Caverly Brands Closing Remarks Crowe Cowardly

Judge Declares State Attorney Made Effort to Intimidate Court; Announces That He Will Announce Penalty for Leopold and Loeb on September 10

Chicago, Aug. 28.—Argument in the case of the murder of Robert Franks by Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb ended today at 11:30 a. m. The court then took up the brief formal hearing on the plea of guilty to kidnapping for ransom, the crime also punishable by death in Illinois. Jacob Franks, father of the slain boy, and Captain William Schoemaker were sworn in as the state's witnesses on the kidnapping county. They testified at the bench the question, and answers being inaudible above the hum of the room. Judge John R. Caverly took the Franks kidnapping and murder case, to which Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold, Jr., plead guilty, under advisement today at 11:49 o'clock. "The closing remarks of the state attorney in the case were a cowardly and dastardly attack upon the integrity of the court and will be stricken from the records," said Judge Caverly just before taking under advisement the case in which he is to fix the penalty of the two youths. Judge Caverly stopped the protests (Continued on page six.)

MANY INJURIES CAUSED BY STORM

Ships Coming Into Harbor Bring Reports of Worst Storm in Years

New York, Aug. 28.—Five liners bearing evidence of winning struggles against the hurricane which last Tuesday lashed the west Atlantic steamed into the harbor yesterday several hours late, their palatial fittings smashed and battered by the force of the waves.

Only one life was lost, the steamer Elisha Walker reporting that Captain J. Madsen had been swept overboard from the bridge of a Danish steamer. Captain Hickson, of the Arabic, whose vessel and passengers were the major victims, said that at times the wind attained an intensity of 120 miles an hour and Captain Metcalf, of the Homeric, sister ship of the White Star liner, asserted that it was the worst in his memory. Both said that while firemen pushed the engines to capacity to keep the vessels bows headed to the wind that they stopped dead in their tracks with cross waves hounding their sides, the Arabic a number of times leaned dangerously close to the 45 degree angle.

The Munagro, of the Munson line, and the Orizaba, of the Ward line, suffered less than the two other vessels while the Giuseppe Verdi, whose captain brought her from Genoa to meet the storm, exhibited a dent in her smokestack 60 feet above the water line.

The Arabic's estimated casualty list was more than 150 with 52 persons requiring treatment. Of these 33 were under the care of surgeons when the vessel docked here and was met by ambulances previously summoned by wireless.

BETHEL GRADED SCHOOLS TO OPEN MONDAY, SEPT. 8

Splendid Force Teachers Secured; Successful School Year Expected by Parents and School Board

Bethel, Aug. 28.—The plans for the opening of Bethel State High School have been perfected and the work of the new year will begin Sept. 8. Supt. E. B. Page has been on the job for the past two weeks working out the details and putting the building in the very best condition by having it renovated and many minor repairs made ready for the opening. The indications are now that this will be the largest graduating class in the history of the school. Under the leadership of the former Superintendent W. C. Strowd, the school was given a rating last year of Group 1, Class B, in the classification of State High Schools. During the first days of school a meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association will be called at which time some forward looking problems will be discussed and definite plans made to bring the teachers and parents closer together. The members of local school board are congratulating themselves on being able to secure such a promising force of teachers for this year. The following is the list of teachers and their respective grades: Supt. E. B. Page, Bethel; Math: Mr. R. M. Grimes, Evretts; History, and French: Miss Maggie E. Simpson (Continued on page 6)

Attempt Be Made to Have Absentee Voters Law Repealed

Asheville, Aug. 28.—An attempt will be made to have the state-wide Absentee Voters' Law repealed at the next regular session of the General Assembly in January, it was stated here Monday by Senator Plato Ebbs of Buncombe County. He asserted that he would introduce the bill calling for the repeal of the law and would fight for its passage. The Senator introduced a bill at the recent extra session providing for the repeal of the Absentee Voters' Law in Buncombe County but it failed to come for a final vote, being referred to the committee where it lay until too late for consideration. This was due, Mr. Ebbs said, to shortness of time and the hurried confusion in which the two houses were operating at that time.

Raleigh Physician Sentenced to Jail For Selling Narcotics

RALEIGH, Aug. 28.—Dr. T. F. Jones, local physician, was today found guilty in city court of the illegal sale of narcotics and was sentenced to 30 days in jail by Judge Harris. The physician indicated that he would not appeal the case. Dr. Jones was found guilty in Federal court last fall of violation of the narcotic laws. A prayer for judgment was continued in this case and Jones federal narcotic licenses were revoked.

