GIANT DIRIGIBLE ZR-3 ENROUTE FROM GERMANY WILL ARRIVE TOMORROW

Zeppelin Built in Germany for United States Navy Reached Azores Islands Early Today

Washington, Oct. 13.—The Zeppelin ZR-3 floated today over the broad expanse of the Atlantic and the navy was on the alert standing by to render any help that might be needed by the great airship in her epoch making journey from Friedrichshafen, Germany to Lakehurst, N. J.

No direct word from the ZR-3 came to the Navy Department today because the ship has not reached a point where radio contact can be made but ships stationed at strategic points on the ocean and through other sources, of information efforts are being made to keep in touch with her.

Captain George W. Steel, American Naval officer aboard the ship, who will take command of her when she is turned over to the Navy Department, in a belated radiogram today told of the departure from Germany where the vessel was built for the American government in conformity with restrictions of the armistice. He added that the ship sailed smoothly from the start and passed over the Bay of Giscay without hindrance.

The pilot of the great airship is following the southern route via the Azores and Bermuda, thence to Lakehurst. Weather conditions when the Zeppelin reaches the Bermudas no doubt will influence what route is taken from that place northward.

If the ship heads along the regular southern lines of steamship travel it will touch the American coast first either at Charleston, S. C., or the mouth of the Chesapeake Bay. As the southern route is the longest, route from Germany to the United States it is probable that the officers will take the most direct route from Bermuda to the New Jersey city, weather permitting in order to save fuel.

Washington, Oct. 13.—The giant dirigible ZR-3 reached the Azores Islands at noon (G. M. T.) according to a wireless message received here.

Reports, Azores Islands, Oct. 13.—The giant dirigible ZR-3 passed over Fayal at 2:35 o'clock (local time) this afternoon on its way to Lakehurst, N. J. The ship was flying in a westerly direction and traveling at a good rate of speed.

Friedrichshafen, Germany, Oct. 13.—A wireless received at 1:10 a. m. from Dr. Hugo Eckener, Zeppelin director, aboard the ZR-3, declared he expected the giant airship to reach the Azores Islands at noon Greenwich time which is 9 a. m. New York time.

New York, Oct. 13.—A cable message was received this morning from Terceira, Azores Islands, to the effect that the giant dirigible ZR-3 enroute across the Atlantic to Lakehurst, N. J., was in wireless communication with that place and expected to reach the Azores at noon or 9 a. m. New York time.

Berlin, Oct. 13.—The government wireless station at noon today reported that it had been unable to establish communication with the dirigible ZR-3 since 4:30 this morning when the ship was half way between the Spanish coast and the Azores with everything going normally. The station hopes to regain touch with the ship after sundown when wireless conditions are better.

Delivery of the German made ZR-3 from the Friedrichshafen plant to the navy air station at Lakehurst, will bring to this country the first commercial airship of the Zeppelin type ever to be flown under the American flag.

WARRING FORCES IN CHINESE WAR SIGN ARMISTICE

Part of Troops Ignorant of Armistice Continued Firing This Afternoon

Shanghai, China, Oct. 13.—The Chekiang forces, holding defense lines west of Shanghai, unaware that they were fighting for a lost cause and were informed that an armistice was signed last night in which their leaders virtually admitted defeat, continued firing into the enemy lines this afternoon.

Trains from Nansiang, 12 miles west of here, brought in hundreds of Chekiang troops today who, upon being informed of the abrupt turn in affairs, joined other Chekiang troops at the railway station north of here where an impromptu auction sale of clothing and equipment was held. A number of army automobiles were knocked down to the bidders for as low as $10.

Shanghai, Oct. 13.—At Lungsha arsenal, headquarters of the Chekiang forces, a small group of unarmed soldiers awaited the arrival of the Kiangsu and Fukien province troops to take over the arsenal. General Lu Yang Hsiang, military governor of the Chekiang province, presided over the conference which resulted in the decision to surrender and sent him into the international settlement here as a refugee.

The ZR-3 is similar in appearance but somewhat larger than the Navy dirigible Shenandoah. While the Shenandoah was the first vessel of the kind ever built in the United States, however, the ZR-3 was numbered 126 at the Zeppelin plant and is the product of more than 25 years of German experience in dirigible construction and operation, including the German war fleets. She is the last word in lighter-than-air design, and will form the foundation for the building of future American commercial fleets if this proves to be a practicable form of transportation in the United States.

She is the last word in lighter-than-air design, and will form the foundation for the building of future American commercial fleets if this proves to be a practicable form of transportation in the United States.

