CALVIN COOLIDGE WAS INNAUGURATED PRES. OF UNITED STATES TODAY

First President to Take Oath Before a Former President; Ceremony With Its Simplicity and Lack of Display Was Carried Out According to Directions of Coolidge

Washington, March 4.—Calvin Coolidge today came to the beginning of a four year term as President of the United States, by direct overwhelming mandate of the people. With him came Charles George Dawes to fill the office of Vice-President, left vacant 19 months ago when Calvin Coolidge first took the President oath at the family homestead in Vermont, upon the death of Warren G. Harding. The ceremony of inauguration exemplifying the tastes of both men, and the frugal policies that they have pledged themselves to pursue in the conducting of the Nation's affairs, was arranged at the President's direction on the simplest scale in a century.

Washington, March 4.—President Coolidge was inaugurated President, in his own right today by an overwhelming mandate for the people. For the first time in 19 months the country has a Vice-President.

Standing at the historic spot, where a long line of predecessors have taken the sacred oath, President Calvin Coolidge bent and kissed the Bible which was in the hands of Chief Justice Taft, and then gave his inaugural address. Vice President Dawes, had a few minutes before taking his oath, and also gave his inaugural address. The President took the oath precisely at one o'clock, and the Vice-President had taken his oath at 12:14. Despite the President's stand for an inexpensive display, as of a degree of simplicity, it still was in marked contrast with the midnight movement of 19 months ago when he was roused from sleep and took the same oath by the glow of an oil lamp in his father's Vermont farm house.

The President's father, Colonel John Coolidge, stood near him, and gathered close by Mrs. Coolidge, with her mother, Mrs. Goodhue, members of the cabinet, members of the Supreme Court, rank officers of the Army and Navy, members of the diplomatic corps, and members of the Congressional court, in charge of the inaugural arrangements.

A March sun had promised to flood the ceremony with a glorious light, but the bright sun was overcast by gathering clouds as the hour of the inauguration arrived, and the bright day slowly turned to threats of a cold rain. But there was no change for the President's inauguration in the open air outside of the Capitol, because the official body was shielded by a large canopy.

When the President spoke the words of his inaugural address he had the ear of the greatest audience that was ever addressed by one man in the history of time.

For the first time not only the thousands who gathered in Washington heard a president deliver his inaugural address, but millions through out the United States and probably many elsewhere, heard the address by radio. President Coolidge spoke to probably the greatest audience, seen and unseen, that ever has been addressed by any man in the history of the world.

With all its studied simplicity and lack of display, which was at the express direction of the President, the ceremony was in marked contrast with the event of 19 months ago, when roused from sleep by news of the sudden death of President Harding, Mr. Coolidge took the oath of office administered by his father in the glow of an oil lamp in a Vermont farm house.

The only vice-president since Roosevelt to succeed to the office by popular election, President Coolidge renewed his oath before Chief Justice Taft, the only president to take it before a former president. The ceremony was the traditional one, and was carried out on a platform built at the east front of the Capitol, before the great steps leading to the entrance at the middle of the building, a spot selected in the historic compromise of generations ago when the House and Senate each contended that the inauguration should take place within its own precincts.

While Congress was winding up its eleventh hour business, the official

BORGLUM CHARGED WITH LARCENY BY GRAND JURY TODAY

Two Indictments Returned Against Tucker, Borglum's Superintendent; Borglum Under $5,000 Bond

Atlanta, Ga., March 4.—Indictments charging larceny from the house, simple larceny, and malicious mischief, were returned against Gutzon Borglum, deposed sculptor of the Stone Mountain Confederate Memorial, by Decatur County grand jury today. Larceny from the house is a felony under the law of Georgia. Two indictments were returned against John C. Tucker, Borglum's superintendent of the construction.

Tucker is charged with simple larceny, and larceny from the house. Borglum is under a $5,000 bond to appear in Greensboro next Saturday night, following his arrest last Saturday on charges of malicious mischief, which is a misdemeanor. Tucker has not been arrested.

The warrant on which Borglum was arrested, and upon which are based the indictments returned today, involves the destruction of models of the Confederate figures to be used in the memorial, and alleged removal of other models from the studio at Stone Mountain.

filled by those fortunate enough to get cards of admission. Many women scarcely less well known than their husbands in national affairs shared places with members and families of the diplomatic corps and the official set.

