TEACHERS COLLEGE CLOSING TODAY FOR THE HOLIDAYS

Will Reopen On Tuesday, January 6; First December Graduation Held On Wednesday Evening

The East Carolina Teachers College closed at noon today for the Christmas holidays. The girls and teachers are leaving on every train and bus that goes out today.

It will open again Tuesday morning, January 6th. The schedule planned ahead placed the opening date on January 1, but arrangements were made by which the three days will be made up on Mondays, the usual week end day when classes do not meet.

The first December graduation exercises ever held at Teachers College were held last evening at 6:45 when six young women received diplomas for the completion of the two year course, and one had the A. B. degree conferred upon her for having completed the four year college course.

Mrs. Lillie Hewitt Petway is not only the first one to receive her degree in December but the first married woman to continue her work after her marriage until she receives a degree.

The six who received diplomas were as follows: Misses Dora Lawhorn, Agnes Hathaway, Irene Braswell, Kate Hudson, Lucy Kornegay and Eva Hockaday.

At 6:45 the students assembled in the auditorium and the seven young women took their places on the rostrum.

President Wright, before delivering to them their diplomas, Bibles and certificates, made a talk to them on what the college means in the State. He impressed upon them the idea that those who go forth from the college with diplomas and enter the school rooms of the state are the standard bearers, the forerunners of the civilization of tomorrow. He asked the question, "Who are the people who give the ideals and standards of citizenship?" "As are the schools and the ideals of the schools today, so will be the citizens of tomorrow," was the answer. He made them see that they go back as standard bearers, with the ideals they have gathered in college on top of the ideals they brought here. He also made them see that they will shape from the childhood of the state the citizenship of the morrow.

He spoke of the ideals and standards of the college. Traditions are followed only when it seems best, and are departed from whenever the needs of the present are not met by following the past.

The fact that the college graduates young women in December and in August, giving them diplomas when their work is completed, is a break from custom. There is really no reason why diplomas should be given out only in June.

He expressed the hope that the college would soon grow to where it could offer all courses at the same time, so it would be possible for any one to take the work she wishes at any time. He spoke of the things that will be done to increase the usefulness of the college when the maintenance is increased, and the sums asked for permanent improvements are appropriated.

He closed by wishing a happy Christmas to all by referring to the Santa Claus spirit.

PITT COUNTY RED CROSS CHAPTER IS ON INACTIVE LIST

After January First There Will Be No Local Red Cross Secretary On Account Failure Roll Call

Due to the fact the Red Cross roll call was a financial failure in Greenville, the Executive committee of the Red Cross met on Tuesday afternoon and decided that this chapter would go on the inactive list for the time being. This means of course, that after Jan. 1 there will be no Red Cross Secretary for Pitt county. The Executive Committee felt it necessary to take this step because there is in the treasury at the present time only about fifteen hundred dollars. The expenses of maintaining a full-time secretary amount to around twenty-four hundred dollars for the year. The committee voted to put this money on time deposit in the local banks and let it remain there until such time as it might become necessary to use it for relief work among the civilian population, as well as among the ex-soldiers, especially the disabled ones.

The committee felt that the department of Public Welfare, and the Health Department can look after all the work formerly done by the Red Cross, save the work among the disabled soldiers. To see that this work is carried on in the manner in which it should be, the Executive Committee appointed a committee consisting of J. H. Rose, Mrs. R. Williams and A. B. Ellington. This committee will work with the American Legion in looking after the interest of all ex-soldiers.

The committee also voted to offer for sale immediately, the office furniture and typewriter and the Ford Coupe which belong to the County Chapter, and appointed Mr. Ellington to dispose of the property.

The Executive Committee at the present time is composed of the following: Chairman, H. E. Austin; Mrs. R. Williams, Mr. Herbert White, J. H. Rose, A. B. Ellington, A. B. Cbrey, Rev. Mr. Harris, of Bethel, and J. C. Gaskins.

