CONVENTION IS SCENE OF ENTHUSIASM

Names Of Candidates Are Presented To Delegates

Wild Demonstration Features Session Of National Convention

Convention Perfects Permanent Organization and Moves Swiftly to Real Business; Senator T. J. Walsh, is Permanent Chairman; Names of Presidential Candidates Formally Placed Before Convention; Mention of Ku Klux Klan Causes Wild Demonstrations Including Fist Fights; Nominees Will Not Be Voted Upon Until After Adoption of Platform

Madison Square, New York, June 25.—Amid scenes almost without parallel in party history the Democratic convention today began to grapple with the two great issues before it, the nomination of a presidential candidate and determining the party's attitude toward the Ku Klux Klan.

Scarcely had the nominating speeches begun when the vast hall was thrown into chaos of prolonged demonstration provoked by reference to the positive stand against the Klan by Senator Underwood of Alabama. Mention of the name of the Ku Klux Klan into the convention was like a firebrand. One after another state standard was lifted up and carried in the parade together with American flags snatched from the wall decorations while the roof of the historic old garden rattled to the roof of continued cheering and singing of America and the Star Spangled Banner.

In two or three delegations where sentiment was divided on the Klan there were fist fights as delegates wanted to carry the standards in the parade were opposed by other who fought to keep them out.

A number of delegations sat silent apparently unanimous in their disapproval of the whole anti-Klan demonstration.

The convention today perfected its permanent organization and gave a rousing reception to its permanent chairman, Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, and then moved swiftly along to its first fight on the presidential nomination.

Amid floor demonstrations bespeaking the coming struggle the names of the first of the score of presidential candidates were placed formally before the convention. Voting on the nominees will not begin, however until the convention receives and adopts its platform which is today taking shape before the sub-committee.

Alabama being the first on the roll call of states, presented the name of Oscar W. Underwood to the delegates as candidate for president.

Senator Joseph Robinson, of Arkansas, was placed in nomination by H. C. Brough, former governor of Arkansas, who eulogized his candidate as a proven leader who can unite all the factions of our party, heal all party wounds; a twentieth century crusader for immortalizing the principles of Democracy and Americanism.

Senator Phelan, of California, then placed the name of the former Secretary of the Treasury, William G. McAdoo before the convention.

Madison Square Garden, New York, June 25.—Moving slowly but surely toward its real business the Democratic National Convention today passed through a second preliminary stage of organization.

Meeting an hour earlier than on yesterday the convention took up the perfecting of a permanent organization headed by Senator Thomas J. Walsh, Teapot Dome investigator. Convention managers are seeking to push the program forward just as rapidly as possible in order that they may agree on a time for the start of making nominating speeches.

The platform committee is busily engaged working on the declaration of party principles. As the convention went into session the rules committee had amended the order of business to provide for the hearing of the nominating speeches while the platform builders are at work.

The large number of candidates to be placed in nomination has caused managers to shorten the time of the nominating speeches and limit the number of seconding speeches and lay out a plan to drive ahead at full speed as soon as the nominating speeches have been disposed of.

Under the sun beating down relentlessly upon the roof of Madison Square Garden sending baking heat waves to the mass of humanity on the floor below, the delegates went to work today in the midst of a scene of palm leaf fans.

The situations as to candidates was little changed on the surface and the same powerful undercurrents were flowing? There were claims of gains for this candidate and losses for that one but only the first few ballots will reveal the real situation.

Madison Square Garden, New York, June 25.—Nobody seemed to be in a hurry getting down to today's session. Ten minutes before the session began most of the boxes for which contributors to the convention fund had paid high prices were empty and there were whole solid banks of empty seats in other reserved sections.

SUB-COMMITTEE BUSY ON PLATFORM

Prohibition, Ku Klux Klan, Foreign Relations and Farm Relief Are Main Problems

New York, June 25.—The actual drafting of the declaration of party principles was today in the hands of a sub-committee appointed this morning after the platform committee of the Democratic national convention had completed a lengthy hearing on numerous proposals.

Declaration as to Foreign Relations, Farm Relief, Prohibition and the Ku Klux Klan formed the most difficult problem confronting the sub-committee which was called to its labors at 10 a. m. by its chairman, Homer Cummings, of Connecticut who is also head of the full committee.

FORDNEY JOHNSON URGES NOMINATION OF O. W. UNDERWOOD

Alabama Senator In Placing Name of Underwood Before Convention Voices Demand to Condemn K. K.

New York, June 25.—The demand of Senator Oscar W. Underwood, of Alabama, at the democratic national convention to condemn by name the political activities of the Ku Klux Klan was voiced to the convention today by Forney Johnston of Alabama, as the keynote of his speech placing Mr. Underwood's name before the convention for the presidential nomination.

"No bare reference to the constitution or the bill of rights, actually mentioned in the Klan oath, is adequate in this connection," Mr. Johnston declared. "The bill of rights are limitations only upon the state and federal governments and not upon private conspiracy. That is why the candidate of my people has insisted upon plain words."

"The question before this party is whether secret organizations shall be given powers immune from the bill of rights and superior to those delegates to the elected representatives of the people."

"Above all does the candidate we represent condemn the massed action of secret political orders in furtherance of any objective which is plainly contrary to the spirit of the constitution."

"In order to express squarely his opinion on this grave question, I have at his request, introduced a resolution reciting the established position of our party on that precise issue referring to the resolution of 1856 and concluded with this resolving clause:

"Resolved: That we do reaffirm the principles set forth in the said resolution of the democratic platform of 1856 and condemn as un-American and un-Democratic political action by secret or quasi-secret organizations in furtherance of any political objective whatsoever; and in particular do we condemn such action for the purpose of prescribing the political rights and privileges of citizens of the United States, as is now proposed, practiced, and publicly acknowledged by the organizations known as the Ku Klux Klan, and as may now or hereafter be proposed or practiced by any organization whatsoever."

