FORMER GOV. KITCHIN DIED EARLY YESTERDAY AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Funeral Services Held in Scotland Neck This Afternoon; State Offices Closed and Flags at Half Mast

Scotland Neck, Nov. 10.—The funeral services for former Governor William Walton Kitchin, who died at his residence here at 3 o'clock Sunday morning, will be held from the Scotland Neck Baptist Church, of which he was a member, at 4 o'clock this afternoon with Dr. R. T. Yann officiating.

Governor Kitchin had been ill for many months and his death had been expected for some time. His long fight against an incurable disease was attributed by his physicians to his unusual vitality. Friday he suffered a sinking spell and his family were called to the bedside. Physicians expected death before morning but he survived the night and was reported to be better and resting easier Saturday morning. Later he suffered a relapse and sank rapidly.

The governor is survived by his widow, four daughters, Mrs. William T. Joyner, of Raleigh; Mrs. E. L. Travis, Jr., Halifax, and Misses Elizabeth and Musette Kitchin; one son, Clement Kitchin; four brothers, J. Arrington, Leland M. T. A. and Dr. T. D. Kitchin, and two sisters, Mrs. A. McDowell and Mrs. Annie Kitchin McDowell, all of Scotland Neck.

Sketch of Life. William Walton Kitchin, former governor of North Carolina, was born at Scotland Neck October 9, 1866, a son of Captain (C. S. A.) William H. and Maria F. (Arrington) Kitchin. His father represented the Second North Carolina District in the Forty-Sixth Congress and William W. Kitchin was a member from the Fifth North Carolina District from the Fifty-Fifth to the Sixtieth Congresses. His brother Claude Kitchin, represented the Second North Carolina District from 1901 until his death in May 1923.

Governor Kitchin received his A. B. degree from Wake Forest College in 1884, and the following year became editor of the Scotland Neck Democrat. While in newspaper work he studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1887, and began practice at Roxboro in 1888. He was a member of the law firm of Manning and Kitchin at Raleigh until he withdrew in June 1919 on account of ill health. The degree of LL.D. was conferred on him by the University of North Carolina. William W. Kitchin served as chairman of the Democratic County Executive Committee in 1890, was nominee for State Senate in 1892, and after his last term in Congress he was elected and served as governor of North Carolina from 1909 to 1913.

On December 22, 1892, he married Musette Satterfield, of Roxboro.

Raleigh, Nov. 10.—The capitol building was closed at 3 o'clock this afternoon in honor of the late Governor W. W. Kitchin who died Sunday morning at his home in Scotland Neck.

Governor Morrison, who is now in New York City, was yesterday informed by wire of Governor Kitchin's death and he ordered the flags on all state buildings lowered to half mast.

British political experts declare, unless there is some untoward incident to upset it, the new Ministry of Stanley Baldwin has such a majority in Commons that it will last for five years. Already they are seeking untoward incidents in the appointment of Winston Spencer Churchill, the maverick of English politics for twenty years, as Chancellor of the Exchequer. Churchill is an unbending foe of socialism, a free trader, and was not even in the Tory party until this election. Among other Ministers appointed by Mr. Baldwin are: Sir William Joynson-Hicks to be Home Secretary, Neville Chamberlain to be Minister of Health, Colonel L. C. M. S. Amery to be Secretary for the Colonies, Sir Samuel Hoare to be Air Minister, and Viscount Cave to be Lord Chancellor.

CASE FOR RECOVERY OF GERMAN DYE PATENTS HAS BEEN REOPENED

Government Seeks Return of Property on the Ground That Sale Was Illegal and Price Inadequate

Philadelphia, Nov. 10.—Argument was begun in United States Court of Appeals today in the suit of the Federal Government to have returned to it approximately 5,000 German dye patents, trade marks and copyrights seized by the Alien Property Custodian during the war and sold to the Chemical Foundation, Inc. Action was brought in federal court at Wilmington, Delaware, two years ago and after a long hearing Judge Hugh M. Morris last January dismissed the suit.

It was the contention of the government that the sale was illegal and that the price, approximately $271,000 was inadequate.

REV. LELAND SMITH CONDUCTS Y. W. C. A. SERVICES AT COLLEGE

Rev. Leland Smith conducted the Y. W. C. A. service of East Carolina Teachers College Sunday evening.