SAMUEL GOMPERS IS LAID TO REST TODAY

Late President American Federation of Labor Buried in Historic Sleepy Hollow Cemetery

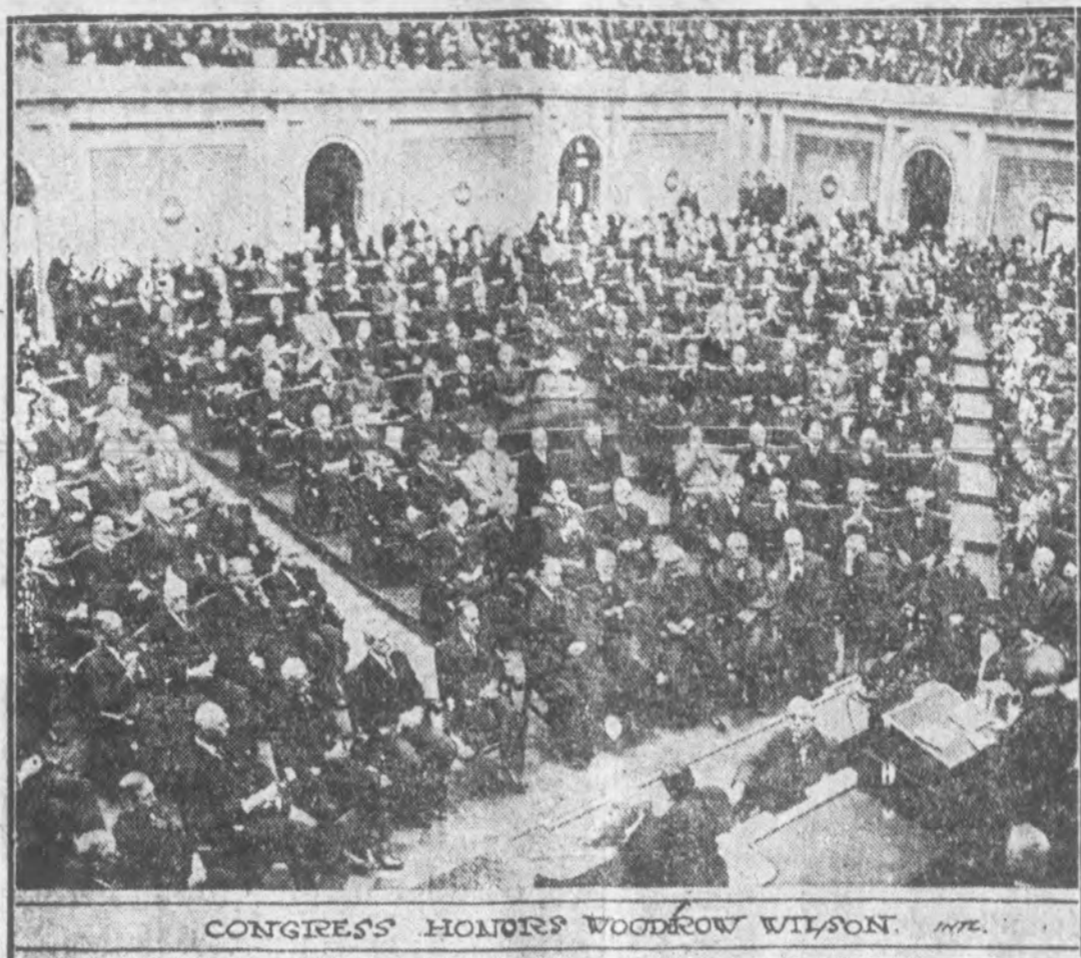

New York, Dec. 18.—Impressive funeral services were held today for Samuel Gompers, late president of the American Federation of Labor, at the Elks Club here after which the body was taken by automobile to Tarrytown for burial in historic Sleepy Hollow Cemetery.

The great assembly hall of Elks Lodge Number 1, draped in the purple mourning of the order, was crowded with former co-workers and friends of the late Labor leader, among them high city and state officials. 1,500 persons who were unable to gain entrance into the hall, assembled in the town hall across the street and heard the services over radio.

Officials of the lodge headed by Sol Tekulsky, Exalted Ruler, marched into the room and conducted the obituary rituals of the fraternity. Each officer wore a white carnation which is the official badge of mourning.

The simple Jewish rites for the dead were conducted by Rabbi

SEN. REED ASSAILS PROHIBITION PLAN POISON ALCOHOL

Declares Placing of the Poison in Industrial Alcohol is "Wicked, Damnable and Approaching Murder"

Washington, Dec. 18.—Prohibition as it now exists was placed on the grill today by Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri, at a Senate committee hearing on the Crampton bill to make the prohibition unit a specific Treasury Bureau.

Following a succession of witnesses, including officials of the prohibition forces, Senator Reed asked what Congress could do to "make prohibition agents honest," paid his respects to drug store whiskey and suggested that the authorized addition of poison to industrial alcohol prevents its use in liquor manufacturing, as approaching murder.

Dr. J. M. Doran, chief of the Industrial Alcohol Division of the prohibition unit, was explaining that strychnine alcohol caused a bitter taste and also prevented its use in synthetic gin and other drinks of the prohibition era, when Senator Reed interrupted him.

