Government Demands Protection Americans In Persia

Wife Of Murdered Consul Is Insulted By Persian Youth

Reports From American Minister Recount Story of Attack Upon Robert Imbrie, Wife of American Vice Consul at Teheran Who Was Beaten to Death by Mob; State Department Forwards Note to Persian Government Demanding Full Protection of American Citizens

Washington, July 26.—The State Department office prepared today to formally ask the Persian government to take immediate measures to protect American citizens in that country from attack and insult by natives who are understood to be hostile to foreigners as a result of the killing of Major Robert Imbrie, American Vice-Consul at Teheran, and developments which followed the affair.

Decision of the State Department to take this action followed the receipt of advices from Joseph S. Kornfeld, American Minister, telling of insults to Mrs. Robert Imbrie, widow of the former consul, for which a young Persian is under arrest. According to the minister's dispatch, the young Persian grabbed the veil worn by Mrs. Imbrie and attempted to tear it from her at the same time expectorating upon her person. The report of the outrage said it occurred last Tuesday. A native police, reported to have been at some distance from where Mrs. Imbrie was attacked, is believed to have witnessed the affair but he made no attempt to protect the woman or interfere with her assailant the dispatch said.

Mrs. Imbrie was riding with one of the officers attached to the American ministry when the outrage occurred.

State Department officials have decided to await completion of the investigation which is being made into the murder of Major Imbrie before taking any action or attempting to fix responsibility for the death of the vice consul.

They have received the formal apologies from the Persian government and assurances that full and immediate punishment would be meted out to those who participated in the crime. Further steps including the placing of Teheran under martial law for protection of foreigners, have been taken by Persian authorities and their action has caused officials here to believe the safety of Americans and other foreigners is assured.

It was made plain today, however, by the State Department that it would not tolerate without protest the situation in Teheran or possible future attacks by natives upon American Citizens in Persia.

A note setting forth this decision is expected to be forwarded without delay to Major Kornfeld to be presented by him to the officers of the Persian government.

NEGRO CONFESSES PART IN KILLING

Cairo, Ill., July 26.—Hess Connors, negro arrested here last night, confessed today to officers that he participated with Fred Hale, another negro, in the holdup at Villa Ridge last Monday night in which Miss Daisy Wilson, 18 years old, was slain and her father, J. C. Wilson, severely beaten.

COOLIDGE REBUKES THOSE WHO OPPOSE NAT'L. DEFENSE TEST

President Sets Forth Views in Letter to the Head of Peace Movement

Washington, July 26.—President Coolidge today rebuked as unfair those who condemn, out of hand simply through device of misrepresentation, the plan of the government for the observance of National Defense Day on September 12.

The president's comments were contained in a letter to Frederick J. Libby, executive secretary of the National Council for the Prevention of War, the organization which today inaugurated a campaign in behalf of world wide co-operation for peace which the president had been asked to endorse. The president declared that he had been unqualifiedly sympathetic with the aims and purposes to make war, so nearly as it might be, impossible. The President's letter which was made public at the White House, said he could not detect any inconsistency in giving approval to national defense day. "I wish that crime might be abolished, he said, but I would not abolish courts and police protection. I wish that war could be made impossible but during that time I would not leave my country unprotected."

WOMAN RUNNING FOR GOVERNOR OF STATE TEXAS

Dallas, Texas, July 26.—The Ku Klux Klan strength, the Farmer-Labor element and how many votes the first woman to make the race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, are the principal issues of interest in the Democratic primaries in the state today.

Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, of Temple, wife of former Governor James E. Ferguson, the first woman to seek the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in the history of Texas politics, has her name on the ticket with eight other candidates. She entered the race when her husband was unsuccessful in getting his name on the ticket because he was once impeached from the same office.

All candidates for the gubernatorial nomination except Judge Felix Robertson, at one time or another, have denounced the Ku Klux Klan. It has been announced openly that Judge Robertson has the support of the Klan in the primary.

DAVIS' VACATION TO END THURSDAY

Nominee Has Virtually Completed First Rough Draft of Speech of Acceptance

Dark Harbor, Islesboro, Maine, July 26.—John W. Davis, Democratic standard bearer, has definitely decided to end his vacation here next Thursday. Under that program he will have a full week in New York to put the finishing touches on his address of acceptance of the presidential nomination and to confer with party leaders before leaving for Clarksburg, West Virginia where the official notification ceremonies will take place.

Upon his arrival at New York the nominee will meet his manager Clem L. Shaver to receive reports regarding the organization plans. Fairly rapid progress in building the organization has been made and it is the desire to have this as well as the plans for the campaign itself virtually finished form at the time of delivery of the acceptance speech on August 11.

The exact place to hold the notification ceremonies in Clarksburg has not yet been determined upon. It is Davis' desire that the ceremony take place in his old home where his sister now lives but party leaders wish to hold it where the greatest number of people can be accommodated.

