Economy In Government Keynote of Coolidge Speech

Debate On Ship Bill To Continue Throughout Day

Agreement Reached in Senate to Vote on Referendum Amendment Before Adjournment Tonight; Reference Section of Davis Speech Declaring Belief in Power of People to Govern

Raleigh, Aug. 15.—The North Carolina State Senate will vote sometime tonight on the question of whether or not the issuance of $8,500,000 bonds for developing port terminals and establishing ship lines will be submitted to the people of the state in the November election.

Agreement to take a vote before adjournment tonight was reached in the Senate just before it recessed from the until four o'clock this afternoon to permit meetings of committees scheduled for the afternoon.

The Senate debated the port commission measure for an hour and a half at the first session today. At the conclusion of the session Senator Brown, of Columbus County, announced on the floor that he would give up his right to speak on the measure because he believed that the members were tired of the debate which he said he believed was "getting us nowhere."

Senator Squires made a motion that the hour for the vote be fixed at 11 o'clock tonight but it was withdrawn when some voiced objection to fixing a definite hour. It was finally agreed to take the vote sometime during the night session.

Although the question which has been debated since yesterday is not the bill itself but the committee amendment to strike out of the original bill the referendum section it is generally considered that the vote on this question will settle the fate of the measure.

Debate was opened in the Senate by Senator Hargitt, who favored the referendum. He was applauded when he quoted from John W. Davis' acceptance speech a section in which the Democratic presidential nominee expressed belief in the power of the people to govern themselves.

Senator Boyette urged that the committee report on the measure be backed up. He said that it was growing into a political issue and would be especially so in the counties where the vote was close.

Senator Hicks, of Granville county, declared that he favored a referendum because the governor had recommended it.

Expressing belief that the Governor knows more about the port and ship question than any other man in the state, Senator Woltz, of Gastonia, speaking in the Senate today pleaded that the referendum section be left in the port commission bill. "We have no right to accuse the governor of insincerity," he said. Senator Woltz stated that the Senate had been debating for hours when everything of importance which has been said could have been said in 30 minutes.

"The committee that made the report on the question is composed of men of ability, we say when the gov-

MISTREATMENT AT HANDS OF OFFICIALS CHARGED BY WOOD

In Open Letter Convict Declares That He Is Kept in Dark Cell On Bread and Water

Raleigh, Aug. 15.—In a letter addressed to "The People of North Carolina," published in the Raleigh Times today, Otto Wood, serving 30 years' sentence for the murder of A. W. Kaplan, Greensboro broker, asks that "the way I have been treated since my confinement in the state prison under the supervision of George Ross Pou and Warden Busbee" be investigated.

Wood, who made a daring escape from the penitentiary several months ago and was later captured in Roanoke, Va., declares that he has been held in solitary confinement in a dark cell since he was brought back to the prison. He asserted that he was given six salty crackers and a glass of water for his meals. Three negroes brought him water in a talcum powder can to relieve his thirst, he declared, but when the warden learned of this the negroes were removed to another section of the prison.

Wood declared that he was not allowed to write anybody regarding the way he was treated. His letter said, "I am slipping this out and I pray that whoever gets this letter will start an investigation at once."

ernor came before us and asked us to do something why show the committee consideration instead of the governor? The governor knows more about this than any other man in the state. He has studied it four or five years while the committee has studied it for about fourteen months. We have no right to accuse the governor of insincerity. When it comes up you will find that the people are not all fools and they can be educated."

KLAN ATTACKED ON FLOOR HOUSE

House Defeats Bill Which Would Prohibit Use of Woman's Name in Connection With Assault Case

Raleigh, Aug. 15.—Two bills relating to attacks upon women were killed in the House of Representatives on their second reading.

The first bill introduced by Representative Patterson would forbid publication of the name of a woman in connection with an attack upon her, and the second by the same Representative would increase the penalty for attempted assault, which is now 15 to 30 years.

The first bill brought objection from Representative Clayton Moore, of Martin county, who declared that without the usual publication of such cases it would be made possible for an innocent man to suffer as a result of the evidence of an unprincipled woman.

Debate on the second measure brought severe criticism of the Ku Klux Klan from Representative Burgwyn, of North Hampton county, who declared that at times the Klan took the law in its own hands. He declared it a useless organization having for its purpose the getting of money from ignorant members.

Mr. Burgwyn's attack upon the Klan followed statements by defenders of the bill that the penalty now was so small that sometimes such crimes incited action by the Ku Klux Klan.

MONDELL DELIVERS FORMAL ADDRESS OF NOTIFICATION

Declares People Will Stand By President in Coming Election

Washington, Aug. 15.—As spokesman of the Cleveland convention, Frank W. Mondell last night formally notified President Coolidge that his selection for the presidency had resulted from "the choice of the people, freely and emphatically expressed."

