FAREWELL SESSION OF 68TH CONGRESS STARTED AT NOON

Indications Are That Little Legislation Beyond Appropriations Bills Will Be Acted Upon

Washington, Dec. 1.—The Sixty-Eighth Congress assembled today for its farewell session with little prospect for transacting any important business beyond passage of the annual appropriations bill.

The gavel fell at noon, President Pro Tem Cummings, of Iowa, presiding in the Senate and Speaker Gillette in the House.

Washington, Dec. 1.—After a six months rest the Sixty Eighth Congress reassembled today to retrace in its last and short session the turmoil and strife which characterized its first and prolonged gathering.

Only brief meetings of each house were arranged for today with a program fixed for prayer, roll call, discharges, swearing in of new members and appointment of committees to notify the president that Congress was ready to receive communications from him, presentation and adoption of resolutions on the deaths of members during the recess and adjournment out of respect for dead members.

There will be a further marking of time tomorrow pending receipt of President Coolidge's annual message for reading to each house separately.

On Thursday the real work of the session will begin but how much can or will be accomplished before automatic adjournment March 4 remains the big question in the minds of all leaders alike.

Chief attention will be given the appropriation bills but whether all these will be disposed of is now by no means certain. Much general legislation is still pending and there will be some strong pressure considering a number of measures on which there is a wide division of opinion among members. This big difference of opinion is not wholly due to the legislative field for the recent national election added scores of differences which apparently aggravated the action of the Senate Republicans in reading out of their party council Senator LaFollette, of Wisconsin and his Senate lieutenants, Senators Ladd, Brookhart and Frazier. While leaders of the House Republicans have no present intention of taking like action with respect to LaFollette followers it is admitted that the action of the Senate has had its effect there and will serve to widen the breach between the regular and insurgent Republicans so apparent in the last sessions.

New Railway Station Movement Charlotte Receives Quiet

Charlotte, Dec. 1.—The talk of a new railway station at Charlotte, insofar as the railroad officials are concerned received its quietus during the past week when President Fairfax Harrison, in a brief stop-over here declared that the present station would meet the needs of Charlotte for years to come. The president attributed this to the fact that the bus lines are getting the most of the local travel and that the greatest use to which railroad stations are put is a waiting room for local travelers.

The Southern president promised, however, that as soon as proper bids could be received the Southern would erect an office building for its lines past general office.

DEMOCRATS NOT TO OUST WHEELER SAYS SENATOR ROBINSON

Makes Statement in Reply to Inquiry Whether Democrats Will Follow Republican Action

Washington, Dec. 1.—"There is to be no effort at this time to formally read Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, out of the Democratic party," Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, Democratic leader, so announced today in reply to inquiries as to whether Senate Democrats would follow the lead of the Republicans who have excluded from party council Senator Robert M. LaFollette, of Wisconsin, with whom Wheeler was associated on the Independent ticket.

Senator Robinson said there was no occasion to call a conference of Senate Democrats and that there would be a meeting only of the steering committee to fill vacancies on standing committees of the Senate.

Only About $200.00 Raised in Annual Red Cross Drive

Greenville has not responded to the Annual Red Cross Call as was anticipated by National Headquarters.

During the recent Tornado in Martin County, Pitt County was the heaviest contributor. In times of need this county as a whole has "come across," but this year, when the Red Cross organization in this county raised their quota to three thousand ($3000) the amount needed to run through another year it fell down badly.

The small towns have kept up to about the average of other years but to date only about two hundred has been raised in this city.

Since the war, Pitt County Chapter has been running on the money left from the war drives, but that fund is about exhausted and unless more than usual is raised this year, the Executive Committee fears that Red Cross work will have to be discontinued.

Wednesday morning, December third, the final canvass will be made. Some parts of the town have not been solicited at all and it is the hope of the committee, that we will be able to raise at least a portion of the quota set.

When the solicitors call at your home, or office, on Wednesday morning, remember that Red Cross work is as necessary now as it was during the war. Six years after the war there are many cases of the ex-soldier who is at the breaking point and needs help. All these years, after the Civil War, we are still helping to maintain the homes for these veterans. Should we forget so soon the boys of the world war.

QUIET ENGLISH RIVER REWARDS PATIENTS FISHERS OF PEARLS

Strathyre—Fresh water pearl fishers may be seen daily at work in the waters of the river Balvaig, seeking the mussel shells, that occasionally conceal pearls.

