AROUND WORLD FLIERS HOP FROM NEW YORK TO NATION'S CAPITAL TODAY

After All Day Battle Against Headwind, Fliers Pass Over Baltimore Enroute to Washington

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 9.—The army world fliers were sighted here approaching from the northeast at 2 p. m. They crossed over the city in the midst of a heavy rain storm.

The planes crossed over the center of the city at 2:03 p. m. In spite of the heavy rain, house tops and roof of the high downtown office buildings were full of people gazing skyward as the planes passed flying low.

The fliers left Aberdeen at 1:30 according to announcement from that place.

Washington, Sept. 9.—A forced landing at Aberdeen, Maryland, 70 miles north of Washington, interrupted the New York to Washington lap of the army world fliers today.

Fog over the bay and marsh regions of Aberdeen, the army ordnance proving ground, compelled the fliers, who with their escorts had battled the head winds all the way from New York, to come to the ground for refueling.

Hayre de Grace, Md., Sept. 9. The world fliers passed Hayre de Grace at 12:03 p. m. Eastern Time. They were flying low and not very fast.

President Coolidge and his cabinet with Mrs. Coolidge and the cabinet ladies were at Bolling field to greet the air heroes upon their arrival. As word came that they were delayed the president decided to stick it out and abandoned luncheon engagements. He had already waited hours upon the field despite the rain and mist.

The officials of the field had expected the fliers to lunch with them but promptly invited President and Mrs. Coolidge when the chief executive determined to stay on the field. The invitation was promptly accepted and while the fliers were lunching in Aberdeen, Maryland, President and Mrs. Coolidge went to the officers mess at the field as guests of the air service personnel.

The cabinet members and their wives also became the official guests at the luncheon together with high officials of government departments, army and navy who had turned out to pay their tributes to the world fliers.

While preparation of the meal went forward word came from Aberdeen that the fog was already lifting and the fliers would soon be away again.

The rain had gone by one o'clock and the sun was shining over the city. At the field crowds jammed every point from which the landing place could be seen and there seemed no desire to leave.

Mitchell Field, N. Y., Sept. 9.—The United States Army world fliers hopped off from Mitchell Field for Washington at 9:35 this morning. The fliers took off in the face of a 35 mile wind. Their departure was delayed for half an hour while Major General Patrick obtained weather reports from Washington by telephone. Although these reports stated that the skies were overcast and rain threatened, the fliers decided to hop off.

After receiving the weather reports Major General Patrick conferred with Lieutenant Lowell H. Smith leader of the flight. Lieutenant Smith informed him that the fliers were anxious to be off. Major General Patrick then gave approval of the plan to hop off without delay.

The airmen expect to reach Washington within three or four hours unless the wind shifts and in favorable weather conditions develop.

Philadelphia, Sept. 9.—The world fliers passed over northeast Philadelphia at 11:50 a. m.

FARMVILLE BOY'S ARM AMPUTATED IN WASHINGTON

10 Year Old Son of Mr. Glasgow Smith Accidentally Shoots Self While on Fishing Trip

The 10 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Glasgow Smith, of Farmville is in the Washington hospital suffering from the amputation of his left arm made necessary by a bullet wound which he received while on a fishing trip at Blount's Creek. Immediately upon his arrival at the hospital it was found that it would be necessary to amputate the arm.

The little boy was on a fishing trip to Blount's Creek and was unloading a boat at the time of the accident, according to reports the gun accidentally fired the shot taking effect in the left arm.

Mrs. Ficklen Found Guilty of Reckless Driving; Appeals

Mrs. James Ficklen was found guilty in a special session of court yesterday of driving an automobile recklessly and carelessly and was fined $25 and costs. She appealed to Superior court. The warrant charging Mrs. Ficklen with the above violation of the law was sworn out by Miss Phyllis Garner, of Atlanta, Ga. Miss Garner accompanied by her sister is spending a few days in Greenville selling novelties and shirts. They were returning from Ayden to Greenville on Saturday when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by Mrs. Ficklen's car and damaged.

