RAIN AND WIND STORM SWEEPS STATE

MUCH DAMAGE TO CROPS AND ROADS RESULTS FROM RAINS OF PAST FEW DAYS

Weather Bureau Sends Out Flood Warnings to Eastern Section; Schooner Sinks Near Beaufort; Elizabeth City Partly Flooded By Rising Tide Today

Raleigh, Sept. 30.—Rapid rise of rivers in the eastern and central sections of the state caused the United States Weather Bureau here today to send out flood warnings while Frank Page, chairman of the State Highway Commission, ordered all maintenance crews throughout the state to suspend repair operations and stand by in readiness at all times to lend assistance to impeded traffic.

Reports to the bureau show heavy damage done to crops and the highway commission received word of further damage to the roads but no estimate was placed on either. The Southern Power Company, at Rhodis, reported $20,000 damage to their dam and machinery there.

The Cape Fear and Roanoke rivers rose rapidly yesterday and last night the former reaching a mark of 38 feet near Fayetteville and the latter 42 feet at Weldon, according to the bureau. Tar river at Rocky Mount and Lenoir and the Neuse at Smithfield and Goldsboro were overflowing their banks. Officials of the bureau stated that 38 feet at Fayetteville was not regarded dangerous of bringing the Cape Fear out of its banks the flood stage being 35 feet. It is not expected the water will equal the stage of 53 feet. At Weldon 31 feet is flood stage of the Roanoke and as the surrounding territory is practically level greater damage is expected by the bureau in that section.

Throughout the central section of the state small streams were at flood stage last night. Crabtree creek, 3 miles north of Raleigh, overflowed its banks flooding the lowlands and threatening bridges between the city and Neuse river.

SCHOONER GOES DOWN OFF BEAUFORT BAR

Beaufort, Sept. 30.—Life Guards have gone from here to the rescue of the crew of an unidentified four masted schooner which is believed to have sunk about a mile off the beach at a point 10 miles southwest of Beaufort bar either last night or this morning. The crew was sighted early this morning in a yawl boat astern of the ship by officers of the Fort Macon cutter stated.

Damage estimated at $15,000 was done along the water front this morning by a severe wind and rain storm. All shipping was reported to have come out safely, damage to the wharves was $5,000 and to buildings $10,000. The tide came over the seawall and well into the city. Later the wind shifted and the temperature dropped several degrees.

ELIZABETH CITY IS HARD HIT BY STORM

Elizabeth City, Sept. 30.—Elizabeth City was without electric power or gas today as a result of the worst storm of the year and one of the highest tides in 15 years. Water is standing at a depth of a foot or more in low places in a number of the streets.

For a short time today the city was threatened with fire, flood and hurricane but apparently little damage was done as the wind veered toward Nag's Head and died down over the city. Fire in the Albermarle Pharmacy, in the Southern Hotel, broke out at the height of the storm about 10 o'clock. A fire truck answering the alarm skidded into the curb and was badly damaged but no one was injured. The fire was soon extinguished.

Pasquotank river is three feet above normal and the unusual flood is still rising. The floating concrete bridge connecting with Camden county is completely inundated, in

ESTIMATES NORTH CAROLINA COTTON CROP TO BE 40 PCT

Chief of Division of Markets Says Federal Estimate of State's Yield Too High

Raleigh, Sept. 30.—North Carolina's cotton crop of 1924 will not average more than 40 per cent of a full crop it was estimated by George Ross, chief of the division of markets of the State Department of Agriculture.

Mr. Ross stated that he may be a little too pessimistic but asserted that he was positive the crop would not reach 50 per cent. He said his figures were slightly lower than those by the federal government but he believed those would be lowered within the next 10 days. The estimate is based on the crop last year which was a million bales with 90 pounds to the acre, he said, while this year the latest government figure places the crop at 78,000 bales with 208 pounds to the acre.

some places the depth of water over the bridge being 4 to 5 feet. The last automobile that passed over the bridge was at 1 o'clock this morning. Public utilities companies said they hoped the power lines would be restored by tonight if the winds continued to abate. The city market is inundated and water invaded a number of stores along the waterfront.