The nominating convention, Mr. Mondell declared, was only a "ratification" meeting, and he predicted that the will of the individual voters again would be recorded emphatically in November in favor of Mr. Coolidge's retention in the White House.

"You were given your commission of leadership," he said, "under conditions that left no wounds to heal or differences to compromise, that held no taint of self-seeking, or of questionable endorsement and support."

"The platform adopted at Cleveland by practically unanimous vote, in frank and courageous fashion declared the party faith and outlines the party purpose, and we anticipate with pleasure and confidence your interpretation of that faith and purpose as applied to present problems and conditions."

In his short address of notification Mr. Mondell omitted all detailed discussion of campaign issues. He touched but briefly on the historic antecedents of the party, paid a tribute to the Republican standard bearers of the past, and assured the President that "we recognize in you a worthy successor to these great leaders—an heir to all their high qualities."

"Under your leadership," he concluded, "we look confidently forward to a continued opportunity for service to the honor of the Republic and the progress and prosperity of its people."

COOLIDGE READY FOR HIS VACATION

Having Formally Opened Campaign Last Night President and Family Will Spend 2 Weeks at Father's Home

Washington, Aug. 15.—President having opened the Republican campaign in his speech formally accepting nomination as candidate for the presidency by stressing government economy, further tax reduction, further limitation in armaments and stabilization of agriculture, was ready for a two weeks vacation with his family at his father's home at Plymouth, Vermont.

The nominee was applauded time and again last night as he outlined the principles upon which he would seek election. The notification exercises were held in Memorial Continental Hall before leaders of the party.

"A government of common sense" was Mr. Coolidge's reply to the issue of liberal thought and progressive action. "As to honesty in government" he asserted, "the laws of the land are being and will continue to be enforced." "The government is sound," the president added, "but individuals charged with wrong doing are being prosecuted. People hate corruption. They know my position. They know the law will be enforced."

London, Aug. 15.—Negotiations between German, French and Belgian government heads over the problem of the Ruhr evacuation still continued at 4 o'clock this afternoon, the German delegates being in constant communication with Berlin by both telegraph and telephone. A number of messages have been received today at German headquarters from Berlin. In arrived at 11 o'clock of such considerable length that it required three hours to devote it.

This afternoon envoys passed constantly between the German and French and Belgian headquarters of delegations to the international conference.

In Formal Acceptance Address Last Night Coolidge Says Administration is Free of Corruption and Law Will Punish Individual Wrongdoers

Washington, Aug. 15.—A "government of common sense" dedicated to honesty and economy at home and peace abroad, was promised last night by President Coolidge in formally accepting the nomination of the Republican party as its candidate for president.

Declaring domestic affairs of concern to the nation, Mr. Coolidge proposed further tax reduction and "more tax reform" and announced his intention to appoint a committee to investigate means of aiding agriculture.

He summed up the foreign policy of the administration in a simple word, peace, and promised to propose the Dawes reparation plan gets underway another conference to consider further limitation of armaments and modification of international law.

Addressing himself to possible opposition party issues, Mr. Coolidge referred to the question of honest government and replied that "the government is sound" and would prosecute wrongdoers fearlessly. He referred to a probable "discussion of liberal thought and progressive action" in the campaign and answered that liberality in thought and progress in action is all well enough for the country, "but its greatest asset is common sense."

The address was devoted largely to a review of the accomplishments of the administration during the last four years, and contained a specific program for the future in which the President outlined his views in characteristic short, pungent sentences. Detailing his views, the President announced he favored:

The principle of protection. The Child Labor Amendment. The Permanent Court of International Justice.

Further limitation of armaments. Support by the government in encouraging American citizens and resources, to assist in restoring Europe. Enforcement of the prohibition laws.

Specifically he declared opposition to any general extension of government ownership and control and to aggressive war.

The nominee laid particular stress on agriculture, taxes and foreign relations.

Efforts of the administration to relieve agriculture through enactment of 15 laws, were recalled by the President, but he insisted "we now need in agriculture more organization, co-operation and diversification." He added that the "fundamental remedy was provided as it always must be provided, not so much through enactment of legislative laws, as through the working out of economic laws." Because of this, he said, price fixing by legislation must be evaded.

"Now that nature and economic law have given some temporary relief" he continued, "I propose to appoint a committee to investigate and report measures to the Congress in December that may help secure this result which we all desire."

"The farmer should have the benefit of legislation providing for flood control and development of inland waterways, better navigation east and south from the Great Lakes, reclamation and especially relief for

OPEN FORUM

PASTOR WRITES OPEN LETTER TO CHURCH MEMBERS

To the Members of Memorial Baptist Church:
Greenville, N. C., Aug. 14, 1924.

