Leopold And Loeb Begin Life Prison Sentences Today

Youths Jest on Eve of Departure for Penitentiary; They Probably Not Converse With Each Other for a Number of Years, Says Warden

Chicago, Sept. 11.—After a night in which new threats to blow up the county jail brought Sheriff Peter Hoffman speeding into the city at midnight, Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold, Jr., under sentence of life imprisonment for the murder and 99 years for the kidnapping for ransom of Robert Franks, today awaited their removal to Joliet penitentiary.

The 19 years old youths, who confessed they killed young Franks to get a thrill, amused themselves today playing cards pending their start to Joliet penitentiary which will probably be at two or three o'clock this afternoon. Loeb and Leopold slept soundly all night and had to be awakened by the guards at breakfast time.

"It's all over now and we just hope it doesn't rain any more," was all they had to say in response to queries of reporters, who along with the guards had remained on vigil all night. "We hope we have a nice trip to the penitentiary," the boys said.

They had just finished eating another large breakfast, even larger than the order of yesterday. The usual package of cigarettes accompanied the order from the lunch room near the jail.

Just what time the official party will depart for Joliet is still uncertain as the necessary papers had not been delivered at 9 a. m.

"Newspaper men were denied" admittance to the cell this morning.

Joliet, Ill., Sept. 11.—Two empty cells in the penitentiary here today awaited the arrival from Chicago of Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, who are expected during the day to begin life sentences for the slaying of Robert Franks. Warden John L. Whitman said today he was still without definite information as to the time of arrival of the youths.

The cells which the boys will occupy the first day are termed "solitary court" or detention quarters for incoming prisoners.

On their arrival today the boys will be hustled into the prison entrance through an iron gate. Inside the record clerk will receive from the sheriff of Cook county the commitment papers and will give the sheriff a receipt. Guards will then conduct the boys through a second iron gate across a court and into the prison photographers office. Here they will receive their prison numbers, which will probably be 305 and 2806. A bath, shave and haircut will then follow. From the barbers chair the boys will be measured and then have their finger prints taken. They will then receive their first suits which will consist of second hand coat, trousers and shoes, used by incoming prisoners. Then comes the solitary confinement for the boys will be kept in separate cells the first night. Tomorrow they will be assigned to regular cells and work.

The warden said that the youths would not be confined in the same cell or even in the same section of the prison. They will probably have no opportunity to converse together for years. The youths will be assigned to manual labor at the beginning the warden indicated.

All new prisoners are placed in grade C and after nine months they may work up to grade A where they may be considered for some privileges. The prisoners may have food prepared outside only on visiting days which is once every two weeks. Leopold will have no opportunity to write books, the warden said. Ince each every prisoner is allowed to write one letter. They may receive unadmitted mail, but it is all censored. They may subscribe to newspapers but no opportunity is given for them to read about themselves as all such material is deleted. They may attend chapel on Sundays.

FEDERATION BACKS TEXTILE WORKERS IN WAGE CUT FIGHT

Gompers and Morrison Pledge Support of Labor Federation to Textile Workers Union

New York, Sept. 11.—Samuel Gompers and Frank Morrison, president and secretary of the American Federation of Labor, have sent telegrams to the United Textile Workers of America, in convention here, pledging the federation's support to the Textile Workers Union's fight against any attempted cut in wages.

Delegates of the textile workers yesterday gave the executive board of the union full power to frame such measures as will halt the movement to reduce wages. The stand of the union on the wage question is set forth in a resolution dealing with the wage cut of 10 per cent put into effect by Mansville-Jenckes Company, of Rhode Island and contemplated at Gastonia, N. C. From 8,000 to 10,000 workers employed in the eight mills owned by the company would be affected by the wage cut it was stated.

