ORGANIZATION OF BOY SCOUT COUNCIL SEEMS ASSURED

Local Committee Will Make Drive to Raise Funds on Next Thursday Afternoon

The contemplated District Council of Boy Scouts for Pitt, Martin and Beaufort counties now seems assured and work to perfect the organization is to be put through immediately.

Mr. Weaver Marr, representative of the National Organization of Boy Scouts has for the past four weeks been working in this territory on preliminaries and announcement was made last night that necessary funds to insure the working of the organization were in sight.

The total fund necessary to carry on the work of the organization for the coming year is $5,000 and the amount has been apportioned throughout the three counties as follows: Greenville $1,500; Farmville $500; Ayden $500, Grifton $100, Winterville $75, Fountain $100, Bethel $125, Grimesland $50, Washington $1,250, Belhaven $200, Panteo $50, Aurora $50, Williamston $360, Robersonville $150 and Parmele $25. Reports from Bethel, Washington, Aurora Ayden, and Williamston indicate that those towns have gone over the top in their drives to raise the necessary quotas.

On last night several citizens of Greenville having confidence that the entire citizenry of Greenville would support such a movement in behalf of the boys of the community, personally guaranteed Greenville's quota in order that perfecting of the organization of the council should not have to await the outcome of the drive to be put on here next Thursday to subscribe the necessary $1,500. The committee underwriting Greenville's quota is composed of Messrs. J. E. Winslow, W. E. Hooker, G. V. Smith, J. C. Gaskins, B. E. Sugg, J. H. Rose, J. H. Blount, J. H. Waldrop, D. J. Whitehead, J. B. Kittrell, and E. W. Batchelor.

Announcement was made this morning that reports from Farmville, Grifton, Fountain, Robersonville, Belhaven and other towns are expected today and those in charge are optimistic as to the outcome of solicitations in these communities.

In order that every one might become familiar with the scout organization and what it means to the nation the following review of the purposes and accomplishments of the organization is set forth.

"Scouting"

Scouting is a program of Character Building Citizenship Training, vocationally purposeful activities for boys.

A community's greatest asset is its boys. Boys are considered a problem. The best way to meet a problem is to meet it with a constructive plan. The Boy Scout program is the best plan yet developed for meeting the boy problem. Scouting is a Real program, under Real leadership, for Real boys, and it works.

Scouting is used as a program by practically every institution in America which has any contact with boys. It is used largely by every church, Protestant, Catholic, and Jewish; by public schools, industrial plants, boys' clubs, Y. M. C. A.'s, and many other groups.

Scouting is a world wide program. There are 500,000 registered Boy Scouts in the United States today, being led by over 200,000 volunteer leaders. The Scout program has reached in its thirteen years of existence in this country, over two million boys.

Scouting is a program of activity, leading a boy through various interests gripping, purposeful activities through a process of gradual, but steady, advancement from the Tender foot stage to the point where he can be turned back into the community a well trained, intelligent and participating citizen.

Scouts are organized into troops and each troop is organized into patrols, which develops to the limit the group spirit, and at the same time

DISCUSSION MUSCLE SHOALS QUESTION IS UNDER WAY SENATE

Senator Harrison Says Delay in Action Means Annual Loss to Farmers of $175,000,000

Washington, Dec. 5.—Before the Muscle Shoals issue was taken up in the Senate today two amendments to the Underwood bill were introduced by Senator McNary, Republican, Oregon, and Senator McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee.

The McNary amendment would place the water power development of Muscle Shoals under the Federal Water Power Act. The McKellar amendment would provide that Muscle Shoals be leased only to an American citizen of an American owned corporation. It provides that if the corporation should fall into the hands of a foreign controlled corporation the property would revert to the government.

Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, in opening the discussion of the issue said he was opposed to the Norris government ownership and operation bill because it was primarily a power proposition and did not provide for adequate production of fertilizer for the farmer. Senator Harrison declared the Henry Ford bid was the best solution of the Muscle Shoals question. Asserting that the manufacture of nitrate at Muscle Shoals for fertilizer purposes if done efficiently and economically would cut the price of fertilizer to the consumer more than one half, he said every year's delay was costing the farmers approximately $175,000,000 and added: "It would be the grossest sort of negligence as well as the most convincing lack of statesmanship for this Congress to fail and at this short session, to settle this long delayed question."

