At the hearing defendant's attorney contended that he was under 16 years of age, but as defendant had previously made statement to officers that he was 16 years of age, and as there was no evidence introduced to the contrary, the mayor found as a fact that he was 16, and sentenced him to 30 days on the county roads on a trespass charge, and bound him over to superior court on the false pretense charge. Defendant appealed for mite road sentence and gave bond for $200 in each case. The mayor announced in connection with this case, that as the warehousemen had been having so much trouble with people tampering with warehouse bills, that in the future any person interfering with warehouse bills will be held to be guilty of a trespass and sentenced to at least 30 days on the county roads, as well as bound over on graver charges. MINISTER TO FACE MURDER CHARGE POISONING WIFE

Attorney Says State Has Sufficient Information to Go to Trial on Murder Charge

Mount Vernon, Ill., Sept. 20.—Important additional information has come to light within the last few hours in the case of Rev. Lawrence Hight, Ina clergyman, in jail here charged with the murder by poisoning of his wife, F. G. Thompson, state attorney announced today.

Interest today was attracted by the alleged finding at the parsonage yesterday a picture said to be that of Mrs. Wilford Sweetin, whose husband died under circumstances said by officials to have been similar in many ways to those surrounding the death of Mrs. Hight. The picture, it was said, was pasted on the back of a photograph of the pastor underneath the folder and was discovered by a reporter. The minister denied all knowledge of the photograph and said if such a photograph was found at the parsonage it was carried there by someone else.

Only the technical details relative to a balanced navy was considered he said.

The appointment of the board was suggested by the president, said Mr. Wilbur, adding that the chief executive desired the matter taken up at once in view of the adjustment of the budget in accordance with whatever conclusions were reached by the board.

Pasadena, California, Sept. 20.—Mrs. Clifford R. Hunn, wife of a wealthy Chicago business man, was killed last night by an ex-convict she once befriended, who police say smashed her head with a hammer, shot her through the heart and looted her apartment of gems valued at $20,000.

F. R. Gibson, cousin of the woman, was in her apartment when Conner called late yesterday and was invited to stay for dinner. He told the police that the ex-convict, locked him in a back room and then turned on his hostess and killed her.

Suggests Memorial to O'Henry Be Established Asheville

Asheville, Sept. 20.—Proposals that the memorial to O. Henry which has been suggested from time to time, be established in Asheville where the writer is buried, are now being considered by the local chamber of commerce. The chamber manager, F. G. Milled, is planning a trip to New York next week for the purpose of conferring with officials of the Southern Exposition to be held there next January and at that time will discuss the proposed memorial with friends of the dead writer.

Mr. Miller and the Chamber of Commerce are greatly in favor of erecting a memorial in this city and say that they have received many suggestions that it would be "exceedingly fitting" that Asheville have such a memorial to the writer who spent much of his life here.

GIRL IS RELEASED FROM JAIL MARRY

Jail Courtship of Five Weeks Ends in Marriage Last Night

Charlotte, Sept. 20.—A romance which began five weeks ago when a group from a men's Christian club visited the county jail to conduct religious services ended in a marriage ceremony last night when 20-year-old Pansy Thacker became the bride of 24 year-old Lennie W. Silver, salesman for a local store.

The marriage ceremony was performed after superior court, Judge Harding ruled that the judge's sentence being served by the girl would end when she got married.

Mrs. Silver is very attractive and has bobbed hair. Since she attracted Silver's attention when he visited the jail he conducted an ardent courtship according to jail authorities.

Silver announced today that he and his bride who is said to be from Burlington would leave for Washington or New York where they will make their home.

TO CHARGE FRENCH CABINET WITH ABETTING BOLSHEVISM, REPORT

Paris, Sept. 17.—Whether the right of free speech ought to be interpreted liberally enough to permit extremists to preach civil war, in a question that will be debated in parliament when the Chamber of Deputies convenes after the summer vacation.

The opposition to M. Herriot's government will endeavor, in this discussion, to rally to it a considerable number of deputies now supporting the cabinet, but who are the enemies of subversive agitation. The question will arise on the interpellation of M. Bonnevins of the Seine et Oise department; this deputy will demand of the government an explanation of the action of the Minister of Public Works in placing 15 special trains at the disposal of Communists who met recently in the suburb of Garches, where the doctrine of civil war was proclaimed openly by several orators, including a Communist member of the German Reichstag.

The adversaries of the government will take the view that official tolerance of such manifestations is outright encouragement of Bolshevism.

Watch the label on your paper, and send in your renewal several days in advance.

PRINCE OF WALES WILL END VISIT IN U. S. TOMORROW

David Boyle, one of the prince's secretaries explained to the delegation that since the prince had often declined to receive trade union deputations in his own country he did not feel that he should receive such a deputation in the United States. The prince, however, did not reject membership to which he was elected after he pressed the button starting the presses of the New York Herald-Tribune Wednesday.