SAVE $35,000,000 IN GOLD FROM TORPEDOED LINER.

LAURENTIC DIVER SEEKING LAURENTIC'S GOLD. (Below) FREDERICK MASSELL & MASSELL DESCENDING.

With the exception of a few stray bars, the entire $35,000,000 in gold bullion has been recovered by divers from the White Star liner Laurentic, torpedoed and sunk off Lough Swilly, Ireland, by a German submarine in 1917. The eleven-hour discovery of an unexpected storing place in the bow of the vessel, sunk in 90 feet of water, yielded the last $2,000,000. The divers, under Frederick Maskell, a deep-sea diver of 20 years' experience, have worked for six years recovering the gold consigned to American bankers. The British Admiralty salvage ship Hare gama, too, were recovered from the skeletons of passengers. A number of casualties are reported. The men on the "Racer" are shown searching through mud, brought up by suction tubes from the wreck, for gold and jewels.

DIAMOND THIEVES ARRESTED NEW YORK

New York, Aug. 28.—In the arrest early today of two men and a woman charged with the robbery of Alexander Feldheimer of $1,000,000 worth of uncut diamonds on August 22 police and private detectives representing Lloyd's, of London, believe they have taken the first step in apprehending an organization of a clever band of gem thieves, which may clear up robberies involving millions of dollars worth of jewels. The woman Mrs. Dorothy Burns, 22 years old, turned over to the police $4,750 which she said was what remained of the money obtained from the sale of the diamonds. The other prisoners, James J. Burns, husband of the woman, and Harry Chance, both 20 years old, denied any connection with the case.

RIECHSTAG TO VOTE ON DAWES PROGRAM DURING TOMORROW

Chancellor Marx Armed With Decree to Dissolve Body if it Fails to Ratify London Agreement

Berlin, Aug. 28.—Final balloting by the Reichstag on bills necessary to carry out Germany's part in the Dawes reparations proposal has been postponed until tomorrow because of prolong interruptions by the Communists. Disturbances in the house yesterday culminated in general fighting and the Reichstag's president, to restore order, was compelled to call in a police squad and have three of the Communists removed.

Determined to ratify the Dawes program regardless of the attitude of the deputies Chancellor Marx has obtained from President Ebert a decree providing for dissolution of the Reichstag which he intends to use if the necessary two thirds majority to ratify the program is not forthcoming.

Paris, Aug. 28.—The outlook for ratification by Germany of the Dawes reparations plan agreement concluded recently at the International conference in London became worse today according to latest news from the German capital. The Reichstag will probably vote on the pact late tonight it was learned by officials here.

Savannah Youth Comes Near Losing Life When Shell Explodes as He Tries to Load it Into 75 Centimeter Gun

Fort Bragg, N. C., Aug. 28.—Private Carl G. General Travis, commander of the Savannah troops was nearby when the accident occurred. The officer immediately telegraphed the parents of young King of the accident. Physicians at the hospital stated that the young man has an even chance for recovery.

Officers of Fort Bragg, said that they could not account for the accident which is the first of its nature ever to happen at the camp although more than 12,000 such shells have been fired during this summer. A board of inquiry has been appointed to investigate the accident.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS AN OLD STORY WITH IROQUOIS INDIANS

Washington, Aug. 28.—The Iroquois Indians beat the League of Nations to it by fourteen centuries. That is what J. N. B. Hewitt of the Bureau of American Ethnology of the Smithsonian Institution has discovered thru research of the "League of the Five Nations," which held sway in the New York country when America was young. He has just returned to Washington from further investigation of the organization, of which a remnant exists today in the province of Ontario and the state of New York.

As the Indians of old left no written records, Mr. Hewitt had to depend on tradition, as embodied in ritual for his main source of information. So far as the present is concerned, 6,000 Indians at Brantford, in Ontario, keep alive the league, under arrangement with the Canadian government and three small reservations in New York state more or less closely follow the old league regulations. These are the Onondaga reservation near Syracuse, with 565 Indians; the Tonawanda reservation, near Akron, with 539 Indians; and the Tuscarora reservation, near Lewiston, with 370 Indians.

The preservation of peace was the objective of the League of the Five Nations. Women occupied a prominent place in its structure, and naturalization, the referendum, initiative and recall had a place in its make-up.

The Mohawk, the Onondaga, the Oneida, Cayuga, and the Seneca, tribes of Iroquoian blood, established the league, with a mature constitution, and planned to bring into the federation, in time, all known tribes of men as allies.