Should the wind reach hurricane velocity and blow the flood waters out of the sound Nag's Head will be seriously menaced.

HIGHWAYS AND RAIL ROADS BADLY DAMAGED

Raleigh, Sept. 30.—Traffic by road and rail has been materially impeded by rains during the past few days according to statements made this morning at headquarters of the State Highway Commission and offices of the Southern Railway. Delayed traffic over the roads is said to be general throughout the state connections with South Carolina being almost impassable. Roads around Smithfield are reported to be covered with water as was the Milburnie road six miles north of Raleigh.

Leslie Ames, assistant chief of construction of the State Highway Commission placed the damage to the roads at $300,000 which was considered by other members of the commission as a conservative estimate. Ames asserted that despite the damage three or four days of sunshine would be sufficient to put the roads back into condition with the force now maintained by the highway department.

The office of the Southern Railway stated that traffic was routed from Goldsboro to Raleigh via Wilson over the Norfolk-Southern Railroad due to the heavy rains and washouts along the tracks between the two cities.

Diplomacy Turns to English.
Berlin, Sept. 29.—English is becoming the language of international intercourse, declares Dr. A. von Wilke, in an essay concerning the language of diplomacy. He says that French, in this field, is losing its dominance.

Colored Billboards Invade the Remote Chinese Highways

Techow, Shantung, Sept. 30.—The bill board has invaded China, along with other western innovations, and is gradually making its appearance far in the interior and off the beaten tracks. Not only is it devoted to the recognized purpose of crying the merits of some article of merchandise, but occasionally it is employed in furthering moral uplift. For instance, in certain districts in the province of Shanai, herculean policemen are portrayed on billboards in the act of seizing opium traffickers, apparently in the hope of bringing the lesson within the scope of the duller intellect, while others show guardians of the law with enormous knives lopping off the heads of offenders.

Only words of praise can be said for billboards which herald forth to the Orient the fact that flies are carriers of disease, even though the motive be recommendation of a certain preparation for their extermination. As for the others, colossal roosters or king-fishers proclaim special brands of cigarettes, and giant bunches of raisins miraculous patent medicines. An endless variety of electrical appliances are also advertised, pointing the way to enjoyment, health and comfort.

Millions Treasure May Be Saved From Sea

Terschelling, Holland, Sept. 30.—A new process, for salvaging sunken treasure of the gold cargo of the British frigate Lutine, which has baffled a century's efforts, has just been put into operation here with every promise of success.

The Lutine was wrecked on a sandbank near this island during a violent gale in the night of Oct. 9, 1799. Her crew of over 400 perished. Her cargo consisted of several million dollars worth of gold bars and specie. Fifty feet of sand covers the wreck and repeated efforts have resulted only in the recovery of about half a million dollars and the ship's bell, now at Lloyds in London. At first divers were put to work, but later machinery was used to get at the wreck through the thick layer of sand by means of suction pumps.

Now a new apparatus, invented by a Dutch engineering firm is being tried. It does away with the suction process and substitutes hydraulic pressure. A tube is driven into the sand and steel grapples at the bottom seize any objects beneath it. The machine can work in any weather that is not too rough for the salvage vessel to be out.

During three days that the new apparatus worked recently no gold bars were raised, but indications are certain, according to the inventors, that the right spot has been struck and hopes are entertained that the rest of the Lutine's precious cargo, estimated at between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000, soon will be wrested from Davy Jones' locker.

WASHINGTON CLUB PENNANT WINNERS AMERICAN LEAGUE

Citizens of Washington Preparing to Give Their Team Rousing Reception Upon Arrival Home

Washington, Sept. 30.—Politics all but forgotten, Washington, official and unofficial, today completed plans to welcome home its victorious pennant winning American League baseball team. While the club was in Boston playing its final game of the league season all activities here were directed toward giving the players a rousing reception upon their arrival at the union station scheduled for tomorrow.

President Coolidge will lead the reception with an address of welcome after the team has been escorted up Pennsylvania Avenue to the ellipse just south of the White House.

