SECRETARY OF TREASURY FORECASTS PROSPEROUS AND HEALTHY CONDITIONS

Secretary of Treasury in Annual Report Declares Government On Sounder Economic Basis and Taxes Lower

Washington, Dec. 3. - Years of "prosperous and healthy conditions such as succeeded the election of 1860" were forecast for the United States by Secretary Mellon in the annual report of the Treasury sent to Congress today.

The Secretary's views are based, he said, on the repudiation of "various theories inconsistent with economic laws" and the endorsement of a program of constructive handling of government affairs given in the last election. He counseled the nation, however, to approach its problem with intelligence that the progress made and the groundwork laid in the last four years may not come to naught.

The United States, he asserted, was the first world power to come through the post-war transition stage successfully and the first to be able to present reasonable assurance that "true progress" will continue.

Mr. Mellon urged perpetuation of the program adopted by the great majority of our people in the last election, which he interpreted as one of "hard work, economy and good policies."

In general economic conditions as well as in the domain of federal fiscal operations, Mr. Mellon recounted how complete the transition had been. He said that in the last four years the per capita tax on citizens of the United States had been cut from $24 to $27, or exactly one half; public expenditures which in 1920 exceeded $6,000,000,000 were only $3,500,000,000 in the fiscal year which ended last July 1 and the "complete reorganization" of the economic structure by the collapse of prices in 1920 and 1921 has been rectified.

The lifting of the tax burden, although slight as the decrease has been, has done much for business, Mr. Mellon said, and he expressed the hope that more could be done soon. He said he desired tax reform as well as tax reduction and warned against using the field of taxation as a field "for socialistic experiment or as a club to punish success."

"While it has taken time for this situation completely to remedy itself," the Secretary continued, "the adjustment has now been made, and both banking and business conditions are in a thoroughly sound position. Prices have been comparatively stable for two or three years, production has increased twenty or twenty-five per cent, and employment eight or ten per cent. Interest and discount rates, as a rule, have been reduced more than half. Discount rates of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, for example, have been reduced from seven and one half to three and one half per cent. Bank deposits have increased six or eight billion dollars from the low point of 1921, or over twenty per cent."

"At the same time reserves are unusually high, frozen loans have been almost completely liquidated and the country's banking and credit structure was never in a stronger position and more able to support continued business and industrial expansion. The tariff handled by the railroads continues at almost record levels, and many roads are returning to a dividend-paying basis after years of financial difficulties and struggles to build up road and equipment to a basis of efficiency. The building and automotive industries are prosperous and in turn are big factors in maintaining the country's general prosperity."

"While recovery of agriculture has been slow it has been substantial, and today, due largely to changing conditions in world crops and world markets, faces a new era. The readjustment between agriculture and other industries has been removed, and the farmer is nearly restored to his proper status in the economic system."

But American commerce and industry must maintain an anchor to the windward in future world trade, the Secretary said, for, as America has recovered, so now Europe is becoming stabilized. Mr. Mellon gave credit to the Dawes reparation plan as providing a foundation of economic recovery there. While declaring improved conditions in Europe meant benefit to the United States, Mr. Mellon argued that cheaper production and lower living standards abroad

ELABORATE PLANS NOW UNDER WAY FOR INAUGURATION

Greatest Parade in History Being Planned for March 4; No Inauguration Ball to Be Held

Washington, Dec. 4. - Elaborate plans for the inaugural ceremonies have been drawn up here by civic organizations but are still awaiting the approval of President Coolidge.

Those interested have heard that the parade will include the West Point Cadets, Annapolis Midshipmen, Army Units, Navy Contingents, National Guards Troops from all the states, Coast Guardsmen, and every department of the government with floats and symbols. The governors of the various states with their staffs or representatives in the parade under the proposed plan, and at a reception to follow at the White House, Supreme Court officials, Diplomatic Corps, members of the cabinet, members of Congress, high Army and Navy officials and citizens would be guests.

Beginning an hour before the reception and continuing throughout the night there would be fireworks display and the city would be lighted by powerful floodlighting apparatus. Public and private buildings are to be decorated during the inaugural period.

President Coolidge has indicated that he desires simple inaugural exercises but that he does not object to a parade. He is, however, averse to an inaugural ball.

PROSPECTS FOR OIL AT HAVELOCK GOOD

Drilling Passes Through Gas Pocket Which Is Favorable Indication of Oil

New Bern, Dec. 4. - Drilling for oil near Havelock was resumed today after a few days layoff awaiting material.

As the drilling continues those in charge of the operation, are becoming more and more optimistic as to the final outcome of the venture.