My dear Fellow-Members:
I desire to talk over with you in the following letter some matters I deem vital to our church life and work. While what I have to say is intended largely a personal message to each of you yet on account of the possibility of one or two items being of interest to the general public I am led to use the Daily Reflector as a medium of communication.

In some respects we have had a most remarkable summer. In many ways our Heavenly Father has wonderfully blessed us; sometimes I think more than we deserve and yet not so much as might have been ours had we been more faithful and loyal to Him. Those of us who have kept in touch with church life during the spring and summer know that we have received quite a number of new members, that our morning services have been more largely attended than those of any previous summer, our Sunday school has kept up well and the Wednesday evening prayer meetings have been of unusual interest and power, and our women are maintaining their missionary organizations with unabated zeal. For all these things we thank God and take courage.

We have brought to our pulpit during the summer some of the most able ministers in North Carolina—Dr. L. E. M. Freeman of Meredith College, Rev. Walter M. Gilmore of our State Board of Missions, Rev. I. L. Yearby of Tarboro and Rev. Lee McB. Whit, of Kinston. I beg to announce for the 4th Sunday August the Rev. James C. Quarles of Argentina, South America. Don't fail to hear him. He comes as a special guest of our Woman's Missionary Society and will tell us about the missionary work in a Catholic country. He will speak both morning and evening. On the 5th Sunday morning at 11 o'clock Brother J. S. Farmer of the Biblical Recorder will speak for us. Next Sunday morning (Aug. 17th) your pastor will be at home and will be glad to see all of you in your accustomed place at church. I wish also to announce that the First Sunday night in September will be devoted to the interests of our young people. At this time we plan to bring a special message to the young people and to reorganize all our B. Y. P. U's. I am greatly interested in young life and as long as I am your pastor it shall be my earnest endeavor to be of every possible help to our young people.

God has been good to us in wonderfully preserving the lives of our people. Of course there has been some sickness here and there but in the course of time He has restored to health. This ought to make us very humble and truly grateful to Him. In this connection let me say that the pastor greatly appreciates the thoughtful consideration and many kindnesses expressed in so many different ways on the part of the church during the time he has been in his own family. We are glad to say that the trouble seems to have fully cleared up and we have every assurance that the pastor's wife will be stronger and in better health than for a number of years. Not only in this but in other ways I have recently experienced God's guiding and protecting Hand. We wish also to include in the above acknowledgment not only the members of our own church but the many members of other churches and congregations who have been so exceedingly thoughtful and kind.

There are large tasks ahead of us. The days immediately before us should be busy days. Unusually important things are to be done. I call you to more serious and earnest prayer and to the greatest endeavor of your Christian life. I mention a few of our immediate tasks—the keeping faith with our Southern Baptist Brethren in bringing to a triumphant conclusion our 5 year program, the winning to our church and Sunday school many who are not now attending any church, the building up of the spiritual life of the members of the church, visiting the sick and the indifferent, going out into the country taking the Gospel of our Saviour, already the pastor has been invited to hold revival meetings in the county and he will need your active cooperation. Let us make our church felt throughout Pitt county. I am interested in the Christian Federation and it is a source of joy to me that many of our members are actively participating in this fruitful work. These are only some of the many things ahead—if every member will put his heart in it and do these things for Christ what a rich reward there will be. "Nobody knocking everybody boosting" will bring results for the Glory of Christ's Name. At a recent meeting of our board of deacons together with the pastor it was unanimously determined to press forward with our work as never before.

I must not close this letter without a few words to those who have recently come to us. We trust that you will find your place in church life and work. There is something for you to do—find it and do it for your Saviour's sake. We welcome you into our church fellowship and want to be of help to you in every way. There is a peculiar tie that binds me to those I baptize. It is not a little thing to be buried with Christ in Baptism. If you have had trouble of any sort—temptation, doubt, fear don't hesitate to come to me at once. I think I can help you and I want to do so. In order for you to get the most and the best out of your Christian life I urge you to read your Bible in a devotional way every day, pray constantly, attend the morning and evening Sunday worship regularly, testify for Christ at every opportunity and seek to win your friends and companions to Christ.

I wish for every member that growth in Grace and Christ-likeness that should characterize a Christian. If you will pray for your pastor it will greatly help us in our work together for the Lord Jesus. I pray the Lord's blessings upon each one of you and upon all who read this letter.

Faithfully yours,
LELAND W. SMITH.

BANK CLERKS LEAD CLASSES OF UNEMPLOYED IN GERMANY

Berlin.—There are more bank clerks without jobs in Germany than any other one class of employees, according to recent estimates of the German Bank Workers' union, which places the number approximately at 260,000. One banking concern alone within the last few months, has dismissed some 22,000 employees because of forced necessity of reducing operating expenses.