The Countess Szchenyi, formerly Gladys Vanderbilt, of New York, may become Queen of Hungary. Her husband is prominent as pretender to the throne. SECRETARY WEEKS MAKES STATEMENT AS TO DEFENSE DAY

Declares That Test Is to Reveal in Aid in Correction of Weak Spots in Our National Defense

Washington, Sept. 11.—The test of defense plans scheduled for tomorrow will be only a telescoped picture of what actual war expansion would mean, Secretary Weeks said today in his final statement explaining the origin and purpose of Defense Day.

Actual mobilization, he added, must of necessity be a prolonged and progressive process. No practical way of perfecting a test of that nature can be devised for a single day and the one day test of preliminary operations of all phases of defense plans consolidated into a simultaneous partial tryout afforded the only method by which the needed information can be obtained. The War Secretary said that in actual war to attempt the simultaneous mobilization of the Regular Army, National Guards and Reserve would be prohibited by the shortage of equipment. He added that actual progressive mobilization cannot be demonstrated in a day. "It is desired that the public recognize," he said, "the fact that any large expansion in our skeleton forces must extend over a period of months and that Friday's demonstration will be telescoped to a certain extent. The success of the defense test will depend upon the public's co-operation. The department believes the best of our expansion plans to be basically sound and will reveal and help to correct any defects that exist."

Colonial procedure of such a nature as in colonial times all able bodied citizens on a certain day set aside reported to their nearest village with their rifles and drilled upon its commons.

PRINCE OF WALES ENJOYS FOX HUNT

Tremendous Success, Says Prince, But No Fox Was Brought In

Synsset, N. Y., Sept. 11.—For three and a half hours today the Prince of Wales rode to the hounds firmly seated upon a white horse that carried him over 12 rail fences and took him over scores of ditches and many miles of Long Island fields.

It was all very jolly, a tremendous success his Highness conferred at the close although no fox was brought in.

The hunt, organized by the eMadbrook Hunt Club, started at 5:30. It was a lively party of men and women although many members of the party had danced until late hour in the night at the Jericho home of Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt II, where the prince was the honor guest.

DEAF MUTE KILLS AND ROBS COUSIN

Oscar Shelton Held in Madison County Jail for Murder of Clifford Shelton

Marshall, N. C., Sept. 11.—Oscar Shelton, 20, deaf mute is held in the Madison county jail here for the murder and robbery Sunday afternoon of Clifford Shelton, 56. The men were cousins.

The elder Shelton was fatally wounded at his home near Carmen, a small settlement in the Shelton-Laurel district Sunday afternoon. He was found lying in his front yard with three bullet wounds through his body and a knife slash across his head. He was taken to White Rock, the nearest hospital, where he was sufficiently revived to give an account of the affair.

The dying man told the officers that Oscar came to his home late Sunday afternoon and called him to the door. When the elder Shelton appeared in the doorway the deaf mute opened fire with a pistol three of the bullets taking effect, the police stated.

Robbery was the motive for the crime according to the police version.

FIRPO AND WILLS TO FIGHT TONIGHT

Heavy Weights to Stage 12 Round Bout With Dempsey as Prize to Winner

New York, Sept. 11.—The primeval lure of combat will center the attraction of a large portion of the action upon the arena at Boyle's Thirty Acres, Jersey City, tonight where Harry Wills and Luis Angel Firpo will meet in a 12 round heavy weight battle with a match against Jack Dempsey as the prize to the winner.

The fight is scheduled to begin at 10 o'clock Daylight. Saving time but if rain threatens it will be thrown ahead as early as 8:30 o'clock. Fair skies are promised by the weather bureau.

The principals went to Jersey City this morning to remain until time for the battle. The most colorful crowd which has attended a fight since Jack Dempsey knocked out Georges Carpentier in "the battle of the century" in the same ring three years ago, is expected to witness tonight's fight. The Prince of Wales and international sportsmen now in this country may be added to the usual cross section of American life including an increased number of women who compose a typical fight crowd.