While Mr. Davis declines to discuss to any degree, the progress he has made on his address, it is reported that he has about finished the first rough draft during his five days work here. The nominee will continue his conferences with leaders and friends at the home of Charles Dana Gibson.

Dawes Will Open His Campaign In Bryan's Home State

MEETING URGES ADOPTION REPORT SHIP COMMISSION

Senator Simmons Promises Government Aid for Ship Project

Goldsboro, July 26.—Adoption of the recommendation of the State Ship and Water Transportation Commission by the General Assembly in the special session called to begin August 7, was urged yesterday by representative business men and citizens of eastern North Carolina and other parts of the state at a meeting held here under the auspices of the traffic bureau of the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce.

The meeting adopted a resolution asking that the General Assembly enact the recommendation into the laws of the state immediately.

It was generally thought by those present that $8,500,000 should be the minimum appropriated for the port commission.

United States Senator F. M. Simmons declared positively that if the state passed the port bill he could secure government aid for developing the inland waterways of the state. He asserted that he had already secured $16,000,000 for development of waterways in the state and that he could have secured twice as much had the state been making an effort of its own accord to carry on such development.

Congressman Charles L. Abernethy expressed an opinion that adoption of the port facilities bill was the desire of the people of the state. He said that it would be the greatest aid to commerce North Carolina has brought forth in many years.

C. C. AND O. VALUATION

Washington, July 26.—The tentative value of the Carolina, Clinchfield and Ohio was fixed today by the Interstate Commerce Commission at $36,605,514 as of June 30, 1917.

CAMPAIGN AGAINST WAR OPENS TODAY

Thirty - Six Organizations Meet in Washington to Begin World-Wide Movement

Washington, July 26.—A campaign for world co-operation to prevent war will be opened tomorrow by 36 organizations represented in the National Council for Prevention of War.

"Stop war! Co-operate!" is the slogan adopted for the movement, and its sponsors say that it will cover nearly every state in the union. One hundred and fifty thousand ministers have been asked to preach sermons on "World Co-operation" next Sunday, and public meetings will be held in many places.

The council has announced that all of the presidential candidates will be asked the question: "How far will you co-operate for world peace?" and that later the same question will be asked of candidates for the senate. It is proposed by the organization to carry on the work for an initial period of three months after the opening days of its drive.

Frederick J. Libby, executive secretary of the council, said today the purpose was to "mobilize for peace now, and during the next three months to show these men who want to represent us in the national government that the will of the American people is for co-operation in international affairs."

A statement by the council said these behind the campaign believed "the time has come to eliminate 'isolation' once and for all and establish 'co-operation' as America's foreign policy."

Organizations listed as represented in the council are: The American Association of University Women, American Farm Bureau Federation, American Federation of Teachers, Fellowship of Reconciliation, Foreign Policy Association, National Board of Farm Organizations, National Board Y. W. C. A., National Council of Jewish Women, National Education Association, National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, National Federation of Temple Sisterhood, Dr. John A. Ryan and Gray Silver.

Defense Attacks States Evidence Presented Today

Youths Declare Murder is No Crime in Their Code and That They Are Not Sorry for Themselves; Say Their Plight is One of Their Own Doings and Should Concern No One Else; Counsel Challenges Testimony Offered By Detectives for State

Chicago, July 26.—Remorse never has been expressed by either Nathan Leopold, Jr. or Richard Loeb of their crime detectives said today. The reporter who questioned them last night found their sentiment unchanged.

"I do not feel sorry for myself for what I did," Leopold said. "I did it and that's all. I got myself into this jam and it is up to myself to get out of it. I have great feeling for my father and brothers, but for myself, no. Life is what we make it and I fear to have made mine what it is today. That's my lookout and nobody's else."

Loeb, when questioned as to his disinterested attitude in the courtroom, said he was "merely acting natural." "I sit in the court room, and watch the play progress, when the crowd laughs, I laugh. When it is time for seriousness, I am that way. I am a spectator, you know, and feel myself as one. You can tell the people on the outside that there is no faking or pretense. I have watched you reporters across the table and you laugh and smile, yawn, look bored and all the other things. Why should I be different?"

Chicago, July 26.—Insinuating that the state's testimony which credited Nathan Leopold, Jr., with a desire to plead guilty before a friendly judge, was a fabrication, Clarence Darrow, chief counsel for Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, struck hard today at this evidence. This is the first time since the boy's plea guilty to the kidnapping and murder of Robert Franks, that their counsel has challenged the truth of any material facts brought out by witnesses summoned by Robert E. Crowe, state attorney.

James J. Gortland, detective sergeant, fired attention of the defense after bringing out that all conversations of Leopold and Loeb had been recorded in some way but that the "friendly judge" remark had not been put down either in writing or short hand.

Darrow asked, "Isn't it true that the whole story of the conversation which said that Nathan Leopold hoped for a prison sentence by pleading guilty before a friendly judge was a pure fabrication concocted for the purpose of intimidating the court?" "It is not," declared Gortland.