Deganawida, the prophet statesman of the Iroquois, was its leading spirit. Hiawatha (not the personage of that name immortalized by the poet Longfellow); Atotiahoah, a wizard who at first bitterly opposed the plan, and Djonasasen, a noted chieftain, argued the peaceful revolution. This was the more remarkable, for Mr. Hewitt points out, in an age when fighting was fashionable.

The League of the Five Nations came historically into being between 1550 and 1570. It aimed at stamping out the blood feud system which was killing off the bravest Indians of the nations, and eradicating whatever cannibalism existed. So powerful had the League become by 1701, that it was able to turn over to the King of England in trust a territory 800 miles long and 400 miles wide. Before asking others to disarm, the League disarmed itself. It was badly jarred by the War of the Revolution. Mr. Hewitt finds, but it has survived in a measure until today.

The Indian league had its "World Court" idea, too, for Mr. Hewitt points out that the federal council, sitting as a court without a jury, heard and determined cases in accordance with established rules and principles of procedure, and with precedent.

Ingerson Will Coach Iowa Football Eleven

Iowa City, Iowa.—Just five years after he started his final year of collegiate competition in the Western Conference, Burt Ingerson, former University of Illinois football and baseball star, will assume charge of the University of Iowa eleven, a team against which he waged three fierce battles on the gridiron and six on the baseball field during his undergraduate days. He reports for duty September 1, succeeding Howard H. Jones.

Ingerson and Fred ("Duke") Slatyer, Iowa's famous negro tackle, were teammates at the Clinton (Iowa) high school and met three times in Big Ten battles.

During the Iowa-Illinois game in 1919, Slatyer and Ingerson seemed to be waging a personal bitter battle, but after the game they shook hands and walked together from the field.

Rufus B. Dawes, multi-millionaire Chicago oil magnate, brother of General Charles G. Dawes, Vice-Presidential candidate and the man who, with Owen D. Young, drew up the reparations agreement, is on his way to France. It is suggested that he will become the Agent General of the Reparations Payments. Edward O. Leader, former athletic star of the University of Washington, who took a demoralized Yale crew and in two years turned out the world's champion Olympic eight, has signed a new five-year contract to coach the Blue teams. Jack Kearns, Jack Dempsey's man Friday, had followed his chief into a Los Angeles hospital to have his nose straightened. Miss Abby Rockefeller, daughter of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., whose suspended sentence on a second conviction of speeding caused a sensation in New York City in August, has returned from Europe shortly on the episode.

Coach Ingerson quickly became a popular hero in Iowa City last April, when he arrived to take charge of an intensive two weeks spring training camp.

Gordon Locke, all-American full-back, is to be Ingerson's first assistant.

Ingerson was born on a farm near Fulton, Ill. He entered high school at Clinton, Iowa, in the fall of 1913 and soon became one of the school's leading athletes. He matriculated at the University of Illinois in 1919, and in his first year, he was varsity tackle.

Twice in his four years at tackle he won a place on all-American elevens. He was captain of the Illinois one year. His other sport was baseball in which he excelled as an infielder, playing four years. Several teams, including the Chicago Cubs, offered to sign him, but except for a few months play in a minor league, he confined his baseball to college. Upon his graduation, Ingerson was immediately signed as an assistant football coach under his old teacher, Robert Zupple. He is 24 years of age, the youngest coach of any major college eleven in the United States. He will work on a 12 months basis here.

GREAT THINGS EXPECTED OF USEET'S LITTLE SON

Lexington, Aug. 28.—A little mite of horseflesh, at his mother's side on E. R. Bradley's Idle Hour farm here, some day may attract the attention of lovers of the sport of kings. He is Black Gold's baby brother, son of Black Tony and the little Indian pony Useet.

Seldom has it happened that more than one member of a family has achieved greatness on the track, but there are exceptions. Three notable horses by the same father and mother were bred by "Bob" Anderson on his farm near Georgetown, Ky., some years ago. These were Dick Waller, Ort Waller and Dick Finnerl, by King Eric from Tex's Over by Hanover. All were great racers and each sent to the track scores of winning equines.

It is not improbable, then, turfmen say, that Black Gold's little brother some day will receive the plaudits which have greeted the older horse this year, and increase the purse of the Samoans, lies north of Samoa. Originally it was a coral atoll and was built up by the energy of the original settlers and their descendants. Many shiploads of earth have been taken from Samoa to build up the small island and it now is very productive in coconuts. Though always connected with Samoa commercially, it had been classed as one of the Tokelau group of islands belonging to Great Britain.