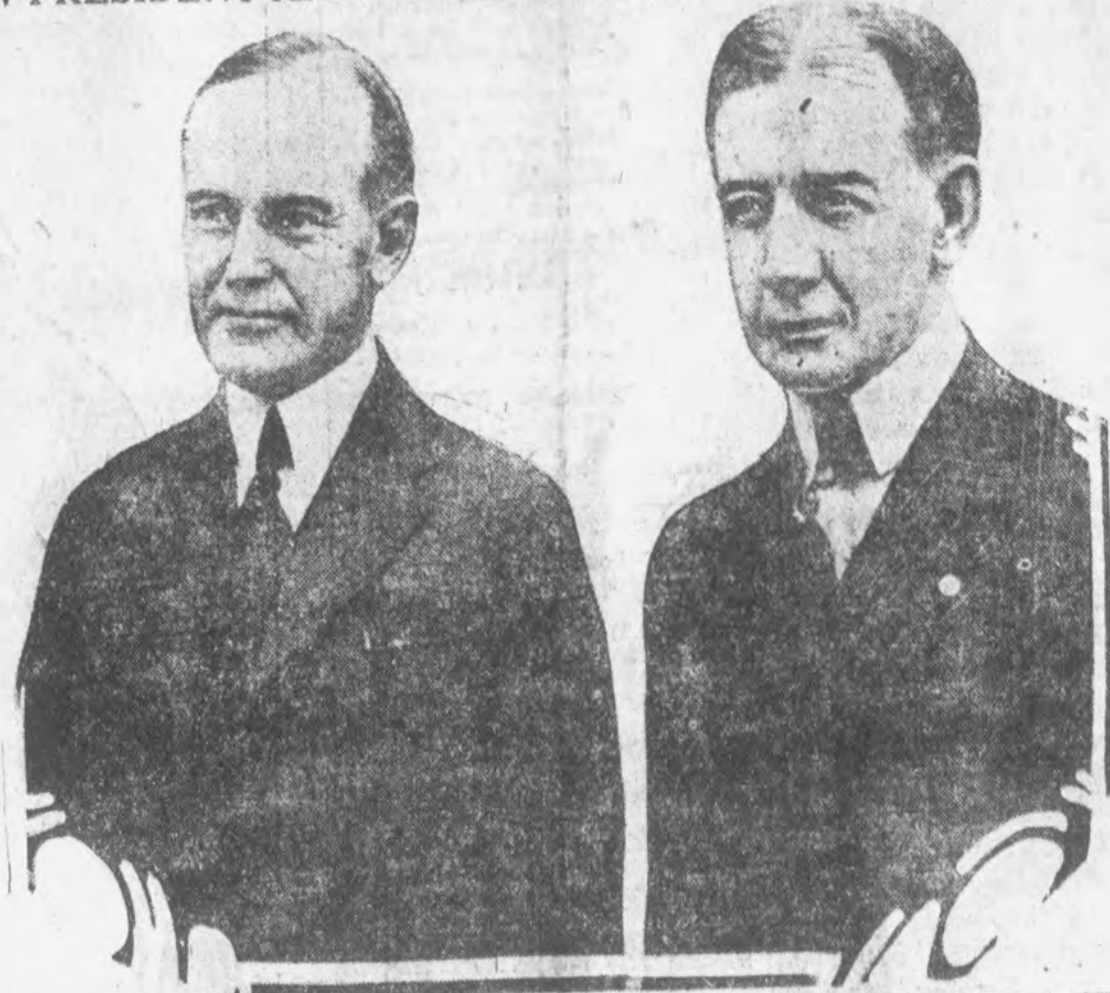

Just as the Sixty eighth Congress died by constitutional limitation at noon, the Senate of the sixty-ninth Congress came into being, called in special session to consider executive appointments, and incidentally, to inaugurate the Vice-President. A special session of the Senate is really not necessary to inaugurate the Vice President; he could take the oath of congressional committee called at the White House to escort the President to the Capitol. This was soon after eleven o'clock. Pennsylvania avenue, despite the restricted program which cut down the show, was raked as the President, escorted by a troop of cavalry and guarded by secret service men, passed along. At the Capitol he went at once to the President's room adjoining the senate chamber and busied himself disposing of acts of Congress which either became laws by his signature, or which under the constitution go "pocket vetoes" if he choose not to sign them.

The prelude to the inaugural procession, for the president's journey to the Capitol is always the first part of the actual ceremony, was quite different from that of four years ago, for President Coolidge had no outgoing president to accompany him. Four years ago, Warren Gammaliel Harding, a picture of robust health so soon to pass away, rode with the pathetic figure of Woodrow Wilson and with deprecatory gestures to the crowd, stillled cheers intended for him, out of consideration for the already dying man who rode in the carriage beside him. Little did any one dream that before another inauguration had rolled around, Harding would have preceded Wilson to the great beyond.

