TORNADO AREA NOW TURNS TO ITS TASK OF REHABILITATION

Unit of Red Cross Established in Every Stricken Town; Homeless Provided With Temporary Shelter and Injured Given Medical Treatment

Chicago, March 23. — Saddened by the final tragedy of its greatest disaster, and the burial of its dead, Southern Illinois and Indiana turned today undauntedly to the mammoth task of rehabilitation through which it is planned that survivors of last Wednesday's catastrophe will be returned to the same condition that existed before the storm.

All the injured have received medical attention, and all homeless have been provided with temporary shelter. It was announced, and plans were underway for virtual rebuilding of the stricken area. It was anticipated that four months, or more, would be required to clear hundreds of acres of ruins, restore thousands of shattered homes, rebuild factories and establish new systems of sanitation.

Henry M. Baker, head of the disaster relief division of the Red Cross, announced that his organization expects to rehabilitate every family affected by the storm. He also stated that an emergency unit of the Red Cross had been established in every stricken town, and that temporary relief to the stricken and homeless had been fully cared for.

With funds for the storm sufferers being raised in all parts of the country, through appeals in churches, newspapers, by radio, and many other organizations, the National Headquarters of the Red Cross in Washington announced an appropriation of $50,000 to augment similar funds raised by local chapters.

Parent-Teacher Ass'n. Evans Street In Splendid Meet

The Parent-Teachers Association of Evans St. school met on Wednesday, March 18th with a record attendance and splendid program.

A delightful entertainment was given by the fourth grades under the direction of Miss McKinzie and Miss Parker with Miss Forbes at the piano. Spring, sunshine and rain with fairies and flowers in costume, together with twelve little dances and a large chorus all made us know that spring had really come.

Following the entertainment Mr. Victor Davis made a brief and interesting address, stressing the need for co-operation of parents with the teachers and the need for fair and impartial judgment.

In a brief business session reports were given. Milk is being supplied at 10 cents to a number of children. Miss Keeler reported that much interest is being shown by the children in the music-memory contest now being put on by the Woman's Club.

The total attendance was 111 and the attendance prize was won by Grade 4A with 30 parents present.

Fairmont, W. Va., March 23. — Rescue workers expected to learn definitely today whether there were any survivors among the 33 men imprisoned last Tuesday night by an explosion in a mine of the Bethlehem Mines Corporation. Hope has not been abandoned that two of the miners escaped death, as they were believed to have been working in a remote section of the property when the blast went off. It was admitted, at the same time, that no evidence has been found to indicate that any survivors will be found. The removal of 19 additional bodies yesterday and last night brought the total taken from the mine up to 39.

DENNISTON SUIT ENTERS LAST LAP

Divorced Wife Sues for Money Which She Claims Husband Borrowed From Her Before Divorce Was Granted

London, March 23. — Mrs. Dorothy Muriel Dennistoun had her last sitting with the jury today when Sir Hume Williams summed up her demand that her former husband, Isadore A. Dennistoun repay sums that she alleges she loaned him before their divorce, and also make some provisions for her maintenance in the future.

The attorney's argument, of which the key note was, his plea "to divorce these remarks from the emotional atmosphere which has surrounded the case," was in sharp contrast with the summing up for the defense last Friday, when Mrs. Dennistoun was characterized as "hard-boiled and a traitress." The action, the attorney said, was a simple one based on the specific sum the wife had advanced Colonel Dennistoun, or paid out on his behalf, and on an agreement for maintenance on which he said the defendant had made in the time of the Paris divorce.

COOLIDGE ORDERS AN INVESTIGATION IN DEFENSE BILL

Investigation to Determine Whether It Is Necessary to Spend Money Appropriated in Bill for Drill Work

Washington, March 23. — President Coolidge today ordered an investigation to determine whether it is necessary to spend the $1,300,000 appropriated in the Defense Bill for pay of National Guard members for drill work. At the same time the President directed that payments be withheld until a decision was made.

The amount was appropriated to meet payment between now and June 30, but because it is over the Budget Bureau's estimate, the President ordered investigation. The Budget Bureau in disapproving the item, took the view that this expense should be met by various state governments. The President accepted that opinion, but representatives of the National Guard convinced the appropriations Committees of Congress to the contrary.

