Cruiser Richmond Rescues Missing Italian Aviator

Airman and His Companion, Missing Since Thursday, Drift Over Hundred Miles After Forced Down Because of Motor Trouble

On Board the United States Cruiser Richmond, east of Cape Farewell, Greenland, Aug. 25.—The Richmond rescued Lieutenant Locatelli, missing Italian aviator at 11:35 last night. He was picked up 125 miles east of Cape Farewell.

The Italian aviator with his companion was uninjured although they were worn from fatigue.

Motor trouble forced Lieutenant Locatelli to come down on the water during the flight Thursday from Reykjavik, Iceland. He was unable to bring his plane to the air again and drifted for more than a hundred miles. Locatelli requested that his plane be destroyed and his request was complied with.

The last heard from the Italian aviator during the flight gave his position as 40 minutes ahead of the American fliers but when the latter reached Frederiksdal, their objective, he was not there and it was thought for a time that he might have overshoot the goal.

Washington, Aug. 25.—Lieutenant Locatelli had been missing since Thursday when he hopped off from Reykjavik, Iceland in company with the American fliers Lieutenants Lowell H. Smith and Erik Nelson. He was last seen several hours later flying along the coast from Iceland to Frederiksdal, Greenland, but he failed to reach the latter place with the Americans. During the earlier stages of the hop from Iceland to Greenland the Italian aviator outdistanced his companions passing the United States cruiser Richmond some 70 miles, south east of Reykjavik, five miles ahead of Smith and Nelson.

When Lieutenant Locatelli failed to reach Frederiksdal or no reports of his arrival at any other point were received, Rear Admiral Thos. P. Magruder ordered the American war vessels on patrol near Greenland to search for him.

It is mostly foreign women, however, who set this far from graceful example, and we hope they will not find many followers among their French sisters."

CLUBS ARRESTED AS RESULT SUNDAY BASE BALL GAME

Members Rocky Mount and Portsmouth Clubs Taken Into Custody 9 Times Yesterday

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 25.—As a result of having played baseball yesterday members of the Portsmouth and Rocky Mount clubs of the Virginia League will appear in court Wednesday morning to answer charges of violating the Sunday labor laws of Virginia.

The players established what is believed to be a league record when they were arrested nine times for the same offense. They were taken into custody and required to furnish bond at the conclusion of each inning.

Yesterday was the second attempt this year by the Portsmouth club to play Sunday baseball. Norfolk county officers made the arrests. At the close of each inning they gathered in players, gate keepers and score card sellers, 24 in all, and marched them to the club house where Justice Cherry had established head quarters to take care of the bonds.

Club officials announced that the game was arranged to test the law and find out for once and all whether or not professional base ball could be played on Sunday.

Portsmouth officials adopted the plan said to be used successfully in Baltimore, of selling score cards for admission. They advertised the game as an official league performance but after a conference with county officials they changed the status to that of an exhibition game the result of 6 to 4 in favor of Rocky Mount not counting in the standing of the Virginia League.

Deputy Sheriff Whitehurst and Policeman Charlie Swain made a trip to Simpson early Saturday night and returned to this city with nine darkies whom they found in a shanty car in that place engaging in that popular pastime of "African Golf" and during the night.

British Clergyman Attacks Calling As Dull and Trivial

London.—The reason for the shortage of clergymen in the Church of England was described in what he called "plain, blunt and even brutal language" by the Rev. N. P. Williams, during a sermon he preached recently at Holborn.

"The work of a clergyman is, in a great part, of a dull, trivial kind," he said. "It consists mainly in the singing of choral offices which could be well rendered by a moderately efficient gramophone. The personality of the typical clergyman, developed by exclusive association with women and children, represents the sort of thing that no self-respecting boy wants to grow into."

Wilson and Company With Liabilities Nearly $50,000,000 Placed in Hands of Receivers

Trenton, N. J., Aug. 25.—Wilson and Company, Incorporated, one of the largest packing establishments in existence, has been placed in the hands of receivers. On complaint of Maurice Klein, of Newark, Vice Chancellor John H. Baeken has temporarily named State Banking Commissioner Edward Maxton receiver of the company.

In a lengthy report attached to the insolvency charges Klein alleged that the big packing concern is indebted to various banking institutions to the extent of nearly $3,000,000 besides outstanding debts of about $43,000,000.

Klein claims that he is holder of 25 shares of the Wilson Company stock with a par value of $2,500 and contends that there were at least two recent instances when interest fell due on the company's bonds had been deferred because it had no interest on hand to pay the stockholders.