"Can a skillful chemist get this out by distilling?"

"Undoubtedly," Doran replied.

"That's reassuring," said Reed.

Doran then told of another chemical use of which would cause a taste in liquor which would turn the person against the further use of liquor.

"I suggest you give the formula to Dr. Wayne B. Wheeler for I think he has been looking for that for a long while," said Reed. "Don't you think it is approaching murder to put subtle poisons in alcohol which you think might be converted into whiskey?"

Doran did not agree with the assumption but turned the discussion to whiskey. He said that whiskey sold in drug stores was good whiskey.

"You haven't had as much experience as I have, then," retorted Reed who then returned to the subject of poisoned alcohol.

"You have already said that poison is put in alcohol and yet some buy alcohol supposed to be pure to be used in liquor manufacturing," said Reed. "You know that one tenth will be used for drinking yet you poison it. Don't you think you are poisoning the American people. I think it is wicked and damnable and if you can think of any other adjectives you can put them in."

Stephen S. Wise, This he began with the reading of the Twenty Third Psalm, followed by other verses from the scriptures.

FRANCE DISCUSSES FUNDING WAR DEBT TO GREAT BRITAIN

Treasury Officials in Hope That Negotiations Will Result In Earlier Settlement All Around

Washington, Dec. 18.—France's reported intention of opening discussions with Great Britain on arrangements to fund her debt to the London government occasions predictions at the Treasury Department that this government like Great Britain will insist on equal treatment.

While there was no announcement of any diplomatic move high officials of the treasury declared it was obvious, that the United States could expect a settlement from France when that nation makes one with England. It was declared that there is no reason why militant attitude should be adopted here since French diplomatic representatives have already held a series of conferences on the question with Secretary Mellon.

The French debt to the United States is larger than the amount she owes to Great Britain and in as much as both loans were made to finance the war, Treasury officials see no reason why preferential treatment should be accorded the British.

This pronouncement completes a series of official declarations, which were concluded recently by an announcement in Parliament by Winston Churchill, Chancellor of Exchequer, that if any European nation owing money to both Great Britain and the United States should pay her debt to the Washington government a similar payment would be expected to be made to London. Altogether the discussions on the surface appear to have arrived nowhere although officials here are hopeful that they may have somewhat advanced the prospects of settlement all around.

FILIBUSTER MAY PREVENT VOTE ON UNDERWOOD BILL

Leaders Making Effort to Obtain Consent to Set Definite Time for Vote on Measure By Senate

Washington, Dec. 18.—Convinced that a filibuster is being waged against the Underwood Muscle Shoals bill, Senate leaders today planned to attempt to obtain consent of the Senate for a definite time to vote on the measure.

Both Republican and Democratic leaders are working to clear the Senate calendar of the Muscle Shoals legislation before the holiday recess is taken Saturday. Opponents of the Underwood bill, however, are showing no sign of acceding to the wish for an early vote one of the leaders declaring that a vote on the measure will not come until after the Christmas recess.

The subcommittee of the Judiciary Committee of the Senate was called for a preliminary meeting today in the inquiry into the Washington Herald's editorial attack upon Senator Underwood and his Muscle Shoals bill.

MIDDLE WEST IN GRIP SEVERE WINTER WEATHER

Denver, Dec. 18.—Montana and Wyoming are still held today in the vise like grip of the severest storm of the winter while New Mexico, northern Arizona and Utah were emerging from four days of bitter cold. A temperature of 30 degrees below zero was reported at Lewistown, Montana yesterday, the low mark of the winter at this point. The cold caused one death at Shelby, Montana, where a negro woman froze to death.

CITY SCHOOLS WILL CLOSE FRIDAY FOR HOLIDAYS

Interesting Closing Program Arranged for All Departments; To Reopen Monday, January 5

The Greenville City Schools will close for the Christmas holidays tomorrow, Friday, December 19 at 3:10. They will re-open Monday, January 5. All the different schools will put on special program today and tomorrow and the friends of the school, are invited again to make a visit to the schools. This evening at 8 o'clock in the High School auditorium the High School Glee Club will present their annual Christmas program of songs. All the members of the club will be in costume. There are two reces and the program will last about one hour. The costumes were made by the members of the Home Economics Class of the High School under the direction of Miss Katherine Millsaps. The Glee Club work this year has been carried on under the direction of Miss Eucletic Thomas. Those who are lucky enough to get a seat in the auditorium this evening will be able to judge how hard she has worked and what fine results she has produced. There is no charge for admission.

Tomorrow morning the Model School will have a short program of Christmas songs around the Christmas tree which has been put up in the hall. And in addition to this there will be other programs during the day in the different classrooms.