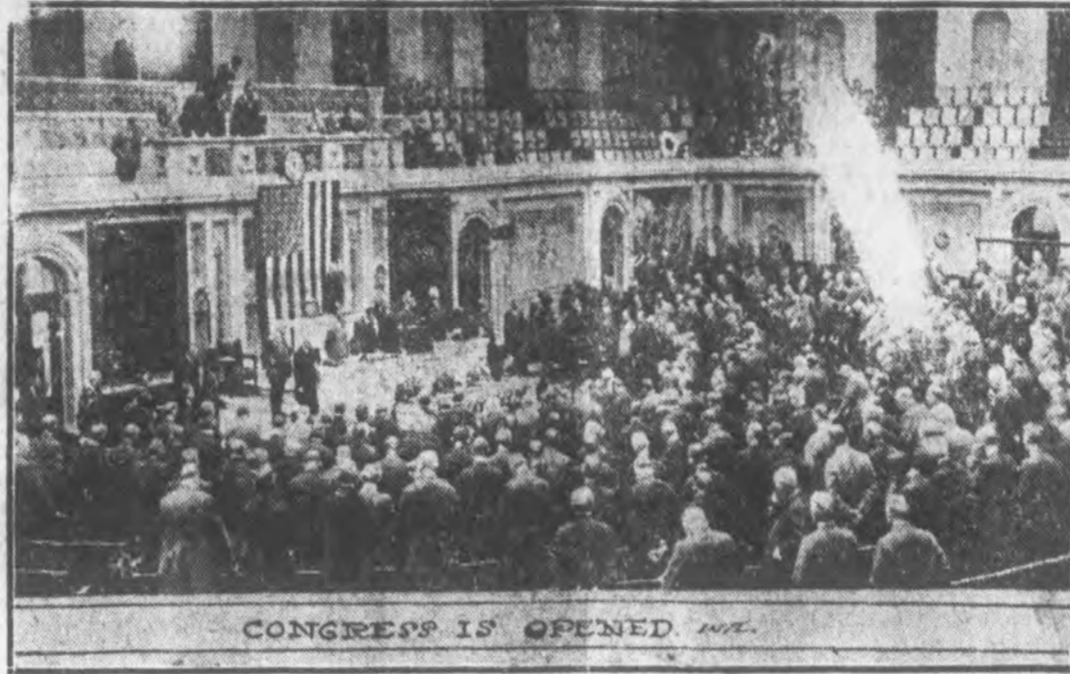

According to announcement of those in charge the well has now reached a depth of 512 feet. At a depth of 336 feet the drilling passed through a strong gas pocket which, although it is not a sure sign, is a very favorable indication that there is oil below. The drillers are today cutting into rock which they said may or may not be a cap rock.

Golden Rule Sunday To Be Observed On Sunday, December 7

Charlotte, Dec. 4. - The people of North Carolina have been asked to observe "Golden Rule Sunday" on next Sunday and to give a thanks-offering for the prosperity that they enjoy, toward the support of the destitute orphans and others of the Near East. The movement has been endorsed by President Coolidge, who in a letter to the Near East Relief in New York, has renewed his commendation of the movement and asserted that "international observance of this day might well contribute materially to the betterment of international relations and abiding world peace."

The observance of the day will be a national one. Here in Charlotte, some 125 or more persons recently had forcibly called to their attention the question of feeding orphans in the Near East when they ate a dinner the total of which was six dollars. The liquid foods were served in ten cups made out of condensed milk tins.

COOLIDGE SPEAKS COMMERCIAL CLUB OF CHICAGO TODAY

Executive Urges Spirit of Mutual Aid and Closer Co-operation in All Business Dealings

Chicago, Dec. 4. - President Coolidge arrived in Chicago at 9 a. m. his visit being made to speak at the International Livestock Exposition and to address luncheon gathering of the Commercial Club of Chicago.

Crowds at the station gave President Coolidge a hearty welcome. The weather man, however, had arranged a more sombre welcome, a mixture of snow and rain squalls with fog and smoke blanketing the district as the presidential party drove to the hotel.

Address Commercial Club. President Coolidge told business men of Chicago today that neither business nor nations can live to themselves alone.

Speaking at a luncheon of the Chicago Commercial Club, the chief executive appealed for inclusion of the spirit of mutual aid in the relationship between business and agriculture and in the dealings among nations.

"You people of commerce, you people of the city, are an integral part of the life of agriculture, of the life of the country," he told the business leaders of the Middle West's metropolis.

"We can no more assure permanent and stable peace without co-operation among the nations, than we can secure victory in war without allies among them," he asserted in urging application of the principle of mutual aid to international relations.

The President, in his address, the first of the two he plans to make during his visit to Chicago, said he liked to think of the Illinois city "as the great market place to which the world resorts to buy and sell its food," and drew a parallel between the Biblical story of Joseph and the famine which drove the peoples of the ancient Mediterranean world to buy of Egypt's store, and Europe's recent dependence upon America for its food supply.