The Princess' Long Island visit will end tomorrow night. He will go to his ranch in Alberta where he will spend a month looking over his range.

LOCAL KIWANIS OBSERVE PROGRAM CONSTITUTION WEEK

Ladies' Night to Be Observed in Near Future; Several Visitors Enjoy Hospitality of Club

Local Kiwanis Club enjoyed a splendid meeting at its regular bi-monthly luncheon last evening. Constitution week was celebrated and most of the program, concerning the origin of the Constitution and what it means. George B. W. Hadley had charge of the program with J. B. James and Victor Davis sponsoring the music and singing. Several snappy songs were rendered and a very fine spirit prevailed.

President W. E. Hooker made a brief talk on the Constitution which was followed by R. G. Fitzgerald who was in turn followed by an address by President R. H. Wright. President Wright's address brought to the Kiwanians the real meaning of the Constitution. As a citizen of the United States, he stated, we are responsible for the kind of government we have. He stressed the fact that we were responsible for the kind of men we sent to make laws; responsible for the kind of men we had to execute the laws; responsible for the kind of men we had to execute the law and that our responsibility did not end there, but that regardless of what the laws were, as good citizens, must obey the laws. The address was very timely and very much enjoyed by the club.

Visitors for the evening included, Messrs. Lannie Hall, Richard Harris and Dr. Grady Dixon.

Mention was made of ladies' night which is to be held in the near future. The secretary was elected to represent the club at District Kiwanis meeting to be held at Spartanburg, October 25 and 26th.

Dr. Laughinghouse reporting for the committee arranging for the negro hospital made a favorable report and stated the hospital was open and progressing nicely.

RUTHLESS SHOOTING OF MIGRATING BIRDS PERMITTED MEXICO

Mexico City, Sept. 17.—Mexican sportsmen, in their fight to preserve the country's diminishing flocks of ducks from pothunters, who hundreds of times yearly slaughter as high as 2,000 birds at a single discharge of their "armadas," have again lost. Publication of the 1924 hunting regulations by the Fish and Game Bureau of the Department of Agriculture shows that the hunting of wild duck by means of "armadas," or great batteries of shotguns, will be permitted from November 1 to February 30. While only two shots a week from each "armada" are permitted, this is considered a minimum restriction as the fowl will not return to the same lake in sufficient numbers to make the firing of more than two armadas a week profitable.

Throughout the valley of Mexico are scores of shallow lakes where every variety of duck that summers in the United States and Canada can be found during the winter. Dotted the shores of these lakes are Indian villages whose inhabitants eke out a precarious existence during the summer by cultivating their patches of corn and beans, but who live easy during the winter by means of their "armadas." By giving from 1-3 to 4-2 of their spoils to the owners of the lands in which the lakes are situated they are able to secure permission to make enormous bags. Some of the landowners, it is estimated, receive as much as 30,000 pesos a year as their share.

Sportsmen who have shot over the greater part of the valley declare that not less than 50 of these "armadas" each with an average of 150 barrels, are shot at least twice a week for four months each year, and with hundreds of ducks to an average bag, the total number slaughtered each winter reaches a staggering figure.

In placing their batteries, the Indians throw up a low breastwork of mud and plants at a strategic point in one of the shallow lakes and lured in the ramparts as high as 200 barrels of all kinds, ranging from those of ancient shotguns to blunderbusses. These are loaded with black powder and all sorts of missiles and their touchholes connected by a train of powder to an old flintlock which is discharged by means of a string from the marksman's hiding place.

When the "armada" is loaded and the ducks begin to feed in the lake, generally about noon, the entire population of the village operating the "armada" begins, with infinite patience and without frightening the game, to drive the ducks within range. When this has been done the "armada" is discharged and the hunt for the victims, hundreds of them only crippled, begins. As many as 2,000 ducks have been shot down in a single discharge of the great "armada" at Penon Viejo, near the capital. After the game is sold the village celebrates with a big carousal and then waits until new victims gather.

Despairing, after repeated attempts of limiting pothunting through local regulations, Mexican sportsmen are planning to address an appeal to game commissions and gun clubs in the United States and Canada in the hope that, by combined action, it may be possible to halt the annual massacre. They declare that the funds and efforts being expended by Mexico's northern neighbors to protect migratory game in those countries are wasted, if, when the birds reach Mexico in the winter, they are bagged almost without restriction. The practice, they declare, is as unsportsmanlike as the trapping of quail, shipments of which totalling as high as 18,000 are not uncommon in northern Mexico, and will send the ducks after the vanished wild pigeons unless regulated.

Pin tail make up most of the bags, but canvas backs, mallard, widgeon, blue bills, red heads and teal of all kinds are also shot down by hundreds of thousands.