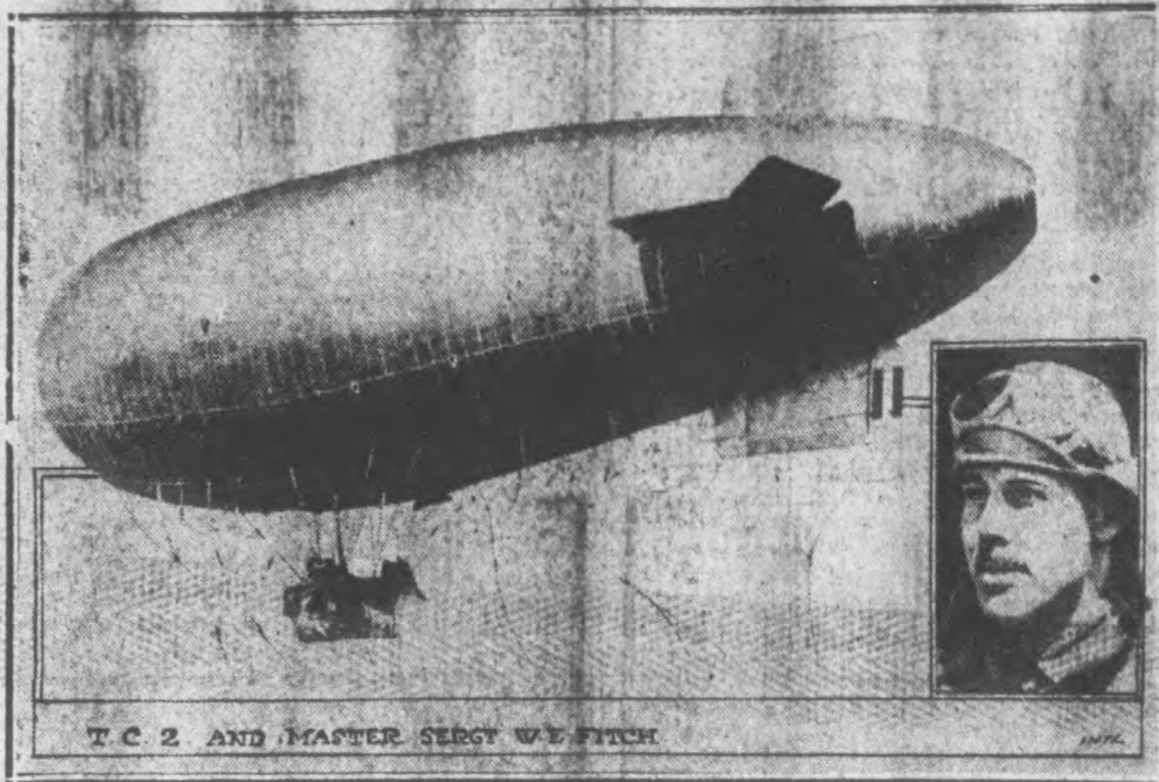

At the close of the war, the Allied powers and the United States restricted the Zeppelin firm to the construction of ships of not more than 30,000 cubic meters gas capacity, although the last of the war service Zeppelins built by the plant had approached a 70,000 cubic meter capacity. Peace terms also provided for the apportionment among the victorious powers of Zeppelins to be surrendered by Germany, the such craft, being assigned to the United States. Two German dirigibles were destroyed in their sheds, however, and the ZR-3 is a replacement vessel for the two destroyed.

By agreement with the Allied powers the Zeppelin plant was permitted to build one ship of 70,000 cubic meter capacity for the United States in place of the two ships of 30,000 cubic meters capacity each. This was necessary in order that a ship of sufficient size to cross the Atlantic might be constructed. The Allied powers waived the size restriction, however, only on the condition that the big ship should not be used by the United States for military purposes.

Contracts with the Zeppelin company were completed in June 1922 and a group of American naval officers was sent to Friedrichshafen to watch progress on the vessel day by day. They were cordially received by the German concern which desired to demonstrate its knowledge of the art of building air cruisers. The ZR-3 has an over-all length of 656 feet, a diameter of 90.7 feet,

SEVERAL HURT WHEN U. S. BLIMP BLOWS UP IN AIR

T. C. 2 AND MASTER SERGEY W. E. FITCH

The U. S. Army blimp TC-2, largest non-rigid airship in the United States, was destroyed in the air and several members of her crew were injured when a bomb she was carrying to manoeuvres at Langley Field, Va., exploded at Newport News, Va. Only the fact that the bag was filled with non-explosive helium instead of hydrogen saved the lives of any of her crew of five. Master Sergeant William E. Fitch was one of the wounded.

TWO KILLED WHEN TRAINS COLLIDE

New Milford, N. J., N. J., Oct. 13.—The engineer and fireman of a pusher engine at the rear of a freight train were killed and three other trainmen were injured when the Buffalo passenger train on the Lacawanna Railroad running through a heavy fog crashed into the slowly moving freight a mile west of here early today. None of the passengers were injured, it was said.

Failure of the engineer of the passenger train to see the signal protecting the freight due to the dense fog is believed by railroad officials to have been the cause of the accident.

Michael Kelly, 40, of Halsted, Pa., engineer of the pusher, was killed when his engine overturned as the passenger engine plowed into it. Ray Osterhouse, 33, also of Halsted, fireman, was caught between the pusher and tender and was crushed to death.

Camp Lewis Prepares Arrival Shenandoah

San Diego, Oct. 13.—While the navy dirigible Shenandoah at her mooring mast on North Island near here today awaits the hour of her departure, 7:30 tomorrow morning, two naval fliers hopped off from North Island to supervise the craft's landing at Camp Lewis, Washington. Immediately upon their arrival there they will give the ground crew intensive training in the mooring of a dirigible, in preparation for the arrival of the Shenandoah. Naval officers pointed out today that 10 well trained men can handle the 680 foot craft with their bare hands.