TOBACCO AVERAGES $594.68 PER ACRE

W. A. Shivers Completes Sale of His Entire Crop on Greenville Market for High Average

$594.68 net per acre is the price received by Mr. W. A. Shivers, of this county for the sale of his entire 1924 crop of tobacco all of which has been sold on the Greenville market the last sale being made this morning.

Mr. Shivers, who resides near Winterville, is one of the county's most prominent farmers and when it comes to selling his tobacco he is a staunch supporter of the Greenville market.

This season Mr. Shivers raised four acres of tobacco and his net checks received for the sale of his crop totaled $2,378.71, an average of $594.68 per acre. This average which is no doubt the highest made in eastern North Carolina during this season, is one of which both Mr. Shivers and the local market feel justly proud.

While the crop was somewhat lighter this year than heretofore the local market has sold from a wider territory and the total sale, for the season will be close to that of last season despite the shortage. Each year the market is widening its territory and usefulness, and is gaining new friends.

3RD MEMBER NOTED MOUNTAINEER BAND SENTENCED TO JAIL

Story of Battle Between Officers and Mountaineer Band 14 Years Ago Told in Court Yesterday

Greensboro, Dec. 5.—Nearly fourteen years ago revenue officers and a band of mountaineers staged a dramatic battle along the Virginia border 20 miles west of Mount Airy, North Carolina, when an effort was made to rescue a man arrested at a moonshine still.

Late yesterday Frank Brooks, mountaineer, was sentenced in United States District Court here, to serve one year in the Surry County Jail and pay a fine of $300.

Brooks is the third member of the band to be sent to prison.

The story of the fight was retold in United States Court here yesterday although some of the government's witnesses have died since the battle. During the fight which occurred at night in the Blue Ridge Mountains, near Saddle Mountain, Mac Todd, who had been arrested at a moonshine still was freed and T. W. Davis, former sheriff of Surry County, F. K. Harkrader and J. W. Hayes, Deputy United States Marshals, were handcuffed and bound together for a time while the mountaineers tried to force them to drink the moonshine liquor. The mountaineers finally stampeded all the horses save one of the officers, then released the officers and disappeared. Harkrader and Davis were wounded in the fight.

Mac Todd served three years in Milledgeville prison and later Emory Todd was captured and sentenced to 18 months. Brooks returned home several months ago and surrendered. He had been living in West Virginia.

RAINS HALT FOREST FIRES ASHEVILLE

Western Part of State Has Suffered Heavy Timber Loss Due to Forest Fires

Asheville, Dec. 5.—Heavy rains this morning checked what is believed to have been the most disastrous forest fires that has visited Buncombe county for many years when an area of about 15 square miles were burned over, eight miles southeast of this city.

The mountains had been completely enveloped in flames last night. The loss of timber is estimated to run into thousands of dollars. The rain has prevented a heavy timber loss in North Carolina, it is believed. The season has been unusually disastrous in forest fire losses in this section.

Sunday S. Institute Presbyterian Church Closed Last Night

The Institute for teachers of the Sunday School which has been in session for four days at the Presbyterian church, came to a close last night with a good attendance, and a fine lecture by Mr. Carr, superintendent of Sunday School and Y. P. work in the state of North Carolina. Several will secure certificates for attendance and papers submitted, and are desirous to complete the whole course of twelve units as soon as possible. Mr. Carr held the audience for nearly two hours, and all gave him the closest attention throughout. This institute was a success from many viewpoints, in attendance, interest, and the desire to have Mr. Carr conduct a similar one next year. Members of other churches attended and expressed their delight with the course.

SLAYERS OF ARMY OFFICER PAY WITH THEIR LIVES TODAY

Mortimer King and Frank Harrell Die in Electric Chair Today for Murder of Major Samuel McLeary

Columbia, S. C., Dec. 5.—Mortimer N. King, of Canton, and Frank Harrell, of Union county, South Carolina, were electrocuted in the state penitentiary here shortly after six o'clock this morning for the murder of Major Samuel H. McLeary, just off the Raleigh-Columbia highway on July 2, last.

Both had previously confessed they formed a plot to rob a passing tourist which resulted in the death of Major McLeary after he had given them a drive in his automobile.