They use a tin can, with the bottom removed and a glass substituted, for locating the shells in the river bed, and a long V-shaped stick at one end for bringing the shells to the surface. Occasionally a gem of value is obtained; one such recently was sold to a jeweler for $100.

GOV'NOR MORRISON TODAY COMMUTES CARTER SENTENCE

Former Danville Insurance Man Will Serve Life Sentence for Slaying His Wife

Raleigh, Dec. 1.—The sentence of Austin Carter, former Danville, Va., insurance man sentenced to die in the electric chair here tomorrow morning, was commuted to life imprisonment by Governor Cameron Morrison this afternoon on recommendation of Judge T. C. Bryson, trial judge, and eleven members of the jury that tried Carter. Carter was convicted for the murder of his wife.

The recommendation of the judge and jurors, stated that there was some doubt as to the mental condition of Carter at the time of the killing.

Raleigh, Dec. 1.—"If by dying I could bring back my dead wife and if it was not for the disgrace my electrocution would bring upon my poor children, I would prefer death to life. Austin Carter, former Danville, Va., insurance man, who is to be executed at state prison tomorrow morning for the murder of his wife, told newspaper men this morning.

Carter talked to the reporters for half an hour giving his version of the killing of his wife at Reidsville, December 8, last year. He did not show the slightest nervousness when the fact that he is to die tomorrow was mentioned. He was cool and collected throughout the interview except that his voice cracked and his eyes filled with tears when he referred to his little children who are in the Masonic Orphanage at Oxford.

Carter declared that he was mentally unbalanced when he shot his wife. "I do not remember a thing from the time I went to her mother's home and stopped until I was arrested sitting in my car in front of my home near Danville the following morning," he said.

Carter then reviewed his married life leading up to the killing. He married the woman with whose death he is charged, in 1913. This, he said, was his second marriage. He was 43 years old at the time and his wife 20. He is now 53. He related how his wife had left him from time to time and how when he had finally gone to see his children when his mother-in-law and sister-in-law had attacked and had him arrested on the finding of an unloaded pistol in his car. Carter said he had come to the house to seek reconciliation at the time of the killing.

Carter, who had not yet seen his spiritual adviser, told reporters today that he had been a member of the Baptist church for years. "I have always led a christian life and am ready to die," he declared. He said he was a member in good standing of the Masonic, Odd Fellows, Woodmen of the World and Red Men's fraternal orders. He was also a veteran of the Spanish American war.

FOUR PERSONS LOSE LIVES NEW YORK FIRE

Three Women and One Man Perish When Fire Sweeps Big Rooming House; Dozen Injured

New York, Dec. 1.—Four persons, three of them women, lost their lives this morning in a fire which swept a five-story rooming house on West Sixty Third street. Twelve others were injured, some of them probably fatally.

One woman was killed when she leaped from the roof of the burning building. The bodies of two other women were found in the hallways of the third and fourth floors. A man's body was found on the top floor landing.

Detectives have instituted a search for a motorman whose trolley car cut the hose line across Columbia avenue. The serving of the hose delayed the combatting of the flames for several minutes.

SENATOR JONES NAMED REPUBLICAN WHIP TO SUCCEED SEN. CURTIS

Washington, Dec. 1.—Senator Wesley L. Jones, of Washington, was named today as Republican "Whip" in the Senate.

The selection was made by Senator Curtis, of Kansas, newly elected leader of the majority. Senator Jones is chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee and has long been high in Republican Senate councils. In the capacity of "whip" it will be his chief duty to assist leaders in maintaining a quorum.

There had been a suggestion that Senator Watson, of Indiana, recently chosen assistant leader, combine that office with the duty of party whip but the plan was abandoned.

NEGOTIATIONS FOR FUNDING WAR DEBT TO BE CONTINUED

American Commissions Orders Treasury Secretary to Continue Discussions With French Ambassador

Washington, Dec. 1.—The American Debt Funding Commission today went over the results of informal conferences regarding the French debt recently held between French Ambassador Jusserand and Secretary Mellon, but reached no conclusion.

It was announced after the committee adjourned, however, that the French government is desirous of attempting to reach some terms and that discussions be continued between Secretary Mellon and the French Ambassador.