AT TURKEY'S NEW CAPITAL

Berlin, Sept. 15.—Angora may be turned into a modern bungalow colony if other governments follow the example of Germany. A portable bungalow of 12 rooms is at present under construction in Germany and will be shipped to Turkey and erected at the new Nationalist capital for the use of the German embassy, which is today temporarily housed in the German embassy building at Constantinople.

Many delegations which visit Angora live temporarily in cars. The hotel accommodations are so limited and primitive that tourists find it almost impossible to remain any length of time in the Turkish capital.

Angora is 200 miles from Constantinople, and the railroad service is slow and unsatisfactory. To have a representative on the spot will be of advantage to Germany, it is argued, and other countries may be compelled to do as Berlin has done.

RESTRAINT OF TRADE CHARGED COUNSEL AT OIL HEARINGS

Jefferson City, Mo., Sept. 19.—The entire gasoline trade in America, and even in evidence being produced in the gasoline price hearings conducted here by Attorney General Jesse W. Barrett of Missouri, in the opinion of well informed authorities.

Contracts brought forward at the hearing before the Standard Oil Company of Indiana and nearly all the other important companies of the United States, and applying to their foreign trade, are pronounced a violation of the anti-trust laws both by United States Attorney General Stone and Attorney General Barrett.

Some weeks ago the United States Department of Justice filed a suit against 46 oil companies doing interstate business, charging that by a system of licenses on "cracking process" patents, the gasoline trade of the United States was being restricted and monopolized, and asking that the defendant be enjoined from a continuance of the contracts and their effects. The contracts, the existence of which was alleged by the government, were produced at the Missouri hearing by the Standard Oil Company, and admitted to be in effect at the present time.

A form of engagement which was particularly denounced by Attorney General Barrett is illustrated by the contract between the Standard Oil Company of Indiana and the Standard Oil Company of California. This recites that the Texas Company is owner of certain cracking patents; that the Texas Company authorizes the Standard Oil Company of Indiana to grant licenses under the Texas patents; that the Standard Oil Company of Indiana thereby licenses the Standard Oil Company of California under the Texas Company's patents on the condition that the Standard Oil Company of California sells none of the gasoline so produced in Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Michigan, Wisconsin, Missouri, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado or Oklahoma or in the Dominion of Canada or the Colony of Newfoundland.

This, Attorney General Barrett asserts, is a plain restraint of trade and not justified by any rights granted under letters patent.

Surfeited With Ceremonial.
London, Sept. 18.—Herbert Rendell, after 30 years given to directing the court ceremonials in London, has retired. He is the author of a book containing 300 descriptions of the correct dresses to be worn at ceremonial occasions.

Bigamist, But She Escapes

Bigamy, according to New York law, must be premeditated, and that is why Marie Santer, pretty Brooklyn girl, escaped after she had admitted having married two men. She thought the first one had been killed in a railroad wreck, she said. The second sued to annul his marriage.

WALTER P. CHRYSLER'S TRAFFIC TALKS

DO YOU KNOW THIS MAN?

He is the road mope. He likes to travel along about 7 miles an hour. He is more of a menace sometimes than the speeder.

IF FOUND IN COURT

W. Bruce Cobb, associate magistrate, traffic court, New York, offers this advice to the motorist who finds himself in court:

"Don't be afraid to speak up distinctly in court. If you are guilty, say so and briefly state any explanation or excuse. Usually in a simple case, strict attention to what the court says and the aid that the court will give you, and your witness will enable you to present your defense without a lawyer."

"If you feel annoyed by the decision, remember that it is not always easy to do exact justice. If you feel especially outraged, don't show your contempt for the court; contest it, if necessary, appeal. But, most of all, don't let any unfortunate court experience of your own turn you into an enemy of traffic enforcement."

BE THOUGHTFUL

Ever meet this person? He insists upon using the middle of the road whether coming or going. He's a pest. Don't be one!

ALWAYS BE REASONABLE

in motoring—as in all things—be reasonable.

If you have the right of way be reasonable.

To insist upon the right of way even though it may be yours legally, may result in an accident. The other man may be reckless. Regardless of the right of way rule for your locality:

Give the right of way to a street car between cross streets.

Give the right of way to fire fighting vehicles and to ambulances.

Give the right of way to police and emergency vehicles.

Give the right of way to the pedestrian who has reached your line of intersection.

Community Feasts the World Over Rely On Bread, the Staff of Life

While the surroundings may be different, the spirit of charity is a universal one, the world over. The picture above shows the Feast of Kurban Bairam, an annual event in Assam, Upper Egypt, in which everyone takes part. Food is given to those villagers who are too poor to buy food for the festival. In the foreground are two little boys who have just received their share of the feast. Here in America, there is no lack of thought for the more unfortunate among us. A feature of both feasts is an abundance of bread, which is considered the staff of life in every country. In Egypt, however, a community oven, which is seen at the left of the picture, does the baking; here in America our bread ground are two little boys who have just received their share of the feast. ## TUNIC TIME IS HERE, ACCORDING TO FASHION'S CALENDAR

THE long tunic has taken by storm the citadel of public favor. In a variety of forms it appears in nearly every costume, for even if the tunic is not present in its own proper and separate identity, the dress which accompanies the ensemble coat is most often made in tunic fashion.