Bobbed-Hair Girl Shot for Woodchuck

Attleboro, Mass., Oct. 13.—Seeing a bushy object through the trees, James Kennedy, caretaker of an estate here, fired a load of buckshot expecting to bring down a woodchuck. Instead he heard a scream and saw a girl rise and swoon. He discovered that the buckshot had lodged in the scalp of Miss Lydia White, who was seriously wounded. The gunner had mistaken for a woodchuck the young woman's bushy bobbed hair.

Negroes 'Hold Up' Auto Near Cox's Mill; Were Given Hearing Today

Charlie McLawhorn and James Daniels, negroes, charged with holding up an automobile the occupants of which were ladies and two men, and using vulgar and profane language, were given a hearing before Magistrate J. I. Smith this morning. Daniels was fined $50 and costs while McLawhorn was fined $10 and costs.

The "hold up" took place Saturday night near Cox's mill. The negroes were drinking and after ordering the car to stop began cursing and using vulgar language. Officer Whitehurst was notified and he immediately made the arrests. The negroes were brought to Greenville and placed in jail to await trial this morning.

Prof. R. C. Deal Conducts Y. W. C. A. Services at College

Prof. R. C. Deal conducted the Y. W. C. A. services on Sunday evening at East Carolina Teachers' College. His theme was "God and the Individual." He expresses the belief that there never has been a non-religious nation, but there have been non-religious individuals who neither consider what God has done for them nor what he has for them to do. The human race has always had some God; those who have not known the true God have made a God, as the ancient Greeks and Romans did.

He brought out the fact that as long as any nation is strong it does not ask for help, yet from the beginning when man has realized his own weakness he has looked outside for some stronger power.

He impressed upon the young women before him who are away from home for the first time that God is a personal God to whom they can go with their troubles. But God is not a denominational God.

Mr. Deal made every student feel that the members of the faculty are ready to help them, but that the members of the faculty also seek the aid of this higher power. Miss Isabelle Cromartie played a piano solo. Miss Elizabeth Thomas has charge of the music for the Sunday evening services.

BERLIN HELPS ITS NEEDY

Mrs. Laughinghouse Is Critically Ill In A New Bern Hospital

Mrs. Ned Laughinghouse, of Oriental, is critically ill in the New Bern hospital suffering from septic poison caused from an injury to her hand which she received about two weeks ago.

Mrs. Laughinghouse at the time of the injury thinking that it was only a slight cut gave it the needed attention and thought that it would soon be well. A few days ago, however, the injury became painful and gave so much trouble that Mrs. Laughinghouse became alarmed. Medical aid was given at once and in an effort to save the hand she was immediately rushed to the nearest hospital.

Mrs. Laughinghouse is very popular with a host of friends in Greenville who will regret to learn of her illness and who wish for her a speedy recovery.

RUMANIAN GOVERNMENT MAKES ODD CONTRACT WITH IRON WORKS

Bucharest, Oct. 13.—A contract containing unique provisions recently was entered into between the Rumanian government and Reschitz Iron Works. The latter undertakes to clear 250 miles of government-owned railroad trackage from scrap iron and discarded rolling material, the accumulation of war and after-war years.

The company agrees to furnish the government with one pound of iron in the form of locomotives, box-car chassis and rails for every 25 pounds of scrap iron collected.

WESTERN MOUNTAINS REPEAT STRAINS OF DISTANT MUSIC

Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 13.—Accounts of strange music coming out of space in the vicinity of Spirit Lake and Mount St. Helena have been received here recently.

Albert Weiss, who had business in the Spirit Lake region in connection with mining claims, asserted that he heard the music, which included arias from some of the operas. Weiss's story was not taken seriously until August Frye, superintendent of a Tacoma foundry, who had never met Weiss, reported the same thing. Both men said the music was heard between 9 and 11 o'clock at night.

The tale has led to the supposition that radio waves from broadcasting stations have been picked up by ledges of minerals in that wild region, and reflected back as sound.

FIFTH ANNUAL PITT COUNTY FAIR TO OPEN TOMORROW MORNING

SHOOTING SCRAPE BRINGS DEATH TO LENOIR CO. MAN

Two Brothers Will Be Given Hearing Tonight in Connection With Killing

Kinston, Oct. 13.—Miller and Rodney Goodman, young white men of the Fort Barnwell section, will be given a preliminary hearing tonight in connection with the death of Cully Williams, 60, and the serious injury of his son, Richard Williams and Hugh Hogan, all white. The two latter men were severely cut by Rodney Goodman and Cully Williams was fatally shot by Miller Goodman, according to admissions made to authorities by the Goodmans who came to Kinston to surrender to the sheriff after an altercation at Goodman's store in Southwest township, the assault and shooting taking place Sunday night.

