SUSPECTED SLAYER CONFINED IN PEN

Review Of Confession Fails To Unnerve Youths

Six Are Jailed In Connection With Murder of Joyner

Cheatham Evans, Negro, Rushed to Raleigh Under Protection of Troops After Being Threatened by Mob. Body of Victim Found Late Yesterday. Blood Stained Gun Found at Evans Home Today Being Carried to Raleigh For Comparison of Finger Prints.

Raleigh, July 29.—Sheriff Charlie A. Johnson, of Nashville, this morning found a blood smeared shot gun in the home of Cheatham Evans, negro who was arrested near Hollister yesterday in connection with the death of Arthur L. Joyner, taxi driver, and who was brought to Raleigh under guard of a detachment of National Guard following threats of lynching by a mob, according to information received this afternoon by the Associated Press over long distance telephone.

The shot gun, the report stated, was being brought to Raleigh for comparison of the finger prints, which are said to be well preserved in the dry blood smeared on the gun, with the finger prints of the man held in the state prison.

Aside from this there was only one other development today in the episode which began Saturday night with the disappearance of Joyner and culminated Monday with the arrest of Evans and five other negroes and the finding of Joyner's mutilated body and his automobile. This new development was the final chapter to one side of the series of events it was Joyner's funeral. Simple services were conducted at his home in Hollister and the body was carried to Nashville, 24 miles away, for burial.

Joyner leaves a widow and five children.

Hollister, July 29.—Cheatham Evans, negro, who late yesterday was carried to Raleigh under protection of a National Guard company is being held in state prison in connection with the slaying of A. J. Joyner, public chauffeur, whose body was found early last night in Fishing Creek near Wolcott's bridge.

Five other negroes are being held in connection with the killing. Two are in the Nash county jail and the other three in the Halifax county jail.

The body of Joyner was found near the spot where Evans informed the officers it had been thrown by Ernest Lee, who he said killed Joyner after robbing him. Shortly afterward Joyner's car was found near here at a negro cabin where Evans spent Sunday night. Efforts had been made to mutilate identification marks on the machine, officers said.

Evans was arrested early yesterday in Halifax county when the watch belonging to Joyner was found in his possession.

Joyner had been hired Saturday night by a negro to carry him to a point about 10 miles from Hollister and when he did not return his wife requested authorities to make search for him.

Fearing toward the negro was high following the reports of the murder of Joyner. Officers of Halifax county were rushing the negro to Nashville for safe keeping when they were overtaken by a mob of citizens near Taylor's store. The negro was carried into the store and guarded until officers arrived from Nashville in answer to a telephone message. He was later taken to Raleigh under protection of a National Guard company from Wilson.

BISHOP LEO HAID IS LAID TO REST

Prominent Prelate of Catholic Church is Buried in Belmont Cemetery.

Charlotte, July 29.—With all the pomp and ceremony of the last rites of a prelate of the church and yet with the simplest ceremonies the Rt. Reverend Leo Haid, Bishop of North Carolina and Dean of Roman Catholic Hierarchy of America, was laid to rest in the little cemetery at Belmont Abbey near here today.

Church dignitaries from all parts of the country were in attendance to do honor to the man who during his nearly 40 years of ministry in the southeast is credited with much of the progress of the church in this section. For the last three days the body of the prelate has lain in state in the beautiful cathedral at the abbey over which he has presided as abbot since 1885. Only the sounds of the footsteps, of the mourners as they walked up the aisles to keel in silent prayers, broke the stillness of the vaulted chamber.

GOVERNOR SMITH IS READY TO STUMP COUNTRY FOR DAVIS

Governor Has Appointment With Nominee Upon Arrival in New York Thursday.

New York, July 29.—Governor Alfred Smith had a long conference with Clem L. Shaver, Democratic National chairman today, to devise plans whereby he could devote every effort to further the candidacy of John W. Davis, Democratic presidential nominee.

"I will make a speaking tour," he said. "I will do anything I can to help the national ticket." The governor said Mr. Davis had not spoken about becoming a candidate for re-election but that he expected to discuss the matter with the presidential nominee when Mr. Davis arrived in New York on Thursday.