The Wilson Company recently acquired a rendering plant on the outskirts of Trenton and maintain large packing house throughout the world.

The capital stock of the company is listed on the New York Stock Exchange as well as other leading exchanges of the world.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—Appointment of a receiver for Wilson Company, Chicago packers, at Trenton, New Jersey, was not entirely unexpected, said officials of the company here today, but official advices to that effect had not been received here. # AMERICAN BUSINESS TO BE WELL HOUSED IN NATION'S CAPITAL

Washington, Aug. 25.—The new $2,500,000 home of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, toward which business men in all parts of the country have contributed, is nearing completion and will be thrown open October 1.

Standing on the site of the Washington home of Daniel Webster, the imposing structure faces south on Lafayette Square toward the White House. It is built of Indiana Limestone and is a duplication, in the main, of the Treasury annex facing the opposite corner of the square. It was designed by the same architect, Cass Gilbert, of New York.

Where in days of yore stood Webster's home, with its rich political and social associations, and its rambling garden, a fountain will play in the courtyard in the center of the building. The historical aspect will be preserved in Daniel Webster's desk, which will be used in the office of the president of the chamber.

The classic Greek architectural design that will house the National Chamber of Commerce had its inception just after the World War. Business men of the country have been planning for it ever since. The corner stone was laid by Secretary Hoover in May, 1922, and actual building operations commenced in January, 1923.

Rows of fluted Corinthian pillars, resting on a base which forms the first story, surmounted by a cornice with a simple balustrade above is a feature of the architecture. Four stories enter into its present plan, but the building is so arranged that one or two stories may be added without marring its design, if pressure for space warrants it.

The first floor will be devoted to conference rooms. The various departments of the National Chamber will be housed in the three stories above. The office of The Nation's Business, a national business magazine, will be located in the building. The system of having several large offices, rather than a number of smaller ones, will be followed.

American Home Builders Are Studying Methods of Dutch

Amsterdam—American town planning experts have been comparing notes with European city builders at an international congress held here recently.

The lure of urban life is as strong in Holland as elsewhere and housing difficulties are acute. With characteristic foresight, however, the Dutch are grappling with the problem in a practical way with the result, as the vice-president of the congress Senator Vinck of Belgium, put it in his closing address, that "Holland within the next 25 years is destined to become the promised land of popular housing."

The American delegates viewed the recent improvements and extensions of Amsterdam, The Hague and Rotterdam, and even inspected them

Hubbard of Harvard university, who favors the star-shaped laying out of a city, referred to the necessity of timely reservation of open spaces for public recreation grounds.

Educator Says Farmers Fail to Esteem Teachers

New York—The rural school is the chief defect in the educational system of this country, according to educators from many states who have been participating in a series of lectures and conferences at the summer session of Columbia University. Lack of properly trained teachers, relatively large illiteracy in the population, child labor, and limited high school opportunity were stressed as handicaps of country life.

Of the 300,000 rural and village teachers in the United States, only 150,000 have completed a high school course, it was brought out by Prof. Mabel Carney of Teachers College. Only 10 percent have finished the eighth grade, and 20 percent the sixth grade.

"The number of one-room rural school buildings in the United States is 189,227," Prof. Carney declared. "The number of children in one-room rural schools is 4,000,000, or about 20 percent of the nation's total school enrollment."

Dr. Ernest Burnham of the Kalamazoo, Mich., Normal said that there was a lack of appreciation of teachers by farmers. The average annual salary of rural teachers was only $529.

Georgetown Gets Latest Things In Seismographs

Washington, Aug. 23.—The Georgetown University seismological observatory, which in the last 13 years has given to the world first news of many earthquakes, now assures the public that its reports in the future will be even more dependable.

The university today has among its instruments a new seismograph, known as the Galitzin vertical seismograph, the only one of its kind on this side of the Atlantic. The special features of this delicate piece of apparatus are magnetic registration and photographic recording, whereby the elements of friction in the other types of machines is entirely eliminated. Accordingly, the machine will permit of the recording of many more of the world's quakes and permit of a more accurate interpretation of the writhings of a shaking earth.

Dr. Sieberg, of the Jena seismological station, places the number of quakes felt sensibly or instrumentally by the world over from 9,000 to 10,000 yearly. Of these in the past only from 90 to 110 have been annually recorded at Georgetown. Father Francis A. Tondorf, director of the Francis A. Tondorf, director of the observatory, hopes that this number may now reach from three to four hundred.

When it first was founded in 1911, the Georgetown Observatory had only one seismograph—of the Welch type. It carried a stationary mass of 80 kilos. The rocking during windstorms of the south tower of the Hearn Building in whose base the instruments were at first placed, necessitated their removal to a cave beneath the quadrangle.