While President Coolidge was at work in the President's room at the Capitol Vice-President Dawes and his party arrived and took their places in the Vice-President's room where they were greeted by Senator Cummins of Iowa, who since Mr. Coolidge became President has presided over the Senate. There Mr. Dawes

CAROLINA DEFEATS TULANE 36 TO 28 IN FINAL GAME

Cobb, Carolina's Highest Scorer Wins 67 Points; Champions for Third Time in the Southern Conference Tournament

Atlanta, Ga., March 4.—After defeating Mercer, champions of the Southern Inter-collegiate Athletic Association Basketball Tournament just closed in Macon, the victorious University of North Carolina quintet, champions for the third time in the Southern Conference Tournament, after defeating Tulane last night was returning to Chapel Hill today. The team has already been away from University for more than a week, it was pointed out, and the basketball season ended with them when the final whistle of the Conference tournament sounded a death knell to Tulane's hopes.

The game marred but only six fouls, and with the North Carolina possessing the top side of a 36 to 28 score. Cobb of North Carolina was the high scorer of the tournament with 67 points, while Hennean of Tulane was second with 63 points. McDonald, Cobb's team mate, was third with 32, and Mychoff, Georgia Tech's star, was fourth with 29 points.

Revenue Collected During February Totals $11,682,960

Raleigh, March 4.—Despite the fact that the Federal income tax rate has been cut from four per cent to one and one-half per cent, the gross revenue collected in North Carolina during the month of February 1925, shows an increase approximately 12 per cent over February, 1924, declared Gilliam Grissom, Collector of Internal Revenue, in an interview here today.

Mr. Grissom stated that the collections during the month of February, 1925, totaled $11,682,960, as compared with $10,633,877 collected during February, 1924, a net gain of $1,029,082. "The reduction of the Federal income tax rate has not brought about a decrease in the Revenue collected," said Mr. Grissom. "In other words, what we have lost on the peanuts we have made up on the 'Bernanners'."

When questioned as to why the increase in the revenues collected Mr. Grissom explained that the loss in revenue incurred by the reduction of the tax rate had been more than met by the increased business of the tobacco manufacturing concerns. "There is no questioning the fact that the tobacco companies are doing a much larger business than they did during the corresponding period of one year ago," he said.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR PRESIDENT EBERT CONDUCTED TODAY

Berlin, March 4.—The German Capital today bids farewell to Frederick Ebert, first president of the Republic, whose body will leave by special train tonight for his boyhood home at Heidelberg, where it will lie beside that of his mother in the Herz cemetery.

The funeral services in the Executive Mansion, attended by about 250 high officials and diplomats, were to be held this afternoon, with acting President Luther as orator and music by the chorus and orchestra of the State Opera.

Program on Korea Enjoyed by M. E. Missionary Society

The regular monthly business meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church was held at the church on Monday afternoon, with a large attendance. The program on Korea was rendered, and an attractive poster had been prepared, showing the location of our mission stations in Korea, and giving statistics of our work there.

In preparation for the large body of women who are expected here to attend the Woman's Missionary Conference, April 29-31, the President, Mrs. Mays, read the various committees which she has appointed to have charge of different phases of the work.

Mrs. Mangum, who was appointed chairman of the House committee, named her sub-committees, who are to prepare the church building to accommodate the many needs of the conference.

Mrs. H. E. Austin, chairman of the Entertainment committee, spoke to the women about the duty devolving upon them to provide homes for the delegates. She said in part, "These 700 women are coming to Greenville to attend this conference. They are coming by our invitation; and now we have them to entertain. When the committee waits upon you asking how many delegates you will take, do not let false pride stand in the way of you opening your home and your heart to these women, and a blessing will be yours. You may entertain an angel unaware." They are coming here to attend to the business of missions, and not to visit. They will spend all day at the church. They will not be critical of your house, nor of its furnishings, but only of the hospitality which you display; and the humblest home in Greenville can offer just as sincere a welcome and just as generous hospitality as the most elegant. So do not consider your duty done until you have placed every bed and cot in your home at the disposal of our conference guests."

Gaston Co. Sunday School Association To Be Held Mar. 18-20

Gastonia, March 3.—Over one hundred Sunday school teachers and officials from this section of the State will gather here March 18, 19 and 20 for the annual meeting of the Gaston County Sunday School Association, which will be held again this year in the First Associated Reformed Presbyterian Church. The main meetings will be held at night, with a conference of workers of all denominations scheduled for Friday afternoon, March 20.

The meeting will be in charge of James W. Atkins, county president, and Mrs. J. Y. Miller, county secretary. Among the speakers announced for this meeting are the following:

Dr. William E. Chambers, Philadelphia, Pa.; D. W. Sims, of Raleigh, general superintendent of the North Carolina Sunday School Association; and Miss Daisy Magee, of Raleigh.

Mr. Frank Harrington, Jr., who is a student at the University, Chapel Hill is spending a few days at home.

