LEGAL BATTLE MURDER CASE CONTINUES

Reparations Conference Reaches An Agreement

Chicago Youths Were Mentally Ill Says Physician

Morning Session in Hearing of Case Against Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb Develops Into Sharp Sparring Match Between Prosecutor and Witness; Crowe Declares Dr. White In First Report Stated Boys Were Insane Rather Than Mentally Sick

Chicago, Aug. 2.—A direct attack on the credibility of Dr. William A. White, head of the government hospital for the insane, at Washington, was made today in Judge Caverly's court by Robert E. Crowe, state attorney, who cross examined the doctor who was testifying in defense of Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb.

The attack developed in the shortened half day session when the prosecutor asked Dr. White to produce the original report he had made to attorneys for the defense. It was stated flatly by Crowe, over objections that came hurriedly from Clarence Darrow and Walter Bachrach, that the report held that the defendants were insane rather than mentally sick.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—Richard Loeb was "mentally ill on May 21, 1924, when he and Nathan Leopold, Jr. kidnapped and murdered Robert Franks" it was testified today on cross examination by Dr. William A. White.

Judge John R. Caverly sustained objections by Walter Bachrach, of the defense counsel, when Robert E. Crowe, state attorney, tried to learn whether the expert thought Loeb insane. The same opinion was given as to Leopold.

The session developed into a sharp sparring match between the witness and the prosecutor. Sometimes Crowe questions would elicit a smile from the doctor and again the complaint that they were meaningless and at other times he insisted on going into lengthy explanations when the state attorney asked for "yes or no answers."

"That is impossible to give" was Dr. White's usual response to such attempts to pin him down.

Mr. Crowe once asked if the doctor thought Loeb and "Dementia Precox, Yes or No."

"If he can't answer yes or no let him answer as he pleases," said Judge Caverly.

"Is dementia precox legal insanity?" asked Crowe.

"That is for you lawyers to say" retorted Dr. White over objection which was sustained that came from Mr. Bachrach and the court simultaneously.

HOLLAND'S OUTDOOR PRISON SYSTEM PROVES SUCCESSFUL

The Hague.—The "outdoor prison system here has been officially announced a success, and the Dutch government has made arrangements to extend the idea to various parts of the country. This decision came after an experiment which has continued more than a year, and it is reported, of all the prisoners placed on their honor not to escape, and during which time they were allowed much freedom, not a single individual abused the trust.

The experiment began when 60 prisoners were drafted to the town of Veenhuizen to convert moorland into cultivated fields, and they showed themselves very much interested and industrious as well. The men were not supervised or guarded in any way. The foreman of each gang was, however, not a prisoner, but a workman who joined voluntarily.

Mother Cannot Aid Her Slayer Son

Mrs. Albert H. Loeb, mother of "Angel Faced Dickie" Loeb, on trial before Judge Caverly, in Chicago, to determine what shall be his fate, with Nathan Leopold, Jr., for the murder of Robert Franks, pleaded to be allowed to go to the side of her son, but her physician refused to permit it, declaring it would prove fatal to her. She is a sufferer from heart disease.

NECESSITY MAKES THIEF OF HUNGARIAN NOBLEMAN

Budapest, July 31.—Baron Ernst Banffy, member of one of the oldest noble families of Hungary, has turned thief. Driven by economic worries, he embarked upon a career of stealing little odds and ends of things from members of his social set, who at first never suspected the brilliant society lion of being the culprit. As he had entree to homes of the richest and most exclusive families of the Hungarian aristocracy, it was an easy thing for him to pick up objects of value and to have them disappear in his coat pockets. He was especially fond of thieving objects made of gold or silver.

On one occasion he stole a valuable watch. The owner caught the baron in the act and reported him to the police. Banffy fled from Siebenburgen, where the theft had occurred, but was caught in Budapest. He confessed to having committed ten thefts.

SIMPLICITY MARKS ANNIVERSARY OF HARDING'S DEATH

Former Friends and Neighbors of Late President Bow Heads at Grave of Departed Chieftan

Marion, Ohio, Aug. 2.—Simplicity marked the first anniversary of the death of the late President Warren G. Harding, in this, his home town, today.

Always avoiding ostentatious ceremonies while he lived, his wishes are being followed after death? No public ceremony had been arranged other than the laying of a wreath upon his tomb in the cemetery. The wreath sent by President Coolidge was to be placed upon the tomb without pomp.

During the day hundreds trudged to the tomb and stood for a few moments with bowed heads.