National Kindergarten Association, National League of Women Voters, National Milk Producers' Federation, National Reform Association, National Women's Trade Union League, Peace Association of Friends in America, Woman's Christian Temperance Union, Woman's International League for Peace and Freedom, Central Conference of American Rabbis, International Association of Machinists, National Consumers' League, United Society of Christian Endeavor, United Synagogue of America, World Alliance for International Friendship Through the Churches.

Among officers and members of the executive board of the council are: Jane Adams, Carrie Chapman Catt, Will Irwin, President Lowell, William Allen White, Mrs. Louis D. Brandeis, Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, Dr. John A. Ryan and Gray Silver.

The witness was asked to read the short hand notes of the statement of Leopold that he hoped for imprisonment instead of the gallows if he plead guilty before a friendly judge. The action of the defense counsel in the nature of a challenge to the testimony of Gortland consisted of an examination to the most minute detail every statement of the witness.

It was Gortland who yesterday testified as the state's 87th witness before Chief Justice Caverly that Leopold had declared that murder was no crime in his code. For a considerable time the cross examination centered upon the friendly judge conversation. Several times during this questioning of the witness Darrow conferred with his associates and the boy defendants came in on these whispered consultations.

It was brought out that Gortland made no mention of the friendly judge statement to his superior officers although he had repeated it to Assistant State Attorney Savage shortly after it was made and had talked about it to newspaper reporters both in Chicago and elsewhere. After hours of cross examination Gortland was temporarily withdrawn from the stand and ordered not to converse with anyone in the courtroom while Jacob Weinstein, general manager of an optical establishment was called by the state to identify the glasses found near the railroad culvert which yielded up the body of young Franks. The sudden switching of the witnesses was agreed upon by the counsel to accommodate Weinstein who was in the waiting room. He identified the glasses presented by the state as corresponding exactly to specifications called for on a job envelope upon which appeared the name of Nathan Leopold, Jr. They went in as the peoples exhibit number 46.

FUNDAMENTALS OF NATION EMBODIED IN SCOUTS' CREED

Washington, July 25.—Reverence for nature for law and for God were laid down as the fundamentals of Boy Scoutism and of American institutions by President Coolidge in an address delivered tonight at the White House and transmitted by telephone to a farewell meeting in New York for a group of Boy Scouts who will sail tomorrow to attend an international gathering of the organization in Copenhagen.

"There was no Boy Scout organization in my boyhood, but every boy who has the privilege of growing up on a farm learns instinctively the three fundamentals of Scoutism," the President said.

Three Fundamentals.

"The first is a reverence for nature. Boys should never lose their love of the field and the streams, the mountains and the plains, the open places and the forests. That love will be a priceless possession as your years lengthen out. There is new life in the soil for every man. There healing in the trees for tired minds, and for our overburdened spirits there in the hills, if only we will lift up our eyes. Remember that nature is your great restorer.

"The second is a reverence for law. I am thrilled at the thought of my audience tonight, for I never address boys without thinking that among them may be a boy who will sit in this White House. Somewhere there are boys who will be Presidents of our railroads, presidents of colleges, banks; owners of splendid farms and useful industries, members of congress, representatives of our people of foreign lands. That is the heritage of the American boy. It was an act of magnificent courage when our ancestors set up a nation where in any boy may aspire to anything. That great achievement was not wrought without blood and sacrifice. Make firm your resolutions to carry on nobly what has been so nobly begun. Let this nation, under your guidance, be a finer nation. Resolve that the sacrifices by which your great opportunities have been purchased will be matched by a sacrifice, on your part, that will give your children a better nation.

"The third is a reverence for God. It is hard to see how a great man can be an atheist. Without the sustaining influence of faith in a Divine power we could have little faith in ourselves. We need to feel that behind us is intelligence and love. Doubters do not achieve; skeptics do not contribute; cynics do not create. Faith is the great motive power, and no man realizes his full possibilities unless he has the deep conviction that life is eternally important, and that his work, well done, is a part of an unending plan.

"These are not only some of the fundamentals of the teachings of the Boy Scouts, they are the fundamentals of our American institutions. If you will take them with you, if you will be living examples of them abroad, you will make a great contribution toward a better understanding of our own country, and receive in return a better understanding of other countries for you will find in foreign lands, to a very large extent, exactly what you carry there yourselves. I trust that you can show to your foreign associates in the great scout movement that you have a deep reverence for the truth, and are determined to live by it; that you wish to protect and cherish your own country and contribute to the well-being, right-thinking, and true living of the whole world."

TENNESSEE FIGURES SHOW MOB JUSTICE DECLINING IN SOUTH

Nashville, Tenn., July 26.—That lynching is gradually being overcome in the South is indicated by a steady reduction in such crimes in Tennessee during the last few years, according to a report on this subject made by James D. Burton, secretary for the Commission on Inter-Racial Cooperation.

Mob justice is shown to be on the decline both as to the number of victims and the area in which such crimes occur, the report sets forth.

