JAMES B. DUKE DONATES $46,000,000 TO TRINITY AND OTHER INSTITUTIONS

Trust Fund of $40,000,000 Established and $6,000,000 for Expansion Added; Trinity University; Hospitals to Be Changed to Duke and Orphanages Also Share

Raleigh, Dec. 9. - Whenever the Board of Trustees of Trinity College are officially advised of the gift of James B. Duke a meeting of the board will undoubtedly be called to take action, Joseph G. Brown president of the board stated here today.

Mr. Brown said in the direction of his philanthropy Mr. Duke has displayed the same genius that has characterized all his business enterprises.

To his former generous benefactions he has added a marvelous contribution to benevolent and educational work of this country, in my opinion most strikingly significant of which we have any record.

The Board of Trustees of Trinity College will undoubtedly be convened for action whenever official notice of the gift is received.

Durham, Dec. 9. - Trinity College will comply with the conditions upon which the donation of James B. Duke to the college is based and the trustees will do all in their power to cooperate with the philanthropist in carrying out his ideals of educational advancement and social good.

This is taken to mean that the college will immediately change its name to Duke University as specified in the conditions of the donation.

Dr. Few stated that he was very thankful for the generous portion of the $40,000,000 donations of Mr. Duke to educational and welfare institutions in North and South Carolina, which Trinity College has been allotted in the name of Duke University.

The president also said he was deeply grateful for the $6,000,000 which the institution would receive immediately for expansion, adding that with this amount the school could begin its program of educational service that had long been dreamed of.

Others connected with the college also expressed pleasure at the school's good fortune and are grateful to Mr. Duke.

A great number of alumni throughout the state are prophesying a great future for the college under the expanded system which is made possible through the Donations of Mr. Duke.

Charlotte, Dec. 9. - Establishment of a trust for charitable and educational purposes in North and South Carolina embracing properties valued at at least $40,000,000, announced here tonight by J. B. Duke, multi-millionaire North Carolina power magnate.

Among the securities thus set aside are about three-fourths of Mr. Duke's holdings in the Southern Power Company, the income of which during the next few years will aggregate approximately $2,000,000 a year.

The trust will be administered by fifteen trustees, who will constitute a self-perpetuating body.

The trustees first are directed and empowered to expand not exceeding $6,000,000 in obtaining lands and erecting and equipping thereon buildings "in the State of North Carolina to be known and operated as Duke University" but with the provision that if Trinity College at Durham, N. C., sees fit to change its name to Duke University this sum may be spent in expanding and extending Trinity College.

The trust then provides that twenty per cent of the income shall be retained each year and added to the principal until such funds have aggregated $40,000,000, making the total of the trust fund approximately $80,000,000. After this percentage

O'CONNOR DECLARES GRAIN ELEVATOR GOVT. OPERATION OF SHIPS IS NECESSARY IS DESTROYED BY FIRE EARLY TODAY

Chairman of Shipping Board Replies to Criticism by Ship and the Chamber Commerce United States

Washington, Dec. 9. - Anybody urging at the present time that the United States Government get out of the shipping business is "in reality asking for increased business for foreign owned ships," Chairman O'Connor, of the Shipping Board, declared in an address prepared for delivery today at a meeting here of the National Board of Steam Navigation.

Leveling his remarks at the reported assertions by Ira S. Campbell, former admiralty counsel to the Shipping Board, that the government operation was not in progress toward private support and ownership, the shipping board chairman declared: "Mr. Campbell, from the nature of his former employment by the board and his present employment as a lawyer, knows what I say is true."

Replying to criticism of the board's policies by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and Ship Owners, Chairman O'Connor declared that to agree with their position, in effect there is no justification of government operation of ships for competitive purposes at a definite means selling the government ships of scrapping them. Ship owners know and the Chamber of Commerce ought to know that no American citizen under the present conditions would buy any considerable number of our ships," he declared.

GERMAN ELECTION IS DISAPPOINTMENT SAYS FRENCH PRESS

Newspapers of French Capital Differ As To What Future of Berlin Government Will Be

Paris, Dec. 9. - The result of the German election is a disappointment to French opinion all the newspapers agree. The outcome was a statement the Parisienne observes. Although strengthening the Centralists and the Socialist Democratic parties and giving reassurance for peace it is feared by the papers that the instability and confusion of which German politics afford a spectacle before the dissolution of the Reichstag will continue.