Father Tondorf inaugurated the work at Georgetown, when, in 1910, the International Seismological Society requested the Jesuit order, with many colleges in the United States, to establish a chain of stations in this country.

Causes Unemployment Investigated by Labor

Geneva.—The unemployment suffered throughout the world from 1920 to 1923 is closely connected with the periodical crises which have afflicted the working classes and humanity as a whole for a century, according to a report issued by the international labor office, which gives the results of an international inquiry into the subject.

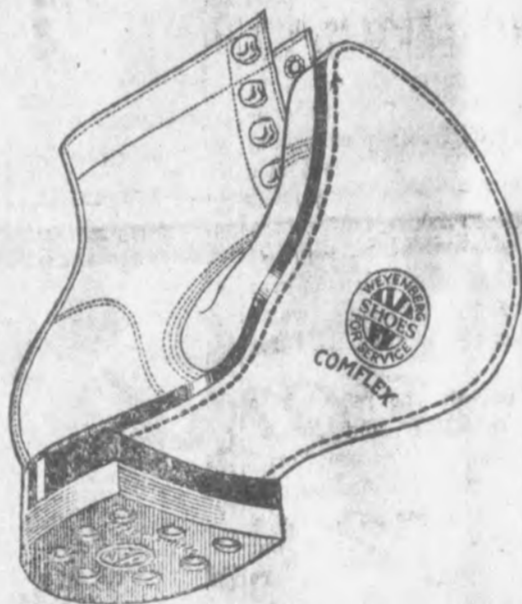

The report remarks that this conclusion is contrary to a fairly widespread idea. It declares that while it is true that the great questions of international relations resulting from the war and the treaties of peace have gravely affected the national economy of many countries, resulting in the complication and aggravation of unemployment, the inquiry indicates that apart from certain exceptions, available statistics show scarcely any correlation between changes in unemployment and the fluctuations in foreign trade.

The report adds that in many countries the period of most intense unemployment was accompanied by a greater volume of exports than at some other date.

David Belasco, noted New York theatrical producer, who threatened to close his theatres, has buried the hatchet with the Actors' Equity Association, which will permit accredited members of the Actors' Fidelity Association to play in Equity casts, and will continue to produce. Charles M. Schwem, private stenographer to the late President Woodrow Wilson, has again won the championship in the international speed contests of the National Sherbrand Reporters' Association in Washington. Sir Thomas Lipton has decided again to challenge for the America's Cup, the race to be sailed in 1925. New York City police caught and arrested two men in the act of holding up and robbing Dixie Compton, well-known motion picture actress, on Riverside Drive.

THE UNGRAMMATICAL

The most forceful part of a language consists in those words and phrases used by the uneducated.

Correct speaking means uniform speaking. All cultured people talk alike. At least, they are called truly cultured in degree as they conform to a single standard of usage and pronunciation.

The more educated, traveled, and polished a man is the less striking in his location. The more one is provincial, uneducated, and narrow the more picturesque his talk.

The speech of a Louisiana negro who has had no schooling is fascinating, rich in distinctive color. The dialect of a Tennessee mountaineer is as masked in flavor as his moonshine whisky, as ruggedly unique as his mountain scenery. A Canadian habitant's everyday conversation is as original as a poem of Kipling.

On the contrary, the words of a Harvard professor and of an instructor in the Nebraska State University might be duplicates of the same phonographic record. Education is a great advantage; to say otherwise would be hersy; but it is, except in rare cases, fatal to individuality.

As a matter of fact, if we could drop our snobbishness and consider things as they really are, and estimate human values with scientific accuracy, we should see that the street garb, the base ball fan, the backwoods farmhand, the Maine Lumberman, and the western trapper actually talk poetry all the time. Their lingo is soaked with their locality, steeped with their individuality.

Educated persons usually taste of nowhere. Their talk is homeless.

A language grows from the bottom. All the new words that are rich and vital, strong with the very genius of the idiom, poetical and ingenious, arise from what is called slang. These words, like everything new, are at first called naughty and highly improper; after a while they become highly respectable.

For that matter, every language now extant was once a dialect and born in ignorance. French, Italian and Spanish are corrupted Latin. English is the diction of slaves and robbers, now grown to include a hodge-podge of every tongue.

Of course, we should all speak properly and never use rude slang terms, but it might be well to remember that the scientists, the literati, and all the rest of the learned world import no new strength into the racial speech; they bring in only technical terms, which they steal bodily from the classics, and which are only used in shop talk, whereas the fountain of perpetual youth in any tongue is the common people.