Members of the committee were given complete account of France's position as represented by Ambassador Jusserand. The discussions have been toward the establishment of a maximum limit to which France may go in any refunding agreement as well as developing the lowest limit to which the United States may agree.

Raleigh Policemen to Have Fancy Dress Ball, December 17

Raleigh, Dec. 1.—The Raleigh policemen will tell the cock-eyed world that they're going to strut their stuff on the night of December 17.

There's to be a fancy dress ball given at the City Auditorium on the evening of that particular date for the benefit of the local guardians of the law. The proceeds from the sale of tickets will go to the Raleigh policemen's Christmas fund, the money to be equally divided and distributed among the braves. The dance is being managed by a committee of leading citizens.

The policemen will do their bit toward making the affair a success by giving an exhibition of fancy police drills and doing other stunts. Following their performance, the hall will be turned over to the younger set for a dress ball.

Working in shifts, the officers will lay aside their duties of protecting the citizenry from bootleggers, bandits, bums and other non respectors of the law long enough to report at the City Auditorium to do their daily dozen for the amusement of the spectators.

Indications are that there will be a record crowd on hand for the policemen's entertainment. If any citizen has not been seen in regard to purchasing a ticket, such citizen evidently was out of the city. The policemen and the promoters of the ball have been engaged in distributing the pastboards at 50 cents each for spectators and $2 for the dancers. Already more than 1200 tickets have been sold with returns from all selling fronts, not yet in.

The committee who has the dance in charge, includes: John Bikle, secretary of the local Merchants' Association; Jeff Fountain, Chief Marshall at the Recent State Fair and leader of the Marshall's Ball; Joseph Daniels, Jr., Business Manager of the Raleigh News and Observer; Al Leach, Bunny Newsom, Meredith Mosely, Barbour Toler and other young business men of Raleigh.

EGYPT ACCEPTS BRITISH TERMS

Announcement Is Made That Terms Imposed by Great Britain for Killing of Stack Accepted

Cairo, Egypt, Dec. 1.—Although not yet officially announced it is understood authoritatively that the Egyptian government has accepted all the demands made by the British at the time of the assassination of Major Gen. Sir Lee Stack.

The acceptance came after a series of conferences yesterday. The first immediate consequence of the acceptance will be the evacuation of the British from the Alexandria customs house. The minister of Education and Minister of Public Works have resigned and it is expected that the Minister of Communications will follow. Mustafa Nahas, former minister and a number of other lawyers have addressed letters to the public prosecutor protesting against the arrest of members of the Chamber of Deputies in connection with alleged plots against the British and demanding their release.

London, Dec. 1.—Egypt has agreed to the outstanding terms which were previously unacceptable as laid down by Great Britain after the assassination of the Sirdar, Sir Lee Stack. A message to this effect it was learned from an authoritative source has been received from Lord Alenby, British High Commissioner in Egypt.

The demands which the Egyptian government at first refused to accept were that all the Egyptian troops and officers withdraw from the Sudan, that increased irrigation be permitted in the Sudan and that opposition cease to British wishes concerning protection of foreign interests in Egypt.

After the Egyptian government refused to accept the terms the British authorities themselves ordered Egyptian troops to evacuate the Sudan and some of them left.

TYSON RE-UNION LARGELY ATTENDED THANKSGIVING DAY

Annual Occasion at Tyson Church Proves Great Success

The annual reunion of the Tyson family was held at the Tyson church on Thanksgiving day, Nov. 27, 1924, the attendance being estimated at between three and four hundred.

This ideal spot was chosen as the annual meeting place because of its central location of the clan and the historic spot; to-wit: The old church which was built by Sherrod Tyson, the great grandfather of Gen. Tyson of Tennessee, Abner Tyson of Greenville, N. C., and many others. It was here the old people assembled to worship their maker and it is there we, the younger ones love to come annually, not only to revere their memory but to keep the spark of love thus kindled by them aglow and to touch elbow to elbow with our kindred, perpetuating thereby the name of Tyson who came to our beloved state as pioneers and builders of the commonwealth from the very first, and having been inhabitants for over two and a quarter centuries; first settling on the lands near the sea and gradually making their way up and settling as pioneers of the higher lands of what is now Pitt county. Promptly at 11 a. m. the President C. T. Turnage, called the meeting to order and the whole concourse of Tysons, being led by Walter G. Sheppard, rose as one man and sang the patriotic song "My Country 'Tis Thee, Sweet Land of Liberty," after which J. D. Cox led in prayer.