"It seems difficult," writes Henri Crange, director of the Cheney Style Service, from Paris, "to find a dress or even a coat or jacket without at least a tunic effect. These tunics are of different lengths, they may attain nearly the bottom of the skirt or stop at the knees, but where they stop, they always widen the silhouette with godets or pleats, while the underskirt looks straight, even when it is pleated."

The richer the fabric, the more simple the line, might be taken as a guiding maxim for the season. Especially is this true for tunics. Take, for instance, the charming example sketched, which needs no elaboration other than the beauty of the fabric—a rich cut velvet in a new oriental green called scarab, with an authentically Chinese design. The Chinese influence is also apparent in the line of the tunic, with its slashed sides, and center opening.

At the Paris openings, this note was stressed. Drecoll showed tunics, split in front, back or at the sides, with small collars or fastenings on the cross, in black with multi-colored embroidery or some vivid color, while Jenny showed "many tunics, short and long; some shaped in front, with a few gathers at the side while the back is straight; some straight and very gathered in front; these are always short."

SPARKS BIG TRAINED WILD ANIMAL CIRCUS IN TOWN TODAY

Today is circus day in Greenville and the rising generation of our fair city is in the zenith of his glory, for, let it be known that the big Sparks Circus invaded our precincts at an unseemingly early hour this morning for a day's stay on the Greenville Boulevard grounds. This big immaculate circus has been a visitor for so many years that its coming is almost looked upon as a civic event by our populace and its reputation for cleanliness and excellence of performance has never been equalled by other circuses in this vicinity. Each year it seems to have grown in leaps and bounds until today it stands second to none in the world of the white-tops. Since last here Manager Chas. Sparks seems to have cornered the foreign markets in sensational trained wild animals as was evidenced in the lengthy street spectacle this morning for it contained cage after cage of splendid specimens. Another commendable feature was the unusual fine display of horses and the neat appearance of all participants but both have long been a feature of the Sparks Circus.

Three rings and a large steel arena are required for the two hours program and they were occupied at all times by truly sensational features. The performance is given a proper start with an oriental spectacle called "An Egyptian Fantasy" and it is especially elaborate in costuming and gorgeous effects. Featuring Karl Mosher, contra-tenor and Lucille Aumann, Prima-Donna, all of the vast resources of the circus in horses, elephants, camels and zebras have been drawn upon to the fullest extent, while the three rings, stages and hippodrome track are occupied by premier dancers, oriental musicians and a large chorus, making it ring true to title. At this juncture a number of thrilling wild animal displays take place including Franz Woske's bengal tigers, Steve Batty's original "Tarzan of the apes" lions, Madam Dorothy's leopards and a mixed group of polar bears and great dane dogs. These are followed in rapid succession by two groups of elephants in the hands of lady trainers. Possibly the greatest feature of the entire performance was the Prof. Klosek group of sixteen German trained "rotation" horses, in a series of army drills and maneuvers, performing without a word of command from the trainer and returning to their proper places when scattered. Two six horse liberty groups also drew rounds of applause, as did the equine aristocrats of the world—Sparks' Ten Dancing Horses. The truly circus features included the great Flying Waiters, aerial bar artists extraordinary, dainty Naida Miller "Personality plus girl" on the silver wire, the oriental Koban troups of Japanese marvels including one little chap who walks up an entire flight of steps on his head. The European Boston Bros., one of whom does a thrilling hand to hand catch over the heads of nine men, the Mardo Trio of acrobats, pretty Rosita, Spanish lady juggler and many others of equal repute in the circus world are among the many novelties offered, as were the Ballerina troupe of Spanish dancing and bareback riders, in a decidedly novel bareback riding act that was elaborately costumed. Then there was Lucille Aumann "Song bird of the white-tops" with her trained pigeons and splendid voice. Really funny clowns were very much in the limelight during the entire performance and their clever satires on the leading questions of the day were very timely. The closing number, a reproduction of an English Fox-Hunt included a number of sensational high and broad jumpers featuring Florence Harris, daring lady rider and her mount Extra-Dry in a thrilling broad jump of thirty feet that caused many gasps of wonderment in the large audience. It's a circus of wonders is Spark's and another performance will be given tonight at 8, with the doors opening at 7, during which time the illuminated cage menagerie will be open for public inspection of the animals. A one hour musical program will be rendered in the "Big-top" during this period by the Jack Phillips Circus Band, augmented by Prof. J. M. Del Vecchio, world's master pneumatic calliapist.

