DIRIGIBLE ZR-3 WILL TAKE OFF FROM GERMANY FOR AMERICA TOMORROW

Start of Trans-Atlantic Flight Postponed Today Because of Unfavorable Atmospheric Conditions

Friedrichshafen, Germany, Oct. 11.—The flight of the Zeppelin ZR-3 from Friedrichshafen to Lakehurst, N. J., U. S. A. the start of which was announced for this morning was suddenly postponed at the last minute until 6 o'clock tomorrow morning. No formal statement was forthcoming from the management of the Zeppelin Works, where the great dirigible was built for the United States Navy but it was apparent that Dr. Eckener, director of the works and commander of the ship had discovered that the ZR-3 was loaded with more weight than could be carried comfortably.

Dr. Eckener claimed that atmospheric lifting power this morning was such as to make a take off difficult even after gasoline and ballast had been jettisoned. After taking out a ton and a half it failed to lighten the ship so it would float as it should. Dr. Eckener explaining that the rising temperature was hindering the lifting power. As every ounce of the gasoline supply may be required to propel the vessel in event of heavy weather it was deemed best to postpone the hop off rather than further reduce the fuel supply which as the dirigible stood in its hangar this morning weighed 81 tons.

Dr. Eckener hoped for cooler weather and more buoyancy tomorrow when he will endeavor to take off. He will follow the southern route owing to the length of the voyage but unless he is assured of more auspicious atmospheric conditions over the northern lands he will point the nose of the ZR-3 first toward the Bay of Biscay thence flying over the northern space by the Azores to Bermuda.

Four American officers will be aboard the ship; Captain George Steel, who is to command the ZR-3 after it is turned over at Lakehurst to the navy; Lieutenant Commander S. M. Krauss, who is serving as engineer officer; Commander Jacob Klein, Jr., in charge of the naval air station at Lakehurst; and Major F. M. Kennedy, U. S. A. observer.

"Death Row" Has Ten Occupants At The State's Prison

Raleigh, Oct. 9.—"Death Row" at the State's Prison here now has ten occupants but due to appeals and the absence of Warden Busbee from the state, the execution of any of the condemned is not likely to take place at a very early date.

Seven of the men, the records show, have appeals pending before the Supreme Court of this State and may be granted a new trial, while the other three, two of which were condemned to be electrocuted on October 9 and one on November 28, have been given respite until the return of Warden Burbee from California, where he is attempting to bring Dr. J. W. Peacock back to the North Carolina Insane Asylum.

The three men, whom the governor respite until the return of Warden Burbee, are John Leak and Kenneth Hale, negroes of Davidson county, and Vance Morgan, alias Vance Cymbigi, negro of Union county all of whom were convicted of murder.

Those who may procure new trials through pending appeals are:

James M. McBride, alias James Hurden, white, of Vance county, murder.

Austin Carter, white, of Rockingham county, murder.

Alex Rodman, negro of Mecklenburg county, murder.

Lee Walton, negroes of Hoke county, murder.

Will Brown, alias Ezra Steel, negro of Forsyth county, rape.

Albert Byrd, negro of Lenoir county, rape, and Jim Collins, negro of Anson county, murder.

WASHINGTON TEAM DIVIDES SPOILS OF SERIES VICTORY

Check for $5,959.64 Is Given Each Player As His Part of the Series Gate Receipts

Washington, Oct. 11.—The new championship crown rested somewhat uneasily today on the fevered brow of the Washington base ball club.

What, with the nervous let down after the battle and attentions of admiring thousands who feted their heroes all night long, some players were almost too tired to day to gather in the fat wads of United States currency which represented their shares in the gate receipts.

At noon "Buckey" Harris was holding high a sheaf of series checks in his hands and still imploring the boys to "come and get these things". Each check was for $5,959.64. They were prepared at the club house this morning by Commissioner Landis.

Several of the club members, however, did their collecting early today and left town. Sam Rife departed for Quebec where he will join a European barnstorming aggregation. Walter Johnson and Nick Altrock headed for New York to join exhibition programs also.

Harris said today he had no specific plans for addition to his lineup for next season. "That does not mean that we are entirely satisfied even with this game bunch," he said. "We will let nothing interfere with the winter trades. I would say that there is no particular department in mind. Every one knows that some players perform better on some teams than on others, which is probably due to surroundings. This is the only point we have in mind."

Real Estate Men Prefer St. Railways To Busses, Report

Atlantic City, Oct. 11.—L. F. Eppich, of Denver, former president of the National Association of real estate boards, told the American Electric Railway Association here today that realtors prefer electric railways to other forms of local transportation because they cannot be moved away over night.

