SCORES LOSE LIVES IN TENNESSEE FLOOD

Alleged Train Robbers Arrested In Chicago Today

Two Towns Swept Away By Storm Early This Morning

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn., June 14.—A terrific cloudburst in the mountains near Johnson City early this morning caused heavy loss of life and tremendous property damage.

Heavy damage and loss of life resulted from the unheralded sweep of mountain streams swollen into sudden fury, by drains from precipitous and mountainous walls crashing and twirling farm houses, barns and live stock like paper playthings to mingle with brush, logs and uprooted trees.

How many lost their lives in the hailstorm cannot be ascertained although scores are picking their way into the storm swept valley.

Twelve are known to be dead in Carden and Hampton, Tenn., and one in Stony Creek, Tenn. All communication lines are down from Carden and Hampton which appeared to be on the edge of the storm swept area. There has been no word from Fish Springs and Butler, two good sized villages, which seem to be in the center of the devastated area.

The cloudburst came as the climax of a day of heavy intermittent rains and caught the hamlets unprepared, the raging torrents sweeping everything in its path.

The region is traversed by two rail roads which were badly damaged and highways, which were not the best in dry weather, no longer exist. Relief parties are unable to traverse farther than the edge of the area except on foot.

Fifteen miles of the Laurel Fork railway from Hampton southeast has been totally destroyed. The road, originally built to serve large lumber operations is a standard gauge and a common carrier for passengers and freight. It was built by a Pittsburgh lumber company which has large operations in this state.

Unconfirmed rumors as to the dead continue to swell the number, the latest report being more than 40.

Relief parties are being sent from Elizabethtown and Hampton by automobile, wagons and on foot but destruction of the highways prevents them reaching further than the edge of the devastation.

Johnston City, Tenn., June 14.—At least 22 persons are dead and probably many more are injured as a result of a terrific cloudburst which early today wiped out Carter's Bluff and Hunters, near here.

The known dead according to telephone reports stated that 12 were dead at Carter's Bluff and at least 10 at Hunters.

Incomplete telephone reports from nearby points said that the two towns had been wiped out. All roads are washed out and it is impossible to approach the vicinity, the reports said.

The first calls were sent out for aid and within an hour afterward efforts to reach the scene were being made by relief workers.

Several bodies are reported to have been recovered. The country struck by the cloudburst and flood is very rough and difficult to penetrate even in good weather.

Every available newspaper man in Johnson City has been sent to the territory to get all possible news and ascertain the extent of the disaster.

Red Cross on Job.
Atlanta, Ga., June 14.—Upon receipt of news dispatches that the towns of Hunters and Carden, Tennessee had been virtually wiped out by a storm early today the Southern Division of the American Red Cross announced that it had dispatched a staff representative to the affected territory to take charge of relief measures.

Train Service Demoralized.
Charlotte, June 14.—Traffic on the Bristol-Mountain City line of the Southern Railway will be partly tied up for about 15 hours as a result of flood damages in that region, headquarters of the Southern Railway lines here announced today. Reports said that one trestle had washed out and tracks destroyed for half mile. Passengers and mail will be transferred over the washout, the statement said. Only one train each way per day is operated over this line.

Coolidge Orders Revision Salaries Gov't. Employees

Washington, June 14.—President Coolidge today ordered the revision of salaries of 480,000 government employees in field service to go into effect on July 1, despite failure of the bill carrying funds for the purpose to become a law. The measure was lost in the closing hours of Congress and but for the president's action today, employees would get a cut of 20 per cent in their salaries instead of an increase.

OUR FLAG

A flag is a symbol, visualizing ideas. If it does not do this it is a mere piece of colored fabric, or decorative hunting.

Men do not "endure hardships as a good soldier," nor lay down their lives as loyal patriots, for a piece of cloth however beautifully tinted; but they will live, suffer, fight and die for the PRINCIPLES it typifies and expresses.

"OUR FLAG" is the symbol of our common sentiments; the centre of our affections; the rallying point of our common force.

Its STARS and its STRIPES carry us back to the heroic age in which our national life was founded, and link our lives with those who with rare sagacity, steadfast determination, and marvelous vision, conceived, and called into existence, a Nation which the people should have the governing power.