According to the Goodmans they were seeking to evade the Williams and Hogan having attended church services last night. While in the church, they said, they were summoned outside but instead they escaped through a window and took a bypath to their store several miles away where they were finally wounded and attacked. The trouble was reported to have started when one of the Williams sought to take the part of a negro with whom the Goodmans had a difference. Richard Williams and Hogan are totally hurt.

Midget Twins Arrive To Take Part in Fair

Mike and Ike, the only known midget twins in the world, arrived here today to take part in the entertaining of the thousands who this week will visit the Pitt county fair.

The little men are 23 years old and weigh 30 pounds each. During the world war the boys, donned the OD uniform of the American soldier, and took a prominent part in the Red Cross Liberty Loan and other drives rendering untold service to the cause. Two years they spent with Barnum and Bailey's Circus and for this season they are a part of the Famous Boyd and Lindeman Shows which will occupy the midway of the Pitt County Fair. Last week the shows closed the York, Pa., fair and began their journey southward for the fair here. The boys left the show in Washington yesterday in order to expedite their trip and arrived here today.

According to Mr. Ray Marshbrydon, manager for the midgets and press representative for the entire group of shows, the train of 35 cars will arrive in Greenville this evening and everything will be in readiness tomorrow when the sound of the bugle sets into motion the Fifth Annual Pitt County Fair.

With reference to time entertainment furnished by the midgets, Mr. Marshbrydon stated that they stage a performance that is interesting to young and old and that no one could afford to miss it. It was further stated that the midgets have an appointment six weeks hence to call upon President and Mrs. Coolidge at the White House.

The archaeologists have unearthed the nipple end of a baby's bottle made of stone, and of a shape identical with the latest in nursing bottles. The nipple also is made of stone through which a small hole is pierced, and the bottle itself is very heavy.

The Prince greeted the crowd of more than a thousand persons, who met him at the station, from the rear platform of his private car. He smiled graciously and waved his hat at the cheering townspeople.

Hoboes at Altoona Need Never Lack Good Shelter Now

Altoona, Pa., Oct. 13.—Although it's only an old barn, it has a reputation throughout the United States. It is known as Hagerty's Barn and it is located on the outskirts of Altoona.

Years ago a man named Hagerty, who lived just outside the limits of this city, owned the barn, which became a favorite stopping place for the knights of the road traveling along the route of the present Lincoln Highway. Mr. Hagerty never objected to the hoboes stopping in his barn, even after fire, believed to have been started by them, destroyed the original building. Mr. Hagerty built a new barn and when he died enjoined his heirs never to lock the building's doors to tramps. The heirs have done his bidding.

Every night from two or three to a dozen hoboes stop there. Meals are cooked nearby. Frequently the visitors do their laundry and string the clothes on ropes near the barn.

A resident of this city, traveling in the west this summer, was asked by a man from California if he knew where Hagerty's Barn was located. The Altoonan replied in the affirmative, and the western man said he had many "traveling friends" had stopped at the place.

W. C. Thomas, of Danville, Va., was here today.

PITT SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION CLOSED SUCCESSFUL MEET TUESDAY

Farmville, Oct. 13.—Uncommon interest and enthusiasm were manifested in the Pitt County Sunday School Convention which convened in the local Christian church Monday night and Tuesday, September 22 and 23.

Sunday school workers of all denominations in the county were invited, resulting in the attendance of five superintendents, six pastors, 39 teachers and officers and 12 Sunday schools represented during the convention.

Devotional services were held at each session by the different ministers and congregational singing was enjoyed. Strong local committees were back of the plans and arrangements to make the convention a success.

Miss Daisy Magee, children's division superintendent of the North Carolina Sunday School Association, of Raleigh, was on the program at each session and gave splendid talks on the following subjects: "The Challenge of the Young People," "The Masterpiece of Creation," "Accomplishing a Purpose," and "Worship in the Sunday School."

Foremost on the program of this convention was one of America's most noted Sunday school experts, D. W. Sims, of Raleigh, who is general superintendent of the State Sunday School.

Mr. Sims has a most pleasing personality and wins an audience in five minutes. He has a passion for Sunday school work and is a wonderful genius in its conduct.

A basket picnic dinner was enjoyed on Tuesday in the basement of the Christian church.

As a result of the convention a Pitt County Sunday School Association was organized on Tuesday night and the following officers were elected:

W. G. Sheppard, Farmville, president; J. B. Kittrell of Greenville, vice president, A. S. Bynum, of Farmville, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. W. G. Sheppard, superintendent of children's division; Mrs. Fred Smith, Farmville, superintendent young peoples' division; Mrs. J. L. Shackelford, Farmville superintendent adult division; Will Hooker, Greenville, superintendent administrative division.

The executive committee will decide on the next date and place for convention and notices will be sent to Sunday school leaders throughout the county.