Although King had confessed to have fired the fatal shot Harrell was the first to be led to the death chamber being electrocuted at 6:22 o'clock. King was seated in the chair and the current turned on about 10 minutes later. Strapped in the chair each of the condemned men substantiated his confession to the robbery although Harrell maintained his complicity did not warrant his being given the death penalty.

Death warrants were read at 5:30 by the captain of the prison guard. Harrell was led into the death chamber at 6:15 and asked to make his final statement. Reaffirming his trust in Divine Mercy he said:

"I've beat a lot of people out of money, a lot of cotton mills, but I want to tell you one thing. I have as good a mother and a father as any of you. I realize I have sinned but I have not done enough to place me where I am today."

At 6:22 a current of 1,900 volts 13 amperes was turned on for a space of one minute and four minutes and ten seconds later he was pronounced dead by the prison physician.

King was led into the chamber shortly afterward and strapped in the chair. "I am very sorry to have to sit down this way this morning before you people," he declared in even clear tones. "I realize my sin have brought me to this place but it can't be helped now." He asked the blessings of God upon all gathered in the room and told one spectator to "Tell all the boys to do right."

The current was turned on at 6:38 for a space of one minute and four minutes later he was dead.

ENGLAND QUESTIONS AMERICA, FRANCE AS TO FUNDING DEBT

Reports That British Government Will Request Details as to the Franco-American Negotiations Surprises Washington

London, Dec. 5.—The British government, it was stated in official quarters today, is expected to address a note to the American and French Governments in the course of the next few days requesting that those governments inform Great Britain what steps have been taken or anticipated in settling the French war debt to the United States.

Washington, Dec. 5.—London reports that the British government expects to address inquiries to Washington and Paris asking for information regarding the funding of the French debt to the United States, were received here today with marked surprise by officials in close touch with the debt funding situation.

It was said authoritatively that no intimation had come from London or from the British Embassy or other quarters thus far indicating that the London Foreign office proposed to take such a step.

CHIEF EXECUTIVE DISPLAYS EXAMPLE ECONOMY IN GOVT.

President Coolidge Makes Chicago Trip On Ordinary Sleeper to Save Government $1,700

Chicago, Dec. 5.—Why the president of the United States came to Chicago in an ordinary sleeping car on a regularly scheduled train instead of a special train as Presidents of the United States usually travel, came to light in a tale related by a White House attaché who accompanied the executive.

The president from the first refused a special train but was willing to take a special car until railroad officials started dickered as to expense, the story went on. "The cost will be $90 a day for the car and an additional charge of 25 fares," railroad representatives informed the White House. It developed that only 10 persons could be carried although 25 fares were charged so the president sent one of his aides to the ticket office to buy space in an ordinary sleeper with the result he emphasized his recent plea for economy by saving approximately $1,700 of the public's money.

Guilford County Cast 6,600 G. O. P. Votes Recent Election

Raleigh, Dec. 5.—Although carried by the Democrats by a large majority, Guilford county is the banner Republican county in North Carolina in the number of votes cast in the recent election, figures made public at the Historical Commission revealed today. Guilford county cast approximately 6,600 Republican ballots in the recent election, passing Randolph and Wilkes counties Republican strongholds, the figures show. Wilkes was the banner Republican county in the state for a number of years, but Randolph led Wilkes in the 1924 election. Randolph cast approximately 6,450 and Wilkes 6,200 Republican votes this year.

Letters from 87 of the 170 legislators show that 15 of them are unmarried, 71 married and one widower. Eleven of the single men are between the ages of 30 and 40 and four are between 21 and 30 years of age.

The oldest man among the 87 was 78 and the youngest 24 years of age.

Koretz May Die Before His Parole Say Physicians

Chicago, Dec. 5.—Leo Koretz, promoter of the Panama oil scheme, will be eligible in eleven months for a parole from the penitentiary to which he was sentenced yesterday from one to ten years.

A malignant disease, which Chief Justice Hopkins considered in passing sentence, may claim him as a victim before the parole board considers the case, physicians who testified indicated.

Local officers plan to start him to the state penitentiary today less than two weeks after his arrest in Halifax, Nova Scotia.

Gastonia Suffers Two Robberies Within Two Days

Gastonia, Dec. 5.—The night payroll of the Mutual Cotton Mills amounting to $750 was stolen from the office of the superintendent last night, it became known today. The theft occurred, it was stated, during a 15 minutes absence from the office of Supt. B. C. Block.