Most of these clerical assistants have lost their jobs since the Renten mark replaced the dwindling paper currency. During the inflation period all banks were compelled to greatly augment their staffs to keep up with the endless rows of figures and now they are endeavoring to get back to the pre-war status so far as their pay rolls are concerned.

The Art of Beauty

By B. M. DOUGLAS

Choosing Your Powder

DOES your powder blend in so perfectly with your skin that it may truthfully be said that its presence is only suspected, —not seen?

If it does not, you are not using the powder suitable for your skin, or are using it incorrectly.

No one can tell you what powder you should use. You yourself probably know by looking at a new powder whether it seems the shade and texture which you should have, but the only way to be sure is to try it.

For the very fair skinned beauty of the Manon Lescaut type, the naturelle shade brings out the purity of the complexion, at the same time brightening it as much as is desirable without giving it the artificial rosin which a straight pink powder does.

Where there's a creamier tinge to the skin rachel is often the choice, since the warmer toned skin needs a deeper powder to blend with it.

For the olive skin which wants to intensify its own peculiar warmth or give a pleasing effect of ruddiness which is lacking in the natural coloring, Peaches and Cream powder is a favorite.

The clear skin which somehow seems to give an effect of gold, perhaps because it is often accompanied by hair with golden lights, needs a vibrant powder, such as Peaches, which is faintly tan with a warm substratum of color. This powder blends with both the blonde and the brunette complexion, but is especially favored by golden blonde.

The dead white skin affected by a certain sophisticated type of woman who emphasizes this pallor with obviously rouged lips is losing its vogue in New York, for daytime wear, altho it is frequently seen at night with a certain type of frock.

The foregoing will give you an idea of what your particular type of powder may be. However, the well-groomed woman is now suiting her powder to her costume, to the occasion, and also to the season—so that her dressing table offers an array of different powders to meet various occasions.

Makes a 17-MINUTE SPEECH BEFORE HANGING.

Enzebe Vedrine INTL.

Just before the trap was sprung to hang Enzebe Vedrine for murder at Villa Platte Prison, Louisiana, he asked for permission to make a fifteen-minute speech before he plumed to eternity and it was granted. He reviewed his entire life in the brief time, advising young men to avoid the path he had followed. He wasn't nervous in the least and spoke calmly and rationally. Just before the trap was sprung he called to the sheriff to have courage and "cut the rope and free me." This photograph was taken at his express request. Vedrine's life of crime included the murders of five men.

LAWS AGAINST LIQUOR PASSED 69 YEARS AGO

Tallahassee, Fla.—The far-sightedness of Florida's legislators of the 19 century is disclosed in an old law unearthed in the archives of the state capitol here. It is an act which became effective in January, 1855, and provided heavy penalties for employes of railroads found guilty of being intoxicated while in the performance of their duty.

At the time of its enactment there were no railroads in Florida. The act, however, imposed upon the general assembly the duty of ascertaining the proper objects of improvements in relation to railroads, canals and navigable streams; and indicates the presentment the lawmakers must have had that liquor and locomotive combined would not make for public safety.

GOVERNOR GENERAL WOOD URGES FILIPINOS TO BE A GOOD CITIZENS

Manila.—In a message of greeting to be read in all the schools of the Philippines at the opening of the new school year, Governor General Leonard Wood says:

"Most of you have arrived upon the scene in an epoch when human knowledge is advancing more rapidly than ever before in the history of the world. The developments of science in the present generation are many and varied. They have added much to our knowledge, given us new instrumentalities and means for development and research, and opened new fields of activity.

"You must all remember, however, that faith in God, honesty, morality, thrift, industry and steadfastness of purpose are just as essential to success today as in the past. You can best repay the sacrifice which your people have made by improving to the best of your ability the opportunity given you to prepare yourselves to be good and useful citizens."

BERLIN OWNERS BEGIN TO MEND THEIR WAR NEGLECTED HOUSES

Berlin.—Scars of the 1918 revolution and other reminders of the war and its aftermath, reflected in neglected public buildings as well as private dwellings and apartment houses in Berlin, are to be blotted out this summer.

Throughout Berlin in thousands of workmen have begun the task of repairing buildings which have been neglected eight or ten years, and which have suffered visibly from the effects of the weather. The work has been taken up particularly in the residential sections where a great many landlords for years have made no endeavor to keep up the appearances of their property because of the lack of income from their holdings.

But since the mark has been stabilized, apartment house owners have taken a new lease on life and started the long-delayed improvements, the law having been adjusted so that now house owners have an income from their real estate nearly equalling that prior to 1914.