Leaders among the natives of American Samoa say they want a bill passed by Congress defining the status of their country in its relation to the United States. The chiefs of Tutuila have been asking this for 24 years.

Thus far the islands are known to Congress as "the United States naval station, Tutuila." The naval station is at Pago Pago and the country outside, though styled part of the station for some purposes, has nothing to do with it in other respects and this had led to confusion.

HELIUM REPURIFIED FOR GIANT AIRSHIPS BY GOV. SCIENTISTS

Washington, Aug. 28.—The coming of the German-made dirigible ZR-3 to the United States this fall accentuates the value of that recent acquisition to science, non-explosive helium gas, of which this country possesses a commercial monopoly. The ZR-3 which is to become American property as a reparations payment, will be flown to American using hydrogen, but upon its arrival it will be inflated with helium.

So important is deemed the American supply of helium, that a measure is pending in Congress to insure its conservation and to prohibit its exportation.

The bureau of mines, to which branch of the department of the interior was intrusted the search for helium and the working out of processes for its recovery, has just installed a new extraction plant at Fort Worth, Texas. There, in conjunction with the commercial development of the product, the government will carry forward the new method, which is to be turned over to the navy to operate later, when demonstrated fully successful.

A repurification plant has recently been installed at Lakehurst, N. J., home of the navy air giant Shenandoah. Air seeps in through the huge envelope of the Shenandoah, and when the helium purity is lowered to 85 per cent, through admixture of the air, the mixture is taken out and put into a refrigeration plant and again separated. Helium 99 per cent pure is recovered, with only about one per cent loss.

This new repurification plant cost about $100,000, but it has already demonstrated a saving of $180,000, each time the gas is taken out and repurified. The cost of filling the Shenandoah with unused helium is estimated at $200,000. The repurification system enables helium formerly used to be returned to its pristine purity and pumped into the Shenandoah for $20,000.

Sources of supply of helium are in Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas, three states in which it was originally found and more recently in Utah and Montana, according to Dr. C. S. Lind, of the bureau of mines. The conditions which regulate its retention are not known. Unless helium is found to exist in quantities of one-half of one per cent, mixed with other gases, commercial development is not considered worth while. Two per cent of helium in a well is the maximum.

Helium is "perfectly inert chemically," says Doctor Lind. "It won't burn or explode, and it might even put out a gasoline fire. While hydrogen can be manufactured anywhere in the world and is universally obtainable, the safety of helium makes it the more desirable."

Helium was first discovered in the sun in 1868, Doctor Lind explains. From the Greek word helios, meaning the sun, it gets its name. It was discovered on earth in 1895 and in the United States in natural gases in 1907. The bureau of mines started helium work in 1917 as a war proposition.

FARMER CAL COULDIDGE

This remarkable close-up portrait of Farmer Cal Couldidge, sometimes President of the United States, was snapped on the farm of a neighbor at Plymouth, Vt., where Mr. Couldidge spent his vacation with his father. When the neighbor couldn't get help to make his hay crop, Farmer Cal donned overalls, rode in a costly limousine to the neighbor's home, and wielded a wicked rake.

Nash, Wilson, Bertie, Edgecombe, Northampton, Gates.

Officers of the district lodge are: T. T. Turner, Elizabeth City, president; Mrs. Bernard Allsbrook, Scotland Neck, vice-president; Bernard Allsbrook; Scotland Neck, secretary-treasurer; and W. O. Kiff, Ahoskie, and Mrs. W. G. Woodard, Rocky Mount, district managers.

Abyssinia a Poor Field For Traffickers Arms

Geneva, Aug. 28.—Prince Tafari-Mekonen, heir to the throne of Abyssinia, who is expected like Premier MacDonald, Herriot and Mussolini, to attend the September session of the League of Nations, has forwarded to Geneva a copy of a new Abyssinian code concerning the traffic in and possession of arms and ammunition. Some idea of the scrupulous manner in which the North African state intends to meet its league obligations is had from the tenor of the princely communication to Sir Eric Drummond, the secretary general of the League.

"Peace be with you," the note begins, and then proceeds: "Desirous of observing faithfully the engagements which it entered into on becoming a member of the League of Nations, my government has now issued new and more explicit regulations regarding arms and ammunition. Experience will show whether the provisions in these regulations are adequate; if they are not, it is our intention to amend them when necessary."

The new law consists of an edict and detailed regulations and they forbid all persons to enter or leave Abyssinia if in possession of weapons of war, or to import or export weapons, unless they have previously obtained authorization. Similarly the sale of weapons is prohibited without specific authority, and penalties are provided.