At 7 o'clock, the hour of his death in the Palace Hotel, in San Francisco, one year ago, the old bell in the Central Fire Station, was to sound for the departed executive. At the first stroke friends and neighbors of the former chief were to bare their heads in reverent mien for five minutes.

Dr. E. T. Harding, the former president's father, himself in failing health, did not take part in any of the ceremony. With a few friends he may visit the tomb.

MORE THAN 10,000 ATTEND PRIMITIVE BAPTIST MEETING

Danville, Aug. 2.—The Old County Line Primitive Baptist Association, which has been in session here for three days, six miles beyond Yanceyville, N. C., near here, came to a close this week, after what is described as being the largest attendance on any religious event ever held in this section. Fully ten thousands persons were on hand by the middle of the afternoon on Sunday.

The Baptists from the entire section began arriving on Friday evening and some two hundred tents were pitched in the forest glen where the arbor had been prepared for open-air services, the church itself being too small to accommodate more than a handful of those attending. Nearly 100 elders were on hand and conducted group services each night of the encampment, being enlivened by the singing of different groups seated about the camp fires.

The Baptists brought their own food with them, each family preparing the food, which was then set on tables where not only the tenters, but all persons attending the association found plenty. It is the first time in twenty years that the association has been held at County Line church.

Mr. Charlie Manning left yesterday, for Richmond where he will be located during the tobacco season.

London, Aug. 2.—A complete program for launching the Dawes reparations plan settlement was agreed upon by the Inter-Allied conference during a half hour plenary session at the foreign office this morning.

The Allied premier and American Ambassador Kellogg took up the technical points which the experts had struggled in two all-night sessions and after modifications which Premier MacDonald and Herriot accepted, the compromise settlement was reached.

Prime Minister MacDonald this afternoon sent to the German Embassy an invitation to the German government to send delegates to the conference.

The embassy dispatched the invitation to Berlin immediately. Prime Minister MacDonald has expressed hope that the German delegates might be able to arrive in London by Monday.

When the agreement was reached the weary experts, who had slept little during the past 48 hours, left the conference room and the chief delegates began framing the invitation to the German government to send delegates to London.

Prime Minister MacDonald handed the invitation to the German Ambassador this afternoon and Foreign Minister Strossman and his colleagues are expected to reach London Monday night. Meanwhile the conference will take a recess with the exception of the committee which is drafting the results of the fortnight's work so that the document can be submitted to the Germans.

The conference will enter upon its final stage with the arrival of the Germans who will be asked to express an opinion on the program for putting the Dawes scheme into operation. After the Germans have heard a protocol embodying the program will be signed by the Allies and the Germans it is expected and then the Reparations Commission will make its appointments and set up the organization necessary for carrying out the Dawes program.

SHAPE OF RAIN DROPS ENGAGES ATTENTION OF GERMAN SCIENTISTS

Friedrichshaven.—What is the shape of a rain drop? is a question which lately has been discussed at length by German scientists. It isn't exactly round, and to this they all agree.

Paul Javoy, chief engineer of the Zeppelin works here where the ZR-3 is nearing completion for its delivery flight to Lakehurst, N. J., has taken moving pictures of rain drops which he says show that they are flat on the top and on the bottom, due to pressure of the air, while the sides are convex. In other words, according to Engineer Javoy, falling rain drops as to form might be compared with an apple placed in a press and flattened on its top and bottom to about half its ordinary height.

THE AMERICAN HOME

To the greatest number the American home is the purest symbol of nationality. Around it circles most of those things we like to remember. None but the very few expatriates view life abroad without wistfully casting back in their mind to the virtues and superiorities of the American home.

The cardinal element of the American home is self-sufficiency. There is substantial reason for that. When this wonderful land was colonized it had to become either the prey of adventurers or the resource of constructive workers. Only by courageous effort, by a supreme devotion to the means of livelihood was the family established as the ancestor of this teeming people of great riches and superb achievement.

The foundation is in those homes, and ever must be; that is why the tradition of the American home is such an integral part of American life, as individual as any national characteristic can be, and as wholesome and permanent as anything man has created.

American society has traveled far and fast from the day of the stockade and prairie schooner. Some have it the journey has rubbed off the primitive virtues which made the rugged grandeur of the pioneer life. Modern invention has abolished most of the hardships, and not even the bitterest critic of modern social life can wish to bring back the perils and toils of the noble women who made those early American homes. It is probably true that the instincts are as true now as ever they were; that women remain women, and that the home is destined to endure as our most significant symbol.