COAST GUARD SPEED BOATS WAGE WAR ON THE RUM RUNNERS

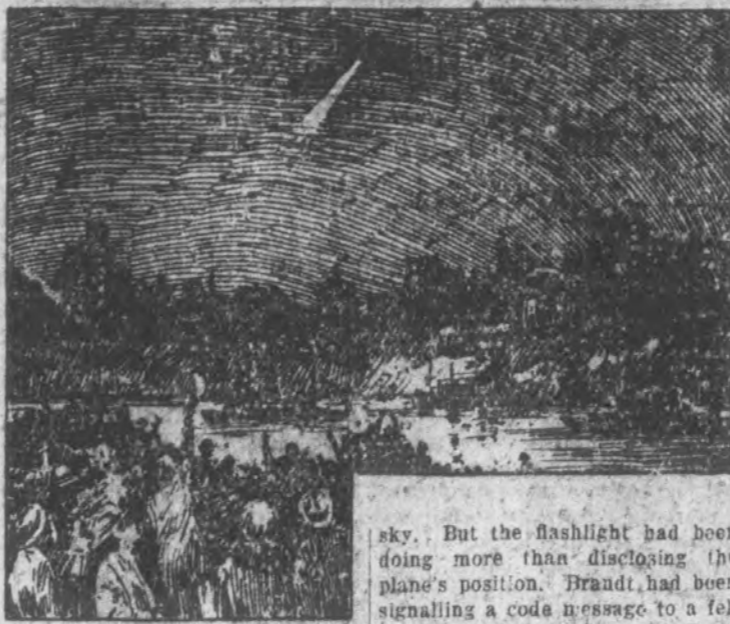

Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 11.—The thirst for alcoholic liquor again is becoming expensive here, and in all cities of the Pacific northwest, because of the government's plan to curb the transportation of illicit beverages on Puget Sound through the use of a fleet of rum hunters.

The government announcement that smugglers would be hunted down relentlessly in their traffic resulted in an immediate increase in prices. Previously whiskey prices were so low that bootleggers were making small profits.

Captain F. G. Dodge of the Coast Guard service soon will have 28 rum-hunting speed boats in operation.

Night Flight to Test Broadcasting Shows Way to Signal by Flashlight

Army Aviator Sets Out to Prove One Scientific Possibility and Proves Two.

STARTING out to prove a scientific possibility and proving something else as well, has just been the experience of Lieutenant Brandt, U. S. A. He undertook a night flight over Palisades Park, New York, to demonstrate the possibility of broadcasting from the air.

For more than an hour, 3,000 feet in the air above Manhattan, Lieutenant Brandt talked with Announcer N. T. G. of Station WHN at Palisades Park, where some thousands of people were gathered for the demonstration.

Uses His Flashlight "You're doing great, old man, but we can't see you," was the way N. T. G. addressed the plane.

Wanted you come back over the park at about 1,000 feet?"

To this Brandt replied: "I'm right over your head at a thousand feet now. There are red and green flying lights on the wings and the red light on the tail, but I have a little flashlight in my pocket and I will flash it. I am flashing it now. Do you see me?"

Opens New Signaling Field A mad cheer from 3,000 voices interrupted the conversation as the audience caught the little plane high in the air with Brandt's flashlight signals making flashes in the sky. But the flashlight had been doing more than disclosing the plane's position. Brandt had been signalling a code message to a fellow officer stationed at the Park, and this officer, Lieutenant Rasch, had read the message and informed the sender that he understood.

Both army officers expressed their surprise at discovering that the beam from the flashlight had carried 1,000 feet. It had been a generally accepted fact in air circles that a flashlight beam could be seen for 500 feet, but that it was so plain at 1,000 feet came as a startling discovery.

Says Charlotte Speed Way Will Be Equipped With Best Safety Devices

Charlotte, Oct. 10.—Prediction that the Charlotte automobile speed way, now nearing completion, will be equipped with better safety devices than any other board speed way in America, was made here this week by Richard Kennerdell of Franklin, Pa., chairman of the contest board of the American Automobile association.

Mr. Kennerdell said further that he will stipulate that many of the Charlotte safety measures be adopted on other board tracks. Perhaps the most notable of these is the steel band that is being fastened to the top guard rail, tilted at an angle so it will fend and deflect any racing car out of control that may dash to the top of the oval and try to smash through the rail.

Furthermore, a new kind of heavy wire fence is being constructed on the infield to protect spectators, should a car dash to the speedway apron headed towards the infield.

The Charlotte speedway grand stands are being constructed farther from the straight ways than any grand stands at other board tracks. This is another precaution in the event of an accident near the stands. The banks at the turns are tilted to 40 degrees to prevent possible skidding after the racing cars leave the straightaways.

Mr. Kennerdell has been chairman of the contest board of the American Automobile Association for 12 years, and the states that in all that time not a single spectator has ever been killed at an automobile race held under the rules and with the sanction of his organization. The Charlotte races on October 25 will be staged under A. A. A. rules and sanction.

NEW ENGLAND MEN MAKES RECORD IN OLD ENGLAND

London, Oct. 13.—England has a world-record layer in a Rhode Island Red hen from Wiltshire county, which produced 312 eggs in 308 days. The hen laid an egg every day for 44 weeks and on four days doubled up.

The hen was entered in egg-laying trials of the county councils show, and its performance is given by the secretary as a world's record. The hen, he said, laid every day for a fortnight before the trials opened and every day after they closed until her owner took her away. This is the second contest in which the hen has been entered. In the first she laid 22 eggs in as many days.