Senator Underwood, Mr. Johnston said, had no word to say against those who joined any order, secret or otherwise, organized for lawful purpose or to advocate openly any principle within the scope of legitimate public discussion.

"What he does condemn is the participation in politics by any secret organization whatsoever the speaker continued. "He believes that such action intimidates public officials and encourages political of oath-bound pledges contrary to public policy."

At another point Mr. Johnston said the outstanding characteristic of the democratic party was that it stood for the protection of human rights by protecting public officials "against organized oppression and intimidation." Senator Underwood had requested, he said, that his position be made plain beyond misunderstanding by the delegates on this grave issue, and added:

"He believes that unless the issue is met with candor and dignity in this campaign you will not only invite the disintegration of this party but will take a backward step so wholly inconsistent with the basis of a modern liberal government as to be too unthinkable for the democratic party to accept or condone." NAME OF M'ADOO FORMALLY PLACED BEFORE DELEGATES

Senator James Phelan of California, Says McAdoo is "Natural Leader of Progressive Thought and Achievement"

New York, June 25.—William G. McAdoo was placed in nomination for the presidency at the democratic national convention today by former Senator James D. Phelan, of California, with the declaration that he is the "natural leader of progressive thought and achievement."

"This year demands the return of triumphant democracy," said Mr. Phelan, "the progressives of the nation look to the democratic party for their leader. Shall we give him to them? There is room in America for but one reactionary party and the republicans have pre-empted that field. The party's chance of success depended upon its choice for candidate for the presidency of this man."

Tracing Mr. McAdoo's career both in the government service and in private life, Mr. Phelan declared that the "vast problems of the continent are his familiar themes; the prosperity of farm and forest and mine, factors of natural growth and strength and transportation and irrigation, these are not strange subjects borne of restricted environment and narrow outlook."

"In the broadness of his vision, his sympathetic understanding, his aggressive personality, his burning patriotism, he is an ideal American," continued the speaker. "And so the country will accept him."

"The vast machinery of the government rumbles discordantly along the road; the parts do not fit; the crew recant and rebellious and the chosen chief engineer has been succeeded by the accident of an accident."

"Where should the people in all prudence turn? Continue the inexperienced and inept, or take a trained and tried chief who can at once step into the cab and give command. We want a man who knows where he is going, and who is going where the people want him to go—capable, progressive, confident of his power and alert and eager to serve."

While Mr. McAdoo was secretary of the treasury, the convention was told, he "cleaned it of the foul growth of favoritism and repelled the insidious attacks of the powerful, made it the repository of the people's hopes and the instrumentality of sound finance, the safeguard of honest business and industrial prosperity."

"We honor President Wilson who left a great heritage of character and achievement to the democracy," continued Mr. Phelan, "but we shall not forget the toiler by his side, the inspirer of ideas and the doer of things, the great secretary of treasury in the most exacting and soul testing administration since Lincoln's."

Asserting that Mr. McAdoo understands the farmers' problems "far better than any aspirant for the presidency—either democrat or republican" Mr. Phelan added:

"From every side today come urgent demands for adequate solution of agricultural problems. What man is better equipped to solve them than this man, who was raised on a farm, who during his long administration of the treasury department of the farm loan bureau and of the railroads came into daily contact with farming problems of every description and who had then and has now the vision to see the remedy and the courage to effect it."

American People On Trial Before World Says Walsh

Senator Thomas J. Walsh, Montana, Permanent Chairman of Convention Scores Republican corruption and Says People Will Not Be Indifferent When Issue is Faced at Polls in November

New York, June 25.—The American people will be on trial before the world in the coming presidential campaign, Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, declared today in an address upon assuming the permanent chairmanship of the democratic national convention.

The issue he asserted, will be whether the American people will continue in power the party now in control of the government notwithstanding the scandals which have been disclosed in senate investigations.

"I can not admit the accusations," Senator Walsh said, "that the American people are indifferent to the corroding influence of corruption in office, high or low. But we shall see. They are on trial."

"If, notwithstanding what has transpired the party now in power in the nation is continued in control by the choice of the people of the United States, apparent or real, what judgment must be passed upon them by the world? They enjoy the distinction of having erected and maintained a government whose officers are as free from suspicion of venality as those of any nation on earth, and they will not, I venture to predict, forfeit it."

Shakespeare's River Polluted

Chepstowe, Eng., June 21.—Some 13 miles off the course of the River Avon, beloved of Shakespeare, has become a river of death for fish, owing to pollution by the sewage of Coventry. Water lilies have ceased to bloom in its waters, and trees which touch it with their boughs have died. A new scheme of sewage disposal will shortly be in operation which should get over the trouble.

Local Man Is Arrested Charged With Violating Mann Act And Kidnapping

Chief of Police, Lester Jones, left here, but a divorce has not been obtained. Just as soon as Chief of Police Lester Jones, learned of the serious affair he went to work on the case. It was ascertained that Cardwell with the girl left Greenville Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock enroute to Rocky Mount in an automobile driven by Tommie Lovitt. They reached the Atlantic Coast Line station, Rocky Mount about 10 o'clock and are supposed to have left on the southbound train for Florida.

Further investigation revealed the fact that Cardwell had planned his get-away in a most careful manner. He had expressed his tools from an adjoining town sending them to Florida. Officer Jones wired the Chief Detective of West Palm Beach advising him to be on the look out for Cardwell and the girl.

The officers and relatives of the girl are making every effort to have them apprehended. The local office of the Department of Justice, Norfolk, Va., has been notified and asked to give wide publicity to the kidnapping. Pictures of both will be distributed to each agency in the United States.

When questioned concerning the disappearance of Cardwell, Lovitt declared that although he carried Cardwell to Rocky Mount that he was ignorant of the fact that he was him. According to information received by officers, he and his wife stated that Cardwell had not been estranged since locating here.