The Evans Street School will also put on a number of Christmas programs in the various rooms of the building. If it could have been foreseen that this fine weather would be here at this time, the school would have prepared a special program and put it on out of doors. It is impossible to plan definitely for assembly programs in the two elementary schools of the city because of a lack of auditorium facilities.

Most of the teachers of the city schools will go to their homes for the holidays. However, some will remain in the city at the Vines House. The schools have had a very fine year so far. There has been no serious sickness among either the children or the faculty. The weather barring the floods of the first week of school, has been excellent. The result has been an average attendance of about 97 per cent of the enrollment, and fewer tardies than ever before.

The new school in West Greenville is being built rapidly and will be completed in April. This building will be best built and about the best-looking building in the school system. The architect has just about completed the plans for the Junior High School building which will be erected on the site of the present High School. The contract for this building will be let about the last of January and will be ready for the opening of school in September 1925.

OFFICIALS SEE NO JAPANESE AMERICA TROUBLE IN FUTURE

Secretary Hughes Issues Welcome to New Japanese Ambassador Who Is Soon to Come to Washington

Washington, Dec. 18.—The Washington Government whose officials have been puzzled and somewhat disturbed by the agitation over American and Japanese relations took occasion today to formally bespeak an era of most cordial relations between the two countries.

Departing from precedent Secretary Hughes issued a formal statement taking notice of the appointment of Tsuno Matudaira as the new Japanese Ambassador here and welcoming his coming to this country as further cementing the friendship between Washington and Tokio.

Tokio, Dec. 18.—Tsuno Matudaira was officially gazetted and installed as Japanese Ambassador to the United States at a reception at the Imperial Palace today. He expects to sail on the Korta Maru and plans to arrive in Washington in time to witness the inaugural ceremonies March 4.

Washington, Dec. 18.—Agitation over American-Japanese relations is a puzzling disturbance to officials of the American government. In the view of the administration there is no question pending before Washington and Tokio of a character to give alarm to the peoples of the two countries.

The new Japanese Ambassador soon to come to America will find a virtually clean slate when he takes up his duties and his reception is expected to seal a new bond of friendship between the United States and Japan.

So far as the government is concerned it is the feeling of President Coolidge and his principal advisers that the relations are all that could be desired, and they are hoping that the American and Japanese peoples will not themselves disturb these relations by agitation over a situation of conflict which does not exist.

JUST 5 DAYS TO SHOP

TIDE OF IMMIGRANTS FROM JAPAN TURNS TO SOUTH AMERICA

Lima, Peru.—The economic future on immigration, because the native population is small, the country today takes an especial interest in the foreigners who journey from their own lands to settle within the boundaries of the Peruvian republic.

The question of the coming of Japanese has attracted attention, particularly as the Japanese quotas have lately increased. Also it is reported here that a company has been formed in Japan to encourage emigration to both Peru and Brazil. There is a feeling locally that the moment has come to regulate immigration from Japan; that within Peruvian borders, Peru should safeguard her own interests. The ability of the Japanese successfully to engage in various enterprises, and in some cases to undersell native merchants, coupled with the fact that they are clannish and slow in assimilating the customs of the country, has not made them popular here. Nevertheless a treaty of friendship, commerce and navigation between Peru and Japan, signed in Washington in 1895 and subsequently revoked, recently has been renewed.

Peru has in the past tried to stimulate immigration from Italy and Germany, whose people have been found especially adaptable to the needs of the country and who make good Peruvian citizens. A continuation of these efforts would, it is believed, find popular support.

There are today no restrictions upon the entry of Japanese into Peru, yet remarkably few have so far come over. Reliable estimates place the present number at 10,000. Peru has a total population of 4,500,000. Lima counts about 6,000 Japanese residents, the others living in the provinces.

Unlike the Chinese, whose entrance into the country is restricted and who, in many cases, are employed on the various ranches as coolie laborers, the Japanese are both progressive and enterprising. Many of them are engaged in lucrative business ventures, furniture and wood working establishments, coffee shops, restaurants, barber shops, shirt makers, bakery establishments and general trade merchants. In very rare instances do the Japanese in Peru engage in menial forms of labor. In the city of Lima, grocery stores especially are controlled by them, and they also control the only rubber manufacturing plant in the republic.

Regarding recent reports that the recall of the Peruvian minister at Tokio was connected with the immigration of Japanese to Peru, information obtained in reliable quarters will show such was not the case. The minister asked for leave of absence and transfer to another post.