The desk in which the money was locked was broken open. This is the second robbery here within as many days. The Texas Company safe was blown Wednesday night and $102 stolen.

ARTISTS OF BERLIN SHUN THE BIZARRE IN ANNUAL EXHIBIT

Berlin.—There is a decided return to normalcy in German art, if this year's "jury-free" exhibition in the Berlin Glass Palace is any criterion. This is a free-for-all exhibition in which no jury passes in advance upon what may be exhibited or what should be excluded. Its founders propose to give every artist a chance to show the public what he has done. The exhibition therefore offers an excellent birds-eye view of current tendencies in German art.

What strikes one especially at this year's exhibition is the fact that among the 1728 works exhibited, there are very few of a cubist or other freakish nature. There seems to be even a return to the impressionistic in preference to the expressionist school. This is especially true to landscape painting, which is for the most part as realistic as the work of Liebermann or Corot. Younger painters, like Ernst Honigberger, or Gustav Boese, however, seem to employ sharper contrasts of color than did the earlier generation of German painters.

The preponderance of conservative canvasses does not mean, however, that there are not many attempts at art which strike the layman as bizarre. There are pictures, for instance, destined for church altars which are so ugly that one wonders how the originator ever expected to make religious propaganda with them. Similarly, several sculptors have inflicted upon the public statues of women who are fat, unproportioned, and homely.

But these are rather the exceptions. On the whole there is an attempt to get away from pronounced Frenchness, and to make only such departures from old, accepted standards as the layman can follow.

As might be expected in a country which has gone through the depths of economic depression, the exhibition is lacking notably in humorous subjects. On the other hand, the essentially industrial character of modern Germany is indicated by the large number of paintings having to do with labor and industry.

Demand for Both Skilled and Unskilled Labor Still Good

Raleigh, Dec. 4.—While Thanksgiving had its effect upon the employment situation in North Carolina during month ending Saturday, November 29, in such a way that the number of placements fell below those of the previous week, the demand for workers both skilled and unskilled is still good and placements were kept above the 600 mark, according to the report of the State-Federal Employment Service issued here today.

Placements for the week were given as 609—of which 483 were men and 12 were women, while the registration numbered 565 men and 168 women or a total of 733. There were requests for 707 workers of which 565 were for men and 142 for women. The service referred 669 applicants of which 520 were men and 129 were women. Asheville reported the supply and demand for workers, to be about balanced, except for the clerical applicants which as usual are in the surplus. Charlotte, according to the report has a shortage of common labor, brickmasons, and tappers but a surplus of carpenters and domestic and clerical help. Farm labor was said to be satisfactory. Greensboro finds a shortage of farm, domestic and unskilled help. Raleigh and Wilmington have numerous calls for common labor for construction work.

Classification of placements were: skilled, 93; unskilled, 337; clerical and professional, 53; industrial 2; domestic, 101.

Placements by cities were given as follows: Asheville, 113; Charlotte, 86; Greensboro, 109; Raleigh, 86; Wilmington, 145; and Winston-Salem, 70.

DO IT NOW

Every one at this time of year is looking forward to enjoying Christmas but each year due to the procrastination of some of the shoppers many persons are disappointed and many others are so worn out by the ordeal of the few days before to enjoy fully the merriment of Yuletide.

The Christmas shopping season is now on and every one is urged to do their part by shopping early. The Post Office Department is urging all persons to begin the mailing of their Christmas packages as early as possible as it is the hope of the service to have every package delivered at its destination before Christmas Day. The department is also stressing the necessity of wrapping and tying parcels securely and addressing plainly to insure speedy handling and delivery in good condition.

The stores of the city are now filled with Christmas offerings and hundreds of salespeople are ready to serve you, but if you wait until the last minute you may be disappointed and the salespeople will have little opportunity to make preparations for their own Christmas if you compel them to work until midnight Christmas Eve by putting off your shopping. There are but 16 more days in which to shop before Christmas. Each day the merchants through the Reflector are telling you of the wonderful gifts to be found at their establishments. Sit down now, make out a list of those to whom you desire to give and then from the advertisements in the columns of this paper decide just what you are going to give each. Then do not delay in doing your shopping for if you do the articles you desire may not be available.