2 Dead, Many Homeless, Crops Laid Waste Result Of Tornado

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 25.—Two persons were killed, 32 negroes made homeless, six other homes were damaged and crops laid waste by a tornado which struck Lee county, South Carolina last night, according to a telegram received by Southern Headquarters of the American Red Cross here today from a relief worker at Bishopville, South Carolina.

Sturdy Foreigner Floors Wilful Chinese Soldier

Peking.—A Chinese soldier armed with a sack of copper coins beat up an Italian, an American and an Englishman on a recent Sunday morning in retaliation for having been denied the privilege of walking on the wall which bounds the Legation Quarter on the south. He had been told by the Chinese police that the wall was reserved for the use of foreigners.

A few days after his eviction the soldier strolled into Hatamen street, which bounds the Legation Quarter on the east, apparently determined to assert his rights. His first victims the Italian and the American, escaped with slight injuries. Flushed with victory the soldier then remounted the forbidden wall prepared to challenge the first "foreign devil." An Englishman mounted the ramp, the soldier swung his sack of coins and the Englishman went down. He scrambled to his feet and landed a right to the jaw which felled the Chinese. An American marine came to the rescue and held the soldier until the Legation Quarter police arrived. The soldier was lodged in the Legation lockup where he has since been held pending assurances that he will be adequately punished. The Englishman broke his hand.

Experiment in Suicide Leads Wierd Murder

Budapest.—Because the owner of Somogy Castle was seized by a morbid desire to experience the sensations of a man being hanged, he lost his life and his aged servant became his murderer.

One day Bela Marffy, a Hungarian junker, was found dead in his study, with a rope around his neck and two heavy weights tied to the end of the rope. The coroner's verdict was suicide, but the family, which knew Marffy to be intensely fond of life, declined to accept it. Their suspicions rested upon the servant, who finally confessed that he was in fact the murderer, though no thought had been further removed from his mind a few minutes before the act was committed.

Marffy, it developed, had read an account the day before of a boy who hanged himself. Curious to know how a man feels just before he is about to expire, he arranged that his servant was to stand near him while he tied a noose, at the end of which were two weights, about his neck. The servant was to lift up the weights, thereby relieving the pressure, at the moment it seemed to him that his master was about to expire unless relieved.

The servant declared that while he was awaiting this moment, his eyes fell upon his master's purse on the table, filled with bills of high denomination. Instead of relieving Marffy the servant allowed him to die and then possessed himself of the money.

Wasteful Arab Rule In Transjordan Curbed By British

AMMAN, Transjordan.—Left by the British government for the last three years to set its house in order, Transjordan is again becoming virtually a part of Palestine, financially and administratively dependent on the Palestine government. It is returning in a penitent mood because its independence with the Emir Abdullah, son of King Hussein of the Hedjaz, as ruler, by the grace of the British, proved to be too wasteful and costly.

The cost of Transjordan's independence came to be in inverse proportion to the size of the British subsidy, the more self rule at Amman, the less financial support from London. As this country's system of taxation and method of farming the tax especially among the Bedouin tribes, is not calculated to increase the revenue, Transjordan would rather relinquish some of its right to self-determination than its claim to British gold.

To help it on its way to autonomy the British have been giving Transjordan for the last three years a grant of aid amounting to about $500,000 a year. The grant was conditioned on Emir Abdullah's early introduction of order in general, but especially into the system of taxation. Another condition was that the expenditure of the money should be supervised, not by Abdullah, but by Rida Pasha Al Rikaby, the then prime minister. A further, though tacit condition, was that whatever was to be done in Transjordan should be done under the watchful eyes of a British representative, known as an adviser.

Abdullah, who seemed to like his prime minister's vigilance even less than the general supervision of the British adviser, succeeded after two years in dismissing Rikaby. The latter was known to have interfered too freely in Abdullah's expenditure on the civil and military lists, reported to amount to two-thirds of the entire British subsidy. With Rikaby's departure, however, the British subsidy became small and irregular. After an absence of about 12 months, Rikaby was invited to return to his post at Amman, the invitation, it is said, being extended by the British authorities. Whether it was done with or without Abdullah's consent is not known. Rikaby resumed his duties early in May. He began by abolishing the ministries, constituting inspectors for the various departments, and by calling himself chief inspector instead of prime minister. He is showing signs of an intention to institute a thorough housecleaning.

These changes followed in rapid succession the advent of Colonel Cox formerly governor of Nablus, Palestine, as British adviser. Whether the changes are of Colonel Cox's making or directed by Sir Herbert Samuel from Jerusalem, who in turn receives his instructions from the colonial office, it is difficult to tell at this distance. What appears to be clear is that the territory east of the Jordan, which under the Turks formed one small district of Palestine, is returning to its former state as part of the Holy Land west of the Jordan.

Agricultural Report Ready Publication

Raleigh, June 23.—For the first time since its first issue 46 years ago the annual report of the North Carolina Agricultural Experiment Station includes illustrations of the work being done by the force at the various plants over the state. There are illustrations from all of the seven stations throughout the state. The report has just been received from the printers and is now ready for distribution, it was announced at the office of the North Carolina State College of Agriculture.

At the same time announcement was made of the receipt from the printers of the ninth annual report of the North Carolina Agriculture

Experiment Station Agricultural Extension Service of the State College of Agriculture with the United States Department of Agriculture co-operating, Dr. B. W. Kilgore, dean of the College of Agriculture, is director of the Extension Service.

Irish Industry Declining

Dublin.—Miss Somers, the secretary of the Dublin Industrial Development association, in a paper read to the Dublin Publicity Club drew a gloomy picture of the chances of industrial progress in Ireland. During the Sinn Fein movement before the treaty the people took a strong interest in supporting Irish manufactures and the trade boomed. Now, Miss Somers said, the people were broken in morale and their confidence in themselves shattered and their present day attitude was one of cynicism and disillusion.