The spontaneous character of the greeting was forecast in the wild shouts with which the news of the deciding victor was received yesterday by crowds who heedless of the driving rains followed jocosely the score boards. Umbrellas and hats flung high and wide and men and boys danced and shouted with glee as the game ended with Washington the winner. At the White House government business was interrupted to send a telegram of congratulations to Manager Harris while Mrs. Coolidge eagerly told the news to the President. Last night high government officials joined with humble citizens to praise the team for its fighting qualities.

Deepest Point in Ocean Found Near Jap Coast

Tokio, Japan, Sept. 30.—The lowest known point on the earth's crust, the deepest known trench in the ocean lies about 145 miles southeast of Tokio. This discovery, made recently by the Japanese naval survey ship Manshu, has been announced by the navy authorities.

The new "deep" measures 32,636 feet or more than six miles. It exceeds by 548 feet the hitherto greatest known ocean depth, the famous Marianne trench in which the United States naval ship Nero in 1899 found 32,088 feet off the east coast of the island of Mindanao in the Philippines.

The Manshu, "deep" apparently lies at the bottom of a precipitous declivity descending sharply about 100 miles from the southeastern coast of the main island of Japan. To the Japanese the first interest in the discovery lies in the seismic possibilities of this trench so near their coasts. The sharpness with which the ocean bed plunges a few miles from Japan is held by scientists to be a contributing factor to the severe earthquakes which visit this part of the country.

Last night and this morning Greenville was visited by one of the heaviest rainfalls recorded by the local weather bureau for the past five years the total for the 24 hours ending at 8 o'clock this morning being 3.91 inches with nearly two more inches between 8 and 9 o'clock. The total rainfall for September as reported at 8 o'clock this morning was 12.29 inches.

Since yesterday Tar river here has risen three feet and is still rapidly rising. Although it has not yet reached its flood stage reports of excessive rains throughout the state indicate that it will continue to rise. The local observers received advices from the state weather bureau this morning of four to seven inches of rain above the upper water shed and advising to prepare for flood waters.

Reports from over the county indicate heavy damage to the crops and unpaved roads. Although in many sections, swollen streams inundated portions of the hard surfaced roads for a time officials did not seem to think that any serious damage would result.

The following is a record of the rainfalls for September since 1920: 1920, 5.30 inches; 1921, 8.07; 1922, 1.45 inches; 1923, 6.70 inches; 1924, 12.20 inches.

AYDEN VISITED BY HEAVY RAINFALL

British Doctors Disagree As to Value Of Fruit Skins

London, Sept. 29.—London physicians are now engaged in a controversy in which the antagonists are taking their places in opposing camps known as the skin-eaters and the non-skin-eaters.

The skin referred to is that which covers fruit and the controversy hinges on the advisability of allowing growing children to eat fruit, skin and all. The skin-eaters, according to one of their spokesmen, emphasize the fact that the ordinary healthy person requires a certain amount of indigestible matter to keep the bodily functions from impairment. The non-skin-eaters contend that the food of the little folks must be as digestible as possible. They taboo any such indigestible things as fruit skins.

The majority opinion seems to be that adults and bigger children in good health should eat the skins of ripe fruit.

Romania Discourages Goats

Sofia, Sept. 29.—The sheep and goat census for the current year shows that there is a pair of sheep, or a sheep and a goat, for every man, woman and child in Bulgaria, with a part of a sheep or a goat to spare.

Sheep, however, are much preferred to goats by the Bulgarian government. The reason is that goats, feeding on the fresh, young tops of shrubs and small trees apparently are eating the country bare of forests. Hence steps are being taken to discourage their increase.

inscriptions, written upon or cut in to its panels by tourists who came to gaze and remained either to praise or condemn the famous politician who owns the place.

"Good Old David," says one inscription. "The Man Who Won the War," another proclaims him. These are manifestly from those who hold the Welsh wizard in high esteem. But there are some of another kind.

"What about my unemployment dole?" one malcontent wrote upon the gate.

Then there is a third type of inscription, a bit ambiguous perhaps. At any rate Lloyd-George's ardent supporters make one interpretation and humorous souls not to be called hero-worshippers sometimes wonder if another meaning was not intended by the writer. The best example in this third class of inscriptions is the following:

"We came from Liverpool to see you, and were disappointed."