According to evidence Mrs. Ficklen was on her way to the Country Club at the time of the accident. As she passed the Serve-U Filling Station, another automobile drove out from the station directly in front of her car. Witness for Miss Garner stated that Mrs. Ficklen was driving too fast to stop when she hit the car and in an effort to see if she damaged the Ford by looking back she went too far to the right and struck Miss Garner's car which had gone as far to the right as possible to avoid an accident.

Mrs. Ficklen testified that she was driving at a rate of about 18 miles an hour when she passed the filling station and that on account of congested traffic she slowed down but failed to see the Ford until it was too late, and that in order to avoid a serious accident that she attempted to miss the Ford and in so doing the car driven by the ladies ran into her car.

The case was tried before Magistrate John I. Smith with Judge Whedbee appearing for the defendant and J. Conard Lanier for the plaintiff.

Number of Tourists Pass Winston-Salem During Summer

Winston-Salem, Sept. 9.—Approximately 200 tourists, enroute to or from their vacations, pass the city of Winston-Salem every week, it is estimated by the local Chamber of Commerce by the compilation of data gathered from hotels and other sources.

An average of from 5 to 10 automobiles with tourists as passengers stop at the local hotels, every day, it was said, and these cars have from two to five persons in them.

According to Mr. Ritter, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, most of the traffic is the north and south flow and the nearness of the city to Blowing Rock and other resorts has much to do with the large number of tourists who pass through.

A group of pictures taken when the American world encircling aviators reached Boston is shown. The planes in squadron formation are led by Lieutenant Lowell Smith, with Lieutenant Leigh Wade and Lieutenant Eric Nelson following them. Lieutenant Wade rejoined the party at Boston, N. S. The camera caught Lieutenant Smith's plane just as it touched the water in Boston Bay. A few minutes later the fliers signed the log to mark their first official stop on United States soil. Lieutenant Smith has grasped the pen, while to his right are Wade and Nelson.

ROTARIANS HOLD MEET LAST NIGHT

Committee Chairmen to Discuss Club Projects on Friday Night

The Greenville Rotary Club held its regular meeting last night at the Rotary Home with several visitors present. The meeting was one of snap consisting of much fun and frivolity as well as talks covering the serious side.

Following the evening meal W. H. club upon any subject he desired, his talk was greatly enjoyed. Though he covered a wide range of specific topics the real subject of his address was all together for a bigger and better Greenville and Pitt county.

President R. H. Wright next addressed the club giving the highlights of the recent meeting of the district executives in Rocky Mount. His address also covered several of the important features of Rotary and a few words by W. H. Swinson, of the National Biscuit Company, E. L. McRae and Judge Midyette, the guests were all called upon for short talks which were enjoyed by those present.

Immediately after the close of the meeting there was a short business session of the chairmen of the various committees of the organization. There will be another meeting of the committee next Friday evening at 6:30 at which time will be discussed various projects to be taken up by the club.

Retail Florists Asso. To Meet In Durham Oct. 21-22

Durham, Sept. 9.—The North Carolina Retail Florists' Association will hold its annual convention in Durham during October 21 and 22, according to an announcement made here by Chris Hibbard, one of the officers of the association.

Announcement of the definite date of the meeting was delayed, it was said, because of the National Association convention in New York being held at a time when it would prevent men prominent in the florist business from coming here to speak at the state association convention. Several nationally known florists have promised to speak here, says the announcement.

A program committee has been appointed but have not yet made arrangements in detail for the activities of the convention, however, the members say that ample entertainment will be furnished the visiting delegates.

Final Arrangements For Sentence Chicago Youths Were Completed Today

Chicago, Sept. 9.—Final precautionary steps were being taken today to insure the orderly sentencing to death or life imprisonment tomorrow of Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, confessed kidnapers and murderers of Robert Franks.

Fifty policemen and scores of plain clothes men will be on duty outside and in the corridors of the criminal court building to keep the crowds away. The court room will be closed to spectators and only relatives, defendants, attorneys, bailiffs and newspapermen will be present. Because of many threats received by Judge Caverly special precautions for safeguarding him are being taken.