Should Mr. Coolidge decline to spend the appropriation and should no state funds be provided for the purpose, National Guard drills either would be suspended from now until June 30th, or guardsmen would be invited to drill without pay. Confronted with a similar refusal of Congress, of the appropriation for the Reserve Officers Training Camps, the War Department has followed for several years a policy of inviting the officers to attend the camps without pay.

The young defendant has confessed to the killing of her mother, and also that she attended a party immediately after committing the crime. The girl's attorneys have indicated they will make a plea of temporary insanity, and to further this end, the girl has submitted to a series of examinations designed to establish her mental and physical condition.

LEGAL BATTLE FOR RELEASE SHEPHERD IS RESUMED TODAY

Condition of Health of Heir McClintock Fortune Might Be Used in Fight for Freedom; Miss Pope Not to Testify at Grand Jury Hearing on Account of Illness

Chicago, March 23. — The legal battle to obtain release on bail of William D. Shepherd, indicted on the charge of inoculating his foster son, William McClintock, with Typhoid fever germs, was resumed today.

At the same time the coroner's inquest into McClintock's death was scheduled to come with the announcement by Chief Justice Harry Olson, of the Municipal Court, that he had subpoenaed several new witnesses for hearing. Their names were not given.

With Shepherd's attorney preparing to make every effort to bring about his freedom, it was indicated that the condition of the McClintock's health might be brought forward. It was reported that Shepherd is suffering from Diabetes, the disease that killed Leo Karetz, arch swindler, in Stateville penitentiary. Diabetes calls for a special diet, and since being taken to jail, Shepherd has been sending out for his meals.

Charles C. Fauman, head of a science school, whose story that he provided Typhoid germs to Shepherd on an agreement that he would share the McClintock's $1,000,000 estate resulting in his indictment along with Shepherd, was expected to resume his testimony on the witness stand today.

Counsel for Miss Isabelle Pope, who was to have married young McClintock, said today that the reports from California of the condition of her health were disquieting. State's Attorney Crowe, said that a week ago he was advised that calling Miss Pope to testify at the grand jury hearing would be harmful to her. His reply was for her to remain in California and recuperate, pending Shepherd's trial.

Third Loan Fund For Rural Schools Available Jan 1 '26

Raleigh, March 23. — The third $5,000,000 loan fund for rural schools, voted by the 1925 general assembly, will not be available until after January 1, 1926, it has been announced from the Department of Public Instruction.

Although no thought has yet been given to allotments, and no applications have yet been acted upon, a questionnaire was sent out last summer, to ascertain the need for special funds. It was learned from answers to these that between $7,000,000 and $8,000,000 could be used to advantage.

Heretofore, schools drawing on the loan funds, two of which, totaling $5,000,000 each having been taken up, were required to erect five-room buildings. Those drawing from the next loan fund will have to erect buildings containing not less than seven rooms. The low limits the rate of interest to four and a half per cent. The money is loaned the counties for a period of twenty years at the same rate of interest the state has to pay on the bonds issued to float the loan fund. Formerly, the law was drawn so as to permit the state to borrow money at not in excess of five per cent. However, the money has been borrowed at four and a half per cent, so the present law, that is the law enacted by the 1925 general assembly, limits the rate of interest to that figure.

All loans made to counties to be approved by the State Board of Education of which the Governor is the chairman.

Tobacco Manufacturers Entitled to Refund "Floor-Tax" on Cig

Washington, March 23. — Tobacco manufacturers who paid the additional "floor tax" of 95 cents per thousand upon cigarettes imposed by the Revenue act of 1918, are entitled to a refund of that tax on cigarettes that were exported. The superior court rendered this decision today in a case brought by the government against Peter Lorillard.

CHINESE VILLAGERS REVIVE OLD RITES TO PLACATE EVIL SPIRITS

Foochow. — The Chinese year just closing being the "year of the rat" when all evil influences are most potent, recent months have seen the greatest revival of the rites of "puo-do" within the memory of any man now in Foochow.

"Puo-do" are special and more elaborate prayers offered for the outcast dead who are supposed to return and plague the living when prayers and offerings are not presented to them. Every five or ten years villages and cities in north Fukien observe these rites for protection against angered and injured spirits, but this year, being also the first of a Chinese cycle of 60 years, altars have been set up in scores of places around Foochow and priests are chanting their prayers.