WEATHER EXPERTS EMBARK FOR REMOTE PACIFIC ISLANDS NOW

Rio De Janeiro, Brazil. — The steamer Frederico Nascimento chugged slowly out to sea recently on a five-day voyage to an uninhabited island in the southwestern Atlantic. She had picked passengers and a cargo of selected live stock and poultry on board, the charter members and animals of a settlement on the rocky, volcanic island of Trinidad, 640 miles east of Brazil.

After the boat drops anchor in front of Portuguese Beach, Joao Caetano Fontes will take charge of the Brazilian possession as military commander, houses will be built, seeds planted, a fishing industry started, and a radio station erected.

The colonizing idea originated in 1923, when the chief of the Brazilian

Meteorological Service, Dr. Samgalo Ferraz, promised his colleagues at the meeting in Holland of the International Meteorological Conference of Directors, that Brazil would share in developing a world wide weather forecasting service. The expedition to Trinidad, which is not to be confused with the Trinidad of the West Indies, is the first step of the Brazilian government in the fulfillment of this promise.

Weather conditions are to be wireless daily from Trinidad to Rio de Janeiro. Three additional stations are later to be built. These four are to be located on islands in a high pressure area in mid-ocean, and their daily reports will enable the weather experts at Rio to much more accurately predict the route of South Atlantic wind and weather.

300 Mile Flight Cost $1.25.

Berlin.—F. Botsch, a South German aviator, recently made 300 miles in three and one-half hours in a ten horsepower glider fitted with an auxiliary "tomit" motor. The cost of the trip was $1.25 for oil and gasoline, which is said to be a record for Germany, at least.

The same journey to a town in Thuringen by rail would require 16 hours and traveling third class would cost nearly $8.

SCIENTIST FORECASTS UNUSUAL INCIDENTS TOTAL ECLIPSE SUN

Washington.—Scientists believe they have gathered from experience a good idea of some of the unusual things that will take place in connection with the total eclipse of the sun January 24.

Prof. George H. Peters of the Naval Observatory, who has been on intimate terms with Old Sol for 28 years, related recently some of the developments that may be looked for in the "shadow path" with favorable weather, on the morning of the eclipse.

These include a fall of a few degrees in temperature. Animals are likely to become perplexed, and birds go to roost. Looking toward the west, just before the eclipse becomes total, one may observe the shadow of the moon coming toward the observer as if a thunderstorm were imminent.

The sun has just passed its minimum period of spots, and will probably have some spots in January at eclipse time, causing some disturbance of the corona, which can only be seen during total solar eclipse. The sun is 400 times farther away from the earth than is the moon.

The ideal spot to observe the eclipse would be far out in the North Atlantic Ocean, for the central line, passing over Montauk Point, N. Y., traverses the sea for the rest of its length, until north of the British Isles, the total eclipse becomes visible at sunset.

At sunrise, just east of Red Lake, Minnesota, the eclipse will be total. In the eastern section of the United States, the eclipse will be visible early in the forenoon, and in the far west not at all, for it will still be dark there. Over the North Atlantic Ocean it will be noon and afternoon, at eclipse time. The best position for observations in the United States will be along the line from Buffalo to Montauk Point. In Minnesota, the "shadow path" will be about 85 miles broad, growing gradually wider to the eastward, until in the region of the Hudson River, it becomes 110 miles broad. At Martha's Vineyard and Nantucket, Mass., which will not be on its central line, the "shadow path" will measure some 120 miles across. Until the eclipse reaches Buffalo, however, the sun will be low on the horizon.

If at the equator, the moon's shadow, blotting out the sun's rays from the earth, would sweep across this body at the rate of 1,000 miles an hour. In the eastern part of the United States, this rate will be greater, as the shadow will have the benefit of the earth's most rapid rotation in miles, owing to the shorter circumference encountered nearer the earth's northern axis.

Another phase of the eclipse will be the possible revival of the weather insurance feature. Scientific bodies are put to much expense in sending out parties, and with unfavorable weather, their work goes for naught.

Scientists will conduct further tests of the Einstein theory, and will also observe the solar corona and make spectroscopic observations, if the weather is clear. It has been suggested that efforts be made to experiment with radio signals to ascertain if they increase markedly while the eclipse is in progress, and decrease sharply near its conclusion.

LET'S FINISH THE JOB

We again find it necessary to ask the now almost threadbare question, What has become of the movement for a playground for Greenville?

It was our understanding in the beginning that the city was to donate the property and culvert the branch through it and then certain civic organizations were to take charge of the property and convert it into a playground.

Several months ago the town fulfilled its part of the agreement but the playground, so far has ended there. The question now before us is whether or not we are really to have a playground.

