SPIRIT OF OPTIMISM IS NOW PREVALENT IN THE DEMOCRATIC CAMPS

John W. Davis in Fourth Statement Explains Reasons Why Democrats Can Feel Confident of Victory

New York, Oct. 31.—In his fourth statement setting forth the Democratic views on the campaign issues John W. Davis, Democratic presidential nominee, explained the reasons for the spirit of optimism to-day in the Democratic camps.

"The steady increasing support now publicly being pledged by so many who heretofore have been supporters of other candidates or affiliated with other political parties is extremely heartening. Men and women of every political faith have declared their intention to vote for the Democratic ticket next Tuesday. Of course their reason is a real one.

The campaign of evasion and deception conducted by the Republicans is breaking down. They have been unable to avoid the vital issues of this campaign. Silence as their motto has failed to convince. They have been unable to divert the people from their patriotic duty and determination to have a clean, honest and efficient government.

From every section of the country these men and women who believe in integrity in time government are pledging themselves in support of the great doctrine set forth in our platform realizing that only the tried and proven Democratic party can secure that relief which is so necessary if the nation is to have restored to it a government which responds to the will of the people themselves.

Yesterday the executive committee of the Central Trades and Labor Council, a greater New York organization representing one fifth of the entire membership of the American Federation of Labor, was good enough to publicly pledge its support to Democracy. It recognizes the fact that it can depend upon the Democratic party when it is restored to power in Washington on March 4th next to redeem all its pledges, and that Senator LaFollette cannot possibly be elected next Tuesday.

Yet this is only another change in the sequence of evidence which started when the Judson County, New Jersey, Trades Council endorsed the Democratic platform and candidates. This was followed by endorsement by the International Printing Pressmen's and associate unions and hosts of independent labor organizations, by the building trades organizations and numerous others.

Now right here in New York where issues are well understood President Sullivan and his associates publicly proclaim that parties and their men should be judged by past performances. I welcome that assertion for the Democratic party stands squarely on its record and my confidence in the justice and character of the American people persuades me that the scare crowd and boogey men will not turn them from the path of duty. It is not alone in these ranks of workers that I secure in my feeling of confidence of the result of the election. Recall the list of Republicans; voters of independent political affiliations; of men and women of every walk of life, who have announced their intention to support the Democratic party at the polls next Tuesday and you have the compelling reason for the spirit of optimism outstanding today in the Democratic camp.

It has been an increasing realization on the part of the farmers that the only hope for the badly needed relief is the Democratic party. Merchants, clerks and business men also know that this is so.

Business Prospects Not As Bright As They Were Year Ago

Richmond, Va., Nov. 1.—Trade during the month of September was considerably larger than during the month of August though it was not as great as had been anticipated, according to the monthly business and agricultural review of the Fifth District issued by the Federal Reserve Bank today. Business is said to be unusually slow in opening up this year and the review notes a hesitancy and uncertainty on the part of the retailers in making forward commitments, pointing out that retailers are keeping a smaller stock in proportion to their business than is customary and are placing frequent orders for immediate delivery instead of ordering the seasonal requirement.

"Business prospects in the Fifth District, insofar as they depend upon the outcome of the crops, do not appear as bright this year as they did a year ago," says the review. "Present indications point to a 25 per cent reduction in the cotton crop in the Carolina and Virginia and cotton prices are also distinctly lower this year. The tobacco crop is much smaller than that of last year, and prices, while slightly higher in North Carolina and Virginia, will not nearly balance the reduction yield.

Albert Loeb Leaves Estate to His Widow

BRITISH CABINET WILL RESIGN POST WITHIN FEW DAYS

Decision Reached This Morning to Quit Before Assembling of the New Parliament

London, Oct. 31.—The Laborite Cabinet headed by Prime Minister MacDonald after two hours' session this morning is understood to have decided to remain in office for a few days and then to resign before the assembling of the new Parliament.