Mr. Eppich recently sent a questionnaire, "Buses or Cars," to realtors in many cities and all except one answered "Cars." "Buses may be easily diverted or abandoned, and the value of property substantially reduced," he explained today.

There is a decided place for the bus in local transportation, the speaker continued. He and other realtors would like to see street car companies run busses, in new territories until traffic warrants laying an electric line. Property owners benefitting by new transportation lines should help pay the cost of their installation, he said, and pointed out that recently Detroit voters assessed 51 percent of the cost of new transit lines against the owners of adjoining property. Such a course also had been recommended in other cities.

Argentine Airmen To Be Decorated by Japs

Tokio, Oct. 11.—Major Pedro Zanni, Argentine airman flying around the world, will be decorated with the Order of the Rising Sun by the Japanese government, the Minister of Communications announced today after the arrival of Zanni at Kasumigaura, the Tokio air base, from Koshigaura.

ZEPLIN ZR-3 TO BEGIN TRANS-ATLANTIC FLIGHT SUNDAY

Above is the Zeppelin ZR-3, built by the Famous Zeppelin Works in Germany for the United States Navy, which will take off from its hangar at Friedrichshafen, Germany for her trans-Atlantic flight to Lakehurst, N. J. The inserts are Dr. Eckener, under whose direction the great ship was built and who will command her on her flight to America, and Captain George W. Steel, who, with three other American officers, will be passengers on the trans-Atlantic flight, and who will command the craft after it is turned over to the United States Government at Lakehurst, N. Y.

Local Market Averages $23.82 For This Week

The local tobacco market sold during this week, 2,209,886 pounds for $526,506.46 at an average of $23.82 for the week. This average is seven cents higher than during opening week.

The market was visited by a large number of people from adjoining counties. During the first part of the week the condition of the roads made traveling difficult but despite this fact the market sold a large quantity of the weed.

Prices have showed strength from day to day and continue at a good average. The farmers seemed well pleased during the week.

Buddhas Rocked By Quake Will Be Repaired Soon

Tokio, Oct. 9.—Two of the world's most famous religious images, damaged by the great earthquake of last September, are soon to be repaired. These are the Buddha which has stood in Uyeno Park, Tokio, since 1695, and the Daibutsu of Kamakura, probably the most noted representation of Buddha in the world.

The earthquake rocked the Kamakura Daibutsu, which stands 49 feet high, weighs 450 tons and was cast in 1252, from its foundations, set it nearly a foot forward and caused large cracks in its head of curly hair and its benign cheeks. The minister of education, Dr. Okada, has announced that he will spend 20,000 yen, part of a fund of 140,000 yen allotted by the Diet in its special session this summer for the repair of temples and shrines, for resetting the great image and healing the cracks.

The Uyeno Buddha fared even worse than its Kamakura prototype. The force of the shock actually decapitated the image, throwing the head clear from the body. The image still stands in headless majesty. Artists of Tokio have undertaken the restoration of the Buddha, not by repairs, as first proposed, but by recasting the entire image. The cost of this work is estimated at 100,000 yen and the task will require ten months. The Uyeno Buddha is 600 21 feet high.

End of Daylight Saving Increases the Theatre - Going

London, Oct. 11.—There are happy smiles in London's theatre-land. West End playhouses are experiencing the biggest boom in attendance in many months.

"It's partly due to what has come to be known as the 'little social season,' aided and abetted by a spell of weather which, if not ideal, is at least an improvement upon that which characterized the spring and summer months.

"The boom is undoubtedly due to the improvement in the weather," said one theatrical producer. Also the evenings are drawing in. Daylight saving is always a blow at the theatre. Now people haven't time to play tennis before it gets dark, and in consequence they go to the theatre.

"It is perhaps unfortunate that the standard of plays is not what it was in pre-war days. There is a dearth of playwrights. No new names are coming along. Of course, there is an army of those who write high-brow stuff, but their efforts are wasted on the general public. We want men who can write popular plays."

CANADIAN SHEEP PRODUCE GOOD CROP OF FINE WOOL

Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 10.—Canada's wool clip will total 13,000,000 pounds with a value to sheepmen of $4,000,000, according to a bulletin issued by the Dominion Department of Agriculture. The quality of the product is said to be the highest in recent years.

Approximately half the wool clip, the bulletin estimates, will remain in Canada for manufacture. Last year the dominion exported 6,009,079 pounds of wool, of which the United States purchased 5,261,899 pounds and Great Britain 706,028 pounds.