Judge Caverly issued a statement last night, to which he asked public notice to be given, to the effect that his opinion would be given first to newspaper men in typewritten form.

Winston-Salem Graded Schools Enroll 1,115 Students At Opening

Winston-Salem, Sept. 9.—The high schools of Winston-Salem received the largest enrollment this year in the history of their operation when the total number of students mounted to 1,115, nearly 300 more than the attendance of last year, it has been announced at the office of the city school registrar. The total enrollment of all the schools of the city was stated to be 9,608. Using last year as a guide, it is predicted by school officials, that the total high school enrollment will reach 1,300 by the end of the 1924-25 school term.

Though there has been a marked increase in the student enrollment this year, the schools have been amply able to care for every student who applied for entrance. The task of selling the books to the children by the schools proved a large one but a great aid to the children. Officials declared that they expect the most successful of results from the school work during the year.

Lee Trinkle was taken to a hospital here this morning suffering from a broken left arm sustained last night when he was thrown from a chair aboard the Virginia Fish and Game Department's boat, Commodore Maury while enroute to the mouth of St. Mary's river to confer with Governor Ritchie, of Maryland, over the crab and oyster laws of the two states.

PUBLIC CABS REPLACE PRIVATE VEHICLES AT GERMAN WEDDINGS

Berlin, Sept. 9.—Waiting at the church has become a custom among the horse cab drivers here whenever there is a wedding. Formerly, liveried carriages brought the bride and groom to the church, and their relatives, and friends, too, came in their private vehicles, carriages or automobiles.

But in the new order of things, and the high prices generally, it is not unusual for the bride and groom themselves to take a one-horse cab or a taxi, from the bride's home to the church, and to call another conveyance after the ceremony is over. Cab drivers have spotted all the favorite churches, and by instinct appear to know the days and the hours when there is to be a wedding.

Dournanez, France, Sept. 9.—The unusual sight has just been seen here of 15 children following their mother's coffin to the grave. Madame Pierre Le Carze died at the age of 46. She had been the mother of 18 children and fifteen survived her.

INQUIRY CHARLOTTE MURDER CONTINUES

Police Advance No Theory as to Death of W. W. Johnson, Found Dead in Home of R. L. Reed

Charlotte, Sept. 9.—The inquiry into the death of W. W. Johnson, of Mt. Holly, found dead in the front room of the home of Robert L. Reed here today by Coroner Frank Hovis. The coroner yesterday afternoon was unable to complete the taking of evidence.

Johnson's body was found laid out as if for burial on a sofa. Reed was arrested as he lay asleep in another room of the house. Lee Fulp, of Statesville, who spent Friday night in the Reed home, was arrested in Statesville. Fulp and Reed have been held in jail without bond pending the outcome of the investigation. Fulp is expected to testify this afternoon.

Police have advanced no theory as to how Johnson was slain beyond the fact that he was shot through the head. Chief Snoddy said that Fulp was arrested because of statements of persons in the Reed home to the effect that Fulp was the last person who saw Johnson alive. Reed is held as a material witness. Reed was examined yesterday after the coroner had advised his attorneys that he was held as a material witness and not charged with any crime.

Reed testified that Fulp, a cousin of Mrs. Reed, and Johnson came to his home Friday evening. He said that they took several drinks together and sat for a time in the room occupied by Mrs. Reed who is ill. He declared that he went to bed at his usual hour Friday night and that the first he knew of the affair was when he was asked by a neighbor Saturday what was the matter with Johnson. He did not know when Fulp left the house, he declared.

SOUTH SEA ROMANCE FADES AS THE NATIVES DANCE TO JAZZ

Papeete, Tahiti, Sept. 9.—Moving pictures and radio, jazz music, motors cars and bobbed hair have crowded out the old native customs of Tahiti, and some of the romance of the South Seas would appear to be on the wane.

Time was when July 14, the anniversary of the fall of the Bastille, was the great native festival of these islands. There were singing and dancing contests among the native clans, prepared for months in advance, and the competition for real excellence was keen. This year only a few small and mediocre company companies entered the contests, and interest was distinctly lacking. The principal centers of attraction were the dancing pavilions. Along the waterfront where jazz bands led the revellers in fox trots to a continuous flow of warm champagne.