Usually from five to 20 elaborately decorated altars are erected in temples or private houses, depending on the population of the village or town. Special plays descriptive of possible punishment in the hereafter are given, sometimes by use of puppets or miniature, sometimes by life-size paper-machine images operated from beneath the stage. Huge mounds of cakes are provided as offerings usually accompanied by incense for the living.

The least ornate of these village celebrations costs some $500 and frequently the cost mounts to several thousands.

The "puo-do" is said to be a Fukienese rite, and the village of Yangdong near Foochow, reputed to be the original home of the ancient custom, witnessed a celebration lasting seven days. People from all region around, including scores of Buddhist and Taoist priests, gathered in the village and the nightly crowds numbered thousands. A modern and western note was injected into the age-old observance by the bright lights furnished by a portable electric plant in place of the customary dim yellow lights of candles or the dimmer gleam from buffalo-horn lanterns.

CHINA AND RUSSIA DISPUTE TITLE TO COSTLY PROPERTY

Peking. — The ownership of 20,000,000 gold roubles worth of rolling stock, bought and paid for by the British government for use on the Russian railway during the World War, which is still on the tracks of the Chinese Eastern railway, is being claimed both by the Soviet and Chinese authorities, says H. Cusick Vezey in the Harbin Daily News. There is reason to suspect, says the writer, that the existence of this valuable property still outside the jurisdiction of the Soviets is unknown not only to the British public, but to the British government as well.

Under the recent agreement between the Chinese government and the railway as its own, although temporarily mutually exploited. The Soviets, on the other hand, look upon the railway as a source of present revenue, but one which they would be glad to hand over at a good price to any purchaser.

During the great war, Vezey explains, the British government opened a credit of 5,000,000,000 gold roubles to the Imperial Russian government to pay for orders placed abroad. Among these were orders for 145 American locomotives which were delivered to the Chinese Eastern, to be dispatched to the railway system of European Russia. The locomotives were so dispatched except 124, which could not be sent owing to interruption of communications in 1920. These 124 locomotives have been in operation on the Chinese Eastern for the past five years.

About 3,000 American cars, like the locomotives, were held back in 1920. A certain number were taken by the Bolsheviks, but the registry for 1924 shows that the railway still has about 2,500 of them. The total value of this rolling stock is nearly 20,000,000 gold roubles.

When the Imperial Russian government fell, control of the Chinese Eastern was taken over by the International Technical Board, comprising representatives of the great powers. The International board considered the Chinese Eastern to be a Russian railway, and the American locomotives to be the property of the Russian railways, temporarily at the disposal of the Chinese Eastern. The Soviet authorities are now endeavoring to get possession of the locomotives and cars in question.

dinner parties, Miss Vera Pragnell, 28-year-old daughter of the late Sir George Pragnell, wealthy linen merchant, gave away her fortune and retired to a tiny plot of ground in Sussex, near Chancerybury Ring, where she has founded a small community of "back-to-the-landers."

There are about a dozen people in the colony, one an atheist, another a communist and a third a poet. All are artistically inclined, and make their living by handiwork and cultivation of the soil. Twenty acres have been set aside as common land, upon which has been erected a "guest house" that not only serves as a general community center, but also as a haven of refuge for weary tramps.

Each night food is placed in a special room known as the "tramps' room," and as there are no locks or bolts, passing wanderers have no difficulty in getting food and lodging.

Miss Pragnell lives in a small hut in the center of the common ground, and a broken-down motor omnibus has been converted into a school building for the children of the colony.

Pencil and Will to Learn Cooking School Credentials

A pencil and a will to learn are the chief credentials required for the is to be held in the Methodist Church basement on March 25, 26, 27 under the auspices of the Home Economics Department of the Greenville Woman's Club.

Age limit: From High School girls to grandmothers. "My white haired pupils are often my most interested ones. They want to know the reasons for their mistakes and failures," so says Miss Fladoes, who will direct the school.

What will we learn? And then Miss Fladoes produces a list of questions asked and answered in the scores of similar schools she has conducted. Take cakes for instance: "Is there any real value in adding the liquid and dry ingredients alternately in making a butter cake?" "What makes my cake fall after it is taken out of the oven?" "My cakes always seem to dry; how can I avoid this?"

"What makes my cake rise unevenly on top? What makes my sponge and angel food cakes tough? I like to bake cakes in a square and then cut them for individual cakes. How can I keep crumbs from getting into the icing?"