Tennessee had five lynchings during the last five years, two in 1922, and none last year.

Loot Found on Irish Farms Dublin July 26.—The Free State civic guards have raided Longford and discovered in their "mainly articles of antique silverware bearing the crest of the Mackey-Wilson family. They were looted from Curryranna which was destroyed by fire. This was the home of Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson, the British army chief of staff in the European war, who was assassinated on his door step in London.

THIS DRESS HAS JOINED THE UPLIFT MOVEMENT

"EXCELSIOR" is undoubtedly the motto of this little frock of crepe de chine, for each one of its pleated panels is a step higher than the other until they are finally stopped by a decided bow, which may or may not suggest a comparison to the attentive reader.

It is confirmed to us by Henri Creango, the French fashion authority, that pleats are still very much liked. This dress has even more than its share of these agreeable variations in the sartorial landscape. — Not only the aforementioned pleated panels, one side of which are sewn, the other flying, but also a pleated scarf, one end of which is attached to the collar of the dress, the other floating. This, by the way, was the original form in which the scarf started, and from which the separate scarfs have been developed. This particular scarf effect is cleverly designed to carry out the panel idea of the skirt. An embroidered motif with touches of black marks its inception and adds a note of emphasis to the delicate green in which the dress is developed. Greens, by the way, have sustained the popularity which they have enjoyed for some time, and at the Paris openings, were surpassed in favor only by black, red, and white, according to a Cheney chart analysis of colors and materials recently compiled.

Fagoting adds a further charm to this little dress, which has an elegant conservatism which will command it to many who prefer to mix their modishness with discretion.

THE VERB TO SPORT IS BOTH ACTIVE AND PASSIVE

GO are the days when sport clothes were confined to those who actively engaged in violent pastimes, to be worn only on those occasions. Femininity in the last few years has recognized the chic and becomingness of the sport type of garment and has claimed it for her own. Regardless of whether she knows a brassie from a cleek, a love score from deuce, or a crupper from a cropper, miffed appears on the thoroughfares in awateers, hats, dresses, and outfits, which formerly were seen only on the courts, the links, or the bridle path.

There are, however, as one might say, two types of sport dresses, the active and the passive variety. One is found in the heat of the conflict, the other on the side lines. Of this second, and more numerous type, is the charming Cheney model shown in the sketch. Distinctly of the sport type of garment, in its colorful printed pattern and its freedom of cut, it is yet quite smart enough for summer wear in town.

The design is one of the bright little geometrical problems which have proved very popular for sport dresses. It is developed in navy, red and white, and is given the necessary contrast by a deep pointed plastron and pocket flaps of white organdie. The whole dress has a very slim youthful aspect, which is in no way interrupted by the box-pleated blouse. Small black satin buttons which are set on a black thread, a black ribbon bow, and black patent leather belt complete a smart ensemble.

C., and who was arrested in Nashville, Tenn., several days ago, was brought here this afternoon by state Constable Thomas Beryle and placed in the state penitentiary.

Following a conference at the penitentiary between prison authorities and state and federal officers Harrell was placed in solitary confinement. No one was allowed to see the prisoner.

Cougar Trained by Motor

Visalia, Cal., July 26.—I. W. Lovern, pack train concessionaire in the Sequoia National Park, recently trailed a six-foot mountain lioness through the night by the lights of his automobile. When the car got close to the lioness, she came directly into the glare of the headlights. In his haste Lovern shot through the windshield, but killed the beast. The lioness had frequented the road and occasionally had been seen by motorists, to their consternation.

Snake Pest in Germany

Oldest Juniper Tree Found

Logan, Utah.—A giant juniper tree discovered recently in Logan canyon near here is estimated by Dr. Henry Cowles, of the University of Chicago to be between 3,500 and 4,000 years old, perhaps the oldest living thing except the redwood trees of California. The tree is 27 1/2 feet in circumference.

PRAYING, SINGING AND PREACHING IS NOT ENOUGH, SAYS MINISTER RECENTLY

Birmingham, July 26.—The moral status of Birmingham, one of the foremost of the manufacturing towns of Great Britain, was severely attacked by the Rev. T. Edmunds in an address at the opening session of the conference of the West Midlands Baptist Association here.

"Birmingham," the speaker said, "is a pagan city with misery, ignorance, drunkenness, squalor, violence in its midst which create a desperate need for social service. If the Christian church is to be of real beneficent service," he urged, "we will have to do more than sing, pray, preach and teach."

Rev. J. Leslie Brown, of Wolverhampton, declared at the conference that he was "bored stiff" with preaching. What was the good of preaching when the present conditions existed, he asked. He said he believed that many of the church leaders were on the wrong lines, and asked if they had any idea of what they were talking about and driving at.

DECOY WOMEN ARE USED BY RUM RUNNERS OF NORTHWEST

Vancouver, B. C., July 26.—The use of "decoy" women is an innovation among rum runners in Puget Sound and British Columbia waters.