It is expected that the cabinet will resign next week rather than meet the new Parliament and be turned out upon the king's address. The desire on the part of the government to remain in office for a few days longer is due to the necessity of clearing up departmental business. Meanwhile Mr. MacDonald will spend his last week end for a long time—perhaps forever—in the Prime Minister's official rustic retreat at Chequers.

Another cabinet meeting is so far Tuesday but it is understood members of the cabinet left the premier free to decide upon their resignation before then if he so desires.

Hon. Edward Stewart to Speak in the Court House This Evening

Hon. Edward Stewart, of Washington one of the best known laymen in the state, will conduct services in the court house tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

Mr. Stewart comes to our city on an invitation from the Men's Federation. He is a splendid speaker and possesses a striking personality. The public is extended a cordial invitation to attend the services.

Delay in Application For Bonus is Costly

The War Department and the U. S. Veterans Bureau are urging veterans to file their applications for adjusted compensation without delay. Adjutant General Davis issued a statement to the press recently indicating his hope that all applications will be received long before the final date allowed by the act, Jan. 1, 1928.

The cost to the government will be very great if administrative offices are continued throughout this entire period. So far, the Adjutant General states that only about 1,300,000 of the anticipated 4,500,000 applications have been filed.

Certificates More Valuable.

The Veterans Bureau issued a circular on Oct. 11, to medical officers in charge of all veterans hospitals, pointing out the advantage of making early application. The circular states that "if a veteran whose adjusted service credit exceeds $50 dies before making application his dependents will receive only the actual amount of his adjusted service credit whereas if he had made application prior to his death the value of the adjusted service certificate would be payable to the beneficiary named by him or to his estate."

The adjusted service certificate is greater than the adjusted service credit because the "credit" means simply a credit of so much a day for each day of service, while the certificate means a 20 year endowment policy of the value that the "credit," increased by 25 per cent, would purchase if applied as a premium payment.

Would Receive Less.

If the veteran fails during his lifetime to make application for bonus, his dependents may apply after his death but before Jan. 1, 1928. They will, however, receive only the adjusted service credit, and not a "certificate" or policy. They will receive, therefore, much less than they would if the veteran had made the application.

Since veterans in hospitals are dying every day, the Bureau has instructed commanding officers in hospitals to advise every patient of the advantage of prompt applications.

After Thanksgiving Day, which will be the last day of the Roll Call, Miss Moxley, the local Red Cross Secretary, will be in her office most of the time, will assist the ex-servicemen who desire help in filling out their applications. They should bring their discharges with them, and if possible, two witnesses.

SENATE COMMITTEE CONTINUES PROBE CAMPAIGN FUNDS

American Federation of Labor Treasurer and Joseph R. Grundy Again On Witness Stand Today

Washington, Oct. 31.—Activities of the American Federation of Labor on behalf of Senator Robert M. LaFollette and operations of Joseph R. Grundy, committee collector of Republican funds in Pennsylvania outside the Pittsburgh district were further delved into today by the Washington section of the Senate Campaign Fund Investigating committee.

Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor testified that the organization had collected $23,000 and had spent $20,000 in promoting the campaign for LaFollette. He declared that all contributions were voluntary and that the regular forces of the federation headquarters here had done much of the work entailed and the expenses had been kept down by enclosing the circulars in regular letters sent out by local headquarters.

Joseph R. Grundy, Pennsylvania manufacturer and head of the Republican Ways and Means Committee in that state told the committee that the total contributions collected by him were more than $121,000 bringing the total Republican fund-raised in Pennsylvania according to previous figures given to $719,000.

Chairman Carroway drew Morrison into a long discussion of the action of the Executive Committee of the Central Trades and Labor Council last night in reversing a previous endorsement of LaFollette and coming out for Davis.

"They had a right to do that didn't they?" asked the chairman. "Would a committee of the House have a right to change a decision of the whole house?" countered Morrison. "I have had no official information but I have read that the executive board of the central organization took such action."

"You do not intend doing anything about it?" asked Carroway.

"There is no coercion on the part of any body by the American Federation of Labor" replied the witness.