CONSULS IN EUROPE ACTIVE AGAINST PASSPORT SWINDLES

Paris, Sept. 9.—Since the new American immigration law went into effect, Europe has seen an outbreak of attempted passport frauds. So great has been the desire to reach the shores of the United States, on the part of would-be emigrants, that they are easy prey for unscrupulous traffickers in false documents. American consular officers are engaged in running down frauds, in Warsaw, Berlin, Hamburg, Brussels and Paris.

A favorite but futile device among Italians has been the "Argentine dodge." The quota from this country, into America, is far from being exhausted. Armed with a faked Argentine passport, and a faked birth certificate, purchased from swindlers at a cost of $250, many an Italian has seen his hopes fade rapidly under the expert scrutiny of American consular officers.

Shoe Thieves Thwarted.

Berlin, Sept. 9.—Berlin held its first big "shoe fair" recently, but the left shoe only of each pair was displayed as a precaution against theft. The chief attractions were in women's wear. This display included silverlace shoes, "radio" shoes guaranteed not to crack colored shoes, brocades, red dancing slippers, and handpainted ball-room shoes, but all lefts.

MEN AND WOMEN IN NEWS OF THE DAY.

Mrs. CHARLES DILLINGHAM & Mrs. PETER B. KYNE
PRESIDENT RYKOV & S. GLENN YOUNG.

Mrs. Peter B. Kyne, wife of the noted American novelist, had a narrow escape when her automobile was caught between hostile artillery and machine gun fire of the two opposing Chinese armies near Shanghai, where she was visiting with her husband. She had to flee on foot. S. Glenn Young, imported Ku Klux Klan dry rader of Williamson County, Ill., in which is situated "Bloody" Herrin, has been indicted by the Federal Grand Jury at Danville, Ill., charged with impersonating Government officers. President Rykov, president of the Soviet Council of People's Commissars, speaking at Sartov, where 23 years ago he was nearly beaten to death by Imperial Cossacks, asserted all "capitalistic" countries would eventually recognize the Red Government. Mrs. Frederick H. Allen, noted New York society leader, interposed violent objections to the proposed marriage of her youthful son, Julian B. L. Allen, to Mrs. Charles B. Dillingham, beautiful divorced wife of the New York theatrical magnate.

POIGNANT RUSSIAN TRAGEDY RECALLED BY EXILES DEATH

Harbin, China, Sept. 9.—An old man died recently in a small village of eastern Siberia whose name evokes among Russians memories of a tragedy, the poignancy of which is unsurpassed in the annals of that wild and gloomy land.
St. Petersburg was the scene and the time the late eighties. The principal actor was a young officer of one of the most brilliant regiments of the Czar's guard. He was accomplished and highly connected and a general favorite, but the life led by him and a majority of his comrades proved too fast for the resources of a diminished and badly managed estate. The young officer turned to the money lenders who preyed upon men of his kind. One was found who was willing to advance money against his promissory until the total debt had reached many thousands of rubles.

Finally the chance of a wealthy marriage gave promise of release for the young man from his financial troubles. He informed the money lender of his good luck, and obtained more money. The money lender told the young officer that he planned a fine wedding present for the occasion of his marriage. Misinterpreting the man's meaning and taking it to be a threat that the notes would be presented for payment or protest, the young officer foresaw himself ruined and resolved upon desperate measures. The money lender was found dead in his own house a few days later, and the crime was traced to the borrower. The police discovered among the old man's effects a package neatly tied with ribbon containing all of the other's notes. An inscription showed that this was to have been the wedding gift.
Evidence of the young officer's guilt was clear and he was exiled to Siberia. Old residents of Siberia tell many stories of his remorse-stricken life, which has just ended in penury and misery.