Recently a large yacht came into English Bay, near here. It was observed that women were seated in luxurious wicker chairs on deck. The vessel dropped anchor, the awning canvas was run back on a roller and the women disappeared. Only the pilot house was visible. Liquor ten was loaded on the yacht and as it cleared, the canvas, wicker chairs and women reappeared.

Later, according to fishermen at Everett, Wash., the ship tried to land liquor there. But a suspicious craft appeared and a quick getaway was decided on. The vessel speeded toward Vancouver. In the excitement one of the women non deck fell overboard. Fishermen rescued her and found she was a dummy.

Gas for Cuban Soldiers

Havana.—Orders have been approved for the Cuban army to receive instruction in gas attacks, especially in the use of tear gas, according to an announcement made by the secretary of war. "The total amount spent for the fifty-two hunting trips was $107,587.50," stated Mr. Walker. "Of this, $5,000 was for licenses and export fees and the remainder for guides, outfits, transportation, curios and incidentals. The average trip cost $2,000. Three hundred and twelve game animals were taken at an average cost of $328.97 per animal. The least expensive trip cost $400 and the highest was $1,100. Scientific explorations and photographic expeditions were not included in the returns."

BERLIN BEGINS TO VIBRATE TO HOME-MADE UKULELES

Berlin.—The ukulele craze has hit Berlin with a bang. Music dealers appear determined to put a little ukulele in every home and, as the government collects a fat tax on all musical instruments, the idea has not been opposed in official circles. The tax collected on the ukulele goes into a general fund, a part of which is allotted to pay off reparations.

Special ukulele music and songs, such as "Ukulele Heine," "Say it with a Ukulele," and "Try me on your cat," are put and given away as a premium to all purchasers of an instrument. Instructions how to learn to play the contrivance and bring out all that is best in string vibration have been issued in simple language "so that even a child may play after a few days of study and practice."

Cabmen Ordered to Be Polite Berlin. Cabmen and auto chauffeurs should be polite toward each other, says the chief of police of Berlin in a new order to men engaged in the livery business. His orders also covers the subject of proper behavior toward passengers.

EMIGRATION PLANNED TO RELIEVE CROWDED POPULATION JAPAN

Tokio.—Outlines of a new policy for relieving the pressure of population in Japan have been sketched by the Committee on Emigration and Colonization of the new Imperial Economic Council appointed two months ago by Premier Kiyoura.

The first measures suggested look toward further populating of Hokkaido the northern island of Japan. Other measures deal with the sending of emigrants abroad. The committee's suggestions will be placed before the whole Economic Council first, and then before the cabinet for approval. The committee's report, a lengthy document, is summarized as follows:

"Japan's limited area, together with her large annual increase of population, presents a critical problem for the empire. Japan has no more important problem than to find an outlet for her surplus population. A solution must be sought at home as well as abroad. For domestic migration Hokkaido presents the greatest opportunities.

"Hokkaido now has a population of 2,400,000, but has room for more than 4,000,000. A successful policy of emigration abroad requires judicious financing. Emigrants going abroad should not be permitted to leave Japan without sufficient funds for their proper establishment in their new homes. The government should establish a special banking organ for such a purpose. To ensure successful policy of emigration to other countries, the following suggestions should be followed:

"Special education of intending emigrants about the conditions and customs of the countries to which they intend to go; establishment of an emigrant's home; establishment of special diplomatic policies toward the countries to which emigrants are sent; emigration laws should be revised to afford better protection to emigrants; emigrants overseas should be exempted from the conscription law; emigrants after a fixed period of residence abroad should be encouraged to naturalize in the countries of their residence; a special commission on overseas emigration should be established; outlets for overseas emigration must be sought in lands where the least resistance is offered."

CHINA WELL VERSED IN AMERICAN SLANG, SAYS RECENT REPORT

Muchang, China.—A nation-wide athletic meet has just been held here which had all the characteristics of a similar meet in any college town in America. The manner in which the athletes went at their jobs, and the comments on their performances, were essentially American.

Cries of "Come on, boy; you can beat him!" "Shoot, shoot." "Stick to it, kid; wipe the butter off your fingers," and others of a similar nature were frequently heard from the spectators' benches and from the rosters on the side lines. Read sportsmanship was in evidence for the most part, and there was little or no playing that was unnecessarily rough.

There were baseball, soccer, volleyball, tennis and basketball in addition to the field sports, and a detachment of Boy Scouts, who had their own encampment and lived in tents during the three days of the meet. The Scouts equipped a first aid tent and a field telephone which was employed in reporting results from various parts of the grounds.

The girls' basketball and volleyball games, being a decided innovation in North China, attracted many spectators and elicited much favorable comment.

It was estimated that more than 15,000 persons were present.

LORD DOUNE'S AMERICAN BRIDE THE NAMESAKE OF HIS ANCESTRSE

London.—The marriage of Lord Doune, son of the Earl of Moray, to Miss Barbara Murray of New York, was celebrated on the family estate at Doune Lodge by the usual custom of serving a cake and wine banquet to the help.