The principals, Luis Angel Firpo and Harry Wills, fit unusually well into their roles as gladiators. Experts in their final publications of opinions agree almost evenly upon the result. The broad circulations credit Wills with superior science and Firpo with greater power and aggressiveness.

New York, Sept. 11.—Harry Wills and Luis Firpo will enter the ring for their 12-round bout at Boyle's Thirty Acres tonight on a comparatively physical balance.

Each will weigh in the vicinity of 218 pounds, with Wills tending to surpass the figure and Firpo to reduce it. Wills, who shares with Jess Willard possession of the longest reach in fistiana, will have an advantage of five inches in this regard, and he also owns heavier arms than his rival, who has the bigger torso. In chest, neck and height the men are nearly alike.

Comparison of the two fighters:

CARDINAL MERCIER EXPRESSES BELIEF IN WORLD'S FUTURE

New York, Sept. 11.—Cardinal Mercier, Archbishop of Malines, Belgium, whose defiance of Germany during the invasion of his country at the beginning of the war attracted universal attention, has written a letter to George L. Duval, of this city, in which he gives his hopes for the future of the world from the moral point of view.

"The world at this hour," writes the eminent prelate, "is a great invalid. All eyes are turned to the physicians, all lips anxiously asking: Is there hope of recovery? Have you a remedy, the remedy? The physicians have no concrete answer, or rather, they give diverse answers all at once. The more the consultations and remedies multiply the more we realize that we are at a standstill.

"Optimist or pessimist, which shall it be? From a hypothetical consideration of the situation in the present premises, there is something to justify and explain either tendency, but in my humble judgment, under the broader view which should be decisive, optimism must prevail. Be confident in spite of all, were my words to my fellow-citizens at one of the darkest hours of recent history. No matter how troubled, how close to disaster and despair conditions may be, let every one keep his head erect and his heart steady, because discouragement has never forgotten energy, and energy alone breeds triumph.

"O ye young men, compatriots, men of the people and representatives of the people, whether of Belgium or of other countries, do yet wish to help your brothers, the elites of yesterday, in the struggle we have made for ten years to attain peace? Then be men of energy. Should some vacillate or yield, be ye, the controlling majority, at all events steadfast.

"Alas! I know that both nations and individuals have undergone a great change; self-seeking, the thirst for pleasure, the lust for money have too often overcome self-denial and devotion to the common weal, while political partisanship and class strife have impeded unity of action and have rendered the commonwealth asunder. In this, however, I recognize the effects of nerve collapse due to the hyperstrain of protracted war, & few more swings, and the pendulum will return to the vertical. Here in Belgium and in France, there is no doubt that the rising generation gives promise of an abundant reserve of national energy, faith and discipline. Respect for and love of authority are growing, carrying their air, spreading currents of confidence, casting seeds of peace.

"If all countries agreed to submit to one and the same moral authority, it would be possible to keep the peace. But should one of them deny this moral authority, seek alliances to build up its predominance over others, the peril of war must inevitably ensue.

"The notorious 'internationale' dreamt of by socialism or communism is really a universal and permanent organization for war; the very antithesis of peace.

"Bolshevism, the last end of social dissolution, is radically atheistic. Antibolshevism, the restoration of order, can only be built upon God.

"Christ and He alone is King of peace. He teaches us that we are all brothers, that we have one and the same Father in heaven, and that the predominant law of our life, in which all other commandments are compassed, is charity. The love of all for their Father, and for the sake of the Father the love of brothers for one another. In such measure as this love pervades, in so far will peace reign over the world.

"In order, therefore, to work for universal peace, it is necessary to build up the gospel's rule. Let all believers set to work on this apostolate. Let all Christian nations, without mental reservation or dread of facing the truth and its consequences, make a loyal effort to bring about the realization of Our Lord's supreme wish as He was about to ascend to His Father: 'Unum sint'—That they may all be one."