Pee Gee MASTIC PAINT
Save the surface and you save all.
Paint Stops Decay Reduces Repair Bills
It is a pretty well known fact that paint is a preservative. What science has preached, experience has confirmed. Paint used at regular intervals, is a relentless foe of decay, which, if unopposed, is certain. It lessens the upkeep of your property and reduces repairs to a minimum.
Pee Gee Mastic Paint has been on the firing line over half a century protecting homes, barns, and outbuildings. Its great covering capacity and long years of service have become a proverb—"Wear like Mastic." You hear it whenever good paint is talked of. AMERICAN PLAYERS LEAD IN CONTESTS FOR TENNIS TROPHY

New York, Sept. 8.—Although 27 nations in all parts of the world have sought possession of the Davis Cup, emblem of team tennis supremacy, only three, the United States, Australia and Great Britain have ever held this coveted trophy, which will be defended by America in the challenge matches beginning Sept. 11 at Philadelphia.

Of these three, the United States, chiefly through its triumphant march of the last four years, leads with seven victories, while Australia has six to her credit and Britain five.

The historic cup, a perpetual trophy to be contested for by nations having recognized lawn tennis organizations, was donated by Dwight F. Davis, present assistant secretary of war, in 1900. Since that time it has been contested for 19 times, competition this year making the nineteenth annual play for the trophy.

In 1900, the first year of the competition, but two teams, the British Isles and the United States, played, but since then nations have swung into line until this year 28 teams entered the lists to compete for world tennis honors.

The United States scored the first victory in 1900 at Boston when Dwight F. Davis, donor of the trophy; Holcombe Ward, holder with Davis of the national doubles title in 1899, 1900 and 1901, and M. D. Whitman defeated the British team, three matches to none. In 1901 there were no challengers and the cup rested in this country. In 1902 the British Isles challenged again but the United States won its second victory.

From this point, however, America's tennis star was dimmed and supremacy passed first to the British Isles which, chiefly through the brilliant work of the famous Doherty brothers, held the cup from 1903 to 1906, and then to Australia, where Brookes and Wilding, another great combination, kept the trophy from 1907 to 1911.

Britain finally broke through the Antipodean defense, and won the trophy in 1912, only to lose it the following year to the United States. But Australia came back with a great victory by Wilding and Brookes in 1914 at Forest Hills and, with the world war causing a sudden break in the series, held the cup until Tilden and Johnson brought it back to America in 1920.

A recapitulation of the series follows:

Year	Winner	Runner-Up	Score
1900	United States	British Isles	3-0
1901	United States	British Isles	3-2
1902	British Isles	United States	4-1
1903	British Isles	Belgium	5-0
1904	British Isles	United States	5-0
1905	British Isles	United States	5-0
1906	Australasia	British Isles	3-2
1907	Australasia	United States	3-2
1908	Australasia	United States	5-0
1909	Australasia	United States	5-0
1910	British Isles	Australia	3-2
1911	United States	British Isles	3-2
1912	Australasia	United States	3-2
1913	Australasia	British Isles	4-1
1914	United States	Australasia	5-0
1920	United States	Japan	4-0
1921	United States	Australasia	5-1
1922	United States	Australasia	4-1
1923	United States	Australasia	4-1

Germans Try to Abolish Multiplicity of Titles, Report

Berlin, Sept. 9.—No country in the world, perhaps, is as title-ridden as Germany. The nuisance has become so great that the federal government intends to take a hand and try and bring about some sort of simplification and unification of the titles that are being awarded by the various departments of government, federal, provincial and state.

Before the war every man who did something unusual or who rendered a personal service to his fellow men or to the emperor was given a decoration and a title. Then came the revolution and all titles and decorations were supposed to be wiped out. Holders of titles, however, "A. D." (ausser dienst, or out of service) behind their former titles, so that one still sees visiting cards with such designations as "Imperial vice-consul out-of-service" or "minister of state out-of-service."

Then the various state governments undertook to apply designations to their officials, as indications of rank in the service. In practice, these amounted to titles, so that Germany now has a multiplicity of titles never known before.