MOVIES MAKE LIFE REAL

However much one may decry the pernicious influence of the movies as exerted through films depicting in an alluring light scenes of crime, vice and villainy, it must be admitted that they are also a potent factor for good. This phase of motion pictures is strongly suggested by a London dispatch telling of an expedition which is about to set forth in an effort to obtain animated views of the Sahara Desert.

There are parts of this vast expanse of barren land which have never been filmed because of the dangers that beset travelers. An Englishman famous for the travel pictures which he has taken in remote places is now going to attempt to photograph the dangerous area of the Sahara. He takes the position that moving pictures of the desert cannot be considered as complete until this part has also been portrayed. With the aid of his brother he has already taken 30,000 feet of film in the Sahara. They have been at the task two years and have spent $60,000 on it. But there remains 400 miles yet to be traversed, if the series is to be comprehensive, and he is undertaking the journey, though nine white men, according to the London cable, have already perished in previous attempts.

Pictures such as these have educational value. They enable millions of people to enjoy the benefits of travel in the wildest regions without risk and at negligible expense. All the world is being filmed, and the pictures are bringing home to us, as nothing else could save an actual trip, the appearance of the various countries, the life of the inhabitants, their customs and manners.

We have an enormous advantage in this respect over the people who lived before motion pictures were invented. There is scarcely a boy or girl who does not have a fairly vivid and accurate idea of numerous places of which he had only a vague conception until he saw them in the movies.

FOR A HEALTHIER WORLD

One of the important but not generally realized results of the World War was the impetus given to the health conservation movement. It may seem somewhat anomalous that a conflict in which the nations appeared to be trying to kill off as many human beings as possible should give rise to intense interest in the work of preserving life and building up strong, healthy physiques, but this is a fact.

There was never a time when so many different organized agencies were at work fighting disease and spreading knowledge of how to get and keep well as at present. A representative of the National Health Council estimates that at least 70,000,000 persons throughout the world are sick all the time. There are about 35,000,000 deaths annually. Students of the subject believe four-fifths of the cases of illness are preventable. And this is the keynote of modern medicine and the numerous organizations mentioned: prevention.

Co-operation in international health work is to be the winning factor in the war on disease. It is now recognized that national efforts without this co-operation can accomplish little. Epidemics have a way of leaping over national boundaries and even over oceans, as was shown in the last outbreak of influenza in Europe which invaded our country. Leaders in the fight are the International Health Board of the Rockefeller Foundation and the League of Red Cross Societies. The Epidemic Commission of the League of Nations has also done good work in combatting typhus in Poland, Russia and Rumania. When it is stated that the expectancy of life in New Zealand is 60 years, whereas in America and Great Britain it is only 45 and in India 25, the immensity of the task of the health crusade is better appreciated.

WHAT IS LUXURY?

It is a self-evident fact that the farther our civilization advances the more complex and difficult living becomes. At the present stage it seems impossible that the people can endure more complications or could get along with less.

The business of making a living has become about the most serious of all businesses. Economists say that within another generation unemployed wives will be the exception rather than the rule, and that children will be placed in gainful occupations at a much tenderer age than they are today. The new theory is that it is uneconomical and will be impossible for the individual to produce enough for more than one, except during limited periods such as the early years of child-raising. The great number of women—married and unmarried—and children now employed lends credence to the theory.

Our economic problem, it is explained to us, is not that the average income is not adequate to meet the actual needs of the family but that the average income is inadequate to meet the demand for those things outside the circle of absolute necessities. Standards of living are rising faster than the standards of income.

A brief summary of some of the new "necessities" of life are large homes, expensive furniture, automobiles, extensive personal wardrobes, vacation trips, player-pianos, radios, phonographs, higher education, libraries, rich foods and social activity. These requirements are not unusual for the families of wage-earners and office workers. It has been variously estimated that the luxuries of the average home cost from fifty per cent to two hundred per cent of the bare needs of subsistence. It is probable we would find our luxury budget exceeding our expenses for the necessities of life if we could agree upon what is a "luxury" and what is a "necessary." From one view-point all luxuries are necessities. What was a luxury under a lower standard of living becomes a necessity under a higher standard.

The time may come when the multitude must make a more strict distinction between "desires" and "needs."

MAN AND HIS HAIR

At the congress of hairdressers in Paris prizes of great value are offered for new ideas. The design of a new coiffure is worth a mint of money. The great cry is for something for the men—something that will gradually supersede the present short-straight-necked effect. Many men are using the marcel, but the big hit at the French gathering was made by the new three-fourths pompadour, well fluffed out on the sides and with a seemingly careless attempt at parting on the left. This gave a "distingue" impression and seemed to add tone to the "patient."