"Mr. Shaver told me" said the governor, "that Mr. Davis would return to the city on Thursday and that he wanted to see me. I told him I would be in the city until Sunday and that I would meet Mr. Davis the later part of the week."

Governor Smith declined to comment upon the report that a move would be made to mention the Ku Klux Klan by name in the State Democratic Convention.

FRUIT PLENTIFUL SAYS DEPT. EXPERT

Agriculture Department Announces Best Crop of Grapes, Peaches and Apples in State in Year

Raleigh, N. C. July 29.—A bountiful supply of peaches, grapes and apples is in store for North Carolina this year, according to C. D. Matthews chief of the Division of Horticulture of the State Department of Agriculture, and to E. B. Marrow, of the Co-operative Crop Reporting Service. The crops of these fruits, they say is one of the best in many years, and abundant supply will be available for eating and canning purposes throughout the entire state. The opinion was expressed that everyone in the state should eat all the fruit possible in order to save the large crop from going to waste.

The state-wide conditions are reported on July 1 by commercial orchardists to the department of Agriculture, it was said, indicated about 75 per cent of a full crop of apples and 800 per cent for peaches in the state this year.

"Practically all fruits throughout recorded, March remaining persist of wood and a splendid set of buds for this year's crop" said Chief Matthews. "The winter and spring were both favorable for fruit development. No unusual extreme temperatures were recorded, March remaining persistently cold.

"Fruits were held back by the low temperatures, peaches coming into bloom at the end of March. The first bloom in the commercial orchards of the Sandhill section were 15 days later than they were last year. The month closed two weeks or more later than usual. On the whole fruit passed through the critical periods of the remainder of the Spring with little reduction in the crop."

"The Sandhill section which is the largest commercial peach district in the state is producing its largest crop this year with 2,500 cars practically assured. Two years ago which was the largest to date the crop was less than 1,500 cars.

"The drop of peaches and apples was heavy in some sections of the state and light in other, averaging about medium, Mr. Marrow asserted. Blight was worse than last year, but in some sections not severe. More orchards were sprayed this year than in any previous year, which indicates that the quality of the fruit this year will be above the average."

INFIELD MILL SUFFERS SERIOUS LOSS BY FIRE

Chicago, July 29.—The reading in court today of Nathan Leopold's confession to the kidnapping and slaying of Robert Franks showed him to have accused Richard Loeb of having struck the boy over the head and having gagged him. "I stepped on the gas" said the confession, which depicted him as the driver of the car. Neither of the defendants glanced at each other as this was read.

Chicago, July 29.—Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, who have pleaded guilty to the kidnapping and slaying of 14 years old Robert Franks today heard read in open court first their denials and then their confessions of the crime.

Benjamin Buchrach, one of the attorneys for the boys, helped to get into the records in the final stage of the presentation of evidence by relieving State Attorney Robert E. Crowe of the task of reading the prosecutions transcripts of the boys' admissions.

The boys listened with little change of expression until Buchrach reached the passage where Leopold quoted a profane exclamation made to his brother when he learned that his spectacles had been found near the culvert where he and Loeb had hidden the body of the Franks boy. When this came in Buchrach's clear voice both the defendants grinned. They smiled again when he reached the colloquy between Leopold and State Attorney Crowe in which the latter quizzed the student as to the distinction between grammar and rhetoric. Other points which amused the students included Leopold's hope that he was an expert driver and his doubt that gin was his favorite beverage.

Clarence Darrow, chief counsel for the defense, sat with the boys and talked with them from time to time. The prospects for the lack of drama in today's proceedings did not discourage spectators.

At one point of the reading Leopold's ideas of religion were recorded.

"There is no God," he was quoted as saying. "I do not believe there is a future life. When I die I die all over. Of course this is only an opinion and can be demonstrated only by dying."

Leopold was talking with Darrow when this occurred and apparently did not hear it. Loeb leaned forward to catch it and then turned to his companion and joined him in his conference with the attorney.

Other platform evenings will be devoted to entertainment under the management of the Southern Assembly with J. Dale Stents as director.

According to Dr. Zumbrennen, the work of the summer school of missions is thoroughly standardized and fourteen credit courses will be offered. Instructors, he said, will include outstanding leaders in the church.