"Or pier—My family is fond of custard pies but my custards sink in the middle and get watery or the crust is soaked with the liquid. How can I avoid this? I have several children in my family. What should I include in their lunches? What is the correct desert to serve with an elaborate dinner? How can I make my pie crust flaky?"

And all of these questions are answered, when possible, demonstrated. Wise questions, foolish questions, questions from newly-weds, from tired mothers, from engaged young girls, from high school girls. All kinds of questions from all ages. Miss Fladoes says she likes questions they show that her pupils are interested.

TELL 'EM & SELL 'EM

Hearts and Dollars

Two Statements—one of which has to do with Health and Welfare, the other with Financial Strength

AN OPEN LETTER

(Name on Request)

MR. HALEY FISKE, President
METROPOLITAN LIFE INSURANCE CO.
NEW YORK CITY

My Dear Mr. Fiske:

Why don't you publish a Heart Statement along with the regular Financial Statement you put out each year?

Any company can publish impressive figures of financial strength, financial growth, etc. But figures don't stick. All I remember from your last year's Statement is that the Metropolitan has several million policyholders and is the biggest life insurance company in the world.

I've been following some of your magazine advertisements lately that tell of work you're doing to help people live longer. It isn't entirely clear in my mind just how you're doing it or why you do it, but since you are doing it, give us the facts and figures on that. Call it a Heart Statement or a Welfare Statement, or anything you like, but—give us the facts.

Perhaps other Metropolitan policyholders like myself would be interested in a Statement of that kind.

Very truly yours,
C. N. S—

WE are indebted to Mr. S. for his suggestion. It is an excellent one. We publish an annual Business Statement of the Metropolitan, not because we think that the figures will be remembered, but because they offer conclusive evidence of unusual growth and strength to its 22,000,000 policyholders.

And it is this extraordinary financial strength that makes it possible for the Metropolitan to carry on a nation-wide campaign for better health and longer life.

People now live longer

Records kept by the Metropolitan show an extraordinary decrease in the death rate among its policyholders. Compared with 1911, for example, there were nearly 62,000 fewer deaths in 1924 among its Industrial Policyholders than there would have been if the 1911 death rate had prevailed.

While the average life span in the United States is 51½ years greater than it was 12 years ago, the life span of the Industrial Policyholders of the Metropolitan increased nearly 8½ years—a betterment of three years over the general average—in the same interval.

These increases in longer life are due in large part to the Metropolitan's Health and Welfare Work among its policyholders.

You are the gainer

You and all the other 22,000,000 policyholders—one out of every six people in the United States and Canada—reap the benefit through better health and decreased cost of insurance.

The wealth of the Metropolitan belongs to you and to no one else. The Metropolitan has no stock and no stockholders. It is owned solely by its policyholders. You, as one of the policyholders, share in the ownership of all its investments; in its railroad bonds, its real-estate mortgages, its loans to farmers, loans to states, cities and towns for public improvements and similar enterprises.

You, as a part-owner of over $1,600,000,000, should read the two statements on the left with a feeling of pride in what your company has achieved.

The efforts as well as the assets of the Metropolitan are dedicated to protection against future want—to greater happiness, better health and longer life.

Haley Fiske,

OUR GUARANTEE OF LIBERTY

President Coolidge has just written a foreword to a special edition of "The Constitution of the United States," by James M. Beck, Solicitor General, 10,000 copies of which have been ordered by Eldridge R. Johnson of Camden, N. J., for free distribution to public schools and libraries throughout the country.

President Coolidge says: "It is of first importance that the study of the Constitution should be an essential part of the education of the American youth."

"Mr. Beck has been recognized for years as an authority on our fundamental law. He is a lawyer of broad culture and wide learning. He has not only an acquaintance with the practical side of law from his long experience at the bar, but as a student, has a deep insight into the theory of our institutions. In private practice and as Solicitor General of the United States he has had that intimate contact with our laws which is the best foundation for a sound understanding of their spirit, their truth and their wisdom. He understands the practical application of the Constitution to actual affairs of life."

"While we cannot all be trained in the technicalities of the law, we should all have some idea of our fundamental institutions. We need to know their relationship to our daily life, the reasons for their existence; the benefits we derive from them, and necessity to ourselves for their perpetuation. We must know that the Court is our Court."

"The Constitution is not self-perpetuating. If it is to survive, it will be because it has public support. Such support is not a passive but an active operation. It means making adequate sacrifice to maintain what is of general benefit."