Before these Frenchmen get through with us even the business men and the banker will be carrying his individual curling iron. If the hair must be fluffed, an iron is necessary to make a neat job of it. The husband of the future will do his hair up in curl papers after the manner of friend wife. Even the village barber will be marcelling his patrons and will be able to administer a permanent wave that will last at least nine days.

WHERE IS THE MONEY TO COME FROM?

In his argument yesterday for a referendum on the port measure, Senator Shams emphasized the importance of providing a way to raise the annual $450,000 that will be necessary to pay the interest and provide a sinking fund for the bond issue proposed. He was absolutely right when he declared that the condition of the State Treasury cannot stand this additional burden. In point of fact, next year there must be new sources of revenue to meet the regular expenses of State government unless there are big reductions in appropriations.

It is conceded by most people that the port measure cannot pass and that it will be submitted to the people. Of course that situation may be changed. If it should, however, pass the General Assembly, or be submitted, the matter of raising the $450,000 annually is absolutely essential. It ought to be provided for in the act. If it passes without a referendum, either this body, or its successor must provide the revenue. If it is submitted to the people the only hope of ratification would be to provide in the measure submitted the levy of taxes on certain franchises or privileges or something definite to raise $450,000 annually.

Legislators should be addressing themselves to the question of providing revenue. Unless it is provided the whole project would fail whether enacted by the Legislature or ratified by the people.

You cannot build ports and buy ships and build or buy railroads without money. Where is it to come from? —News & Observer.

Polluted Waters Kill Fish.
Copenhagen.—Fish are dying by millions in Danish inland waters due, it is explained, to the unusually long and severe winter, which made the waters stale and rotten. Industrial establishments dump much of their refuse into the waters, but ordinarily does not harm the fish as the obnoxious bases escape.
Last winter the lakes and canals were frozen for five months and the gases could not escape until the ice melted.

Barthelme Stars in Modern Romance

"Twenty-One," a John S. Robertson production, starring the popular Richard Barthelme, will be the first National picture at White's theatre next Monday. Dorothy Mackaill portraying the role of a poor young factory girl with whom the wealthy young huc of the story falls in love and for whose sake he runs away from home to the city to gain independence as a taxicab driver, is one more to be seen as Dick's leading lady. Others interpreting important parts in this modern story of the jazz life and its antithesis are Jo King, Dorothy Cumming, Elsie Law (p. Bradley Barker, Ivan Simpson, Nellie Parker Spaulding and Hele Tracy. "Twenty-One" is the first modern story in which Barthelme has appeared since "Fury" his two intervening vehicles, "The Brig" (Shaw) and "The Fighting Blade" having been costume period pictures which required long hair and sword. In this newest production, which is said to be one of the best vehicles yet given the star, Richard enjoys the luxury of a haircut.

Denouncing as short sighted the plea of "demagogues" for over-taxing the rich, Mr. Coolidge demanded a further cut in surtax rates applying on high incomes.

"I want further tax reduction and more tax reform," he said. "I am not disturbed about the effect on a few thousand people with large incomes, because they have to high surtax. * What concerns me is the indirect effect of high surtaxes on all the rest of the people. Let us always remember the poor. Whatever cry the demagogue may make about his ability to tax the rich, at the end of the year it will always be found that the people as a whole have paid the taxes. * Every student knows that excessively high rates defeat their own purpose. They dry up that source of revenue and leave those paying the lower rates to furnish all the taxes."

In this connection, Mr. Coolidge promised to cut down the burden of government costs.

"I want the people of America to be able to work less for the government and more for themselves," he said. "I want them to have the rewards of their own industry. That is the chief meaning of freedom."

The President indicated an intention to make several adjustments in the tariff through the elastic provisions. "As the business of the world becomes stabilized," he continued "without throwing all our economic system into confusion, we can raise or lower specific schedules to meet the requirements of a scientific adjustment."

In foreign affairs, Mr. Coolidge described the administration as seeking only peace—through efforts by the reparations problem, establishment of many treaties and seeking entrance. In the Permanent Court of International Justice. He called attention to the refusal of ratification of the League of Nation Covenant but recalled co-operation by the government with the League in suppressing the narcotic trade and promoting public health.

"We have every desire to help," he added, "but the time, the place, and the method must be left to our determination. Under our constitution we cannot foreclose the right of the Congress to determine our future problems when they arise."

Recalling the disclosures in connection with the Naval Oil Reserve case, Mr. Coolidge reiterated his determination to "use every possible effort to resist corruption in office."