DUBLIN RESTORING BUILDINGS DAMAGED IN THE RECENT REVOLTS

Dublin, Oct. 9.—The Free State government has at last started rebuilding the Dublin post office destroyed in the rebellion of Easter, 1916. Work has now commenced on the old site with a view to preserving the tradition and character of the original building intact.

Dublin's next most beautiful building, the Four Courts, was destroyed in the fighting of July, 1922. The dangerous parts of the ruins have been repaired and the walls are considered good enough to justify the rebuilding of the whole edifice. The restorations so far designed are in keeping with the treatment of the original eighteenth century architect James Gandon, and stone similar to that in the original structure is being used.

DO WE WANT BASEBALL?

The question now before the people of Greenville is whether or not the city desires baseball for the coming season...

There is on foot in Eastern North Carolina a movement for a league of organized baseball and Greenville has been tendered a berth in the league...

In order that those in charge of the local situation may give immediate answer as to what may be expected of Greenville, a mass meeting has been called for eight o'clock tonight...

If Greenville is to be a part of the proposed league it is necessary that a decision be reached at once and if you are interested it is your duty to be present at tonight's meeting.

The "Fannies" as well as the "Fans" are urged to attend the meeting and lend a hand in securing baseball for Greenville for the coming season.

DAWES FALLING BACK ON ANCIENT HISTORY

To Vice Presidential Candidate Dawes' slogan, "Coolidge or Chaos," the Northwest has answered "Coolidge and Chaos" at least so far as the Republican organization there is concerned.

The Vice Presidential Candidate's peregrinations through the agrarian States where the Republican party used to be strongest has provoked the bitterest hostility to him and the Republican administration.

Interrogations concerning his connection with the failure of "Billy" Lorimer's bank, about the scandals in the Veterans' Bureau and the Department of Justice, and regarding the lease of the naval oil reserves to Doheny and Sinclair, have been hurled at him repeatedly.

In Rochester, Minn., Mr. Dawes gave the farmers who gathered to hear him a full account of a conversation between Zambeses, King of Persia, and Cyrus, his general, on the nature of leadership.

sion of Congress and gave no account of Fall's understanding with Doheny and Sinclair only twenty-five months ago.

Next Mr. Dawes quoted Socrates, the Greek philosopher and author of the Socratic method of eliciting truth by questions and answers—but he didn't imitate this fine historic example. In fact, the Vice Presidential Candidate grew very angry at the attempts to interpellate him and began to apply epithets like "pee-wit" and "blatherskite"—which was neither Socratic nor satisfactory.

One result of Mr. Dawes preference for Greek and Persian history over recent American chronicles of extravagance, graft, and corruption in the Republican Administration at Washington is the defection of Senator Brookhart and his demand that the Republican Vice Presidential Candidate resign in favor of some one who can give them more facts about Mr. Coolidge's intentions and policies and programs—if any.

BIRTHDAY OF A CONTINENT

It was 432 years yesterday that Columbus first saw the shores of the outlying islands of the Western Hemisphere. The voyage demonstrated that it was possible to sail across the Atlantic and find land at the end of the trip. That was the definite result of the effort. That was the most that Columbus could claim for himself since he did not live long enough to realize what a stupendous enterprise he had set in motion.

Even had not continents been in the way to become the theater of empires, in combating the superstition of the times and braving the supposed terrors of an unknown ocean Columbus would have been entitled to the honor of mankind. He set danger at defiance when he hoisted sail, for there were many grotesque beliefs at the time concerning what one who sailed out of sight of land might encounter.

Other voyages of discovery were quickly undertaken, but it was Columbus who pointed the way. We honor him because he was the pioneer. He dared be the first to set out to cross an ocean beset with perils even at this day and with craft incomparably better than he had. With modern knowledge and facilities few would care to hazard a voyage in such frail vessels. Had Columbus failed to get the help he sought so long another at some time would have undertaken a similar voyage and have reached the shores of America, but Columbus' fame rests on the fact established. Plenty of persons tried to dissuade the bold adventurer on the ground that the feat was impossible, even that it was contrary to scripture, but he persisted at and did it.

IS ENGLISH LOVE AS GREAT AS LATIN?

Are English natures capable of as great love as Latin? The interesting question was brought up by Elinor Glyn, when she was at the Goldwyn studios where she aided Director Alan Crosland in filming her novel, "Three Weeks," which will be the attraction at White's theatre today for 2 days.

Mrs. Glyn points out that in Latin countries there have been countless cases of supreme passionate loves, which have made history—but in English speaking countries this is very rare. She states she often used to wonder if it was because Englishmen were naturally cold, or because English women were not capable of inspiring the great passions.

Therefore when she wrote "Three Weeks" she made the man, Paul, an Englishman. But she made the Lady, a Slav—because that race possesses the passion and the intensity and the capacity of psychological deduction, more than any other.

Mrs. Glyn's novel seems to prove that Englishmen are capable of being fired by a great and complete love as men of Latin countries.

SANS SOUCI BOOK CLUB MEETS WEDNESDAY

The Sans Souci Book Club will meet Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock with Mrs. S. T. White.

