WORLD FLIER IS FORCED DOWN AT SEA

Lt. Leigh Wade's Plane Is Wrecked Enroute Iceland

After Six Hours' Struggle to Take to Air Again Aviators Are Taken From Plane and See It Wrecked in Effort to Hoist it Aboard Cruiser; Lts. Smith and Nelson Arrive in Iceland

Washington, Aug. 4.—Unless the wrecked airplane of Lieutenant Leigh Wade, army aviator, can be repaired at Reykjavick he is definitely out of the around-the-world flight it was said today at department headquarters here.

Reykjavick, Iceland, Aug. 4.—The wrecked airplane which had been piloted by Lieutenant Leigh Wade in the American around-the-world flight and which was abandoned early this morning by the cruiser Richmond, is being taken to the Faroe Islands by the trawler Rugby in order to ascertain whether it may be possible to repair it in time to continue the flight, it is understood here.

London, Aug. 4.—Misfortune has again laid a hard hand upon the American Army Around-the-World flight expedition.

Two dauntless pilots, Lieutenants Lowell H. Smith and Eric Nelson, with their mechanics, are at Hoen Hornafjord, Iceland, ready to continue on to Greenland over the black watery waste of the north Atlantic to Labrador, but Lieutenant Leigh Wade and Sergeant Ogden, his mechanic, are out of the running through no fault of their own.

Rescued by a British trawler and American destroyer Billingsley, after they had been forced down at sea by engine trouble on the hop to Iceland from Kirkwall, in Orkneys, Wade and Ogden stood helpless upon the deck of the U. S. Cruiser Richmond and saw a steel boom weighing a ton crash through the fragile tissue of their plane while an endeavor was being made to hoist it aboard the vessel. The wings of the machine had been seriously damaged in the forced landing at sea and the two had worked for six hours in the spirit of "never say die" attempt to make temporary repairs which would enable them to rise again and continue their adventurous argosy. The accident during the hoisting process after they had boarded the Richmond sent all their hopes crashing.

Lieutenant Wade and the flight commander, Lieutenant Lowell H. Smith, hopped off from Kirkwall yesterday morning to join Lieutenant Eric Nelson who made the trip to Iceland alone Saturday after the three had become separated in the fog and the first two had returned to Hontonn Bay.

Smith won through and joined Nelson at Hoen Hornafjord, although he had a hard fight during the latter part of the flight in which he encountered both rain squalls and heavy fog banks.

Enters Suit for $5,000 Against Police Officer in Raleigh

Raleigh, Aug. 4.—A suit for $5,000 damages and naming Chief of Police Glenn of this city as defendant was instituted in the Wake County Superior Court here Saturday by M. A. Smith, a young man of Fuquay Springs, for alleged false arrest.

In the filing Smith asserts that he was arrested for careless and reckless driving when he was only riding as a passenger with S. V. Rogers whose car collided with that of Ashley Wade, on February 22 last.

The young man further stated that he was placed in a "dimly lighted filthy cell" and that he was not allowed to communicate with relatives to make bond of $100.

ORGANIZED LABOR IS WORKING OUT 1924 CAMPAIGNS

Executive Council Endorses La Follette-Wheeler Ticket and Turns Attention to National and State Campaigns

Atlantic City, Aug. 4.—Politics today claimed again the right of way on the schedule of the American Federation of Labor's executive council in annual session here since Friday. Having endorsed the LaFollette-Wheeler candidacy and platform, the council will sidetrack all other matters and undertake to make up its entire 1924 campaign, national, state and local.

Consideration of National Defense Day, the issue which unexpectedly was listed in the order of business after the session began and since deferred from day to day, was postponed once more. This question will probably come up for action on Wednesday or Thursday.

COOLIDGE FACES VERY BUSY WEEK

Government Problems, Including Sugar Tariff Report, and Work on Acceptance Address Will Consume President's Time

Washington, Aug. 4.—President Coolidge faces a busy ten days before delivering his campaign keynote speech at the formal notification ceremony here August 14 with some tatty government problems on his calendar.

The report of the tariff commission on the sugar tariff in which opposing views are set forth, over which considerable controversy has been waged for more than a year, was on his desk.

The president also expects to make an early selection of an Ambassador to Mexico to succeed Charles B. Warren who retires today. Meanwhile Mr. Coolidge plans to conclude his speech of acceptance early this week.

MURDERER OF 22 CAPTURED AFTER GREWSOME CAREER.