"The famine brought the nations to Egypt, and Egypt rescued them," he said. "So the war brought the nations to your agricultural markets and you provided them with food. Some of the results were not immediately pleasant for the Hebrew race and some of the results of the war have not been pleasant for the farmer."

"But out of the Egyptian experience of Israel came the opportunity for its great service in world leadership. * * * And my faith is firm in (Continued on page 2)

FEAR SCANDAL IN THE FORBES TRIAL

Testimony of Elias H. Mortimer Stopped By Court After Objection by Counsel

Chicago, Dec. 4. - The Pacific coast trip of Forbes-Mortimer Veterans Bureau of June 1922 was to be kept from the knowledge of Mrs. Carolyn Votaw, sister of President Harding, acting under the direction of Charles R. Forbes, it was testified today by Elias H. Mortimer in the Forbes-Thompson trial.

Over strenuous objections of Forbes' counsel Mortimer started to review a conversation between Forbes, Thompson and himself involving Mrs. Votaw's name when the court stopped the witness. The letter, however, was read to the jury. The Thompson letter, written in ink on a folded sheet of social correspondence paper was objected to by Rudolph Loughlin, of St. Louis, Thompson's counsel. He advised Judge Carpenter to read the letter. He said the letter would drag "scandal" into the case. Judge Carpenter said he would see if he could that no scandal and that the press would drag scandal into this at their own risk.

The letter said Thompson had gone to ride with Mr. and Mrs. Huber Votaw and that she seemed curious as to the whereabouts of Colonel Forbes.

The letter then gave detailed instructions to Mortimer about the story he should concoct to account for the western trip of the Mortimers. He was to make the trip seem to have been to Minneapolis to visit the Mortimer family. "Be guided from above," the letter closed. It was signed "J. W." Thompson's initials.

One Killed and Three Hurt in Crossing Wreck

Columbia, S. C., Dec. 4. - One woman was killed and three other persons were injured when a train and an automobile came together at a crossing here today.

The dead woman was identified as Miss Myrtle Kestler, 19, of Columbia. Raymond C. Cooper, New Brookland, a Columbia suburb, E. C. Elders, Columbia, and Mrs. Ida Parr, Columbia, were injured. All the injured persons were taken to a local hospital.

SENATOR NORRIS OPENS DEBATE ON MUSCLE SHOALS

Chairman Agriculture Committee Urges the Adoption of Bill Providing for Government Operation

Washington, Dec. 4. - Chairman Norris, of the Senate Agriculture Committee, opened the discussion on the Muscle Shoals question in the Senate today in a speech recommending adoption of the Norris government ownership and operation bill which had been reported by the committee.

Before Senator Norris started, Senator Bruce, Democrat, Maryland, offered an amendment to the Norris bill providing that appointment of employees to operate the Muscle Shoals plant for the government be made solely on merit and not for any political qualifications and that employees be subject to regulations of the Civil Service Commission.

The Nebraskan Senator reviewed the government's work at Muscle Shoals and declared the primary purpose of the proposal was for the production of power and fertilizer and to promote navigation on the Tennessee River.

Swedish Humorist To Give Program At College Saturday

Karl Jansen the Swedish humorist and entertainer, will give a program at East Carolina Teachers College on Saturday evening, Dec. 6 at 8 p. m. The Junior class sponsors the entertainment.

Mr. Jansen's comedy impersonations and imitations of public speakers are especially clever and his dramatic interpretations are fine. His program is made of humorous skits readings, comedy parts, and a scene from some play. He appears in costume in some of his numbers, changing his costumes with lightning rapidity so that there seems to be a number of people taking part in the program.

An entertainment by him given at the college several years ago is remembered so favorably that he has no trouble getting a return engagement. He has appeared before American audiences as a popular attraction with leading lyceum and Chautauqua bureaus and has made such a reputation that he now appears independently. He is well known in the south, especially in college towns.

He delighted his audiences at such places as University of North Carolina, University of Virginia and Rock Hill, S. C.

The Observer commented on his entertainment in Charlotte as follows: "Mr. Jansen's entertainment is a success in every way. Too much can not be said of the versatility and excellence of his program."

Mrs. Adelaide and Frances Taft and Mr. Jack Spain have returned from Warrenton where they attended the Freeman-Denton wedding. H. Rountree, has returned home.

DEBT FUNDING TALK AROUSES BIG STIR IN GREAT BRITAIN

British Press Sees Hope for Settlement of England's Debt in Franco-American Negotiations

London, Dec. 4. - Reports that France has begun negotiations for funding her debt to the United States has aroused considerable stir in financial and political quarters here and is attracting notice of the press. Most of the comments thus far reveal the expectation that if France arranges to pay the United States she will also arrange to pay Great Britain. Other commentators contended that if the United States allows exceptionally good terms to France, Great Britain would be justified in looking for a revision of her own funding arrangement with America.

