ABROGATION TWO THIRDS RULE MAIN TOPIC DISCUSSION

Early Arrivals at New York Declare McAdoo Forces Must make First Move.

New York, June 17.—Possibility of abrogating the time honored two-thirds rule governing the nomination of candidates by the national Democratic convention continues today to be the most discussed topic among leaders and delegates who have already assembled here.

It is the belief that unless the move to discontinue the rule comes from the McAdoo forces that the procedure which has been followed by Democratic gatherings since the days of Andrew Jackson will be followed in the coming conclave.

Arrival tomorrow of Mr. McAdoo to lead his convention force may lead to a definite announcement as his attitude.

Sentiment of McAdoo men, already here, on the question was described last night by Judge David Ladd Rockwell, Mr. McAdoo's manager, as follows:

"Friends of Mr. McAdoo did not start the agitation for abrogation of the two-thirds rule.

Chicago, June 17.—Whether the two thirds rule for nomination is replaced by a majority rule in the national Democratic convention does not worry W. G. McAdoo, presidential candidate, whose position on the subject is being widely discussed.

The candidate said so in most emphatic words while swapping yarns and acknowledging handshakes during his 20 minutes stop over in the smoky railroad yards in the southwest of Chicago today, the scene of his short reception here enroute to New York.

"We can beat 'em anyway two thirds rule or by a majority so why should I worry?" Mr. McAdoo said, "and I don't say that boastfully. I am speaking from facts for we have enough to back us up either way."

"On any other features of his platform or procedure McAdoo was mum.

COURT FINDS NO ERROR IN TRIAL OF GARRET BROS.

Slayers of Baptist Minister Will Begin Terms in Prison Next Tuesday.

Wytheville, Va., June 17.—The State Supreme Court of Appeals in session here has refused a writ of error in the cases of Larkin C. Garrette and Robert O. Garret, under sentence of four and five years respectively in state prison for the shooting to death of Rev. Edward Sylvester Pierce in front of the Baptist parsonage at Cumberland Court House on June 5, 1923.

The court's decision handed down yesterday means that the brothers, leaders in political affairs in the state and prominent in financial circles in their community, will begin their sentences next Tuesday. Their counsel, however, said that they would file an appeal to the court for oral argument of the motion as a last resort to keep their clients out of prison.

INTERNATIONAL ROTARY CONFAB OPENS TORONTO

10,000 Rotarians From Twenty Eight Countries Gather For Annual Convention

Toronto, Ont., June 17.—To promote understandings, good-will and international peace through a world fellowship of business and professional men 10,000 Rotarians are gathered here from all sections of the civilized world for the 15th annual convention of Rotary International which was called to order at Exposition Park this morning.

The convention will continue in session four days and will end with the election of officers on Friday.

"Rotary's destiny is the establishment of a world fellowship of business and professional men, united in the Rotary idea of service," said President Guy Gundaker opening the 15th annual Rotary Convention here today.

"A world fellowship, while necessarily contingent on the extent and successful establishment of Rotary in all the nations of the world, is likewise contingent on the correctness of the standards of business practice of the men privileged to enter that fellowship," he continued.

"Until men meet on the common ground of correct business methods, there can be no world fellowship of business men. The major Rotary activity for the immediate future will be an increasing and unceasing activity for better business methods and their standardization in codes of ethics. In countries where crafts are organized with great national associations, the greatest opportunity for achievement will be found in Rotary's campaign for written codes of correct standards of business practice.

"In my opinion, Rotary's most lasting contribution to the world will be found in the realm of business, in the making of a happier, more contented, more kindly, more co-operative, and more honorable business world. In the achievement of a more honorable business world, you have the solution for all the other betterments sought. With an honorable business world, happiness, contentment, kindness and co-operation must and will prevail.

"With correct business methods, world-wide, the business men of all nations, meeting on this common ground, will establish great international friendships and good-will-friendships which will harbingers of lasting peace.

"One of the ultimate objects of written codes is to standardize conduct so that all fellow-craftsmen in any line of business can compete with one another on an equality of opportunity. Where men compete on different business standards, there is no equality of opportunity.

"Likewise, competition between men of different standards of business methods is unfair competition. Standardization of right conduct will destroy unfair competition, and written codes of rules of conduct provide the only way for such standardization. When business men compete on a common ground of high business standards, sales will be made on the basis of service, and then that paradox of the imagination—co-operative competition—will be a reality.

Material For Plant Enroute to Greenville. Construction Work to Be Started At Once.

Mayor D. M. Clark has been notified by Mr. J. T. Bland, of Washington, who is to have charge of the gas plant in this city, that six carloads of material including that for the two main gas tanks, have been shipped and are enroute to Greenville.

Mr. Bland stated that unless there was considerable delay in delivery of the materials that work on the plant would begin immediately and that gas would be turned into the city mains not later than October 1.