"The Constitution of the United States is the final refuge of every right that is enjoyed by any American citizen. So long as it is observed, those rights will be secure. Whenever it falls into disrespect or disrepute, the end of orderly government, as we have known it for more than 125 years, will be at hand. The Constitution represents a government of law. There is only one other authority and that is a government of force. Americans must take their choice between these two. One signifies justice and liberty; the other, tyranny and oppression. To live under the American Constitution is the greatest privilege that has ever accorded the human race."

"THE GLORY THAT WAS THE SENATE"

Vice-President Dawes, in his inauguration address, shattered a lot of senatorial precedents. It was such an unusual event for an incoming public official to hold up for public gaze the shortcomings of one branch of our national law making body that it brought a storm of protest from some political quarters.

Why shouldn't Vice-President Dawes endeavor to shake the Senate into a realization of its duty to the public? The Sixty Eighth Congress has ended and at the close of its three-months' session, the enactment of vital measures failed utterly.

The cold truth about the United States Senate will benefit that body, and the nation owes General Dawes a vote of thanks for his effort to shake it into activity and awaken some of its members from the self-satisfied and "holier than thou" attitude which they have adopted toward the public and industry during recent years.

Commenting on the Senate, the New York Times says, editorially: "Largely through its own fault, it is coming to be thought of as the branch of Congress which is either unable or unwilling to transact the public business in an orderly manner; that has too many members ready to insist with mulish obstinacy that if they cannot have their own way, the Senate will not be permitted to have its way; that allows mean, personal motives and petty partisan animosities to creep into its proceedings; that is afflicted with longwinded speakers whom there are no rules to choke off."

"A few senators cannot, by themselves, change the rules and transform the Senate into an assembly where the majority can, after reasonable debate, have its will, but they might speak out their minds about the intolerable conditions which exist might make appeals within the Senate and outside it, and be more active and efficient than they are in endeavoring to win back a part at least, of the glory that was the Senate."

Beautiful Wedding Solemnized in Eighth Street Christian Church.

A marriage of unusual interest throughout this state was solemnized in the Eighth Street Christian Church Saturday morning at 11 o'clock when Miss Alice Moore Galloway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Galloway, became the bride of Mr. Thomas M. Gorman, Jr.

The church which was packed to its capacity was attractively decorated with Cala lilies, bridal wreaths and smilax with a background of white and green.

The wedding music was rendered by Mrs. H. H. Settle. She wore a gown of rose flat crepe. She accompanied the Rev. Stephen Gardner, of Washington, who sang, "Shubert's Serenade" and "At Dawning."

Immediately following to the strains of Lohengrins wedding march the bridal party entered. First the ushers, Messrs. Harvey Turnage, of Farmville; Gentry Galloway, brother of the bride, Richard Gorman and Durward Tucker. They were followed by the bride's maids, Misses Betty Dixon and Aileen Critcher. Miss Dixon wore a beautiful gown of green georgette while Miss Critcher was gowned in powder blue georgette. They wore hats to match their gowns and carried nose-gays of sweet peas.

Mrs. J. Van Sheetz, of High Point, maid of honor, wore a gown of ashes of roses flat crepe with hat to match. Mrs. Harvey Turnage, of Farmville, only sister of bride as dame of honor was gowned in blonde flat crepe with accessories to match. They both carried nosegays of roses and sweet peas showered with sweet peas.

Little Misses Annie Ruth Burke of LaGrange and Edith Lang Gorman as flower girls, wore attractive frocks of pink crepe de chine, with bandeaux of pink ribbons. They carried rose baskets with ribbon handles filled with sweet peas and rose petals.

Preceding the bride was the little ring bearer Master C. B. Rowlett, Jr. He wore a dark blue Lord Fauntleroy suit, and carried the ring in the heart of an Easter lily.

The bride entered with her father, Mr. W. S. Galloway, who gave her in marriage. She wore a beautiful ensemble suit of Copch blue Temptation silk with accessories to match and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and valley lilies. They were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, and father, Mr. Thomas M. Gorman, Sr., of Durham. Rev. Lee Sadler, the bride's pastor, officiated using the impressive ring ceremony, during which Mrs. Settle played softly, "To a Wild Rose." The ring was the wedding ring of the late Mrs. T. M. Gorman, mother of the groom.