The fact may not be significant, but the mouth of the female alligator is larger than the male's.

A Great Agricultural State

Manufacturers—Sell Your Goods Nearer Home At Less Cost

Southern manufacturers would find it to their advantage to concentrate their sales efforts on the states nearby. Freight rates are in their favor, and it costs less to travel salesman. Intensified sales effort in all the Southern states will produce results.

South Carolina Has Hardly Any Foreign Population

This is one of the all-American states. Out of almost two million people, less than 5,000 are foreign born. This means that South Carolinians can be easily influenced as a mass, because their buying habits are much alike.

South Carolina Offers Great Opportunities For Selling Campaigns

South Carolina is a wealthy agricultural state. In 1920 it led all of the other states in the Union in the value of its products, per cultivated acre.

South Carolina ranks third of all the states in the Union in the production of cotton oil, fertilizers and lumber. The ports of South Carolina handle a great import and export trade. The wages now paid labor are higher than during any period except 1920. South Carolina uses hydro-electric power.

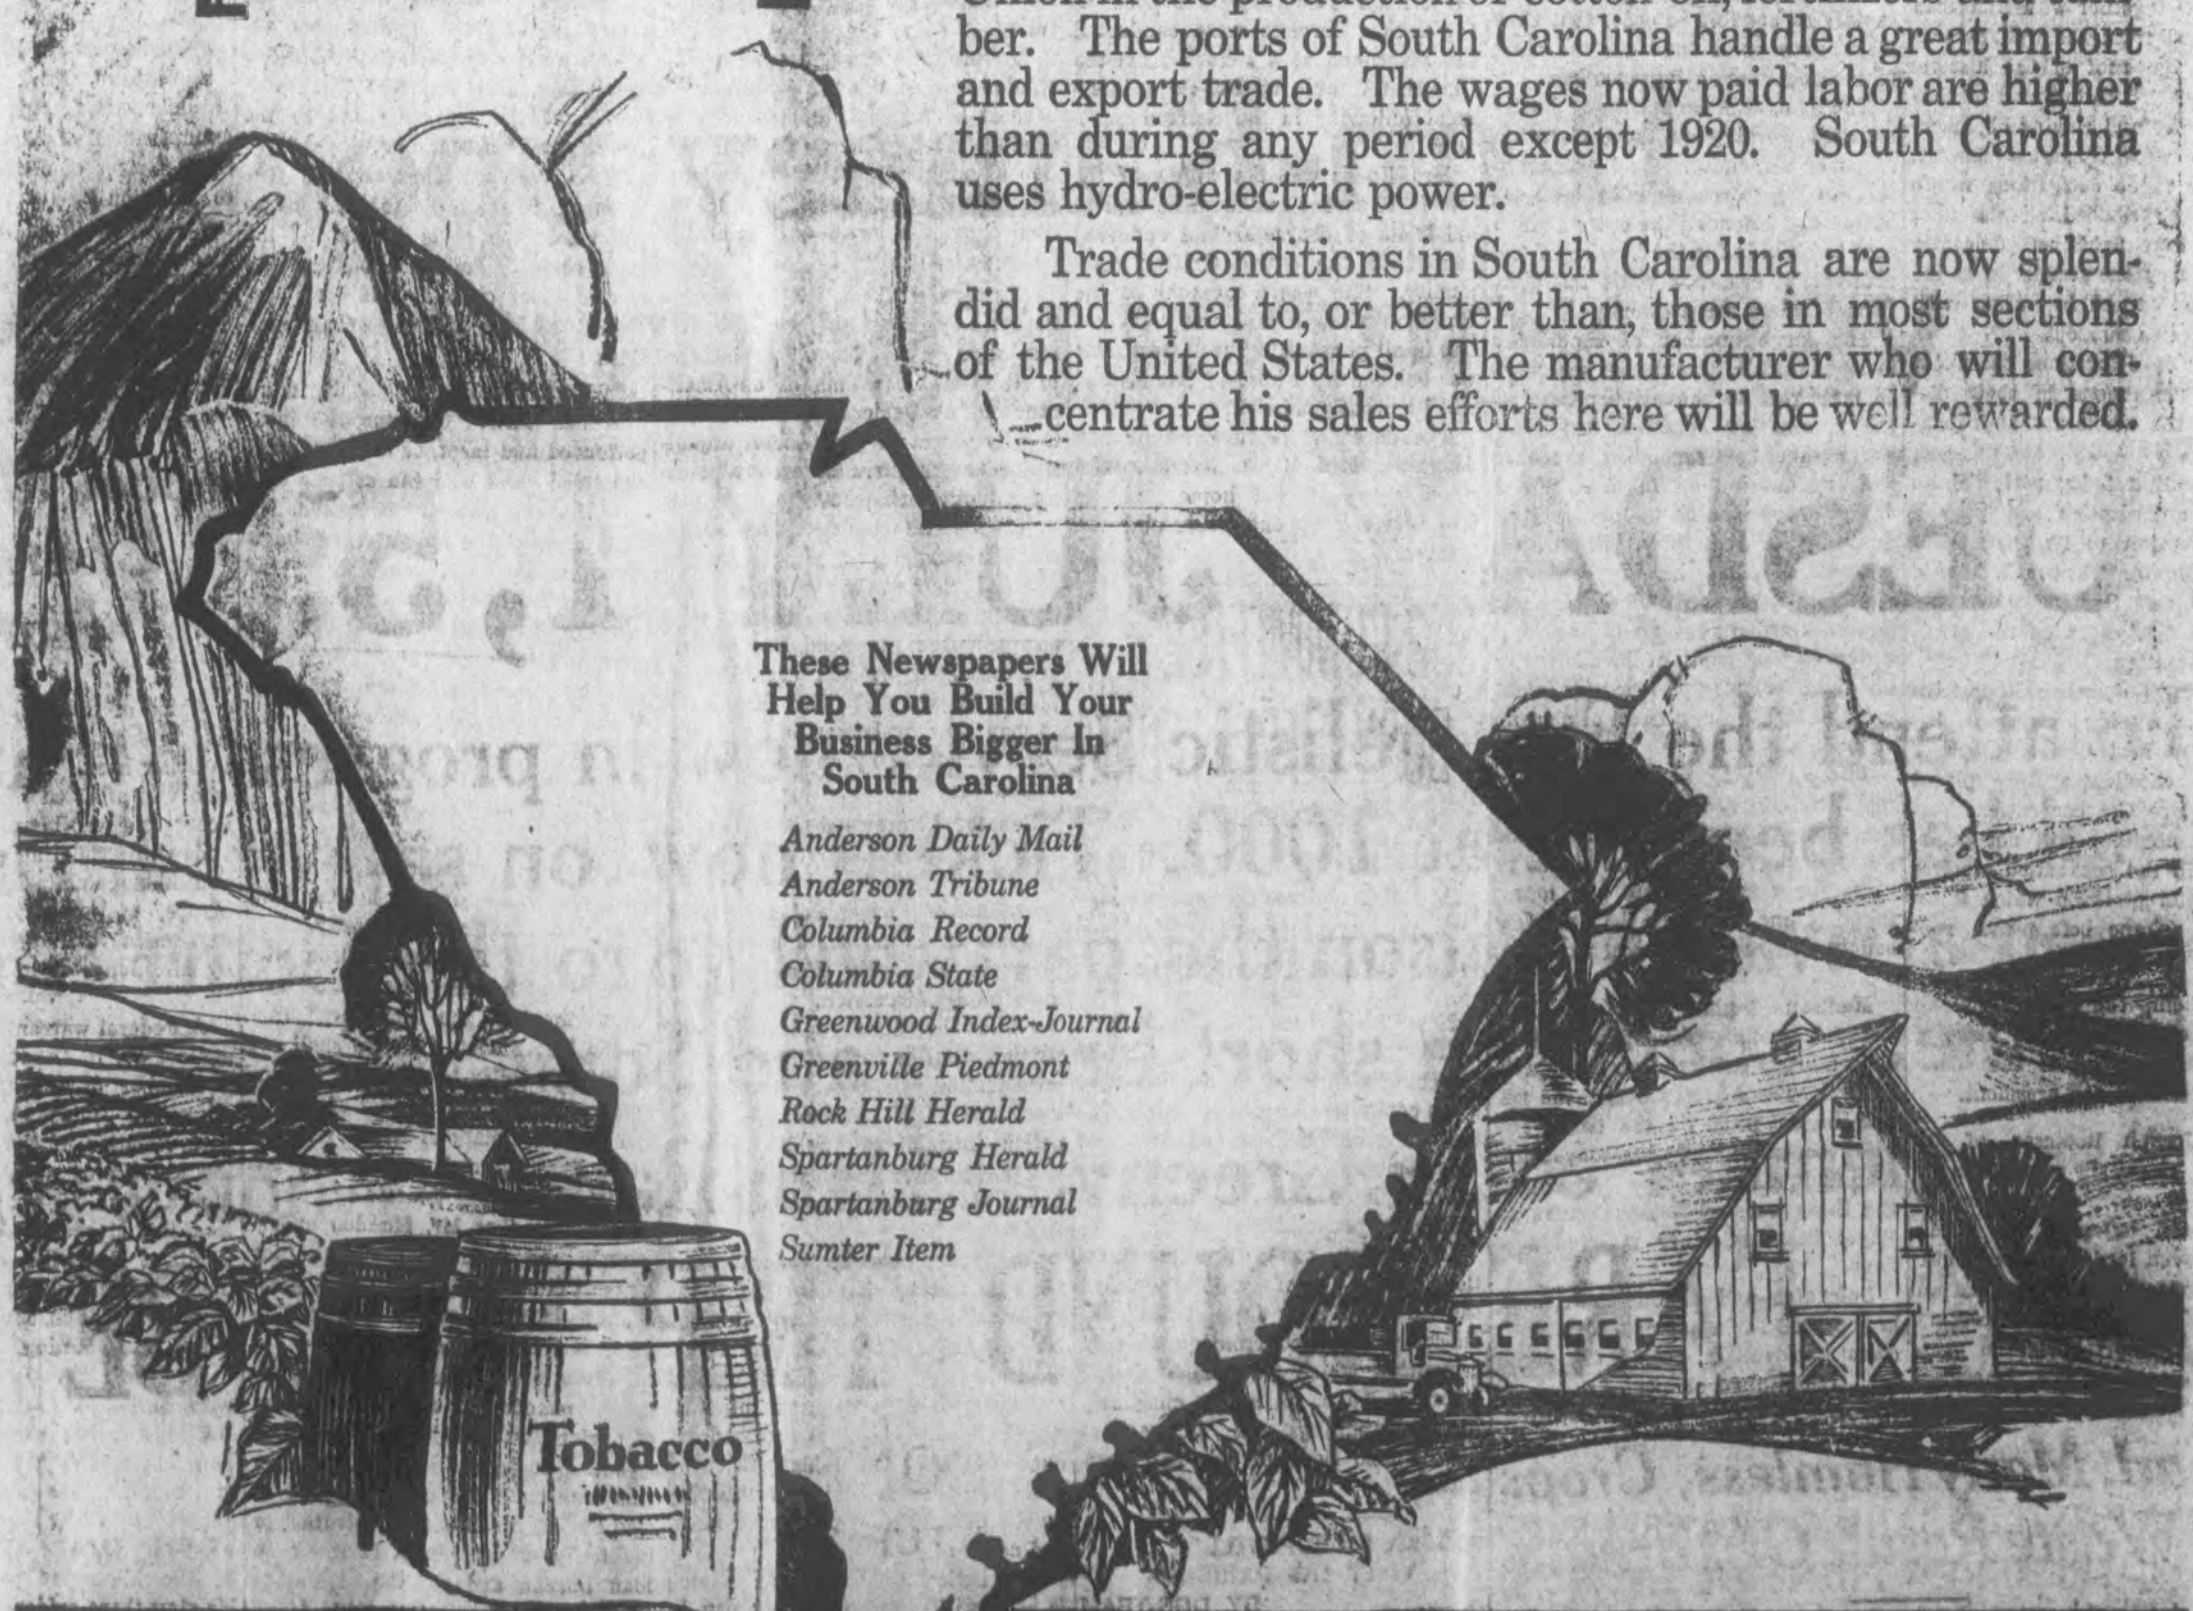

Trade conditions in South Carolina are now splendid and equal to, or better than, those in most sections of the United States. The manufacturer who will concentrate his sales efforts here will be well rewarded.