Government wool grading and systematic marketing by the Co-operative Wool Growers, which handles 90 per cent of the clip, have raised the quality of Canadian wool, the department said.

SENATE COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE POLITICAL CAMPAIGN EXPENDITURES

GIANT DIRIGIBLE SLIGHTLY DAMAGED

Shenandoah Has Six Foot Hole Torn in Rear Cabin While Being Moored Last Night

San Diego, Cal., Oct. 11.—Because a rear cabin was smashed while the Shenandoah was being moored to her mast last night after completion of her trans-continental flight and some repairs to her motors, the big dirigible will probably stay at her mooring mast at North Island Field all day today according to a telegram from the field.

A hole about six feet long was torn in the rear cabin of the great ship according to the communication from North Island. Although the damage was described as of a minor nature, it, together with some work to be done on two of the ship's six motors, was expected to keep her here today.

Federal Official Urges Respect For Dry Statute Now

Los Angeles, Oct. 11.—Nothing is more alarming than that phase of lawlessness in which citizens choose which laws they shall obey and which they shall disregard, said Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant United States attorney general, in a recent address in this city.

Speaking of the prohibition law, Mrs. Willebrandt said: "Repeat it or respect it. The man who does not believe in the dry law," she continued, "and who seeks to repeal it by proper and orderly processes, is just as good a citizen as anyone else."

"The man who is blind to the duties of citizenship is the opponent of the dry law who tries to justify his disobedience to it by saying that it can't be enforced and ought to be repealed."

"Trying to enforce the prohibition law by spending too much time hunting out the little violator, is like trying to cut down a tree by picking off the leaves. The way to accomplish it is by putting an ax to the root, by getting the big men who are supported by big men."

As an example of the moral effect of "catching the big ones," Mrs. Willebrandt cited a Georgia case in which 85 convicted violators, including 60 millionaires, went to the penitentiary. After that public sentiment in Georgia, heretofore hostile, was openly that "the Federal government meant business and should be supported."

Senator Borah Notifies Three National Chairmen To Have All Information Available for Committee

Boise, Idaho, Oct. 11.—The special Senate committee to investigate political campaign expenditures will meet in Chicago next Wednesday or Thursday according to William E. Borah, chairman of the committee.

He telegraphed to the three chairmen of the national committees yesterday requesting "that all facts touching upon the campaign contribution both as to contributor as well as the amounts, be available for the committee." The messages were directed to Lem L. Shaver, Democratic National Chairman, New York; John M. Nelson, National manager of the LaFollette-Wheeler Progressive headquarters, Chicago; and William M. Butler, Republican National Committee chairman, Chicago.

Senator Shipstead will be unable to attend the meeting of the committee but Senator Borah requested Senator LaFollette to urge Senator Shipstead to be present at a later meeting.

Competition Is Expected to Be Keen Horticultural Exhibit

Raleigh, Oct. 11.—Competition is expected to be keen at the horticultural exhibit and contest at the State fair, in which there is the largest number of entries ever registered before in the history of the Department, it was announced today by C. D. Matthews, chief of the department of Horticulture.

Enthusiasm among the growers and exhibitors was said by the chief to be very high and each entry, he said, was expecting to carry off the honors due to the exceptionally good crops of apples, vegetables and pecans that were made this year. Not only the size of crops but the quality of the fruits were said to be better than usual.

The exhibits of the department of Horticulture, it was explained will consist of demonstrations along educational lines in this field as well as to display the products already produced. This will afford fruit growers an exceptional opportunity to learn something new in the method of growing and marketing their produce. Mr. Matthews believes. He says also that one of the main objects of the exhibit is to educate North Carolinians to the value of home horticultural products and to get them to use more of them, especially apples.

Prevents Robbery By Shooting Out the Light of Lantern

Wilmington, Oct. 9—W. C. Fields, state gasoline and oil inspector for this district, prevented himself from being robbed late Tuesday night when he shot out the light of a lantern held by two men who attempted to hold him up on the Whiteville-Hallsboro detour as he was returning to this city, he told newspapermen here Wednesday morning. He said that his car was badly damaged by a small telephone pole that was suddenly thrown in front of his machine while he was driving along the road.

Mr. Fields explained that a man jumped in front of his car immediately after he had stopped and commanded him to get out of the car and to hand over his money upon such orders he fired at the lantern and put out the light. The man holding the lantern ran and another man fired at Mr. Fields from the opposite side of the road, the inspector explained. He said that he returned the fire and that the second man also ran away. Mr. Fields stated that he did the shooting with a rifle that he carries for the purpose of shooting squirrels.