LIMITED PRODUCTION OF OPIUM IS FINAL GOAL MRS. WRIGHT

Geneva, Sept. 17.—Mrs. Hamilton Wright of Washington intends actively to continue her endeavors to secure a limitation of the production of opium in those countries which grow the poppy plant, despite the failure of the League of Nations Opium Commission to find any solution of this problem. At a recent meeting of the Opium Commission Mrs. Wright introduced a resolution asking the council of the League to approach the governments of Persia and Turkey to ascertain whether they are contemplating the substitution of other crops for such opium as is produced over and above the legitimate world requirements. But in view of the objections raised by various European delegates, she withdrew her resolution. The Opium Commission seems to feel that there is no practical way of forcing any individual country to curb its poppy planting short of a decision to send an army of enforcement into the affected countries. As nobody thinks seriously of going to this extreme, the experts have framed a project to be submitted to the international Opium Conference in November which provides for the setting up of an international board of control to handle the whole question of narcotic drugs and which stipulates that every country shall make an annual estimate of its requirements in opium and narcotic drugs like morphine, heroin and cocaine. Extensive powers are given to the board of control to reject any national estimate which is deemed unreasonable. The experts believe that by this system national consumption will be checked, and that quite naturally the producing countries will find extensive opium growing an unpaying proposition.

But Mrs. Wright, like many other Americans, is firmly convinced that the opium evil cannot be met adequately unless direct steps are taken to limit production in countries like Persia and Turkey. Outlining her views to the correspondent of The Associated Press, Mrs. Wright declared that there was no use whatsoever in attempting to boycott the producing countries, as some people favored doing, because, in her opinion, the producing countries could easily retort by themselves going into the business of manufacturing narcotic drugs and by subsequently flooding the international markets, not only with raw opium, but with the habit-forming narcotics which are derived from opium. She said that she favored the amicable direct negotiations with Persia and Turkey based on practical propositions to replace the opium crops with crops of silk, cotton, tobacco or wheat.

Mrs. Wright explained that she is trying to induce the National Silk Association of the United States to start silk factories in Persia as a first step towards substitution of the opium crops with the idea of demonstrating to the Persians that silk is just as good a money proposition as opium. Another way of achieving results, she said, was for the powers to agree to give economic independence to Persia in the way of import duties, thus giving something tangible to Persia in return for her abandonment of opium growing.

Canadian Experts Develop Grain With Great Promise Now

Ottawa, Sept. 19.—The Central Experimental Farm here has completed distributing among 50 large western grain growers samples of two newly evolved wheat varieties, which promise to revolutionize the crop calendar and frustrate the devastating rust. Branded "Reward" and "Garnet," both the new varieties, are of exceptionally early maturity and ripen even before the Marquis, the earliest grade now grown commercially throughout the grain provinces. Test plantings of these varieties at the experimental farm ripened before the rust season set in. Thus, although the new varieties are not considered rust-resisting, it is believed that if the promise of the tests materializes in commercial plantings, they will prove the long-sought means of frustrating the blight. Numerous efforts have been made in recent years to develop an early variety of wheat which would beat the rust season. Several such varieties actually have been produced, but they fell so far short of standards in size of grain and acre yield that they proved unprofitable commercially.

German Actors Lack Work. Berlin, Sept. 19.—It is estimated that 900 out of every 1,000 actors and actresses of the Berlin theaters are without jobs this summer. A great many of the playhouses are closed. The situation in filmdom is also in the doldrums.

'WELCOME' DELETED FROM INVITATION TO GERMAN EDUCATORS

Berlin, Sept. 20.—German educators who have been planning visits to foreign countries, as was the custom prior to the war, were somewhat shocked when reports reached here recently of a debate at a meeting of the Walthamstow Urban Council, London, as to whether a German would be welcome to visit the council's schools. It was stated that Dr. Fritz Karsen, principal of the chief secondary school in Berlin, had asked permission to inspect the Walthamstow educational institutions and the education committee reported that it was agreed that a welcome should be given all distinguished visitors. Councillor Edwards suggested that in view of the attitude held in England against the Germans on account of the war he would approve deletion of the word "welcome" from the committee's recommendation, and that the word "permission" be inserted instead. He contended that a German should not be welcomed, although he did not wish him to be kept out of the schools. Councillor Llewellyn said that in ten years' time, when history was written with less prejudice, it would be found that Germany was not the only country responsible for the war. Eventually the committee's recommendations were accepted, but Dr. Karsen had not as yet determined whether he will visit Walthamstow, as contemplated, under the circumstances. Other German educationalists who have been looking forward to tours of England and other European countries, for the first time since the war, have taken the stand that unless they are welcome at all institutions abroad, which they have proposed to inspect, they would stay away from these particular schools altogether. All foreigners, it has been pointed out, even French professors, have been offered every facility for inspecting the German schools for several years past. Many English teachers have taken advantage of this opportunity, but few Frenchmen have appeared.