FORDNEY JOHNSON URGES NOMINATION OF OSCAR W. UNDERWOOD

"The workers knew his sentiments toward labor. He gave them the eight hour rule and overtime and otherwise ameliorated their condition. Assuming complete control, he brought order out of chaos, relieved congestion, opened ports and loyally supported by his men, successfully moved to tidewater—a vital operation—the tied up troops and supply trains.
"While doing justice to railroad labor he yet remembered always the interest of the public. It is a striking fact that the total increase in the wages of railroad employes made in 1918 by McAdoo were approximately $608,000,000, while his successor further increased these wages $384,000,000 making the total of all increases under federal control $1,002,000,000.
"When on March 1, 1920, the railroads were restored to private control under the Esch-Cummins act, which established the United States labor board at Chicago and gave it jurisdiction over wages and working conditions, hearings were held and the labor board granted a further increase of $620,000,000 in addition to the total increases made during federal control. McAdoo dealt fairly with railroad labor. McAdoo gave railroad labor a square deal, nothing more.
"Today another great problem which demands solution is the lowering of freight rates and improvement of railroad regulation. What man is better equipped for this job than the man who for the entire war period operated all the railroads of the country?"
As one of eight children, Mr. McAdoo, the delegates were told, "has known privation and has practiced self-denial, understands the problems of the poor; has the fiber of fortitude; and never quits."
"He is deeply grounded in American principles, the constitution and the law. He opposes any discrimination on account of religious belief. It is repugnant to his sterling Americanism.
"America was the first free man of the world against the religious bigotry and persecutions of the priests; and it is matter of constitutional principle and receipt to respect and protect the freedom of thought and speech—or religion, of press, of assembly.

"McAdoo stands for the supremacy of the law and for the enforcement of the law—the solemn duty of the executive. The treaty-making power and the congress, under the constitution and bill of rights, prescribe the law and that is the only law the president knows. It is the guide for his action and the ready weapon of the republic for its defense against the assaults of the ignorant or the intolerant."

WILD DEMONSTRATIONS FEATURE SESSIONS OF NATIONAL CONVENTION

more chastely clad in palm beach suits, while delegates from the tropical possessions added a refreshing touch in their pure white ducks.
Among the early arrivals was permanent Chairman Walsh, who came in formal morning dress, looking very hot and uncomfortable but never the less very formal. Photographers immediately pounced upon him and put him through a gauntlet of poses.
Meanwhile, delegates, alternates and visitors moving in every one brought a palm leaf fan. Collectively they could stir up enough breeze to move a square bigger but individually their efforts to keep comfortable were almost in vain.
The next to arrive on the platform was temporary Chairman Harrison. The keynote speaker had shed his long tailed coat of yesterday and looked more comfortable today.

Convention managers somewhat alarmed at the congestion on the floor yesterday had given strict orders that no one but delegates and alternates be permitted in the delegates space. The first result was that a lot of party warhorses, notables and privileged characters were promptly bounced out and it took several kinds of arguments and persuasion to get them back in. Meanwhile various others who had no right in the section slipped in as usual.
The convention started at 11 o'clock and in a few minutes the aisles were crowded and there were few seats unoccupied.

Today's session was partly in open air as the great glass panels in the roof of the garden had been rolled back and the decorations folded aside allowing the delegates to gaze into the sky from their seats and watch the clouds drift slowly over.
Just half an hour after the meeting time Senator Harrison began pounding for order from the end of the platform. Little heed was given the temporary chairman's pleas to clear the aisles and it was only after some minutes of difficulty the session could begin.
Managers for Senator Samuel Ralston were busy holding a series of conferences with various delegates while the aisles were being cleared.

The sun moved a notch in its journey from east to west and poured its rays down upon the Oklahoma delegation. A woman delegate there promptly met the situation by producing her parasol despite the protests of the superstitious. A police carried her the protest of those in the rear of her that the parasol was worse than a Merry Widow hat but it disturbed her little and she continued to hold her sunshade while cameraman seized upon such an opportunity.

AMERICAN PEOPLE ON TRIAL BEFORE WORLD SENATOR WALSH SAYS

"literation of the offenses of the offenses of the 'unfaithful public servants,'" Senator Walsh declared that it is in "this easy tolerance of turpitude in public office that the real peril to free government lies rather than in its casual occurrence."
"The president of the United States himself," he continued, "has not hesitated to endeavor to shield the delinquents from the public odium to which their derelictions have subjected them by joining in the hue and cry against the investigations that have been conducted under the authority of the senate and against that body for authorizing them. His message on the subject has for its plain purpose the suppression of an inquiry into the official conduct of a member of his cabinet."