All Europe is startled by the terrible confession of Fritz Haarman, of Hanover, Germany, arch-murderer, who has admitted that he had Herr Granz, a youth accomplice, lure 22 men and boys into his home in Langes trasse, where Haarman killed them, cut up their bodies and burned them in a small stove. Before killing them Haarman tied them to the bed shown in his room and bit them to death in a degenerate frenzy. Though he admits 22 murders, the police, for whom he had been a "stool pigeon," now credit him with 50 murders. Several suicides of prominent men who were said to have been involved in Haarman's saturnalian orgies have already taken place. The lawyer seems eager to keep in the public eye, and glorifies in his crimes. In the closet here shown he kept the bodies of his victims while awaiting a chance to dispose of them.

DAVIS' ACCEPTANCE SPEECH COMPLETED

With Work on Address Behind Him, Nominee Devotes Time to Campaign Organization

Locust Valley, N. Y., Aug. 4.—With his address accepting the democratic presidential nomination, off his mind, John W. Davis was able today to give more time and attention to campaign organization plans. Many details of these remained to be worked out but managers hoped to dispose of all them in comparative short time.

Two trips are on Mr. Davis' program for this week. His first will be to Hyde Park, N. Y., on Wednesday and the other will be to Clarksburg, W. Va., on Friday.

Old Editions Bring High Prices. London, Aug. 4.—A first edition of Swift's "Gulliver's Travels," dated 1726, was sold at Sotheby's auction room recently to an American for $3,825, a new high record for the edition. A first edition of Thackeray's "Vanity Fair," brought $1,925.

Health Bulletin Issued Monthly Free Upon Request

Raleigh, Aug. 4.—A child will frequently outgrow the effects of a functional disorder, according to Dr. L. Emmett Holt, child specialist, was quoted by the Health Bulletin for August published by the North Carolina State Board of Health. Early in life, the bulletin quotes the Doctor as saying the structure of the anatomy is immature and its functions are undeveloped. As the body grows and the functions become regulated, these supposedly irregularities pass away. The Bulletin for August contains a number of articles beneficial to the farmer and to the home such as hygiene and sanitation, typhoid in springs and home water supply. This publication is issued free every month by the board of health and may be had upon request.

SEVEN INDICTED IN THEATRE FRAUD

Statement Says Investing Public Has Been Relieved of More Than Two Millions

New York, Aug. 4.—Indictment's charging use of the mails to defraud were returned today by a federal grand jury against seven men accused of having defrauded the investing public of more than $2,500,000 through the sale of stock of the Morocco Holding Company, a Delaware corporation, organized to exploit the theatre and moving picture interests of Oliver Morocco. According to Assistant United States Attorney McCoy, who presented the matter before the grand jury, Mr. Morocco was a victim of the alleged fraudulent activities of the men indicted. He said he had been stripped of all his properties valued at about $5,000,000.

Cotton Mill Sunday School Was Largely Attended Yesterday

The Sunday school at the Cotton Mill which is being conducted by the King's Daughters with Mr. Robert May, superintendent, is progressing splendidly and is being largely attended. On yesterday there were sixty-one interested persons in attendance. Assisting Mr. May are several splendid teachers, Mrs. Bryan, Mrs. Lizzie Griffin, Mrs. N. S. Fulford and Mrs. Satchwell. Each Sunday one or two members of the Patient Circle King's Daughters carry the teachers out to the mill in their automobiles. Mrs. Carey Warren carried them yesterday. The Sunday school was organized several months ago. The people of the mill section are interested in its work and in having their children taught by efficient teachers. Mr. May and the teachers who are thoroughly in love with the Sunday school work and who desire to make the school attractive are planning a picnic for the Sunday school members. The date has not been decided upon but will be announced as soon as definite arrangements can be made. The public is invited to attend the Sunday school and see the work.

Raleigh, Aug. 4.—John Lowry, of Elizabeth City, was brought to state prison here this morning by the sheriff of Pasquotank county. He was captured at the home of his father near Elizabeth City last Friday after being shot in the leg when he tried to flee from the back door as officers entered by the front. Lowry was convicted of burglary in Pasquotank Superior Court and sentenced to 15 years in prison before the United States' entry into the war. While he was awaiting delivery to the state prison he escaped from the county jail and has been at liberty since. He claims that he served in the Canadian, British and French armies during the war. At the same time Superintendent Pou also stated that he had received a telegram from Captain F. C. Bertry, supervisor of Hedenite prison UD7...IOE vpcam emfwy p p p p camp that he had captured Frank Johnson at three o'clock this morning near Taylorsville. Johnson, a negro, convicted in 1922 for burglary and sentenced to 10 years, escaped last Friday night from the camp.