One of the older employes of the estate made a speech in which he said there hadn't been a Lady Doune for 114 years and that a curious coincidence was that the eighth Lord Gray, an ancestor of the present Lord Doune, married a Miss Barbara Murray in 1664.

The Art Of Beauty

By B. M. DOUGLAS

The Appealing Blonde

THE Victorian ideal of womanhood was that of a clinging vine, and of man, a sturdy oak for the support of that vine. While standards have somewhat changed, it is still true that the clinging vine type of woman, or at least the woman who in her outward appearance preserves those charming and helpless characteristics, is a very attractive and appealing type.

We can never resist her—the winsome little blonde person, who winds herself around our heart-strings, and us around her little finger in the softest and most imperceptible way. She is as fascinating, and sometimes as irresponsible as a white Persian kitten. But it makes no difference. She possesses charm, that indescribable but perfectly definite thing that makes us lend our best blouse to a friend, our best toothbrush to a neighbor, and the third ten dollars to the man, who we are perfectly convinced will never return the first two. She is all softness and sweetness, and by token of the same, her dress, her hair, her jewels and her make-up should all be toned to this central theme in her personality.

This type of girl should not try to plaster her hair down, severely into heavy coils, or brush it boyishly off her forehead. It should be soft and wavy and full of lights and little unexpected tendrils. Her fair skin will need nature's powder to blend with its delicacy, and a touch of Mandarine, with its light brilliancy to deepen the blue of her eyes. Just a touch of matching lipstick. No harsh outlines, just shading out from the middle.

The appealing blonde should never indulge in heavy make-up, dead white powder, mascara, or blackened eyebrows. She will lose her own soft charm and not attain the allure of the type she is imitating. She is charming in décollete, for her skin is soft and white, and her neck and arms prettily rounded. Black accentuates the blonde prettiness of this type, and pearls emphasize the innocence of her expression. The appealing blonde can wear almost any type of clothes, except the heavy, overpowering, overtrimmed type of thing. She is irresistible in sports clothes, with a soft hat pulled down over her curls; and can even adopt knickerbockers with piquancy and success.

Syria Weighs Its Bread After; America Before

NOT a gathering of Mystic Shrines in Atlantic City, just a little commercial transaction in Syria, where native bread is sold by the ounce. In America, we do not have to depend on erratic scales like these to be sure of getting full weight in our bread. The loaf of bread in America is weighed before it is baked. There are automatic dough dividing machines in the modern scientific bakeries which "scale" six loaves at a time and always of uniform weight. These machines scale approximately 400 loaves per minute. A further check is kept upon the weight of even this automatic dividing machine in the Ward bakeries by a man who, as shown in the insert before it is baked. ## ALL THAT WOOD-CUTS IS NOT WOOD

WEARING a wood carving around your neck does not sound very comfortable, but it's quite possible and eminently fashionable, when the carving is printed on silk, as in the case of this Cheney wood-cut design which strikes a unique note even in a season of marked originality. The long and wide scarf is printed in black on brown, and is bordered at both ends with a band of plain brown crepe irregularly inserted in the printed material. The crown of the small hat fits well to the head and is made in the printed material; the brim is in plain crepe inserted in the same way as it is in the scarf.

PRIMITIVE BABUYANS BRAVE VOLCANO TO HOLD ISLAND HOMES

Manila.—The most primitive people of the entire Philippine archipelago dwell on the island of Babuyan, some 60 miles north of Luzon, according to members of Governor General Wood's party who visited that group recently. The total population of the island is 77, composed of 14 married men, the same number of married women, 20 adult unmarried women, 23 children of both sexes and four old women.

Money is unknown among the people, with the exception of Bernardino Rosal, the head man, who treasures a few silver pesos as a reminder of his former life in Luzon. Rosal is priest, judge, legislator and executive all in one. He officiates at funerals, marriages and births and adjusts all tribal differences.

Dr. Pacifico Baygo, an assistant in the Philippine Health Service, who was a member of the governor general's party, landed on Babuyan island and explored the volcano which recently was in eruption.

"From the top of the mountain to the water's edge the once exuberant vegetation was burnt off and boulders of ash and lava cover the mountain side," said Dr. Baygo. "A new crater appears to have formed from which steam is continuously rising. The advisability of transferring the inhabitants to the mainland of Luzon was discussed with the islanders, but they decided they preferred to remain on Babuyan, although most of their corn and camote fields were destroyed by the eruption. They were terrorized by the flow of rocks, ashes and steam from the volcano, but they could not be persuaded to leave, their only desire being to get to the northern end of the island where they believed they would be safe from future eruptions."