Auto License On Sale in Greenville

The people of Greenville should welcome to our city the Carolina Motor Club. It is an organization founded not for profit except as every member profits by the good he does and the service he receives. They furnish their members with free emergency road service, offer $50 reward for the recovery of stolen cars, do legislative work, and have a wonderful information bureau. They also give membership in the A. A. A.

This Club is giving to the people of Greenville an organization that any town should be proud of. The paramount service that the people of Pitt and adjoining counties will receive will be the securing of automobile license at home. No more sending to Raleigh for licenses. Just call at their office and get license without delay.

A PARASITE NATION

The National Geographic Society directs attention in a recent publication to some facts concerning Monaco, the principality in which Monte Carlo is located, which present that in an unfavorable light: Gambling is the life of this little country, and most of the activities of the 23,000 people are connected directly or indirectly with gaming and gamblers, of whom as many as 2,000,000 are entertained in the course of a year.

There is no important industry or trade in Monaco. The people live on the money brought in by the gamblers. In the sense of a being that lives at the expense of others Monaco may properly be called a parasite among the nations. The most shameful feature of the situation is that the government of the state not only connives at the gambling but actually is in charge of it and derives all its revenues from this source.

The casino at Monte Carlo is patronized by thousands of foreign visitors who would not enter a gambling house at home and would object to the establishment of a Monte Carlo in their own countries. Far from home, amid elegant surroundings and under government charge, the games of chance at Monte Carlo do not seem disreputable. But a moment's thought will show that there is as much evil in them as in the most sordid form of gambling that are found in the underworld.

INVITING A PRINCE

It is a far cry from the days when every patriotic American orator was expected to tweak the British lion's tail to the invitation just extended by the American Legion to the Prince of Wales to attend its next convention. Col. Lindsay, who presented the invitation on behalf of the Legion, predicted that the welcome from our veterans "for the ambassador of peace would be unequalled by any demonstration that has yet taken place or may come after. He represents in personal capacity and in his personality all those fine qualities which Americans admire and love."

Not for many years has a member of British royalty achieved such genuine popularity among his people. The dash and pluck and democracy of the Prince of Wales have made an irresistible appeal. The British especially admire sportsmanship and the Prince has shown that he is a good sport. The conservative oldsters condemn his recklessness, but they would be equally severe if he were a mollycoddle. The soldiers of the American Legion can greet him as a former comrade in arms, for he did his part in the winning of the war and received his baptism of fire.

It is pointed out that for the Prince to accept such an invitation would break all precedent. But young Wales has never seemed to be any more afraid of breaking a precedent than of breaking his neck.

MAKING LIFE MORE LIVABLE

The assertion that we Americans are motor mad, that we are sorely afflicted with "acute motoritis," may be a clever one, but aside from mere cleverness in phrasing it does not add anything to the discussion. It may be held that just as we were once "bike crazy" so we have now gone wild over the automobile but this would not be true.

In a great measure the bicycle was given up by people who took to the motor car as a more effective means of getting about; at least those that could afford it did so. And just as they used the two-wheeled vehicle to expedite the business of the day, so these persons are this day using the motor car for many things besides pleasure rides. For many people the ownership of an automobile merely means that they can carry on with more dispatch the business of the day.

If it is analyzed correctly what this increase in motor cars means is that we have raised fairly generally our standard of living. No doubt the phenomenon would surprise anyone who had left the civilized world 40 years ago and come back to it today. But he would be surprised at more than the number of motor vehicles now to be seen on the streets. He would be surprised at the number of so-called luxuries which have become necessities among us. And all these so-called luxuries have made life more livable; they have extended our reach and raised life from the plain of the primitive.

The development of the automobile and its increasing use is only one more indication that our standard of living has been raised. We know what we want and, even at the cost of some little hardship, if that is necessary, we are going to get it. We may call it "motoritis" if we like, but the point is that it is a good thing to have, and that it will endure until something even better than the motor car makes its appearance. And then we will go in for that.

The straw hat bravely keeps up the uneven struggle.

Now, let's all get down to the business of making a living.

If June brides didn't rely on the calendar they might not know when the wedding day comes.

Car and oil engineers together have figured out the chart. I use it for every model in the fleet—you ought to be just as careful."

Fifty-four years of experience in studying lubricating problems and specifying the right lubricants are back of the "Standard" Polarine Chart. Helen in the Gift Shop—buys prizes and gifts

HELEN glanced at her shopping list and remembered that she wanted to get a few little things for the house—some neckties for Tom, a wedding gift for Winifred and prizes for her card party. While Helen went off to the housewares department in the down-stairs store, Louise went to the information desk on the main floor to mail a letter and incidentally to look up the trains for Helen.