Groups especially urged to attend, were stated to be: pastors, teachers of mission study classes, chairmen of missionary committees in local churches, conference and district presidents of boards of missions and missionary societies, missionary volunteers and all others interested in missions.

The Junaluska area for the mission school embraces Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Tennessee, North and South Carolina, Virginia, West

Virginia, and Maryland. ## ASKS EMPLOYERS TO WORK VETERANS

Hines Urges Employment of Veterans Who Have Completed Vocational Training.

Washington, July 29.—With a view to aiding the 2,712 former service men who will complete their vocational training this month and the 15,882 additional to be rehabilitated from now until the first of the new year, Frank T. Hines, Director of the Veterans' Bureau, has appealed to employers throughout the country to give the veterans an opportunity to start life anew by providing them with positions for which they have been trained.

"These men and women served their country at a time of great need and they now ask only a fair chance to find employment along the lines in which they have received their training," said the director's appeal. Director Hines expressed his appreciation of the assistance already rendered by the nation's employers in finding places for the disabled men and called attention to the fact that only 689 of the 67,000 men and women instructed by the bureau in its 14 districts were unemployed on first of June. One month later there remained to be completely rehabilitated along new lines 52,000 disabled veterans, who, as a result of wounds suffered in battle or sickness and injuries received during service in the world war, were rendered incapable of continuing their pre-war occupations following the armistice.

"The Veterans' Bureau can go only so far in the rehabilitation of these former service men," General Hines said. "It can take them and train them up to the point of employability and then it must call on the various employing agencies of the country to carry on from that point."

Less than five per cent of the veterans being rehabilitated have visible disabilities, he said, while 90 per cent are able men. The apparent disabilities, however, consisted only of handicaps insofar as their prewar occupations were concerned.

Of the veterans in training on July 1, professional instruction was being given 7,700; along commercial lines, 11,000; in the trades and industries, 26,000, and in agriculture, 7,300. The majority of these have been in training two years, some three years and other as long as four years, being taught in the country's best universities, colleges, trade and commercial schools and in factories and workshops.

LESSON FOR TRUCK OWNERS

In a certain city last year one person was killed for every 110 heavy trucks and one for every 1,000 motor cars used for the transportation of passengers. Which teaches the lesson that owners of trucks should exercise every care to entrust their heavy trucks to experienced drivers only. After 27 the owner of the truck is legally responsible for his driver's actions.

In crowded cities where children have to play in streets, certain streets should be designated as play streets so that children may play there without fear of accident. No vehicles of any kind should be allowed on those streets during play hours. And when the police designate streets as play streets parents should co-operate to see that their children actually play there.

Mariposa, Cal.—The recent death of Captain O. R. Sydney at his home here recalled an event significant in French history.

Captain Sydney was in Africa in 1879 on business for the British government. One day he found the body of a man who turned out to have been the prince imperial of France, the only son of the ex-emperor Napoleon III. It was presumed generally at the time that the prince was slain by Zulus, with whom Great Britain then was at war. But Captain Sydney noticed that the heart had not been cut out of the body, a tribal fetish of the Zulus in dealing with their enemies, and he always contended that no Zulu fired the shot that closed the career of the last of the Napoleons. It was his theory that the prince was the victim of a political intrigue.

The prince imperial was a great nephew of Napoleon Bonaparte. He was serving as a volunteer in the British army at the time of his death. His mother, the ex-empress Eugenie, lived until 1920.

GERMAN TRADE UNIONISM SHOWS HEALTHY GROWTH

Berlin, July 28.—Germany's first trade union bank, which was established after the success of the labor banks in Seattle, Cleveland, Chicago, Washington, New York and other American cities was assured has been reported to be doing a thriving business in a new building of its own in Berlin's business district. The trade union Temple, begun in 1922, is a modern five story building the ground floor of which is occupied by the labor banking establishment. A library, assembly rooms and offices of the trade union officers are located in the upper floors. The development of trade unions has made remarkable progress throughout Germany since the revolution of 1918 which brought about the formation of the republic. After the German work men came back from the war by hundreds of thousands and discarded the uniform for civilian clothes, they joined the unions in great numbers, and labor officials soon realized that the old headquarters which had served them for years were inadequate.