By doing your shopping now you will not only avoid disappointment on your part but you will make a happier Christmas for others by making it possible for those who must remain behind the counters until the rush is over, to finish their tasks in time to permit them taking part in the festivities of the season.

SHOP NOW for a Happier Christmas for all.

FOR BETTER CITIZENRY

The movement to organize a District Council of Boy Scouts in Pitt, Martin and Beaufort counties is one that should be close to the heart of every citizen of the community and should receive the support of all.

The boys of today are the men of tomorrow upon whose shoulders must rest the responsibilities of citizenship and only through proper training can these future citizens be prepared to take over these great responsibilities.

Realizing the great need of boys' work in the community the Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs and other civic organizations in the three counties have placed themselves squarely behind the council movement and already its success is assured.

In order to carry on the work as it should be funds are necessary and the quota to be raised by citizens of Greenville is $1,500. The committee composed of a few citizens who on last night personally guaranteed Greenville's quota in order that the organization might be perfected at once and work begin are to be congratulated for their interest in behalf of the future citizenry of Greenville.

Committees from local organizations will on next Thursday make a drive to raise the necessary quota for Greenville and it is hoped that every citizen interested in the future of the community will do their part in subscribing to the fund.

The District Council, Scouting, being primarily a volunteer movement, under volunteer leadership, the reason for having paid workers in Scouting is as stated above. The Scout Executive's job is to secure and train volunteer men, who will in turn do the Scout work directly with the boys. The Scout program is operated with a maximum of volunteer leadership and a minimum of paid leadership.

For this reason the Scout organization does not desire to have first class councils, and to raise the necessary budget in communities where there would not be a possibility of sufficient troops to keep a Scout Executive busy.

Hence, in order to completely cover the entire field and to make Scouting in first class shape available to all boys everywhere, the Scout organization is forming first class councils in smaller communities by grouping together a number of such communities until a population and territory sufficient to warrant a council is secured.

By doing this, the financial expense of the council is pro-rated among a number of towns, not making it burdensome on any. A spirit of co-operation is secured by having several towns working together on such a real worthwhile enterprise.

The Scout Executive, who is employed by the council, is able to have a real job. This Executive, in the District Council, as they are called, gives his time to each of the towns in the council and an efficient organization is maintained to see that all boys have a chance to be scouts under the best of conditions, and that the troops which are formed are made permanent.

It is the expectation of the Scout organization to have the entire Sixth Field Region, composed of the states of North and South Carolina, Georgia and Florida, completely organized into these district councils within the next twelve months. A wonderful possibility is ahead of us to give this great Scout program in its best possible form to the entire boyhood of Dixie.

GERMAN ELECTION WILL SEE 7 PARTIES STRIVING FOR REINS

Three Minor Parties Are Also Trying to Be Head of Government; Several Other Organizations Seeking Admission Parliament

Berlin.—Seven major parties and a score of minor aggregations will contend for supremacy at the elections to the Reichstag, or parliament of Dec. 7. The idea of a two or even three party system in Germany is almost unthinkable. While there is, roughly speaking, a left, a center, and a right wing, the parties within each of these designations are knifing each other so bitterly, or else have such well defined and differing economic or religious creeds, that their amalgamation with the next adjacent group seems out of the question.

Beginning on the extreme left there is the Communist party. It is not only a "left," or radical, party, but its place is to the extreme left of the speaker of the house. In the last Reichstag it had 62 seats, before that only 15. It is freely predicted that its delegation will be greatly reduced as a result of the election. The Communist party takes all its orders from Moscow.

Next to the Communists sit the Socialists, 100 in number at the last election. There is cordial hatred between Communists and Socialists.

The Socialists have been the backbone of the "fulfillment policy;" they have held throughout that Germany must live up to the obligations of a nation defeated in war. Together with the Democrats they have formed the mainstay of the republican idea. Even when they were in power the Socialists made little effort to try Socialistic experiments. They have limited themselves to looking after legislation tending to better the conditions of the working people. Like the Communists, they emphasize the class struggle.

The Democrats, working hand in hand with the Socialists in matters affecting foreign policy, pacifism and republicanism, differ from them in denying the theory of the class struggle. They want to realize the ideal preached in America by Samuel Gompers, of harmonious cooperation between labor and capital. It is the party of liberalism. At the last election it won 28 seats.