The great upgrowth of big cities has indeed diminished the typical American home, the single residence, and to the extent that we have become a race of flat-dwellers, home-making has lost some of its sweetness. But that is in no wise the fault of the womanhood of the land, who perforce, follow the breadwinner in his quest for employment.

Possibly the "better homes" week can recall the vision of the single home and impel the new generation of housewives to recreate, on modern lines, that which their mothers and grandmothers did in a different way.

FOR LESS WILL POWER

It is becoming more difficult as time goes on to read the text of a periodical without meeting the self-important salesman. He's there every month in the front of the book with a scheme to make your lungs as capacious as a blacksmith's bellows and your memory as enduring as that popularly ascribed to the elephant. He seeks to plant in you a desire for biceps as powerful as Mr. Zbyszko's and a will as unyielding as Gibraltar.

Especially is he anxious about your will power. He insists if you say every morning, "I will have a million dollars before I die," that eventually that prospect will materialize.

This may be entirely true, and a strong will may be capable of scaling any height. But much depends on the task set for the will. It might be as well in the end if there were courses arranged for deflation of a lot of the will power in the world. A movement for weaker wills would stop, among other things, all future wars for it would do away with a vast amount of selfishness. A will as inflexible as Everest is not particularly precious if it is exercised in trampling on the rest of humanity to reach a set in the sun.

Lincoln did not repeat the "I will" formula periodically. Historians seem to agree that he groped along in a consciousness that he was an instrument of God.

The picture of the downy sophomore clenching his fists before the mirror and parrotting the mystic ritual is engaging. But perhaps it would be better in the beginning if he substituted faith for gymnastics in will power. Faith moves men forward with no loud gritting of teeth and digging of nails into the palms. The will developer is apt to be an annoyance to himself and a nuisance to his friends. Faith annoys no one, and it is a lot more comfortable than looking intense and cutting a neighbor's throat.

A man seldom hears the knock of opportunity if he pays too much attention to the knocks of the neighbors.

Times haven't changed much. Back in pioneer days the pedestrian had to dodge the deadly rattler, also.

Another thing that persuades young married men to settle down and attend to business is an annual set of twins.

A feminine writer says no wife should suffer in silence. But if she is silent, how can she keep from suffering?

In Utopia the rents are just as high as here, but the tenant acquires title to the property after he has paid for it seven times.

Florida Still Undecided What To Call Its Natives

Tallahassee, Fla., July 31.—A referendum among Floridians and Floridian has been suggested by the Palm Beach Post as a means of settling a discussion that has agitated the editorial writers of the state for months. The discussion has recently bobbed in a rather intensified form, with exponents of both designations, but they have failed to "get anywhere" after arguing the question pro and con at great length.

Now comes the Post with the suggestion to settle the matter.

The question has been ably defended on both sides, with the Ocala Star taking a leading part among those favoring elimination of the "i" in the final syllable and making the name Floridian. It is contended by the Star that the Spanish language, which gave Florida her name does not want the spelling Floridian, and this is supported by claims that the old Latin, upon which the Spanish language has its foundation, is further substantiation.

The Palm Beach Post, taking the other side of the argument, finds grounds for the other spelling, Floridian, in the spelling of Canadian, and remarks facetiously that "Of course, Mr. Webster who worked out a makeshift of a dictionary, and some of the other boys in that competitive field, will be glad to know that they are wrong in spelling it 'Floridian.' No doubt it will be changed just as soon as their attention is called to it and the new authority is cited."

"Because of the similarity in the two words, the old authorities," continues The Post, "who whittled corners while they thought out some way to 'get by' when they came to such troublesome terms, no doubt will change the spelling of Canadian at the same time."

200,000 in Cuba Who Hoped to Enter U. S. Barred by New Law

Havana, July 31.—The new American immigration law which became effective July 1, has barred the doors to approximately 200,000 persons from every land under the sun who had come to Cuba expecting to go to the United States, according to Vice-Consul T. M. Fisher in charge of passports in the American consulate general here.

The sharp decrease in quotas from Asiatic and southern European countries and the change in regulations make it improbable that more than one per cent of the would-be immigrants can legally get into the United States during the next 12 months and many declare openly that under these conditions they will take almost any chance of being smuggled over to Florida or to any port. A few months in jail and forcible deportation is the only penalty. A few say they will go to South America, but the majority declare they will eventually return to their native lands.

Nearly three-fourths of the men, women and children who gather daily by the thousands and clamor for passport visas to "The States" are Spanish. The next largest element consists of Jamaican negroes of whom there are approximately 40,000, while Mr. Fisher estimates that there are 10,000 Jews of various nationalities and about 300 to 500 each of Germans, Greeks, Russians, Poles, Turks, Syrians, and Armenians, and scores of Rumanians, Czech-Slovaks, Jugoslavs, Persians and a few Chaldeans and native African negroes. "I have never heard of a nationality that is not represented here," he said.