London Eliminates Straw Hats Summer Headgear, Is Said

London, Sept. 29.—Except for those on the heads of American tourists, straw hats have almost entirely passed out of the life of London. Before the war they were recognized headgear for men in English cities during the summer just as they are in they are in the cities of America. Factories at St. Albans and Luton turned them out by the thousands. Several of these makers have closed their plants, some solvent, others bankrupt. Those who continue to fabricate "boaters," as traffic, which is constantly increasing, the Englishman refers to stiff straws, ing. and that any further shaking depend almost entirely upon overseas orders, mostly from America.

The light and soft felt hat killed the boaters, with the able assistance of England's erratic weather. When so would be unnecessary, or it would carry a great deal in which case the constant vibration would endanger Wren's masterpiece, everywhere recognized as one of the finest buildings in the world.

Fears for the safety of St. Paul's were entertained when the subway—called the bowler—became ways were run through the earth in close proximity to the foundations. The vibration was recognized as a menace. This menace has been steadily augmented by the constant increase in surface motor traffic which rolls past the church, and in very close proximity to it.

Finally the arguments of the Fine Arts Commission against a new bridge and increased traffic are supplemented by a warning from Merwyn Macartney, surveyor of the cathedral. He argues that underground work for the structures of the proposed bridge would threaten the foundations of St. Paul's by tending to drain off the water under the "pot earth" on which the cathedral stands.

Perhaps it is just as well. During August this summer it rained in London on 20 of the 31 days, and it looked like rain on most of the other eleven.

London Dreads Possible Collapse of St. Paul's

London, Sept. 30.—Despite heroic efforts being made to strengthen its fabric, evidence accumulates that St. Paul's cathedral, Sir Christopher Wren's masterpiece, is threatened with disintegration. This evidence has been obtained from a variety of sources, during the past 25 years.

The latest warning comes from the recently constituted Fine Arts Commission, which argues against the erection of a new bridge over the Thames opposite St. Paul's on the ground that the great cathedral already is threatened by heavy motor

OLDEST INSTITUTE OF ENGINEERING TO OBSERVE CENTENAL

Troy, N. Y., Sept. 29.—The centennial celebration of the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute Oct. 2, 3 and 4, will bring to this oldest of American institutions devoted to science and engineering one of the greatest gatherings of men of science ever assembled in this country. They will include about 70 presidents of the leading institutions of learning and scientific societies of the world and will represent countries of the five continents and Australia.

Distinguished leaders in the realm of education and science will deliver addresses at convocations which will follow impressive academic processions on Friday, Oct. 3, and Saturday, Oct. 4. On the program Friday will be: Sir Charles Langbridge Morgan, President of the Institute of Civil Engineers of Great Britain; Henri Abraham, laureate of the French Academy of Science and President of the Society of Electrical Engineers of France; Luigi Luiggi, Professor of the University of Rome and President of the Society of Civil Engineers of Italy; Arthur Surveyer, Director of Ecole Polytechnique of Montreal and President of the Engineering Institute of Canada; United States Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover; Frank Pierrepont Graves, New York Commissioner of Education, and Dr. Palmer Chamberlaine Ricketts, President of the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

The speakers a Saturday morning will be Albert Abraham Michaelson, President of the National Academy of Sciences; Carl Edwald Grunsky, President of the American Society of Civil Engineers; Frederic Rollins Low, President of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers; William Kelly, President of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers; Farley Ingood, President of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers; President James Rowland Angell of Yale University; President Edward Asahel Birge of the University of Wisconsin; and President Samuel Wesley Statton of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

At the Centennial dinner Friday night in the Troy Armory the speakers will include Dr. Livingston Farrand, president of Cornell University; Huger Wilkinson Jervey, dean of Columbia University Law School, and Rev. Dr. Joseph H. Odell, director of the Service Citizens of Delaware.

During the celebration two tablets will be unveiled, one in memory of S. Wells Williams, class of 1932, first professor of Chinese and oriental history at Yale University, and the other to mark the site of the old main building of the institute. At the first unveiling the address will be delivered by Sao-Ke Alfred Sze, Chinese minister to the United States. Mrs. Elizabeth Van Rensselaer Frazer of Washington, a lineal descendant of the founder of R. P. I., will unveil the second tablet and the address will be made by Seymour Van Santvoord, former chairman of the New York State Public Service Commission. Each evening on the campus there will be a pageant illustrating the development of the institute and the history of science and engineering.

The Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute was founded in 1824 by Stephen Van Rensselaer as "a school for the application of science to the common purposes of life." Under Dr. Samuel Blatchford it became a polytechnic in 1849. The evolution of the curriculum of the institute has marked the development of the scientific education in the colleges of America. Its graduates became the pioneer American scientists and engineers and extended these branches of education to other institutions. They established the first geological survey and the first agricultural college, and played an almost exclusive part in the early development of railroads and canals, not only in the United States, but in China, Japan, Mexico and various countries of South America.

Among the better known achievements of Rensselaer graduates are the Brooklyn and Williamsburg bridges, the Ferris Wheel of the Chicago World's Fair, Mormon Temple at Salt Lake City, the Woolworth Building, the New York subway, the Imperial Government Railway of Japan, many important commercial plants and larger hotels in the United States.

Since the destruction by fire of the old main building in 1904 there has been provided at an expenditure of several millions of dollars an entirely new physical equipment, which includes a dozen collegiate buildings and about half of a million dollar system of dormitories. Generous gifts to the institute have been made by the late Mrs. Russell Sage, Andrew Carnegie, sectional alumni associations and various classes on their anniversaries.

Courses at the institute lead to the degrees of civil engineer, bachelor of science, mechanical electrical and chemical engineer and graduate courses leading to masters' degrees.

A gift of the Roebblings enabled the institute to establish the radio broadcasting station WHAZ, which holds the long distance record of 10,000 miles to New Zealand and Australia.

Aged Negro Dies In Asheville

Asheville, Sept. 25.—Newton Shepard, 84, negro of the old school and one-time member of the local board of aldermen, died at his home here on Monday. He had spent his life in the service of the city and at the time of his death was on the city pension roll.

Following his being released from slavery after the Civil War, Shepard is said, by those who knew him best, to have adhered to his old ideas of serving others and that with this as his guide he entered the service of Captain Samuel Venable, pioneer educator of Buncombe county, who was at that time superintendent of county schools.

Forty years ago he was made a member of the board of auditors and was taught to read and write by Squire Summey, who was mayor of the city.

A few years ago, Shepard fell from a window and received permanent injuries. He was then placed on the city pension roll. He was held in high esteem by school officials and teachers as well as other city officials and when his funeral was held on Wednesday great floral offerings banked the casket and many teachers and city officials were present.

Dayton Will Strive To Become World's Greatest Air Center

Dayton, O., Sept. 25.—Twenty years ago Orville and Wilbur Wright, proprietors of a small mechanical shop took a strange looking contraption some nine miles out of town and made their first public airplane flight.

On October 2, 3 and 4, Orville Wright will journey out to that same piece of land, it now is a part of Wilbur Wright field, and watch the invention which he and his brother gave to the world, hurtle through the air at speeds which, if anyone had even dared to think of 20 years ago, would have brought more derision than the crude affair of canvas and wire itself.

McCook Field, the experimental station of the American Army Air Service, is located on the edge of town. Nine miles out is Wilbur Wright Field. The government either leases, or owns outright, 300 acres at Wright Field, but the field itself now consists of 5,300 acres, 5,000 of which recently were given to the government by Dayton the money for the purchase of the land being furnished by citizens.

The land has been accepted by the government, and it is the dream of Dayton some day to see the field the greatest air center in the world. The Dayton plan is eventually to combine the two fields into one vast plant, which would be a memorial to Wilbur Wright.

McCook Field will be open to all spectators during the meet, and there will be an exhibition giant, and midgets of the air, as well as strange mechanical creatures that fly. The Army Air Service helicopter, one of the most recent developments, will be one of the unusual sights.

The Barling Bomber, the world's largest airplane, may be on exhibition, and it is expected that the Shenandoah will be brought out. For contrast to these leviathans, one of the original type Wright planes is being reconditioned and probably will be piloted in a flight by Lieut. John A. MacReady.