Therefore the new labor temple came into being, and it is today the headquarters for labor activities throughout the country.

QUALITY MAKES PRICE OF BUTTER SAYS SPECIALIST

Raleigh, July 29.—Quality is a very important factor in determining the price which people are willing to pay for butter, says J. A. Aray, Dairy Extension Specialist of North Carolina State College of Agriculture. It is true, he adds, that the price of butter on the large markets is greatly influenced by the supply and demand, but it is also a fact, he points out, that there is always an active demand at a fair price for good butter.

"I know of a large creamery located in Pennsylvania which has for several years, due to the uniformly high quality of its butter, been able to sell its entire output on a basis of 8 cents apound above New York 'extras', which is butter that will score 92," says Mr. Aray. "This high price for butter enables this plant to pay the farmer a price much above the average for his butter-fat."

"It is impossible to produce a high quality butter from low-grade cream, even though the creamery in which it is manufactured be equipped with the most improved machinery and is operated by efficient labor."

"The cream producer who expects a high price for his butter-fat must produce cream of a quality that will warrant such a price. In order to help reduce the large quantity of 102 grade butter that is now found on the market during the summer months, and which is very detrimental to the dairy industry, it is important that the cream producer exercise great care at this season of the year in handling his cream to prevent rapid souring and the development of undesirable flavors."

The specialist outlined a group of simple methods, which he says, if put into practice, will greatly aid in the improving of the quality of cream that is now produced during the summer months. The rules follow:

1. Draw the milk from clean cows with clean hands into covered pails that are also clean.
2. Strain through several ply cheese cloth.
3. Remove milk from barn immediately after milking and separate with cream screw adjusted to deliver cream testing 35 in 40 per cent fat. Rich cream keeps in good condition longer than low-testing cream, more skim milk is left at home for feeding and the transportation charges are reduced by following this practice.
4. Immediately after separation, place the cream in a cooling tank filled with cold water and keep it there until it leaves the farm.
5. Never mix warm cream with cold cream. Use two cans, one for the fresh warm cream and the other for cold cream of previous separations.
6. Cream should be stirred at least twice a day to keep it smooth and free from lumps. It is very difficult to obtain an accurate sample for butter fat testing out of lumpy cream.
7. Immediately after each use wash all milk vessels and separators in lukewarm water containing all alkali washing powders. After washing, scald the utensils with boiling water and get in the sun to get its germicidal benefits.
8. Deliver cream as often as possible, at least three times a week in the summer and twice a week in the winter. Wet bags wrapped around the cream cans will aid in keeping the cream cool while hauling to the creamery.
9. Cream should not be stored in a cellar or other place where it is liable to absorb an objectionable odor. A small dairy house provided with a cooling tank is an ideal place in which to keep cream.

come to the Rive Plate and gone down to defeat, as well as teams from Italy, Spain and Czechoslovakia. They found that they had nothing to teach the South Americans, either in the science of the game, or in skill and sportsmanship.

For the past seven years, annual South American football championship contests have been held which rival the World Baseball series in the United States in popular interest. One championship final between Argentina and Uruguay, played in Buenos Aires, drew an attendance of 60,000 persons. Of the seven championships so far held Uruguay has won four, Brazil two, and Argentina one.

The football rivalry between Argentina and Uruguay is particularly keen. If Buenos Aires or in Montevideo teams of various categories play series of matches every year for different trophies that draw many thousands of spectators who cheer their favorite with an enthusiasm no less frantic than that of baseball fans at a game between the Yanks and the Giants.

It is a saying about Uruguay that there are only two classes of people in that country, those who play football and those who watch it. In Argentina there are more than a hundred football clubs in what is known as the first division, comprising the best teams, and many hundreds of other clubs of the inferior divisions. All are amateurs, for professional sport, excepting pugilism, does not exist in South America.

LADY ASTOR IS RANKED 4TH OF WOMEN ORATORS NOW

London.—Who are the most effective women speakers in the House of Commons, was a question asked at a political dinner recently. The first was almost unanimously given to Margaret Bondfield, because of her passionate conviction, real eloquence and air of speaking from the heart, which takes listeners by storm.