Le Matin sees things in a more hopeful light and believes Dr. Stresemann will "turn to the Left" retaining office with Chancellor Marx in the present combination. "However, that may be," it adds, "the Allies who expect better things of good will from the German people can congratulate themselves on the victory of Chancellor Marx. Normal operations of the experts 'Dawes plan is guaranteed.'"

Louvetre, which is one of the principal organs supporting Premier Herriot takes the same view as Le Matin while Pertinax, in the Echo Paris, remarks, "Government from the center can be no easier after that before the 7th of January."

MORTIMER UNDER FIRE OF COUNSEL FOR CHAS. FORBES

Government's Chief Witness in Veterans' Bureau Conspiracy Undergoes Its Second Day of Cross Examination

Chicago, Dec. 9. - Colonel Charles R. Forbes, during his term as director of the Veterans' Bureau, sought only the highest reliable and financially responsible contractors hospital work, he repeatedly told Elias H. Mortimer, contractors' agent, the latter testified today on cross examination at the trial of Forbes and others on conspiracy charges growing out of the Veterans' Bureau's administration under Forbes.

Mortimer also told of an agreement between himself and Forbes reached early in 1922 under which were to be divided between them 35 per cent of the profits on contracts awarded firms which Mortimer represented in negotiations with the bureau.

Mortimer was on the stand for the second day's cross examination today. He is chief witness for the government in the case against Charles R. Forbes and J. W. Thompson on trial for conspiracy to defraud the government in the allocation of hospital contracts.

Mortimer recounted a meeting with Forbes in March 1922, two months after Forbes had been appointed to the bureau post. There were several conversations with Forbes in which he was represented as soliciting agent for various contractors interested in the Veterans' Bureau awards. He had been given a list of proposed hospital sites by Forbes late in 1922, Mortimer said.

James S. Easby-Smith endeavored to bring out that each of the three sites on the list had previously been awarded by President Harding as hospital sites, and announcement had been published by the newspapers.

Mortimer told also, under the rapid fire questions of defense counsel, of the disappearance of some papers from his apartment in a Chicago hotel and from a safe deposit box in a Washington Bank. The papers were stolen at three different times and given to Colonel Forbes, Mortimer replied in answer to Colonel Easby-Smith of defense counsel. The answer was permitted to stand despite objection by the defense.

BRITISH PARLIAMENT IS FORMALLY OPENED BY KING GEORGE TODAY

Speech From Throne Is Considered Throughout Political World As One of Unusual Comprehension Likely to Take Place in History

London, Dec. 9. - King George opened Parliament in State today with a speech of full pronouncement of foreign and domestic affairs.

Beginning with a declaration that Great Britain's relations with foreign powers continued friendly the king pointed out that Egypt had accepted Great Britain's demands for redress following the campaign of hostility against the British in Egypt and the Sudan culminating in the murder of the sirdar.

The king said the government was unable to recommend Parliamentary consideration of the Soviet treaties but desired that "normal intercourse between the two countries shall not be interrupted." He said that the government proposed to proceed with government proposed to proceed with the naval base at Singapore.

He expressed deep interest in the problems of the League of Nations mentioning the visit to Rome of Foreign Secretary Chamberlain and said the British Dominion Governments had not yet had time to complete the study of the Geneva arbitration protocol which they were now examining.

Close co-operation of the dominion and India would be a guiding plan for the people of the governments which would also adhere to the policy encouraging empire settlement and mutual trade, submitting to Parliament a recommendation for further imperial preferences based on the proceeding of last year's imperial economic conference.

As a whole, the king in his formally opening the 6th Parliament of his reign was an unusually comprehensive one and considered by the political world likely to take its place as an historic document of exceptional importance.

M'COY NOT TO MAKE PLEA OF INSANITY

Defense Will Try To Prove Former Husband Slain Woman Should Be Tried

Los Angeles, Dec. 9. - If insanity was the defense on which attorneys hoped to acquit Kid McCoy former pugilist, of the charge of murdering Mrs. Theresa Mors, here last August, it was not apparent as the second day of McCoy's trial began in Superior court today.

Opening clashes between counsel yesterday indicated that the defense would attempt to prove that Albert A. Mors, antique dealer and former husband of the slain woman, should be tried for the murder.

McCoy, however, stated at the close of the session devoted principally to the constitution of prospective jurors that he intended to adhere to his original explanation of the killing that Mrs. Mors shot herself despite his efforts to prevent the suicide.