ELECTRICITY TO COAX

ALASKAN HENS TO LAY DURING LONG NIGHT

Anchorage, Alaska, Sept. 29.—The domestic hen in the interior of Alaska, accustomed to take a lay-off during the six months of night in winter, will have to do her steady shift at producing eggs, from all indications. Electricity has come to the aid of the Alaska poultry farmer. By the aid of light and heated quarters hens are being made to lay at a time when in the past the egg supply hardly has paid for feed.

Dairymen are constructing a type of chicken house with a basement in which a large air-tight heater is located. The coop is wired with electricity, so that it may be lighted during the "daylight" hours.

With a market of 58,000 cases of eggs and prices ranging from 75 cents to $1 a dozen in winter, the poultry industry promises to become one of the most remunerative in the government railroad belt.

OIL CARAVAN IS SKIDDING

"Oil is not so well" with the Coolidge-Dawes motor caravan in its over-the-plains-to-the-oil-fields tour. Judging from news reports from Philadelphia, the tourists received a rather "cheesy" reception in the city of Brotherly Love.

One of the features of the Philadelphia rally, which the caravan orators addressed, was the presentation of a flag to the tourists, the flag to be an emblem of Pennsylvania and to be carried by the tourists on the remainder of their "oily" way. The flag was presented to the caravan party by Mrs. Henry Hall Simmons, on behalf of the Republican City Committee of Philadelphia, of which she is Vice-Chairman.

It develops that the flag for the presentation was sent ahead to the Philadelphia women, by the caravan party, to be given back to them upon their arrival. The following from the Philadelphia Record's news columns tells how the Republican ladies of Philadelphia felt about the flag:

"Mrs. Simmons, who made the presentation in behalf of the Republican organization, admitted she was somewhat 'flabbergasted' when confronted with what she described as 'an old piece of cheesecloth.' Nevertheless, she went through with her part of the program. It developed later that the cheesecloth flag was the property of the caravan, having been sent here in advance for presentation purposes by the transcontinental pilgrims.

"I was never so surprised in all my life as when I saw that old cheesecloth flag" said Mrs. Simmons. "If they had left it to us, we would have presented a nice silk flag, one that would have been an honor to the State as it was carried across the country."

"That's right" chimed Mrs. O'Brien, head of the State organization's Speakers' Bureau. "We had nothing to do with it. A member of the caravan came here with it the day before and I gave it to Mr. Davis with my own hands." She was referring to Harry Davis, executive Secretary of the City Committee.

According to the Record's reporter, the meeting was "rather cheesy." But that is not surprising, because it rained slightly, and of course oil and water won't mix, so how could an oil caravan make a success of a rainy day. The attendance at the Philadelphia rally was less than 200.

One of the speakers with the caravan is former Representative Jefferis, of Nebraska, and he it was who "accepted" the "cheesecloth" flag which his party had forwarded ahead to Philadelphia for the presentation ceremony, and promised to carry the flag across the continent, also in the parade on Pennsylvania avenue at the inauguration of President Coolidge.

Another speaker with the caravan was Herbert L. Moore, of Plymouth, Vt., birthplace of President Coolidge, who told his auditors that "Plymouth is an isolated hamlet with four farms, a general store, a cheese factory and twenty-nine permanent inhabitants." Cheese-making being the principal industry at Plymouth, after all the "cheesecloth flag" was quite appropriate to the occasion. Besides, the Fordney-McCumber tariff bill taxes flags so heavily the caravan probably couldn't afford better than one made of cheesecloth.

Another speaker at the Philadelphia rally was Mrs. Hannah Durham, Vice-Chairman of the Pennsylvania Republican State Committee. Mrs. Durham lauded Pennsylvania's own Pittsburgh's millionaire, Secretary Mellon, endorsed his tax plan and declared that although the administration was checked at every turn by a "balky Congress," it "did succeed in reducing taxes from $250 a year to $140 a year for the average family." Mrs. Durham neglected to add that the bill which reduced taxes was passed over the violent opposition of Secretary Mellon and President Coolidge. It is also of interest to observe that the income of a family paying a tax of $140 a year is approximately $8,000. That may be the type of "average income" Mrs. Durham and Mr. Mellon are concerned about, but the average income of the average American family is far under $1,000 per year, and Mr. Mellon wouldn't have helped that family a particle.