"Slain" Veteran Found in Federal Prison.

Mrs. F. W. Bergeron, of Menasha, Wis., was officially notified by the War Department in 1918 that her son, Urban John Bergeron, had been killed in action in France. She did not believe it. Later his body was sent her, and although she had a stone erected over it and tenderly cared for the grave, she still believed her son lived. Now, several years after his "death" she has located him in "Robert St. Clair," for the last eighteen months a prisoner in the Federal prison in Atlanta, Ga., where, a weakened, pale-faced veteran of the World War, he is fighting for his life against disease. She doesn't know whose body she had buried.

FARM COMMITTEE DELAY

President Coolidge has committed himself and his party to a plan for agricultural relief which not only fails to appeal to farmers but already has widened the rift in the Republican lute. The president undoubtedly expected that his committee, which is to solve the farmer's problems by investigating them, would delay making a report until long after election, but it was not his purpose to delay naming the committee. The committee was to be appointed as a promise—probably specious but none the less a promise of aid which would enlist farmers under the Republican banner.

But, when the President came to appoint the committee, he found insurmountable difficulties. He was advised by those of his confidants who really know something of agricultural conditions that the committee, if it was to be accepted by farmers as a proffer of aid made in good faith, must have at least the appearance of being non-partisan. At the same time, he was advised by those others of his confidants who know a great deal about the practical side of Republican politics that to place any except tried and true organization Republicans on the committee would be to invite party disaster. The Republican tariff policy of protection for manufacturers, he was reminded, is essential to continued Republican success but has been so injurious to agriculture that none except "yellow dog" Republicans can be expected to recommend it as a plank in a program for bringing agricultural prosperity.

The President stood between the horns of the dilemma, between the devil and the deep sea, between—as Waterson used to phrase it—"hell and the iron works." If he named a Republican committee, farmers would recognize it for what it is—a political dodge. If he appointed a committee with even the semblance of non-partisan complexion, he would create an agency that later would rise against its creator by condemning the keystone of the Republican arch, the tariff, to say nothing of international policy and the like.

Thus it comes about that days and weeks have dragged on, perilously close to election time, while still the farmers wait for the appointment of the committee that is to find for them a Republican road to temporal prosperity and while Republican leaders heartily wish that the President had never said anything about the committee for agricultural investigation.

"SILENCE IS CONFESSION"

In Republican annals the present national Democratic candidate, under our accepted theory of party responsibility, has held the Republican party responsible for the scandals of the Harding-Coolidge administration. Although President Coolidge has preached party responsibility, candidate Coolidge has remained silent concerning Mr. Davis' charges in this respect.

The Democratic candidate has attacked the administration on every other issue of the campaign—on favoritism in taxation, on the tariff robbery, on the lack of a foreign policy, and all of the collateral issues, only to be met by silence—not a dignified or even a feigned contemptuous silence, but a shrinking, timid, evasive silence which indicates inability to make reply. It is a silence that indicates the fear of controversy, and the lack of any "stomach for a fight," the fear of a man who runs away and hides.

Despite this silence, the administration press and spokesmen are eulogizing candidate Coolidge as a leader and a cool, courageous man, when the fact is that he will neither lead nor fight nor even attempt a defense of his party or himself.

It would be a generous critic indeed who would even credit him with that discretion which is the better part of valor. The silence of candidate Coolidge is not a discreet silence. It is the kind of silence rather, described by Daniel Webster when that statesman declared in a particular case: "Silence is Confession."

may find that there would not be sufficient amount of this 40 per cent destroyed to justify putting on the poison.

It will cost from $1 to $1.50 per application according to the weather and the extremes of infestation. The more infestation at times the more team work it will take at a time that the crop would need more team work. To go safe, we should not over-crop as an extremely wet year the loss would not be so great. A friend of mine, Mr. N. L. Stedman, of Halifax, had three of his customers, colored farmers and apparently intelligent ones, come down to see if they could attend some of our dusting demonstrations. It was too late, however, as we were practically through dusting. Answering some questions they asked me, one was, what should a farmer do with two small acres to justify buying a machine. I summed up the acres they had in cultivation to be about 90 acres. I told them to buy a machine jointly, each bearing the expense as to the number of acres they each had. If we expect to make a bale of cotton to the acre as we should, the cost of, say $1.25 per acre per application, the entire cost would not exceed $10 per acre a normal year. As we have reasons to believe, a 500-pound bale of cotton with the seed, should net us $100.