HEAVY RUN OF RIVER SALMON KEEPS THE CANADIAN FISHERS BUSY

Victoria, B. C., Sept. 19.—The salmon run in British Columbia rivers is the largest since the record of 1919, according to reports received by Hon. William Sloan, provincial commissioner of fisheries. Canneries along the Fraser, Skeena and Naas rivers are working day and night shifts in an effort to take care of the catch. The catch of sockeye, Mr. Sloan said, will be the heaviest in years. The marked increase in quantity this year will mean greater prosperity for the salmon industry. The total value of the fisheries production of Canada was $42,565,545 last year, according to the annual report, or an increase in value of $765,335 over 1922. The amount of capital represented in fishing vessels, boats, nets, traps, piers, and wharves employed in catching and landing the fish in 1923 was $23,645,316. The number of men employed in these operations was 53,517.

FORBIDDING OF TIPS FAILS TO CURB RUSSIAN WAITERS

Moscow, Sept. 17.—Finding it impossible to do away with the institution of waiting-table altogether Soviet Russia instead has tried to do away with "tipping," and has discarded the waiter's apron, laundered shirt and white collar. Most waiters in Russian restaurants now wear a natty blouse of navy blue, with army style collar and no tie. Although waiters in Russia receive a most slender salary, it is a punishable offense for them to accept gratuities of any kind. "Don't degrade your fellowman by offering him a tip; a tip is a bribe." This is the surprising warning American visitors to Russia, who in other European countries have been literally plagued by tip-seekers, find on the walls of the Russian restaurants. In spite of this injunction, however, waiters are forced out of sheer

POVERTY DECREASES

Government statistics were unnecessary to show that poverty is rapidly decreasing in the United States. For a dozen years it has been apparent and the government now proves it on paper showing there are 78,000 persons in the almshouses of the country this year compared with 84,000 in 1910.

In a nation of 112,000,000 people it is quite remarkable that only 78,000 are in the poorhouse. It is more remarkable when it is known that the poorhouses of this country are only open to those mentally or physically unfit to be self-supporting. The inmates of the almshouses are not where they are because they are too shiftless to work. They can't work.

What a contrast this nation provides with the others of the world. Throughout Europe the poorhouses, where they have them, are full to overflowing and millions more people are receiving unemployment pensions. England has a large almshouse population. Everywhere in Europe and Asia poverty is said to be increasing. Of course Africa, South America, Central America and the Orient have their history-old condition of poverty under which the lower classes, numbering into millions of people, are periodically in need of government sustenance.

There are several explanations for the decline of poverty and public-dependence in this country. First among them is that the American people are opposed to paternalism. Able-bodied men and women who do not work do not eat in the United States, unless they steal. Secondly, there is inculcated into the American people the desire to work and the ambition to be independent. Another is that the idler is abhorred by society.

EXPLANATIONS NEVER SATISFY

Whatever else the British people think of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald's explanation of his possession of 30,000 one-pound preference shares in an Edinburgh bakery, they believe his statement that he is "sick at heart" to have to talk of it. This is one of those transactions which a public man would much prefer should not be drawn into the light.

There was much surprise when it was disclosed that the stock had been placed in the name of the head of the Labor party. A windfall of value equivalent to approximately $150,000 calls for congratulations if it does not warrant condemnation. Naturally there were inquiries on all sides as to where he got it, and why. So Mr. MacDonald related that his old friend, Sir Alexander Grant, managing director of the baking company, gave him an expensive motor car on his appointment as prime minister and Mr. MacDonald being poor, endowed the automobile with the 30,000 shares. Where he lives the Labor party chieftain will receive the income from them; at his death the securities will revert to Sir Alexander or his heirs.

That doesn't sound utterly unreasonable. But a few months after MacDonald got the car and the endowment Sir Alexander Grant was made a baronet by the king. The prime minister says he had nothing to do with this; that the two things are without any connection. But people will think of themselves, and most unpleasantly at times.

Don't speak twice before you think.

Rumors of a hard winter go before a fall.

Best way to strike is strike out for yourself.

The most expensive hunting is chasing chickens.

Prosperity seems about to begin to commence to start to return.

SPREAD OF KNOWLEDGE

From every political, economical and moral standpoint it is important to the world that illiteracy is being reduced by great strides in every country of the world and that a day will come when the number of illiterates will be infinitesimal.

It is also amazing, especially to Americans, that there are a half a billion illiterates in India and China, that Africa and Russia each have one hundred million people who cannot read or write, that there are fifty million illiterate Latin-Americans and that although the educated in the United States, England, France and Germany are in the majority, each of these countries has no inconsiderable illiteracy.

On universal education must the world depend for perpetual peace, economic stability and plenty, moral rectitude and universal contentment and prosperity. As literacy has spread the universe has approached nearer to these ideals.

There is little doubt that its free schools and compulsory education have aided the United States in becoming the most progressive and prosperous country of the world. Mexico has coped with its revolutionary elements only through the extension of educational privileges to the open class.