Mrs. Gorman, the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Galloway, is one of Greenville's and Pitt county's most beautiful and attractive young ladies, being a popular member of the younger social set. She was educated at the Atlantic Christian College and Greensboro College for Women.

Mr. Gorman the only son of Mr. T. M. Gorman, Sr., of Durham, is held in high esteem by a host of friends in this city where he has made his home for the past few years. He received his education at Fitchbourne's Military School, Washington and Lee University and LaFayette. He is a member of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity. Mr. Gorman is popular in the business circles and holds a position with the Brunson Accessory Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Gorman were the recipients of a large and beautiful array of bridal presents, among them being a chest of silver which belonged to Mr. Gorman's mother.

Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple left for a bride tour of northern cities. Upon their return they will make their home in this city.

FREE COOKING SCHOOL TO BE HELD IN BASEMENT OF METHODIST CHURCH

The Free Cooking school given under auspices of Woman's Club will be held in Methodist Church basement instead of High School auditorium as first announced. The reason for the change is that the gas plant is not yet connected with High School and it will be impossible to get gas. The demonstrations will be given on the gas range in the Methodist Church basement.

New Way to Quickly Stop Dangerous Cough

It is almost criminally careless not to properly attend a persistent cough, which by seriously weakening the system lays you open to far more dangerous infections. For by a very simple treatment you can stop the coughing spells almost instantly and often relieve the stubbornest cough in 24 hours.

This simple treatment is based on a remarkable prescription known as Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs. You simply take a teaspoonful and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing it, without following with water. The prescription has a double action. It not only soothes and heals soreness and irritation, but it quickly loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which are the direct cause of the coughing. The prompt relief of the heaviest cough seems almost magical.

The prescription is highly recommended for coughs, chest colds, hoarseness and bronchitis, and is wonderful for children's coughs and spasmodic croup—no opiates or other harmful drugs. Economical, too, as the dose is only one teaspoonful. At all good druggists. Ask for

GRAIN

It was said at the close Saturday that the big shorts in the bear wheat pool had finished covering and that the bull interest had reinstated part of its line. The largest holder of wheat has said he was out of his holdings here and had sold part of his cash wheat and rye at Baltimore.
One of the most important features in the wheat situation is the claim that the United States is on a domestic basis and that Canada has only 35,000,000 bushels available for export in the next six months. If the latter estimate is not any more correct than that based on farm marketing it is not worth considering.
It is estimated that there has been 40,000,000 bushels wheat on passage hedged by foreigners in the Chicago market of late. Bull interests figure that supplies of wheat in the U. S.
will be light, especially in Chicago in the next six weeks, and they predict that wheat will sell at $2 or possibly higher before the end of May.

Facts Concerning
N. C. State Flag

Raleigh, March 23.—The history of the North Carolina State flag dates back to the "secession" convention of 1861. On May 20 of that year, Colonel John D. Whitford, a delegate from Craven county, introduced the following ordinance, which was passed and referred to a select committee of seven:

"Be it ordained that the flag of this state shall be a blue field with a white V thereon, and a star, encircling which shall be the words,
'Surgit Astrum, May 20, 1775.'"

Colonel Whitford was made chairman of the committee to which the ordinance was referred. The committee secured the aid and advice of William Carl Brown, an artist of Raleigh. Brown prepared and submitted a model or preliminary sketch. This was adopted by the convention on June 22, 1861. The Brown model was very different from that originally proposed by Colonel Whitford.

The following is the ordinance as it appears on the journal of the convention.

"Be it ordained by this convention, and it is hereby ordained by the authority of the same, That the flag of North Carolina shall consist of a red field with a white star in the center, and with the inscription, above the star, in a semi-circular form of May 20, 1861." That there shall be two bars of equal width, and the length of the field shall be equal to the bar, the width of the field being equal to both bars; the first bar shall be blue and the second shall be white; and the length of the shall be one-third more than its width."

This flag is said to have been issued to the first ten regiments of state troops during the summer of 1861, and was borne by them throughout the War Between the States, being the only flag, except the Confederate colors, used by North Carolina troops.

This flag existed until 1885, when the general assembly adopted a new model.

The present flag has a blue field with a white star and the inscriptions: "May 20, 1775" denoting the date of the signing of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence, and "April 12, 1776," denot-ing the date of the Halifax resolutions.

Rules governing the display of the state flag were enacted into law by the general assembly of 1907.