Replying to further questioning by W. L. Bourland counsel for the Republican National Committee, the treasurer said that the American Federation of Labor now had $230,000.

"And you say none of that has been contributed to the LaFollette fund?" questioned Bourland.

"Yes," replied Morrison.

"No appeals were sent out to any affiliated unions in Canada?" asked Bourland.

"It might have been sent by mistake" said the witness.

"And did your organization receive by mistake any contributions from Canada to help in this progressive movement?"

"Not that I know of" was the reply.

"Isn't it a fact that appeals were sent out to internationals" asked the counsel?

"Yes," answered Morrison.

"And you say no appeals were made to Canada?"

"Instructions were issued that no appeals for campaign funds be sent to Canada" said the witness.

"Were any organizations in Canada invited to come to this country to take part in this political campaign?" questioned Bourland.

"No sir," replied Morrison.

Republican National Treasurer Testifies More Than Three Million Retained for Presidential Campaign

Chicago, Oct. 31.—Republican campaign contributions to date have totalled $3,700,000, William V. Hodges, national treasurer, testified today before the Chicago section of the Senate Campaign Investigating Committee. Of this amount $750,000 has been sent back to the states leaving nearly $3,000,000 for the presidential, senatorial and congressional campaigns.

When questioned as to the detailed report of the amounts the National Treasurer said that the returns would have to be audited without regard to the amount returned to the states. He added that he thought the question was a little unfair.

"The impression has gone out over the country" said Senator Borah, "that the last days may be the 'slush' days. I am interested as a partisan as well as a member of the committee in making the country have all the facts with all the organizations treated alike." Hodges then agreed to furnish the figures.

Samuel Untermyer, counsel associated with attorneys for Senator LaFollette said he could not quite understand the distinction of the returns to the states when it all goes to the various states in the campaign.

Hodges gave the committee a list of contributions, from states and amounts returned to then by the National Republican Committee. No funds were returned to states not mentioned in the list he said although contributions came from all the states.

Peace is Signed In New York Tong War

New York, Oct. 31.—Peace reignited in Chinatown today. News that a truce had been signed traveled through the air last night, and there was a noticeable lifting of the tension which has pervaded since the feud between On Leong's and Hip Sing tong began. The only remainder of the war, that cost the lives of eight and a score of wounded here, was the large number of "Blue Coats" who continued on their watch.

Announcement of the truce came from the Chinese Consul General, one of the leaders of the peace movement which was almost frustrated by the killing of a Hip Sing tong man almost in the shadow of the building in Chinatown where the peace parleys were being held.

Repentant Executioner Turns to Peddling Rugs

Tiflis, Russia, Nov. 1.—One of the most remarkable and notorious characters in Russia is a Russian-German named Nicholas Shuman, who is called "the Commissar of Death" by the native of Georgia. He derives this sinister title from the fact that for a long time he was the official executioner of the dreaded Cheka in southern Russia. His victims ran into the thousands.

Shuman is now remorseful for all the heads he has cleaved, and has turned from human butchering to rug-selling in the bazaars of Tiflis. He may be seen any day hawking his wares to American or other foreign visitors to the Georgian capital. He is easily identified by the natives by the fact that his harsh, determined face is marked by a deep scar, the result of a violent attack made upon him with a huge iron spike by an aggrieved Georgian whose friends Shuman had put to death.

"I killed these people," said Shuman to the correspondent, "because it was my duty as official executioner for the government to do so. I could never have done it in my personal capacity. I am repentant and want to forget the past. I want to develop my better side. Do you think there is any chance for me in America as a rug merchant? I hear you have much money there. I will take a part of it for my rug."

PROFITEERS IN GRAIN 23 CENTURIES AGO INVOKED RESTRAINT

Yalovach, Asia Minor, Oct. 29.—The remains of a massive triumphal arch believed to have been constructed in the early part of the first century A. D., Latin inscriptions of that century, and a head of Augustus in white marble, are among archeological finds which have been unearthed by the University of Michigan expedition which is excavating under the direction of Prof. David M. Robinson of Johns Hopkins University on the site of Antioch in Pisidia in Asia Minor. It was this expedition which recently uncovered the foundations of a large early Christian church.