STATE ARRANGING PART IN GEORGE WASHINGTON EVENT

Legislation Would Appoint North Carolina Commission for Celebration of 200th Anniversary Washington's Birthday

Raleigh, March 4.—A resolution authorizing the appointment of 12 commissioners by the Governor of North Carolina, the commission to be known as the North Carolina Commission for the Celebration of the Two Hundredth Birthday of George Washington, has been introduced in the House of Representatives by Representative Ward of Craven county and has been referred to the committee on education.

The purpose of the resolution, it is stated, is to acquaint the people of North Carolina with the proposed celebration, which will be nationwide in its scope, and to arrange for their participation in the event.

The resolution provides that the commission shall be composed of not less than twelve members, and that this body shall serve without compensation and shall select a chairman and secretary from among their number. And, in the words of the resolution, "shall assist and co-operate with the United States Commissioners appointed for such purpose, in preparing plans and programs for the signaling of the event."

George Washington, the first President of the United States, was born near Bridges Creek, Westmoreland county, Virginia, February 22, 1732. He was inaugurated president of the United States in 1789 and served seven years, ten months, and four days. He died December 14, 1799 at the age of 67 years.

Woman's Club to Meet Thursday

The Woman's Club will have its regular monthly meeting in the Baracca room of Memorial Baptist Church on Thursday afternoon at 3:30 p. m. Our president, Mrs. E. B. Ficklen, who has been out of town for several weeks, is expected home in time to preside at this meeting. Let her have a good crowd to greet her.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY KILLS STATE WIDE GAME BILL TODAY BY VOTE 71-34

Amendment of Revenue Bill in Senate Expected to Defer Adjournment Until Next Tuesday; Many Measures Given Consideration

CONGRESS ADJOURNS FOR THE SESSION AT NOON TODAY

Sixty-Eighth Congress Ends Its Career; Many Important Measures Received Final Doom With Fall of Gavel

Washington, March 4.—Contrasting with the usual picture of the tax-and-pre-adjournment sessions and nerves edged by late toll, the night before, the 68th Congress today took its expiring moments of life in a comparatively unemphatic mood.

There was not will for fruitless endeavor at the last minute, with measures already consigned to discard. In less than two hours before the convening of both Houses, and adjournment stilled before the inauguration ceremonies, beginning shortly before noon, there remained little for either House to do beyond acting on minor bills, and clearing up all odds and ends.

An important measure to be put through was the second deficiency appropriation bill, and the way was cleared for this by the announcement that the Senate would recede from its original rider to the bill proposing an appropriation of $8,000,000 for public buildings, heretofore authorized in 10 states. With this concession the bill went on final reading, and was with those signed by the President shortly before his inauguration.

Under this program, the deficiency measure and scores of minor bills were rushed through in the last few minutes, and went to the President for his signature.

With its accomplishments in major legislation already written, a number of important measures, which had been struggling for enactment in the outgoing Congress, awaited their final doom with the fall of the final adjournment gavel.

To this group was definitely added yesterday, with the rejection by the Senate of the modified McNary Hogen proposal. It included, also, the Underwood Muscle Shoals Leasing Bill, the McFadden Branch Banking Bill, more than a score of railroad measures of various kinds, and a host of miscellaneous measures from bridge bills to a $350,000,000 public building legislation.

Washington, March 4.—The Congress of bloc—the Sixty-eighth—passed into legislative history at noon today.

It will be succeeded by one in which the Republicans will have an actual as well as a nominal majority and in which the LaFollette insurgents will find themselves stripped of the power to mould legislation.

This change will be brought about as a result of the election turn-over which decreased Democratic strength in both houses and reduced likewise the number of insurgents in the Senate.

With clear working majorities assured in the two houses the Republican organizations have excluded the insurgents from their councils, depriving them of committee promotions in the Senate and stripping them of committee chairmanships in the House.

In contrast to the present Congress, in which the Democrats and insurgents combined have a majority in both the House and Senate, the Raleigh, March 4.—Following an hour's debate, the House of Representatives this afternoon slaughtered the proposed State-wide game bill by a vote of 71 to 34, after which the clincher was put on, which places the measure beyond the power of resurrection at the present session. Among those speaking in favor of the bill were Representatives Graham, of Orange, Patton, Bellamy, Harrison, Wade and Massenberg. Among those speaking against the bill were Representatives Murphey, of Rowan, Hamilton, Bailey, of Onslow, Moore, Poole, of Hoke, Hurley, Wilson, Alexander, and Bowie. The House recessed until eight o'clock tonight. The bill providing for the submission of a constitutional amendment on the appointment of a pardon board to take all clemency power of the Governor, did not come up. There are indications that there probably would be a motion made to re-refer this measure for a redraft.