"Christ said to us, and His word deceives not: do you wish to live the real life, not that which passes and is ended by death, but life eternal, with the full satisfaction it brings to the deepest aspirations of the soul, then draw it from knowledge of the true God and of His envoy among us, our Lord Jesus Christ."

GERMAN DECIPHERS BABYLONIAN MUSIC COMPOSED 800 B. C.

Berlin, Sept. 10. — Babylonian music written about the year 800 B. C., which has been deciphered by Dr. Kurt Sachs, curator of the instruments collection in the Berlin high school of music, apparently was played on a 32-string harp, and the notes have many characteristic similarities to the Chinese music of today. The instrument on which the music was played used octaves, double octaves and chords in fourths and fifths.

Details of the task of deciphering the music were described before the Prussian Academy of Science recently by Professor G. Strumpf from notes furnished by Dr. Sachs. The earthenware tablet upon which the music had been recorded has reclined for a long time in the middle eastern section of the Prussian State Museum. In size it is roughly equal to five ordinary bricks. The tablet was unearthed in Assur, the Babylonian capital, and while the music is believed to have been written somewhere near the year 800 B. C., it is thought to represent notes of even a much earlier period.

The inscription is in three columns. The first column contains some marks heretofore undeciphered and the second is a religious poem, descriptive of the creation of man from the blood of the gods, in the Sumerian tongue—a tongue even then long dead, except as a language of religion and the law. The third is a duly translation of the poem of Assur.

The inscription in the first column, written in cuneiform, consisted of Sumerian words of one syllable, written upon lines, but apparently without sequence or meaning. Hitherto it had defeated the efforts of the Assyriologists, as has also, a somewhat similar tablet in the British Museum, London, containing six columns, of which the first and fourth were undecipherable.

The Assyriologists at the Prussian Museum recently conceived the idea that the first column might be intended to express a rhythm or even time, and Doctor Sachs, taking up this theory as a practical musician and antiquarian, began to test it. In 70 lines he found 62 different syllables. By a process of condensation Dr. Sachs reduced all the sounds and after overcoming a great many other difficulties he concluded that the cuneiform notation represented a phonetic system.

Arab Women Demand Removal of Veils and More Freedom

Jerusalem, Sept. 10. — The stubborn conservatism of the Mohammedan custom with regard to the social isolation of the women in Palestine may soon give way before the movement launched by Arab feminists for the removal of the veil. The Holy Land, backward in many respects, is behind such Moslem countries as Turkey and Egypt in breaking the shackles holding women in seclusion.

The movement for the enfranchisement of Moslem women in Palestine is of recent origin and is traceable to the influx of people from the west, especially Jewish immigrants coming to settle in their national home.

As the first step towards their emancipation the women demand ecclesiastical sanction for the removal of the dark veil from their faces. If such flying in the face of age-long custom does not win official approval some of the leading Arab women of Palestine are determined to do what their Moslem sisters did in Turkey, where the veil has been entirely cast off, or at least in Egypt, where only a light transparent veil is still worn extending from below the nose.

The ban on the public appearance of women has retarded the development of the Arab drama, and it is the hope of the feminists that the admittance of Moslem women to the theatrical stage will follow the removal of the veil.

Arab women of Palestine are keen not only on social emancipation but on participation in politics.

"Take us out of our insulting seclusion and remove from our faces the offensive black cloth, give us our opportunity as free members of a free people, granting us the right to fight with you for our national ideals," in part an appeal appearing recently in an Arab language newspaper in Haifa. "Then we shall in gratitude sacrifice our jewels, delivering up our gold and precious stones for the establishment of the Arab

MICHIGAN TO LOAN NEW TELESCOPE TO SOUTH AFRICA

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 10.—After 13 years of waiting the University of Michigan has a prospect of beholding its new telescope, the fourth largest in the country, completely assembled and ready for use late this year. Soon afterward it will be dismantled again and taken to South Africa for eight or ten years of study of the southern sky by university astronomers. Only three refracting telescopes in United States will have lens surpassing its 27 inches of diameter measurement, that at Yerkes with 40 inches, that at Lick with 36 inches and one other measuring 30 inches.