THE CHALLENGE TO ALL

A worse menace than that for which we went to war now confronts us at home—Indifference to law, the daily making of thieves and murderers, the breaking down of our social structure, license not liberty, indulgence not economy, carelessness not security.

Every young woman in war time, with tremendous zeal, helped the struggle. Her patriotism is needed now even more than then.

Millions were subscribed by our business men to win the war. Long hours of work were given with $1 a year as the sole monetary reward for the most intense service. But we are now menaced at home, and a like devotion and a like labor are needed if life is to be at all worth living. The law of the jungle is replacing the laws of sanity and reason. The health, the morals, the very life and liberty of all are at stake.

Real patriotism is sincere service for the good of our country, which means service to fellow citizens more than to ourselves.

Every man and woman of influence in this country, for sheer safety's sake, must enlist their greatest efforts to uphold the law and solve the vexing problem.

Our people gave up thousands and millions to help Europe. Will they give up "a drink" for America? Society young women and matrons who see no wrong in a glass of wine or a cocktail ought to see that while the Eighteenth Amendment stands in our Constitution they are paying too great a price for the privilege of any alcoholic beverage. This is a time for the practice of true patriotism, to uphold our vital laws, to make sacrifices if need be for the good of all.

It is the duty of every one to know the extent of the law's violations now and the pernicious effects and to give every ounce of energy to help save America from itself.

Throughout the West windstorms hardly may be expected to subside until after the election.

The robbery business seems to be looking up possibly because there is not careful enough locking up.

After pulling up weeds in the garden we suppose Young Coolidge's back ached, just as happens to any other boy in that occupation.

Racing Ostriches to Run Against Horse in Berlin

Berlin. — Ten racing ostriches which are to vie with horses for speed honors at a race course in August have arrived in Berlin and been placed in quarters in stables, which appear to be very distasteful to the big birds.

For racing the ostriches are hitched to light weight sulkeys and have their work-outs every day when in training which follows the lines generally applied to trotting or pacing horses. The ostriches all have names and are cared for by stables just as are thoroughbred horses.

The birds are guided by reins attached to leather caps which fit over the heads of the ostriches, which take the place of bits as used for horses.

"Tony," one of the racers here which came from Italy, and "Franz" owned in Vienna, are "natural born" racers, according to the ostrich racing toits, and appear to love the sport as much as their drivers, but the other fellows, they assert, are sort of mechanical in their racing, merely following directions of their drivers, and without seeming to know what it is all about. But "Franz" and "Tony," say the driver, know more about racing than any horse which every got away at the post.

Soviet Horrors Related In Schoolboy Essays

Prague.—A touching collection of human-interest material has just emerged from a school in which 500 children of Russian emigres receive their daily instruction. All of them were asked to write down their experiences from 1917 to the time of their entering the school, and were given two hours to complete the task.

Here is one of the productions: "From Persia we went to Archangel from there to Norway and London. After Egypt I lived in Paris, Stockholm and Warsaw. I tried to get to Brazil. With papa we went to Java. We kept changing places for six years."

The following sounds like a novel: "We travelled about for a long time and lived poorly. In one city our little dog licked the boots of a beggar. We walked home and the beggar followed us. Suddenly mother fainted. The beggar took off his beard—it was our long-lost papa."

What happened to one boy during the revolution is described as follows:

"Both my brothers were killed. My father, likewise, was killed and my mother was allowed to starve. Mother returned from the hospital and said, 'You are orphans now, your father died.' Out on the street I saw a list of those shot; papa was among them. Our uncle was summoned and later we found him in

The shortest description was furnished by a 13-year-old girl:

"I saw war, pestilence, and hunger."

The collection of essays is to be brought out in book form.

LOW DEATH RATE PREVAILS IN THE PHILIPPINE ISLANDS

Manila.—The death rate in the Philippine Islands during the year 1923 was 17.5 per thousand which is the lowest ever recorded, according to a report of the Philippine Health Service. The 1923 death rate was eight percent lower than that of 1922 and fourteen percent lower than in 1921.

There has been a corresponding decrease in the infant mortality rate toward which the insular government has exerted much effort.

Health officials attribute the decrease in the death rate to increased efficiency of the health organization, improved sanitation of public centers and increased interest in health education of the masses.

Your friends have told you. Now know for yourself the value of the toasting process!

You pay the dealer only 45c

We pay the Government Tax of 30c

Act quickly, as the dealer's allotment at this price is limited.

Get one tin [only one to a person] for home or for office.

The regular price will be in effect when the dealer's supply on this offer is sold.