Its RED speaks of Fraternity. We are a Brotherhood by blood. Our interests are interwoven. Nothing can injure the highest official, but all suffer. When we truly appreciate this fundamental fact we shall cultivate the spirit of co-operation. "United, we stand; divided, we fall."

Its WHITE speaks of the Purity that should characterize all our acts, both personal and national.

Its BLUE speaks of Constancy, Fidelity, Loyalty. One of the highest compliments you can pay a man is to say of him, "He's true blue."

These are the qualities we must manifest in our work together under its waving folds. The BLUE speaks also of Liberty; the liberty of the blue heavens above us,—the infinite, immeasurable azure that envelops the whole world. We shall find our greatest liberty in loyal service to our Country and our God.

Five thousand years ago Moses placed the Red, White and Blue in the jewelled breastplate of the High Priest.

Two thousand years ago St. John put the Red, White and Blue in the precious foundation stones of the Eternal City.

Our truest Religion and our truest Heaven are thus linked by the symbolic colors of our Flag with our common every day tasks.

LET US HONOR THE FLAG!

Six Arrests Made Connection With Train Robbery

NATION CELEBRATES 149TH NATAL DAY STARS AND STRIPES

More Than 100,000,000 Americans Now Pay Homage to Flag

Washington, June 14.—One hundred and forty-nine years ago the hand of a senior lieutenant on the Colonial ship Katy lying in Delaware River set to the breeze for the time a flag with alternate stripes of red and white. It signified that an American navy had come into commission with Commodore Esek Hopkins in command by act of the Continental Congress, and the hand that tugged at the halyards to set the colors flying was that of the executive officer of the ship, John Paul Jones.

That was the beginning of the Stars and Stripes, the flag to which more than a hundred millions of Americans now pay homage. The stripes were there, but the stars of the sovereign independence of the states were still to be set in place. In their stead, the blue field of the banner whipped by the winds of that December day bore the crosses of St. Andrew and St. George, the twin crosses of England—visual assurance that the men of the colonies yet clung to their English faith and origin and were concerned only with securing that freedom to which they were entitled as Englishmen dwelling overseas.

It was a year and a half later that the Stars and Stripes was formally adopted by Congress. Curiously enough neither that banner nor its predecessor was ever carried by troops of the revolutionary armies. They fought under the flags of their states. It was for the hardy sailors to carry it around the world and win for it international honors.

Since these days there have become intertwined with the folds of the flag memories of great days and heroic deeds dear to the hearts of all Americans. And from its simple birth the flag has come to know pomp and pageantry of display and written into the regulations that govern the army is a complete code of procedure for all occasions where it is officially known.

This code goes all the way back to the days of knighthood. "The National Flag represents the living country and is considered as a living thing, the Union being the honor point," the army regulations say. "The right arm is the sword arm and therefore the point of danger; hence, the right is the place of honor. The edge of the flag which is toward the staff is the heraldic dexter or right edge. The Union of the flag, and the flag itself, when in company with other flags, is always given the honor point, i. e., the marching right, the flag's own right, or an observer is left."

Man Suffering From 5 Bullet Wounds Among Those Arrested By the Chicago Police; Some of Bandits Identified; More Arrests And Recovery of Loot Expected Soon

Chicago, June 14.—The five men and a woman now in custody, one of whom is wounded five times, are declared today by Chief of Police Morgan A. Collins to have been involved in the daring hold-up of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul train which was looted of valuable mail Thursday night. The chief declared that some of the robbers had been identified and that other arrests were expected and part of the loot would be recovered soon.

A man with five bullet wounds in his body was taken to the county hospital today. Police quickly made four other arrests and held the prisoners for questioning in connection with the mail train robbery Thursday night.

The wounded man gave his name as J. H. Wayne and said he had been shot by a woman near Hammond, Ind. He said the woman's name was Miss Margaret Ray.

Four other arrests were made at a roadside house in front of which Wayne was found. He was taken to the hospital and detectives sent to the address where one man was seized and two others were arrested shortly afterward when they appeared at the house.