Difficulty in getting glass sufficiently large to make the lens was responsible for the delay. Orders for the new telescope were placed June 10, 1911. Two years ago the biggest piece of glass reached this country from Germany.

Sent to the shop of Robert R. McDowell in Pittsburgh, it had been shaped and was being polished when Mr. McDowell died in 1923. Search revealed no man able to continue the work except one in McDowell's shop who was then working on a lens for Yale. He turned his attention to the Michigan lens in June, and will be finished with it in six months. Slowness of the work of polishing is due to the fact that each three minutes of polishing demands a wait of 69 minutes for cooling.

Eventually, after its trial test at Ann Arbor and its sojourn under the skies of South Africa, the new lens will become part of the equipment at the university observatory.

Human Skeletons Found on One of Bird Islands

Honolulu, Sept. 10.—Many evidences of human habitation were discovered on the now uninhabited island of Nihoa, part of the Hawaiian Bird Island reservation, 250 miles northwest of the main archipelago, by a scientific party which visited the reservation aboard the U. S. S. Tanager under the auspices of the Bishop Museum here, according to statements made on the return of the party to Honolulu.

Acres of garden terraces, house sites, implements scattered about the island, bluff shelters, infant burial places, skeletons and temple ruins were uncovered by the scientists.

They would tend to prove that the Nihoa residents bore some relationship to the inhabitants of the Hawaiian islands proper, according to Kenneth C. Emory, archeologist of the Bishop Museum. The temples bore a resemblance to the ancient Hawaiian heiaus, or worshipping places, especially in their dry masonry work and in the fact that some of the surface were paved with pebbles.

Conditions on Nihoa are favorable

Some of the relics found in the house sites were considered significant by the scientists who are engaged in the general problem of discovering the origin of the Polynesian race. The specimens will be studied further.

The implements found on Nihoa included many bone needles which may have been used for tatting or for sewing, one rare fishhook made of human bone and similar to the ancient Hawaiian fishhooks, grindstones showing the effect of much wear, adzes polished all over, and a stone lamp typical of Hawaii.

MOUNTING FIRE LOSSES

The "snipe" is a vile thing, fit only for gutters, yet it is the cause of the destruction of millions of dollars in property and of the loss of many lives in the United States annually. Like the rat and the moth it is belittled by man while it preys upon the storehouses of man's riches.

American national fire losses have passed the $400,000,000 mark annually. It is now six times as great as Great Britain's although this country's population is only three times that of Great Britain. Since 1904 the fire losses of this country have doubled.

With fire-proof buildings, building regulations, efficient fire departments and equipment, enforced precautions against fire hazards and advantages for detecting and extinguishing fires it is surprising to some that fire losses continue to mount more rapidly than the population and construction.

There is an excuse for mounting fire losses in the relatively greater size and valuation of individual buildings in the United States and in the former more extensive use of inflammable materials in construction. One industrial or commercial fire in an American city can cause greater damage than the destruction of a whole city block in England.

The widespread use of electricity is frequently advanced to explain fire losses, but fire underwriters have shown that losses from defective electric wiring are annually diminishing because of improved methods.

So carelessness as practiced mainly in the throwing away of burning matches and cigarette and cigar stubs remains the principal cause of fires in the United States. In 1921 losses of $21,000,000 were traced directly to this source. It would be conservative to double that amount for "fires of undetermined origin." Add the millions of dollars of damage caused each year in forest lands by the careless dropping of matches and the "snipe." Knowing the menace and that it is always the loser, the public may some day acquire the habit of taking precautions instead of chances.