The arch, which was recently discovered, spanned a road near the base of the large oval hill on which the city stood. The road probably connected with the highway to Lystra.

The arch had a single passage-way with a span of about fourteen feet. The piers contained arched recesses, as if for statues. They were embellished with superimposed pilasters exemplifying two varieties of the Corinthian order. These carried the main entablature, of which the architecture bore an inscription in bronze letters six inches high. Only one of the letters has been found, buried in the earth where it fell, but from the holes in which the letters were fastened it will be possible to decipher the inscription.

Important among other recent finds is the head of Augustus, which in respect to technical skill and expressiveness is reported to rival the best of the remarkable series of sculptured portraits of this emperor in European galleries.

Another interesting discovery is a long Latin inscription in which are recorded the efforts of Antistius Rusticus, a Roman governor in office near the end of the first century to control the price of grain in time of famine so as to prevent profiteering, and also to provide sufficient food until the next crop. This Antistius died in Asia Minor and his ashes were carried by his wife Nigrina in a small urn in her hands all the way to Italy. Her devotion is recorded in a famous epigram by the Roman poet Martial, who was a contemporary.

The ruins of Antioch in Pisidia are near Yalovach, northwest of Eonia, which was the ancient Iconium. Both Antioch and Iconium had much repute in the early church because of their association with the missionary work of Paul and Barnabas.

The wages paid to the workmen employed in the digging have been a godsend to the natives, many of whom were at the point of starvation owing to failure of crops in

Eight Ballot Boxes At Each Polling Place 81 Counties, Nov. 4

Raleigh, Oct. 29. — Eight ballot boxes at each polling place in the 81 counties that do not have the Australian ballot system will be required to handle the voting in the general election on November 4, says a letter of instructions sent to all the chairmen of the county boards of election by Walter H. Neal, chairman of the State Board of Elections.

The letter stated that the board had been attempting to find a means by which the number of boxes necessary for balloting could be reduced but that under the law it was found to be impossible.

The eight boxes required were described as National Box in which shall be deposited all ballots for presidential electors. Congressional box for ballots for members of Congress; State Box, in which shall be placed votes for state officers, Supreme Court judges, and Superior Court judges; county boxes for county officers; and township boxes for township officers, and the Constitutional Amendment box in which votes for or against Constitutional amendments shall be placed.

Two additional boxes are required for the two referendums. One box is to be labelled "World War Veterans Loan Fund" and the other "Establishment of Port Terminals and Water Transportation."

"The providing of two ballot boxes for the referendums," says the letter, "is made necessary by reasons of the fact that the Act to provide Port Terminals and Water Transportation (House Bill 367, Senate Bill 32, Extra Session 1924) specifically provides that a separate box shall be used especially for the ballots cast for approval or disapproval of this Act and its provisions."

ENCOURAGES THRIFT AMONG YOUNG FOLKS

We publish below a letter from The Curtis Publishing Co., written to Mr. H. A. White, secretary and treasurer of the Home Building and Loan Association.

They are doing a fine thing for the youth of the land by encouraging them to save, and their example should be followed by every father and mother.

There is no lesson of greater importance than thrift, that can be taught the youth of our community and there is no agency that offers greater opportunities to practice thrift than Building and Loan shares.

October 28, 1924. Mr. H. A. White, Sec. Home Building & Loan Ass'n, Greenville, North Carolina.

Dear Mr. White: Please bill us for the first two payments, which we understand will amount to $2.00, and an initiation fee if there is any, on a share of building and loan stock or its equivalent in smaller value shares, for William Hearne, 710 Ward street, Greenville, North Carolina.

We make this payment to impress upon this boy, who is one of our juvenile salesmen, that a dollar saved is more than a dollar earned. We offer similar payments to all boys who reach the degree of "Expert" in our boys' honor organization—the League of Curtis Salesmen.