ROUND TABLE HOLDS INTERESTING MEETING

The Round Table Club was delightfully entertained Saturday afternoon, Oct. 11th, by Mrs. W. B. Tilghman.

Fifteen members answered the roll call.

The business of the club was quickly dispatched by the president, Mrs. D. J. Whichard, a beloved member of the club, had tendered her resignation as a member at a former meeting and Mrs. E. W. Griffin was elected to fill this vacancy. Mrs. Whichard has been a most loyal member and it was with keen regret that we gave her up.

Mrs. Griffin served as a guest in the club last year and made a most delightful one and so we welcomed her into our club as a member with open hearts.

Mrs. Luther Hejting, chairman, of the program committee announced the subject of the afternoon study, Medical Science, and it proved most interesting indeed. Miss Nellie Denny gave a wonderful paper on Louis Pasteur. She gave an interesting idea of the development of Pasteur's genius and of the progress of his scientific discoveries and it was not until she had finished that we realized that he was one of the greatest geniuses of a century.

Mrs. R. L. Smith followed Miss Denny and she told us that she was going to tell us about another person who was equally as wonderful as Pasteur and so in her charming attractive manner she told us of the life of Madam Curie the discoverer of radium. It proved most interesting indeed.

After each member present gave a current event, Mrs. Tilghman assisted by Mrs. Perron served a very tempting salad course.

a gas capacity of 2,400,000 cubic feet, is driven by five 400-horsepower engines giving a total of 2,000 horsepower and is expected to reach a maximum speed of nearly 80 miles an hour. She is a fully equipped passenger vessel with accommodations for 30 passengers in addition to the crew, the passenger accommodation, comparing favorably with those of modern sleeping cars and including an up-to-date electrical kitchen. The passenger cabin is divided into five compartments which have large windows furnishing a wide view of the country below as the ship is in flight.

The ship will require an operating crew of about 24 men and the quarters of the crew are in the "corridor" within the envelope of the vessel while the passenger cabin and officers' quarters are secured rigidly to the keel at the forward end of the ship.

The ZR-3 was equipped in construction with the bow mooring mechanism similar to that designed in the United States for the Shenandoah. The ship may be either moored at the mast at Lakehurst or placed within the hangar already awaiting her and which is big enough to house both the German built craft and the Shenandoah at the same time. The Lakehurst hangar is so large that the Capitol at Washington could be placed within it with little difficulty or the Woolworth building in New York, lying on its side, could be easily accommodated without touching the roof or side walls.

The direct route from Friedrichshafen to the east coast of the United States is about 3,500 nautical miles. To get the advantage of favorable winds and other conditions, the ZR-3 will "Coolidge and Chaos" as far as the Republic is concerned.

The distance of approximately 3,500 nautical miles. The trip will be made with experienced German officers and men in charge. The ship carries more than 33 tons of gasoline besides her oil supplies, water for ballast and other purposes and about $50,000 worth of spare parts.

In addition to carrying 30 passengers, the ZR-3 has a lifting capacity that will permit her to be loaded with 15 tons of freight or baggage. Estimates of the cruising radius of the ship made by Zeppelin officers places the distance at a maximum of 8,600 nautical miles or a safe radius of 7,600 nautical miles without refueling. It is pointed out that practically any inhabited part of the earth can be reached from New York in less than that distance.

For the trip from Germany the ZR-3 is inflated with hydrogen gas, but under the present policy of the Washington government, helium, the non-explosive gas developed in the United States during the war, will be substituted for hydrogen before operations in the United States are undertaken.

The Zeppelin expert, estimate that under any normal condition, the ZR-3 would be able to fly from San Francisco to Honolulu and back again between Saturday morning and the following Tuesday morning, spending the entire day Sunday in Honolulu. Such a trip now requires more than 10 days by steamship yet the airship could carry 30 passengers and 15 tons of freight or baggage and make the journey as a week-end jaunt.

EXPENSIVE PILFERING.

Ischl, Austria, Oct. 9.—A woman's handbag was found recently in a local restaurant and, upon being opened, revealed 2,000,000 Austrian crowns, worth about $2,800, along with two silver coffee spoons belonging to the restaurant and marked with its name.

The proprietor advertised for the owner, but in vain. It was apparent the woman in question preferred to lose the $2,800, rather than acknowledge the pilfering of the spoons.

Modern Girls Heartily Endorsed In England

London, Oct. 13.—The modern girl, whose ways, not infrequently shocks her elders nowadays, has a staunch defender in Edward Carpenter, the poet and philosopher who renounced wealth and position half a century ago to become a socialist pioneer.

Four score years have given Mr. Carpenter ample opportunities for observing the ways of women, and he now celebrates his eightieth birthday with a paean in praise of the girl of the twentieth century. "While I am overwhelmed at the incapacity of the average man, I have nothing but admiration for the modern woman," said Mr. Carpenter. "She is a marvelous product of the age."