GROWTH OF ARBITRATION

There is a notable tendency in industrial, political and economic relations to resort more to arbitration and less to force.

The mailed hand of militarism, the boycott and the strike are less in evidence in international affairs and controversies between capital and labor.

More time and money are to be spent in threshing out the economic details and arriving at the actual facts in differences arising between governments and struggles between employers and employees.

British Premier MacDonald, before the assembly of the League of Nations, says questions of security and disarmament must be settled by arbitration in future.

He declares that no permanent establishment of world peace is possible without a scientific system of arbitration being put into operation.

The indications in the industrial world point to the subsidence of manifestations of kaiserism in settlement of labor controversies.

All waste is sin.

Say it with words—if you can.

Overhead expense is easy to put on but hard to take off.

Most of us do our best work under the whip of necessity.

It doesn't pay to be progressive in the matter of moral behavior.

All of us know the rules for getting ahead, but most of us think our case is important enough to justify a few exceptions.

It always seems that just as soon as supply catches up with demand, demand begins to play hide and seek.

Be fair: If you played cards until 2 a. m. don't say you are tired out from overwork.

British Doctors Oppose Insurance Act System

London, Sept. 30.—The National Medical Union, which claims to speak for some 16,000 British physicians, is on the warpath against the panel system of medical treatment under the National Insurance Act.

The National Medical Union is now hard at work completing the case which it hopes to establish against the panel system which is to be investigated in October by a Royal Commission whose membership includes Lord Lawrence, chairman; Sir John Anderson, Sir Humphrey Rolleston, Sir Alfred Watson, Sir Arthur Worley and Sir Andrew Duncan.

The union maintains that the panel system leads to inferior doctoring, that panel doctors are unable to give adequate attention to their long lists of patients and that the system is demoralizing and involves pauperization. The forthcoming attack will, it is expected, be the most vigorous yet launched against this phase of the National Insurance Act. Its importance may be gauged by the fact that there are now 15,000,000 panel patients in England, Scotland and Wales.

One charge against the panel system is that the panel doctor, with an enormous list of panel patients, is usually too busy to give them adequate attention. He has private patients in addition to his panel list, and in order to find time for his private patients, it is charged he must take his panel patients at high speed.

Expert Finds Quakes Follow Extreme Tides

Tokio, Japan, Sept. 30.—Japanese seismologists are engaged in a discussion as to whether there is connection between earthquakes and high tides along the coast.
Naokichi Maeda, chief of the Choshi meteorological observatory, has brought forth observations covering several years to prove that earth quakes can be foretold by excessive rises or falls of the tide. Early on the morning of Aug. 14 Tokio and the districts to the north were shaken by a fairly severe tremor. For several days previous tides along the Choshi coast, northeast of Tokio, where Mr. Maeda makes his observations, had been abnormally high and he had predicted a shock. That a shock came he claims is proof of his theory, that abnormal tides mean the approach of an earthquake.
Mr. Maeda quotes figures for the tides just before the disastrous earth quake of Sept. 1, 1924. At that time he says, the tides were so high that the fishermen along the coast, who eke out a living by gathering seaweed in the shallows, complained that the water was so deep in their accustomed hunting grounds that their industry was sadly crippled. Then the big quake came. Mr. Maeda also recalls that excessively low tides preceded an earthquake which did considerable damage in Tokio and the surrounding country in April, 1922.
Dr. Meiko Imamura, head of the seismological department of the Imperial university of Tokio, admits that there may be some relation between tides and earthquakes, but declares that Mr. Maeda's theory is borne out in only about one case in five and is not yet acceptable.

GRATEFUL CHINESE HONOR MEMORY OF CAPTAIN PLANT

Hankow, China, Sept. 30.—An obelisk 36 feet 6 included high, of Changsha granite, has just been completed as a memorial to Captain Samuel Cornell Plant, the first man to command a merchant steamer on the upper Yangtze, in 1900. Captain Plant was previously river inspector of the Chinese maritime customs. During his lifetime he did much for the furtherance of trade in the interior of China. He died at sea in 1921.