POLAND E. COURAGES AIMS OF NATIONAL MINORITIES

Warsaw, Sept. 9.—Poland has adopted a measure calculated to appease the language aspirations of the people on its eastern borders. Polish is to be the official tongue, but the languages of the Ukrainians in the southeast, the White Ruthenians in the north, and the Lithuanians in two districts are given definite recognition in court and in government offices.

If the parents of 40 children in a school want the youngsters taught in an admitted language, it shall be done, with Polish as an additional language if 25 parents request it. In the high schools tuition will be in two languages, Polish and the local tongue.

Thus have the minorities been recognized. The measure is regarded as most liberal, and it probably will be followed by others along the same lines.

CRANK CASE OIL'S worst enemies

MANY car owners seem to think that the oil in the crank case ought to last indefinitely. They forget that there are two very serious sources of oil contamination.

First of all, unless your car is equipped with an air strainer, you are going to have a surprising amount of dust drawn in with the mixture. This dust is caught by the oil, accumulates there and is ground through the bearings over and over again.

You know how much dust accumulates on the car body in the course of 500 miles of driving. In the engine it is much worse, for here are four, six or eight "lungs" drawing in dust every revolution and that dust has little chance to escape from the sticky oil.

Then, too, in starting, and especially if you overdo the use of the choke, unburned fuel leaks down and is absorbed by the crank case oil. Gasoline does not lubricate. It dilutes and "cuts" the lubricant.

These two causes eventually reduce the efficiency of even the best oil. The only safe way to overcome this is to drain, flush, and refill the crank case with fresh oil regularly every 500 miles. Before having new "Standard" Polarine Motor Oil put in be sure to have the crank case thoroughly flushed out. "Standard" Flushing Oil is a light oil especially designed for this purpose.

FOR A BIGGER, GREATER GREENVILLE AND PITT COUNTY

Widespread co-operation is being given The Daily Reflector in the preparation of the Greater Pitt Industrial Development Edition that is to appear shortly.

The Reflector has every reason to feel deeply gratified and encouraged by the quick response with which the projected development edition has been met by many of the most substantial people of the community. Having had outlined to them the purpose and keynote of the forth coming special edition—that is, having been assured that it is designed for the sole and definite purpose of further awakening the civic pride in this community, and of spreading afar the story of Greenville and Pitt county, their actual and potential greatness—the people of the city have instantly and generously demonstrated their readiness to share in the promotion of the enterprise, by whatever means may be open to them.

Those individuals and firms who are arranging for representation in this special issue will not find in the edition itself or in its distribution the least cause for modifying their advance conception of it.

But not one should get the idea that this issue is the "be-all" and "end-all" of the campaign. On the contrary, it is only a beginning. There are certain and definite things that this community needs. Greenville and Pitt county have many excellent forces in the world today. It has built cities out of towns, and made towns out of villages. We must cease hiding our light under a bushel, we must abandon the independent attitude to some extent, and tell the world of what we have here in Pitt County. We must first become thoroughly "sold" on our community, and then tell those of other communities, just what may be expected.

Let's grow! the big element of Greenville's task now is that of publicity. Hundreds of other communities have used it with signal success. Why not Greenville?

To those who are aiding in making this special edition a success The Reflector extends its thanks.

The undertaking is a large one, taxing our facilities to the utmost, but we believe that it will have an enormous bearing on the future growth and development both of Greenville and Pitt county.

SOUND FARM PROGRAM

North Dakota Agricultural College shows that the state has reduced its grain acreage 2,733,000 acres since 1919, last year's total being 8,402,000 acres. The college survey shows that diversified farming has absorbed almost all of the decreased grain acreage; dairying, hogs, flax, potatoes, corn, tame hay, feed crops. The college reports say that this is the result of "a determined effort of the farmer to better his condition, and that it is markedly successful. Without national wheat legislation, the farmers are solving their own problem of better returns and are doing it on a business basis rather than on a legislated make-shift foundation.