His theme was "Making Room for Christ," showing that just as there was no room for Christ in the inn so there is no room for Him in the lives of some people. He said he was not talking of those who do not love Christ but of His friends who are crowding Him out of their lives. Business and pleasure are so great that many people fail to read their Bible daily and fail to pray. Yet they profess to be christians.

Mr. Smith impressed upon the young women that as teachers they have a wonderful opportunity of making room for Christ in the hearts and lives of other people and he pleaded with them not to disappoint Him.

His illustrations brought the sermon home to the students because they were so intimately connected with life.

TROOPS ORDERED TO SCENE OF RACE RIOT

Clash at Dix River Dam, Ky., Resulted From Slaying of White Man Last Night

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 10.—National Guard troops were hurriedly dispatched to Dix River Dam in Mercer County about 25 miles southeast of Frankfort early today when reports of race riots reached the office of the adjutant-general here.

The trouble is believed to have started with the robbery and slaying last night of Edward Winkle, 35 year old dam worker. Winkle was shot to death by a negro called "Jelly Roll" peace officers were informed.

Just how many guardsmen went to the scene could not be ascertained this morning. Capt. Carl Norman, of Frankfort, is understood to have taken all the men that could be assembled up to 4 o'clock and departed. Individual guardsmen still in Frankfort said they had received orders this morning to be ready for immediate duty.

A dispatch from Lexington this morning told of the arrival there of 19 negroes from Dix River construction camp. All of them said they had been driven from the camp by a mob of farmers and white laborers who were armed with clubs, sticks, pistols, shotguns and other weapons.

SEN. HENRY CABOT LODGE DIED CAMBRIDGE, MASS. JUST BEFORE MIDNIGHT

PROHIBITION TEST CASE BEGINS TODAY

Congressman Hill, of Baltimore, Wishes Court to Define "Intoxicating Liquor"

Baltimore, Nov. 10.—Before the case of Representative John Phillip Hill, the Baltimore member of Congress who is charged with violation of the Volstead Act in manufacturing and possessing wines and cider, was called in United States circuit court here today Mr. Hill said he would not deny any of the material facts in the case.

"What we are after," he said, "is an interpretation of section 20 of the Volstead Act as it applies to wines and cider. It is possible that the court may rule that less than one half of one per cent as regulated in the Volstead Act applies to home-made wines and cider. In that case I would expect to be found guilty and the case would be carried on through appeal to a higher court. If the court agrees with officials of the prohibition unit as evidenced by letters which I have in my possession from them that he one half of one per cent provision does not apply then we will expect the jury to determine what is intoxicating in the fact."

The indictment against Mr. Hill contains six counts which are the result of the manufacture by him of home fruit wine and cider which he said contained 2.75 per cent alcohol the purpose being an effort to have legally defined the phrase "intoxicating liquor" as it occurs in the Volstead Act.

Veteran Statesman and Outstanding Figure in the Republican Party Passes Away at the Age of 74

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 10.—Senator Henry Cabot Lodge died at the Charles Gate Hospital last night at 11:14 o'clock. He suffered a stroke on Wednesday, November 5.

Stricken at about noon Wednesday, the senior Senator from Massachusetts lingered for four and one-half days before the end came. During the greatest part of the time he had been in a state of coma, but after nearly 48 hours of unconsciousness he awoke for a time to take a little nourishment and recognized persons in the room.

The hope that revived for a time faded, however, as he lapsed again into unconsciousness and gradually grew weaker. Never from the outset did his physicians offer encouragement in their bulletins. They did, however, comment upon the vitality that was enabled him to survive so long.

It is noted to death was similar to that of President Wilson, the original complaint being similar and the stroke that brought on the end much the same.

The Senator had attended the Republican convention at Cleveland, at which his former leadership of the State forces was divided between Speaker Gillett and Governor Cox, but within a month suffered a condition that required an emergency operation on July 27. Recovery was surprisingly good and three months later a second operation was performed. Again the Senator's stamina stood him in good stead and he was out of bed October 23, three days after the operation.

With the re-opening of Congress only three weeks ahead, Senator Lodge was planning to leave the hospital in a few days and get ready to take his seat when the stroke came. It left him unconscious and in a condition so critical that death was considered likely at any time. Senator Lodge had four years still to serve in the United States Senate, where he had represented his State continuously for 31 years. His place will be filled by appointment, Governor Cox having authority under a legislative act passed two years ago to name a successor until the next general election. That will not take place until 1926.