The president then called on a number present to trace their lineage; to which a good number responded, tracing their lineage to this and that ancestor for hundreds of years. Andrew Joyner of Beulah running the Tysons back so far that he did not know more than that one Aaron Tyson's father was a large land owner who Aaron said his father was killed in the Indian war in 1710. Mr. Hawkins Tyson of Wayne county, who comes to be with us at our annual reunion back years, traced us back to Scotland. Dr. Cox and others traced themselves to the original Tysons of Hyde precinct and that the Tysons sprang from three men to wit: Matthias Tyson, who died in 1710, Samuel Tyson, who died in 1736, whose executors were Thomas and Cornelius Tyson and Edmond Tyson the date of whose death is unknown.

Then came the annual address by Walter G. Sheppard a descendant of the name. His subject being "The Tyson name, a Heritage and a Challenge" and so well did he handle his subject all present were proud of him and the Tyson name. The business session was then taken up. Walter G. Sheppard was elected president, Dr. B. T. Cox, vice president and J. D. Cox secretary and treasurer.

The meeting was closed by song and the President announced dinner was ready at 1:30 p. m.

At the dinner table Mr. A. J. Moye was master of ceremonies, invoking divine blessings and right heartily did all help themselves to the good things which were spread out before us and after dinner something was spent in mingling with each other, talking of things passed and present. Bidding each other good-bye all went to their respective homes feeling that it was to have come to the reunion.

J. D. COX, Secretary.

PROGRESS OR PERISH

The greatest battles for democracy are those fought in the homes and workshops, in the humdrum of everyday struggle, Professor Connor declared.

If we are to reap the fruits of the World War, said he, we must gird up our loins for the battle that is now on. In North Carolina we have started out to build a great modern democratic State. There are a thousand indications that we have sought the proper conception of a state serving the people in a thousand different ways—in education and the prevention of disease, in the care of the weak and unfortunate, in road building, in home and farm demonstrations, in innumerable forms of social service not before regarded as functions of the state.

These are fine and splendid things. There is great glory in such achievements. But they are very costly. They mean high taxes and more expenditure of money than the old state ever dared spend. Last year there was more money spent on schools, roads, and hospitals than the total amount of revenue for the thirty years of 1870 to 1900. But such are the demands of a democracy. An autocracy dares not tax itself. No autocracy would have dared tax the people of North Carolina $25,000,000 for schools, yet we taxed ourselves that amount last year and boasted of it.

During the World War certain people became appalled at the cost and sacrifices and demanded that the war cease before the great objects were half achieved. Had they succeeded democracy would have perished from the earth. But democracy was saved by the boys in the trenches. They refused to turn back, refused to heed the cries of cowardice and weakness.

So today in North Carolina people grow restless under ever increasing demands of the democratic State. Many—tired of its burdens, wearied of its responsibilities, appalled at its costs; we hear voices of cowardice and weakness—fail to see that once the hand is to the plow there can be no turning backward. To halt is to stagnate, to falter is to perish, to turn back is to sacrifice all that has been gained. Progress or die!—R. D. W. Connor, Armistice Address at the University of North Carolina.

"Get your satchel packed and don't you ever come back," is the song the Republican party is now singing to LaFollette and those Senators who gave him their support in his efforts to defeat the party in the recent election.

Alton Thomas, white, for the same offense, speeding. Assessed a like amount of $10 and cost.
John Chick, white, being drunk and down. $10 and cost.
Dr. C. O'H. Laughinghouse, charged with parking his auto on the sidewalk line. As he did not appear in court capias issued and continued.

On Saturday morning the confiscated liquor which is now in the vault will be poured into the street gutter at corner of Cotanch and Evans street. The public is invited to attend the ceremony.

Greenville music lovers will have a rare opportunity this evening to hear some real music when the Trinity Musical Club will appear in the High School auditorium. The program which will be given by the club promises to be of such variety that it will appeal to lovers of all classes of music. The Trinity Club is not merely a Glee Club but it is a combination of all the musical organizations of that institution.

Among the different features of tonight's program will be the Syncopating Seven, the Saxophone Quartette, the String Quintette, and the Symphony Orchestra. In addition to these instrumental members there will be vocal selections to add variety to the program.