ITS APPEAL IS UNIVERSAL

Some more than others, but all to a degree, like to wander through stores and to thumb the pages of catalogs. Man has been doing it so long it seems almost instinctive. Perhaps the explanation for the universal appeal of the store counters and the catalog columns lies in an innate love of possession and of anticipation of possession. Some people are forever window-shopping, looking-around-the-store and assiduously reading and reading every catalog that comes into the house with all the breathless expectancy of children on Christmas eve. They want something which they hope sometime to find in store or catalog made to their own order and to their price, or they are just interested in the things man is creating for man.

Not less irresistible than the catalog and store-window is the daily newspaper with its columns of advertising. In these columns are found the same wonders and coveted merchandise that are found on the store counters and in the catalogs. Only the "catalog and counter" combined in the newspaper advertising pages offer some advantages peculiar to themselves.

Every day millions of people the world over peruse the newspaper advertisements to inform themselves on the progress of civilization, on new comforts made available to mankind, on the fashions and vogues of the day, on where to buy the best of what they want at the most advantageous price, and furthermore for the same reason that they read the front page, the feature sections, the financial page and the sports news—because they are interested.

There are few things in which men, women and children are more interested than what the stores are displaying on their counters and in their windows and cases and what the catalogs and newspapers are exhibiting in picture and print in their advertising columns.

Roosevelt Cabin in Dakota May Be Housed in Stone

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 10.—The Roosevelt Cabin, once occupied by Theodore Roosevelt when recuperating at the old Maltese Ranch, seven miles south of the village of Medora in the Little Missouri Bad Lands of North Dakota, is to be preserved in a fitting shrine, according to the State Historical Society of North Dakota.

Lewis F. Crawford, curator of the society, is preparing plans for a stone shrine of stately and substantial design to be erected over the building. Assistance through popular subscription from every state is being considered. Mr. Crawford states, owing to requests from all sections for the shrine's establishment.

The cabin has historical interest in North Dakota and the northwest. No other building in the state has traveled as much. It was taken from the Maltese Ranch, where it had stood for more than 20 years, and shipped to the St. Louis Exposition in 1904. At the close of the exposition, the cabin was returned here and set up on the Capitol ground.

The building is constructed of pine logs, cut on the upper waters of the Little Missouri in 1880-81.

TRAINED, BUT UNJAMED LIONS WITH SPARKS CIRCUS

Two things there are in which the Sparks Circus excels—in its trained lions and in its trained elephants. In no circus in the world are there such lions and elephants as there are with this great feuded enterprise. Every trick known to the trainer's art is taught to them as easily as though their minds were human instead of animal. Many times have new acts been rehearsed in the morning for the first time and then shown in the performance that afternoon. But trained—with the lion at least—does not mean tame. Fierce with the jungle instinct still strong in them, it is only through the marvelous power of the Sparks trainers that they are handled with the wonderful ease with which they are performed. And so it is that with its performing animals, Sparks Circus has adopted the slogan "trained but unjamed" for every one of them.

Representing the fiercest of jungle bred beasts, singly held in obedience through the superior art of the Sparks trainers, and these animals include not only the lion and elephants, but tigers, leopards, polar bears, Russian grizzlies and scores of other wild beasts of genuine jungle nativity, and all of whom will take part in the performance in this city and incidentally will be seen in the glittering street parade at 10:30 o'clock on circus day. Coming to Greenville Saturday, September 20th.

Seats can be secured circus day at Horn Station Drug Store at same prices as at show grounds. Circus prices: children under 12 years of age 35 cents, adult 75 cents. Exhibition grounds east side of Greenville Boulevard near College.

Nevada Cave Discoveries May Lead Bristol City

Ely, Nev., Sept. 10.—Scientists of the University of Nevada, in an exploration party headed by Governor J. C. Scruggs, recently have read again the pages of the past in caverns near the famed Lehman Caves and found them rich in archaeological lore.

Figuring found on the rock wall of a cavern, said to be undeniably Aztec, leads Dr. B. F. Schappelle, archaeologist of the university, to believe the discovery one of the most important in recent years. The finding of pottery in the caves also moves the pottery line about 300 miles further north than any ever before found.