The movement for universal literacy has been benefited greatly by a change in the attitude of the monarchical governments of the world toward the educating of the lower classes and by the establishment of representative government in many European and Asiatic countries as a result of the World War. Where once the ruling powers of Europe and Asia felt that general illiteracy strengthened their authority and so nurtured it they now foster education for all classes. In 1911 only six per cent of the population of India could read, but in 1917 there were seven and one-half million pupils in that country.

For the same reasons that an educated man is peaceful and productive will educated nations and an educated world be likewise.

HOME TRAINING COMES FIRST

One of the latest of the many uplift movements that develop from time to time has to do with teaching school boys honesty by an "honesty bureau." A big New York surety company is fostering the movement which is organized as an antidote to the increase in crime. Possibly some good results will come from instruction of the sort that is proposed. It is the "honesty bureau's" plan to work thru teachers first and eventually through the home and the church, to give boys more moral teaching than they have been receiving. As a matter of the public schools now, if in charge of instructors of the right kind, as they should be, are operated in a way to impress on the pupils what is right and what is wrong.

After all, isn't it in the home that effective moral instruction must be given? If parents can be impressed with the need of teaching their boys honesty and if in the family circle a policy of fair dealing is scrupulously followed, the need of an "honesty bureau" to work through the schools would be slight. Without examples of honesty at home, some school boys may be helped by the proposed new movement, but it is a question how effective the venture will prove.

A SPORT FOR KINGS

Polo, like other sports, is not a necessity, and it is kept from popularization by the great expense of keeping a string of ponies. Because of the costliness of the game it is for the wealthy to play and the poor to watch.

But it does supply a thrilling spectacle, and it conduces to the development of the harder virtues which—we like to believe—the Anglo Saxton tradition of sport encourages. Therefore, on the scene or at a distance, one can unreservedly approve the international contests as furthering good-fellowship and clean, courageous sportsmanship.

Like football, the game has the advantage of calling for such vigorous, obvious action that it is not necessary to be posted in all the technical minutiae in order to enjoy the spectacle. The blow of a mallet, the mercurial shift of steed and player, the quick touch and go of the various dynamics of the open field make a battle that is thrilling to the onlooker as to the participant.

Many are invited to weddings because their presents are needed.

The only thing harder than living within an income is living without one.

It's a short road that has no holes.

All bad actors are not on the stage.

A fool and his money seldom meet.

PATIENT CIRCLE KING'S DAUGHTERS CELEBRATES THIRTY-EIGHTH BIRTHDAY

The Patient Circle of the King's Daughters on Thursday evening, October 18, observed their thirty-eighth birthday with a reception at the attractive home of Mrs. Hortense Moye, on Evans street.

Upon arrival of the guests they were given a cordial welcome by Mrs. R. J. Cobb and Mrs. O. L. Joyner, who presided over the register. After registering they were welcomed by the officers and the three charter members of the Circle, Mrs. Ada Cherry, Mrs. Ella Greene and Mrs. Charles Skinner.

After a most informal reception in which every one was made to feel welcome a typical business meeting of the Circle was held. At this time the roll of the original members was called after which the roll call of the present members was made. This was indeed interesting as the original roll was thirty-eight years old.

The following program was rendered. Election, local orchestra; The typical business meeting of the order; Quartette, Messrs. Gardner, Williams, Laughinghouse, Foley; The Hymn of the Order, Mrs. Ada Cherry, The Spirit of the Order; Mrs. T. H. Plemmons and Mrs. R. A. Tyson, Jr., Vocal Solo, Mrs. W. L. Hall; Selection, Local Orchestra.

The music by the orchestra was an outstanding feature of the evening's program and was thoroughly enjoyed by the large number of guests.

Nearly fifty dollars was contributed and will be used on the pledge of the Patient Circle for the Chapel at Samarrand.

Punch and wafers were served.

DEBATE AT THE EVANS STREET SCHOOL

On Friday morning, Sept. 19, at the Evans St. School, there was a very interesting debate between the seventh grade class of boys, and the seventh grade class of girls. The subject was Resolved, "That the Eastern part of the State is a more desirable place in which to live than the Central." The debaters were James Atkinson and Morris Revelle on the motive side, and Heneritta Hyde and Mable Quinn on the negative. Different points were brought out on the Eastern and Central division of North Carolina. Among them were Central Carolina has the largest damast mills in the United States, $900,000,000 invested in manufacturing establishments and has the largest aluminum plant in the world. For the East attention was called to the coast of North Carolina. The splendid truck farming section, the large tobacco markets, and the good roads.

Miss Eva Keeter, Miss Helen Tomblison, and Miss Marie Reid acted as judges, and decided in favor of the negative side.

CHARLOTTE BURTON, Class Reporter.