The members of the Trinity Club will arrive in Greenville this afternoon and will be entertained in the hours of hospitable Greenville citizens who have very kindly opened their homes to them. As the Clubs are to appear under the auspices of the management of the High School Annual, it is thought that a large crowd will be present, as those who love music will be augmented by friends and alumni of Trinity and the local school.

The evening's performance will begin promptly at 8:15.

Lay Off Body Snatchers

This warning is addressed to the producers of Broadway musical shows in general and to Flo Ziegfeld, Earl Carroll, George White and Lee Shubert in particular.

It is not only admitted but asserted without show of successful contradiction that Flashes of the Great White Way boasts a chorus of a score of the most beautiful women ever assembled at one time and in one place. We have competent information that one or all of you are exerting every effort to pluck these buds from our garden.

Take notice that each and every young woman in this company is bound to us for her professional services for five years. We will use every legal method to maintain our rights. Keep Off.

If the law is not strong enough again take notice that we employ a number of ex-police officers—fully authorized to carry arms—to guard our girls from any annoyance or importunities.

This warning will not appear again. Body snatchers attempt to purloin our girls at your peril.

Managing Director Flashes of the Great White Way.

Employers More Considerate Over Demands of Deaf

Raleigh, Dec. 1.—Employers over the state are now more considerate of the demands of the deaf for a fair chance at work than they have been in the past twelve months, according to J. M. Robertson, chief of the bureau for the deaf of the Department of Labor and Printing, who has just returned from a tour of the factories of the state. He says that he did not meet with the customary "no" but that the employers were interested in the prospects for the deaf and discussed the matter at length with him.

Deaf workers, says Mr. Robertson, are all enjoying the advantages of social recreation being afforded them by the community houses, Y's, and parks maintained by the employers as well as the good hours rented to them at reasonable rates by the manufacturers.

Of the employment situation for the deaf the chief said that he was disappointed in only one phase and that that he found no deaf employed in the clerical or professional capacities, though he has many applications for such work from capable deafs.

The case of Leslie D. Mebane, a deaf of Burlington, was cited as an example of what the deaf can do. According to Mr. Robertson, Mr. Leslie is the owner of an electric floor surfacing machine and has several hearers working under him and has now several contracts ahead of his time list.

It was pointed out that the deaf in the cities all as a rule organize Sunday school classes and attend in a group regardless of their respective denominations.

Referring further to the opportunity of the deaf for employment in North Carolina, Mr. Robertson stated:

"There are good possibilities for deaf girls in box factories. This line of industry requires hand work and as a rule the deaf are steady hand-workers. One employer already has two deaf girls and has promised to take on more as his business needs more help.

"In one leading salve factory I saw that deaf boys and girls are making good in the printing and chemical departments. The manager promised to seek graduates from Gallaudet College, Washington, D. C., the only college for the deaf in the world, as his needs increased. Mop factories, cigar factories and basket weaving shops are employing deafs as fair salaries.

COTTON

Numerous private crop reports due this week in advance of Government annual report next Monday. Meanwhile the demand for spots and goods is rather quiet except for low grades, staples and finished goods.

Market likely remain in process of liquidation pending receipt of Government crop estimate and may have some hedge selling this week.

Sentiment apparently more bearish than otherwise for the present.

Favor selling especially on bulges for time being.

Weather outlook for period Dec. 1 to 6, inclusive: Washington, Nov. 29.—South Atlantic, east Gulf and west Gulf states: mostly fair and moderate temperatures.

Upper Mississippi and Lower Mo. Valleys: Fair at beginning, rain or snows about middle and again toward end of week. Moderate temperatures with marked alternations.

New Orleans.—No speculative support except occasional covering by shorts. Tendency remains downward. Likely have another set of bearish week-end figures next Friday in advance of bureau day. World's visible of American increased July 40,000 this week last year, likely show increase this week of 100,000 to 150,000. Already the world's visible of American is 4,190,000 vs. 3,087,000 last year. World's visible of American may reach nearly 5,000,000 before starts to decrease.

New York.—The fear of the private estimates of 13,000,000 and others to come above 13,000,000 will keep the market irregular with lower tendencies.

THE WEATHER
Slightly warmer over belt. No rainfall reported anywhere.
Forecast: Eastern and Central belts mostly part cloudy and colder. Western belt generally fair, slightly colder.