Dr. Schappelle and Dr. Peter Frandsen, biologist, have employed six men to assist in the work of excavating. The party found it difficult in places to discern the hieroglyphics, as cloudbursts had washed much debris into the caverns. Hieroglyphics resembling both Aztec and Egyptian work have been found and members of the party are optimistic in predicting that a veritable underground city will be discovered.

A strong flow of water was discovered 90 feet below the level of Baker Creek, and five angleworms were found at a depth of 100 feet. A burial cave with an opening four by six feet at the surface, leading to a large underground room, containing five human skeletons, the bones badly disintegrated due to extreme age.

"CODE OF THE SEA" GRIPPING SEA STORY OF REGENERATION AT WHITE'S THEATRE TODAY

"Code of the Sea," a Paramount picture, featuring Rod La Rocque and Jacqueline Logan, is said to be the last word in sea stories. Written by Byron Morgan and produced by Victor Fleming, it is claimed that this picture will create nothing short of a sensation with its marvelous scenes and photographic effects.

The story is one of regeneration. It concerns a young lad, first mate on a battleship, a coward, regenerated through circumstance and his love for a girl. Jenny Hayden, played by Miss Logan, goes for a cruise on the yacht Neroid. It is caught on a reef in a storm and McDow, (La Rocque) picks up his "S. S." The steamer, Neroid, captained by Jenny's father, is trying to make shore and orders McDow to remain at his station so he can safely clear the reef with his three hundred passengers. McDow is frantic. Rules say remain at his station—but Jenny is in danger. What does he do? That's just it—what does he do? The picture shows it all graphically and entertainingly. Better see it!

George Fawcett, Maurice Flynn, Luke Cosgrave, Lillian Leighton and other big names appear in the supporting cast.

MORSE-COOK.

Beautiful Wedding Solemnized in St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

St. Paul's Episcopal church was the scene of a beautiful wedding this morning at 11 o'clock when Miss Alice Bachmiller Cook, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. James E. W. Cook of this city, became the bride of Mr. C. Roger Morse, of Wilmington. The church was attractively decorated with a profusion of white chrysanthemums, snow on the mountains, ferns and ever greens. Hanging baskets filled with smilax, white garden flowers and ferns made the place most effective.

Mrs. R. A. Tyson, Jr., at the organ rendered a musical program consisting of "Believe Me If All These Endearing Young Charms" and "Aria Laurie." She played Lohengrin's wedding march for the professional organ. Mendelssohn's march for the recessional. Preceding the entrance of the bride party, the vested choir entered singing "The voice that Breathed Over Eden." This was followed by a solo "All For You" by Miss Bernice Brown.

Messrs. G. P. McKeithan and Joe Youngblood, of Wilmington, as ushers, were the first members of the bride party to enter. They were followed by the bride's maid, Miss Minnie Payne, of Wilmington. She wore a beautiful gown of champagne tulle in bouffant style with hat to match and carried an arm bouquet of Russell roses.

Miss Margaret Cook, sister of the bride as maid of honor, was gowned in orchid crepe de chene over cloth of gold, with hat to match, and carried an arm bouquet of Russell roses. She was followed by Little Miss Gladys Weppeler, niece of the bride as flower girl. She wore a dainty frock of honey dew crepe de chene and carried a basket of rose petals.

The bride entered with her brother, Mr. Boyd Cook, of New York, who gave her in marriage. She was lovely in her wedding gown of white crepe de chene and lace. Her veil was arranged in coronet fashion being held in place with a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses with a shower of valley lilies. They were met at the altar by the groom and his best man and brother, Mr. Neil Morse, of Wilmington. The beautiful and impressive ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. James E. W. Cook, father of the bride. The ceremony was followed by a selection from the vested choir, "O Perfect Love."