If the playground movement is to be carried to completion as first intended it is time that somebody was showing some action in order that the place may be ready for use next spring when the children of the town again begin to play out of doors.

To see that this work is put over before spring is a good New Year's resolution for those in charge of it to make.

LET THERE BE LIGHT

The effort being made by committees from the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs working in conjunction with city officials and county highway officials in behalf of procuring lighting facilities for the bridge across the river here is one that should receive the support of all those concerned. Travel over the bridge at night is now dangerous, especially to pedestrians and unlighted animal drawn vehicles, but proper lighting of the bridge will to a great extent eliminate this danger. It is to be hoped that the efforts of the committees will soon get the desired results.

Will it be you who compels the salespeople in the stores to remain on the job until late Christmas Eve night by putting off your shopping until the last minute?

While making preparations to enjoy the holidays, if we will have a thought for those about us who have been less fortunate than we ourselves, we will find that our Christmas will be a happier one.

GOOD RECORD IN WAR ENSURES EASY DAYS TO CARRIER PIGEONS

Los Angeles.—A home for United States army carrier pigeons, veterans of the world war, has been established here at the army pigeon lofts at Ross Field, Arcadia.

Included among the 200 birds at the home, are three honor birds, so distinguished because of their exceptional performances in action. Two of these, "President Wilson" and "The Mocker," carry scars of battle. "President Wilson" sacrificed a leg and "The Mocker" an eye in the fight for victory. The third bird hero at the home, "Spike," appears none the worse for his war-time experiences. His claim to fame lies in his record of having carried 51 messages of importance without being injured.

Ray R. Delhauer, pigeon expert in charge of the army lofts, considers these birds heroes no less than the former soldiers.

"President Wilson," a late-colored homer of great vitality and rapidity of flight, was first used in the tank corps. His work was so well done that he was transferred to the Mesuse-Arbonne sector and stationed at Cubry. About 5 o'clock one rainy morning he returned from his second flight in this sector with his leg shot off. He had brought important messages at a speed of almost a mile a minute.

On the morning of Sept. 12, 1918, "The Mocker" arrived at his station with one eye destroyed and his head a welter of blood. The message tube he carried contained information of great importance and gave the locations of several heavy artillery batteries which the Germans had been using effectively on the American troops. The American artillerymen had every enemy gun in that sector silenced within 20 minutes after "The Mocker" arrived. Thus "The Mocker" was credited with saving many American lives.

There are also a few German carrier pigeons at the home. They were captured from the enemy. Mr. Delhauer says these birds will be used for breeding and development, as they have proved superior to other varieties.

GIRLS OF SWEDEN ENLIST TO MINISTER TO HORSES

Stockholm.—The horses of Sweden are rejoicing at the rise of the Red Star, an organization called the younger Sister of the Red Cross, which devotes itself to the welfare of beasts of burden, especially horses.

Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf is patron of the society, which was started by Swedish women during the war and did excellent field work in Finland. A nation-wide drive is now being organized to popularize the movement throughout Sweden, to promote this humanitarian work during times of peace as well as to strengthen the organization in case of war. Society women are especially zealous, and the young daughters of some of Sweden's most prominent families count in an honor to be named a Red Star sister.

Men and women who registered have to learn everything about the horse. Red Star depots are being established in numerous places, fully equipped with surgical instruments, medical apparatus for the care of sick and injured horses.

FOUR "FOLLIES" BEAUTIES IN "WORLDLY GOODS" CAST

"If Flo Ziegfeld considered them good enough for his "Follies" they ought to be good enough for my modiste scene."

Thus spoke Paul Bern, director of the Paramount picture "Worldly Goods."

The modiste rhapsody scene, one of the many high lights of the picture, necessitated the use of a score of beautiful models. A list of more than a hundred applicants was considered. Four of the girls selected were formerly of the Ziegfeld "Follies."