The Duchess of Atholl was placed next by the diners, who were of opinion that she has a flow of admirable languages, reasons well and keeps her head. Of the other six women legislators, Mrs. Wintingham was adjudged as being a sound speaker, faithful in her ideas and asking nothing unreasonable.

Lady Astor, next on the list, is credited with much earnestness but not always having her feelings under control, while her American vivacity is often mistaken for lack of dignity.

Lady Topping and Mrs. Phillips were said to be plausible but hardly profound, and both Miss Susan Lawrence and Miss Dorothy Jewson have been less prominent than their supporters expected.

JAY-WALKING DANGEROUS

Have mercy on the jay-walker. When he jay-walks in the middle of the block he has to watch traffic from two directions only while at the corners he often has to watch it from four directions.

Then too on one-way streets the jay-walker has to watch traffic from one direction only. But when the one-way street jay-walker gets into a strange city where one-way streets are unknown he must take care he isn't run down because of his failure to look both ways.

Jay-walking is encouraged when pedestrians are not permitted to cross streets before cars are instructed to make turns.

Jay-walking is especially dangerous because the driver naturally does not expect to encounter pedestrians in the middle of the block in the middle of the street but accident statistics show that the pedestrian may be anywhere any time.

WOMEN GET ONE-FOURTH FILIPINO UNIVERSITY DEGREES

Manila, July 28.—Women of the Philippines are crowding out men in a number of courses open to both sexes in the University of the Philippines and other co-educational institutions, according to statistics compiled from reports of the last school year.

In the University of the Philippines out of 46 graduates in pharmaceutical chemistry, 42 were women. Out of 11 receiving the degree of doctor of medicine, four were women. Out of the total 488 receiving degrees from the university during the year just closed, 110 were women.

MANY POSITIONS OFFERED LIBRARY SCHOOL GRADUATES

Cleveland.—Several times as many positions as there were young women to fill them were offered the 48 girl graduates of the School of Library Science of Western Reserve University this summer. The offers all came within two weeks of graduation. The university announced that each girl considered several positions and that 47 accepted places, all at good salaries and promising futures.

Although the School of Library Science has the second smallest enrollment of the nine colleges of Western Reserve University, it draws its students from the most scattered territory and its graduates go to widely scattered cities.

Russian Exiles Now In Philippines Want To Emigrate To U. S.

Manila, July 29.—A survey of the condition of the 250 Russian refugees who arrived here nearly a year and a half ago from Vladivostok is to be made by the Philippine health department, the bureau of customs and a physician of the United States quarantine service to determine whether they are qualified to enter the United States. There appears to be likelihood of the refugees being allowed to land in the United States for many months to come, but Admiral Stark, who led the colony from Vladivostok, expresses the hope that arrangement for admission of most of the Russian may be made.

About a year ago some 600 of the 850 who came here in February 1923 were sent to San Francisco on the army transport Merrit and reports from them about favorable conditions in the United States have caused their friends and relatives remaining here to renew their efforts to reach America.

The colony of some 7,000 headed by Admiral Stark, adherent of the old monarchical regime, was forced to leave Vladivostok by the soviet. They took 16 small ships and set out in 1922 to look for a country in which to land. Several thousand were dropped in Korea and other thousands were left in China, a number of ships being sold enroute to obtain subsistence. When they reached the Philippines the personnel had dwindled to 850 and the number of ships to eleven. During the last year and a half five more of the ships have been sold, leaving six now at the Olongapo naval station.

Trip to New York Saves State $12,000

Raleigh, July 28.—B. R. Lacy, treasurer of the State of North Carolina, has returned to his office here from New York where he went to sign the bonds for the $10,000,000 recently borrowed by the state from New York bankers. Mr. Lacy's trip to New York cost $125, it was explained, but had he had the bonds shipped to him he says the express companies would have charged $12,500 insurance fees on the $10,000,000. Therefore he saved the state more than 12,000.

While in New York Mr. Lacy put his signature to 10,000 bonds, it was stated. He states that he can sign his name 500 times per hour, while the average person whose duty it is to habitually sign his name, can only reach the 400 mark per hour.

