, causing the foliage to turn a mottled yellow at first, and in the last stages to assume the appearance of having been scorched by fire.

The scale's is one of the most destructive known. It recently wiped out the coconut industry of the island of Siguan, 120 miles from Guam.

SELECTIVE EMIGRATION PROPOSED FOR BRITISH OVERSEAS AREAS

London.—A scheme to extend the system of emigration by nomination is outlined by the Overseas Settlement committee in its report for 1923.

It is intended to establish collective nomination by churches, philanthropic societies and other organizations overseas. These will appoint local committees to obtain guarantees from local residents of employment and accommodation for settlers in their districts. They will send nominations to the church or other organization in this country to which they are affiliated, for selection of emigrants, who, on arrival in the dominions, will be cared for by the local committees.

All-German Auto Show.

Berlin.—The German automobile manufacturers have decided to hold a national exhibit this fall, and during the same week it is planned to arrange a race for the grand prix of the Automobile Club of Germany. It is quite likely that this will be the last exclusively German auto exhibit, as in September or October the government's embargo on the importation of cars probably will be lifted.

GRIFTON NEWS

Mr. W. M. Newborn is quite ill at this time.

Master William Coltrane, son of Prof. W. G. Coltrane, who was accidentally injured near Birmingham, Alabama, enroute to Hot Springs, Ark., is greatly improved at this writing. His father is with him at St. Vincent Hospital, where William is undergoing treatment.

Mr. Lester Vause passed through our town Sunday on his way to Sharon.

The two services at the Methodist Church were well attended Sunday. Rev. R. J. Lough, the popular pastor, is doing some extra good preaching. His sermon in the morning was on the Christian Home, and his evening theme was the World's Bid for a Man. Both sermons were strong and to the point.

The mid-week services are largely attended. Mrs. C. C. May led at the last meeting. It was a meeting full of inspiration, and showed careful preparation. There will be no mid-week service this week owing to a series of meetings which are being conducted at the Christian Church. Rev. Case, the regular minister, will do the preaching.

Our young people are coming home from school, and their presence in our little town is adding much to social fellowship.

Little Glenda Tucker, who had the misfortune to break his leg some time ago, has thrown away his crutches, and a friendly smile is seen on his face as he greets us on the streets. Election passed off very quietly in Grifton. People have settled down to the old question of the weather again.

Miss Mildred Lough is visiting friends and relatives in Rocky Mount at present.

Skating on thin ice—

A man may spend all he earns, right up to the limit, if he wants to.

Some men have been doing that since the world began. Every man has the same right. Always they have suffered. When the ice crashes through with them, who pulls them out?

Sometimes a long-suffering relative.

Sometimes the "loan sharks" get them—and sometimes the poorhouse.

Placing something in our institution each month is the wise thing to do. Hosts of people are doing it. We offer safety, good earnings and a service that has the respect of people all over the country.

Both Serial and Paid - Up Shares are on sale at all times.