Helen was having a perfectly glorious time shopping. She marveled at the broad, roomy aisles, and the absence of crowding. She was intensely happy in this great, big beautiful store. There was something new, something to please and fascinate her on every side. The salespeople were pleasant, willing and helpful, and, after all her shopping, she didn't feel a bit tired.

In the housewares department she found just the things for Winifred's wedding present—a set of water glasses beautifully hand-decorated, of very thin glass and blue stems. Winifred would be pleased beyond word, she knew, because these were the very latest in table appointments. Louise met her again at the Gift Shop near the Sixth and Grace Streets entrance.

In the Gift Shop there was every imaginable sort of thing suitable for gifts and prizes. There were charming costume beads, pretty and inexpensive, from Czecho-Slovakia; leather novelties from England; beaded bags from France—an almost endless variety of articles, nearly all of them done by hand. Helen selected a small flower-holder for the ladies' prize and a leather match-box for the men's prize, and her shopping was done.

It was five o'clock. The last train home was to leave at five-thirty—but Louise and Helen hadn't half finished their visit. Louise wouldn't listen to Helen's going away like that. She insisted that Helen stay over at her house and return home the next morning. Helen agreed and decided to send a telegram home. This was attended to without leaving the store. It was a convenience appreciated by both Helen and Louise to be able to send a telegram directly from the information desk on the main floor.

So Helen ended a day of adventures in shopping. Helen is just one of the thousands of women, some of them in your own community, who do their shopping at Miller & Rhoads while in Richmond.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COLIC and DIARRHOEA REMEDY
A very necessary home remedy.

That periodic touch of biliousness.
—W. L. Hand.

Mothers, what would you give to feel easy when your little one begins to show signs of biliousness?
It is customary to think that you ought to use calomel and castor oil, but you dread giving these doses as much as the child fears to take them. And still, you dread what may happen if you use just the ordinary children's laxative.
It was to meet this very situation that I invented Liv-o-lax, and if you try it once, you won't think of using calomel again.
Liv-o-lax cleanses liver and bowels, too, and still it is a pleasant-tasting liquid, entirely vegetable, which causes no distress, serves equally well in colds, constipation and indigestion and is just as good for adults as it is for the children—who really love to take it.

Brotherhood Official Gives Tanlac Credit For Restoring Health

Oldest Member of B. R. T. South of Ohio Keeps Medicine in His Family Medicine Chest.

E. Walter Trippe, 324 Healey Bldg., Atlanta Ga., legislative representative Brotherhood Railway Trainman and oldest member of the Brotherhood south of the Ohio River, lends his name to further the cause of Tanlac, the medicine that has proved of such great benefit to him.

Mr. Trippe was formerly freight and passenger conductor on the Seaboard, W. & A., Southern and A. & W. P. He numbers his railroad friends by the score and is also a popular fraternal order man. Mr. Trippe has also served as assistant collector internal revenue, Northern district of Georgia, and is now a publisher and editor.

"I have not been without Tanlac in my medicine chest in 8 years," said Mr. Trippe, "but I have had two experiences without it that stand out especially in my history. Once when I came in from my run with my stomach all upset and my digestion just about wrecked, Tanlac proved effective and I began to swear by it. Again following an accident that kept me in bed for a long time and pulled me down to a mere shadow of myself, I turned to Tanlac and built my weight right up and gave me back all the energy and strength I ever had."

"Not only has Tanlac helped me, but I know so many of the brothers trainmen who have benefited by it that I often call Tanlac the railroad man's best friend."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

Tanlac Vegetable Pills for constipation; made and recommended by the manufacturers of Tanlac.

Was skeptical of Kellogg's Bran until it gave him back his health

Naturally Mr. Carter—whose letter follows—was skeptical. He had tried practically everything for the relief of constipation. All had failed. But Kellogg's Bran brought him permanent relief, just as it has done for thousands of others. Read his letter:

Gentlemen:
I am 43 years old, and have been for years a great sufferer from constipation. I had to resign a clerical position because of rushes of blood to my head, some of which caused me to fall to the ground. I took an outdoor laboring job and tried for the first time, skeptically I admit, your Krumbed Bran. The result has been wonderful. I began to be normal after I had been on the Bran about three days. No more enemas, no more Old Dr. and-So's Pills, Epsom salts by the ton, etc., ad infinitum! You have the most wonderful product for constipation I have ever seen or tried. Yours very gratefully,

L. T. Carter, 294 Nineteenth St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbed, does not irritate the intestines like drugs and pills. It acts exactly as nature acts. Eaten regularly, it is guaranteed to relieve permanently the most chronic case of constipation, or your grocer will return your money.

You will like the exclusive, nut-like flavor of Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbed. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases with every meal. Eat it with milk or cream and in the recipes on every package. Sold by all grocers. Made in Battle Creek.