POWDER CHARGES START AIRPLANE ON FLIGHT

Washington, Sept. 19.—The motive force of explosives may supplant that of compressed air in catapulting airplanes from the docks of naval vessels as a result of recent tests at the Anacostia, D. C., air station.

In the new catapult a pistol shot ignites a powder charge which literally "blows" the carriage on which the plane rests to the rail at the rate of 60 miles an hour. The car is stopped abruptly by hydraulic bumpers, but the plane continues on its way.

Space occupied by air compressors is saved in the improved type and loss of time, formerly devoted to recharging the tanks for each flight, is averted.

EXPERTS FORECAST APPALLING INCREASE IN AUTO DEATH RATE

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 17.—A measure to effect a national reduction in public accident fatalities by the cooperative effort of all national associations whose interests touch upon the street and highway traffic problem, will be proposed at the safety congress to be held here Sept. 29-Oct. 3, the National Safety Council announces.

Among the associations to participate are the United States Chamber of Commerce, the American Automobile Association, the United States Automobile Chamber of Commerce, the American Railway Association, the International Chief of Police Association, the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters, the American Electric Railway Alliance.

"Fifteen thousand lives are lost in automobile accidents each year and full 75 percent of these accidents are avoidable," said the announcement. "Since 1910, the death toll has been increasing at the rate of 1,000 each year and, with the increasing registration of automobiles resulting in street and highway traffic problems, which cannot easily be solved, it is probable that the annual death rate may be in the neighborhood of 30,000 in 1930.

"The collection of public accident statistics and their analysis is probably the most important phase of accident prevention work at the present time. Col. James Sinke, director of public safety of Grand Rapids, Michigan, will explain the system under the universal accident report forms adopted by the National Safety Council. Mark Greves, New York State tax commissioner, will outline the organization and operation of the New York Motor Vehicle Bureau which keeps an accident record for every motor vehicle driver in the state. Many well known leaders of the safety movement will speak."

"Honor Thy Powder Puff, But Use It Sparingly," Is Corinne Griffith's Warning to the Flappers

Corinne Griffith, who is featured with Conway Tearle in "Lilies of the Field," has issued a new set of Ten Commandments, meant especially for the flapper of today.

"Lilies of the Field," which is a First National picture, will be shown at White's Theatre on Monday and Tuesday.

"I am not absolutely set against the powder puff, the lip stick and the rouge pot," said Miss Griffith, "but too many young girls ruin their complexion with too much use of them, besides looking like walking flower advertisements."

"Many cosmetics are not only not injurious but good for the skin, but they are not meant to be spread on with a knife, but used judiciously. It is painful to see a young girl whom nature has endowed with a perfect peach and cream complexion making herself up like a painted Indian."

"Therefore, I am issuing the new commandments. I am hoping that some of the seeds of truth will fall on fertile soil."

So, girls, you might as well clean off the top of your bureau, for here goes Miss Griffith's commandments:

1.—Happiness, of the right kind, doth not come in bottles. So beware the incense of the perfume bottle. Water, most beloved fluid of men, doth not smell. So why should a girl saturate herself like a worm dipped in fish lure?

2.—Honor thy powder puff and use it sparingly. A shiny nose is rather to be chosen than a walking flour advertisement.

3.—Lift not thine lip stick. Though it may prevent irritating chaps, it also prevents loving ones.

4.—Bead not thine eyes, for those smudged are known for misbehavior. Teach not your eyes to "string" like beads.

5.—Many a thirty cent collar has gone to laundry, through the wicked rouge pot. A natural blush is worth a bucket of red paint.

6.—A pen can be pushed but an eye-pencil must be lead, so do not be deceived.

7.—Try not thy hair to dye in accordance with the latest in kid gloves. A brunette is a brunette, but bleached blonde is a drug on the market.

8.—Vex not thy manicurist with fingers stained with nicotine. Besides thy lungs are meant for other things else than holding up thy lavalier.

9.—It's an ill wind that blows someone no good; but don't let it blow you any hair wavers, for bobbing with such is a free ticket to the baldheaded row.

10.—The price of style is high heels, and both are too high.

Yes, verily, thou shalt keep these Commandments, lest you too become as one of the lilies of the field.

Free transportation is assured.

(Furnished by James William Cobb)

COTTON LETTER

New Orleans, Sept. 20.—The course of market for the near future will likely be governed by the nature of Tuesday's government crop forecast, which will be issued September 23rd.

On both instant, returns to the government, as of Sept. first averaged the condition of the crop at 59.3.

Indicated crop would be, if next Tuesday's bureau 58, about 13,154,000 bales 57, about 12,927,000 bales 56, about 12,700,000 55, 12,470,000 bales.

In event of next Tuesday's Government report forecasting a yield of 12,800 or more, market will likely decline, perhaps advance temporarily if 12,600,000 or less.

Meanwhile climatic conditions inland and evening up of accounts by shorts or longs, in advance of the bureau report, will have to be reckoned with.—H. & Bear.