As a leader in your community, actively interested in the encouragement of thrift, you can probably render a distinct service to this boy by speaking a word of commendation to him for his successful efforts in his Curtis work and for the good beginning that he has made in the excellent habit of thrift.

If you know of other boys in your community who would be benefited by such a relationship as we have developed with this boy, I shall be glad to have you tell me of them. The enclosed graphic chart outlines briefly our plans for vocational guidance and training.

Sincerely yours, RALPH E. MILLER, Manager The Curtis Vocational Service.

Before the play ends it is learned that Lucy, the woman whom the young Artist loved prior to his hasty marriage is the mother of the "little unwanted child," now a social favorite. Justine and her adopted brother Dave, won the admiration of the entire audience in their splendid acting. The other players took their part equally as creditable a manner. It was a clean, enjoyable comedy.

CONGRESS THE GOAT TO SAVE COOLIDGE

The Senior Senator from Pennsylvania, Mr. Pepper, recently broke out again.

Mr. Pepper first broke out in the campaign with his Maine keynote speech, in which he said, in effect, that the Cabinet was at least 70 per cent honest.

The next time he was heard from, Mr. Pepper said that President Coolidge's was a "tip-toe" diplomacy, which is the "key-hole" brand.

In a speech in Baltimore, October 18th, Senator Pepper said of the present nominally Republican Congress: "I realize that the Sixty-eighth Congress has largely been discredited. When it adjourned, people heaved a sigh of relief, tempered with some apprehension as to what it may do when it meets again."

Republican candidates for Congress over the country, who are supporting Mr. Coolidge, will not take kindly to Senator Pepper's denunciation. Republican nominees for Congress are, in most cases, members of the present Congress. Mr. Pepper says they have been discredited, yet he and other members of the Coolidge-Dawes board of strategy are asking the country to reelect the present Republican Congress along with President Coolidge. That seems to be Mr. Pepper's idea of the way to avert a condition of chaos. Yet it must be admitted that neither Mr. Pepper, President Coolidge, Mr. Butler nor any other of the administration's master minds is tearing his shirt to elect Republican members of Congress. Their main concern is to save the political skin of President Coolidge, for only by his election can the distribution of patronage be saved to the Republican machine.

PLEDGES AND RECORDS ON AGRICULTURE

If there are in the United States any farmers or other persons interested in the success of agriculture who have not yet determined how they will vote, a few plain facts of party pledges and party records should be of use to them.

The Republican party offers to appoint a committee to see if anything can be done for agriculture. There is no promise that anything will be done when the committee, if it ever shall be appointed, investigates and reports, if it ever does.

The Republican party offers, if the words of its candidate for Vice President mean anything, to adopt policies which will force the farmers to cut down his acreage and to abandon the special kind of farming that he knows best and grow a little of everything, whether it fits into his system of farming or not.

The Republican party offers a record of constant and undeviating opposition to the legislation offered in Congress in the interest of the farmer. Some Republican Congressmen and Senators friendly with the administration have voted for some agricultural measures, but after opposing them in committee and otherwise until it became apparent that they could not be defeated. Republican votes for agricultural measures have been hand wagon votes.

The third party—nameless, if not forevermore, certainly thus far—offers mainly what a certain place is said to be paved with—good intentions. Its agricultural policies "are in the clouds rather than in the clods." It talks vaguely of "eliminating" usurers, speculators and international financiers. It favors "such further legislation as may be needful or helpful." Its promises of agricultural relief show willingness—and weakness. The third party offers no record, good or bad. It has none.

Of the three parties before the people, the Democratic party alone gets down to boot and heels and bitulithic—not to mention brass tacks. The Democratic party offers a definite and an adequate program. Its main features are:

An export marketing corporation to dispose of the farmers' surplus and government encouragement by every possible means of the progress of cooperative marketing.

Lower freight rates, particularly on the bulky, cheap products.

An international policy that will reestablish the farmers' export markets.

A tariff law that will enable the farmer and all other classes to buy again in the competitive market.

Reduction of taxes, both direct and indirect.