The Daily Telegraph's diplomatic correspondent says:

"A new situation regarding the whole problem of Inter-Allied debt has arisen through the Franco-American initiative and it may be that the British government will feel constrained to take up the matter of the Allies' indebtedness to this country sooner than originally contemplated." The writer assumes that if France is in position to discuss ways and means of discharging her debt to the United States she must be in a similar position regarding her obligations to Great Britain.

The Daily Mail remarking that Great Britain has already been ready to cancel the debts due her if her own debts were similarly cancelled, adds that all possibility of such general cancellation has been ruled out by President Coolidge's annual message to Congress yesterday.

MRS. SHEATSLEY'S DEATH WAS SUICIDE

Coroner J. A. Murphy Holds Case As Suicide in Formal Report Filed With Court Today

Columbus, Ohio, Dec. 4. - Mrs. Addie Sheatsley, wife of Rev. C. V. Sheatsley, pastor of Christ Evangelistic Lutheran Church of Bexley, a suburb, whose body was found in the furnace of the Sheatsley home, committed suicide Coroner J. A. Murphy held in his formal report of the tragedy filed with the Clerk of Court here today.

Coroner Murphy, from the start held the view that Mrs. Sheatsley deliberately crawled into the furnace although C. F. Long, chemist and Dr. H. M. Brandage, pathologist, after a series of tests were of the opinion that she met death outside the furnace.

M'LEARY SLAYERS TO DIE IN THE CHAIR EARLY TOMORROW

Mortimer King and Frank Harrell, Murderers of Army Officer Are Spending Last 24 Hours of Life

Columbia, S. C., Dec. 4. - Mortimer H. King and Frank Harrell, convicted of the slaying of Major Samuel H. McLeary, U. S. A., were spending their last 24 hours of life today. They will go to the electric chair at six o'clock tomorrow morning, according to a statement today by prison officials who said that all arrangements for the electrocution had been made.

The last hopes of the two youthful slayers were swept away a few days ago when Governor Thomas G. McLeod stated that he would not interfere with the death sentence imposed upon the two men following their trial in Chesterfield September 23 last.

King's wife was permitted to visit him in his cell in the death house today and Harrell's wife and baby and relatives visited him early in the week. Although they told him they would return later in the week they had not done so early today.

Harrell was manifestly nervous as the time grew shorter but King gave less evidence of being agitated, according to prison attendants.

Review of the Tragedy

During what is said to have been one of the most widespread searches for a missing United States army officer in recent years, Mortimer H. King and Frank, alias Sherrod, Harrell, young cotton mill workers, were charged with the murder of Major Samuel H. McLeary, who was killed by two men July 2, on the roadside 11 miles south of Cheraw, S. C.

Shortly after the army officer had dropped from sight, authorities of both the Carolinas were notified by the war department to watch for him. No suspicion of foul play was aroused, however, until the major failed to call for money wired to a hotel in Columbia from Raleigh, N. C. At first it was thought he had suffered a mental aberration, and his wife joined in this theory.

Traced by his automobile, which he and his accomplice had driven away from the scene of the killing, King was arrested two weeks later at his Canton, N. C., home. It was then that the remains of the murdered officer were located, King directing the officers across the South Carolina line to a spot a short distance from the highway where the body had been left.

King confessed on July 16, implicating Harrell, for whom a search was instituted. Harrell and his brother, Gerald, were arrested in Nashville, Tenn., on a charge of vagrancy, the night of July 22. No importance was attached to the arrest by the Nashville officials until the following morning, when a circular sent out by the state of South Carolina describing Frank Harrell was received. Harrell's identification resulted and he was returned immediately to South Carolina after waiting extradition rights. His arrest brought to a close a search throughout the search.

Harrell, according to Nashville officers, talked freely of the crime, attempting to place the blame on King, who, he said, shot the major without warning. King, on the other hand, asserted Harrell was the moving spirit in the plot, the police said. Major McLeary had passed the two men on the road and asked them to ride with him, according to the confessions.

Later Harrell admitted, the police said, that his Nashville story was false and substantiated King's confession.

Following the bringing of Harrell to South Carolina warrants were issued charging King and Harrell with the murder of Major McLeary. At the same time Gerald Harrell was charged with being an accessory after the fact, inasmuch as he assisted his brother in the attempted escape, and was brought to Columbia on July 31.

During the trial, held at Charleston, S. C., the county seat of the district where the crime was committed, King attempted to shoulder the blame for the murder, though Harrell showed the greater emotion of the two. The jury, however, returned a verdict of guilty in each case, without recommendation to the mercy of the court.

This verdict by the state statutes automatically fixed the sentence of death by electrocution and sentence was accordingly pronounced, November 21 being set as the execution date. Shortly before the day set for the execution a respite of two weeks was granted by the governor for review of the case after which he announced a few days ago he would not interfere with the law taking its course.