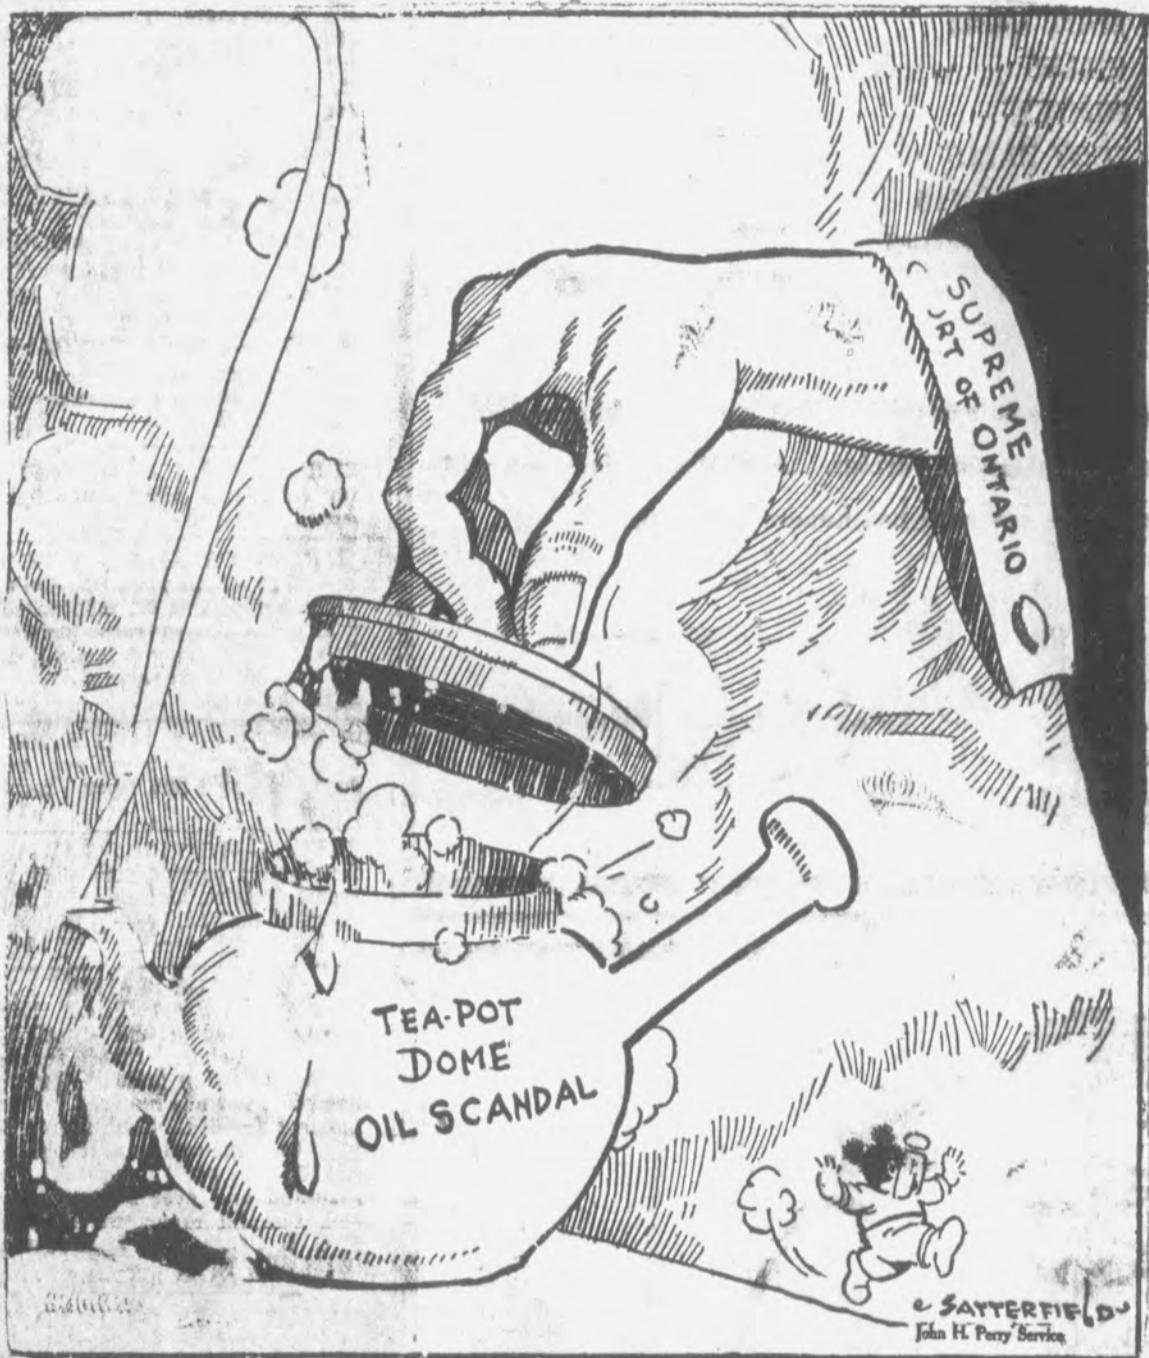

Jocelyn Leigh, Charlotte Morgan, Jean Laverly and Gwendolyn Lee comprised the quartet and their beauty, grace, charm and wondrous gowns, were material aids in making the fashion show one of the most beautiful ever shown on the screen. "Worldly Goods," adapted from the Ladies' Home Journal serial and novel by Sophie Kerr, stars Agnes Ayers. There's a big cast playing in support. The picture opens tonight at White's Theatre.