Word of the Senator's death brought tribute from many places. Senator David I. Walsh, Democrat, who shared with him, representation of Massachusetts in the upper house said: "Massachusetts has lost a statesman and a scholar who added, more to her prestige than any other man in the last half century."

Funeral services will be held at the home of Dr. William Sturgis Bigelow, life long friend of the Senator and member of the class of '71 at Harvard. Burial will take place in the Lodge family plot in Mount Auburn cemetery, Cambridge.

ANSWER TO THE ROLL CALL

Six years ago tomorrow the last gun was fired on the banks of the Meuse and the greatest conflict in the annals of mankind passed into history. All over the world joybells pealed forth the tidings. The American nation knelt in prayerful thanksgiving in the midst of its wild rejoicing and pledged eternal honor to its heroes.

Tomorrow in almost every town and hamlet of the United States that memorable event will be fittingly commemorated. The khaki will be donned again by the boys who followed the flag, while they march down the streets of American amidst a thunder of applause.

Ceremonies, speeches, sham battles, and all the ingenuity of America will be used to give expression to unbounded gratitude for those who wrote this day in the country's history.

In a hundred proud communities, enough finely wrought marble to build a mansion will be unveiled to the public gaze for the first time. The whole world will live over again the fine deeds, heroism and sacrifice which brought a termination to the world's worst holocaust.

The signing of the armistice six years ago ended the war, but no power on earth was capable of ending with a stroke of the pen the awful misery of the victims of the strife. No entente could restore health and happiness to America's heroes whose youth was blasted in the struggle.

To mend the wounds of war, over 700 southern communities are paying silent tribute to the disabled veterans by answering the annual Roll Call of the American Red Cross. For millions of survivors of the conflict the Greatest Mother has proved in the last year an enduring friend. For thousands of others who will need her services in the coming year, she must carry on.

The Armistice has meant no cessation of work for her. She has opened wide her arms to help every veteran that needs assistance, and has broadened her activities to relieve suffering wherever disease or disaster threatens human life. Orphans, widows, and all who suffer today find in her the same true friend that followed 2,000,000 khaki-clad youths from the training camp to transport, from transport to front-line trenches; back to the hospitals, and home again, there still to prove a tried friend in their time of need.

No more fitting tribute can be paid to America's great legion of honor than to celebrate this memorable victory by a practical application of our appreciation and regard for those who won it.

STANLEY BALDWIN AGAIN PREMIER

Mr. Stanley Baldwin returns to office as Prime Minister of Great Britain after a short respite as the head of the Unionist opposition. He was thoroughly discredited when he gave up the Premiership after his rash plunge on protection. Among his own followers there were then murmurs against his party leadership. But there was no one else to whom they could turn. The party was not rich in talent of the first order.

Now Mr. Baldwin comes back to power with a substantial majority. He will be in no such insecure position as Mr. Ramsay MacDonald was. The opposition is not only helpless but divided by the party differences. Except for some disastrous turn of fortune the new Unionist Government should last out its full Parliamentary term. It will be its own fault if it does not.

In selecting his Cabinet Mr. Baldwin did not have a rich supply of material to draw on. He has been cold to the demands of the die-hards, and that bodies trouble in the future. He has shelved Lord Curzon, a wise move. He has rewarded Winston Churchill, a new recruit, who has energy, audacity and is clever in debate. He has made use of the Chamberlains, Austen and Neville, and other party fixtures in the distribution of offices.

Once established, the Baldwin Government will find that it has inherited old domestic troubles that it had passed on to Labor—unemployment, for instance, a problem no party has come near solving. Agriculture is in a bad way. The housing question is not settled. Mr. Baldwin's one comfort in all weather, foul or fair, must be that he has an unshakable Unionist majority back to him.—N. Y. World.

JUST MARRIED

"Just Married," the honeymoon farce comedy which comes to White's Theatre Nov. 18, owes much of its popularity to the manner in which it was produced by Jules Hurlig and the Messrs. Shubert. Those who are looking for honest laughter and who want to drive dull care away, will find what they are looking for in this comedy by Adelaide and Anne Nichols. "Just married" ran for two solid years in New York; it was shown for six months in Chicago; it played four months in Philadelphia; and it just recently completed run of five months in Boston, the longest engagement ever known in the Hub city for farce comedies. This is the only company presenting "Just Married" and it will be presented here exactly as seen in the four mentioned cities. The staging was done by Clifford Stark.