"The American government must be clean," he said. "The laws of the land are being, and will continue to be, enforced. The government is sound. Individual charges with wrongdoing are being prosecuted. The people of this country have no corruption. They know my position. They know the law will be enforced. Mr. Coolidge served notice on the party to live within its means during the present campaign and to cooperate with the Senate committee in detailing the lists of its expenditures.

He also plainly told the party that "no individual or group of individuals may expect any governmental favors in return for party assistance. Taking up only briefly the question of national defense, the President declared he favored "not merely talking about it but doing something about it."

In a recital of the government's accomplishments since March 4, 1921, Mr. Coolidge mentioned the Arms Conference, the restoration of a technical state of peace, the negotiation of treaties with many countries, repeal of wartime taxes, funding of a large part of the foreign debt, improvement in employment conditions, enhancement of the prices of government bonds, reduction of cost of government, establishment of the budget, immigration reform, reduction of the Army and Navy to a "low peace time basis," conversion of war materials and supplies into cash, increase in wages, a revival of industry, establishment of the Veterans Bureau, enactment of "generous" laws for the relief of disabled veterans, and establishment of a tariff act.

Touching on the new immigration law, Mr. Coolidge recalled his preference for a clause on Japanese exclusion which would be "less likely to offend the sensibilities of the Japanese people" but emphasized that the law has been passed and approved and "the incident is closed."

"We are likely to hear a great deal of discussion about liberal thought and progressive action," he concluded. "It is well for the country to have liberty in thought and progress in action, but its greatest asset is common sense. In the commonplace things of life lies the strength of the nation. It is not in brilliant conceptions and strokes of genius that we shall find the chief reliance of our country, but in the home, in the school, and in religion. America will continue to defend these shrines. Every State Highway Commission today at a celebration of citizens of the two counties at Haden farm in Davidson county just across the river."

Ask Your Dealer to Show You the New Improved Remington Pump Gun

THE Remington Model 10 Pump Gun your dealer is showing now contains so many improvements over the original model produced in 1902 that the Remington Pump Gun of 1924 might almost be called an entirely new model.

Everybody remembers when Remington brought out the Remington Pump Gun—Model 10—the first solid breech, hammerless, repeating shotgun. This gun was an outstanding achievement.

But there has been a lot of new mechanical and gun-making knowledge accumulated since then. Remington has been improving this Model 10 right along.

And now with refinements and betterments you have a gun that is almost as far in advance of the old Remington Pump Gun as that gun was ahead of anything that was ever produced before.

See the New Improved Model 10. Note its balance and lines—its fine pointing quality—the quickness of hammer action that its design gives. Try it in the field. You will quickly see how far Remington has gone with the development of the Pump Gun.

If you are thinking about a new Rifle for big game—

See the Remington Model 14 Slide Action—the only fore-arm operated high-power rifle made. Gives six shots without reloading. Chambered for .25 Rem., .30 Rem., .32 Rem., and .35 Rem. Cartridges. COTTON LETTER.

New Orleans, Aug. 15. — Larger crop ideas, free offerings and some hedge selling depressed market today after it having ruled higher as result of no rain of consequence in Texas overnight and large spinners taking for the week.

Of late there was some disposition to support the market on strength of the small reserves on this side of the Atlantic whereas the basis of operation, future delivery, is the prospect for the growing crop.

The first hedge selling of consequence this season was reported from Liverpool and as ginning are increasing in Texas although running behind last year, and as new bales have been reported already from as far north as Oklahoma and Arkansas and as the crop is opening rapidly and earlier than last year in the central and eastern portions of the belt, hedge selling on a larger scale is likely to feature the market in the not far distant future.

Returns to the national ginners association average the condition of the plant at 65.8 indicating a yield, on their acreage of 12,450,000 bales, but on the government acreage which is much larger, it is figured that a condition of 65.8 would point to a crop of about 13,133,000 bales exclusive of linters.

This afternoon it was reported that Savannah was offering cotton, September 10th delivery at 100 points of October and it is reported that a prominent large American exporting firm estimate the crop at 13,300,000 bales.

As was natural heavy liquidation was influenced by the larger crop estimates and reported comparatively cheap offerings of new crop cotton for September delivery compared with last year, the south marketed 51,000 bales the past week vs 79,000 and spinners of the world took of American cotton during the week 145,000 bales vs 81,000. Today the world's visible supply of American cotton is 818,000 bales, last year $753,609. H. & B. BEER.

Medical Society Held Interesting Meet Last Evening

The Pitt County Medical Society met in regular monthly session last evening at the Rotary Club. Drs. Ward and Laughinghouse, were hosts. A large number of members were in attendance. In the absence of President, Dr. J. C. Greene, Dr. W. I. Wooten, presided over the meeting.

After the regular business session in which many matters vital to the society had been disposed of, a most interesting program was given.