After disposing of the local calendar today, the Senate passed the revenue bill as a special order, and took up its public calendar. A favorable minority report on the Moss-Tapp bill to repeal the Bowie Railroad Act of 1923, and the General Assembly authorizing a $10,000,000 bond issue for railroads in the "lost provinces," was brought up on the floor. After a few minutes consideration the Senate refused to accept the minority report, and then called up the repealer on the floor and tabled it, to effectively disposed of the matter. After the local and public calendars had been disposed of, the House took up for consideration the State wide game bill. Thirty minutes were allotted to each side for arguments on the measure. Graham, of Orange, led the fight for the proponents, while Murphey, of Rowan, led the opponents.

The opinion was expressed in legislative circles that the adjournment of the General Assembly would not be reached before Tuesday of next week. It had been expressed that legislature would end on Saturday, which is the scheduled last day of the session, but amendment of the Revenue bill in the Senate, making House concurrence necessary, is expected to defer adjournment.

The Senate refused to grant the request of the North Carolina League of Women voters for the State-wide law, designed to give more privacy at the polls by requiring, instead of making it optional with officials, that all polling places be marked off. At 2:20 o'clock this afternoon the Senate recessed until 4 o'clock for the first afternoon session of the 60 day period.

TURKS BEGINNING TO MISS SERVICES OF FOREIGN

Angora, Turkey.—Turkey is considering the establishment of a new system of education, to be based along French lines, and the first steps in this direction already have been taken.

It was decided last year to wipe out the schools conducted by the bostans, or religious men, of which there were some 500, with 12,000 pupils, and now a proposal has been put forward to set up a new university at Angora the city destined to be the political, military and educational headquarters of the country. All local private schools are to be brought under a central jurisdiction.

There is evidence here of a desire to encourage foreign capital to enter Turkey; the need of outside help in reconstruction is recognized. Prejudice against foreigners is lessening, for political leaders have begun to learn how difficult it is for Turks to accomplish many tasks that foreigners at one time did with ease.

FREE SPENDERS FROM U. S. LEAVE $400,000,000 IN EUROPE

Hamburg, March 4.—More than 200,000 Americans visited Europe during the year 1924. It is estimated by the Hotel Proprietors' Federation, and each traveler spent on an average the sum of $2,000. This means that a golden trail of some $400,000,000 was left behind by these visitors from across the Atlantic, and mostly in England, Switzerland and Italy.

EDUCATION AND DEMOCRACY

Democracy lays heavy responsibilities on the individual. It gives him much and it expects much from him in return. It makes him prove his worth, for that is the basis of his place in a democracy. Lord Bryce, a profound student of the American government, declares that while no government gives so much to its people as does a democracy, at the same time none demands so much of its citizens. The fathers of the Republic saw clearly the self-evident truth that the stability and endurance of their hope lay in the wisdom and virtue of the people. In fact, before the Constitution became a law of the land Congress declared concerning the great Northwest Territory that inasmuch as religion, morality, and knowledge were necessary to good government and the happiness of mankind, schools and the means of education should be forever encouraged. Here, then, was a new motive for education. In the colonial days schools were established primarily to train ministers and the servants of the state. With the Republic education became of paramount importance to all its citizens, for upon the diffusion of knowledge depends the safety of the State.

"Surely every one of us, whether as fathers or mothers, brothers, sisters, teachers, preachers, foremen, sergeants, corporals—whatever position we are in, the time comes when we must take the responsibility of leadership. Then we wonder how we are judged, for we have seen that leaders are judged by their followers. What sort will follow us? What sort of people will be attracted to the banner which we will carry? The response which you evoke from those you attempt to lead will measure you success or your failure. If you win a response of frankness and sincerity, if you win good work, you will win success but if your leadership evokes bitterness and deceit and shirking, yours will be failure. You can tell by looking at the people that follow you whether you are a good leader. It is not always what we do that makes us leaders. Some people are leaders simply for what they are. Emerson says: "Nor knowest thou what argument thy life to thy neighbor's creed has lent. All are needed by each one. Nothing is fair and good alone."—Philip Putman Chase.

BETHEL SCHOOL NEWS

And David Slew Goliath.

We all know the little story of how David killed Goliath with a small stone. He was up against a proposition that hundreds before him had tried and failed at. They never lived to tell the tale. But David did not take into consideration the fact that Goliath was a giant, and he only a lad. He did not envy the giant his elaborate covering of armor. He only grasped his sling the tighter and threw the stone harder.

Now, you high school pupils, are you like the hundreds who went up against Goliath before David? Do you let your lessons get the best of you just because of their magnanimity? You Mister Business Man, is your business too big for you? Or, on the other hand, are you like David?

Your lessons look big, beyond comprehension; your business has so many snags and difficulties you cannot see your way out.

But, forget your impunities, forget that you are small and your problems large. Take what manner of means you have, your small stone and get out after your giant. Be like David, fear nothing.

One by one your giants are all slain. Your difficulties have disappeared into the background. You have slain your Goliath too.