NEW METHOD HEALS PYORRHEA
Ten Year Bad Case Completely Healed in a Short Time
Writes Florida Woman

Faced with the loss of her teeth, after 10 years' suffering, Mrs. M. J. Travis, an esteemed resident of Jacksonville, declares she finally saved her teeth by a simple home treatment: "worth its weight in gold." using her own words: "After having pyorrhea for 10 years, my mouth is now healed. Before I found out differently, I was told there was no relief and had yielded to the loss of six fine solid teeth. Then I discovered Moore's pyorrhea treatment. Three days after starting its use, the soreness left my gums; my teeth began to tighten. Now my teeth are clean, my breath sweet, and my mouth completely healed."

The experience of Mrs. Travis is duplicated in hundreds of other cases. If you have pyorrhea—or threatened with pyorrhea—your teeth are in danger. Quick and effective treatment is necessary. You can test, without money risk, the treatment used by Mrs. Travis. Simply write the Moreham Co., 1107 Gateway Station, Kansas City, Mo. Under their guarantee of refund send two dollars. Or, pay postman the $2. with few cents postage. Use the treatment 7 days. Then if you are not wholly satisfied, write to that effect and your $2 will be returned at once.

Armistice Day Last Chance for Officers Enter Reserve Corps

Raleigh, Nov. 10.—Armistice Day marks the last chance that former officers of the World War will have to enter the United States Officers Reserve Corps without a mental examination and in the same rank as they held when mustered out of service. It was announced here at headquarters of the 32nd Infantry by Colonel James M. Little, executive officer.

After midnight of Armistice Day all persons entering the Reserve Officers Corps will be required to take a complete examination, both mental and physical, and will be commissioned only in the rank of second lieutenant, so reads the latest orders of the War department. This date is said to be positively final in which special privileges to ex-officers will be granted. The time limitation on this privilege originally expired on November 11, 1923, but due to the many requests for the extension of the time, the War Department extended the time until November 11, 1924.

Colonel Little points out that only about 380 officers of the Reserve Corps are now in the 32d Division in North Carolina and about 350 officers of the reserves in the Fourth Army Corps in North Carolina, while there should be many more. Other states are forging ahead in this field, he said, including Georgia and South Carolina, the latter state having 550 in the Fourth Army Corps.

While the officers at headquarters are being over-worked to take care of the eleventh hour rushes as they were last year, Colonel Little has extended his assistance to all former officers of the World War who wish to enter the Reserve Corps, and will receive applications until mid-night of Nov. 11, 1924. These applications may be made in person, by letter or by wire, to the executive officer at headquarters here in Raleigh.

According to Colonel Little, former officers should enter the Reserve Corps within the next two days in order to keep the file system to their credit, for them they will get their former rank and have an early start on the files, otherwise graduates of the C. M. T. C. and the R. O. T. C. of colleges will be their seniors when they enter later.

TOOLS OF FAMOUS INVENTORS UNDISTURBED FOR 150 YEARS

London, Nov. 10.—Negotiations are expected to be completed shortly whereby the garret in Heathfield, Hall, Handsworth, in which James Watt conducted the experiments which led to the development of the steam engine, will be brought bodily to London to be perpetuated in the South Kensington Museum.

Watt first went to Heathfield Hall in 1768. After his death the room in which he worked was locked and remained unopened for many years, and his tools and benches, even the leathern apron in which he worked and which remains in the same spot in which he placed it, have remained undisturbed.

Notice is hereby given that Jesse B. Hardee on account of moving to Greenville, N. C., will on Thursday, November 20th, 1924 sell at public sale for cash to the highest bidder all of the personal property, including team, all kinds of farming implements, corn, fodder, hay, hogs, cows and household and kitchen furniture. This sale will be made on the premises, of Jesse B. Hardee in Chieftownship near Black Jack, and will begin at 10 o'clock a. m.

This will be a good opportunity for persons desiring to purchase any of the above personal property to purchase the same at a bargain. JESSE B. HARDEE. 6 8 10 12 14 17 18

Watt conducted the experiments which led to the development of the steam engine, will be brought bodily to London to be perpetuated in the South Kensington Museum.