One of the bandits wounded supposedly by his own companions was carried away by the bandits as they fled in four autos with the loot which has been estimated at from $100,000 to $1,000,000.

The other prisoners are Walter McComb and his wife, Paul Wade and James Mahoney.

Police had to batter down the door to enter the house. McComb and his wife offered resistance, the police said, but were quickly overpowered and handcuffed.

Wade, who said that he recently came from Tulsa, Oklahoma, was found hiding in a bedroom. Mahoney was apprehended 15 minutes after the raid when he entered the house without seeing the detectives who had concealed themselves there.

Wayne, the police say, gave two versions of the shooting, one that he was shot by Margaret Ray near Hammond, Ind., and the other that he was shot by a bootlegger.

Two detectives are stationed at his bedside.

Christianity" Mr. Prescott is well known in Greenville, and a large audience is expected to hear him.

OPEN FORUM

Mr. Editor:
May I express through your paper my deep appreciation of the magnificent support accorded me by the people of Pitt county in the recent primary. Mere words are inadequate to properly express my gratitude. No man could have more loyal or truer friends, and I wish them to feel that I also have the virtue of loyalty. The victory is not personal. All credit belongs to the hundreds of men and women who worked day and night in my behalf. That I may in a small degree justify the faith and confidence of my friends is my single wish.

Where Cotton is King

Southern Manufacturers Should Capture Southern Markets First

A field far away often looks greener than one near-by. Some manufacturers go a long way from home for business, when they might get it right "under their noses".

The modern sales manager concentrates and intensifies. Pick out one territory—say a state or a group of states—right near you, and "beat the bushes". Under the right advertising and merchandising plan and with the proper sales effort, you can do big business at less expense—consequently with greater profit. Lower freight rates and lower traveling expenses, because you do not have to go so far away from home, will enable you to overcome competition and get the business in your trading territory.

Lots of Business In Mississippi ----If You Go After It

When the fact is considered that Mississippi is, in one sense, a state of undeveloped resources, less than a third of her tillable area being in cultivation, and that nowhere in the United States can be found more fertile, cheap lands, the prediction can be offered that Mississippi is on the eve of a great period of industrial development.

While cotton is still the main product here, diversified farming has been adopted and the state is prospering accordingly. Mississippi is developing as a cattle state and as a dairying community. Cotton-seed oil, cotton goods, turpentine and rosin, fertilizers and aerated water are among the leading products. Mississippi is also a great lumber state. The amount of lumber cut out is exceeded in only two or three states in the Union. Fruits, truck, Satsuma Oranges, sweet potatoes and peanuts are grown extensively. On the Gulf Coast of Mississippi are great winter and summer resorts.

COLLEGE NOTES

The close of the first week of the summer session of East Carolina University College finds the institution literally running over. The problem of housing the teachers who have come is very acute, and pending the completion of one of the new dormitories which will be ready within a few days some of the teachers students are having to live three and four in a room. In spite of the single term of twelve weeks there is already a larger attendance than has ever been here for any summer session.

The work has been well organized and the routine is fairly well established. The Training School department will open Monday morning, and there will be about twenty-five student teachers at work in the elementary grades.

State Auto Licenses On Sale in Greenville

State automobile licenses will be placed on sale at the local office of the Carolina Motor Club on June 16, it has been announced. The office of the club is located on Fourth St., next to the John Flanagan Buggy Co., with District Manager B. Frank Patrick in charge. Any information regarding the new title registration feature may be obtained in this city through the club's branch office, of which there are thirty-eight in this state.

The local branch of the Carolina Motor Club is a distinct adjunct to this city in that licenses which formerly were obtained by mail from Raleigh may be secured here upon presentation of title registration. All car owners in this territory have been urged to obtain their licenses prior to July 1, as after that date, it will become increasingly difficult to obtain them. Certificates of registration must be shown when licenses are sought. Those persons who have purchased cars on the installment plan should obtain from their dealers a card which has been prepared for the purpose showing that the certificate of title is in the hands of the dealer.

Local car owners are urged to cooperate with the management of the branch located here in avoiding a rush on July 1. It is announced that new licenses may be displayed immediately after purchase.