Fur Hunters Push North to Meet Fashion's Need

St. John's, N. F.—The hunt for fur is extending northward year by year, according to officials of the great fur companies operating from this city to the Labrador Coast and into Hudson's Bay. Each season, they say, new posts are opened to widen the field of the pelt hunter northerly into the Arctic.

The Hudson's Bay Company and Revillon Freres, the "old" company and the "new," already have despatched their steamers on their annual tour of the northern posts.

All the way up the coast of Labrador and into Hudson's Bay are scattered fur posts which in many cases have been carrying on business with the natives for years. Gradually, company heads say, the operations have extended northward, the Hudson's Bay Company especially seeking out new fur fields. This company now has a numerous chain of posts in Baffinland and other areas north of Hudson Strait. In recent years the trading operations of both companies have been very successful and the fur catches large.

Two years ago the Hudson's Bay Company undertook to establish a herd of reindeer in Baffinland with a view to augmenting the meat supply of the region. The company was encouraged in its experiment by the success of a similar project in Alaska instead of meeting with the success

REINDEER EXPECTED TO PROVIDE MAJOR INDUSTRY FOR ALASKA, REPORT

Nome, Alaska, Aug. 28.—Extensive preparations have been made to place Alaska's reindeer industry this fall on a par with fox-raising, mining, fishing, and sheep raising in the territory, according to Carl J. Lomen, president of a trading corporation.

Mr. Lomen explained that despite the fact that many natives are very wealthy on paper, due to their large reindeer herds, they are nearly starving. The herds have increased to a point where they must be depleted. The one sure way, without waste, is to cultivate a taste for reindeer meat, not only throughout Alaska, but in the United States and in foreign countries.

Summer Hints for Young Mothers

"SECOND SUMMER" TEETHING

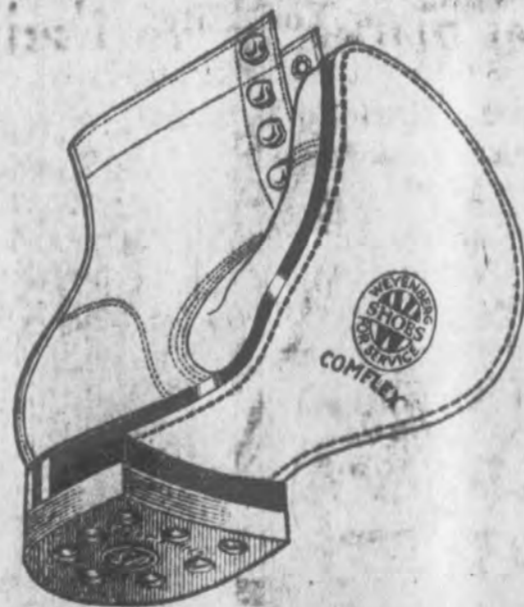

There is a common old saying among mothers that if the baby survives its second summer, it will be over the most dangerous period.

This is based on the fact that hot weather is hard on a teething child.

One of the most famous children's specialists says that a healthy child in teething may be fretful and sleep poorly for a few nights, may show loss of appetite, and slight fever, and may drool but such spells should only last three or four days—and most of the symptoms commonly attributed to teething come from indigestion due to wrong food.

For children's indigestion there's nothing more effective than Livo-lax, and they like to take it. You can get a good-sized bottle at the drug store for 30c.

At Open Car Cost ESSEX COACH

Built by Hudson

Genuine Balloon Tires

Standard Equipment

The outstanding buying choice this year is "Closed Car Comforts at Open Car Cost." The Coach alone provides them. It is exclusive to Hudson and Essex. Everyone knows it gives highest closed car value. And because no other type or car shares its position it is the largest selling 6-cylinder closed car in the world.

Genuine Balloon Tires Enhance World's Greatest Value

Naturally when balloon tires had established their superiority Hudson and Essex would adopt them. They are now standard equipment. They add an even greater measure of riding ease, steadiness and good looks to the notable values of the Coach.

You see the Coach everywhere in increasing numbers. Everyone wants closed car comforts. They will no longer accept half-utility when all-year usefulness and comforts cost no more in the Coach.

Consider how the growing trend to closed cars affects resale values. The diminishing demand for open cars means far faster depreciation in that type. As the wanted type, the Coach maintains exceptionally high resale value.