ENGLISH WOMAN IS SHOT FROM AMBUSH IN MEXICO SATURDAY

Central Figure in Recent Controversy Killed Saturday Night; American Embassy to Act for England

Mexico City, Aug. 4.—Federal forces are searching for the slayers of Mrs. Rosalie Evans, who was shot to death from ambush near Texmaculcan, Puebla, Saturday night. Mrs. Evans was the widow of a British subject who was former president of the Bank of London in Mexico.

Mrs. Evans was the central figure in the recent international affair between Great Britain and Mexico which culminated in the withdrawal of the British Charge D'Affairs, Herbert C. Cummings. Cummings, according to the Mexicans, used undue harshness in his communications concerning Mrs. Evans dispute with the Mexican government over the attempt to divide her estate under the law of the killing of Mrs. Rosalie Evans. Accompanied by John Strauss, the German manager of her estate, Mrs. Evans was driving home when shots were fired from the left and she fell from the wagon. Strauss made a desperate effort to defend his employer. He managed to summon help before he collapsed from wounds.

London, Aug. 4.—The British government will leave the case surrounding the killing of Mrs. Rosalie Evans, entirely in the hands of the American Embassy in Mexico City, which has handled British affairs there since the withdrawal of Herbert C. Cummings, as Charge D'Affairs. Recommendations from London will be made as to the course to be pursued as soon as full details are received.

SECOND ALIENIST HEARD FRANKS CASE

Dr. William Meady Declares Childish Compact Bound Lives Loeb and Leopold

Chicago, Aug. 4.—Dr. William Meady, Boston psychiatrist, testifying today as a defense alienist at the hearing to determine the punishment of Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold Jr., for the kidnaping and murder of Robert Franks, asserted "an incredible and absurd childish compact bound the boys together and had bearing upon the ultimate actions of the youths." Dr. Meady testified that both boys told him that they would again go through the Franks murder if their associations and conditions were the same. He said that Loeb told him he found nothing to deter him and that Leopold said he would commit the crime again if it gave him pleasure. Dr. Meady is the second alienist to testify for the defense and his testimony went in over the state's objection, Judge Caverly again ruling that the court had a right to listen to evidence in mitigation of punishment as he had ruled Friday when the testimony of Dr. William A. White was permitted. The action established a new departure in Illinois jurisprudence.

As to the conditions of the childish compact which had influenced the later lives of Leopold and Loeb, nothing was said in open court, Judge Caverly ruling that the matter was unprintable and having Dr. Meady to recite it to court stenographers for the record. Nothing that is unfit for publication is coming out of here, Judge Caverly asserted.

Mr. J. R. Turnage, of Arden was here today.

ON HOBBIES

Oliver Wendell Holmes said once to a young man, "I believe that every man must have a hobby that is as different from his regular work as it is possible to be. It is not good for a man to work all the time at one thing." Dr. Holmes carried out his theory by finding an outside interest in the shape of a carpenter shop, which provided in abundance the diversion and change from his literary and medical labors that he needed.

Roosevelt also was a living exponent of this theory. He spent little time passively, but found his rest in change of occupation and attention to subjects quite outside the field of his main career. He entered up on an African hunting trip with as much vim as he ever delivered a political speech, but the occupation was a rest and relaxation from the other.

Too few people realize the value of this kind of productive rest. Its object is not incessant activity, but the freshening of the faculties by turning them to entirely new activities, and thereby enriching and deepening the individual's interest in the main work.

The main job rarely suffers by the maintenance of a hobby. Instead, it gains in the measure in which the one who holds the job profits by the hobby.

THE RADIO COMEBACK

How are your aerials, and your cat-whiskers and your binding posts?
 What! You don't mean to say you had forgotten all about radio! Well, you are in the same boat with most of us. After the big wave of wireless telephony, enthusiasm died down a great deal.

But don't you believe the calamity howlers who say that that is the end of the radio fad. Not a bit of it. They said the same thing about Alexander Graham Bell a generation ago when he was toying with the telephone.

In his later years, Dr. Bell wouldn't have a phone in his house, he said it was a nuisance, and so, it must be confessed, it is.

But it also is one of modern life's indispensable. So will radio be. The engineers of wireless haven't been idle this summer. They knew that most of us soon would get tired of radio. Now the entire process is being intensively studied, and one of these days radio truly will be the servant, instead of the mere entertainer of man, just as the telephone became.