Stockholm.—Socialization by evolution instead of revolution, peace by preparing for peace instead of for war, the gradual elimination of militarism, the opposition to private uncontrolled capitalism, a secure home for every citizen, and a strip of Swedish soil for every Swede who wants it, these are the outstanding points of the keynote address delivered here by Hjalmar Branting at the Swedish Social Democrat Party congress. This address holds a special significance as clearly defining the Social-Democratic platform in the elections this fall that may give Sweden its third Socialist government.

BRANTING SOUNDS KEYNOTE FOR THE SWEDISH SOCIALISTS

"We have faith in labor's historical function in the reform of society," he said, "and we now begin to see the light dawning through the darkness. We realize that it was a mistake to think that political supremacy would be sufficient, and we know now that our ideals must grow into integral elements of society itself. We must, above all, mobilize and utilize the great moral forces among the laboring classes."

The ex-premier's speech was received with a demonstration of approval by the assembly of delegates from all districts of Sweden and was likewise strongly endorsed by the visiting delegates from Norway, Denmark, Finland, England, Belgium, and Poland.

Plays Chinese Role Cooks Chinese Dish

LENITA LANE, leading lady of the "Flame of Love," a drama of the silk weavers of ancient China, believes in carrying out her part—even in real life—so she has learned Chinese cooking and is here seen preparing a Chinese omelette for an after-theatre supper. The recipe which Miss Lane has given us calls for:

- 1 lb. shelled shrimps
- 3/4 lb. mushrooms (fresh)
- 1 pork chop
- 3 eggs
- 1 small Spanish onion

Cut the pork chop in very fine pieces. Wash the shrimps. Remove top skins from the mushrooms, parboil in boiling water 15 minutes. Chop the onion, shrimps and mushrooms very fine. Heat frying pan. Put in 1/2 teaspoonful of oil. Fry the onion about 10 minutes—a little sugar improves it. Be careful not to burn. Put in the chopped shrimps, meat and mushrooms. Stir constantly 5 minutes. Add a tablespoonful of water, 1/2 teaspoonful of salt and cook another 10 minutes. Break the 3 eggs and beat well with a spoonful of cold water. Then put all ingredients together, heat a clean frying pan, and put in a teaspoonful of oil. Drop in 3 tablespoonfuls of the mixture at a time, and brown well on both sides.

SOVIETS GIVE DEATH SENTENCES TO DRIVERS OF WRECKED TRAINS

Tiflis.—Drastic punishment is being meted out by the Soviet authorities to engineers and drivers who are held responsible for train accidents. In the Transcaucasia district an engineer named Gavrilov and two drivers, Voyevodin and Sharyshev, were sentenced to death by a special commission appointed by the Georgian council of commissars to inquire into the numerous railway fatalities which have recently occurred in that district.

Assistant station master Savitsky, who was held jointly responsible with the engineer and drivers, has been condemned to eight years imprisonment. Voyevodin and Sharyshev were charged with running their trains at a dangerously high speed in spite of their knowledge that the roadbed and rails were in a bad condition.

It is alleged that through their negligence six derailments occurred, involving considerable loss of life.

NECESSARY WARNINGS

The National Automobile Chamber of Commerce has recommended to manufacturers that a brief set of "commandments for safety" be placed on the windshield or in other prominent positions on each new motor car or truck for the benefit of the owner. Whether he is a novice or an expert, these reminders of his duty to observe certain fundamental precautions are equally in order. The novice needs them because of his ignorance of the part played by what he might regard as insignificant details in the prevention of accidents. The expert requires these reminders because he is apt to grow careless after driving a car for a year or two and to rely on his skill and dexterity in getting him out of a tight place if the emergency occurs. It is suggested that the admonitions might include the following:

- Always remember you are an engineer, fully responsible.
- Inspect your brakes at least once a month.
- Never pass to the left of a street car.
- Never pass a street car when it is stopping for passengers.
- Always singal with hand when slowing down, turning or stopping.
- Sound horns three times when backing.
- Observe the traffic rules carefully; they are made for your safety.

It would be insulting to the great majority of motorists who are sober and lawabiding to add the admonition, "Beware of booze," but the necessity for sobriety still needs to be impressed on those automobile drivers who have not yet learned their lesson. The Pennsylvania state highway department last week found guilty of operating machines while intoxicated. This is mild punishment indeed. The general opinion will be that the offenders "got off easy." These drunken drivers placed the lives of a large number of persons in jeopardy. A stiffer penalty than revocation of licenses seems to be demanded as a deterrent.

RESPECT FOR OFFICERS OF LAW

It is not unlikely that part of the lawlessness that is so prevalent throughout United States may be traced to attitude which boys and youths have been permitted to assume toward officers of the law. It is no longer an uncommon thing to hear policemen spoken of disrespectfully.

It is not claimed that the highest type of men can always be secured for places on the police force, but as a rule they are men who are interested in the welfare of the people as far as they are able to protect them and otherwise serve them. They are representatives of the law, and as such they are respected by law-abiding persons.

There is a disposition on the part of certain classes to "talk back" at a policeman or other officer of the law—to make slurring remarks to others regarding them, or to commit acts of a taunting character. It is a practice that should be rendered unpopular by more severe penalties.