Coolidge Speaks Commercial Clubs Of Chicago Today

the conviction that, if we will but realize it, these years of trial and distress for the American farmer will represent only a time of preparation for his opportunity to secure that recognition of his importance, that need for economic equality, which will enable him to render a supreme service to himself and to his fellow men."

Betterment of the lot of the farmers depends not on large productivity, and material prosperity alone the President said, and added:

"The commercial and industrial side of our nation has been giving too much thought to wheat and hogs and corn, to their transportation and to their prices, and not enough through to the men and women who are engaged in agriculture, to their welfare and to their prosperity. We must look beyond the quotations of the market place, and see what price we are proposing to pay, what rewards we are proposing to confer in exchange for the hard-working lives of our open country."

Laying down the broad proposition that "our prosperity, our advancement, our portion of good fortune, must largely depend upon the share that shall be allotted to our neighbors," he declared that America must be constantly ready to help both at home and abroad where American aid is desired and will be effective. "We have attempted to perform services for European nations, because by that means in a broad way we are serving ourselves," he concluded. "We want to see them raised up so far as possible to our own economic standards. We want to see in their prosperity an opportunity for larger markets for our own production. We wish to help them, moreover, because it is only through service that we can develop our individual and national lives. It is along this course of action that we are most likely to contribute to those conditions which will be most effective for maintaining universal peace and most likely to make the largest contribution within our power to the advancement of human welfare."

Prosperous, Healthy Conditions Forecast By Sec'y. Treasury

would force closer calculation here in world market selling.

"Those countries (concerned with the reparations question) have already developed a new mental attitude and outlook," the Treasury chief said, "and something of the oldtime industrial vigor and thrift are returning. The effect of a more prosperous Europe means the broadening of our markets and opportunities and a quickening of our economic development. The situation in America looks more favorable for sound and orderly economic development than at any time since the war."

Turning to the purely domestic question of a taxation policy, Mr. Mellon suggested that since the power to tax was the power to destroy, it seemed the advisable course to lay down a program for levying taxes that would permit commerce and industry to expand rather than to seek its lifeblood. He reiterated his views, those which caused the bitter political battles of the last session of Congress, and called attention to recommendations from the "same economic viewpoint" by two previous Secretaries of the Treasury, "both under another political administration."

Mr. Mellon again attacked the continued issue of tax exempt securities as a menace, saying that surely it will mean in the end continued heavy tax burdens for the states and municipalities. For the federal government, he said, it means that so long as high surtax rates are effective, the possessors of large fortunes will continue to avoid the federal levy by investment in the tax exempt paper. He renewed his recommendation for a constitutional amendment limiting the issue of tax exempt obligations, but suggested a more immediate remedy in the form of changes in surtax rates, as proposed a year ago by the Treasury.

"A reasonable tax rate will make elaborate, expensive methods of avoidance unprofitable," said Mr. Mellon. "A reasonable rate of tax will make the administration of the tax laws more simple of accomplishment."

"There is, in addition to the intricacies of our income tax and the impossibility of a strict enforcement, a much more serious effect of excessive taxation, both income and estate, on our industry and initiative. To make a new venture, to start a new business, to build a new building, to construct and not just sit passive, means risk. Where that risk involves capital, the probable rate of return must compensate for the risk. Yet the law now says to the man of large income: 'If you lose on your venture, you will pay 100 per cent of the loss; if you win, the law will take 50 per cent of your profit.'"

The gift tax provision of the present law was characterized by the Secretary as one of the futile attempts to check avoidance of the high tax rates and yet not penalize legitimate transactions. He said there was "grave doubt" as to the right of Congress to impose a tax on gifts at all, and that the manner in which the provision was phrased had placed on the Internal Revenue Bureau the duty of passing judgment on countless straight business deals to determine whether there had been a "gift" involved since the statute compelled the interpretation of a payment by cash, in an exchange of property, as gift and therefore taxable.

Publicity provisions of the present law should be repealed, the Secretary said, adding that they were included in the law when sections penalizing publication by newspapers of the income tax returns were enacted alongside of them.

"Aside from the question of the unnecessary violation of the right of privacy which should be insured to all citizens in the spirit of the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution," Mr. Mellon said, "it would be interesting to know what good can be accomplished by the provision."

While discussing the question of taxation, the Secretary renewed his appeal that Congress should not launch on any new program that would call for additional outlays of money.

M. L. Shipman Oldest Labor Commissioner U. S. in Point Service

Raleigh, Dec. 4.—M. L. Shipman, in point of service is the oldest Labor Commissioner in the United States, records of the Department of Labor and Printing revealed today. He will have served 16 years, when he retires from office next month.