Football Fans in Uruguay Sure Their Boys Would Win

Buenos Aires, July 29.—The surprise expressed in the United States and Europe that a little country like Uruguay should have produced a football team able to win the Olympic championship is not shared in South America. Just as in the United States boys learn to play baseball as soon as they can lift a bat, boys in Argentina, Uruguay, Chile, Paraguay and Brazil learn to play soccer football when they are tiny tots. In all these countries football is the national sport, and it is considered no wonder that in Uruguay, or in any of them, world champions could be produced as the result of the universal devotion to this game.

Speed football was introduced into the River Plate countries by the English 30 years ago and took an immediate hold. Since that time crick English and Scotch teams have

HAVE FAITH IN AMERICA

In the June Harper's Magazine, Davis F. Houston has a constructive article which shows that this country is sound in spite of the workings of pessimists, agitators and demagogues.

Those whose comparisons are with the heroic days of George Washington are reminded that he was by some of his own day called a hypocrite an impostor and murderer. Those whose political demigods are the Clays, the Websters and the Calhouns are told that Cleveland, Wilson and Richard Olney were more worthy to be followed than these statesmen of the former days. And to these who do not look back at all, but only about them in bewilderment and disgust upon scandals, class conflicts and blocs. Mr. Houston brings the conclusion that no one class or "bloc" has sense enough to govern all the other classes, and that present "bloccs" will disappear even as did the ones against which Washington warned the people.

There is with a safeguarded economic stability, a spirit in the people which will insist upon a clean national household from cellar to attic and which prompts this financier whose roots are deep in the soil of America to advise the public that "the United States is today the safest investment in the world".

We have succeeded, the ex-Secretary contends, despite all our mistakes and failures and official shortcomings, because we have had, on the whole, a "competent people". And he adds the corollary that the right kind of people can run any sort of government, while the wrong sort cannot run any kind.

One cannot read Mr. Houston's article without new hope for America, and even for Europe unless a chronic and irreclaimable pessimist.

"DEFENSE DAY"

On no other subject is there greater diversity of entrenched opinions in this country than on the matter of preparedness for war. The World War instead of settling the question served merely as a text for every school of thinking. It serves President Coolidge in his letter to the National Council for the Prevention of War, and it serves Frederick Libby, Executive Secretary of that council, in his reply.

There are some who prove by the war, to their own satisfaction, that war is natural and inevitable, even to be encouraged. There are many who prove by it that, though war may be preventable for a while, it is bound to come in the end and that preparation is therefore necessary. There are others who prove by it that though war may in time be banished altogether, the nations of the earth are not yet ready to live without it, and that measures of defense are rational at present. There are still others who hold that all war is preventable if only the race will quit glorifying it and will quit piling up armament.

President Coolidge fails in the third category and Mr. Libby in the fourth. We are inclined to agree with Mr. Coolidge rather than with Mr. Libby. War and the motives for war still exist and there is no world organization as yet sufficiently powerful or influential to guarantee an end forever to the recurrent effusion of human blood.

But on the separate question of the celebration of "Defense Day" as the President prefers to call it, Mr. Libby is correct without being able to present a logical basis for his attitude. Preparedness, while necessary, should be a business affair, not especially complicated by national pride or vainglory. A day set apart for the celebration of our military strength is likely to be turned into an occasion for stimulating artificially national enthusiasm for the military arm of government, into arousing the militaristic spirit and enthusiasm of this sort under shrewd guidance may be diverted to dangerous uses. If preparation is as it should be, a matter of business, we should prepare without making a tremendous fuss about it. We should prepare without propaganda. And Defense Day is very largely for propaganda purpose.

DON'T BE THE "OTHER FELLOW"

About 15,700 lives were lost in motor accidents (exclusive of grade crossing collisions between motor vehicles and trains) in the United States during 1923, an increase of nearly 2,000 over the 1922 record. Grade crossing fatalities make a total exceeding 17,000. This estimate was made by the National Safety Committee of the Automobile Department of the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters on the basis of statistics of 135 cities.