A very important part is to have a good man look after the machines and keep up the infestation count.

OPEN FORUM

Editor Reflector:
The following letter is a copy of a letter written by Mr. L. J. Baker to Mr. M. G. Mann, vice president of First National Bank, Tarboro, N. C. It appears that Mr. Mann is greatly interested in the development of agriculture in North Carolina and particularly in Edgecombe county. Mr. Baker lives on the border line of Halifax and Martin counties near Palmyra, N. C., and is one of the best farmers in that section. His principal money crops are peanuts and cotton. He made nearly a thousand bales of cotton last year. Any statement made by him relative to farming is always interesting to me.

If you think his observations will be of help to the farmers of Pitt county in the inevitable fight that is being fought with the boll weevil then please give it space in your paper.
E. B. HIGGS.

At your request I am giving you my experience and some ideas gathered from the boll weevil question so far.

To begin with, I named all my fields and the number of acres they contained. I recorded each field separately on a small ledger.

The weevil was late in coming this year. My first infestation count was made on July 18 on a 45-acre field. I found 6 4-5 per cent infestation on that date. On the 23 I found an infestation of 14 per cent. The first dusting July 24, second July 28 and third on August 1. August 7 I found 2 1-5 per cent infestation. According to general instructions to go back in ten days. I found 21 1-2 per cent infestation on August 18. Right here it appears that I should have put on the fourth dusting or taken infestation count in five days. On August 18, I made another dusting. August 22 another dusting was made. A storm came and I could not put on another. On August 28 I found 5 per cent infestation. That ended the work that I was able to do on the 45-acre field. None of the other fields showed as high infestation. I found three fields that did not show over 5 per cent infestation. These I did not poison. Here it would appear that we should poison as to infestation.

When starting out the machines at first, it is well to begin sometime before night so that the drivers may acquaint themselves with the machines and learn to adjust them properly. To make sure of the amount that I was putting on, I put on 303 applications and then checked the amount of arsenate that I had in storage and found that I had checked 1600 pounds which gave me about the right amount—five and a fraction pounds to the acre. I found that one of the machines was apparently putting on more of the arsenate than the others, judging from the arsenate showing on the foliage of the cotton. I followed up the machines and found that all were putting out about the same amount. Then I could readily see that the nozzles of the machine were too high and were not forcing the poison through the foliage as the two other machines were. This was easily adjusted.

I usually started to work about sunset and worked through the night until sunrise or a little later. When near the barns, I gave the team water at midnight. I did not find it hard on the team or men as the men could count a night as a day and sleep half the day and work the other half if they cared to.

One important thing to do is to keep up the infestation count. A competent man on one of my farms put on four applications, after which he found dead weevils. This same man was over near Colerain some days ago and visited a well-to-do farmer who said he would not poison this year as he had no weevils. They went out into this man's field and found 40 per cent infestation. Right here I want to say that I have heard a good many men say that they had found no weevils when instead of looking for weevils, they should be looking for punctured squares. Next year I think I will put on a pre-square application.

I can readily see that it is well to have some general information to start with, but theory and science should meet experience and practice on half-way grounds. We are told that 60 per cent of the squares shed off from natural causes, leaving 40 per cent. It appears, then, that our crop must depend upon the 40 per cent, less what part of their 40 per cent may be punctured. Here they

ELINOR GLYN TELLS OF MYSTERIOUS 'IT'

"It." The indefinable something. What is it? You must have it to be a successful lover. It is the force which attracts women to men and men to women. It is the inexplicable quality which makes Valentinos, Lew Codys, Gloria Swansons, and Peggy Hopkins Joyces.

"It" is the word used by Elinor Glyn to describe the attraction. Screen heroines and heroes must have it, the authoress says.

"It," according to Mrs. Glyn, does not require beauty in women or handsomeness in men. It does not require physical perfection, or grace. It is simply the intangible, unexplainable quality of all lovers.

The quality, Mrs. Glyn declares, is most readily detected in the eyes, and generally can be found in the voice.

"It" was sought when players for the Goldwyn film version of "Three Weeks," which comes to White's theatre Monday and Tuesday, Alan Crossland, director of the production, and Mrs. Glyn, found that:

Aileen Pringle has it. Conrad Nagel has it. Claire de Lorez has it. Stuart Holmes has it. Robert Cain has it. John Sainpolis has it. Other members of the cast of Three Weeks may have had it but were not selected because of that quality because their roles did not call for it.