Mrs. Morse is the charming and attractive daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. James E. W. Cook. She possesses an unusually attractive personality and during her short stay in Greenville has won a host of admiring friends. She was educated at Bryn Mawr College, Pennsylvania, and is very popular throughout that state.

Mr. Morse is one of Wilmington's most successful young men holding a responsible position with the county of New Hanover. He is popular in the business circles of Wilmington and is held in high esteem by a host of friends.

After a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morse left on an extended bridal tour of western North Carolina. Upon their return they will be at home in Wilmington. They were the recipients of a large number of beautiful and useful bridal presents.

The out of town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Morse, parents of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. Neil Morse; Mr. G. P. McKeithan, Mr. Joe Youngblood,

THURSDAY EVENING, SEPT. 11

Eight to Ten

When we unlatch the doors tonight we shall do so with a smile and as the days pass on we hope to cheerfully serve you at all times, for indeed we are grateful for the privilege of having this store in Greenville.

We are here to co-operate, believing that ambition, instead of competition, is the genuine life of trade.

Like a distant scene brought close upon the stage of a happy play, this store hopes to fill a little honorable niche in the drama of Eastern Carolina's commercial activities.

Come, be our guests tonight. Meet your friends here.

COTTON LETTER

New Orleans, Sept. 11.—Undertone of market was steeper today and values were somewhat higher in consequence of better cables than due, attributed to shorts covering and owing to prospects for rain in the cotton region. No improvement was reported in the demand by the interior, in fact some points reported the basis slightly easier but advices were numerous as to farmers refusing to sell, preferring to hold their cotton for a better price. Liverpool cabled: "Market opened lower but is now stronger. Prominent operators are buying heavily and covering. Spot demand improving."

London reported that the master cotton spinners association decided not to extend working hours of mills spinning American cotton but it intends reviewing the position further on next Tuesday. There was no rain of consequence in the interior over night but unseasonable low temperatures prevailed in the Eastern half of the belt, with a record minimum low of 55 degrees at Augusta for this date of September.

Snow was reported from the far Northwest today which will likely be followed by rain in the southwest perhaps in other sections of the cotton belt by the end of the week, probably colder. Recently the Government reported that the size of this year's crop will be determined by the date of frost.

On the other hand Houston, Texas, wired: "The spot demand is not here to take care of the movement and a declining basis is evident. A ten point cut in the basis was made today and even this does not reflect the true status of market conditions. The interior seems anxious to sell and seem to be very sure of lower prices still in the near future. Every one here is bearish."

First Town Raising Quota Be Given Page Advertisement

Chairman Felix Harvey, Jr., of the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce membership campaign, which will be put on the week of October 6th, announced recently that the first county that reports its quota raised on the morning of October 6th after 9 o'clock, will be given a full page advertisement, free, in the Manufacturers Record.

This generous offer on the part of the committee should be the means of putting "pep" in the campaign. Full page Ads. in the Manufacturers Record are not given away every day. Every county in Eastern Carolina needs all the publicity that it can get. In fact, in the minds of those who are most familiar with the conditions prevailing in this territory, publicity is all that any county does need. In order that there may be no mistake as to the time, Chairman

Harvey will have to accept the first telegram that reaches him as the winner. The assessments for the counties are considered very reasonable and no county should fail to raise her quota. It is just a question of the local chairman getting out and putting it over. The size of the county's quota does not make any difference. This makes it as easily won by a small county as a large one. Get busy, county chair, and put your county over the top in a hurry.

Locusts Invade Mexico.

Mexico City, Sept. 11.—Rivers of locusts which flooded the right of way near Munoz, Vera Cruz, almost wrecked a train on the Inter-oceanic railway and blocked traffic for a day, according to reports from Vera Cruz on the recent plague of "mountain jumpers" as they are called in Spanish. The insects have swept clean great stretches of cultivated lands in Puebla, Oaxaca and Vera Cruz.