Senator Walsh said President Coolidge had historic warrant for his attitude, recalling that when the British house of commons sought to investigate the Duke of Buckingham, Charlie would not permit it.
"Charlie lost his head," the senator added, and "Calvin Coolidge may profit politically by his 'example.'"
Declaring the Republican party to be impotent in the face of "an impending national calamity," Senator Walsh said that because of antagonisms within its ranks it had ceased to be an organization through which the business of the country can be carried on.

for the re-election of President Coolidge were "to switch the issues to honest government, the repeal of the new tariff abominations, relief for agriculture and related reforms, to the league of nations." He added that it was not so necessary that America immediately join the league as that it abandon foolish antagonism to any world movement, merely because it was on some way associated with the league.
"The honor of our country," he declared, "the prosperity of our people, demand that we return to the ideals of Woodrow Wilson, that we resume the place he won for us—the moral leadership of the world."

DAUGHTER OF BRITISH PREMIER WINS PRAISE FROM THE SOCIETY

London.—Isobel MacDonald, the premier's daughter, is winning commendation from society people for the way she has met the whirl of royal ceremonies and stately hospitalities. Her simplicity and modesty have brought her through, says one commentator; she models herself on no one and is just Isobel.
She is said to be developing into quite a society beauty too, but at the same time maintains the freshness and directness of the quiet Scottish girl, and is without the artificial mannerism of many of London's society cager the managers of the campaign girls.

FREEDOM FROM LITERATURE

The General Federation of Women's Clubs has completed a survey of the literary wants of the two million women members of its component parts with no other result than to add greater force to the adage "You can not please everybody all of the time." In fact, the survey discloses that the nation's club women themselves can not agree upon what they want to read.

The manifest intent of this literary survey was to seek reform and uniformity in the publishing business. The federation set out to learn what the American woman wanted to read, with the perfectly logical purpose of making the publishers give it to her. The survey will prove of little value for its original purpose since it produced as many different literary tastes as there were women.

It is selfishly vain for any group or class to conspire for the suppression or influencing of current literature. In the first place, the publishers, who are in the business of meeting the reading demands of the public, have more efficient and accurate means than any private group of ascertaining those demands. And in the second place, one class or group of people can not ethically attempt to dictate what other groups shall read. There should be as much freedom of literature as of religious worship.

The survey of the federation of woman's clubs supplied some interesting information on feminine literary tastes, but the infallible law of supply and demand as it applies to literature can not be improved upon. The publishers are in the business of printing books they can sell. Free men and women are not compelled to read them nor should they be prevented from reading them. The great mass of readers will decide by its favor or disfavor what books shall be published or withdrawn from publication.

THE SOUTHERN EXPOSITION

It is gratifying to see southern states taking such a prominent part in the plans for the great Southern Exposition which is to be held in New York in February of next year. This exposition is designed for the purpose of impression upon the people of the North and East the manifold accomplishments of the South, particularly in an industrial and commercial way, and if the present plans are carried out it will be the most effective advertisement of the South's advantages ever presented to the nation.

Department of Agriculture report shows that farmers are adjusting themselves to changing conditions. Dairying has expanded practically everywhere. One case is cited of a beef cattle raiser who sold his herd, replaced it with 20 head of dairy cattle, and made more profit on milk every month than the same number of beef cattle made for him in any year during the last five years.

If recent primary election results teaches anything, it shows that the sentiment of the American people is for conservative and sound ideas of government and business. It should show both republicans and democrats, alike, that the men they put up for public office should be capable of impressing the voters with the fact that they will give, if elected, a sound economical and business-like administration of public affairs and curb the tendency to expand the functions of government to various fields of private industry.

Great Future For Farms Predicted In Argentina Now

Buenos Aires.—Argentina is a land where fortunes are to be made in the intensive type of farming, in the judgment of Leon M. Estabrook, an American agricultural expert who has been reorganizing the statistical and crop reporting department of the Argentine ministry of agriculture.

Referring to the marvelous agricultural development in his own country in the past 25 years, Mr. Estabrook said he felt confident that similar changes would be witnessed in Argentina within the next 10 or 20 years. "The tide of immigration already has begun to flow in the direction of Argentina," he said. "The vacant spaces soon will be filled up and become productive, and new crops such as cotton, sugar fruits nuts and vegetables, will become important. The mineral and forest resources of Argentina will be developed, new industries will be established to manufacture and utilize the raw material produced in the country, and to supply the needs of a rapidly growing population. New towns will spring up and all this activity will give employment to the men and the capital of Argentina."

HEROIC MEXICAN WIFE SAVED FLAG OF HER HUSBAND'S REGIMENT

Jalapa, Vera Cruz.—The flag of the 25 Infantry has been retrieved through the courage and sacrifice of Senora Federico Berlanga, wife of the battalion's commander. When Colonel Berlanga, head of the 25th, was captured by the opposing revolutionists here early in December and found himself with only a dozen followers, his first thought was of the battalion's standard. Fearing capture, he entrusted it to his wife who, despite solitary confinement and threats of execution, refused to give up the banner.

NEW WEAR FOR WOMEN RUNS TO MANY COLORFUL MIXTURES

Eberfeld, Germany.—Strange but interesting combinations are coming to light this spring in various wares for women, many of the materials manufactured here being for the American trade.

It talks jumpers in nine different color combinations, in each of which there are eight shades, is one of the season's novelties. Silk and wool jumper suits are being made here by the thousands; in marl mixtures in which almond, brown, tan, blue, grey or fawn predominates. Tennis coats for the summer are in fancy patterns in sage, almond, white, champagne and tan.

Multi-colored and marl mixtures appear to be predominating styles, but there will be some mingled stripes in two colors which experts say are very smart indeed. It is predicted that this season in America and England there will be more brilliant colors and wonderful contrasts than ever before.