TOLL OF CARELESSNESS

Figures recently compiled by the state of Oregon show that 93 per cent of its automobile wrecks are caused by carelessness. Of 9,131 accidents reported from January 1 to June 30, last, 5,457 are charged entirely to carelessness. Added to these may be included the following: speeding 183; failure to give right of way, 1381; reckless driving, 260; cutting corners, 372; double at intersections, 155; driving while intoxicated, 123; failure to give signal, 290 driving on left side of street or highway, 64; improper parking, 79; reverse direction in middle of block, 40; passing to left of street cars while discharging passengers, 31; inexperience, 24; jockeying on bridges, 21; a total of 8480 accidents which might have been avoided, according to the report of the secretary of state, had the drivers been careful. It is probable that these Oregon figures would be a fair average for other states.

That too many automobile drivers "let the insurance company pay the bill" is responsible for many avoidable accidents. Let drivers remember that no insurance policy has yet been devised which will return the life of a person through an automobile driver's carelessness. Safety to life and property rests almost wholly in the hands of the automobile driver.

AMERICAN FIREMEN SUPREME

The American boys made wonderful soldiers because they were cheerful and could stand hard knocks. It is probable that they are good fire fighters for the same reason.

The responsibility that rests on the fire departments of this nation may be better understood by a repetition of the statement that some 15,000 people were burned to death last year and $500,000,000 worth of property destroyed in the United States.

With such a record of death and destruction, our firemen must be brave men in their fight against the American fire monster.

In a pamphlet entitled "Fire Fighting by Modern Methods," the National Board of Fire Underwriters shows what a fireman is called upon to do in his work of protecting life and property.

When one remembers that the per capita fire loss of this nation today is $4.75; compared to 11 cents in Holland and 33 cents in Great Britain, one can well see why an American fireman must be not only more courageous but more efficient than the firemen of other nations.

While our firemen deserve all praise, American citizens as a whole deserve severe censure for their gross carelessness, which results in such terrible annual loss of life and property.

CITTON LETTER

New Orleans, Sept. 9.—Upon reflection, following yesterday's decline, due to the government forecasting a yield of 12,787,000 exclusive of Hinters, there was a better feeling in market today owing to the lower prices probably being more attractive to trade interests.

The average price of a commodity for a season has much to do with the consumption, and as the average price of mid cotton last season was 31.67, or higher, with the single exception of season of 1919-20 when it was 38.21 since then the American civil war, consumption by the world last season was reduced to 11,241,000 bales of American cotton vs. 12,161,000 season before last.

Because of the lower prices prevailing this year, and owing to the improvement in the political and economic situation abroad, plus small mill stocks everywhere, there is every reason to believe consumption of American cotton will be much larger this year than it was last season, perhaps much larger. Middling cotton today is around the 23 cent level compared with 27 1/2 cents at this time last year and compared with the average price of 41.67 last season and last year's peak of 36 cents which was witnessed December 1, 1923.

It is reasonable to expect therefore, that the trade will be more disposed to buy, perhaps freely around present price levels, especially in view of the fact that the Lancashire spinning working margin is larger than it has been since 1920 which probably accounts for Liverpool buying. Some talk of increased running time in Lancashire.

This year crop is still in the making, especially as concerns late cotton and the present indicated yield is not burdensome when it is considered that the supply for season before last was 15,903,000 bales when the world consumed 12,829,000 on the basis of 24.06 per pound as the average price for that season.

This season the south is better off financially than ever before, for notwithstanding the lower prices prevailing, the crop outlook is larger, which will make up for the lower prices. Probably bring into the south about as much as did last year's crop or about $1,658,248,000 exclusive of the value of the seed. Rumored Lancashire spinners decided to discontinue short time.

Rumania Clarifies Stand of Foreign Capital, Now

Bucharest, Sept. 8.—Despite the mining legislation, which has elicited the protests of the American, British, French, Dutch and Belgian ministers on the ground that it is "confiscatory," V. Bratianu, minister of finance, has made the following statement on the attitude of his government toward foreign capital: "I have never offered obstacles to the entrance of foreign capital into Rumania, but I have insisted that it must operate on conditions compatible with the economic independence of the country."