Smoke these 100 Lucky Strikes. Then you'll know how the 45-minute toasting process adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

Guaranteed by The American Tobacco Co.

LUCKY STRIKE

IT'S TOASTED

Cleanliness and Care in Manufacture

Every Lucky Strike factory is a model of sanitation. Read how Alfred W. McCann, the noted food expert describes one of our factories: "White walls and ceilings, floors as clean as freshly chiseled marble, cutting machines and wrapping machines that take away from the human hand all detail and leave nothing to the human supervision but the watchfulness of trained eyes."

The Tobacco Industry and Taxes

The aggregate tax paid by the tobacco business with one exception, income taxes, the largest item of internal revenue the federal government receives. Last (fiscal) year it amounted to $309,014,050.84.

Of this enormous amount of money the cigarette industry paid $182,715,735.93, or nearly two-thirds of the total tax paid by the entire tobacco business.

The immediately important point of the foregoing is the following: We believe you will appreciate that when nearly fifty cents of every dollar paid by you for cigarettes goes to the government, you must receive in cigarettes a value in return for your money that is rarely given in any commodity.

That the public generally appreciates this great value is shown by the enormous increase in the consumption of cigarettes.

Our reasons for this tax free offer

We know this offer induces men to try Lucky Strikes—it "Wins New Friends."

We know that a large percentage of those who get acquainted with Lucky Strikes adopt them.

This isn't philanthropy nor propaganda—just good business, as you'll agree.

The offer is limited. We cannot afford to keep it up.

We make it sensationally generous so as to attract attention.

We are not giving money away for the offer accomplishes its purposes: Lucky Strike "Wins New Friends" Our volume increases.

Super-quality

It is only by immense volume that we can produce such an aristocratic cigarette as Lucky Strike at such a democratic price.

Its quality is supreme because it has that costly, extra process, toasting, which improves the flavor and adds to the taste of even the finest tobaccos that are used in Lucky Strikes.

We urge you to participate in this offer—we want you to get acquainted with Lucky Strikes.

We know a trial will make you a permanent customer of ours.

Guaranteed by The American Tobacco Co.

PICTURE TELLS WHY

MEN LEAVE HOME

Why do men leave home? Even the judges of the divorce courts are not qualified to answer that question because the truth is seldom a major part of divorce testimony.

In John M. Stahl's latest First National picture, "Why Men Leave Home," which is now being shown at White's theatre the director gives a perfectly plausible reason for so many matrimonial disasters. He has told the story with a frankness and simplicity which cannot fail to impress, yet he has told it in such a human and charming manner that it is offensive to neither sex and never approaches a preachment or lecture.

The principal parts are interpreted by an all-star cast of celebrated players, headed by Lewis Stone, Helene Chadwick, William V. Mong, Mary Carr, Alma Bennett and Hedda Hopper.

COTTON LETTER

New Orleans, Aug. 25.—The larger crop forecast, as per Government report of last Saturday, 12,956,000 bales vs. 12,351,000 indicated as of August 1 comparing with last year's final crop of 10,150,000 bales, linters not included, depressed all cotton markets today. Liverpool came much worse than due and was further extensive liquidation in American market this morning. Present prices about discount prevailing conditions for the time being as values are about 6 cents lower than the recent high for fall deliveries and there will likely be more disposition to buy around the 23.50 cents level for October, perhaps in the part of spinners as well since the average price of middling last year was 31.67 cents per pound and 24.06 per pound season before last. This year's crop is not made yet, the drought continues over the great producing sections of central Texas and the needed rains have not fallen as yet in the dry areas eastern belt which is reflected in private reports of deterioration from the drought districts of the belt. The crop is now passing through the most critical period of the season when natural deterioration occurs and because of the continuance of hot dry weather deterioration in the near future may be greater than normal unless the needed moisture is obtained in the near future. By reason of the recent extensive liquidation moisture is obtained in the near future. By reason of the recent extensive liquidation the technical position of the market is undoubtedly healthier, the lower prices will likely prove an incentive for buying of spots and futures, for while the textile situation in the United States is not favorable it is proving in Europe with prospects of expanding because of the acceptance of the Dawes plan on reparations. The tropical storm appears less dangerous, apparently moving northward off the south Atlantic coast and may not bring the needed rains to the eastern belt which were expected to come of the disturbance.

ALASKAN RAILROAD WOULD SEEK FARMERS SETTLE THERE

Anchorage, Alaska, Aug. 25.—Colonization of the lands along the government's Alaska railroad will be pressed on the secretary of the interior by the railroad management, it was stated here by Captain John Hughes, in charge of the supply department.