Dr. Byrd, who is connected with the Maternity-Infant Welfare Department gave an interesting talk on the work and the results expected to be derived from same.

Dr. Byrd will remain in the county several weeks during which time a course in maternity-infancy welfare work will be given in this county.

Dr. G. G. Dixon, of Ayden, and Dr. K. B. Pace, of Greenville, read splendid papers on matters pertaining to the work of the medical society. Both were interesting and helpful and greatly enjoyed by the members present.

A tempting chicken dinner was served.

Pres. Wright Makes Excellent Talk At Teachers College

President Wright made an excellent talk this morning at the assembly period of East Carolina Teachers College which was the final talk in a series on "Taxation as an investment." The central idea of the talk this morning was the efficiency of a business depends upon the efficiency of the people who run the business. This grew out of the point that people expect returns from money invested. The taxes invested in public education spent in the schools should bring in returns to the public. Efficiency in the schools depends upon the efficiency of the teacher and success in the school business is wrapped up in the one word-service. The most vital thing in education in North Carolina is to put good teachers into the school rooms. It is folly for the people to invest in building and equipment unless efficient workers are in these buildings using the equipment.

He emphasized the importance of honest workmanship and service, and warned the teachers against putting too much stress on the reward for service, the salary, and showed that increased salary comes as reward for good service rather than when it is sought.

"The teacher who has no more sense than to teach for money hasn't sense enough to teach."

Raleigh, Aug. 15.—The date for holding the State Primary would be changed from the first Saturday in June to the first Tuesday following the first Monday in June under a bill introduced in the House of Representatives today by Representative Carr, of Duplin county. The bill provides that it shall be effective from the date of ratification.

Allen, Merritt and Rawls Placed Under $6200 Bond Each

L. E. Allen, white, and James Merritt, Robert Rawls, negroes, charged with highway robbery and larceny, were given a preliminary hearing in this city this week, and bound over to Pitt County Superior Court which convenes here August 25, under bonds of $6200 each. The defendants, in default of bond, were remanded to jail.

Several weeks ago the store of Mr. R. H. Cotten at Bruce, was entered and robbed by three negroes, who succeeded in getting away. A short time later Allen, Merritt, and Rawls, were arrested, charged with the robbery, and placed in the local jail, while two other negroes charged with being members of the party escaped.

The arrest of the three above men was very sensational, and furnished a most interesting story.

The trial which is scheduled for the week of August 25, will no doubt be largely attended.

CHINESE BANDITS DRIVE PEOPLE FROM HOMES

Anking, China.—One native police man was killed and two others narrowly escaped the same fate when they went out to reconnoitre in the vicinity of Miaochien, not far from Anking, while the place was menaced by bandits. The band was reported to number 14 and they had looted a village two miles distant.

Miaochien lies at the foot of a sacred Buddhist mountain, Chiu Hua Shan. After three days of terror a regular exodus by night to the mountain occurred, the people carrying what few possessions they could manage and prepared to leave their homes to the mercy of the outlaws, when report reached them that one of the three policemen had been found by the roadside with his brains knocked out.

Some days later, however, some 300 troops of the Peking government arrived on the scene from a neighboring town and restored temporary peace.

Alaska Ha: Regular Air Service.

Anchorage, Alaska.—This is the latest Alaskan city to establish an aerial landing field. A smooth, level one has been provided, six blocks from the business section. A commercial aviation company is carrying on a regular passenger service to mining districts.

Tail Tells Cow's Milk Value.

Paris.—French veterinarians insist that a cow's tail can determine her milk output and also her milk value. The quantity and value are indicated, say the veterinarians, by the smoothness and slenderness of the tail from a sort of break in the bone structure to the end of her fly swatter.

Quakers Unite to Honor Fox.

London.—The tercentenary of the birth of George Fox, founder of the Society of Friends, was celebrated at his birthplace, the small village of Penny Drayton, Leicestershire.

July 5.—Quakers from America and from all parts of England gathered in the village and took part in the ceremonies.

The Anglican Bishop of Peterboro sent a message to the meeting which was read by Elbert Russell, of Philadelphia, at the conclusion of his address.

A visit was paid during the day to the parish church where there still exists the font in which Fox was baptised and which was for many years used as a village horse trough.

Berliners Eager to Travel.

Berlin.—The German railroads have arranged, during the summer vacation season, a number of special excursions to Munich, the Baltic watering places, the Harz Mountains, Hamburg and Bremen. The rates are one-half the regular fares.

So popular are these trips that at the Anhalter station hundreds of people arrived the night before the opening of the excursion ticket sale, armed with camp chairs and tables. Thurs they sat patiently till nine o'clock the next morning, when the offices opened and the scramble for tickets could begin in earnest.