Fifteen Men Now Occupying Cells in "Death Row"

Raleigh, Dec. 9. - With the arrival recently of two negroes from Chowan county, there are now 15 men occupying cells in "death row" at the State Prison under sentence to die in the electric chair.

The population of "death row" reached 17 several years ago, which is said to have been the record. There were 15 men confined in this section of the prison several weeks ago, but the commutation of sentences by the governor and the electrocution of one man brought the number down to 13. There are 13 negroes and two white men in the death cells. A majority of the men were convicted for murder.

Prison officials say members of the colony are unusually cheerful for men in their circumstances. Some of the prisoners sing a good deal during the day, others pass the time away picking lanjoo and other string instruments. The prisoners spend much of the night in conversation with each other. The section where the death cells are located is seldom quiet, except for a night or so after a man has been electrocuted.

The men under sentence of death, officials say, have the greatest sympathy for each other. They usually hold a sort of single justice when one of their number has his death sentence commuted.

The prisoners are taken out of their cells twice daily for exercise in corridors in front of the tier of cells. They are also permitted to leave their cells when lawyers or relatives visit them, but they are closely guarded said.

Of the 196 prisoners at the State Prison, 155 are negroes. There are 146 men and 50 women in the prison held.

GETTYSBURG TALK NOT IMPROMPTU, SAYS THIS SCHOLAR

Urbana, Ill., Dec. 1.—Contrary to any general belief that Lincoln's Gettysburg address was either unprepared or a hastily prepared effort, it was a result of careful thought and much work, according to Prof. Daniel Killam Dodge of the University of Illinois. He is convinced, after years of research work, that Lincoln's success in writing and speaking was the result of constant effort and that standard English to the Civil War President was an acquired dialect.

"It has often been assumed that Lincoln, like Gold-faith, was a master of English style by the grace of God, and without special effort on his part," Professor Dodge declared. "Nothing could be farther from the truth. For we have abundant evidence, both in formal and external, that Lincoln's success in writing and speaking, as in the practice of the law, was the result of constant effort. Just as he made thorough preparation of his law cases, studying his opponent's side as carefully as his own, never depending upon the inspiration of the moment, so he bestowed infinite pains upon the preparation of his speeches, generally writing them out in full and committing them to memory. He summed up his practice as a lawyer in these words of advice to a law student: 'Work, work, work, that is the main thing.' 'When he did speak without preparation, as with the short speeches on the journey to Washington in 1861 or the response to a serenade the evening before the delivery of the Gettysburg address, the result was anything but successful. Unlike Seaward, he had not the tongue of a ready speaker, and with characteristic self-criticism he realized this defect himself. This negative characteristic was undoubtedly due in part to the fact that standard English was an acquired dialect with him and therefore he lacked the spontaneity in its use of one to the manner born. "But this defect also had its advantages and it is to a great extent responsible for his later complete mastery of the spoken word. It contributed to making Lincoln a progressive artist, advancing step by step from the trade 'Communication' of 1832 through the rather sophomoric efforts of the late thirties and early forties and the more restrained speeches of the fifties to the mark of high literary distinction of the Cooper Institution Address, the two Inaugurals and the Gettysburg Address."

Berlin—Prize fighters in Germany are for the moment, rolling in clover. Instead of existing on beer and sausage and black bread, as was the case with many of them a year ago, the pugilists are again in their prime living on milk and honey and splendid steaks. Paper mark days for the fighters were clan, and a good many of them had to go to work. But with the stabilization of the mark to the fight fans, have developed in as-

Bethel School News

You older people: How many of you finished high school when you were growing up? Did you profit or lose by finishing? I am sure you lost if you did not. Not one of you, but had you the last years of school, could have made a much higher mark in the world. Admit it or not, you would be a much better citizen today than you are; and you who did finish: I am sure also, that you would not part with the training and knowledge afforded you by your years in high school for infinitely more than the time and expense it cost you.

Now here is what I am driving at: How many of your children are you sending on, do you intend to send to high school?

Each and every one of your children is due all the education you can afford to give them. And father, mother, you can afford a great deal more for the welfare of your children than you can for your care. Though I have seen many that think they cannot, or simply will not.

Parents: Your boy and girl will be the man and woman of tomorrow; therefore, give them a chance to develop into citizens of strong character and sturdy ability through the channels of an A Grade High School.