Mr. Shipman was elected Commissioner of Labor and Printing in 1908, having been nominated over five opponents at the memorable Democratic state convention held at Charlotte that year, and was re-elected in 1912, 1916 and 1920. He was defeated for re-nomination by Frank D. Grist in the primary held last June and will be succeeded by him in January.

Mr. Shipman has been in the department for twenty years, coming to Raleigh in 1904 as assistant commissioner of Labor and Printing under H. B. Varner.

Commissioner Bryan of New Jersey held the distinction of being the oldest Labor Commissioner in the country at the time of his death several months ago. He had served 13 years and had been reappointed for another term by Governor Silzer.

There have been only six men to serve as head of the department since the office was created by an act of the legislature in 1887. Of these, John G. Scarborough, who served from 1889 to 1893, and James Y. Hamrick, who served from 1897 to 1899, are dead. The former Commissioners now living are Wesley N. Jones, Raleigh, who was the first commissioner, serving from 1887 to 1889; Benjamin R. Lacy, now State Treasurer, who served from 1893 to 1897 and from 1899 to 1901, and H. B. Varner, who was commissioner from 1900 to 1908, when Mr. Shipman was elected to the post.

When the Department was first created the commissioner was appointed by the Governor. The Department was first known as the Department of Labor Statistics, but was changed to Department of Labor and Printing in 1900 when supervision of all state printing was added to its work. H. B. Varner, Lexington, was the first commissioner elected by popular vote. With the exception of one term served by James Y. Hamrick, Populist, the office has always been held by Democrats.

Only two assistant commissioners, George B. Justice and Lawrence Nichols, have served under Mr. Shipman. Mr. Justice resigned several years ago to enter the printing business in Raleigh and Mr. Nichols, the present assistant, was appointed.

Mr. Shipman was editor and publisher of the French Broad Hustler, a weekly newspaper at Hendersonville, before coming to Raleigh.

He has made no announcement regarding his plans after retiring from office next month.

Receipts at Boxing Bout Tonight Will Determine Fights

Raleigh, Dec. 4.—Receipts at the Treco-Johnson Battling Dick boxing bout here Thursday night will determine whether they will promote other fights in Raleigh, according to announcement by William N. Wynne and Jack Cameron, who have promoted practically every fight staged in Raleigh since boxing was legalized here by an act of the legislature several months ago.

The promoters declare they have lost heavily on every bout staged in Raleigh except the Stribling-McLaughlin match. They abandoned the business of promoting about two months ago on account of poor attendance, but they decided to try to revive interest in boxing by arranging a return engagement between Johnson and Dick. Johnson and Dick fought a sensational battle here some time ago.

"If I lose money on this fight," said Jack Cameron, "Wynne and I are through with the fight game in Raleigh."

The Johnson-Dick bout will feature thirty rounds of boxing. They are bantam-weights.

Below: CROWN PRINCE WILHELM and CROWN PRINCE RUPPRECHT

General James G. Harbord, U. S. A., retired, now president of the Radio Corporation of America, today was the testis by which pictures have been flashed across the Atlantic by wireless. Friedrich Wilhelm, former German Crown Prince, and Rupprecht, former Bavarian Crown Prince, are hunting together in the Swiss Alps, their first meeting since 1918, and it is believed their meeting may have something to do with an effort to restore the German monarchy. In a speech before his Bible class in New York City, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., declared the religion of old was too austere and that wealth in the hands of the unscrupulous is a curse.

Baby Clinic Held In the Court House Proves Great Success

On Wednesday p. m. December 3rd, one of the most successful baby clinics of the Pitt County Health Department was held in Greenville. Mothers from town and the surrounding country came in with their babies.

Dr. W. G. Byrd, of the State Board of Health who has had two years training in a Boston Hospital in diseases of children held the clinic, assisted by three local physicians; Drs. Jos. Smith, K. B. Pace and W. I. Wooten, also the Health Officer, Dr. C. L. Outland. There were also three nurses to help look after the children; Misses Lillie Pentress, Maternity and Infancy Nurse, Edna McKee and Virginia Ives.

Approximately 75 children were examined and mothers given advice in the care of their children. No treatments were given, but in each instance where a defect was found the mother was advised to take the child to her own physician to have the condition corrected.

The health committee of the Woman's Club was very active in helping with the clinic and due recognition is given to the members of this committee for valuable services rendered.

Each week a clinic is held somewhere in the county. The next one is scheduled for Friday p. m. in Farmville.

BERLIN DECIDES AUTO BUSES WILL BENEFIT CITY TRANSIT

Berlin.—Confronted with increasing street traffic, Berlin has decided to operate automobile busses. During 1925 250 busses, running on 14 different lines, will be installed. The new cars will seat 54 persons each, and will have upper decks.

Manager Kaufmann, of the Berlin Autobus Company, who recently went to the United States to study city transportation conditions, believes the bus is the vehicle of the future for congested metropolitan districts. He says that the Berlin busses use more powerful motors than are customary in America, which makes possible a quicker start and that the local custom of stopping only at designated streets, results in a speedy service.