CIVILIZATION MUST STOP IT

At the battle of Waterloo 9,044 artillery rounds were fired, having a total weight of 37.3 tons, while on one day during the last offensive in France, on the British front alone, 943,837 artillery rounds were fired, weighing 18,080 tons—over 100 times the number of rounds, and 485 times the weight of projectiles. The "improvement" that has been made in old time military weapons is astounding; but when, in addition to this, a thousand new agencies of destruction are discovered, the imagination is staggered by contemplation of the horrors that another war between the great powers would precipitate upon the human race.

That a thousand new weapons are at the disposal of armies is vouched for by a committee of the world's most eminent scientists who have been studying the subject for the League of Nations. That number of poison gases is now available, the committee reports, and adds: "We saw nothing during the last war comparable to the probable destruction of industrial centers and the massacre of civilian populations in the event another important conflict occurs."

The committee doubts if disease-breeding bacteria can be employed successfully as a military weapon; but there is little consolation in that in view of the fiendish powers of some of the new gases. One causes a fatal lesion of the heart, but without pain, so that the victim remains ignorant to the end of having been attacked. Another acts on the digestive organs; a third interferes with the normal functions of the blood and prevents transmission of oxygen from the lungs to the tissues. Microbes are to be pooh-poohed in comparison with the power of the new chemical weapons to wreck the health.

While progress is being made in devising protective measures, the League of Nations committee points out that the attack always manages to get ahead of the defense.

Science, which should be mankind's servant, is being applied to diabolical purposes. Unless the civilized races can be induced to avoid armed conflict there is danger that they will destroy themselves with their dreaded new weapons.

Common sense dictates that we shall keep up our army and navy and equip ourselves with every weapon that is likely to be employed in war until civilization arrives at the point where it will be willing to forego war. But common sense dictates still more emphatically that nothing shall be left undone to maintain peace.

Civilization will be a mockery if it fails to prevent use being made of the frightful agencies of destruction which the nations now have at their disposal.

THE SOCIAL INSTINCT

One of man's evolutionary traits is his social instinct or gregariousness. Few human habits are more highly developed and none is more patent. There is an attraction between men that is not to be denied.

It is not strange that a physician testifying in a hearing to determine the sanity of a woman declared her insane because she refused herself the companionship of others. On the contrary the community has no doubts about the insanity of every recluse. In the days of witchcraft those who lacked the social instinct were in danger of the stake. The mad house receives many of them today.

The brotherhood of man is always prevalent but it is never more pronounced than among those from-back-home or with those having something in common.

If you have ever taken a motor trip into a "foreign" state you have noticed the hand-waving neighborliness displayed between the passengers of cars having license plates of the home state. The fleeting greeting could be warmer between two neighbors or long-parted friends.

Residents of the same community, who were never known to associate with each other at home, have been known to have "chummed" around together upon a chance meeting in a distant city or a foreign country. With millions of faces about him man gets hungry for only one familiar face from home.

There are times when the individual tires of society when friends betray and human competition becomes too keen and everything is left behind for a sojourn in the wilds away from all mankind. It happens many times, a day, especially when the weather becomes as hot as the social contact, but just as often loneliness drives the disgusted-with-humanity back into civilization and the company of other men and women.

Between society and the solitary life man accepts the former as the more perfect of two imperfect conditions.

Well, if Mars did communicate with the earth nothing interesting was said.

Attorney Darrow does stop short of claiming the killing was done in self-defense.

A New York spiritualist claims he is dead. Where, from the neck up?

That floating booze palace reported off New York is now acknowledged to have been a "reporter's dream"—diplomatic language for a lie.

Claim that millions of American money will flow into Hungary if Count Szechenyi, husband of Gladys Vanderbilt, is made king of Hungary probably refers to the count's wife's money.

The average man thinks the only thing that could live on his salary is a germ.

Probably the most congested corner in the country is the one prosperity is hanging just around.

Diggers in Norfolk Find Bones of Soldiers of '76

Norfolk, Va. — The skeletons of three soldiers of General Washington's Revolutionary army, buried nearly a century and a half ago near his camp site which now is a part of Berkeley a Norfolk suburb, were unearthed several days ago in the yard of a citizen of that place. The bones were exhumed by laborers in digging for a sewer line. Buttons of copper or bronze and other time-worn objects indicated two of the men had been officers and the bones of one showed he must have been well over six feet in height.

While today there is nothing to indicate the place, now part of a residential section, was once a military burying ground, the skeletons found the other day make a total of six dug up in the same place within the past two years. A citizen of the suburb, J. H. Jones, who is 90 years old, recalls that in his boyhood days his father had pointed out the place as an old camp cemetery used by the forces of Washington. Soldiers buried there, according to the story, fell in the battles of Great Bridge and Money Point.

from an incident that occurred there during the Revolutionary war. It is related that money had been provided for the payment of the troops but before it could be distributed the British made a sudden attack and fearing its capture, the Americans placed the money in a cannon and dropped it overboard. After the battle, which continued for several days with great fury, efforts to locate the cannot proved futile and the money to this day is supposed to be lying buried in the mud in the Elizabeth river.