Meanwhile, it's the concert and the crop report and the bedtime story most of us will want. Wait till the long winter evenings. Then the electrical genius of the household will be dragging his set out once more, and we'll take turns, again with the receivers to our ears.

BUSINESS VERSUS PLEASURE

Among our pleasures and excitements as American people is what is called "Politics." There are elements of sport, gambling, speculation and all the chances and ups and downs of a lottery or horse race. Politics for this reason has a fascination that amounts almost to a passion in the minds of thousands of good citizens. The conclusion of an exciting race at the primaries, nominating conventions and elections always sees a great deal of money change hands although betting on elections is strictly forbidden by law. The interests of a great nation of 110,000,000 people, with commerce running into hundreds of millions and billions, when we add manufacturing, transportation, agriculture, mining and public improvements, must in the final correct solution of problems become more and more a matter of business. The most serious question before our country is the relation of our government to foreign affairs, especially the restoration of fairly normal conditions in the late war-stricken nations of Europe. Morally, politically and economically, and above all to ourselves, we owe it to the world to aid in bringing this about as soon as possible. To keep American industries and payrolls on a steady foundation, to see that our farmers and producers have open access to the markets of the world for their surplus products, will take something more than the trickery of politics. It will take the application of the best brains and the soundest business principles, which is statesmanship far beyond party lines. We must forego the pleasure and excitement of old-fashioned politics and serve our country and the interests of all humanity.

The drifter seldom lands.
 All polished men don't shine.
 A man with a son in college learns a lot.
 Strange how happy a little appreciation will make a dog and a woman.
 You can't always tell. Not every man who uses perfume knows how to do tanning.
 We still live in hope that some genius will invent a lather to make lawn grass easy to cut.
 The tie that binds isn't blessed if it binds at the back of the collar when you are in a hurry.
 It probably didn't take Eve long to discover that she could make Adam happiest by listening while he bragged.
 If the authors of the old-fashioned dime novels were alive, think how they would flourish as scenario writers.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT, ABSENCE DOES NOT MAKE THE HEART GROW FONDER, SHE SAYS

Absence does not make the heart grow fonder, according to Dorothy Mackall, featured player with Conway Tearle, Lon Chaney, Richard Cortez, and Louise Dresser in the Paramount picture, "The Next Corner," which is coming to White's theatre today and Tuesday.

"Up to a certain point, that may be true," says the former musical comedy beauty, "but beyond a certain point absence makes the heart grow colder. The sound of the voice is forgotten, the features grow dim and the sense of intimacy fades. What was once a vital necessity becomes a memory. We make other friends and for other habits."

In "The Next Corner" Miss Mackall plays the role of a wife, who is left for three years alone in Paris by her husband, who is engaged in engineering work in the Argentine. Gradually the memory of her husband fades and she forms another attachment.

Markets

(Furnished by James William Cobb)

COTTON LETTER.

New Orleans, Aug. 4. — Larger crop estimates and reports of some rain at scattered stations in Southern Texas weighed on the market today in early morning, but values improved later in the session because of insufficient rain in the western half of the belt, especially in Texas.

Returns to the Memphis Commercial Appeal average the condition of cotton at 67.6, indicating a yield of 12,275,000 bales, and returns to the Goshu Co., averaged the condition of the plant at 69.6, pointing to a yield of 12,718,000 bales, while returns to the Watkins Bureau average the condition of the crop at 69.6, indicating a production of 12,600,000 bales.

Linters included. According to returns to a prominent local commission house, the average condition of the crop is 67.5, indicating a yield, based on their acreage figures, of 11,714,000 bales, and on the government's acreage, a crop of 12,373,000 bales is indicated.

This afternoon market declined again in consequence of Austin, Texas, reporting raining hard there, and raining at Taylor, Texas.

The market remains very sensitive to weather conditions in Texas where the crop would likely show rather general deterioration unless the needed moisture is provided in the near future.

Conditions in Texas today, so far as the drought is concerned, is alike to the droughty conditions prevailing there at this time last year, when the drought continued in that state until August 28th. H. & B. BEER

GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Aug. 4.—The Murray-Clement Curtis Crop Report shows:

The yield per acre of winter wheat to be 15.9 bushels compared with the ten-year average of 15.1 bushels, total production of winter wheat 587,245,000 compared with 572,340,000 last year.