Persons of all ages should be impressed with the fact that policemen are employed to protect the interests of all by enforcement of the regulations made for the welfare of the public. If discourtesy is shown to officers of the law the offenders should be taught a lesson that will be good for themselves and for others similarly disposed.

The world owes us a living; but it pays on the installment plan.

WHEN LIFE WAS SIMPLE

Unless it has something to do with airplanes or motor cars or with the more vigorous and spectacular games like tennis or baseball, it is not likely that the announcement of a coming national tournament will get much attention from us. And when we learn that the tournament in question is to decide the national championship in horseshoe pitching we are inclined to yield it even less than passing notice.

In an age when we demand for diversion nothing short of headspins on the wings of a rushing airplane; when a game of auto polo is an ordinary occurrence only occasionally thrilling us, and when a ball player has to be a consistent home run hitter, we are not likely to wax enthusiastic over horseshoe pitching.

And yet, this ancient pastime is not without its merits. More keenly than ever should it today challenge our attention, for it goes back to a time when life was simpler. It carries us to remote countrysides and lanes at a time when the noise of the world was barely making itself heard even in the great cities. Quiet days those! when men got their exercise at their work, and didn't find it necessary, as men do now, to work at their play.

The game of horseshoe satisfied to the full the simple desires of a simple life. It did not take years of most exacting toil to perfect one's self in it; one improved with practice, of course; one may become exceedingly skillful at it, but the nerve-racking apprenticeship required for perfection in a game like tennis, for instance, is not needed to enjoy pitching horseshoes.

It recommends itself to the novice and to the master; to old and to young. It stimulates the master; to old and to young. It stimulates an easy-going interest; its leisurely pace permits of conversation running into amiable channels of every sort. It is associated not with thronging multitudes jeering and opposing player or luckless umpire, but with individuals engaged in talk the while the happy hours go by.

As such the game of horseshoe is a re-statement of a view of life and manner of living now rapidly going from among us. We are glad that a national tournament is coming off in Iowa this month. It will be in some way an assurance that the good old times may be brought back, occasionally.

E. M. Walters, of Everett, Mass., radio operator of the S. S. Boston, stands out as the hero of the disaster in which lives were lost when the vessel was rammed by the S. S. ## BLACK HILLS GOLD DISCOVERY WILL BE MARKED PAGEANT

Custer, S. D.—Amidst a setting of crystal mountain streams and fir clad mountains that rank among the scenic wonders of the North American continent, this little city is astir with plans to entertain a host of visitors from over the nation at a historical pageant and gala occasion July 28-29 in honor of the 50th anniversary of the discovery of gold in the Black Hills.

What Sutter and the days of '49 mean in the annals of California is signified to South Dakotans in the name of H. N. Ross and the year '74. Ross made the first practical discovery of gold here July 27 of that year, and from the event has developed the greatest low grade gold producing mine in the world, and an industry that contributes an average of one-tenth the annual output of this metal in the United States.

For some years Custer, the oldest town in the Black Hills, named after the veteran Indian fighter who met death in the massacre of the Little Big Horn, has paid modest tribute to its original "sour dough," but now a dozen cities have joined hands to make the semi-centennial a historic event.

Included in the two-day celebration will be a program of sports partaking of the atmosphere of the pioneer west, and a sectional parade of industrial progress. The climax of the festival will be a pageant, "Gold Discovery Day," preparations for which have been under way for months.

The episode itself will be briefly set forth in the coming of General Custer to the site on a scouting expedition and the epochal incident in which Ross, free lance geologist and a member of his command, sifted out the first pan of "pay dirt" from the bed of French creek. There will be many more scenes depicting the part of the Indian and cowboy, of the prairie schooner, stage coach and ox team in the early life of the region. The town of Custer dropped out of focus in the Dakota gold stampede as suddenly as it had risen to fame when, the year following the original discovery, far richer "diggings" were located near the present cities of Lead and Deadwood, but the community could not be deprived of its history-making experience.

A monument of Black Hills specimen masonry was dedicated on the 1921 anniversary to the memory of the veteran Ross, who lived and died here. Also, a large fund was completed in June this year for a memorial to Mrs. Annie D. Tallant, who arrived with her husband and the initial band of prospectors overland in a prairie schooner in the late fall of that first year and remained—the first white woman in the Black Hills.

Lake Junaluska, N. C., July 26.—Indorsement of the Methodist Southern Assembly at Lake Junaluska and the authorization of the erection of a building on the grounds to be known as the Waynesville District Dormitory were among the important results of the recent district conference of the Waynesville district of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, held at Murphy and presided over by Bishop Collins Denny, according to those returning from the conference.

The committee appointed by the conference and empowered to perfect the plans for the erection of the dormitory composed of John A. Taylor and Mark Boone, of Waynesville; R. L. Porter, Franklin; J. Dale Stents, Lake Junaluska; and M. Buchanan, Sylva.