WILLING WORKERS ENJOY PICNIC JOYNER'S GROVE

Thursday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock the class of "Willing Workers" from Jarvis Memorial Sunday school, with some of our little friends as guests, accompanied by our teachers, Mrs. D. L. Mangum, drove out on a truck to the beautiful Joyner grove on the Falkland road. This being an ideal place for such an outing.

We played games and enjoyed stories told by different members of the class; after this the cover was laid on the truck for lunch and after the class president, Dorothy Willard had asked a blessing, we young folks proceeded to satisfy our hearty appetites on fried chicken, all kinds of sandwiches, cake and pickles.

With the lunch a refreshing iced drinks was served and then we all found our places by a "cherry bonfire" where with long sticks weenies were roasted. More play for awhile and then the car horn was sounded and happy lasses found seats on the car that would convey us home.

All too soon the ride ended and each member of the party reluctantly climbed down as our respective homes was reached.

The following young folks enjoyed the outing: Dorothy Willard, Eloise and Maria Garrett, Kemp House, Gretchen Farmer, Edna Stroud, Loula Speight, Helen White, Mabel Glenn Best, Martha Slaton, Mary Best, Helen Burnette, Louie Harrington, Catherine Utley, Elizabeth Madrin, Louisa Hooker, Mary Tripp.

COME TO PITT COUNTY! SEE US GROW! WELCOME!

An examination of the Census of 1910 and 1920 discloses some very interesting facts as to the increase and decrease of population in the seven counties of the First Congressional District during the above mentioned decade. Here are the facts:

Pitt county increased 9,229, Martin county 3,029, Pasquotank county 977, Hertford county 858, Washington county 367, Ware county 274, Beaufort county 137, Perquimans county 83, Gates county 82. Gross increase in district 15,036.

Chowan county decreased 654, Hyde county 454, Tyrrell county 370, Currituck county 425, Camden county 258.

Gross decrease in district 2,161.
Net gain for district 12,875.

Pitt's net gain 9,229.
Pitt's gain over any other county in the district 6,200.

Pitt's gain over all other counties in the district 3,422.

Shall we call her the State of Pitt? Her gates are open. She still has room. A cordial welcome awaits all good men and women.

No one ever became a star by staying out at night.

Commenting upon the question of correctness of government reports which give to Virginia primacy in the export of tobacco, suspecting that much North Carolina leaf goes abroad under the name of "Virginia Brights," the editor of Natural Resources says:

"The suspicion in this instance may or may not be correct. Bright tobaccos are extensively grown in both states, and "Virginia" as a descriptive term has long been accepted in world marts as descriptive of the grade rather than the locality. If the criticism of the report is justified, the state is not materially undamaged.

As to other products and commodities, the trade name under which they are sold is more important. Much game, seafoods, fruits, which are taken or produced in North Carolina lose a value in the first sale because they are not products of better advertised localities, and acquire a higher value when resold after having been shipped from this state to the situs of their reputation. Notable in this connection are certain so-called Chesapeake Bay products, canvasback duck, diamond-back terrapin, several noted species of oysters, to say nothing of immense quantities of oysters and other foods sold in cans whose labels belie their true source. Western North Carolina apples have long masqueraded as the products of orchards with wider reputations. Even such a peculiar delicacy as the brook catfish, served in Philadelphia restaurants as from the Pennsylvania mountains, is largely supplied from North Carolina streams. An analogous lack of initiative causes many of our mineral products to be sold in bulk at a far less return than they would bring if they were manufactured in the state whose mines supply them. Notably is this true in the case of many clays, kaolins and kindred products.

Our quarrel, after all, is not with the trademarks used by others in the sale of native products, but with the absence of our own trademarks, specialized marketing, intensive manufacture of ray material. What we have that is good and of distinctive quality, the world can use and will have. Whether we or others shall reap the larger return from their sale or manufacture depends on the way in which we treat and demand the best for our own output.

Guess Cleveland is now enjoying the calm after the storm.

With the close of the first act of the year's political circus at Cleveland the program might read as follows: Scene II. Time June 24—Place, New York.

Of course all June brides are interested in the "conventions," but not the Cleveland or New York kinds.

It is easy to avenge yourself on the speed cop. Just confess that you really were speeding and the shock will kill him.