PURSEMAKERS WELCOME STANDARD SIZE OF BILLS

Berlin.—The lack of a standard size of recent years, for German paper money, or rather of a standard that could be expected to endure, has made difficulties for the manufacturers of pocketbooks. They never knew what size to trim their leather.

The new paper money of today, the Renten mark, has approximately the shape of the American greenback, but is a little smaller. Its permanence seeming well assured, the bill-fold makers are going ahead full blast to meet an active demand.

BOILING OVER AGAIN

Most of the gold in mining propositions is on the stock certificate.

People make money in mining, of course.

But my friend, the mines that are really mines seldom go to the public with any offer of stock.

Investing in mining stock is no business for ordinary mortals.

If you happen to know a lot of people who put in a little money and get out a lot, all right. If you don't personally know of such cases, better forget the whole matter.

Spinnings takings for the week tomorrow will run against 376; were 464 last week, and weeks in sight will compare with 397; was 563 last week, in sight likely be heaviest but takings probably be bullish.

Cables, weather condition, spot advice and trade reports have to be reckoned with today, perhaps private ginning reports if issued.

Census ginning report Saturday 9 a. m. Sentiment remains divided, although wires from New York say some big traders working for a further advance.

Houston, Texas: Local gin running two days a week, ginning five bales a day.

New Orleans: Exports from Savannah today to Europe none from market today to Europe 6,000; none from Memphis to come against 10 from all last year.

St. Worth: Some cotton changing hands, Demand good, basis higher.

New Orleans: Exports from New Orleans today 17,000.

New York: Ring crowd playing for reaction but market would have sharp advance. Egyptian futures, Liverpool closed 30 to 55 penny points down on the day.

New Orleans: Reactionists selling causing decline but they have to reckon with probability of large mill takings for week tomorrow. Think will close higher, exports from New Orleans to Europe today 17,000 bales. Making 23,000 so far against 19,000 last year from all.

LIVERPOOL COTTON

Middling 1336; good middling 1336. Receipts 23,000 of which 18,000 were American. Sales 4000 of which 4000 were American. The market closed barely steady. Jan. 1311; Mar. 1319; May 1329; July 1339; Oct. 1299; Dec. 1308.

STOCKS

Clark Childs: Steels and oils will soon move up strongly.

Harris Winthrop: We favor the construction side of the market.

Wollman: Oils act well.

Laidlaw: The rails continued their swing under heavy buying.

Post and Flagg: It looks as if the market would continue upward for some time.

New York: Technical correction in combination with realizing sales, are likely to operate for a lower tendency in today's session.

Commitment generally should be confined to a trading basis, awaiting reactions before re-entering the market on the buying side.

THE WEATHER

Memphis. Very warm temperatures over the belt except very cold in Oklahoma which is twenty degrees above zero. Light rains Ft. Smith, Abilene and Amarillo.

Forecast: Cold wave western belt with rain or snow, balance belt partly cloudy except S. C., Ga., Ala.

GRAIN

Exports sales wheat all position including flour to Russia estimated at two million bushels.

Sensational and somewhat misleading stories have prevailed in the grain trade for several days. A story appeared in newspapers appearing that Arthur W. Cullen was long 195,000,000 bushels of wheat rye and oats bought in a prompt liquidation by the grain futures administration.

Dr. J. W. T. Duval grain exchange supervisor issued a statement declaring the story without foundation either as applied to Mr. Cullen or to any individual. "Unwarranted statement" he said. "Such as these, are likely to do much harm to individual traders and at the same time discrediting the exchanges and the entire system of grain marketing machinery."

ENGLISHMEN PEDAL BICYCLES WHILE AMERICA GOES IN CARS

London.—The automobile has not yet replaced bicycle, in Great Britain, not by a long shot. There are 6,000,000 of the latter in use in this country, and less than 1,000,000 motor cars. Motor-cycles, which are much more popular than in the United States, number 500,000.

The ministry of transport, in making public these statistics, noted that the British are doing a greater export business with bicycles and motor cycles than the American manufacturers, who once led the British in this trade.

In 1922, according to British records, Great Britain exported 7,270 motor cycles while America was sending out 16,000. But the latest figures show 20,000 machines exported from Great Britain and only 9,700 from the United States.