During his campaign in this section, then one of the principal ports of entry for the colonies, Washington selected a site almost entirely surrounded by water, thus assuring him against attack except by water. So much impressed was he with the strategic value of his position, according to the story handle down for generations here, that Washington selected his camp as the site for a national capital, even going so far as to select a name for it.

Experts See No Prospects of Raising The Lusitania Now

London.—Chances are that the Lusitania, sunk off the Irish coast

by a German torpedo in May 1915, never will be raised, according to David Masters, author of a book which describes the wonders of salvage.

The sheer weight of the sea, the writer points out, quickly obliterates man's handiwork, and the Lusitania probably ceased to be a ship years ago. It is extremely likely that the tremendous pressure to which she was subjected at the depth of 288 feet long ago crushed her flat, he says.

The liner's 30-ton safe, full of valuables, would be strong enough, one might think, to resist the pressure of the sea; but even the chances of salvaging the safe alone from the liner's strong room do not appeal to the writer as being worth the risk.

Scores of schemes have been propounded for salvaging the Lusitania. An American has proposed to use a submarine which would fire torpedoes through the hull. Each torpedo would carry a steel cable. When sufficient cables had been fired they would be picked up on the other side, brought to the surface, and the wreck lifted from the depths. Experts say this ingenious scheme is simple in theory, but impracticable, and that the Lusitania remains, and is likely to remain, where she sunk more than nine years ago.

"SISSY" IN PENROD AND "SAM" GETS HIS

What does a "real kid" hate most of all? Right. It's a "sissy."

There's a "sissy" in "Penrod and Sam," a First National picture now playing at White's theatre, who incurred the enmity of the rest of the boys in the neighborhood and was ostracized by them because he "didn't belong." His father took a hand in the matter and through his intercession "the gang" reluctantly agreed to allow him to join their "In C. In Club."

But to join the club necessitated an initiation. Georgie Bassett, the star, went through the initiation ceremony. When they had ended he was, decidedly "second hand" and even his mother had difficulty recognizing him. And then Trouble with a capital T loomed up for the "initiators."

This is one of the many delightfully funny situations in "Penrod and Sam," which is from the pen of Booth Tarkington, the famous writer of "kid" stories and which has been directed by William Beaudine.

"Penrod and Sam" has been characterized a classic of American boyhood. Benny Alexander plays Penrod with a fidelity and finish that are striking, and Joe Butterworth is no less a success as the "Sam" of the combination. Others in the cast are Rockliffe Fellows, Gladys Brockwell, William V. Mong and Buddy Messenger.

Off For College--

The first exciting moment of arrival, everyone kissing and hugging each other at once, a little later everyone unpacking and trying to fix up their rooms while all the girls are talking at the same time about the most adorable man they met this summer and still later the long line waiting to register where the conversation turns to more weighty subjects such as, which is the snappiest course, English Lit. IV or English Lit VII—there you have it, the first day back at school! What a happy winter you have ahead of you, that is if you have a very complete wardrobe with lots of pretty appropriate clothes. If your clothes have a "smart air" your success on the campus is assured.

COTTON LETTER

New Orleans, Aug. 28.—Steadier cables than one and the appearance of another tropical storm in the West Indies were sustaining features of the market today in the face of the interior report in the spot basis as ruling easier in consequence of the want of an urgent demand. Returns to a prominent New York commission house average the condition of cotton at 64 indicating a crop of 13,322,000 bales exclusive of linters and returns to the National Ginners Association average the condition of the crop at 61. Pointing to a yield of their acreage of 12,440,000 bales and 12,700,000 bales based on the Government acreage. Washington advised that the tropical storm this morning was of considerable intensity centered about 60 miles southwest of Saint Kitts Island, moving west northwest. Because there being as much cotton open the fields in the cotton region, and owing to the storm apparently moving in a more westerly direction, the disturbance appears to be more dangerous and more threatening for the cotton region than was the previous hurricane, which moved up the Atlantic ocean.