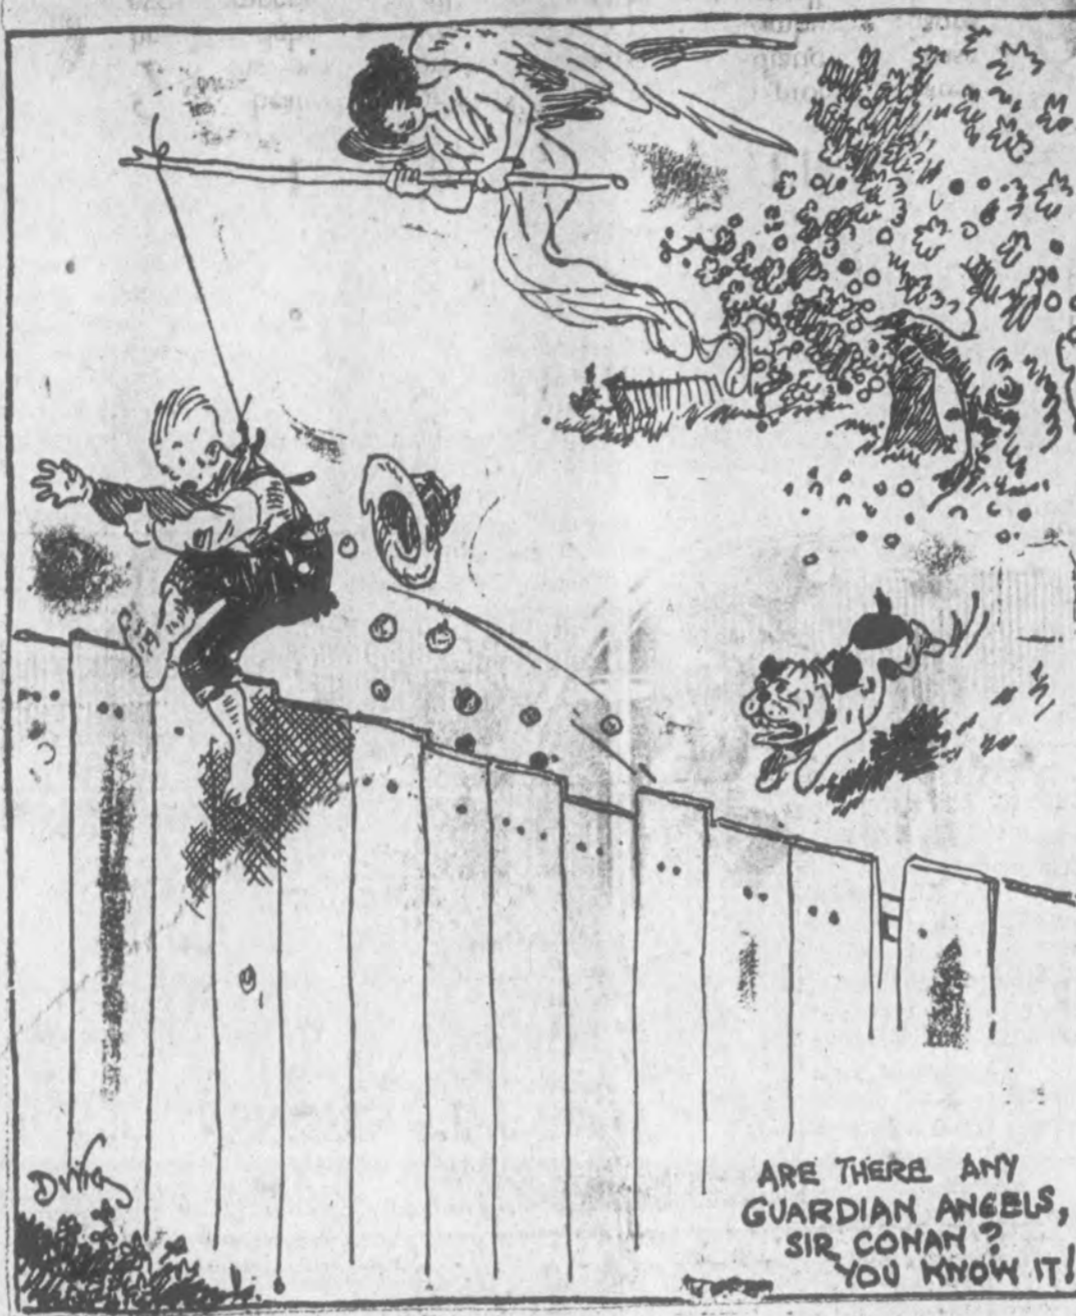

"I remember the women of the last generation and their limited lives. Dabbling with water colors, doing a little embroidery, and having no opinions whatever used to be considered not only a suitable, but the only life for a girl. In those days, if a girl had opinions on anything more important than her dresses, she was considered a freak by the other girls, and heavily sat on by the married women."

"The war offered the opportunity at the psychological moment for woman to find her freedom. Now all the problems that she has to face arise from the fact that she still is obliged to conform to certain standards that were intended for a totally different creature, the woman of yesterday."

"One of the most striking differences between this generation and the last is the way in which women say what they mean with what used to be masculine directness. They once seemed to make a point of saying what they did not mean. I never knew this was so."

Whether this is a hopeful age.

Upon their arrival at the theatre the wives were escorted into the manager's office to wait until the lights went down so that they should not be seen by vulgar eyes.