PARIS GIRL COMES OUT AHEAD IN THE TYPE WRITING COMPETITION

Paris. — Miss Odette Piau, of this city, is the champion typist of Europe. She won her title in an open competition in which French, Belgian, Swiss, and English champion key tap pers of both sexes met in this city. She struck the keys 10,943 times in 30 minutes, with only 21 mistakes. Her word rate was over 90 a minute.

Miss Piau left the hall where the competition was held with a magnificent challenge cup and 2,000 francs in prize money.

PREFACE TO CHRISTMAS

If somebody had told you two years ago that another day of popular observance was about to be introduced into the calendar of special dates and occasions for this country, you would have pretty certainly told him in response that he didn't know much about the impossibility of crowding a pint cup with a pint and a quarter. But you would have been wrong. For in these two years Golden Rule Sunday has got itself a place in popular calculation and popular interest which looks to be almost as well solidified as the place of Christmas.

In fact, one finds many people thinking of it as a kind of supplement for Christmas—or better, maybe, a preface to it—which our modern American way of keeping Christmas has made necessary.

The business of giving gifts to people whom you suspect of a purpose to give something to you (though for no better reason than this reason of your giving to them) has gone so far in perfunctory and generally unwilling barter and exchange that the original sentiment of Christmas giving has been almost extinguished. And it really does look as if the only way to redeem it is to set up a day and date whose governing idea shall be for everybody to give to somebody who can't possibly make a return gift.

That is indeed precisely the effect of Golden Rule Sunday as it is now projected for the first Sunday of every December. It gives a chance for every man and woman to think first of those who can make no recompense before beginning to figure up that list of the uncles, aunts and cousins who "have to be given something this year because they sent presents last year." And surely it is a rule vastly more golden to give what can't be returned than to return what there was never any good reason for giving.

No doubt in years to come there will be other objects suggested for an outlet to the kindness which Golden Rule Sunday will conjure out of American hearts. But it is unlikely that an object more appealing will ever be hit upon than the 40,000 orphans whom the keepers of Golden Rule Sunday are asked to aid this year through the Near East Relief.

The interesting idea of asking people to eat on that day—which is by the way this coming Sunday, December 7—such a plain meal of macaroni or stew as the orphans eat every Sunday and every week-day, too—is an excellent psychological way of putting ourselves in realizing touch with their narrow lives. And with that preparation we shall give the more feelingly—the more liberally, too—and to be all the readier for a genuine Christmas.

DUMPED

Radio on Freighter's Lifeboat.

London.—The first lifeboat with radio to be carried on a cargo vessel was taken on the steamer Geraldine Mary 7,200 tons, which left the Clyde for Newfoundland recently. The 26-foot lifeboat, fitted with a seven-horsepower gasoline engine, has a triangular aerial hoisted on two masts, and the transmitter is operated by an alternator.

Nature intended that feet walk flat on the ground.

Civilization demanded that shoes with heels be worn. Man-kind suffered until science invented The Arch Preserver Shoes, set them from Pitt Shoe Company.

ORDER.

North Carolina, Pitt County, In the Superior Court.
IN RE: Election of a Drainage Commissioner for Pitt County Drainage District Number Two.
Whereas, the term of office of T. P. Hodges as Drainage Commissioner for Pitt County Drainage District Number Two, for which he was elected expired September 30th, 1924, and that he will continue in said office by operation of law until a successor is elected and qualified.
Whereas, the court in the exercise of its discretion postponed the calling of an election of a successor to the said Commissioner from the second Monday in August 1924, until the second Monday in December 1924, at 10:00 o'clock A. M. to be held in the court house in Greenville.
It is, now therefore, ordered that an election be held at the court house in Greenville, said county and State on the second Monday in December 1924, it being the 8th day of December 1924, at 10:00 o'clock A. M. for the purpose of electing a Drainage Commissioner for Pitt County Drainage District Number Two, to succeed Commissioner T. P. Hodges, for a term to expire September 30th, 1927. That the court appoint _____ and _____, disinterested freeholders, judges of election, and that said election will be held under the direction of this court.
The court will appoint as a commissioner from among those receiving a majority of the votes cast at said election. If any one of such proposed commissioners should not receive a majority of the votes cast, the court will appoint a commissioner from among those voted on at such election in the exercise of its discretion.

TYSON-EDWARDS.

(By Rev. C. J. Harris.)

Yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of Sheriff A. C. Jackson in College View, a quiet, beautiful and impressive marriage was celebrated by the Rev. C. J. Harris, when Miss Myrtle Ruth Edwards became the bride of Mr. Robert Raymond Tyson.

Mr. Tyson is the son of Mr. N. W. Tyson, and is a prosperous young farmer.