It may be all right to insure your car against fire, theft, collision, public liability and property damage and so long as the accident which may be due to your carelessness merely hurt the "other fellow" you let the insurance company worry about the cost. But if you happen to be the "other fellow" insurance collected by your airs may not help you in the place to which you go. No insurance has yet been found which will prevent death and injury; hence it pays to be careful.

NEED FOR FIRE PREVENTION

The need for making every reasonable effort to prevent fires is self-evident, but unfortunately is is often overlooked. This is true of any home or manufacturing plant but is particularly important as it applies to those places where inflammable materials are present.

Fire prevention deserves very serious consideration in every building, whether it be design, construction, operation or maintenance. Exhaustive studies of fires that have occurred in the past indicate means for preventing similar fires in the future. Practically every fire furnishes lessons in fire prevention from which all can profit.

Most all of us think that we were born a few years too soon.

Cheer up! Four months from now we will wish we had some heat.

Most of these men who long for the good old days would hate to go to bed at 6 o'clock.

It is always proper to think what you say; but not always proper to say what you think.

Ever since fashion men said nightshirts were back we have been looking for a hotel fire to see if it is true.

The Art of Beauty

The Time—The Place—The Make-Up

HOW often do we see some one criticize a girl for renewing her make-up in public. "Why didn't she do all that at home?" they ask.

The answer is that of course she did. But probably she neglected to make-up at home by the same kind of light as that she is under now—and she finds that the make-up is entirely wrong. There is a vast difference between the make-up needed when one is surrounded by shaded lights and that when one is under the relentless glare of electric chandeliers.

A conservative woman who wears rouge in the daytime usually prefers a shade that tones so perfectly with her own color that, put on discreetly, it merely intensifies the little flush upon her cheek. If her skin is olive her hair dark, she chooses a deep brunette tone like Ashes of Rosa. If she is fair, a lighter, muted rose shade gives her the perfect illusion of rosy color. However in the evening both of these women may prefer an effect that's a bit more exotic. The warm orange color of Mandarin rouge gives the dark haired woman a Spanish suggestion—and to the blond a piquant naughtiness of complexion.

But there is another matter that most of us forget about. Different costumes call for different make-up, so the final touches must be made after we are dressed. If you are wearing a jeune fille dress, for instance you would not want heavily beaded eyelashes and dead white powder.

MRS. NASH HARDEE DEAD
(Contributed)
God in His Providence has seen fit to remove from her home and community near Simpson, one of the most highly esteemed and beloved residents, Mrs. Nash Hardee. On Saturday, July 26, her Master called her to her home of eternal joy and happiness. Mrs. Hardee was forty-one years of age. She was a faithful member of her church at Reedy Branch. Her liberality was unbounded. She gave with a spirit of joy and cheerfulness that was an inspiration to others. Faithful in all her obligations to her church and community, she was a kind mother, an affectionate and faithful wife, a good neighbor and true friend.
She leaves behind to mourn her, besides a host of sorrowing relatives and friends, her husband and four children, two sisters, Mrs. J. J. Jenkins of this city and Mrs. E. W. Smith, one brother, J. B. Sutton, of Craig, Montana.

WHEAT GROWERS IN CANADA TO MARKET COOPERATIVELY
Winnipeg, Man.—A wheat pool merger which contemplates the marketing of the entire wheat crop of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta by one cooperative organization, is being planned. The greater part of the wheat crop of these provinces has, in the past, been marketed by separate provincial pools.
Whether the merger will be effected in time to market this year's crop is uncertain, but these behind the movement declare they will begin wholesale cooperative marketing operations at least by next year.
"Canada has been a pioneer in advancing the interests of its farmers by the adoption of a cooperative marketing system," an official statement declared. "The cooperative movement in the nation is more than 20 years old. Practically every product of Canadian farms is now marketed cooperatively. The system has en-

Summer Hints for Young Mothers
"Looseness" is frequent in summer because children will eat unripe or overripe fruit, raw vegetables and other indigestible food. Fermentation follows quickly. Sometimes, there is fever, pain or vomiting, and nearly always diarrhoea, which simply means that nature is trying to clear out the poison and gas.
The old idea—a serious mistake—was to check it with blackberry or some other astringent. What is needed is a cathartic. Hurry up with the cleaning-out process. Then give a lighter diet for a while.
Castor oil is good, but better still is Liv-o-lax, which does the work thoroughly, and the children like to take it. You can get a good-sized bottle at the drug store for 50c.