The dividends will repay you a thousand-fold.

Muses of A. Monkey, "Bawl Two," shouted the professional umpire as the doctor informed him of the arrival of twins. We will all stand while singing that little ditty, entitled "When your shoes wear out, you'll be on your feet again."

We live to learn; Ashley James informed us that Canterbury (England) was a poet.

Elizabeth Harpenpipes up to the time of "Denmark is the Capital of Sweden."

General talk the other day leads to the discussion of the adoption of a Senior Class Mascot. Frances Barnhill evidently misunderstood, "What a Magnet?" She thought it had drawing power perhaps. Ask Frances.

Junior Class News
We have an up and coming Junior Class this year. We are well up on credits and expect to leave the Seniors of this year in the shade when we attain that high honor next year.

The Junior class met last Friday to discuss a present which they are to give to the school when they graduate. They decided on an indoor scene for the stage, which is to be painted and put with the Senior Class present, which is to be a background scene. Both presents are to be put up the twentieth of this month.

The Juniors are planning to give a play immediately after the Christmas holidays. The play decided on is entitled "My Irish Rose," we expect to begin practicing as quickly as possible.

Ninth Grade

1. We were sorry for the absence of Miss Helen House from our class on Wednesday, December 3, on account of the death of her grandfather, Mr. J. A. Manning.

2. The girls of the ninth grade feel very slighted because their pictures were not taken. We assume that Mr. Page was afraid we would break the camera.

The girls say it was due to the fact that the boys had already broken it.

OF COURSE, there is nothing quite so satisfactory as a personal visit to the new MILLER & RHOADS store.

To stroll through the broad, high-pitched floors and merely look at the great assortments of merchandise gathered here from the four corners of the globe is a pleasure in itself. And when there are purchases to be made—gift-things for one's friends; a bit of decoration or some utility for the home; or, perhaps, wearing apparel for the winter season—then the added joy of selection, inspired by these great displays, makes the experience a sheer delight.

But second only to the pleasure of making personal selections here, is the satisfaction that comes with knowing that one's gifts and personal requirements are from MILLER & RHOADS.

Not everyone, of course, will find it convenient to visit the store in the short time between now and Christmas—and, expressly for these, we have provided one of the store's most helpful features:

A Personal Mail-Shopping Service!

If you cannot call, and will write, telephone or telegraph us your wants, your inquiry or order will be entrusted to one of our staff of experienced shoppers, who will make a personal round of the various departments, attending to your purchases just as you, yourself, would make them during a visit to the store.

Our Mail-Shopping Service is guided by the single purpose of pleasing our patrons—so you may be sure that even if you cannot have the pleasure of a visit to the "Christmas Shopping Center" just now, your gifts may be chosen here just the same—and with all the thoughtful care and good judgment you, yourself, would use in their selection.

As these shoppers are on duty day after day, they are naturally familiar with our stocks and are well posted on new and unusual offerings from time to time. For this reason, they are often able to make purchases for our patrons to even better advantage than would be possible for the casual visitor.

Come to Richmond, and to MILLER & RHOADS, this week, if you possibly can; we promise you your time and effort will be well repaid. But if you cannot come, then trust us to make selections for you. Simply write us your wants—as fully, or as briefly, as you please; your most exacting requirements will have our painstaking attention.

If you cannot get what you want in your own locality, try—

FRIDAY NIGHT—BENEFIT HIGH SCHOOL ORCHESTRA—BEBE DANIELS IN—"UNGUARDED WOMEN"—"SPECIAL MUSIC."

H. H. JACKSON,
Manager White's Theatre,
Greenville, N. C.
DEAR SIR:

Being a patron of White's Theatre and knowing Greenville demands the best of attractions, I feel "Triumph" is due some mention.

Having seen "The Ten Commandments" which was produced by Mr. De Mille, then "Triumph" at your theatre last night, I feel Greenville is getting the best pictures as well as road attractions money can buy.

"Triumph" is a picture ranking with "The Ten Commandments," and one of the best that has appeared on White's screen to date. It has been given up that De Mille is the greatest producer of the screen and I urge every person of our city that stands for better, cleaner and refined shows to see "TRIUMPH."

Yours Truly,

worthy of the consideration he showed me," Carter said. "I can never forget the Governor and those dear friends who stuck to me in the darkest hour of my life. I have forgiven everybody who has treated me unfairly and I expect to spend the balance of my days in trying to do good."