This being the annual business meeting, full reports of the year's work were read by the officers, which were very inspiring. Officers for the coming year were elected as follows. Mrs. C. L. Roebuck, president. Mrs. F. A. Edmundson, first vice president, Mrs. Lottie Matlocks, second vice president, Mrs. C. W. Willard third vice president, Mrs. E. F. Tucker, secretary, Mrs. Frances E. Jones, treasurer; Mrs. J. T. Jordan, reporter, Mrs. S. S. Williams, chairman, Home Department.

After the business session a very pleasant social hour was enjoyed. An impromptu debate by Mrs. T. H. Plemons and Miss Rodwell, affirmative and Mrs. W. L. Rice and Miss Thomas, negative, was very amusing. An automobile contest was next engaged in. At the close of this contest, delicious salad-course was served by the hostesses.

WHERE THEY ALL SAVE MONEY

"Over here, son! -Another Lime-Crush -an' I want it right off the ice"

Gentlemen, Lime-Crush was specially prepared to quench the thirst of all true sportsmen. You'll find it delightfully refreshing — and — deliciously different. Try one today, fresh off the ice.

Ward's Crushes—Orange, Lemon and Lime—are more than merely delicious; they are wholesome and have a real food value. Read our formula. Here it is: To the natural fruit oils of oranges, lemons and limes are added citrus fruit juices, carbonated water, fruit acid, U. C. Certified food color and pure cane sugar.

The "Krinkly Bottle" saves a good drink—identifies the genuine, too!

"Three Weeks"

Everything that made the book a sensation is here in the film: the first meeting of Paul and the Lady; the episode of the Tiger Skin; the revels of the Sardalian court; the Swiss romance; Venice nights breathing love and danger; the spy; the fight in the canal; the lover's revenge. And then the thrilling episode that brings the story to a whirlwind finish.

Markets

Furnished by James William Cobb

COTTON LETTER
 New Orleans, Oct. 11.—The tendency of market remained downward today, influenced by more favorable weather than expected inland and because of easier cables than due. There was no rain of consequence in the cotton region over night indications are for no appreciable change over the week-end. Liverpool cables: "Poor undertone, weakened liquidation and freer offerings of actual cotton. Politics disturbing markets." Looking ahead, American markets will be closed Monday, Columbus Day. Tuesday at opening of market the census is due to issue report on cotton consumed during September in the United States which will likely show much smaller than the 486,900 for Sept. of last year. Wednesday Government weather and crop report will probably be favorable unless unfavorable weather develops meanwhile. The next Government condition and ginning report will not be issued until October 25, when condition of crop and ginnings as of 18 inst will be announced. Statistics—Marketed during past week 509,000 vs. 487,000; Marketed during Aug. 1, 3,019,000 vs. 2,820,000. Spinners takings for week 267,000 vs. 250,000; Spinners since Aug. 1, 1,667,000 vs. 1,662,000; World's visible supply American 2,250,000 vs. 2,108,000; the World's visible supply foreign 869,000 vs. 807,000; World's visible supply all 3,127,000 vs. 2,915,000. Because of the larger movement to market than last year and smaller spinners takings than last year, variations in the world's visible supply of American cotton show an increase for the week of 322,000 bales vs. a nine-crease last year of 182,000. Exports from the United States next week, mid month clearances are apt to be as large or larger than last year's 239,000, up to yesterday exports from United States this season were 1,154,000 against 1,044,000 last year. It will likely require a frost scare or rains in the interior to check the declining tendency of values. The average date for killing frost for northwest lies between October 15 and November 1.

GORMAN'S MARKET REPORT.
 There have been no block sales this week. Prices at Gorman's, have held up fine, however at times we had to back our judgment by buying. We sold for the week 382,562 pounds averaging $24.36. Our Friday's sale of 65,636 pounds averaging $25.31.

We have had our usual large percentage of damaged and common tobacco during the week. We are sending our customers home satisfied telling their friends of their fine sales.

If you are not selling at Gorman's see our sales or talk to some one who is selling with us and if you are after the highest market prices we believe that we will sell the balance of your crop. We look for light sales until we have two or more days of soft weather. Owing to next week being fair week the sales will start at eight o'clock beginning Tuesday and continuing through the week. Below we give a few sales made during the week.

If you have good or fine tobacco bring it to Gorman's and you will go home pleased. We have first sale Monday, 2nd, sale Tuesday. First sale Wednesday, second sale Thursday and first sale Friday.