The bride is the pretty and accomplished daughter of the late Mr. L. N. Edwards. And is the sister of Mrs. A. C. Jackson. Miss Edwards for the past two years has gracefully held a position in the sheriff's office. During which time she has endeared herself to many who admire her disposition. Therefore, the following lines are peculiarly appropriate.

"The sweetness of her woman's face,
The crown of her shining hair,
The subtle of her feminine grace,
Haunts her friends every where."

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Tyson left for Goldsboro, Raleigh and other points. They will return to Greenville in a few days. Their friends wish for them a long, happy and prosperous life.

Mrs. Leila Anderson George to Mr. Daphron Moore Fleming Saturday, November twenty-second nineteen hundred and twenty-four Greenville, South Carolina.

NANNY-TURNER.

(By Rev. C. J. Harris.)

At five o'clock yesterday afternoon in the Register of Deeds Office, in Greenville, Mr. James L. Nanny and Miss Novella Turner were united in holy wedlock by the Rev. C. J. Harris.

Both of the contracting parties are from the Bell Arthur community. Miss Turner is the attractive and charming daughter of Mr. Ode Turner, and is highly esteemed both in social and religious circles.

May the sea of life on which they have embarked be ever calm and peaceful.

"Marriage is honorable." It was first instituted by Almighty God and given to man in a state of innocence and happiness. "God made them male and female." And said: "For this cause shall a man leave his father and mother and cleave to his wife." Therefore, I respectfully submit the following:

"A woman is the most attractive thing
Ever made by the hand above—
A woman's heart and a woman's life
And a woman's wonderful love,
Men, be not a coward take a wife."

Three Counties Engage In Raising $5000 For Pamlico Council Scouts

Announcement was made in this paper recently of the formation of the Pamlico Council of The Boy Scouts of America, and that Mr. J. E. Winlow, of Greenville, was made the president of the council. Since the time of that announcement the committee, from the various towns have been actively at work on the matter. The three counties of Beaufort, Martin and Pitt are now engaged in the work of raising $5000 the budget for the first year's work. The amount in this budget will be used in paying the salary of a full time Scout Executive, for meeting all expenses incurred in other ways in putting the program of work over, and for insuring a summer camp. Greenville will get more of the time of the executive than any other of the towns in the three counties, and will, therefore be expected to raise a larger amount than the other towns. Greenville's share of the budget is $1500. A committee of ten from the Rotary Club, and a like committee of ten from the

GRAIN
Chicago.—There is no shortage of elevator storage room in Chicago public elevators and it is said there is not likely to be unless grain is brought here from other primary markets. The country movement is regarded as over. There was no million bushel of available storage room here yesterday morning, according to board of trade officials and there were only 1,880 cars of grain on track here in all position. Shipments are nearly as large as the receipts. Board of Trade officials are watching the storage room situation. So far they have decided there is no necessity of haking grain in car lots on track deliveries on December contracts as there is no emergency.

Little girls adore these Lloyd Doll Carriages

And no wonder! They are just like real Lloyd Loom Baby Carriages, made on the same loom, by the same spiral weaving process. They are beautiful, strong and lasting. And they are not high priced. Steel hearts in all upright stakes add rigidity to these carriages. Be sure to choose early, before the Christmas rush snaps up all the choicest styles.

In view of the prospects for a crop of about 14,000,000 bales and a world's consumption of American of about 13,000,000 it will likely be a difficult matter to pull cotton to any extent this season as there is an apparent surplus of approximately 1,000,000 linters included.
If cotton is to be bought as an investment we suggest operating in new crop deliveries. October for instance, which is about 100 points lower than May. Next year's crop will likely be the most expensive ever raised because of high cost food stuffs for man and beast. Large grain crops will have to be grown in the south and it is possible that next year's cotton acreage may be reduced in consequence. Moreover the weevil may give more trouble next year than it did in 1924. Sentiment rather mixed. Favor selling particularly on bulges for the present.

THE WEATHER
Forecast: Eastern belt mostly fair and warmer. Central belt partly cloudy and warmer. Western belt rain or snow and colder, cold wave predicted for western belt.

New Way to Quickly Stop Worst Cough

A remarkable new and simple method for treating a cough gives relief with the first doses and usually breaks a severe cough in 24 hours. The treatment is based on the prescription known as Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs. You take just one teaspoonful and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing, without following with water. The prescription has a double action. It not only soothes and heals soreness and irritation, but it quickly loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which are the direct cause of the coughing. People have been astonished how quickly the coughing stopped with this new treatment, and the whole cough condition goes in a very short time. The prescription is for coughs, chest colds, hoarseness, bronchitis, spasmodic croup, etc. It is excellent for children as well as grownups—no harmful drugs. Economical, too, as the dose is only one teaspoonful. At all good druggists. Ask for