Whatever it is that makes a man tell his story forty times, it isn't a sense of humor. Or any other kind of sense.

Be hospitable, but don't let the flies eat with you.

A GREAT PROMISE

By WICKES WAMBOLDT

A number of years ago a man by the name of Soundstrom, known personally to the writer, died and was duly buried. Later arrangements were made to disinter the body and remove it to another cemetery. Here is the report of what happened.

When they uncovered the casket they found that attempts to hoist it were in vain. It was so heavy they could not budge it. Those in charge of the work were not only astonished and puzzled but some were uneasy. A couple of negro workmen made sudden excuses to leave and forgot to come back.

It was necessary to procure tackle in order to get Soundstrom's casket out of the ground. An understandable curiosity compelled them to open the coffin to secure an explanation of its great weight.

What was their further amazement and mystification to find that the body of Soundstrom had petrified. It had turned to stone as white as alabaster.

The undertaker who had buried Soundstrom was enthusiastically excited. He thought he had discovered a new method of embalming. He had the idea that he should be able to turn every abandoned house of clay into white stone with natural hair, and that these statue bodies should not be buried but kept above ground and treated as any other statuary. However nothing further ever came of it.

But what an absurd idea. It goes to show to what lengths a man's enthusiasm will carry him. Suppose all people who passed away were turned into white stone and kept around the house. What an inheritance that would be!

It was not intended by the powers that created this universe and that keep it going, that our bodies should be continued after we are through with them. Nature is thrifty. She seems prodigal but she is not.

Human bodies, rocks, orange blossoms and every other thing physical are all composed of atoms. Atoms are little bricks out of which everything material is made. Different conditions and different vibrations produce different effects.

Nature evidently assumes that we are not going to have any further need for our physical bodies after we are through with them here. For she accordingly proceeds to take them to pieces, atom by atom, brick by brick to redistribute the elements of which they are composed, just as a printer redistributes type.

Durham Overhauls Its School Books

Durham, June 14.—More than 50,000 of the 65,000 text books owned by the Educational Department of this city, which are rented to the school children each year, are now being repaired in the special "book hospital" installed in the city high school for that purpose alone. The work is being done by those who operate the school cafeteria during the school term and in this way, it was said, the least possible expense is being incurred.

The authorities state that the books which the Educational department rent to the pupils, receive much rough handling by thoughtless users during the year, and but for the repairing of the books new ones would be required. The authorities also stated that in this way much money is saved the Department on the purchase of books.

KITCHEN SHOWER.
Complimentary to Miss Martha Adams, Bride Elect. Mesdames K. B. Pace and J. L. Kilgo were hostesses at a kitchen shower at the home of Mrs. Pace on Thursday afternoon complimentary to Miss Martha Adams, bride-elect. The library and reception hall were appropriately decorated with spring flowers. Upon arrival the guests were welcomed by the hostesses and invited to the sewing room where a most pleasant hour was spent in hemming cup towels which were presented to the bride-elect.

LIGHTNING STRIKES THE HOME OF MR. HEBER SAVAGE

Lightning struck the electric wires of Mr. Heber Savage's home yesterday and from the wire went through the screen door of the kitchen into the pantry and set fire to a sack of chicken feed. Mr. and Mrs. Savage were away from home at the time. Upon their return they went to the pantry to get the feed and found that the fire had only damaged the sack. Believing that mice had carried a match to the pantry they thought nothing more of it except to be surprised at the mystery of the fire going out without being extinguished. They did not discover that lightning had caused the trouble until they started to turn on the electric lights when they found that every fuse had been burned out. Upon investigation the damage to the door was discovered. Mr. Savage stated today that a can of kerosene oil was standing near the sack of feed and why the fire did not cause more damage will always remain a mystery to him.

Each guest was asked to write her favorite recipe. These were collected, fastened together and placed between beautiful covers, making an attractive cook book. This was presented by the hostesses to the bride-elect. After Miss Adams had expressed thanks for the towels and recipe book little Miss Jane Garrett and Master Jack Kilgo entered with a miniature express wagon loaded with a kitchen shower. This consisted of every imaginable cooking utensil necessary for an "ideal kitchen." The bride-elect received the shower in a most attractive manner.