Folks, the Junior play last Friday night was a grand success. We want to congratulate them but we lack the words to say what our minds think. It was a "humdinger," as the little boy said of his first pair of new skates, and that is mighty expressive we think. The cast deserves a whole fund of congratulations. We recommend "My Irish Rose," with our players, don't forget, to any and everybody. Messrs. Bethune and Wells of Rocky Mount furnished the music for the occasion. Their performance was greatly enjoyed also.

Jiggs—"People used to tell me, before I got married, that two could live as cheap as one."

Biggs—"And what do you think of it now?"

Jiggs—"I think it's a lie. I used to buy one straw hat for the season, now I have to buy six."

CALVIN COOLIDGE WAS INAUGURATED PRES. OF UNITED STATES TODAY

The senate galleries early had been office before a justice of the peace if he chose, and then meet with the Senate when it assembles in regular session next winter, but it is the custom.

The diplomatic corps, all invited to the ceremonies, assembled in the marble room which adjoins the chamber, resplendent in their gorgeous full dress court uniforms. A new doyen headed them this time, Senor Riano, the Spanish ambassador. He took his place as dean with the departure of the former French Ambassador Jules J. Jusserand, who had occupied the place of honor at five previous inaugural ceremonies. The diplomatic corps entered the chamber according to rank and precedence, fixed in order of the time they have been accredited to the United States, the ambassadors leading the line and the ministers coming after them.

Then came the justices of the Supreme Court, headed by Chief Justice Taft, in their sombre black silk robes of the bench and taking chairs placed for them at the right of the incoming Vice-President. After them members of the House of Representatives entered through the main door and took places reserved for them on the west side of the chamber, while the senators gathered at their reserved places on the east. Sprinkled among them were distinguished officers of the army and navy, a few former members of Congress and last, persons who have publicly received the thanks of Congress and therefore are entitled to places on such occasions.

When all the party was assembled the senate chamber, a comparatively small room which ordinarily seats 96 senators and attaches, contained more than 700 persons on the floor, with many of them necessarily standing.

When all was ready in the chamber, President Coolidge, escorted by the committee on arrangements, was shown into the chamber through the main door, and to a seat on the floor at the right hand side of the center aisle, and facing the rostrum, on which Vice-President elect Dawes was immediately escorted to a seat. The Senate chaplain offered an appropriate prayer and Senator Cummins, as president of the Senate, called the assemblage to order. A silence settled over the company as Senator Cummins and the Vice-President elect faced each other; both raised their right hands, Senator Cummins read the Vice-President's oath, Mr. Dawes repeated the words as they were spoken, and as the result of this brief ceremony the country had a Vice-President for the first time in 19 months.

The assemblage within the senate chamber thereupon began moving in order of procedure to the inaugural stand outside. A commodious steel canopy had been erected so that President Coolidge could take the oath of office in full view of the waiting thousands and not be compelled to go through the exercises inside the Capitol building, unless the weather was unusually severe. Stretching to the right and left of the President as he faced the crowd, and at a lower level running from north to south, were long rows of temporary benches for the seating of the several thousand persons invited to places at the ceremony.

Each Senator and Representative had some seats at his disposal but none had enough for all the demands made upon him. Immediately in front of the President's stand was the full Marine band, resplendent in scarlet coats and gold braided caps. The band occupied a place formed as a small hollow square, and on the three sides, as far back as the Congressional Library to the east; the House Office building to the south, and the Senate office building to the north, thousands stood on the pavement of the spacious Plaza, or found places of vantage on the fountains, monuments or in trees. The inaugural party passed through a line of Marines as it came from the Capitol and entered the President's stand, President Coolidge walking with Chief Justice Taft, the members of the Congressional committee; Vice-President Dawes and his party and a small party of high officials following. There was room for 30 or 40 persons on the President's stand.

The ceremony here too, was simple and brief. President Coolidge, standing bare-headed with his right hand upraised, faced the Chief Justice, who read the oath of office prescribed by the Constitution; President Coolidge repeated the words slowly as the Chief Justice pronounced them, and then stooped and kissed the Bible in the hand of Mr. Taft. Then he turned to the crowd, and, as the roar of applause and cheering died away, began the delivery of his inaugural address.

Amplifying devices at the top of the President's stand made his words clearly and distinctly audible to the edge of the crowd, and microphones placed before him carried his voice throughout the country and to some distant parts of the world by radio.

At the conclusion of the President's address, the Marine band struck up a lively air; the president took his place at the head of the inaugural procession which was waiting in formation in the streets and avenues converging at the Capitol, and led the way back to the White House by way of Pennsylvania Avenue. Senators filed back to the chamber to consider executive business in extra session, and the remainder of the party disbanded.