COTTON LETTER

New Orleans, July 29.—Although there was no rain of consequence in Texas or other sections of the western half of the belt, where moisture is needed, market was somewhat reactionary today because of the very high prices ruling for this period of the year and owing to returns to the National Ginners Association averaging the condition of the growing crop at 70.5, indicating a yield, based on their acreage of 11,920,000 bales.

Government returns, as of July 16, averaged the condition of crop at 68.5 forecasting a production of 11,934,000 bales. The question at issue is whether the average condition of the crop deteriorated or held its own since 16th inst. It is possible that some deterioration has occurred since that date in the Western half of the belt, especially in Louisiana and Texas, but it is likely that some improvement has taken place meanwhile to the east of the Mississippi River.

Following yesterday's arrival here of the first bale of Louisiana new crop cotton, the first of new cotton was received here today by the arrival of two bales from Mississippi. Last year Louisiana first new bale was received here on August 10 and Mississippi marketed her first new bale August 14.

Advices from South Texas are to the effect that the Rio Grande valley is gaining 1000 to 1500 bales per day and that prospects are for a heavy movement from other sections of the Southern portion of the state next month. So it seems that the movement of new crop cotton, weather permitting, will be early and heavy from south Texas and the lower Mississippi valley this year.

CATHOLIC CONVERT BRANDED "K. K."

Nelson Burroughs, formerly a Protestant, but now organizer of the Knights of Columbus in Rochester, N. H., declares these marks on his chest and forehead were seared there with a red-hot iron by a gang of masked men who kidnaped him in an automobile and carried him to a shack, presumably near Haverhill, Mass., from which he escaped after being a prisoner for 17 days. He asserted he had received letters warning him to return to the Protestant church, and that he was branded for refusing. The authorities declared they believed his story in its entirety.

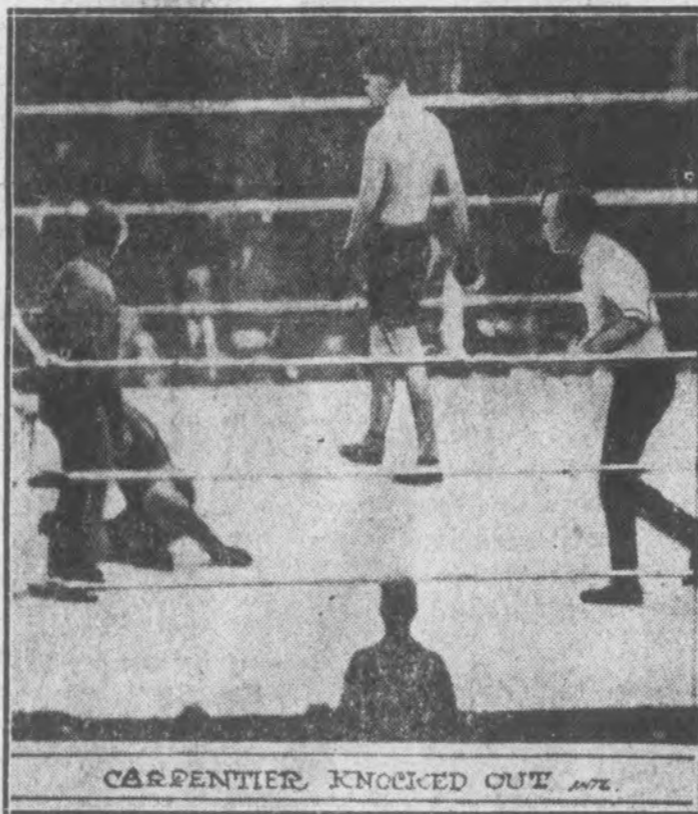

The deceased is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Smith, his wife and two young children. The deceased was a veteran of the world war. He served overseas as a first lieutenant in the 105th Engineers 30th division. Prior thereto he saw service on the Mexican border. The funeral will be held Tuesday afternoon from the home of Smith's parents. The deceased had been in the employment of the Murchison National Bank for about 15 years.