Development of waterways for cheaper transportation and of water power for the manufacturers of cheaper fertilizers.

The Democratic party offers a record as undeviatingly favorable to agricultural interests as that of the Republican party is undeviatingly opposed to them. Some outstanding facts in that record are the Farm Loan Bank System, a clause in the Federal Reserve Bank law providing favorable borrowing terms for farmers, the Agricultural Extension Act which made an agricultural adviser available to every county, a law excepting farmers' organizations from the terms of the anti-trust act, and numerous others passed during the years when the Democratic party was in power. Equally important facts in that record are that, since the Republican party has been in power, such laws as have been passed for agriculture owe their success to Democrats—the Packers and Stockyards act, the Futures Act, increased capitol of Farm Loan Banks, and others.

Certainly, no farmer who votes for the welfare of his own family can long hesitate over the choice among these records and pledges.

Days are getting so short. Right after supper it is dark enough to go joy riding.

Falling in love and in debt are about the same.

When in doubt they once hesitated; now they toddle.

Bachelors are like automobiles—girls don't want one that has been run 10,000 miles.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

To break up a cold over night or to cut short an attack of grippe, influenza or sore throat, physicians and druggists are now recommending Calotabs, the nausealess Calomel tablet, that is purified from dangerous and sickening effects. Those who have tried it say that it acts like magic, by far more effective and certain than the old style calomel, heretofore recommended by physicians.

One or two Calotabs at bed time with a swallow of water,—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with eating, work or pleasures. Next morning your cold has vanished and your system feels refreshed and purified. Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price ten cents for the vest-pocket size; thirty-five cents for the large family package. Recommended and guaranteed by druggists. Your money back if you are not delighted.—adv.

HATTIE SHINES FOUND "NOT GUILTY" OF ARSON IN THURSDAY'S COURT

Hattie Shines, negress, charged with arson was given a hearing in yesterday's session of Pitt County Superior Court for the trial of criminal cases. After all the evidence was practically in the judge upon the recommendation of the solicitor rendered a verdict of not guilty. The solicitor stated that his recommendation came from what he considered the lack of evidence to convict the defendant, and that he deemed it unnecessary for it to go to the jury.

On the night of September 19th, six negro houses were destroyed by fire of an unknown origin. For several days it remained a mystery, when some one reported that Hattie Shines, had set fire to the store, in which the fire had its origin. The negress was arrested and placed in jail.

A number of witnesses were examined. Many facts regarding the case were brought out the defendant herself, being placed on the stand. After the case had consumed practically the entire day, the above verdict was rendered.

Two negroes charged with robbing the store of L. B. McCormick was given 8 months in jail, while another negro was given 8 months on the charge of stealing an automobile.

MRS. J. B. SPILMAN ELECTED PRESIDENT OF LOCAL CHAPTER U. D. C.

On Thursday afternoon, Oct. 29, Mrs. Mamie Cobb and Mrs. J. B. Spilman entertained the George B. Spilman Chapter United Daughters of the Confederacy at the home of Mrs. Cobb.

This was the regular annual meeting when officers were elected and reports were heard from the State Convention which met at Rocky Mount last week. The reports included not only the business sessions of the convention but also the social courtesies accorded the delegates and visitors. The local chapter being greatly interested in the educational work of the state division was glad to learn that a scholarship has been placed at East Carolina Teachers College with a prospect of others being placed here.

Mrs. J. L. Fleming, who has been president of the chapter since its re-organization several years ago, and under whose leadership the chapter has grown from seven to fifty-nine members, declined to stand for re-election much to the regret of all the members who gave a vote of thanks, and appreciation of the splendid work done by Mrs. Fleming. The officers who were elected at this meeting were Mrs. J. B. Spilman, president; Mrs. J. L. Hassell and Mrs. T. A. Person vice presidents; Mrs. Tom Hollingsworth, treasurer; Mrs. I. F. Lee, secretary; Mrs. J. L. Little, registrar; Mrs. R. R. Cotten, historian; Mrs. Ollie Clark, reporter.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94 PCT. AIR BEATS ELECTRIC OR GAS