When the head of the inaugural procession reached the White House it halted for a moment while President Coolidge, Mrs. Coolidge, Vice-President Dawes and Mrs. Dawes, members of their immediate families and a few guests including members of the cabinet and ranking officers of the Army, Navy and Marine corps, and the Congressional committee conducting the arrangements, took places in a small stand built over the sidewalk from which they reviewed the procession as it passed by.

The parade was less than an hour in passing the stand, and at the conclusion of the review President Coolidge returned to his office and went to work. Vice-President Dawes drove to his hotel apartments, planning to go to his office in the Senate tomorrow.

The inauguration, ranking with any of its predecessors of a century for simplicity, was over. Certainly it ranked with any of its predecessors for economy, for instead of $100,000 which the local committee planned to spend on decorations and display, less than $500 actually had been disbursed.

HON. F. C. HARDING DELIVERS ADDRESS IN WINTERVILLE HIGH SCHOOL

The Hon. F. C. Harding spoke to the Civic Betterment Association, of Winterville, at the Winterville High School last night, in the place of his friend the Rev. James E. W. Cook who has taken sick. Mr. Harding's eloquent address was much enjoyed.

HEMINGWAY-McCOY.

Rocky Mount, March 3.—A home wedding, beautiful and impressive, was solemnized Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. W. Kearney in Edgemont, when Miss Goldie McCoy become the bride of Dr. J. D. Hemmingway, of Bethel.

Just before the ceremony Mrs. E. Carr Speight sang, "I Love You Truly," accompanied by Mrs. Kearney. During the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. H. M. North, of the First Methodist church, Mrs. Speight played "Traumerel."

The bride was most becomingly gowned in green charmeuse with hat to match and her flowers were bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

Dr. and Mrs. Hemmingway left immediately after the ceremony for a bridal trip of two weeks spent in New York. The bride's traveling suit was an ensemble, cinnamon colored with hat and gloves to match. On their return they will make their home in Bethel, where the groom is a practicing physician.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. McCoy, of St. Paul, and has made her home in this city for the past several years, where she is especially loved and known as one of the city's most popular trained nurses.

H. L. HODGES & CO. READY TO RECEIVE EGGS AND PAY CASH

The first car of eggs to be shipped to northern markets from this section will leave Washington, N. C., next Wednesday, March 11, 1925.

H. L. Hodges & Co., of Greenville, have agreed to receive these eggs and pay cash on delivery. They are doing this in order to accommodate the farmer and save him the necessary delay in payment incurred in marketing produce in this way. Mr. Hodges is ready to receive eggs now for next Wednesday's shipment. The market price for this car will be 21c per dozen.

We are planning to ship a car each week until the egg situation is relieved. Mr. Hodges is going to quite a bit of trouble in handling this situation and it will simplify matters greatly if the producers will bring their eggs on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. Please remember also to leave your dirty and under-sized eggs at home. Such eggs can be utilized for home use.

Mr. Heber Munford of Ayden will handle eggs for the farmers who find it more convenient to take their eggs to Ayden.

MRS. L. W. GAYLORD ENTERTAINS BRIDGE CLUB

Mrs. L. W. Gaylord, was hostess Tuesday afternoon to the members of her bridge club and one table of rook.

Mrs. A. J. Moore, making the top score in bridge was presented a bridge cover, while Miss Christine Johnston won the top score in rook, a hand-made handkerchief. Mrs. Tom Galbraith, of Kinston, a house guest of the hostess was remembered with an attractive bridge cover.

After the games the hostess assisted by Mrs. Lee Hannah served a salad course which was followed by a sweet course.

Those enjoying the hospitality of the club were Mrs. H. L. Hodges, Mrs. Charles Shuff, Misses Christine Johnston, Evelyn Smith and Miss Lyle.

GOLF TOURNAMENT AT COUNTRY CLUB THURSDAY AFTERNOON

REV. JAMES E. W. COOK CONFINED TO HOME ON ACCOUNT OF ILLNESS

We regret to learn that the Rev. James E. W. Cook, Rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, has been ordered by his physician to bed for two weeks absolute rest.

A recent attack of influenza has left Mr. Cook with some heart trouble which it is confidently believed will yield to treatment and quiet.

It is a great disappointment to the Rector to be laid aside at the present time, as he had just commenced the most elaborate series of Lenten services ever held here. We are glad to state that most of these meetings will be carried on by a fine body of laymen. The preaching services next Sunday will be conducted by an out-of-city clergyman, of which due notice shall be given. No one has made more friends in our city than Dr. Cook and hundreds of prayers will be offered up for his speedy and complete recovery.