REIVES-ELLIS.
On Monday morning, June 2nd at ten o'clock at the home of the bride's uncle Mr. J. E. D. Perry of Colerain, N. C., occurred the marriage of Miss Bulah Ellis and Mr. John Reives of this city. In the living room before an altar of ferns and cut flowers the ceremony was performed by the Rev. L. F. Bristow of Colerain. The beautiful ring ceremony being used. The bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Ellis, one of the most prominent families of Eastern North Carolina. The only attendant was Mrs. A. A. Forbes, sister of the groom, who was dame of honor. She entering first, gowned in blue georgette and wearing a black picture hat. The bride and groom were next to enter. The bride was beautifully gowned in gray georgette with accessories to match and carrying a lovely carriage of sweet peas. Mrs. Reives will give a cordial welcome in Greenville for her sweet, genial disposition. She has endeared herself to a large circle of friends having attended the Eastern Carolina College and taught in the public schools of this county for two terms. The groom is very popular here and possesses the high standard of a gentleman.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Canterbury, of Beckley, W. Va., who were recently married are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Wingate.

HODGES-BUFFUM.

Washington, N. C., June 14.—A marriage of much interest to the folk in this and other states and one characterized with dignity and simplicity was solemnized at 9:30 o'clock this morning in the Old Ford Christian Church when Miss Marie Hodges of this city, the charming and attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Hodges, became the bride of Mr. John Sayles Buffum, of Buffalo, N. Y. The ceremony was impressively performed by Rev. Richard Bagby, pastor of the First Christian Church, assisted by Rev. J. W. Ellis, pastor of Old Ford Church. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion. The chancel was banked with pines; the walls festooned with southern smilax and ivy lilies and spring flowers were used in profusion throughout. A beautiful program of wedding music was furnished by Mrs. Nell B. McHugh of New Bern. Immediately preceding the ceremony Miss Lucile McCotter, of Grifton, N. C., sang in her charming manner, "At Dawning," "Until," and "The Sweetest Story Ever Told."

As Mrs. McHugh skillfully drifted into the strains of Lohengrin, the ushers, Messrs. M. Brown Hodges and B. C. Holmes marched in and took their places on either side of the arch. Then, came the bridesmaids, Misses Gladys Ross and Mary Ella Cooper, daintily attired in yellow French voile, wearing leghorn hats and carrying baskets of spring flowers. They were followed by the groomsmen, Messrs. Robert and Irving Hodges. The dame of honor, Mrs. T. R. Hodges, mother of the bride, who followed was charmingly gowned in power blue French voile. Her corsage was of sweet peas. The maid of honor, Miss Helen Hodges, sister of the bride, next to come in was lovely in orchid French voile, carrying a shower bouquet of spring flowers. Just preceding the bride came little Albert Willis, Jr., bearing the ring in the heart of a huge white lily. The bride wore a three-piece going away suit of blue charmeuse with russet accessories, entered on the arm of her father, Mr. T. R. Hodges who gave her in marriage. At the foot of the chancel they were met by the groom attended by his best man, Mr. Tee Freeman.

Immediately after the ceremony, the bride and groom left via automobile for northern cities, Niagara Falls and Canada. The bride is a graduate of the North Carolina College for Women at Greensboro, and for the past year was a teacher in the Washington City schools.

The groom is a graduate of Cornell University, a World War veteran and a member of the Officers Reserve Corps. For the past two years he has been in the employment of the North Carolina Highway Commission as inspector of the road construction.

EVANS WITHDRAWS FROM RACE

TO THE VOTERS OF PITT COUNTY:
As announced at the beginning of the campaign, I was a candidate for County Judge not for mere political ambitions, but in order to render service to the public by bringing into existence a court in which the law would be strictly, fairly and impartially administered without fear or favor in accordance with the oath of office and in which every lawyer would receive fair and equal treatment in the practice of his profession.