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, ever better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise, pumps up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94 per cent air and 6 per cent common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, S. G. Johnson, 642 N. Broad St., Philadelphia is offering to send a lamp on 10 day's free trial, or even to give one free to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

"Seventh Heaven" Proves Masterpiece of Stage; Coming

Concluding a brief speech on the subject of theatrical attractions on the road, made at the close of the second act at the Academy of Music last night, John Golden modestly said he hoped he had satisfied the audience with his production of Austin Strong's "Seventh Heaven." He had—and much more. For he had presented a strange and beautiful play, flawlessly mounted, and interpreted and vivified by a company all ways excellent and frequently brilliant. "Brilliant" is certainly not too large a word with which to describe Remy Carpen, who began to flash last season in "Thank-U" and who is now blazing in "Seventh Heaven." There will be more concerning her.

Mr. Strong's play is a striking blend of the sordid and sublime, the comic and heroic, the trite and the hitherto unwritten. A man who makes his living in the sewers of Paris, a French drainman, is sordid enough; a pottering old cabby turned taxi driver is comic enough; a youngster leaving his sweetheart to go to war is trite enough. But the drainman and his development and the taxi driver's description of the army in taxicabs rushing to the relief of Paris and the youngster's sweetheart, as she is written by Austin Strong—all these constitute what hitherto has been unwritten.

Only an outline of the story must suffice. Nana and Diane are sisters, living amid wretchedness. Nana is an absinthe drinker, a killer, a thief and a sinister figure; Diane loathes their life and would escapes from it.

"Seventh Heaven" will be presented all the week at the Academy of Music, with Wednesday and Saturday matinees. Not to see it will be to miss the theater of today at its best.

CHINA WITHDRAWS BAN AGAINST STUDENTS COMING TO AMERICA

Peking, Oct. 24.—The minister of education had rescinded his recent instruction to the provincial authorities that the sending of students to America be discouraged, in order to avoid "a special intellectual influence growing up in China as a result."

In his new instruction the minister says: "A letter has been received from the ministry of foreign affairs, stating that the American State Department has instructed its consuls in China to issue non-immigrant passports to students going to America for the purpose of study in those institutions recognized by the United States government. Thus, since the obstacle has been removed, examinations should be held as usual without suspension."

"Alive" after the day's work? Requires Active Feet

"First you must sell yourself, your personality," declares the big business man. And he proceeds to prove his statement by fairly overwhelming his own "market" with his great vitality and personal vigor. He keeps his body fit, and he makes it work for him. He has active, useful feet. He'll tell you they're worth a cool million to him.

Good feet are easy to have. Just give your feet the proper support for the delicately-formed weight bearing structure of the arch, let them stand on a tread-base which doesn't cramp the bones, nerves or blood-vessels, and you'll have good feet. The Arch Preserver Shoe, with its real "chassis," gives such support, because of its built-in bridge, and also provides this easy tread-base because of its flat inner sole. Ordinary shoes with bending arch and cup-shaped inner sole can't possibly do what this shoe does.

Foot health, foot vigor, foot comfort—yet you have the smartest of style, finest of leathers, and best of workmanship. Here's shoe talk with a real moral.

Widener Jeers Prince on Witness Stand.

JOSEPH R. WIDENER
PRINCE YOUSOUPOFF
 Joseph R. Widener, millionaire financier, sportsman and art collector, of Philadelphia, sued in New York by Prince Felix Youssouppoff, of Russia, for the recovery of two Rembrandt paintings valued at $1,000,000, which the Prince claims he pawned to Mr. Widener for $520,000, but which Mr. Widener claims he bought outright, jeered Youssouppoff from the witness stand, calling him the "Joke of Europe," and adding that "any man who paints his face and blackens his eyes is a joke." Prince Youssouppoff, he declared, was exiled from Russia for murdering the mysterious monk, Rasputin, who held mystical sway over the late Czar and Czarina.