"Foreign capital is welcome in Rumania. But we do not wish to see our own capital shut out by foreign investments. Foreign enterprises that have no regard for our forces of cooperation and which desire to utilize our natural resources as those of Turkey were utilized before the war, cannot find a favorable field for their activities in Rumania. "Experience has shown that only by reasonable participation of Rumanian capital can our natural resources be soundly developed. Such participation is the object of the mining legislation which the government is putting through parliament."

Eastern Chamber to Conduct Extensive Adv. Campaign

A gigantic advertising program will be put on by the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce during the next three years, if the plans of the organization don't miscarry. It is the belief of those familiar with Eastern North Carolina, that all she needs is publicity, backed by an organization that will handle the campaign in a business like way. The record of the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce during the last three years, is proof enough that this campaign will be conducted in a business like way, by real big business men who make up its board of directors.

Advertising Will Pay.

Nobody that thinks soberly believes that advertising doesn't pay. The business man who has tried to sell merchandise without advertising has found it a hard job. The town that has built itself up without advertising is hard to find. The county that has been made famous as a progressive county, has done it by advertising. What is true of a business, a town, county, is true of a section or state. North Carolina, the most talked of state in the Union, has an excellent opportunity to become the foremost state in the Union in many respects, now. The Eastern part of the state, covered by the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce, has a double benefit to be derived from a nation-wide advertising campaign. Your town or county will profit only to the extent that you will step in and take advantage of the opportunity confronting you. It is up to each town and county in these forty-six counties to get busy and get in on this big advertising wave that is sweeping the country from one end to the other. The Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce is the medium through which all the towns and counties can work. Help to make it go. Be a member of this big firm that is destined to mean so much for Eastern Carolina.

TOKIO BLAMES METAL ROOFS FOR HEAT AND LACK OF RAIN

Tokio, Sept. 9.—Three hundred thousand metal roofs in Tokio, most of them tin and galvanized iron, are adding appreciably to the discomforts of one of the hottest summers in recent years. More than one-half the city's population lives in buildings erected since the earthquake of last September, and nearly all these buildings have metal roofs. Temperatures in such houses are from 5 to 10 degrees Fahrenheit higher than in buildings roofed with slate or tile.

Experts say the heat is not the only discomfort engendered by the metal roofs. Tokio and its suburbs are suffering the worst summer drought in 30 years. Districts to the north and southwest get rain, but not the Tokio metropolitan area, and half the wells in the suburbs have dried up. It is argued that Tokio gets no rain because the metal roofs, reflecting the sun's rays, generate a body of superheated air which rises and carries the rain clouds away.

Perkins Says It Pays To Advertise

Does it pay to advertise? J. J. Perkins of this city says it does. In proof, he tells one of the romances of business, out of the experience of the United States Gypsum Company, whose gypsum plaster he recommends to builders of homes and all other types of building.

Plaster is the hardest sort of material to advertise, because it cannot be identified. That is, all plasters look alike, good as well as bad. Plaster is not a distinctive product. One of the problems of the plaster manufacturer is to make a product of fine grind. The finer the grind, the more particles enter solution; the more sand it will carry; the farther and easier it will spread; the greater will be its cementitious value. Several years ago the United States Gypsum Company worked out a formula for a fine-ground, far-spreading, hard-wall, fire-resistant, economical gypsum plaster. It made, in short, a distinctive product.

But it looked like any other plaster. How to give it a distinctive appearance was the next problem. Necessity showed the way. Because of the finer grind, this new plaster had more bulk than other kinds. A bag that held 100 pounds had to be a bigger bag. But the company had on hand $30,000 worth of jute bags. To avoid throwing them away, someone suggested sewing an additional strip on the top of each bag. That was done, and red jute was used for the strips to indicate the greater bulk. Instantly, the plaster so packed became known as "red top."

That was distinctive enough! The company began to feature this "red top" as "a distinctive plaster in a distinctive package." It took. Now owners who want a quality-product to finish their walls simply ask for "red top." The moral is brief: Does it pay to advertise? Mr. Perkins "will tell the world" it does. His warehouse here is well stocked with this gypsum plaster that makes enduring walls economically.