I have made a vigorous and aggressive campaign for these principles and the vote in the primary last Saturday shows that my efforts were not altogether in vain. The vote was as follows: Darden 2155; Evans 1975 and Cooper 1233, giving Darden a lead over me of 180 votes. However, as Darden does not have a majority of the votes cast, I have the privilege under the law of calling a second primary against him. As is often the case in human experience, he who does the fighting receives the scars of battle, so in this campaign I have received the scars of the enemy and Darden receives the fruits of victory.

As there was nothing selfish in my fight and as Mr. Darden is willing to try to bring into existence the ideal of a court for which I was fighting and to making his declaration to that effect in today's paper, and when the main objects for which I contended have been accomplished and as I have no desire to further engage in a mere scramble for office, I have decided to save the expense and worry of another campaign and have agreed to withdraw from the race and permit Mr. Darden, the leader in the primary, to be nominated.

I consider that I received a splendid vote in the primary last Saturday and one of which I am very proud, and I wish to personally thank one and all who so loyally stood by me in my fight for the right, and I want you to know that I have in no sense abandoned the fight. In the future you can depend on me to stand for the right as I have done in this campaign. I am now doing what I consider for the best under all the circumstances after mature consideration and I trust that my course will meet with your approval.

JUNE 14th, 1924

TO THE CITIZENS OF PITT COUNTY

I wish to thank the voters of Pitt County for their support of me for Judge of the County Court.

I am advised by my nearest opponent, Mr. Evans, that there will be no second primary. Therefore, being the nominee for this office I shall, on becoming Judge, as before stated, strive and endeavor to the best of my ability to see that all the criminal laws are strictly, fairly and impartially enforced without fear or favor to any person, persons, or sections, and in perfect accord, so far as I am able, with the oath of office and the best interest of the public.

It will be my aim and purpose to accord to each and every attorney, fair and equal opportunities of practice in the County Court and I ask their co-operation in the just administration of the laws.

DAILY COTTON LETTER

New Orleans, June 14.—The close of the week finds undertone of market very steady in the face of the continuance of favorable weather inland and smaller domestic consumption figures for the month of May.

Apparently, the impression prevails that while better weather has been experienced the past two weeks, the condition of the crop has not improved to extent generally expected, as noted by the mid-month private reports, the National Ginners Ass'n. having reported a deterioration of three points for half of the reporting period, the Watkins Bureau a decline of 1.8 points and the Giles Bureau issued today, showing a loss in conditions of .8 of one point.

The Giles Bureau averaged the condition of the crop at 66.8 vs. 67.8 two weeks ago, while the Government was 65.6, stating that only 40 per cent of the crop has been chopped vs. 65 per cent last year, more weevil than last year on like date, but that the weevil has improved since June 3rd and stated that Texas is full of grasshoppers.

According to the Census report of even date, May consumption of lint cotton in the U. S. was only 414,000 bales vs. 621,000 last year, mill stocks May thirty first 1,158,000 vs. 1,634,000; stocks in public storage 1,127,000 compared with 1,500,000, total stock U. S. 2,285,000 vs. 3,214,800. Active spindles during May 30,493,000 compared with 35,374,000.

The consumption figures were much smaller than looked for, and the outlook is for the continuance of small domestic consumption this month and probably during July, as active spindles in the U. S. decreased during May 1,378,000 vs a decrease of only 139,000 during May of last year.

Locally and in New York the heat wave in the Southwest is considered unfavorable for young cotton but reliable advices from the country are to effect that the dry, hot weather is favorable for growth, cultivation and cleaning of the fields of weeds and grass, while the high temperatures are serving to check activity of insects particularly the weevil.

Prospects are for slightly cooler weather, perhaps showers over the extreme Northern portion of the belt, but generally fair and continued warm in west and east Texas.

The Weather

Continued clear and warm over entire belt with exception of North Carolina where scattered thundershowers were experienced in Eastern section.

Forecast for Eastern belt, generally fair, slightly cooler. Western belt, generally part cloudy warmer.

I would be glad if it were possible for me to see and thank personally each and every one of my friends who supported me so loyally in the Primary last Saturday. Being unable to see and thank you personally, I want to express to you through the columns of this newspaper my sincere appreciation and assure you that it will be my chief aim and desire to so conduct the office of Sheriff of Pitt County as to merit the confidence which you have placed in me.

Respectfully,