WEEKLY WEATHER AND CROP GOVERNMENT REPORT

Washington, June 25.—Warm weather and general light to moderate rains were very favorable for cotton with progress mostly very good to excellent. Growth of cotton in Texas was very good the excessive rainfall was unfavorable on the lower coast and young cotton was injured locally by hot dry winds in northwest; general condition in Texas rather poor to fairly good. Marked improvement occurred in Oklahoma and condition fair to very good through grasshoppers caused moderate damage in central and west portions. Growth was generally satisfactory in Arkansas, though locally too wet and general improvement in condition occurred. Cultivation is very good in Tennessee with general improvement in condition. Growth fairly good in Mississippi, with slight early blooming and fruiting. Stands are irregular in Alabama, though weekly advance was fair to very good with general improvement unseasonably warm weather and mostly light rainfall in Georgia caused excellent with condition fairly good in north to excellent in south with few weevil. Warm weather was helped also in the Carolinas and cultivation made very good progress there, cotton acreage greatly reduced in Virginia and conditions only fair. Florida fair to very good in peninsula where fruiting well but condition rather poor in west. Weevil increasing in eastern and coast sections of Texas and numerous in portions of Louisiana. Some weevil reports from South Carolina.

Liverpool Spot Cotton.
Middling 1661; good middling 1766. Receipts 3,000, no American; Sales 5,000 of which 4,600 were American. The market closed steady Jan. 1431; July 1649; Oct. 1478; Dec. 1440.

The Weather.
Slightly warmer western belt; light rainfall scattered eastern belt and Alabama. Forecast, eastern belt partly cloudy; Central belt generally fair except part cloudy along coast; western belt part cloudy slightly cooler.

DAILY COTTON LETTER.
New Orleans, June 25.—The bullish statistical position of the staple asserted more influence on market today than did a very favorable weekly weather and crop government report, and two additional monthly private crop reports showing a higher average condition and indications for a larger crop than one month ago.

According to report, July notices for about 20,000 bales were issued in New York this morning, the weather inland over night was favorable and the weekly weather and crop government review was very favorable, market ruling lower in early hours in consequence.

Apparently, however, the notices in New York were either bought back by interests that issued them, else were stopped by other interests. At any rate, the July position generates considerable strength in both markets, gained momentum and advanced sharply as result of shorts covering, which gave tone and firmness to the whole list.

Advices from New York are to effect that the certificated stock is down to about 19,000 bales. There is a rumor to effect that some of the New Orleans stock will be shipped to New York for delivery on July contracts in that market, which, if true, would tend to strengthen July New Orleans and weaken July New York unless northern interests are in a position to care for the cotton.

Meanwhile, climatic conditions in the interior remain generally favorably, and crop accounts are to effect that the plant continues to make progress.

Returns to the Goshö Co., Fort Worth, Texas, according to report, average the condition of the crop at 69, indicating a yield of 11,285,000 bales, while returns to the Watkins Bureau, New York, average the condition of the plant at 70 pointing to a yield of 11,400,000 bales exclusive of lintera.

NAME OF M'ADOO IS FORMALLY PLACED BEFORE DELEGATES

The speaker described Senator Underwood as one whose "only employer for more than a quarter of a century last past has been the people of the United States."

"If a man ever lived in modern times apart from embarrassing or entangling associations of environment, it is the man we now propose," Mr. Johnston declared. "If any citizen of concern is found guilty of offense against the federal laws involving normal turpitude there is no reason, personally professional or otherwise, why his administration should not press the prosecution to the point of penal servitude."

"The one indispensable requisite of your choice is that it fall on a man of such exalted character that neither Wall street or Main street, boulevard or alley, neither partisan journal nor wayside assassin dare impeach his character without earning immediate derision; and such a man is this democrat whom we place in nomination."

Taking up his opening remarks the need that the democratic convention nominate a man in "this crisis in public morals to restore to the people deserved confidence in their public concerns," Mr. Johnston continued: "The republican party organization misunderstood its victory in 1920, which was nothing more than the instinctive reaction of the people against the administration immediately responsible for war taxes and for the unavoidable exercise of abnormal federal powers incident to war."

"Its officials came into power in 1921, exultant, over-confident and in a state of suspended morals as a result of that victory, and their party organization promptly lost its conscience and its capacity to analyze men and motives or to reconcile in the public interests its internal conflict over the use of the powers of the government. As a result of the condition at Cleveland the nation discovered the complete breakdown of republican morals and the loss of its courage."

"The corruption in the administration of Grant resulted in what we democrats know to have been the rejection of his party by the democratic forces under Tilden. The high character of General Grant did not stay that result; nor will the person integrity of Coolidge and Dawes stay a like result today."

"The republican machine must stand aside for the people of his country will not allow their government to be betrayed with impunity. And remember, that the scandals of the present regime are not even yet plumbed or charted in depth and extent and are neither punished nor repented."

Nippon Election Breaks Record For Money Spent

Tokio.—The most expensive election in Japan's parliamentary history was that held this month to choose the 464 members of the house of Representatives. Estimates of the total expenditure of the candidates and parties, not including the necessary expenses of the government on election machinery, range between $17,000,000 and $22,000,000, with most of the estimates approaching the larger figure.

With more than 1,000 candidates in the field, it is estimated that each aspirant spent an average of $20,000. The contest for the Morioka seat, in which Korekiyo Takahashi, president of the Seiyukai party, defeated his Seiyuhontō rival, Ichimin Tago, by a narrow margin of 49 votes, brought out the most lavish spending. Mr. Takahashi is believed to have spent nearly $150,000, while his defeated rival disposed of about $100,000.

In Tokio the largest amount was spent by the independent candidate Takagi, who got rid of $50,000 and won. The average for each candidate in Tokio is placed at $25,000. That money counted for a great deal is shown by the case of a candidate named Mori. He had only $10,000 to spend and received only 90 votes to his successful rival's 3,000.

This is not an empty catch-phrase, but a cleancut statement of fact. IN DOLLARS AND CENTS Kelly-Springfield Tires cost no more than you are asked to pay for brands that have never borne the Kelly reputation. In some cases Kellys cost you less than you are asked to pay for unknown makes.

We are constantly having calls for second-hand used Tires and would suggest that you come by our store and let us make you a LIBERAL price to apply on a new set of Kellys before you take that summer trip.