Rains are needed in nearly all sections of the cotton belt to prevent further deteriorations but torrential rains, such as usually accompany tropical storms would likely do more harm than good to the crop, as in that case the grade of the crop would be lowered, in which event the basis would probably stiffen, particularly if hurricane winds work inland which would do real damage wherever the storm may strike. Crop accounts are generally less favorable due mainly to the continuance of the drought, especially in the western half of the belt, but government "pars" for the September 8th bureau crop reports are higher than they were for August 16 and unless there is much of a decline in the condition of the crop since August 16 the indications crop may not differ much from the recent forecast for a yield of 12,956,000 bales exclusive of linters. Meanwhile the market will likely be governed mainly by the movement of the tropical disturbance.

STORM WARNING

Washington, Aug. 28.—Advisory 1015 a. m.: tropical disturbance, of considerable intensity centered about 60 miles southwest of Saint Kitts, moving west, northwest.

Note: This storm appears more dangerous for cotton region than the previous hurricane as moving west, northwest, whereas previous disturbance moved north, northwest.

Jones Sentenced 3 Years On Road, Charge Larceny

Roger Williams and Will Jenkins were found guilty of the charge of having a still and liquor and were fined $25 and cost.

Carl Ross and Lucy Ross charged with having liquor in possession were given a hearing yesterday. Case against Lucy Ross was not pressed while Carl Ross pled guilty and was given 6 months in jail to be assigned to work on roads. Judgment was suspended during good behavior. Commitment to be made at any time by solicitor. Defendants were ordered to pay cost.

W. F. Roberson, charged with driving car while drunk was found guilty and sentenced to 4 months on roads. Judgment was suspended during good behavior, commitment to be made at any time by solicitor.

Johnnie Moore was found not guilty of charge of assault with intent to kill.

True bills were returned against Dorsey Howard charged with robbery and against Louis Kornegay charged with assault.

At the beginning of this morning's session of court the case against L. E. Allen, Robert Rawls and James Merritt was called. These are being tried on the charge of robbery and arson, and aiding and abetting.

The case is the outgrowth of the robbery of Cotten's store at Cottendale several weeks ago when three negroes entered the store held the clerk up and robbed the store.

Allen the only white man in the crowd is charged with aiding and abetting. Upon investigation one of the negroes told that they had also attempted to burn the store of Mr. Jason Joyner.

The case is attracting wide attention. Splendid legal talent is being displayed on both sides and it is expected that the case will consume today's session and probably tomorrow's session.

Caverly Brings Closing Remarks Crowe Cowardly

by the state attorney and said the prosecution had tried to intimidate the court knowing full well that what he said would be broadcast throughout the land.

"The court has no other recourse than that which it has done. The state attorney knew there was no change for a reply."

The court then started the reading of a prepared statement. In it the judge defended his court from criticism for its procedure.

"Some of these criticisms came from those who knew no better and some from those who should know better" the statement declared.

The court announced that he would give his decision fixing the penalty for the double crime on September 10 at 9:30 a. m. None will be admitted to the court that day, the court ruled, save the defendants, attorneys, court attaches and newspaper men.

The remarks of the court came out of a clear sky and startled the crowd of court room into a shocked silence. Mr. Crowe blanched and his jaw dropped under the judicial broadside.

"Your Honor, I had," he began but the judge interrupted him. "The state attorney knew full well that his remarks would be heralded far and wide," said Judge Caverly. "He knew too, that the court had no opportunity to reply to defend itself from such criticism except by the action it has taken."

The court did not state specifically what portions of Mr. Crowe's remarks aroused his ire. It was recalled, however, that the state attorney had referred to possible outbursts if the death penalty was not imposed and had emphasized the power of money in courts and the wealth of the defendants.

Just before the argument closed Mr. Crowe also made reference to the testimony of James J. Courtland, one of his staff detectives, who declared that Leopold had expressed hope of escaping a death penalty by pleading guilty before a friendly judge.

This had been denounced by Clarence Darrow, chief of defense counsel, as perjury and when Crowe presented it the court asked the court stenographer to give him a special copy of the statement.

None of the attorneys have commented upon the case since the hearing closed. Darrow and other members of the defense counsel said that it would be improper and Crowe declared that he had already been talking for three days.

Two Negroes Arrested For Robbing the Mails

Salisbury, Aug. 28.—Bud Mitchell, night porter at the Southern Railway passenger station here, and Frank Noble, janitor of the local post office, are under indictment on charges of stealing parcel post packages while in transit from the trucks at the passenger station. Both are negroes.

The first packages were missed some weeks ago and a quiet investigation was begun by Frank Miller, chief of the railway's special force, with the result that some of the articles from the missing packages were recovered and the two men arrested.

The negroes were given a hearing before United States Commissioner Ray here today and bound over to Federal court.