Paradoxical as it may seem, the most unified and at the same time most heterogeneous party is the Catholic center, which had 65 seats in the Reichstag. It comprises hundreds of thousands of workers linked together in the so-called Christian trade unions, and at the same time some of the richest captains of industry of the Rhineland. The unifying factor between these divergent groups is the Catholic faith. The party is officially Republican, but in its membership are undoubtedly included many who would just as soon accept a monarchy.

To the right of the Center party sat the 41 members of the German People's Party of Gustav Stresemann, whose creation the party largely is. It is broadly speaking, the party of the industrialists. Its course has been as vacillating as that of its leader, who was alternately monarchist, republican, and again monarchist. The party is conservative in economic, financial and social matters, and less interested as to whether Germany is a republic or a monarchy.

The National Socialists, 32 strong, in the last Reichstag, are chiefly anti-Jewish, and anti-Catholic, anti-Socialist, anti-republic. Their inability to unite on positive, constructive policies has cost them dearly in the recent municipal elections, and has involved them in an ugly internal row in their stronghold Bavaria. Their leader is General Ludendorff.

On the extreme right of the House sit the German nationalists. They numbered 106 in the last Reichstag, and were thus the strongest faction. The financial backbone of this party are the junkers and the landed aristocracy, and it is avowedly monarchistic, nationalistic, and anti-Socialist.

Besides these seven major parties, three minor parties were seated in the last Reichstag. These were the Bavarian People's party, with 16 members; an economic party counting 15 members, and four members of a non-descript "German Social party."

The ten parties represented in the last Reichstag by no means exhaust the list of political organizations seeking admission to parliament. At the last election there were fewer than 26 parties in the running; but as it takes 60,000 votes to win a seat, the race was to the relatively few.

Experiment Proves Common Leaf Diseases Tobacco Preventable

Raleigh, Dec. 5.—Experiments conducted for a number of years by Dr. F. A. Wolf of North Carolina Experiment Station prove that the common leaf diseases of tobacco are preventable, says a statement issued at the station here today.

Most of these diseases are infectious and have their beginnings in the plant bed from which they are carried to the field. Dr. Wolf finds, and as a consequence the farmer loses by a reduction in grade and a decrease in weight of the leaf an amount varying from a few hundred dollars to several thousand dollars each year according to the tobacco acreage planted and the prevalence of disease in his fields.

The most common form of these diseases according to Dr. Wolf, are wildfire, angular leafspot, mosaic and frog-eye, all of which are preventable if proper efforts are made to have the seed bed free from disease. Infection, it was explained, may be carried to the seed bed by any one of the five following ways:

The seed may be contaminated by coming from infected pods, cloth covers may harbor the disease from the previous season, using the same old bed or having a new one at the edge of a diseased field; using manure with trash from diseased tobacco, transferring the germs from infected seed beds to clean ones by going from one bed to another.

The way to overcome these diseases and to insure the health of seedlings,

R. T. COX
JEFFERSON STANDARD LIFE INSURANCE CO
District Agent

it was pointed out, is to make up a new plant bed each year, avoid using any material that was at or around the old plant bed, get seed from disease-free plants, disinfect the seed for ten minutes with formaldehyde or corrosive sublimate, use new covers, do not plant in diseased fields, the field after setting and pull out all diseased plants, and try not to carry the disease from one bed to another.

BAGDAD BUZZES WITH RUMORS ABOUT SEYYID TALIB PASHA

Bagdad.—Great interest has been aroused in Bagdad by the rumor that Seyyid Talib Pasha, a former aspirant to the Irak throne, who is reported to be now in Egypt, is to be allowed to return to his native land. Sayyid Talib was deported by the British authorities in 1921 on account of a speech at a public dinner in which he criticized the British policy of that time. He is known to have had serious designs on the kingship, and was probably the most serious rival that the then Emir, now King Faisal had to face.

Seyyid was easily the most prominent political figure produced in this country by the stormy political life of the period. Little girls adore these Lloyd Doll Carriages

And no wonder! They are just like real Lloyd Loom Baby Carriages, made on the same loom, by the same sprial weaving process. They are beautiful, strong and lasting. And they are not high priced. Steel hearts in all upright stakes add rigidity to these carriages. Be sure to choose early, before the Christmas rush snaps up all the choicest styles.