Gov't. Weather and Crop Report
Washington, March 3.—In the Southern states the weather continued mostly mild until the latter part of the week and favored the planting of early spring crops and the growth of vegetation wherever sufficient soil moisture was present. At the close, however, unusually low temperatures prevailed in the Southeast with a hard freeze over the interior districts. In the southwest the continued absence of precipitation was unfavorable while the preparation of the land for cotton and other spring crops made fairly good progress. It was too dry for the germination of seed and to permit growth in most sections. Cotton planting advanced in the extreme southern portion of the latter section while the preparation of the planting fields crop made fairly good progress in the East Gulf sections.

GREENVILLE SCOUTS WIN OVER WASHINGTON
The Class B Scouts of Greenville added another victory to their long string by winning over the fast Washington team yesterday at Washington. The boys were greatly handicapped on account of the large size of the opponents and won the game only by good passing and accurate shooting. At the end of the game the score was a tie so that an extra five minutes was given to decide the game. In this period the Greenville guards were able to hold the Washington team and Greenville scored two goals, ending the game with a score of 27 to 23. The game was fast and exciting throughout and was won only in the last five minutes of play.

At shooting for Greenville, Mayo, Thomas and Skinner led the team while Anthony, Edwards, and Forbe played well on the defense. The Greenville team played a good game as a whole.
For Washington, the offense was led by Walters, Cotton, and Ellison. The line-up and summary was as follows:

Greenville (27)	Washington (23)
Position	Position
Forward	Phillips (2)
Thomas (6)	Forward
Harvey (2)	Center
Anthony (2)	Center
Mayo (10)	Guard
Edwards (7)	Guard
Skinner (7)	Guard
Boate (1)	Boyd (2)

The following were substitutes:
For Greenville: Anthony for Edwards; Doughty for Thomas; Harvey for Boate; Thomas for Doughty; Wheeler for Anthony; Edwards for Wheeler.
For Washington: Jones, Donaldson, Carawan, Crutch, and Carrow. Mr. Hill and the Class B Scouts wish to thank Mrs. Berry Bostie, Mrs. E. B. Ferguson, and Will Wheeler for transporting the team to and from Washington.

This chance will bring many new members to the halls of Congress to replace men retiring, some of whom have long held a dominant place in the legislative life of the nation.
Senators who passed out of the picture with the falling of the gavel at noon today included L. Heisler Ball, Delaware; Medill McCormick, Illinois; Holm O. Bursum, New Mexico; Thomas Sterling, Dakota and Davis Elkins, West Virginia, Republicans; David I. Walsh, Massachusetts; A. Owsley Stanley, Kentucky; Robert L. Owen, Oklahoma; Nathaniel B. Dial, South Carolina; and John K. Shields, Tennessee, Democrats; and Magnus Johnson, Farmer-Labor, Minnesota.

With the passing of Mr. Walsh Massachusetts will have two new Senators. Speaker Frederick H. Gillett moving up from the House to join with William M. Butler, who came in this session to fill the place so long held by Henry Cabot Lodge. Delaware will send back to the Senate T. Coleman Du Pont. All the others will be men new to Senate halls. They include Charles S. Deneen, Republican, Illinois; Fred M. Sackett, Republican, Kentucky; Thomas D. Schall, a Republican House member from Minnesota, whose election to the Senate is contested by Magnus Johnson; W. P. Pine, Republican, Oklahoma; W. H. McMaster, Republican, South Dakota; and Gay D. Goff, Republican, West Virginia.

In the place of Senate Dial, South Carolina sends to the Senate Coleman L. Blease, a former governor, who for years has been the center of bitter political feuds in that state. Other new Democratic Senators are Sam G. Bratton, New Mexico, and L. D. Tyson, Tennessee.

The shifts in House memberships affect 77 Congressional districts, giving Pennsylvania a solid Republican delegation of 36 as against a line-up of 30 Republicans and six Democrats in this Congress, and reducing the Democratic representation from a number of northern states.

Along with the retiring Democrats go a number of Republican leaders who either declined to stand for reelection or were retired by the electorate. Among the former are Everett Sanders, of Indiana, President Coolidge's new Secretary; Chairman Winslow, of the commerce committee; Chairman McKenzie, of the military committee; Chairman Snyder, of the Indian committee and Representative Sydney Anderson, of Minnesota, a member of the majority steering committee and one of the authorities in the House on agricultural legislation.
The Democrats leaving include Isaac R. Sherwood, of Ohio, who at 90 years of age is the oldest member of the House and the last of the Union veterans to hold a seat in that body. Another prominent on the minority side to complete his service is James F. Byrnes, of South Carolina.

"The Thief of Bagdad"

Such popularity must be deserved

The magic carpet of the Thief of Bagdad! The greater magic of Douglas Fairbanks, whose very name packs theatres to the doors! Mr. Fairbanks has won success in many roles, Chesterfield in but one. Yet both have achieved their immense popularity by the simple process of deserving it. Downright better taste—that's the "magic" of Chesterfield! What else could account for such popularity?