In addition there are some 60,000 Chinese and a scattering of Japanese in Cuba whose only hope is to be smuggled into the United States.

The Spaniards fit well into Cuban life and are represented in most of its industries throughout the island while the Chinese in the last few years have started truck farms in the suburbs of Havana and are supplying the city with fresh vegetables or are operating small stores here, but most of the other immigrants appear to be living from hand to mouth and declare they cannot settle down and save anything in a country where common labor makes $1 to $1.50 a day and where "floating labor" is lucky to find a job in the dull summer months.

A few immigrants peddle small articles in the streets or work for a few dollars a week for residents of their own nationality, and a Jewish aid society extends what help it can to persons of that faith, but according to Mr. Fisher, "literally thousands are being supported by relatives in the United States or are living on their savings."

Many of the immigrants have lived for years in the United States without taking out naturalization papers and on visiting their native lands overstayed the time limit and now cannot return. Most of the immigrants are persons who were refused American passports visas in their own countries and came to Cuba hoping to get into the United States under the provisions of the former immigration law which allowed free entry to Europeans after five years residence here and permitted a dash across the Florida straits to get in on their respective quotas after a year's residence. The new law contains no such provisions.

A big cast and a big story go hand in hand in Sam Wood's latest production for Paramount, "The Next Corner," which opens at White's theatre Monday.

Conway Tearle, Lon Chaney, Dorothy Mackaill, Ricardo Cortez and Louise Dresser are the featured players. The story, adapted to the screen by Monte M. Katterjohn from the novel of the same name by Kate Jordan, is one with a moral for every young married couple—the lesson we derived was one of satisfaction with our lot in life and—well—discretion.

Miss Mackaill is the wife, Conway Tearle the man and Ricardo Cortez a sort of wolf in sheep's clothing who leaves not a stone unturned to win Miss Mackaill as Elsie Maury. Lon Chaney is Don Arturo's (Ricardo Cortez) foster brother and major domo, who, when Arturo is killed by an enraged Basquet peasant, believes Elsie to be solely to blame and does everything in his power to disgrace her in Maury's eyes—and we might add here that he fails delightfully. Miss Dresser is a pawn in Don Arturo's hands in shaping his ends—a sort of second-fiddle.

It has been a long time since we enjoyed a picture as we did "The Next Corner"—and that's praise indeed, for we're mighty hard to please.

FEDERATIONS TO CONDUCT SERVICES IN FARMVILLE SUNDAY AFTERNOON

The Groups of the Men's and Women's Federations will conduct services in Farmville Sunday afternoon at 6 o'clock. Mr. C. B. Rowlett will have charge of the services and will be assisted by members of the Federations.

The officers of both Federations are anxious to have a large crowd attend the services. Time invitation was extended by the Rotary Club and the Ministerial Association of Farmville.

With the exception of services in Ayden and Arthur this will be the only service conducted in the county on tomorrow by members of the Federation.

Farmville is only a short distance from Greenville and other Pitt county towns.

Paved roads makes traveling a pleasure and roads leading to Farmville are paved.

Don't fail to attend the services tomorrow. The Federations need your co-operation in winning Pitt county for Christ.

It has been previously announced that this meeting would be held at 2:30 o'clock and it was understood by the Federations that this hour would be agreeable. Notice was received today from the Farmville people that the meeting would have to be conducted at 6 o'clock as this hour has been advertised by them throughout their community.

Every member of the Federation who can possibly do so is urged to attend the services at this hour.

GARTERS FOR MEN BANNED AT WESTERN UNIVERSITY

Seattle, Washington, July 31.—Rainbow-colored garters, some with squares of varied colors, others with polo ponies and mallets, baseball bats, footballs and other sport insignia, are being turned out by an eastern garter company for university men students, in an effort to overthrow a garterless fad in colleges throughout the nation according to samples shown recently by salesmen here.

The new masculine hose-supporters are said to "outshine" anything worn by the most dashing of bimboes.

The garterless fad has been taken up by University of Washington fraternities here this year and has grown popular. The habit of leaving the lower buttons of the vest unfastened and allowing clothes to become wrinkled and baggy has been prevalent.

Germany Railway System Still Far Below Prewar Efficiency

Liepsic, Germany, July 31.—Summer vacation travel has increased German railway traffic from 55 percent of prewar conditions to 65 percent so far as the number of trains in concerned.