The monument, which has yet to be unveiled, stands on the left bank of the Yangtze gorges at Hsin. T'an rapids, thirty-five miles above Ichang. It was built by public subscription. Its total cost was $15,000 Chinese currency.

CANADA REPORTS INCREASE IN ALL DAIRY PRODUCTS

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 29.—Dairy production in Canada increased in value more than $15,000,000 last year, compared with the previous year's output, according to a bulletin issued by the Dominion Department of Agriculture.
The total output of creameries, cheese factories and condenseries in 1923 was valued at $120,110,562.

the report shows. This included butter, cheese, condensed products, ice cream, cream, buttermilk and casein. The quantity of creamery butter made in Canada last year was 164,456,759 pounds. This was the largest production ever recorded in a single year, and had a value of $56,894,008, said the report. The average price a pound realized by producers during the year was 34 cents. Quebec was the leader with 60,170,616 pounds.

SPURIOUS WINE MAKERS AROUSE IRE IN ARGENTINA

Buenos Aires, Sept. 30.—In a campaign against manufacturers of impure liquors, the Buenos Aires board of health has closed down five large plants producing alleged wines and other beverages. They are said to have used methylated spirits, or ether combined with water and coloring matter. One of the concerns was a heavy advertiser of a brand of wine that never was produced from grapes, but was widely consumed, much to the detriment of the drinkers, according to the authorities. The names of the concerns, published in some newspapers, caused a shock of surprise to many people who had been consuming their products.

SWEDES HAVE CUT TIMBER FORONE THOUSAND YEARS

Stockholm, Sept. 29.—Sweden's work of forest conservation has managed to keep the lead in the neck-to-neck race with the rapidly increasing output of industrial products, according to a governmental report in which the statement is made that Sweden has "an inexhaustible gold mine in her forests."
This assurance is regarded as of great importance to the nation, since about 60 percent of its exports consist of lumber, wood pulp, paper and other forest products. In 1923 these exports alone amounted to a value of about $183,000,000, and in the 12 months ended last June, upwards of $19,000,000 of Swedish pulp was shipped to paper mills in the United States.

The forests in Sweden, which have been drawn upon for commercial purposes for at least 1,000 years, now cover about 62 percent of the total land area of the country, and consist principally of spruce and pine.

ZITA AND ALL HER CHILDREN GUESTS ABOARD THE GERMAN CRUISER

Bilbao, Spain, Sept. 20.—The German cruiser Hannover came into the port of Bilbao recently, and the commander, Baron von Freyberk, invited Zita, former empress of Austria, to visit the vessel and bring her children. She did, and came with all eight of them, including Archduke Carl, the eldest boy. She is living at Lequeitio, not far from here.
The children scampered all over the vessel, and had a thoroughly good time. Otto spent hours in the engine room.
A Hungarian monk of the Benedictine order is here supervising Otto's education. The boy is being instructed along modern lines, without political prejudices.
The only revenue the former empress enjoys today is derived from her Hungarian estate at Raczeve. She would like to employ a German tutor for Otto, but cannot afford the expense involved.

Tiny Sail Boat Starts World Trip Hamburg, Sept. 29.—Greig, a journalist, and Wilhelm Leisor, a film photographer, left here Sept. 7 in a 21-foot sailing boat to sail around the world. They started up the Rhine River by way of the Rhine-Rhone canal, down the Rhone River, the Mediterranean, to the Canary Islands, bound for South America as the first leg of their journey.

Does Your Back Ache?

Bad Backs Bring Suffering to Many Greenville Folks

Is that dull, constant backache making you old and miserable? Does your back throb and ache until it seems you just can't keep going? Do you suffer headaches, dizzy spells and urinary disorders; feel weak, tired and worn-out? Then look to your kidneys. Delay may mean serious kidney sickness! Use Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. Doan's are recommended by Greenville folks.

Mrs. J. J. Jenkins, 315 Cotanch St., says: "I had severe pains in my back which almost drove me wild. I could not get any rest at all. I had headaches all the time. Dizziness was common and often I had to grasp some thing for support. Many a time I thought everything was floating around me. My kidneys didn't act right, either. I bought two boxes of Doan's Pills at Horne's Drug Store and the relief they gave me was a blessing."