The crop has turned out much better than early expectations in most sections, quality excellent. Spring wheat condition 78.1 forecast in a crop of 220,320,000. This is a gain of nearly 25,000,000 bushels over prospects a month ago. Last year's crop was 213,401,000. Total wheat, winter and spring 807,565,000 which compares with 785,741,000 last year.

Corn: Condition 72.3 per cent of normal, forecasting 2,335,000 bushels or slightly over 100,000,000 more than forecast a month ago. Part of the improvement in the central corn belt states was offset by reduction in the Southern states.

The crop generally has a good healthy color but stand is poor, and much is tasseling below normal height. Crop last year was 3,046,000,000.

Oats: Condition 80.6, forecasting 1,413,037,000 bushels compared with 1,300,000,000 produced last year, good maturing weather the past month increased the prospects.

Public Servants to Form International Federation, Said

Vienna.—Men and women engaged in public service, especially teachers, will soon have an international federation similar to the international federations of trade unions. In connection with the international trade union congress held here early in June, there was also held a meeting of representatives of Austrian, French, Dutch, German, and Czechoslovak organizations of civil servants. There decided to call into life a civil servants' international, with a teachers' sub-section.

The date for the first international congress, at which the organization is to be definitely launched, has been fixed for October 27, and the convention city will be Paris. It is expected that British and Belgian organizations will also be represented. Some 7,000 French, 5,000 Austrian and 7,000 German organized teachers have already declared their readiness to affiliate.

CURTAILED OLYMPICS SIMILAR TO ANCIENT PROGRAM PROPOSED

Stockholm.—A radical change in the programs of Olympic Games to a pattern more resembling that of the original Olympics in ancient Greece, involving a reduction of the number of contests to 29, is urged by Erik Bergvall, Director of the Olympic Stadium in Stockholm, and a well known leader in Swedish athletics.

Mr. Bergvall attaches paramount importance to the power of the Olympic Games to strengthen the feeling of solidarity among nations, as the Olympics in ancient Greece helped to bind together the states, but he points out that it is becoming increasingly difficult for smaller nations to participate on the large scale which the modern games demand.

The ancient games lasted only five days and there were only 15 or 16 events on the program, while the modern games last for months and have had all the way from 108 to 390 events.

The Swedish expert grants that climate and other physical circumstances make it necessary for various nations to develop sports more or less peculiar to themselves, and in which they would naturally be expected to win the highest prizes, hence it would not be fair to cut the program down to the ancient limits. Yet, allowing for this variety, he thinks the number of events could be reduced to 29.

The ideal program, according to Mr. Bergvall, is as follows: Running, 100, 400, 1,500, and 5,000 meter races; hurdles one event; high jump, broad jump, pole vault, javelin, discus, shot, hammer, pentathlon, deathalon, wrestling, in five classes, gymnastic drill, swimming, 100, 2000 500, 1,5000 meter races; boxing in five classes.

Mr. Bergvall objects to team contests for economic reasons. This would eliminate football, relay teams etc. He would omit rowing and sailing contests because it is virtually impossible to find a place for performance which would offer fair conditions to all competitors. He recommends leaving out all winter sports, a line in which the Swedes themselves excel, and further thinks that motor races, bicycle races, golf, shooting, tennis and weight lifting have no proper place in an Olympic program.

Relics of Civil War Raid Turned Up by Excavators

Lawrence, Kan. — Relics of the Quantrell raid in Lawrence on Aug. 21, 1863, when 150 men of the town were massacred and the city pillaged and burned by Confederate "bushwhackers," were unearthed when excavations were made recently for the new building of the Lawrence Journal-World. Workmen removed from their diggings an assortment of liquor bottles, metal bar fixtures and glassware some of the wreckage bearing the imprint of a Leavenworth distiller of 75 years ago.

Investigation showed that the excavation had invaded the filled-in cellar of a saloon, run by Joseph Brechtbauer at the time of the raid.

Brechtbauer fled from the saloon when the guerilla band dashed into town, but he was caught with four other Lawrence citizens, and Quantrell's men shot them all to death.

As Brechtbauer took flight, he tossed a bag of money into a rain barrel, whence members of his family later retrieved it.

The Quantrell raid at Lawrence was the most audacious and the most disastrous of a series of expeditions the southern chief headed. Riding into the sleeping town at daybreak the invading band took the citizens completely by surprise, and almost before the defenders could recover from their daze, more than 100 men were lying, dead or wounded and mangled, in the street. Shops were pillaged and then burned.

When Quantrell and his followers finally disappeared, about 9 a. m., they vanished as quickly as they had come.