It is claimed that passenger business is run at a loss and only freight traffic pays.

Before the war the average speed of fast trains was 53.56 miles an hour while at present the average speed is 47.50. Owing to the transportation taxes passenger fares are about 50 percent above prewar rates.

PASSION PLAYERS' U. S. TRIP DIVIDED

Oberammergau, Bavaria, Aug. 1.—Oberammergau is not the peaceful village that it was before Anton Lang and his wood carving companions went to America early this year. Local opponents of the trip to the United States have gained reinforcements since the return of the Lang party some weeks ago and the town has divided into bitter Lang and anti-Lang groups.

The anti-Lang forces assert that the American visit of the Oberammergau players was an attempt to commercialize the Passion Play, that the trip was a financial failure and the have threatened to sabotage the next production of the performance scheduled for 1923.

Anton Lang himself has held aloof from his critics thus far and refuses to answer them, contending that the charges are unfounded, and avers that the Passion Play will not suffer from criticism or jealousies of individuals.

WINE IN MUSEUM IN RHINE SAID TO BE 1,700 YEARS OLD

Speyer, Bavarian Palatinate.—This little town on the Rhine is the proud possessor of what experts maintain is the oldest wine in the world. The wine, according to Hans Runage, a specialist in antiques, was unearthed near here among Roman ruins some 1,700 years ago and has been kept in a museum here ever since.

The department of the Speyer museum devoted to old wines also has tools for trimming grape vines, wine glasses, wine presses and other articles used for wine making by the Romans early in the third century, all being in splendid state of preservation.

Markets

(Furnished by James William Cobb)

DAILY COTTON LETTER.

New Orleans, Aug. 2.—In early morning market remained under the depressing influence of yesterday's secretary Hester's small consumption report for last season and his larger carry-over figures than expected. Subsequently values advanced, due to the official forecast for generally fair weather for the western half of the belt, and London reporting that the international reparations conference accepted the Dawes reparations plan.

Private crop reports are very favorable from the eastern half of the belt. In fact from nearly all sections of the belt, except Louisiana and are fairly good from the last named state, although it is generally admitted that a general heavy rain is needed in Texas to prevent further deterioration.

The reaching of an agreement by the Allies, if signed by Germany, as it will likely be, will probably create an optimistic feeling in trade and financial circles throughout the world as a settlement of the vexatious reparations problem will be the biggest event in the history of the world since Armistice day, 1918.

If Germany signs the agreement reached by the allies, it will mean the restoration of lasting peace, a loan to Germany of $200,000,000, principally by American Bankers, and naturally an extension of credit for commercial and industrial purposes in Europe, resulting in trade expansion abroad, and probably permits of larger exports of raw cotton and grain from the United States to Europe, which would be favorable for the Agricultural sections of the West and South.

Aside of the more favorable reparations news, the cotton trade will have to reckon with whether conditions, especially in Texas next week and other private monthly crop reports as well as the government reports due August 8th as to the average condition, indicated crop and ginnings to August 1st.

Latest advices from Washington are to effect that no reports were received last night of strong winds over the northwestern portion of the Caribbean sea, indicating less evidence of a disturbance in those parts.

Adept Flyers Keep Lights Burning For Mail Pilots Now

Chicago, Aug. 1.—The U. S. Air mail "puddle-jumper," so named because it gets in and out of pastures and other small areas to fix the airway lights, finds favor with T. X. Marshall, veteran pilot.

"The old reliable D. H. planes with their 400 h. p. motors could not begin to get out of the small places we have to enter," he says. "Puddle-jumper" is rather a complimentary term applied to the Curtiss 180 h. p. maintenance plane which operates from Maywood, Ill., to and from Iowa City, and Cleveland. It can cut weeds with its all-metal propeller, mowing it possible to alight and take off safely in weeds that would badly chew up the wooden part of other propellers.

"We like it because of the big fat wheels, the 'puppy-feet,' we call them which enables us to land in a soft field. The radiator in the upper wing contains the water and envelops the gasoline tank. The 33 hi-lift wings, 7 feet 4 inches wide and nearly a foot in thickness, enables the ship to land slowly, therefore allowing it to enter and leave very small fields. We have been in grain fields with the stalks standing waist-high.

"One of the first official ships to carry a typewriter in this plane. The electrician holds it on his knees while in flight, observes what needs to be done to some of the lights as seen from above, types the instructions, wraps up the necessary materials along with the message, with a long white tail attached, and drop the packet overboard to the waiting caretaker below."
